(00:01) two one boom and we're live first of all cheers gentlemen let's have a little toast relax bob thank you very much for doing this i really appreciate it i understand that you've told this story many many times you've been grilled many many times and it's very stressful for you so i really really appreciate your time for people who don't know the story there is a documentary jeremy corbell has a documentary out right now it's called bob lazar area 51 and ufos and flying saucers and flying
(00:32) saucers bombs are air 51 and flying okay um i first heard your story decades ago i've i told you last night we went out to dinner i've seen pretty much every interview you've ever given i've followed the story incredibly closely but for people who don't know the story let's give them the bullet points you used to work at area 51 in area 51 you got you you went like well you know we want to be accurate okay area s4 s4 okay it's about 15 miles south of area 51.
(01:07) okay um you worked in what would you how would you describe it i i guess within the area 51 compound you can call that a subset of area 51. and you got that job before that you were working before that i had worked at los alamos right national labs in new mexico and you were involved in what kind of work nuclear weapon development physics i mean that's they do everything there so how do they approach you to say hey bob once you come on out to the nevada desert well the way this went down was um at that time it was 1982
(01:50) i had put a jet engine in my my honda and los alamos put it on the front page of the paper said you know uh los alamos man physicist at the lab you know built this 200 mile an hour you know on the jet car that i drove to work every day so uh so i was known in los alamos the guy with the weird car and you know you could hear it from you know a mile away anyway the day that came out on the front page of the paper was the day edward teller the father of the hydrogen bomb was giving a lecture down there at the lab and we didn't have much going on that
(02:34) day in our group and i asked if i could go down there and i went down there early and ed teller was outside leaning on a brick wall there and reading the front page of the paper now there's a guy out of history so i introduced myself hey i'm the guy you're reading about there and we talked for a little while and it was cool uh you know fast forward to years later i had moved out to las vegas and had you know left los alamos and you know went on to other things and i wanted to get back into the scientific
(03:06) community yeah i left start other businesses and and that sort of thing so i sent resumes out and one of them went out to ed teller and referenced our meeting you know back back in that the day and uh anyway he remembered me and gave me a reference somebody to contact at egng and that's pretty much how it started so you get a phone call or a letter like what do you get well i got a what did i get i got a letter initially and um went down for an interview probably a couple times and it was down at eg g special projects which was um
(03:49) at mccarran airport at that time out in las vegas and did they give you any sort of job description of what you were applying for um they said it was for ed i can't remember exactly what they did this was a long time ago but i i think it was um advanced propulsion or something like that something relatively generic and they said it's in a remote area um you know it's gonna be some days on some days off and um you know it was kind of a it was kind of uh not exactly a full-time job but you might have to be
(04:23) out there for two weeks at a time and take two weeks off so it was kind of uh the work schedule would be kind of broken up and did this seem attractive to you or did it seem weird no it really wasn't weird because people that work at the test site anybody that's familiar with the area up there um you know working at the nuclear test site uh or at the tonopod test range north of there uh that's typically how things go so you had known about it from the scientific community because the area 51 at that time was no they didn't (04:54) say anything about area 51. okay so they just said it was in a you know in a remote location and you just know it was up at the test site right so but there was no mention of area 51 at that time so they've done hundreds of nuclear tests in nevada and nevada that whole area was there's been there's giant chunks of nevada the people yeah there's a big piece of nevada and it's split up into different areas there's a nuclear test site there's area 51 there's the tonopod test range north of that there's little (05:22) sub-areas there's areas where they test chemical weapons and things like that so it's all broken up as a you know gigantic test area so take me back to first day on the job you accept a job they take you out there yeah it's um the first day really i didn't really get to see a whole lot the first day was essentially just paperwork that's when i flew into area 51 proper and i left mccarran airport and flew what they call the janet flights just um you know a passenger plane from las vegas to area 51

(05:59) and it was really just going through a mountain of paperwork that day from security clearances to um god there was it was like two or three hours of just solid paperwork and that was that was really an uneventful first day when did things get weird when did you realize that at what point in time did you say hey this is not normal work like this doesn't even seem like it's from this planet that i can't tell you what day that occurred on because so much time has gone by the days have kind of fused into one and
(06:40) i can't separate the days was it a slow burn or was there a moment of recognition well the the first inkling i had was when i i came in normal there's this facility that is at s4 it's in the side of a mountain and normally we had pulled in with the bus and gone around the front through a normal double door this time that i went in there were hangar doors open i went into the hangar door and in the hangar door was the disc the flying saucer that i worked on i saw it sitting there and we walked by it had a little american flag stuck on
(07:19) the side and i thought oh my god this finally explains all the flying saucer stories this is just an advanced fighter and it this is [__] hilarious right so i went by i slid my hand alongside it i got reprimanded immediately for touching the thing and uh there was a guy an armed guard that followed us in and just said keep your eyes at forward and your hands at your side and just walk in the door so that was the first time i had seen anything that was weird it was some time later that i was introduced to my um
(07:52) my lab partner barry and we had some of the subcomponents of the craft in the lab and barry was very anxious to get a new lab partner so he was very talkative and couldn't wait to show me different things and it was in the demonstration of the reactor working where it caught my attention to where this is technology that doesn't even exist so i mean that was the first time i knew that this is really something different what was it what was it what was a what was it about this reactor that made you think that it didn't exist
(08:32) technologically well it was the i actually have to back up because there were some briefings that i read it before that that you know certainly gave me the impression that this was going to be a weird job but this was the first hands-on thing this was a small reactor about the size of a hemisphere about the size of a basketball on a metal plate and when it was running it produced a gravitational field a gravitational field of its own now this is something that we can't do we can't produce any gravity the only way we get
(09:05) gravity is from large quantities of mass but there's no machine we can have that turns on that makes gravity like you know you can turn on an electromagnet and it makes a magnetic field we can't make a gravitational field anyway this device was producing that and barry said almost like he was bragging go ahead try and try and touch the sphere and i i couldn't it would it pushed my hands away just like two like poles of a magnet so that was uh so like when you take two magnets and try to press them
(09:33) together yeah you have this each other yeah kind of cushion feeling but you can't you can't get them together the closer you put them the more they push but then you felt that physically with my hand yeah now there's nothing there's nothing that does that and that immediately caught my attention going wow this is something else what was your thought like when you felt that and you knew that there was nothing that you were aware of that could produce that connected me to the briefings that i read
(09:59) on the the first day at s4 was that uh you know everything that i had read was apparently accurate what were you reading i read it was kind of an overview this project was to back engineer the alien craft and specifically it was to try and back engineer and see if we can duplicate the technology with available materials now to do this they split the project into you know many different pieces for several reasons they do this on all classified projects so uh nobody has the complete story but uh they compartmentalize everything now we had (10:41) the power and propulsion system so what the briefings they gave me were like a one or two page overview of some of the other projects that were going on you know on the craft the only reason they do that is just in case what you're working on is connected intimately in some way that we don't know of to one of the other projects you have to know there excuse me their existence so um you know i but again everything from metallurgy to um you know weapon potential the craft and these were all you know essentially (11:14) very short briefings but mine was just power and propulsion and it made it very clear that what i read was accurate so when you're reading that before you actually saw the reactor what were your thoughts on what they were describing if you knew that something like that didn't exist and they're describing it in the briefings what did you think you were going to see i really i i didn't know at the time i mean i was reading i thought is this just some kind of test um see if you're crazy well not to see if

(11:49) i'm crazy to you know a lot of times they'll take in real high security uh jobs i mean they'll intentionally insert nonsense into them um whether it's to confuse the fact or if for someone was to leak it out they would carry that information along and know where it came from so i read through the documents but you know i didn't know if this was you know part of some kind of test or um you know or what or was it potentially realistic i mean i really didn't consider it being all that possible as far as being uh
(12:26) the actual thing that i was going to work on at the time how did they turn it on the the reactor yeah the reactor can be turned on or turned off in a lot of different ways um the way barry showed me at the hemisphere is removed there's a small tower in the middle when you put the hemisphere on the reactor activates the reactor shuts down it's it's load sensing so if there's if there's no load on the reactor at all it shuts down when there's a load present on it it starts up again load meaning
(12:59) you can consider it an electrical load so although it doesn't necessarily operate electrically there's no wiring that connects any of the sub components together whatsoever they just have to be in the immediate vicinity it's uh it is but the stuff is borderline magic and that's essentially where we left it you know when i left the project so there was no progress made there was some progress i mean we did identify at least we think some processes and and had a rough idea we think of what was going on but
(13:35) i think this is a problem that they've had for a long time and um you know i was replacing somebody that barry worked with prior to me and i think there was some horrific accident that i didn't have a whole lot of information on but you know barry alluded to that horrific accident like where someone died or yeah where somebody died because they were trying to tamper with things or figure out how something worked yeah the reactor in particular but yeti let you touch it yeah i think what they were trying to do
(14:08) was cut into one now they had they had more than one there and they that was supposedly there was an unannounced nuclear test and that's what it was at the time remember they would still do an underground nuclear test at the test site um but from what i understand according to barry there was an attempt made now this must have been a pretty desperate intent because it's not a very scientific process to cut you know analyze something that way but it looked like they used a plasma cutter or something like that to cut into an
(14:38) operating reactor how many of these things did they have they had nine nine craft altogether i only got hands on with one of them so i can't really say what the how the others operated did you see the other ones yeah at one time and only one time the bay doors that between the hangers were all open and i could see all the way through and were they all exactly the same no they were all different different shapes yeah but they were all from somewhere else yeah absolutely now did anyone make any attempt to explain
(15:14) or to to tell you where they came from no no no one is the least bit interested in letting everybody know all the facts they want to give you the minimum information that's necessary to complete your task so you're not getting the story of where they came from you're not getting the story of what how much progress other people are making you just focus on the small component but they gave you some indication that they've been working on these for a while yeah when do you think they acquired these (15:45) i really couldn't say i think they've been around for a while so they bring you into this room you see this reactor working you you realize this is nothing that as far as like the scientific community at current time has the ability to create we still don't what is your life like from that moment on is that where everything changes because you do you i mean i would imagine the moment you actually make contact with something that's extraterrestrial whether it's an object or a being something where you can (16:19) actually absolutely be certain it's not from here your whole paradigm the whole world you live in is now a different place well this is the only time it became exciting you know the rest of the time the it was really an ominous feeling being at work but it at that time it was exciting i mean this was now i knew we were on the absolute be actually beyond the cutting edge of science and i was i was so absolutely excited to be there every single time i was um you know it would this was a fantastic opportunity and

(16:58) however in short order it began to concern me we really have no idea what we're talking about and the excitement kind of turned to dread at some point because the amount of power we're dealing with is astronomical i mean to affect gravity to produce the effects like this equipment does takes huge amounts of power and i've given the example before of you know taking a small portable nuclear reactor and you know putting it back into victorian times you know with the scientists of the time and just dropping
(17:40) it in a room and they come and look at it and see that it's producing power and wonder how it works so they start taking it apart and as soon as they get some of the shielding off the people are going to drop dead because of the radiation inside now the people have no idea that radiation even exists back then but anybody that comes in to check on him will also drop dead and you know there's no reason that that exact scenario couldn't happen with what we're dealing with we have no idea how the physics operate within this thing the (18:14) power levels are are like i said astronomic like it's incredibly dangerous to tinker with something like that and you know in some respects we were guinea pigs just try to find out how to make this thing so they had a series as far as you're surmised that a series of different scientists try to back engineer this thing try to figure out what this thing was and they would bring in new people and like let's throw bob at it yeah yeah and they i know i don't know how many but i knew there was certainly one
(18:43) before me and i knew he died during the analysis of the or the reactor itself and you don't know how many have worked on it and no one gave this could have been there for 50 years it could have been there for five years when they're giving you instructions what are they saying like when they're giving you direction they're showing you all the stuff like what what are they saying what specifically what are they asking of you well essentially what they ask is is what i said all we are just to gather as (19:13) much information as possible find out how it operates and see if we can duplicate it so but they always realize you where it was from they never let you ask questions about where it's from well if the information i read in the briefings was accurate now what i do have to say is the information that pertained directly to the reactor was accurate what i read did i mean did jive with reality um in terms of how in terms of how it was made how what we saw how it operated the materials how it you know turned on and what was (19:50) discovered uh discovered about it i'm sorry the migraine is really making it hard for me to thank you sorry no we talked that before the podcast you tell her buddy bob is getting a migraine i know you're very stressed out by this which is one of the reasons why i appreciate you doing this um where was i already we were talking oh right yeah explained it and uh so there was some paperwork that indicated that this was from the zeta reticuli star system now yeah now how they obtain that i haven't i haven't the slightest idea but it
(20:26) wasn't just from the zeta reticuli star system it was what they called zr3 so it was a third planet in that star system so there was no other information about it other than that supposedly where the craft came from now is that true i don't know i have no way of verifying that but that was printed in the same materials that referenced the reactor now i looked that stuff up when i went home and zeta reticular is a binary star two stars that orbit orbit one another and it's only visible in the southern (20:58) hemisphere and it's about thirty some odd light years away so that's literally all the information i have about that i don't know how they found out it came from there and you also probably have some suspicions that they give you some disinformation like you were talking about before they would yeah yeah to i mean if you ever decided to talk about this they added a bunch of nonsense to make whatever is factual look ridiculous right or be able to trace it down like hey this facts came out and you know (21:26) this lazar guy said it you know came from zeta reticulate so they knew it was when we read zeta reticulate we're like what in the [__] is this well reading all of this stuff it was what in the [__] is this you're like why did i sign up for this no no to me this was cool this is interesting i said i was just excited to be out in a secure area you know in the middle of the desert i said this is awesome how old are you i get as in my 20s yeah so you're probably totally geeked out oh yeah this was this was great i mean i i was (21:59) excited so i didn't care reading through everything and so you read through all the zeta reticuli thing but then when you see the actual starship with the little american flag sticker on it well that was was that later or before that that was before so before so you see the thing before and you say oh this is where what's that before hard so many years yeah i can't either way it doesn't matter the days have fused together it's so hard to separate what happened in each visit do you remember the thought process when

(22:30) you read that it's from zeta reticuli yeah it it it it didn't hit me like a ton of bricks or anything it's just like yeah okay you think it was [__] i don't know this is where i don't know now i don't i mean because when i read it i hadn't verified anything and this was just a bunch of stuff i was reading and i thought maybe after this they're just going to give me a test and see what i can remember in right crazy information and it would but like i said when i finally went in with barry
(22:59) um and had hands-on experience with what they were talking about it taught on a completely different meaning so there's a plate there's this thing that looks like a half a basketball and when it's on you can't come anywhere near it you can't touch it right how is what is gravity about that like the the concept of gravity to most people gravity is bringing something towards it right well i guess you would say it's anti-gravity it's gravity shifted 180 degrees it's uh you know anti-gravity
(23:31) and did they have any understanding about what could possibly create this effect did they have any areas where they'd like you to look into no they well they knew there was a fuel source in it and they were proficient at making it work and again my analogy to something like this is you can drop a motorcycle off in the wagon train days and just leave it with the keys parked outside you know somebody's place everybody will come around it and they'll poke and prod and eventually they'll turn the key get it
(24:08) to start and become proficient at writing it yeah but they won't be able to understand what the hell's going on they won't be able to make the plastic fender much less anything else and i think that's exactly the state we were at we played around with the parts long enough before i got there where they could make the reactor operate take the fuel out and know that it makes it work how exactly what was going on in the reactor remained a mystery at the time i think we made some progress on what was going on inside but i don't (24:45) think anybody really knew anything they could just watch what was going on and make note of it how long were you there i'd say about six months or so and what what progress was made while you were there well we came up with a bunch of reasonably good ideas about how the reactor worked and one of them was the base the square base of it was essentially like a cyclotron which is a small particle accelerator a circular one particle accelerators linear particle accelerators are just a you know long tube essentially and they
(25:20) accelerate particles with high voltage and you know radio frequencies till they reach high speeds but a cyclotron does that in a smaller circular area and there is this very heavy element fuel element 115 something that wasn't on our periodic charts at the time but it is now it is now yeah when did it become on the periodic table now the way the charts now you know i don't remember do you remember when they 2004 durhamstat germany i think is where they first fabricated four atoms they lasted 220 milliseconds with the atoms it's (25:54) nothing right and then it later was discovered a couple more times they could fabricate it then they gave it they gave it a place then on the periodic chart after that called it muscovium so they told you about this stuff in 1982 yeah well we can 82 what what year was this it was 88 and 89 when i was there 82 is one 82 was when you're in los alamos i'm sorry yeah so 88.
(26:21) 89 they told you about this stuff so this was not like no they didn't they didn't tell me about it that's one of the things that this group came up with the um um i keep losing my train of thought with this thing so this one area this this element 115 was the fuel yeah it was the fuel um the the world will forgive you for having a migraine i can i just it's really hard to think throughout this case i just want to say one yeah definitely as i said one thing you know but for the last 30 years people have just been on the attack on (27:04) bob you know getting to know him the personal effects on his life it's really hard to understand unless you meet his family and his wife i mean this is the last thing he wanted to [__] do was have to talk yeah we should explain that jeremy you and i had this conversation i watched your documentary we had this conversation and i said i have to talk to him yeah the document there's there's been detractors there's been a bunch of people that called [__] on many of the things that you've said but over time

(27:33) many of the things that you talked about even in the 80s have proven to be true things that people said were not true were proven to be true element 115 was one of them right right right element 115 the fuel they had was stable in other words it didn't decay it wasn't emitting radioactivity um when they synthesized the two or three atoms of the 115 uh it did decay and it was not a stable element so they're they're kind of two different things but this is kind of typical elements always have or pretty much always have
(28:10) uh stable isotopes and unstable isotopes like i think cesium has like 30 unstable isotopes to it so all right well hydrogen for example you're familiar with hydrogen gas it's stable it's not radioactive but there's also two other types of hydrogen deuterium and tritium and deuterium isn't radioactive it's another stable isotope hydrogen but tritium is radioactive now they're all hydrogen but they just have a different amounts of neutrons so it's the same thing with other elements n element 115. depending (28:45) on the amount of neutrons it has designates the isotope but it's 115 they will continue to take or experiment and try and make 115 at different isotopes and i'm sure eventually they'll come up with a stable version but it's the stable version that has the properties that we're talking about so they somehow or another had acquired a stable version did they say that the stable version had come with this craft it absolutely came with the graft yeah so at the time you having a firm knowledge of the periodic chart and
(29:20) knowing what was real and what wasn't real what was your reaction to having this stable element 115 that wasn't even supposed to exist well everything was impossible right i mean down down to the metal i i did get a chance uh to look inside the craft on only one occasion and this was important because where the reactor sat might have been critical to how it operated since everything operates without any interconnection so the placement of components might be critical so they allowed me to go inside and and look at it
(29:55) um dude again i forgot where the hell i am so you're going into this craft and what are you thinking when you're inside of it like what are you seeing it's um it's a very ominous feeling because it's there are no at first of all everything is one color it's like a dark pewter color and there are no right angles anywhere it's as if somebody took uh i've said this before somebody took a a model out of and fashioned it out of wax and then heated it just for a short time so everything melted everything looks like (30:30) it's fused together everything has a radius of curvature where two uh items meet it's uh it's a really weird looking thing but um uh there was almost nothing other than a small foldable hatchway that that looked recognizable everything was uh was really unworldly depicting it a way to describe it so you you get inside this thing and it's designed for something that's much smaller than a human being yeah you can't really stand up till you get to the very center of it and how tall are you i'm 5 10. and what do you think this was (31:09) designed for i'd say something close to half my height wow so these little three foot tallish creatures yeah and the the seats were small too i mean obviously it was made you know for something something small but there's no like there's there's nothing else in there there's just seats the reactor and some of the sub components there's no there's no control panels there's no bathroom there's no no decorative uh components or artwork or anything that you would recognize or trim i mean it's just a very bare bones
(31:43) thing you're not seeing any screens well there are archways around it that are part of the superstructure and that one of the archways can become transparent when i was in there there was another group working on one of the archways and you could call that a screen more or less so through that archway it would be it would maintain the solidity the the solid whatever metal it was yeah but you could yeah it

just became transparent yeah i saw that happen once or twice before i left did you ask any questions about (32:20) what the phone no there's no there's no asking questions no but when you watch something become transparent and you realize it's still there but you could now see through it yeah i mean now that's not that impressive we do have some liquid crystal materials that are like that you know they are seen in smart glass yeah they call it smart glass so this is just uh and i don't know if the craft is made of you know an advanced metal or a ceramic it was cold to the touch so um you know i would lean in more
(32:49) towards the metal you're not allowed to ask questions no the only there they work on the buddy system so i can only exchange ideas and talk to barry now this really interferes with science because science is based on free discussion and ideally you get a bunch of guys together exchange ideas work on problems and that's how things move forward but they're so over the top concerned about security they split everything off and everybody becomes stagnant it it it just destroys any of the progress you can make or at least makes it go so slow
(33:26) um they i think they wind up shooting themselves in the foot which is probably why they arrived at this bottleneck that they needed to get this madman with a jet powered honda to come in and see what he could do i think that was an act of desperation i think they wanted someone that thinks out of the box and let's just give this guy a try here because they weren't and uh they might have done this four more times since uh you know up to the point in time today assuming they're still working on this thing
(33:54) and when you see this craft and you're inside was there any indication that there was an area that they would use to control it to pilot was there a pilot seat was there's there were three seats they sat around uh the reactor was in the dead center of it and then equidistant around there were three seats so and that's all there was a a large you would they're not consoles there are large rectangular objects also spaced equidistant around the center um there's nothing on them there's no buttons
(34:29) there's no lights and they control the same color everything is the same color different shape right and um directly underneath them there's three levels in the craft uh the main level is what we're talking about directly under that those are the gravity amplifiers the big rectangular objects underneath them are the gravity emitters that look like for lack of a better word a trash can hanging on a pipe three of those and then the top layer i this is just my personal belief i think that has to do with a
(35:02) a navigation or their version of a computer uh with some planar panels sensor panels around the craft that we would call portholes but they're not portholes they're just black areas and i think that just determines its you know position in space but i was i i physically was in the center section and i stuck my torso in the bottom section and hung upside down so i could see how the gravity amplifiers were positioned what is the the roughly the size of this thing it's a i think it i don't remember from being there but um
(35:38) after all this stuff was over i had uh john andrews a guy from the testers model corporation and you know we sat down and tried to figure out from what i saw um and known sizes of things and we came up with 52 feet in diameter so i think that's really small yeah so i think that's a fair a reasonable guess now you said there's nine of them and you got a brief glimpse at the other ones were they how are they different oh they looked completely different one looked like i called it jello mold and it it looked like a classic jello mold
(36:13) with the rippled sides to it one was a very flat disc um you know like a oh i don't like a straw hat or something like that that was sitting up on its edge and the thin part of it had looked like a projectile had been fired through the edge of it so i don't know if they were attempting to see if the metal could be penetrated or if something or if that's where the thing came from maybe it was shot down um but that was the only one where i saw there was you know actual physical damage to it and that one was roughly the same size
(36:49) they're all uh they were kind of too far away to tell and did there was several teams that were working on the propulsion system so there was different teams that were working on these different aircrafts i i don't know i could only assume now when you're sitting in this thing and you're looking at this otherworldly craft your your goal is to try to figure out how this thing functions your goal is to try to figure out how this reactor i mean but you would imagine they would give you more time than just one day to

(37:23) check that out oh yeah it wasn't one day right yeah i mean this is barry was there i think barry was sleeping there i'm sure they had now that that isn't weird i mean up at the toenap test range where they work on stealth fighters you know you go i think three weeks on one week off and you stay up there too so it's not weird to stay up at the test site right so um yeah i think he pretty much didn't he acted like he's been up there for a long time yeah um but he's still there yeah who knows do
(37:55) you do you have contact with this guy no oh no i wish i did i kind of thought he was going to come out after i did right and i think i took so much flack and it's so much [__] for what went on i think i actually i wound up helping security there and everybody became afraid of you know doing or saying anything after that so what kind of reports did you have to give like so you're not making much progress right you're just trying to figure out what this thing is and it seems impossible so well we didn't
(38:27) personally make them i mean we were always there was never a lot of information that we gained um the guy you would call him our supervisor his name was dennis mariani and kind of a military looking guy and he would routinely pop in you know during the day and you know hey what's going on guys and he would essentially relay any information anything new we came up with i mean he was our go-between you know where we presented him the information then he took it to wherever they were you know assembling all the data from everybody
(39:02) no i assume you're working normal days like an eight-hour day no no no it was really weird that i would be only called in on certain times and certain days and they would be weird hours too most of the time was later in the evening i mean i can get a call at 11 o'clock at night and they'll say you know it's now 11 o'clock um by 11 45 you need to be at mccarran terminal and um you know we'll let you know when we have more information but what did you do while you were there if you're looking at this
(39:37) object this reactor and you can't figure out what it is or how it works other than the fact that it works on this element that we don't even know about sure i mean the thing was to what you do in you know with anything if you're trying to analyze it all you can do is perform tests and all we did is try and come up with every kind of test we possibly could i mean we tested you know it it violated a lot of what we thought was impossible to violate i mean one of the first laws of thermodynamics i mean essentially any (40:12) machine any device that operates always makes extra heat nothing works at 100 efficient even the headphones you're wearing anything that takes power some of that power is going to be con converted to heat and it's just wasted this didn't i mean we looked at back then we had infrared cameras they're different today but back then you had to pour liquid nitrogen into the camera to cool the sensor down and um and get these infrared images you've seen but it never got no matter what the load was on the reactor it never got above
(40:47) the ambient temperature which is impossible i mean you're you know pulling out huge amounts of power and nothing ever gets warm we tried measuring magnetic fields and there was was nothing there so we started playing around with the emission from the emitters the gravity wave itself and saw what we could do with it and how it was focused so we really spent all our time just trying to see what the stuff can do and what we can control so you were seeing what it could do but you couldn't ever figure out how (41:22) it was doing it no not really i mean we really we really could only use a or come up with a best guess and now i can't say we really that i could absolutely state for certainly or certainty how anything actually worked now how do did you know at all how they were piloting it because some they were doing some tests where they're having these things fly around in the sky and this is what gets us deeper into your story right um i was out there for uh one test um right in fact i was in with barry in the lab and dennis came in and said uh we're (42:12) about to run the test why don't you guys come out or i think he said barry why don't you come out here and bring bob with you uh we went out there and the craft was already outside the hangar and was just preparing to lift off now they were in communication with somebody in the craft so there's a person in the crowd yeah there was certainly a person in there now it's not a comfortable place to be in because it's small so the guy has to be sitting on the floor in the middle uh my best guess and this is the same specific (42:44) craft that you heard that was because you were that was the only craft that you were the only one that i i touched and worked on um and it it quietly lifted off the ground which was incredibly impressive to see quietly or silently what's well quietly because it didn't make sense it produced um a little corona discharge from the bottom a corona discharge is kind of a high voltage brush little bluish glow discharge as it was lifting off the ground you can hear a slight hiss sound now as soon as it cleared the ground by (43:18) about five or ten feet maybe even less than that the hissing stopped and the blue gold disappeared so it lifted off quietly and then it hovered silently if you want to be specific wow so then what kind of maneuvers was it doing it took uh for that particular time it took off moved a little around around to the left and right and then sat back down the um the craft itself um they communicated with it with a reg because i saw the guy talking in a regular vhf radio to the person in the craft and i even saw the frequency that was on the (44:00) the frequency counter of the uh communication the transceiver there um but what's weird is he shouldn't be able to communicate with the craft with a radio the radio the radio wave should bend around the craft i mean it shouldn't be possible every single thing about these the craft and the way they operated didn't make any sense to us i mean that's something we talked about for a while after why should the frequency bend around the craft well you really have to look at the way the gravity wave comes out of the craft

(44:35) there's a the reactors in the center and there's a waveguide that goes up to the top there's actually a small appendage that sticks out at the top of the craft and it produces a heart-shaped gravitational distortion around the craft now if the craft is sitting in the air and you walk underneath it and look up you actually cannot see the craft the light bends around it your bending gravity bends light it bends radio waves it's um it it shouldn't be possible to communicate with a craft that has an
(45:08) envelope around it that's distorting all forms of energy but they were apparently in contact with it somehow or another through some unexplained way that they don't bother explaining to you so this thing gets up it just does some very simple maneuvers left right left right goes down um and did they discuss this with you i mean they said they wanted you to see it no they they just wanted no they they didn't discuss anything with me it said it sat down we looked around for a bit and barry said let's go back we went (45:39) back in the lab all we got to do is see it um fast forward to some months later i did have the test flight schedule of the craft now they had times they had designated high performance tests this obviously wasn't one that was a high performance test the high performance test went goes above the mountain range and they do much more radical moves with the thing look this is a prized item and they're not doing anything like taking it out of the atmosphere or flying around to other countries or anything like that (46:14) they just play with this thing right over the test site but they were doing some radical moves with it and since i had the test flight schedule statistically the amount of traffic and the surrounding areas on the highway was lowest on wednesdays and that's why dennis told us that all the test flights occurred only on wednesdays because it'd be the least chance that anyone would see what's going on and this was before the the government had expanded the forbidden territory around area 51 and papoose lake and all
(46:50) that stuff right yeah i think that occurred after my story came out then people started going up on the mountaintops and trying to look down into there and they kind of freaked out and then did the land grab and pushed everybody back but yeah that i think all that occurred long after i'm sorry that i came out so you're working there and while you're working there you're under this crazy schedule forgive me for explaining your story but you uh would get these phone calls you would have to go to the to the airport at 11
(47:26) p.m and your wife started thinking that you were having an affair yeah apparently so um now i did give my permission to have you know as as part of the you know security clearance process um i i gave written permission to have the phones monitored and things of that sort so they weren't doing any covert stuff they um you know with any queue clearance or which is civilian top secret clearance or military top secret clearance they go talk to friends and you know place places you've been make sure you're not connected to foreign (48:01) countries but you know monitoring your phone is nothing unusual however they insisted that you know you don't even talk to your loved one to your partner to your wife whatever about what's going on so she was essentially in the dark and didn't know the phone was being monitored well part of the security clearance is that not only do you not have any connections to foreign countries and aren't a maniac but you have to have a stable home life too well she started having an affair with a flight instructor (48:35) now they were monitoring this on the phone and they knew it and i didn't so they stopped me coming in and their attitude at the time was we need to see how this is going to play out and if lazar is going to get a little weird or anything so let's just you know hold him off from coming in and you know see what happens and they explain this to you what was happening well after the fact yeah because time kind of went on and there were guys that were following me around and i started getting a little concerned going well

(49:11) ted are they booting me out of the project and if so they're not just going to let me hang out at home and go get a new job knowing what i know so as time went on i started getting a little concerned and i took my closest friends and just kind of got together and i said hey remember that job i told you about this is what's going on and uh like you don't need to take my word for it on wednesday night we need to all go out here i want to show you what's going on so i took everybody and we went out to (49:46) um remember since i had the test flight schedule and went outside the base out into the desert and so everybody could see you know one of the high performance tests and you know it left quite an imprint on everybody so they knew i wasn't and there's videos of these tests right yeah but remember this is in the it's in in the dark in the 80s with a big monster-sized camcorder and you got you know a bright light jumping around but uh yeah i mean we did video of it but there's no by today's standards it's but is your (50:18) video specifically available the video that you took yeah well george knapp has it it's is it i have no idea jeremy yeah i show clips of it in my film it's it's online and someone did a deep analysis of it uh it was interesting uh to take a look at how well this microphone up to your face about a fist from your face all right um you know to see how his video looks now but as far as video evidence i mean we are talking 80s camp was the most important thing is the human story here everybody that he took up there on three
(50:48) separate occasions they don't all like each other they don't all talk they all agree on one thing they saw something that night at the exact point in time and space that babazar said and remember this is 17 15 17 miles south of air 51. no one even knew really about air 51 we're talking papoose lake and they all agree they saw something that night they had never seen before and they've never seen since right when he said it so that's one of like the six things where i'm like how did he know you can dismiss
(51:16) him i i tried to dismiss it but some things we can't get around and and there's about five or six of them how did he know about this if jamie wants to find that video right now what would he look under bob lazar ufo s for area 51 just kind of like that uh so it's like this s4 ufo video bob lazar and a guy does an analysis but you're not analyzing these 80s videos right he from the very beginning bob never said i have proof of my story and i'm going to tell the world he said at the very beginning i cannot prove my story that's (51:50) not why i'm telling this george knapp convinced him to tell people and he lived through it and i i didn't believe it either until i i talked with george okay so you you filmed these this test flight one test flight and then you get caught actually it was i think the third time because it we went out there the first time everybody saw it everybody was amazed because it did some radical maneuvers and um you know everybody had a lot of maneuvers that i've seen i've seen the video it doesn't i don't think there's (52:24) something we have now that does that no in terms of like a human piloted craft i mean i don't know obviously with the government no it's it's impossible nothing can move like that and remember we didn't start filming from the very beginning you know we were waiting for something you know to happen the craft took off and then came flying at us stopped you know turned it a right angle flew back and then you know after it did some you know amazing stuff to get the camera and then we started filming so it doesn't have all of it on (52:54) there it just has some the way i describe it to my friends and they said what does it look like i said take a laser pointer and then have a wall and then move it around the wall like you know how it moves around the wall it doesn't seem like it has anything to do with inertia or physics or it's not impeded in any way by the atmosphere yeah that's what it looks like you're essentially separated from reality as crazy as that sounds with it being in in case it's an own gravitational

envelope
(53:20) inertia is not going to affect it and you know this is this is how some of those recent sightings of commander david fravor i'm sure you've heard of the ufo i mean he describes exactly that the thing operates exactly the way i was describing that's why he was interested to talk to me um but we saw this and you know on the way home it's like hey we got away with it we should try it again the next test flight date so this became a thing to do and i think it was on the third time that we got caught i mean we started (53:57) becoming a little careless i think we took a motor home out there you know i mean it was like the stupidest thing you could possibly start tailgating yeah it was ridiculous and um again you're in your 20s yeah and you know what was funny was um we went out there and my friend gene huff and i were leaning on the front of a vehicle and just for some reason we just started talking [__] like uh well i hope they realize that uh i don't remember what we were saying but you know that something about attacking the base or (54:35) something along those lines and stealing the craft or something like that and um then about 20 feet in front of us we see a little green light fall on the ground and roll to us and unbeknownst to us now it's pitch black you can't see your hand in front of your face there were a bunch of guards standing right out there and they had a night vision scope where they were like from here to the wall looking at us listening to us and the guy dropped it and the scope rolled over to us and you could see the green screen
(55:04) you know we turn the lights on and all these guys are there so it was uh whoa yeah yeah so we did incredibly stupid stuff and got caught as we should have because so when they catch you and they bring you in then what happens well i went in for debriefing the following day i went to indian springs air force base which is kind of a defunct base that they used to use at the nuclear test site and this is when they brought out um the transcript of the phone call with my wife and you know they sat me down and we said you know when we meant to keep the
(55:41) secret we meant you can't tell your friends right you know and it just being sarcastic and trying to mm-hmm um and then they got real serious uh but this is where they you know took the transcript out and were reading me what uh my wife and you know our friend were talking about and uh it was a hard time so what happens from there what do they do with you why don't they arrest you i don't i don't know i don't know why i'm not sure they exactly they knew what to do but they did let me go that night and i went home
(56:21) and that this is kind of when the most stressful part started because you're realizing you're being monitored yeah now i know not only am i being monitored but now i know i'm in trouble and uh it wasn't a short time after that that i contacted you know at that time the only investigative reporter i had heard of in las vegas was george knapp and um you know told him some of the story because i had no idea what the hell was going to happen at that point so george knapp tries to dissect your story tries to find holes
(56:53) in it tells it puts it online and makes everybody aware of it and that's how i found out about it yeah to make a long story short what happens yeah to really make a long story short what happens from there on i mean do they contact you and say hey bob it's probably a good idea if you shut up how did they try to label you as crazy was there there were boy there were a lot of things that happened at you know between that point um i'm leaving out a lot of stuff to fill in the story we'd have to go back to los alamos and (57:31) and well i really don't want to talk about that the um top secret weapons stuff that you were working on no i'm talking about the 115. um well i don't know i have to think about how i'd what is the problem i don't want to get myself into more trouble by admitting something so um i just have to dance around a couple he was created just during the filming of the movie people thought the movie's great by the way thanks joe and uh it's on netflix right now if anybody wants to check it out and if you're one of those (58:09) people like me who um you know i've always loved the idea of ufos i became extremely weary talking to people who are ufo believers and ufo fanatics because there's so many of them that are full of [__] and not just full of [__] they're they're childishly delirious like the way they talk about things i mean there's so many people that are that i'm in contact they they reach me in the night and they explain to me what we're doing to the ocean is wrong and like you're like okay this is one of the (58:39) reasons i didn't want to do the show well it's i mean it's no joke we've had

people literally camp out on our front lawn and uh you know in some ways i can relate to some of these people you know maybe some of them did really have some kind of experience or saw something and all their friends think they're crazy but hey now there's this guy i heard on the radio and uh at least he knows i'm not full of [__] so i gotta talk to him and so most of the correspondents i get are people trying (59:12) to get a hold of me going bob you you gotta listen to me i'm i'm coming to talk to you i'm you know i'm driving from oklahoma or whatever and and and but some of them are just [__] bad [__] crazy yeah they're frightening there's a lot of schizophrenics that are involved in the conspiracy world so there's a lot of people that have real issues joe it would be a disservice to your audience to not say that we have to look at what's going on now and understand i've heard on your show a bunch of stuff about
(59:41) what's going on now and to not really understand what's going on now you can't see bob's story in the correct light after 30 years and at some point we should just touch upon that um the the biggest being that things like the tic tac ufo case that came out i've heard people even on the show say oh there's a glitch in the radar that's a data poor perspective you just don't know yet what's really going on commander fravor i was able to get the interview with him to talk with him way
(1:00:10) before it became public i got that from him he saw it other pilots saw it this is a big thing that's going on right now they had more sightings on the east coast recently cubes with spherical auras these are not aerodynamic and these are the people we trust to defend us on 911 commander favor protected los angeles and 911.
(1:00:31) so we trust them but they're not trained observers radar individuals see these things and the big the big one just to throw down so we can consider a story a little differently there's more depth to it the big one is the united states government has admitted that they have been continuously studying the ufo phenomenon that program was called a tip advanced error or sorry was called awsap that that's the mother program george knapp got that out they they announced through the new york times about a tip but awesome these acronyms asap advanced
(1:01:03) aerospace weapon systems applications program who cares that was the mother program so they've admitted we didn't stop studying ufos in 1969 with project blue book we don't think it's crazy we actually want to reverse engineer the technology that's why on your other show you said what's this aav thing it's like they're making up another ufo name well hold on there's a reason because in the documents the the dia documents that george knapp released that everybody said was fake
(1:01:27) till now they know is real they call them aavs which is advanced aerospace vehicles people are getting the acronyms wrong so the reason for the terminology change is so that we can mimic what we're reading in the dia documents people can look for that now so they changed the names to get people away from ufo or uap even like hillary clinton said on air right so what are you talking about hillary clinton hillary clinton informed the public on jimmy kimmel oh jimmy we don't call them ufos anymore we call them uaps unidentified aerial
(1:02:01) phenomenon right so she kind of was giving their the clintons are very into the ufo topic senator reid you know he he's done a lot for the for the subject the study of it right so she informed the public so they could look for the right term so these terms are important because the dia in those documents they've been calling them aavs for quite some time now and they change the name to anomalous no that that's kind of a misnomer so they always mess around with things but it's actually advanced right but when
(1:02:32) they're describing it in the news they were calling an anomalous space vehicle totally and that's cool they were also saying anomalous aerospace threats aat right because they want the sense of a threat right so my point is all of if people don't know this now and they think this stuff is is fantasy this this part of it that we're studying it that we take it seriously we're spending money on it and that we're getting great data from from visual pilots to to radar that's why we know it's aerospace they
(1:02:58) dropped from 80 000 feet but guess what that's the top scope of the spy 1 radar is 80 000 feet so the radar system they were using it was coming from above that so my point is this if you don't understand that this is happening you're just behind the curve because you don't have the information because of the stigma that you're talking about i saw you get totally upset with the ufo topic i met you first when you're totally upset with the ufo topic it's the people when when when you're doing your

(1:03:28) i'm sorry man when you're when you're doing your show you know the joe organ questions everything i could see how how frustrating is trust me i have been frustrated to hell luckily my mentors george knapp and he's taught me the pit bull pitfalls as i went through it my whole point in this rant right here is just that we have to now look at bob's story but knowing the facts not someone saying it's a bird it's a plane it's a glitch they're not and so if you don't know that you just don't have the information
(1:03:58) yet not just that knowing the facts as we know him in 2019 not in 1988 absolutely and so what has he said that has come true he's totally unimpressed with it right what has he said this come true so i was like bob they've announced gravity as a wave you were right man you're vindicated and he looks at me and he's like well if you think about it jeremy i had like a 50 50 chance he was not very impressed right when did they announce gravity as a wave so they detected in a sense they detected gravity waves who were who was
(1:04:29) they you might know more there's two black holes that were colliding and that's how they were able to detect yeah somebody bill i don't know which group it was or what part of the government that's what google's for yeah would it but they um you know built a gigantic gravity wave detector and pretty much detected that there are such things as first observation of gravitational waves it says it was in 2016.
(1:04:56) okay the first observation of gravitational waves was made on 14th of september 2015 right as announced by the ligo and virgo collaborators on the 11th of february 2016 previously gravitational waves had only been inferred indirectly via their effect on the timing of pulsars in binary star systems the waveform connected by both ligo ligo observatories match the predictions of general relativity for gravity for a gravitational wave emanating from the inward sp i'm trying to get this from the inward spiral and
(1:05:37) merger of a pair of black holes around 36 and 29 solar masses and the subsequent ring down of the single resulting black hole well that i mean yeah it's not he was in the 80s the predominant theory was gravity is produced by gravitons okay you know part of theoretic theoretical particles but um they're not they're waves they're not particles and that's so the thought is that the way we experience gravity it's based on mass which is why the moon which is roughly one quarter the size of the (1:06:11) earth has one sixth of the earth's gravity so there's some sort of a computation you can make based on mass right and and remember we can observe the effects of gravity but we have no idea what it is all we can do is observe it and we can't make it the only way you can make gravity is just put more mass together and it's just a product of gravity but if you can make a if you have a machine that makes gravity you can pretty much do anything you can affect time you can have force fields all that stuff that's in science fiction
(1:06:44) becomes reality if you have a machine that can make gravity and what we worked on in the desert was a machine that makes gravity i love your analogy of dropping off a small nuclear reactor to the victorian era i love that that analogy because back then that was impossible that was magic what you're talking about here the fact that they just discovered this four years ago that this is a wave when we're as much as we know and as impressed as we are as we should be with how much more technologically advanced we are than
(1:07:20) every other creature on this planet we're still in many ways in the adolescence of technological innovation absolutely absolutely if even adolescence and when you're talking about this binary star system zeta reticuli and who knows how much longer these things have been around than us who knows what their evolutionary cycle's been who knows what i mean we might be talking about something that's a million years more advanced than us yeah yeah it could easily be now i'm not in believe it or not i'm not into ufos i
(1:07:53) don't follow stories or you know even after your experiences no i'm fascinated with the technology and i i it really it irks me like every night i go to sleep that you know i don't that it was my own doing essentially that that prevented me from continuing on in the in the project i mean it's the that to be on that cutting edge of technology is so alluring to me right but you know by the same token i don't really care that there's aliens or where they come from i mean the prize is the technology and that's what i'm (1:08:28) fascinated by but so i don't listen to ufo stories and that sort of thing but george knapp is um i mean he's the guy that has the context and tries to thread everything together and what he recently told me is he found i don't know is either documentation or people that he spoke to it's at this the existence of this project the project that i was on it's something that they seem to take out every eight or ten years so that's a very specific memo and this is actually i this is the first

(1:08:59) time i'll be very clear with people about it it's a big topic of conversation right now it's called the wilson memo you can look it up admiral wilson met with a scientist who's actually was featured in one of my films everybody has been debating whether or not this document of a conversation with a with a sitting admiral at the time is a real document it's an actual conversation that happened and this document is real everybody wants to know the world is going crazy right now in the ufo world
(1:09:27) i'll tell you straight up right now i'm in the position to know and it is a real document that it is real so the conversation you read in that that conversation was had i can't attest to everything you're not being very clear sure please no problem so there was a document that is circulating right now that is really big it's going around everywhere people are asking what is this talking about it's called the wilson memo is what how you can find it online the or the wilson leak there it is
(1:09:57) jimmy's got it the wilson memorandum use of human volunteers no no no no no yeah so uh admiral wilson meets with this scientist and they have this discussion oddly enough at special projects at egng and if i remember the document is from 2001 i'm telling everybody right now it's real and we'll see my history is pretty good with like saying if something's real or not right so here we go the document comes out they meet at eg special projects in 1989 they stumble into a problem this happens they put the technology
(1:10:31) away and then they bring it back out and see if material science has caught up and if they can make any progress so this document kind of talks about this process the big thing i get from it and a lot of it's vindicating to bob and one of the things that's vindicating besides the eg g thing is that private industry so this guy's an admiral and he says i found out about your sap your special access program i need to know about it and he's going to a private part of industry and he is denied access
(1:11:03) and he says i you know i should be running this program and they were able to deny him access so i think the takeaway here is check it out i'm telling you that that is an actual correct that is a leak now everything said in that document i'm i don't know what are you talking about what what is said in that document specifically it's it's a between a scientist and an admiral that are sitting and they're having a meeting and they're talking about the the search for the the ufo subject
(1:11:29) the search to get special access program access to all of these different things like reverse engineering programs so in this document they talk about it uh i believe that this document that the person that went was employed by robert bigelow you know one of the guys that has a couple of orbiting satellites and all that stuff who's the guy owned skinwalker ranch no he's not he was the guy the walker okay yeah he used to own it there's a new owner and i i interview him for my other film but there's a new owner and you'll be
(1:12:00) hearing a lot more about that soon but uh like it'll just there's there's stuff that you'll be hearing about skinwalker ranching because there's a new owner anyway the whole point of this you know insertion here is just that that document kind of validates a lot of this idea bob just said that they make a little progress then they can't go anywhere they tuck it away and then they bring it back out you know 10 years later and start working on it what is the limiting factor i think bob
(1:12:28) should speak on this but it's the material science yeah it's really where physics is so i i can i can see them doing that i mean i didn't have any uh information on that but i think what you know george uncovered is probably accurate that uh you know we try and do what we can and once we reach a roadblock on we really can't figure it out it's just friggin wait put the thing away wait for science to catch up and you know a decade later let's take the project out again and see all right now
(1:12:58) where can we go but there's got to be someone who remains informed right oh yeah you've got your scientists like you and barry you got your people that you compartmentalize you got these people working on yeah there has to be some people right that know everything you've got security and then someone's going to be on the outside saying hey we need people to guard this building don't let anybody in for ten years i think i think a lot of that is private industry and i think that's how they keep it yeah i

(1:13:23) think that's how they literally because the government is just so leaky i think that's kind of what they're doing that's what the document kind of proves you just articulated that that um it is in control private industry what private industry some aerospace company something i don't know yeah they wouldn't they would the guy with the admiral wouldn't name it in the car right in the conversation right so they still have these things supposedly i would guess i mean i don't have any
(1:13:51) information have you ever asked anyone that has any inkling of any idea of where they got them or how they got them no but um something must have been said to me um from barry and but i i it was just too long ago and i i can't quite remember what was said but it it just left a seat in my mind i think at least one of them was part of an archaeological dig so it's old something one at least one of them is old i don't know if it was the one i worked on but i remember something to do with an archaeological
(1:14:27) dig whoa so that's uh that means it's not just old it's ancient that'd be a great stephen spielberg movie yeah right [Laughter] as all of it would yeah that took me out when he said that for the first time yeah that's a freak out right there just a couple of dudes with some brushes looking for a tyrannosaurus rex bone and metal and when did they find it you know that they have nine of them well and how could we have not heard about that what about the guys with the brushes how could you uncover something like that
(1:14:57) and joe's newspaper at home does i mean they said it on that first day oh you mean the roswell yeah yeah yeah you told me yeah yeah i have a cover what is this here james it's the document but i had to do some digging to find it yes it's just kind of yeah so this is where they meet at egng and this is admiral wilson and there's a lot more coming out now i want to be clear george didn't put this out he didn't leak this out to anybody this is i can tell you how i recorded this this conversation so this was an employee
(1:15:24) of at the time robert bigelow and this is in 2002 right do you remember when he had that government contract called awesap the world all knows about now and he had nids that studied the ranch so that 22 million everybody is saying it was for atip um advanced aerospace threat identification program the 22 million dollars was for ossap that was pushed through through congress three congressmen right an astronaut it was pushed through and that's what that 22 million dollars by the way they spend more money on
(1:15:53) viagra every year than they do studying ufos if it was just this program which i think is funny but they probably make a lot more money from fragrance they probably do ufos well you never know how it seeds into population but anyway this program uh this is what was the mother program so it it got the 22 million and really it was to study skinwalker ranch oddly enough that 22 million all was inspired by the phenomenon they were seeing at skinwalker ranch because the scientists they're seeing vehicles come through
(1:16:21) like a space in the sky yeah we went there i went through it yeah we interviewed a bunch of people that seemed full of [__] but a couple that didn't but it's very very interesting totally any there's but if you look i spent a lot of time in the area i'm not talking about those stories i'm saying there were scientists hired by the government right through bigelow to study the ranch because they thought it was important and you know whatever whatever the point is that 22 million was to study that
(1:16:47) then we have atip which is like an auxiliary kind of program of military settings like commander framers and that sort of thing this document is just one of those things that has now come forward that through the bigelow studies it was government funded and then it was personally funded and then government funded it's just one of those things that kind of shakes you because you got this military guy who can't get access because of the private industry that's holding these non-terrestrial materials that they
(1:17:16) can't study it so that's the the claim right now give it some time let people dig more into this it's fascinating man so you are essentially you're you're you're kicked out right you're you're out of the this program you can't work with these crafts anymore and do they give you any threats do they tell you what you have to do from here on out yeah well i mean the way it ended was um i told george knapp all this stuff and um you know he said well let's just get it on tape should (1:17:54) something happen at least we have a record of it and um i don't remember what the emphasis was but um at some point george wanted to air it and he said you know you make the call on it and look if at any point you change your mind we won't air it and it came down to the day where george wants to put her on the five o'clock

news he said hey this is important stuff people have to know about it and i thought it was too either it's kind of a crime i know you've got to keep the technology secret but you
(1:18:25) can't not tell everybody that this stuff is going on that we have you know actual hardware from another civilization it's a big [__] deal you know probably the biggest one there ever was and um george said you know today's the day we got to put it on the news or something to that effect and when it came right down to the time to air it i changed my mind and i said we're not doing it and that's what turned into the famous wrestling match between me and george trying to get the tape but he won
(1:18:58) because he was a bigger guy so he actually physically wrestled well i think it was more of a pulling match we were i don't think we ever hit the ground but he got the tape he put it in the player and boom five o'clock news was on and then um i got a call after that and they said it was from dennis he said you have any idea what we're gonna do to you now and he hung up the phone that was the last communication i had with him and what has happened to you since then after that a lot of people i've known
(1:19:32) either were audited by the irs people had anybody i know that had clearances that worked in secure programs had the clearances pulled one of them uh friendly one of mine that jeremy knows he's going on camera with me soon he'll tell the story now that he's out of work up there he was working up at the tonopah test range waiting for his clearance to come through and you know they they pulled that it would it became it's like if they can't get the person that's involved they just create a problem for
(1:20:04) everybody that surrounds them and so i mean the way it turns out it hurt a lot of people's lives that i was connected to and that's an effective way of shutting someone up did you feel that by coming forward and going public they couldn't just snuff you out that was i mean that's what i was told and george and everybody you know said that you got oh it's you know it's public there's you know no one will touch you and i i you know i i fell for it um and i i wish you didn't yeah sometimes
(1:20:36) sometimes when it's just over stress and people are camping on your lawn yeah but it's this is gonna make things worse doing this no this is gonna make things better i was trying to tell them how is this gonna make things better because you're getting a real chance to explain yourself in a way that's going to make people who are not only work in the government people that are police officers and firefighters and first responders and doctors and scientists they're going to empathize emphasize
(1:21:06) empathize and and empathize with what it must be like to be a person like you in your 20s who gets thrust into this world unknowingly and confronted with one of the most if not the most important discovery in the history of human beings the big question are we alone it's the number one question there's two questions right what happens when we die and are we alone those are the two big questions right and if we're not alone and someone knows we're not alone and these some people who know we're not alone are these
(1:21:46) bungling sort of even if they weren't it's a crime that they're not telling the rest of us but i mean i don't mean bungling in terms they're incompetent i mean they can't be competent it seems to me to what you're describing that no one can be competent with this technology like the victoria victorian era scholars analyzing some sort of a nuclear reactor there's there's no way why do you think beyond that why do you think they're not telling us let's just make an assumption
(1:22:13) that this is true right now why do you think that they're not telling us that our government doesn't tell us what's your best well let me put it into what would you do if i'm the president okay and i get this information what do i do with this what do i do with this there's something that we don't know there's something we don't understand there's something that came from another world we got it tucked away in the mountains and uh just wanted you guys to know about it hey sleep tight hey
(1:22:38) american motto's on tonight who do you think's going to win yeah who's going to win america one is uncertainty and the other one is what bob and i have talked about a lot absolutely not knowing what to tell people because you don't really understand it yourself even though you've got what do you say if you want to run a government you want to get people to pay their taxes but there's something else yeah what do you say so you have these objects fine with impunity right and you that you have something else well not

(1:23:03) only that what can you say like how much do you really know i think it's mainly the technology yeah they just want to keep the technology secret because if there's yeah whoever gets this dude yeah you you control the where you become you literally become invincible once you master the technology you can't you cannot penetrate a field like that so imagine that's i know it's all science fiction but science fiction turns into science fact if you have real force fields around aircraft and battleships
(1:23:33) you you win you win you can force your will upon anybody and uh like i said there's so much more to the story when i was first there um there were russian scientists at s4 that was this was early on in the project so this was before operation paper clip became public as well right so i would imagine that was i don't know what the date yeah when was that when did was that 98 i think 98 yeah yeah i don't know the dates on it so it's roughly 10 years later operation paperclip becomes freedom of information actually it's (1:24:04) about russia not germany he's not a russian scientist yeah but i mean russian scientists a lot of them came from germany a lot of those those rocket scientists that work with nasa they all came from nazi scientists got it so some russians got some of them i just know that and at some point there was intense cooperation with even exchanging some ideas on nuclear weapons and you know emp tests and stuff things we would never have discussed with them but at the same time it was in the late 80s uh they were involved and actually in the (1:24:35) area at s4 with us so you got to communicate with these guys or you saw them no i knew they were there barry barry would talk about the commies that were there the communities the commies and um that was back when they were the commies and at some point it wasn't our group but at some point there was a big discovery made and this did not happen when i was there it happened in between my trips to there and after that apparently they decided it was just too cool to share with anybody and the russians were never
(1:25:09) allowed back on the base after that but you don't know what that discovery was no no like i said it wasn't my group so one of the other groups really found out something but the you know in typical american fashion is all right this is ours you guys get the hell out of here was there any inkling that any other government had something similar no no nothing that i had heard see that was the thing that always freaked me out was why if if something was so superior to human beings it's almost like visiting an ant colony like why would
(1:25:41) you go to the queen i don't give a [__] who the queen is i'm a human i'm so superior to ants i don't care who you have running your hive i'm just gonna study it i think it's who got it who got it look at the you know rocket technology in germany but they got nine of them yeah that doesn't make sense to me either so they were either in the same area or you know one had clues to where others were i mean i don't know you you have to fill that in there but you're right i mean
(1:26:08) nine of them that's a that's a a big dig if it was archaeological well one of the more recent recent sightings and the these discussions that have been coming out recently from air force pilots and navy pilots they've been talking about things happening in the ocean and that that something go literally goes into the water or something maybe below the surface thinking about water 2004 tic tac nimitz case so that's when george knapp and i broke on the radio twice before the new york times so i know this one really
(1:26:36) well commander fravor and those pilots there was a disturbance on the surface of the water commander fravor visually saw what looked like similar to across some object so it's like as if you have some like coral under the water and you've got it's breaking over right the tic tac is doing this crazy maneuver that defies it's a gravity-propelled system they saw it in the sky before they saw in the water right yeah so there was um there were radar that was picking this these things coming down from 80 000 feet
(1:27:05) dropping to 50 feet in less than a second this is it jamie what is this this is actually on the news today there was a briefing so a lot of people get this confused not this one then either no so that is called the gimbal so there's three videos released by the pentagon that are all active play and keep the volume off i i would i would really just pay attention to the source video so you've got the tic tac which is this object the commander fravor saw another pilot filmed it with a flir pod and it goes
(1:27:34) but this one you see is really important to bob's story the gimbal craft it's been recently analyzed it's fleer not only does it it's definitive that it's not a conventional anything by the by its movements but there's a pocket of cold air around a propulsion source so this object by the way sat stationary for days if not weeks it sat stationary yeah they found it 11 hours later and they were saying there's no way this thing using that kind of energy to go that fast could just hover the amount of (1:28:06) time and by the way you're seeing a very small part of what happened that day this object was not alone and so hopefully that information comes out and we can i mean i wish we had video of it i'm sure we'd all want to see it but that's called the gimbal that was east coast right 2015. west coast 2004 was the tic tac the disturbance on the water commander fraber believes there was something under that water that was causing that disturbance when the tic tac was coming around to doing it with inside the the people that are

(1:28:38) studying this they're thinking maybe the tic tac system was causing the disturbance but the uso unidentified submerged object that he visually saw uh the whole interesting thing about that is i would love bob to describe it is why it doesn't matter if these craft are in space air or water why doesn't it matter i love when he talks about this [__] well first of all commander fravor was the f-18 pilot off the nimitz that was sent out to find out what this stuff is but and it wasn't just i got a chance to
(1:29:11) talk to him recently and it wasn't just a radar image i mean commander fravor had eyes on it for over five minutes watching this thing as four other pilots did so this wasn't a radar blip or anything i mean these guys were watching this thing but you know one of the things i think in the gimbal video the way the craft that we worked on flies is it doesn't fly like a conventional aircraft does and it doesn't fly like a flying saucer with in a 1950s movie it flies belly first i mean it may set down conventionally
(1:29:51) but it always rotates it does a role maneuver puts its belly towards the target and then moves away so it's like a car flying with the wheels forward right right i mean it may lift land on the wheels but at some point when it wants to leave flips flips up points the wheels where it wants to go and takes off and the gimbal video you can see the craft do the roll maneuver and uh it's really interesting it behaves exactly like the crafts that i worked on so much like we have different shaped aircrafts and fighter jets and cars they
(1:30:24) probably have different shapes of these objects that operate under similar principles right but they all have the same power source they all have the same power source and we're also dealing with if you think about the laws of technological progression you know you think of moore's law and you think of how things accelerate you've got to think that if this civilization is who knows how many years more advanced than we are if not even years i mean i mean we're thinking about in terms of conventional
(1:30:56) terms right the way the way we look at the world i mean they meet they might be just superior in terms of their intellect they've got to be maybe maybe we don't know right well the only reason i i say that is because look everyone doesn't necessarily start at a steam engine right and go to an internal combustion engine and then you know electric power nuclear power and go up the ladder that we right come on um you know the binary if the stuff is true about the origin and the binary star system and they have heavier elements
(1:31:29) that we don't have and this element stable element 115 is a naturally occurring material maybe that's the first thing they started experimenting with and the version of their steam engine their first product was something that operated like this and actually when they came to earth to look around or you know whatever they were amazed at the stuff we were doing these guys burned stuff and squirted out the back to go forward so right um right you know who says they follow any kind of normal progression like that my my thought was
(1:31:59) if you went back to the 1400s and then you went from 1400 to 1500 you're not going to see that much of a difference technologically right if you go from 2000 to 3000 i assume there's going to be a radical change right well the yeah the delta the rate of change is is magnificently higher than it used to be right so if you think about what they had in 1988 and you think about what they probably have in 2019 just logically seems like they would advance i would think so the only question is like are they living
(1:32:39) is that a living thing in terms of like a biological thing or are they some sort of an artificially created creation like we are working on right now i mean we're in the middle of working on artificial reality artificial beings sentient beings artificial intelligence there's cons silicon based life forms that they're essentially trying to create boston dynamic or was it boston dynamics of the company

robots yeah you can make machines out of flesh right so a cyborg or cybernetic organism is just that you know that's (1:33:08) what a lot of people think those like gray things are you know that people call the grays yeah it's like they were like they're machines printed from flash so what you're saying is like well they could just be no synthetic they don't even need to be you know machines well they seem to have no sex organs the way they're described by people that have had interactions with them assuming these people aren't liars right or crazy or whatever right that they have no sex organs and that they
(1:33:34) don't seem to have any muscle that is almost like a frame right and they have enormous heads i mean if you look at australopithecus or depictions of you know ancient hominids and then you go to human beings one of the things you see is bigger heads and weaker bodies well you see a clear progression of evolution too where for something like that i would lean towards a synthetic organism because it looks like it was made for a specific task there was no reproductive organs so i mean that almost kind of leaves out any kind of you know physical
(1:34:07) evolution right well that's also our bottleneck right our bottleneck is our biological imperative the the need to breed emotions fear anxiety all these different things that exist in order to force us into making sure we reproduce i mean that's essentially there's human reward systems that aren't necessary once they can figure out a way to make some sort of sentient artificial life some sort of thing that doesn't have these biological limitations that we have by the way these craft all these
(1:34:37) different kinds have been reported because it was confusing i always thought of flying saucers what i heard bob lazar talk about flying saucer right but if you look back in history people have always reported the weirdest shapes like none of them are alike you know there are the saucers but you got cigar shaped you got you know the top hat shape you have orbs why maybe they're serving different purposes they're doing different things like we'd use different tools and i want to be clear the reason
(1:35:02) i know that memo is real is because i spent a lot of time with dr edgar mitchell six man to walk on the moon last guy to film him before he died right that's how i know i don't want any journalists thinking i got it from anywhere else i know because of dr mitchell and he said the same thing maybe these things are performing different tasks you know and that's what i seem if you if you think about what an alien is in terms of our our the sort of iconic image of an alien like the steven spielberg closing cows
(1:35:30) are the third time the third kind alien they seem like what we'd assume a human being would eventually become right and if these things are tiny human beings are smaller than they've ever been before they're weaker than they've ever been before and there seems to be a trend in that direction and this trend seems to be amplified by our technological progression there our lack of need for muscle strength and our lack of need for violence and we're moving in a society to try to get away from all the things that we think are
(1:36:02) abhorrent about human beings and the terrible behaviors that we have if we one day do give birth to some sort of an artificial being like marshall mcluhan's uh quote we are the sex organs of the machine world you know that one day okay i'll buy this yeah mcloone was brilliant and that that quote has always been one of my favorites because okay what are we doing when we're constantly technologically innovating we're constantly looking for faster cars better computers bigger screens faster more resolution more
(1:36:35) pixels more this more that higher bandwidth 5g 10g right what are we doing we're moving into this in this if you just follow it objectively stay stand back don't attach yourself or your civilization your culture to it and look at what it is we're moving a hundred percent towards technological innovation if you looked at this species from afar and if you weren't a part of it you would say what does this species do oh they make things they make things better every year beehives are the same [__] thing that you see 10 years ago
(1:37:04) you go by you see a beehive it's amazing it's cool but they're the same [__] thing they figured out how to do it they make a beehive right we don't do that we make better things what would you constantly and at some point i think that technology is going to fuse with us yes and we're going to become it's already happening yeah elon musk talked about it on my podcast that we are cyborgs you just carry it in your pocket it's a phone it answers any question you want you can talk to it it'll give you

(1:37:26) the answers the answers instantaneously it navigates you it has all your phone numbers and it has all your contacts you can get a hold of people people listening to you through it it's connecting us in ways even involuntarily haptics that kind of thing yeah it's also getting on your wrist how many people have eye watches apple watches right and that's only because we can't integrate them yet but you know that point is 100 yeah i didn't joke about it last night but i have a bit about it that i do
(1:37:52) about the the integration between humans and technology that's what would you do if you were a hyper intelligence right would you do the work yourself or would you create some cool things called like humans to do it for you would you create things that are cybernetic organisms to come in with machines and do it for you if you're a hyper intelligence that has kind of changed like you've described you'd probably create workers right well that's a vast conspiracy theory i'm not talking about conspiracy but it is a
(1:38:18) kind of a conspiracy i'm asking you well i mean i don't think it's necessarily that i mean you could look at it that way but that is the way a conspiracy theorist would look at it the way i would look at it is like there's obviously a progression going on a biological progression there's some sort of an integration with technology there's some sort of imperative this need for technological innovation it's inescapable everyone has it we and i think it's attached to materialism in
(1:38:41) some sort of a strange way because so many people work so hard to get new things and like god that seems so illogical and preposterous and it makes people unhappy and depression's on the rise but nobody seems to be able to stop it like why is that well maybe it's because we are the caterpillars that give birth to the butterfly maybe that's what we're doing very well what our job is to do is to make some sort of a cocoon and we don't even know we're doing it while we're doing it do you think a caterpillar is
(1:39:10) well hey caterpillar what are you doing man just i'm doing my thing it's my job i have to make a cocoon then become like a body this could be a natural part of evolution it could be that we're just supposed to do this exactly and make the jump to some sort of mechanized right yeah non-biological an orangutan that is uh fishing with a spear no they they've figured out how to fish with spears there's uh there's um primatologists without somebody showing them how to fish no they've imitated human beings
(1:39:41) doing it and now they do it but they do it independently they're not trained orangutans they're wild around look at that there's a wild rice okay that's impressive very impressive well there's these primatologists i guess you would call them primatologists that's a term that's a great biologist biologists that believe that monkeys and chimps and some of the great apes are moving into the stone age that they've currently entered the stone age like they're not staying what they were a
(1:40:11) hundred thousand years ago or five hundred thousand years ago but they're actively using tools and they're experimenting with different different ways to use those tools and then they're making tools out of stone they're making tools out of sticks and they're they're using them well this might just be what happens this might just be what happens i mean why else why would why the [__] we work so hard i mean i i was i was driving to la this morning um i had a doctor's appointment so i was on the 405
(1:40:39) at uh eight in the morning like jesus christ like this is so crazy when you're in the 405 in l.a at eight o'clock in the morning you see literally a million cars and this is everywhere you go as people but and also i'm in a tesla so i have it on autopilot so i'm there sitting i'm listening to a podcast i barely have my hand on the wheel i'm not touching [__] this car's driving me along i'm not even doing anything i'm just i'm just hanging out it's so much less stressful by the
(1:41:05) way to do that that way right so it encourages you to innovate it encourages you to embrace this new technology i got this giant screen it's showing me the navigation in front of me i'll be there five minutes early excellent and i'm listening to a podcast wirelessly it's bluetooth screen streaming from my phone and i pulled that podcast which came out today out of the [__] sky and i'm listening to it and i'm all comfortable in my nice little car just driving on my way to the doctor's office this is (1:41:32) irresistible stuff yeah yeah different than your walkman yeah you know that can be irresistible it is a resistance it's frighteningly irresistible but is it frightening i mean if you were a monkey right if you were um an australiopithecus

would you go man i don't want to [__] be a person i live in a house that's [__] i like just swinging around on trees i like uh running from jaguars this is life guys life is running from crocodiles it's not living in a [__] suburban there's probably some that are (1:41:58) like that yeah i don't think so i think i think when it comes we're going to embrace it we're going to embrace it the same way you embrace cell phones the same way embrace television there's going to be a few holdouts i don't even have an email address man those are those there's a few and far between the good luck with that [__] face go move to the woods ted kaczynski yeah i was just going to throw ted's against ted kaczynski was right this is something that i think about sometimes
(1:42:20) when i get really high that ted kaczynski was a part of the harvard lsd studies this has been proven ted kaczynski they cooked his [__] brain when he was at harvard and then when he went over to berkeley and became a professor his goal was to make enough money so that he could implement this program and live in the woods and then write his manifesto and start killing people that were involved in propagating technology he was expunged from the harvard uh logs by the way this is something my friend just called me about so there's like this uh
(1:42:50) private library and they used to print people's names whenever they were part of a university and he was one of a handful of people that were expunged from it i want to jump back to the one thing joe i want to be very careful with that word conspiracy theorist what i was what i was saying to you was we we terraform our earth right we terraform we change the environment we do all this innovation what is stopping us from thinking that that's not being done i'm not saying it is i'm saying what's stopping us from
(1:43:18) thinking that that's being done on a much bigger level on a cosmic level you mean like aliens coming down doing that to humans i'm telling you that there is something here that's there's a fact you know there's something there a craft they're here they're not ours they're here so the question is what is that about and i'm just looking at what we do with what you're describing with technology i think it's much more likely that the same way we observe chimps and we observed that they are now in the stone
(1:43:46) age that they're observing us and that they're recognizing that there is a pattern that there is uh there's steps that happen i mean carl sagan talked about the different levels of civilization and that you know if we don't get past certain levels we're never going to reach this i mean we're in type 1 civilization we're going to stay at type zero well we're in this warring polluting yeah pillaging we're awesome civilizations are awesome it's like well we're awesome
(1:44:10) in a lot of ways you know but in that way we're not well yeah we're we're children that have immense power that we didn't really the other thing is you're using the immense power that other people have created right i mean even when you're driving a car you're stomping on the gas like whew you didn't invent the [__] engine you didn't invent tires there's all these things that were in involved in the creation of this thing that is really outside of your [Music] grasp of understanding but yet you have
(1:44:38) the ability to use it like a person with a gun i'm just gonna bang bang bang people you don't you didn't invent a gun so like you've you've without the intellect to craft and engineer and and and manifest these creations you just have access to them because you have paper or you have bitcoin or you have whatever the [__] you're using using a credit card now you have almost no responsibility you just you could just flippantly use these things which is why we uh you know we're very childlike in our
(1:45:07) actions because we haven't had to earn the responsibility we haven't had to earn these things that we've been able to have and you've only been able to have them because other people have innovated and spent ungodly amounts of time and effort and focus in the lab to create these things and then they've all put them together and then what is the what's the reason to put them together to profit well what's the reason of prop well why are you doing this so you can buy more things what are we doing what are we
(1:45:34) doing we're making better things that's what we do that's all that's all we do is make better things yeah why the [__] do we need oil why do we need oil why can't we just burn wood and stay home why can't we grow chickens and food in the backyard why can't we do well we [__] can we certainly can people do do it but we decide to make that almost impossible our preferred way of living is to stuff everyone into a very small area where no one grows anything other than weed this is what la is la is 20 million

(1:46:02) people with hard surfaces as many hard surfaces as you can boy if you've got an acre backyard in l.a holy [__] look at all that green this is amazing well no that's the [__] earth coming through this weird sort of creation that we've put on top of the earth but the goal is that like new york city that's there's none of it right you just got you've got central park and they just got human [__] you stacked up no one's growing anything and then constant work everyone's up early go go go
(1:46:31) innovate progress make that money so you can buy more things and every year hey apple where's this [__] new phone as if your phone isn't good enough yeah like your phone's taking pictures and videos and people are calling you and you got applications to tell you which way the wind's blowing it's not good enough a blink of an eye blink of an eye it's all gone though that you know like 10 000 years and the hoover dam goes or whatever you know mount rushmore disintegrates so it's amazing because we
(1:46:57) have created that and and everything's trying to spring up through that we keep it maintenance down but we're we're a blink man something hits but we don't think that way well you know you think in terms of your own life right you think in terms of what you want and what you need right now you know what it's we are in many ways this combination of this weird primitive ape-like thing with the ability to calculate and manipulate our world and our environment that makes us wholly unique on top of that with
(1:47:26) existential angst and and fear so what do you do with that we [__] water it down with the anti-depressants give these [__] people some [__] that keeps them moving they're worried about the future they're trying to figure out what reality is if this you're on a goddamn convertible spaceship spinning a thousand miles an hour hurling through infinity there's no meaning to this thing just keep making [__] keep making stuff and then one day they're going to be able to hit that switch and this life will be born out of (1:47:53) innovation and thinking and progress and technology and more than likely it's probably going to be what we're seeing that these things are that you're you're observing i'm not observing them but yeah someone's obviously are you implying that they're us i don't think they are us but i think they are what happens when things keep going it's not us just like we're not monkeys right i'm not a chimp oh that'd be cool they're from here is your idea no no no that this is what happens all over the
(1:48:25) universe right yeah this is what happened look here's the thing you know i went to see brian cox's um he has this amazing live show with robin ins where they they have these led screens these huge screens with high resolution depictions of the cosmos and one of the most mind-blowing things was he has this large-scale image of the universe and it shows all the individual galaxies of the universe and it just keeps moving through all these galaxies in three dimensions and it's [__] incredible but what's
(1:48:59) stunning is the relative uniformity of it even at you know i mean you're obviously looking at an incredibly small depiction of something that's immensely large like a galaxy of hundreds of billions of stars you're seeing it as this little dot but this little dot that's flying through space surrounded by other little darts with very similarly spaced distances yeah yeah so mike if we see uniformity in that form in terms of like the distance between galaxy so many galaxies is so it's so similar they might vary slightly
(1:49:33) and that slightly might be hundreds of millions of light years right but but but there's so much uniformity why would we not assume that that uniformity exists pretty much everywhere and that all these things that you're seeing that are so similar you do see binary star systems you do see single star systems like star but there's also some some speculation that earth and that our solar system is one time was a binary star system right i mean that's one of the the speculations about that that
(1:49:58) object that they find outside the kuiper belt that they think is 10 times larger than earth they think it might have been at one point in time a star but this this uniformity that you see why wouldn't we think that that that has its same implications biologically that there's some sort of a biological uniformity and that this happens given the right sets of circumstances you should tell them some of the stuff that you read that you don't know is true i mean if the the stuff was true about the propulsion stuff i mean anyway he well
(1:50:28) what have you read what you saw too and you know what are you talking about spill the beans bob i gotta poke the bear here let's get some more liquor in

you the um well i mean the again the the only thing i could verify was what i had my hands on um they were you know there was talk of weapon systems that there were different projects project galileo project sidekick was supposed to be weapon applications of the craft project looking glass had to do with time any effects of time in the craft now i don't think we're not (1:51:08) talking about making a time machine like in science fiction but we're talking about you know small distortions intentional distortions of time and how that can be used you know as a uh not as a well it was part of a weapon program how are you informed in this these again where there's just those small briefings that i read but again i don't really like to talk about those because i don't have any information on them and it was just you know small briefings but he told commander fravor that what he saw might
(1:51:37) have been a time dilation well it could be because gravity affects time you know space time i'm sure you've heard of that and um you know what what commander fraber saw as he was in the f-18 approaching it he said that he described it as a ping-pong ball in a cup and shaking it back and forth it was moving that fast now obviously if there's anything inside there it it's going to be battered to hell but you know my point was was that well one of two things either there's a gravitational envelope
(1:52:11) in there which negates any inertia effects or you are seeing through a gravity distortion field so you know just like you're looking at a a hot highway and you see you know an optical distortion going through there well the same thing happens in gravity and the craft may not actually be moving like that it may just look like it because you're seeing you can only see it through the field so it may be making much more gentle moves i'm not saying that's it but it has to be one of the two and the thing shows up 60 miles away
(1:52:47) they noticed it on radar 60 seconds after left commander favor but it was at his cap point which is the next point he was destined to go to 60 miles away and in 60 seconds on radar the same object ends up there so it's going a mile a second no they i think the radar just picked it up in 60 seconds yeah it could have been there instantly but yeah we don't know the cycle time nobody knows that that's whole thing oh so it cycles like radar cycles yeah it doesn't it doesn't sweep but i mean it
(1:53:20) scans yeah it's a planar array so it just you know scans around it at random places that's a spy one does the really cool yeah it doesn't do the whole loop anymore right the point uh the point is though that the craft moved to his next location before he knew where his next location was gonna be jesus and that's i mean that's well documented so that's uh that's a pretty shocking piece of information what's fascinating to me too is that you were discussing this um the the way this reactor worked
(1:53:55) and that these things were not really connected no nothing is connected there's no wiring at all that freaks me the [__] out charge your iphone you know yeah one wireless yeah yeah i mean that's the that's a simple electromagnetic yeah i know again but that's just simple electromagnet magnetic induction right but i mean tesla the scientist had this concept of right he wanted to send wireless electricity through the sky and westinghouse was like get the [__] out of here with that like when anybody
(1:54:31) could just pull electricity out of this meter yeah they couldn't they couldn't just talk in the car right over and trying to chill him out you know we're talking about tesla and how he you know he couldn't be metered and how it all went down so it's funny bring it up yeah yeah that that i mean who knows what would have happened in terms of innovation had he been allowed to go forward with that well we probably wouldn't have computers you think yeah i'm pretty positive i mean forget
(1:54:55) about microelectronics well this is dumping huge amounts of electromagnetic energy in the air and yeah we'd be able to wirelessly turn on our lights but there'd be no radio communication the interference would be something we could would be overwhelming it would induce electric currents in anything with a small wire on it so integrated circuits transistors would be disintegrated before they were even you know tested for operation so it it would it would destroy [__] us up yeah it would have stopped us dead we'd have it'd be great
(1:55:27) you could turn lighters on and heaters from all over the place with no wires but it would stop modern electronics and if we became dependent on it it would almost be like our dependence on fossil fuels although it's destructive it's very difficult for us to get off the nipple it would have changed the course of how we developed which is so interesting when you talk about if a civilization another star

system didn't even start with fossil fuels they had 115 naturally on their planet and they're like cool
(1:55:52) anti-gravity is pretty awesome well the fact that i think it's important that that actually happened yeah it might have been stopped in its tracks for a reason whoa and it's just it's i think it's incredibly difficult for us to imagine technological progression under another timeline other than the one that we've experienced yeah that's difficult if we imagine what this alien race must have been like and i mean god just just to be able to see something take like i mean obviously we've seen it
(1:56:25) in different life forms right like we see the life of certain beetles in comparison to the life of certain fish very very different existence very different life cycles octopus yeah octopus yeah i mean we see all these different variables in terms of biological entities on earth but we don't see it in terms of technological innovation as we're the only one that's intelligent that can innovate when we have intelligent creatures but they're in the ocean the only other thing that are like us are dolphins and orcas and
(1:56:52) whales and they don't have the ability to manipulate their environment and subsequently because they don't have the ability to manipulate their environment we put them in fish tanks and we're like get in the tank do some tricks right you know the only thing he saw in the craft if we were considering bob's story the only thing that you he saw in the craft that he related to that looked like a human could make was this honeycomb hatch and i always loved that because you're like obsessed with this
(1:57:18) thing that you could recognize you know the re yeah i i only focus on that because it was the one thing that i understood how it worked what was it and it was it was the access to the level below and it was um well you know if you take uh you have a six pack of beer and you take out the cardboard dividers set it on the table you can put a lot of pressure on the top but if you push it from the sides it collapses flat so it was something like that in a honeycomb shape that was essentially some sort of sheet metal and you could
(1:57:53) walk on that in the upper layer but if you took the corner stuck your finger in and pushed it collapsed and made a an entryway so i thought that was a really unique i'd never seen that before and it was the only thing in the craft that made absolute sense to me i said ah we can make that and all that is is a hatchway was there any discussion about the materials that were used to make the craft i'm sure there was but that was a metallurgy division had nothing to do with us so you never got a not even the slightest briefing i don't
(1:58:24) even know if it was metal or it was ceramic it's i think it there's a fine line between the two now one of the things that's happened to you that has allowed people to discredit you was there's obviously been some sort of an effort to erase your past yeah some sort of a ref uh an effort to erase your education history your employment history at los alamos in fact the only way your employment history was proven at los alamos is someone got a list a directory of the employees from the past and read into it and you were on that
(1:58:57) list so it proved that you worked there even though people were trying to deny and they were trying to use that as a way to discredit you that you never did work at los alamos you weren't really a scientist what was what was that like to experience i mean of course we're talking about the 1980s the 1990s when you could get away with something like that yeah obviously there are a lot less uh a lot less records on computers at that time it was still file cabinets and folders but uh yeah that was frightening
(1:59:26) that was one of the first things i think it's i think george knapp was the first one that uncovered that i mean he saw my birth certificate disappear he um it disappeared yeah there was no record of you yeah there was there was no record of that there was uh no record his mom tells me about that like it was frightening for her for he's got a real family you know he's a real person it's frightening for her but if the los alamos thing really surprised me and that they were so adamant that no this guy never worked
(1:59:56) here don't be ridiculous and george went back and forth you know for i got the letters on the wall yeah months i mean it was ridiculous but fortunately somebody came up with a 1982 phone book directory i mean and also uh originally i told you uh you know when i worked there i was on the front page of the the paper so they were still able to archive you know bring that back from the archives and you know bob lazar a physicist working here at los alamos so there was at least something there but uh somehow george

(2:00:28) came up with the phone director and then george then bob took george with cameras into los alamos oh yeah yeah so we flew out there and i said look come on in i'll show you where i worked we'll go in we'll meet people and george went with me and you know i navigate the place oh yeah and you know met people and you know and almost was also the place where they had the machine that was able to read the the size of your digits no no that wasn't awesome that was s4 that was s4 and explain that so now this was back in the 80s and this is
(2:01:02) back in the 80s where when you discuss this people like this doesn't even exist yeah okay what was it it was a way you know this is before fingerprint scanners and you know and anything of anything any high resolution scanner at that time so what it was was a device that uh had a little picture of a hand on a glass plate with pins in it so you could jam your hand in there and there was a bright light above it and a sensor underneath and when you put your hand in there the light would turn on and it would measure the bones in your finger
(2:01:36) because the light shown through your bones and apparently the length of the bones in your fingers are extremely unique and easy to measure and they use that when you put your hands on there the light would turn on and your badge would pop out there's it right oh there it is that's that's it and i tried to describe this um to people and they said that is the most ridiculous thing we've ever heard and um i said hey that my badge came out of that thing i put my hand on it badge popped out and that's how i could open
(2:02:07) the doors and get into s4 and um you know and everybody discredited that they said it was [__] it was science fiction and jeremy you found this i i found it through a good friend of mine named tyler rogoway and he had some good sources inside of area 52 where they also used these for the stealth program right around that time so now i've got all these people that worked within who you know said only if you're in certain programs would we use this technology it's kind of [__] actually they didn't keep it for very long
(2:02:35) beginning of biometrics so i was able to reveal it in my film i kept my mouth shut until i showed it to bob you know the movie is the first time he saw it was how you see it in the documentary that's his genuine reaction i'm getting goosebumps that was a great idea the way you did it thank you man because you know what guess what i'm actually trying to see if he's telling the truth that's how i started you know that's how i started so it was really cool to see that that you get to see it his actual
(2:02:58) reaction has that been verified by other people yeah so yeah so to me it has uh personally i get emails every day and people are telling me where these are used and how they're used and send me photos i got a lot of photos of identity mats now well how they were used right they're not how they were used yeah but uh i don't the most recent one was way more recent than i thought in another country but yeah that technology was used so what's so funny is um that this technology even in the area 52
(2:03:28) where they'd use him for tonopah one of the guys who will go on camera with me he will do an interview with me he was a technician for one of these and and he hated them because they were really bad they always broke down and never and he was a technician for him now he won't tell me where if he worked at area 52 so it's probably tonopah it's very separated even on base but yeah so there was that yeah there is your education record that was also like what happened with that well that disappeared also you know that
(2:04:00) i i've i've never gone i've never gone anywhere for education i've never gone i never attended any classes at caltech i never attended anything at mit you did attend classes in those places i did attend classes in those places do you know anybody that you went to school with yes i do and have they verified that they went to school with you well i gave jeremy some names but people yeah i the reason i don't say these names publicly is because every single time i mention a name somebody gets injured they don't
(2:04:32) want to be of course yeah yeah of course um but what what is that experience like seeing your birth certificate erased seeing your employment well it's frightening it's it's absolutely frightening it's also the fuel that the debunkers use the so-called air quote skeptics i don't like the term skeptics i'm going to say this publicly because i really only said this privately i think it's a sloppy lazy way to look at things to just be a skeptic i want people to be objective and i think there's a lot of things you
(2:05:05) should be skeptical of i think you should you should look at things and look at things from a hard-line science perspective you should be subjective but the idea of skeptics the problem with that is you're always looking for things to be [__] yeah and i think that's dangerous because i think some things aren't [__] it's confirmation bias on the other end you're just deciding to take a square thing and put it around hold no matter what and i find a lot of them to be lazy a lot of them to be lazy thinkers sure (2:05:32) because they're always putting it into that box instead of going hmm instead of just separating their ego they're trying they're playing a game and the game is calling [__] i want to call [__] and i'm gonna line up all these reasons why it's [__] and i'm gonna ignore anything that might be contrary to that definition yeah every time i'm thinking i'm going to catch him in something you know all along this process um i found dr krangle he came forward and said i was in security briefings with bob lazar the

(2:05:58) physicist at los angeles he went on the record with me now the other people i talked with why won't they go on the record with me because they're still working there so that that's the difference right what is that what can the public have right or even if they're not working there that you know they want to live their lives why i mean obviously people have seen what's happened to you mike thigpen after 30 years yeah really if you look at all the information on you know concerning my accounts that's
(2:06:26) that's verifiable it can't possibly be a [__] story anymore it's really way past that point yeah i mean that was my big pin is i mean how could i possibly know uh so mike fig pin was the guy that did the security clearances to go to the bait one of the guys that was this is the guy that you worked with he said he did right and and george knapp you know george didn't believe him george put him through four polygraph tests right he tried to see man this is a big risk it sounds interesting but let's see if he's
(2:06:59) telling the truth one of the things was bob said there's a guy named mike thigpen he did security clearances for the base and that's a weird name it's very specific for 30 years george found this guy in this weird department that he didn't even know it was my big pin the guy wouldn't talk to me ghosted him totally ghosting for 30 years used facebook and google image match through his children i was able to find him after 30 years and i talked to him three times on the phone he lives on the east
(2:07:26) coast he almost went on camera with me confirmed that he did security clearances for the base in 1989 confirmed he remembers bob lazar and what you don't know is there's a handwritten note that a friend of yours has from mike what i know i'm gonna give it to you later i don't but that is real that is actual so a handwritten note that says what you know like this is new to me so when the i when you're when they do security client clearances they go through all your friends and they go to your friend's phone yeah yeah
(2:07:55) so this is too bob and i had people come to me for a friend of mine that's serving and they're doing the security clearance for him and even though i'm like the ufo guy they did you know the fbi come and visit my house and make sure that they talk about my friend and they lift a little card and when my wife told him to get away because he didn't know who they were they left a little card it's super cute now back then it was a handwritten note and his friend has it for him that you haven't seen in oh my god two
(2:08:49) fork into his steak or into his potatoes or whatever and he's looking at his wife he was in trouble his name's never supposed to be out there like it's just a security clearance guy but you don't want national attention associated with anything bob has to say but anyway this unique name bob said for 30 years and the guy ghosted george knapp george could prove he existed he actually talked to me man he talked to me three times he almost went on camera with me it's just crazy what what do you what (2:09:14) happens after 30 years you just get more info well that's one of the reasons why when you and me and jeremy and george knapp had that conversation on the phone yeah i said i think what we can do with this podcast is important i really do i think it's important for people to hear this from you in a very clear just very concise way and if you examine all the information that you've said today if you you look at all the things that the detractors have said if you look at all of the new recent evidence that's coming out and (2:09:55) all these really high-level people in the military and the government that are discussing this it gives you far more credibility than you would have had in the 19 years when this came out [__] yes you can't ignore his story just because you don't like it anymore that's why i thought it was important that you come out and refresh the world's memory and let people know and like i said i've been i mean i want to say i'm a fan of yours but i guess i'm a fan of yours as a human being i'm a fan of yours but

(2:10:25) i've been following you for decades i've been following the story for decades i mean i'm kidding i have vhs tapes bob like a lot of the world has yeah it's crazy well anybody that has any sort of uh a vested interest or a just a even uh just a fascination with ufos has followed your story because there's no one else there's no one else that comes for this some guy who said i worked underground with the aliens they shot my hand off like there's a bunch of wacky dudes they're underground there's bases
(2:10:56) they're shooting lasers through the earth's crust and they move them at light speed there's a lot of those guys they seem schizophrenic they seem crazy they might even be disinformation agents they might be people that are designed to muddy the waters which for sure has happened people are coming forward though now it's amazing by doing this what you're doing you're providing an opportunity for bob to tell a story you know believe it or not he can tell a story it's amazing because more people
(2:11:21) will come forward now that are involved with these projects they'll come forward to you to me they're coming forward and so what you've done here is provide that opportunity if they need it and it's amazing i just want to say bob just don't come forward no don't come forward to bob why were you freaking nauseous at the beginning of this like so upset why was your why'd you have a migraine because that started off so hard my god i was sitting here like did this why are you asking him why because
(2:11:48) obviously anxiety the guy's gone through 30 [__] years of being persecuted i just want to erase his birth certificate i just want to hear what you hear from i want to hear him say i want them why did i have to say that you don't just set it up get it i step out okay settle down yeah well i get it you were it was hard for you to get them here you know and i was for us yeah you you don't you do what really annoys me are the people that think you know you guys just came up with the story to make a bunch of
(2:12:15) money or get a bunch of you know attention and that's a good point so please explain that first of all i don't get any money out of this at all and i may i didn't even let you guys buy plane tickets for me to come out here or anything i mean any time like when jeremy uh pre-previewed i guess the movie up in michigan i mean they it brought in like a couple thousand dollars i made sure that two thousand dollars went to science programs at the local high schools there dirty money i don't want to touch it i
(2:12:44) don't take any money from this stuff and as far as attention i hate [__] attention i don't like being on shows i just want to kind of hide in the corner and do my own thing so that's i got enough hugs when i was a kid okay i don't need any attention so now that if if you if you think somehow we came up with this thing then you got to tell me why we did it well you've done a great job of making sure you have your bases covered in that regard that you haven't profited off of this and like you said that you
(2:13:15) have donated whatever money that came your way to science programs it's i mean it it doesn't make any sense any other way i mean what you're what i've gotten out of here is what i thought i was going to get out of here when i watched the documentary that you what you're saying makes sense it doesn't make sense that it's [__] that happened exactly like i said it did joe i believe you um in closing is there anything else you'd like to say no i can't think of anything other than
(2:13:45) really don't come and try to visit me [Laughter] well um i know that you have paid a huge personal cost to get this information out and i mean maybe you didn't understand what that cost would have been when you first initially came forward with the story but over the past 30 years it's been immense it's been great and i just want to thank you for that and thank you for all these people that would not have gotten this information and would not have really had this story any other way oh thanks joe thank you

(2:14:15) and thank you jeremy and one more time the documentary is available on netflix right now yeah it's called bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers all right that's it folks good night [Music] [Applause] [Music]

Explosive New Bob Lazar Evidence & Area 51 Secrets Revealed | Jeremy Rys - YouTube

(00:00) foreign [Music] the strongest argument against Bob lazar's story that he has for the most part kept straight for the last 35 40 years well this a lot of it is kept straight I think oh well a lot of it's kept straight because it's like telling a story it's it's he's told it so many times it's kind of like reading a script it's kind of like you just memorized your script and you're rehearsing you've rehearsed it and you know your script so I don't think that you know it's not that hard to say that
(00:43) because he hasn't changed this it doesn't mean the story is true just because he hasn't changed it what makes the story true or not is whether there's you know supporting evidence for things so like we've investigated S4 for example the the secret facility at Papoose Lake where he claims he he worked for this period of time or his timeline his background you know what would even the background check thing we talked about this issue of background checks and um how he got the background check to to even have worked out there
(01:17) and you know have you looked into the guy's background did you do your own background check on them me personally all I do is just listen to podcasts about them I haven't done any of the real homework I've been looked at any like classified documents or I haven't like subpoenaed the MIT or at Los Alamos labs but um talk to like his former you know Associates you know people who were important figures in the case right or what are the biggest holes that you found in his story well the the biggest holes I would say there's a
(01:52) couple of them um so one is this that issue of how he was hired in the first place the background the background check is the biggest hole because it takes normally like eight months or more to to do a thorough background check on an individual um the background checks that people investigators and other researchers have done and Bob Lazar you know show a whole history of this guy would not have passed a background check especially he's he's friends with John Lear who was the guy who was blowing up the whole UFO story
(02:24) about the base in Area 51 he was on George Knapp on on the record uh a year before Bob those are talking about this top secret base and saying that there was a subsection with uh the secret hanger complex that had 11 recovered alien discs in it and that was John Lear so I said there was 11. yeah he said there was 11 bulbasaurus said there was nine and um you know later you know was basically confirming John lear's story that John Lear had already told a year before and there's just so many elements of bubbles our story that we have (02:58) tracked down because I you know when it's if it's he's leaking classified information um on scientific level right like the element 115 stuff so that's the that's the real big scientific thing that he supposedly came out with and and there's so many misconceptions about that as well that I'd like to spend a minute to clear up okay so one is that you know elements are you know the element number is based on proton number that's how many protons are in the nucleus so hydrogen is number one it
(03:29) has one proton and one electron the electrons number balances the proton number so that has a zero charge they always like to be neutral so this issue of the protons is just it's just addition man so you just like Element 115 you know the periodic table goes up to a certain number and then to just predict that it's going to go to higher numbers that we haven't created yet I mean this was figured out back in the 1960s by a guy named Glenn seaborg who worked at UC Berkeley and he worked on a lot of the particle accelerator
(04:04) experiments that you know built the entire you know higher half of the periodic table and while it's interesting uh you know he wrote an article actually in Scientific American in 1969 and published it talking about elements you know the higher elements and this so-called island of stability so this island island of stability was was known about by you know real physicists working at you know UC

Berkeley labs and and other places decades before Lazar I mean this is people people misunderstand and misrepresent the physics constantly and (04:41) it's it's good it would be good to get you know a guy like Eric Weinstein on with uh Bob Lazar I know that he's Eric Weinstein has you know publicly accepted Joe Rogan's offer for you know to have a debate because Joe we're going to put the challenge out there you know can we get someone to to kind of quiz this guy and and Weinstein finally um said you know what I'll debate this guy and talk about you know physics and and MIT and we'll talk about you know the advanced degrees he supposedly has from MIT and (05:09) magnetohydrodynamics and see what he knows about you know mhd and mhd propulsion and and you know get get a quizzed and see what he comes back with and you know what's interesting is Bob has always said that he would do a technical interview with a group of scientists you know he said that in one of the earlier interviews that he gave he's like oh I'd be happy to do this and then Japanese television set this up and invited him over and he never showed up really yeah this was back in like the 90s okay
(05:36) and um you know so he's never given that technical debate with Scientists he's never debated with Scientists in fact you know the first time Joe Rogan had him on the podcast he had physicist Sean Carroll on like the next podcast and didn't ask him anything about Bob Lazar and I was like why wouldn't you ask you know the physicists about Bob Lazar and what they have to say about his story and you know I'll tell you the the key thing of Bob's story is the element 115 which he says is how the the power
(06:04) source and the um also the anti-gravity propulsion source for how these things fly and he claimed you know he people claim he predicted it back in 1989 um there's lots of other people who predicted it including you know back in the sixth the 1960s The Glenn seaborg knew that there was going to be elements up that high you know and he even predicted the element the the island of stability there and there was actually an article that was published in Scientific American in May 1989 which is the exact month and year that Bob Lazar
(06:34) first came out with his story and it's on page 68 of the May 1989 issue of Scientific American and it's called super heavy elements and it talks about the island of stability in element 115. um but it nowhere in any of this is any mention that it has anti-gravity Properties or you know energy you know production properties so that's the that's the big thing we've discovered Element 115 and people like the the core bells and everyone try to claim that that means that you know oh it can they've confirmed Bob (07:04) lazar's story because they you know he predicted it in in 1989 and then they discovered it years later so that confirmed his story no it didn't he he claimed that there was a stable isotope and that it had anti-gravity properties so now we never discovered a stable isotope and that's one of the main arguments that's used to dismiss it but it's also true that certain Isotopes like hafnium for example or lanthanum there's like blurs in the periodic table where these elements can actually jump back and
(08:04) for example like a magnetic bottle so you can kind of you know hold this unstable nuclei together so that it doesn't Decay like uh in a normal time so so it's possible that there may be some way to isolate and stabilize Element 115 that we haven't discovered yet and that you know I saw I'm not saying that it's been completely debunked you'll almost you can't ever disprove a negative it's it's it's not up for me to debunk bottles or it's up for you know him and Jeremy Corbell and (08:34) George Knapp to prove that he's telling the truth or come up with some supporting evidence for a story or documentation and the kind of documentation I would be looking for hasn't come out so so bubbles are some some more records of his educational background which he claims to have these degrees Advanced degrees and have gone to these schools which there is evidence right so the evidence came out right it's interesting because he had a court case in 1991 and on his court documents he he stated that he had a his (09:02) bachelor's degree was from Pacifica University which is a correspondence

University and what year do you say this it was shut down in in it was shut down in the early 90s as as being a degree Mill so this is like 91 I think was the the conviction so it was like two two years after he came out with the story so this place called Pacifica was selling degrees Yeah selling okay that's where you put so the court case is interesting too because apparently you know he he had you know become this whistleblower about this big top secret
(09:30) program that he was hired to be this senior staff physicist on and that um you know afterwards he he was um after you know two years later he's running a brothel he's literally running a brothel that's what he gets he well he wouldn't he wasn't running the brothel he was uh there was a mad Dam who was running the brothel it was called the Crystal Cove and his he actually got arrested for um setting up a CCTV camera system in the apartment complex and he was they were filming and blackmailing you know customers of the
(10:33) people still don't know about that and that it happened but the court documents from that case he lists his he lists his degree was his bachelor's degree was from Pacifica University not MIT or Caltech he doesn't say that and he says that his um uh he had some I don't know he said something about University of Cal Northridge I got to look up the the documents from that court case but it's on it's on there you can look it up uh there's a whole website um Bob Lazar debunk.com where people can get like a
(11:01) lot of these um documents and other stuff and other researchers have done uh stuff on this too including an account on Twitter called signals Intel and um yeah there's not a lot of traction online with people that are trying to pick apart his story and like doing it successfully until I became aware of you did I really start to notice some of these details yeah you know people aren't looking for because the Bob Lazar story is such a Fantastical story it's awesome I mean that's what got me into researching UFOs
(11:31) and black projects and thinking the government has this stuff that that and uh you know movies like Independence Day in 1997 where they have that scene where they go into the underground hangers they say oh we got this from Roswell you know so how from the time you first learned about Bob how long did it take for you to start to question everything um I didn't start questioning until I really started going on like forums like Above Top Secret and in other forums where I was really arguing in favor of the case with a lot of more
(12:02) knowledgeable researchers about it and they they sent me to a lot of interesting links which educated me about you know background checks and uh Bob lazar's timeline that he borrowed a lot of money in his past that he he had a lot of debts and he also was apparently um you know he said he claimed that he his clearance was revoked right about for um the purpose that they he claims that his wife was having an affair with a with her Airline instructor and that's why they revoked his security clearance and and that was because they thought it
(12:35) would be like psychologically traumatizing to him and it would affect his work that is absolutely ridiculous if you know the case because he was friends with John Lear I mean he knew John Lear he had met John Lear and was a friend of his um he had gone there if you read the story so there's two people that are left out of the story and and Jeremy corbell's film and I think that it's it's deceptive to not mention them or bring them into the story because there are two of the most Central figures in (13:05) the Bible's our story and that's John Lear and Gene Huff and Gene Huff co-wrote the original Bob Lazar tapes it's it says a film produced by he he helped produce it so so the original Bob Lazar tapes the the tape that started all this was produced by Gene Huff okay and in a radio interview that I have saved and I put on my channel um Gene Huff claims that he met Bob Lazar um because Bob Lazar was running a photo processing business at the time in Las Vegas and that's what he he was listed as on on court documents he listed his (13:40) occupation as a photoprocessor so he had the means to to fake that W-2 form and the um the the ID badge so the I those are the only two documents that Bob's produced in support of his case the W-2 form and an ID badge yeah so the W-2 form has his his first wife's social security number on it we found that was a weirdest thing so that was definitely faked he didn't even put his his own Social Security he put his first wife's social security number on the damn thing and then they changed it in other (14:10) versions but we have the original that he gave and it has his wife his first wife's social security number on it which his he was married to a woman named Carol Nadine Esslinger or Carol Nadine strong uh she was 10 years older than him they married in I think like 78 or 79 moved to uh law and um he was still married with her I believe when he moved from California to Los Alamos but sometime in the middle of that is when he he met this other younger girl um Jackie which which her real name is Tracy um they call her Jackie but um he

(14:48) married this he he started hanging out with this young girl apparently married her but he didn't get a real marriage certificate he just like had a wedding and and married her well he was still married to The Other Woman and then the other woman found out and was so upset by it she allegedly committed suicide and this is all documented and then Carol needy and strong we looked up her history the woman that he was married to at the time he would have had these background checks and security clearances so so the government hired
(15:16) him to work on the most top secret project the US has ever known then they would have obviously looked into this part of his background and found these holes in his story I mean these these were issues that he had so so the it looks more like he was having an affair with his wife you know because he married two women at the same time this younger girl and then his older wife commits suicide and then he ends up marrying the younger wife legally on paper a couple months later and he his first wife committed to allegedly (15:41) committed suicide yeah before he was hired to work at UH site S4 yeah this was before this was out early this was 86. 1986. so this was two years before so two years prior two or three years prior to him coming out with the story in 1989 right so 1986 is when you know he he meets this younger girl moves to Los Alamos and um and then he he breaks up with uh you know and breaks her heart and she ends up committing suicide mindset they like um tailpipe in the garage they found her in the car or whatever I don't know if (16:19) he's the one that found her or what the whole the whole story is um there but it's certainly very you know peculiar and bizarre and strange um and definitely a guy wouldn't have gotten a background check because his his former wife was arrested was was involved with a Hell's Angel murder According to some Doc some newspaper articles and stuff that we recently found from Las Vegas so she was from Las Vegas and moved up there apparently she's connected with someone that worked at Fairchild Industries and that's how (16:45) Bob worked there out in California before he moved to Los Alamos and he knew a bunch of other guys like Jim tagliani who worked at tonopod test range um and and Jim tagliani knew about S4 who who is Jim tagliani he was one of Bob lazar's friends so uh he's he's a he's he's a guy that was friends with Bob Lazar and and uh John Lear and all them and he knew he worked out at um tonopod test range at a real place called site four there's a difference there's a real sight for it tonopod test
(17:16) range that's area 52. Okay so area 51's in Nevada near Las Vegas and if you go like West from Area 51 you'll fly right over tone upon your way to Edwards Air Force Base and then that was called site four there was a section out there called site four and it was the eccm which is an electronic counter counter measures uh radar setup so they would build mock enemy radar systems like Russian radar and then they would figure out how to spoof or Jam that those radar systems um you the with the frequencies or or um
(17:49) the signals and stuff and this was like this was the origins of the like the stealth days where they were working on right I mean the stealth program was a little bit before that but you know the early 80s but they were still doing a lot of stealth research and stuff out there at the time which is also interesting because there was another site four that we found which was at plant 42 in Palmdale which is where they made the B20 the B2 Spirit bombers so there's two classified sites named S4 or site four in one at Tonopah one at uh (18:20) Palmdale where they're building the B2 and then Bob comes out with this fantastic story about this place called site 4 where the reverse engineering alien you know saucers and stuff and that's the same story that again John Lear told the you know a year before on George Knapp so it's kind of interesting you have this timeline where Bob Lazar moves to move you know he the white the wife thing he was Los Alamos he's living there and then then he meets his new girlfriend something happens at Los Alamos he apparently only worked he (18:52) did work at Los Alamos so we've been able to confirm that right but he only worked at Los Alamos for like eight months that we can tell that we can figure out and apparently he was fired from Los Alamos for using company equipment to work on his jet car which he was in he was already in um there was a monitor article from Los Alamos from 1982 um on the jet car article um so he was in Los Alamos with his jet car in 1982 doing doing stuff so so you can get a little bit a scope of the time period and and if you really traced it

(19:26) down that the whole timeline there's no room for him to have gotten the degrees there's there's no evidence that he got the degrees and then him listening on the court documents that he didn't really have the degrees he had a Pacifica University which is like a mail order you know fake degree um and he's that's possibly a mail order degree they were doing that it doesn't necessarily mean he paid for it there's no proof he actually paid them right so I mean you could if by some stretch of (19:50) an imagination just assume that oh the government you know just tried to put a bunch of dirt on this guy and made up all this stuff that it's all made up by the government right so then at the end of the day if you just just get rid of all the circumstantial evidence about you know the shows that the guy had just may not be who he says he is may have been involved with you know people like John Lear who's selling the same story on George Knapp getting tons of views on it so you know here's Bob Lazar working for (20:19) the photo processing company for Gene huff and Gene Huff says that the first time they met John Lear that Bob Lazar went over there to do an appraisal on John's house and they went to do an appraisal because uh Gene Huff were in an appraisal business and he was working he met that's how he met Bob Lazar because he was his photo guy so Bob Lazar would go take the go there take the pictures process the photos build and do the ads for the you know the paper and stuff and that he would hold a tape measure
(20:46) and this was when supposedly before this is the guy they hired to be the senior staff physicist to work on you know to figure out how this other thing that the the our top scientists couldn't figure out how this reactor worked so we had to bring in this guy to figure this out but does it make sense does that make sense but is it it's true though this guy first of all the first time Bob from what I understand the first time he met with George Knapp and they did those interviews like he had he had to do a
(21:16) lot of convincing to get him to do that yeah and then he tells the story of how he actually interviewed him did this whole story and before he published it Bob like called him and said no I don't want to do it like he had a change of heart he didn't want to publish it didn't want to go live with it and George Knapp said that he like wrestled with him over the tapes or something like he he described some sort of like a physical altercation we had to grab it from um Bob and [__] published it so so Bob like and so what is there to (21:46) gain for him he hasn't made any money off this he hasn't yeah he claims he's never made any money off of it that's what he says they sold the Bob Lazar tapes back in you know the back of UFO magazines and stuff for 30 bucks a pop back in the 90s and I know they sold quite a bit of them so I know that he made some at least some money off it um I've heard that you know Jeremy Corbell made didn't make what he thought he would but he made some decent money off the off the film that he put out and (22:14) I've heard that he paid you know Bob's wife or some some back Channel like so Bob actually did get paid for that but I again I have no evidence to confirm that but I'm just con I'm just I would love to you know do some more investigation into that and find out because it would be real easy for someone to just order you know a whole bunch of stuff from Bob's business United nuclear right you know it would be real easy for Jeremy Corbell to order you know 200 000 worth of scientific equipment from United (22:41) nuclear and then United nuclear just simply not deliver the equipment you know there's other ways to to wash that money and Bob has the means and knows how I mean he started United nuclear because he ran a fireworks um cell like show called desert blast where they're basically you know invite a bunch of people and sell tickets to go watch you know these massive fireworks and bomb shows out in the middle of the desert where they'd blow up all kinds of stuff and that was during the days when you know it was getting harder you used to

and at and they started putting a stop to that so you had to be a registered company in order to order those chemicals and and and get them so Bob Lazar created United nuclear and started uh you know ordering those chemicals and selling so he started out the whole thing selling like and and they also they have actually got kicked out of Las Vegas because they were you know selling all this glassware and it was you know winding up in all these meth labs all (23:39) over Vegas and they kicked him out of Vegas and he had to move the company to Michigan so this this um there's a lot of history behind how Bob's gotten the money and you know there's also this these companies where you know if he was doing it you would never know that he got paid for it if if he did and I'm not sure I would do it either if I didn't if I wasn't getting paid for it what he's done you know but again that's that's that's besides the point what could he be getting paid for besides selling (24:08) these tapes for 30 bucks a pop and helping Jeremy make a documentary and selling some [__] souvenirs on his United nuclear website I mean that's not like it's a lot of trouble for like that it seems like he would be trying to make a lot more money off such an Endeavor like this you know and he hasn't done any podcasts other than Joe Rogan's podcast well it's interesting because like it's it's almost like why would he pick he hasn't done any documentaries either besides one with Jeremy Corbell so why would he (24:37) why would he only work with Jeremy Corbell or only work with Joe Rogan I would imagine because I would imagine because he doesn't want the attention and he's got people like Joe who are fascinated by the topic and he's got people like Jeremy who are also fascinated by the topic who are pushing this guy to do this like come on do this he's like no I don't want anything to do with it you could tell anyone on Joe's podcast he was like very hesitant he had a [__] headache whatever and he is (25:00) not like he was happy to be there hey happy to be here Joe let's talk about [__] aliens he was he seemed like he didn't want to be there it also seemed like Jeremy was his like Handler for the whole thing yeah because he didn't then he got the migraine it was a lot of questions he couldn't answer and why is he doing more press it just seems like he's he he he's he knows the story's a lie and he doesn't want to do more press because he just knows that it's going to get found out if the more air the more
(25:25) time he spends on there all he needs to do is get on a show with a guy like me instead of a someone who doesn't know anything about the case because as long as he's talking to people who don't know anything about the case or people who want to believe in the case and support the case without question like Jeremy Corbell you know convinced that it's real and you know that guys like me are part of this you know big organization to like shut down the truth and it's like well what's the truth man what (25:49) physics do you have bro I I've interviewed you know real senior staff physicists so I can show you what a real senior staff physicist looks like and compare that to Bob Lazar and I can show you what real physics programs and real saps and the and the sort of research and what it looks like because we've I've studied these things and I've you know interviewed the people who worked on them we've had them on my podcast so um I I tend to question guys like Bob Lazaro and especially that's that's one
(26:18) of the main things is the education the fact that he lie about being a physicist and having these credentials and then not being able to back it up is the biggest thing to me that and I don't know when he's on these shows and on the like these tapes and these interviews is there any any red flags in his language about physics yeah I'm sure if any physicist who's listened to Bob Lazar talk knows that this guy is not like a real physicist he's not you know he's not doing you know real equation it's some of the most
(26:50) basic you know physics stuff and then he'll throw in a bunch of other stuff like the gravity a wave and b-wave idea um I've had some people on the podcast that have tried to analyze that in different you know ways um but again it's it there's no there's no core physics there and and when you talk about anti-gravity right first off you can't have anti-gravity without negative Mass you need to have negative Mass if you're not producing negative mass then you're not producing anti-gravity and what he has is the most (27:23) massive element you have so he's not producing negative Mass he's producing you know super Mass so it's it's the opposite direction it's kind of like a misdirection in all all fronts I feel like it's I feel like it's intentional disinformation like that was put out it's almost like why was you know John Lear telling the story and then Bob Lazar suddenly get you know meets John Lear and then gets uh you know hired to go work out there you know despite that he knows John Lear and then as soon as he gets working out (27:52) there what does he do he turns and goes I'm blabs to his friends and brings him up on the mountain you know with up to the peak you know because that's what they did apparently they brought him up to the peak and that's when you know he got the calls and and uh they revoked his clearance and stopped but apparently he up at the peak what they were filming was either Janet flights the incoming you know flight airline flights coming into the base or they were filming some you know some of the early Star Wars SDI

(28:17) program uh tests on these plasma and laser-induced plasma Technologies and you know they have proton beams and other types of um beams that they could generate balls of plasma in the sky right I want to get into that I want to talk a little bit more about this first one of the things that um I noticed one of the links you sent me was a medium artifact goal about one of the guys who ran security clearance for Bob at what was it supposed to be Area 51 or S4 apparently what was the guy's name again right so Jeremy Corbell put this whole
(28:53) thing out about this Mike figpen guy he talked about him on he talked about him on the Joe Rogan podcast and and touted him as this ultimate whistleblower uh proof that you know Bob Lazar really worked out at this place and got the security clearance but honestly when you do the security background check on Bob he doesn't check out none of that stuff's mentioned in any of this no proof is given no vid he didn't record the interview that he did with this guy he didn't you know record audio he didn't think you know he records
(29:25) himself in his in in his apartment you know sitting there with no shoes on for hours in the in his film but he couldn't you know just talking to George Knapp on the phone or Bob ozar but he can't he couldn't have recorded that one conversation that's way more important than any of those so who wrote this article this is on medium the title is Bob Lazar Mike Thigpen and the clearance investigation this guy is uh signals intelligence and I'm not actually sure what his real name is um it almost sounds like this guy Victor
(29:58) that I know but I'm not sure if it's him so I want to figure out that there's a clip in here um go scroll down there's a excerpt from an interview with Mike Thigpen who does it say conducted this interview with Mike Thigpen is this the guy who wrote the article yeah so the guy who wrote the article actually you know reached out to these people and found a lot of these people so this there's a lot of people that have been doing you know back their own background investigations yeah bottles
(30:27) are so they went out and actually found people who worked with him at Los Alamos and people that worked with him uh you know for all these things and interviewed him and asked him everything they knew about the guy you know just to try to get a whole big picture of it so this guy I'm gonna read a little part of this article that says I spoke with Mike Thigpen in August of 2021 to confirm corbell's account of their conversations when I asked if he had any recollection of Mr Lazar or conducting a background
(30:52) investigation into him Mike thickpin said it's possible I don't remember him no I only got knowledge of him where I recall it after he got into the news I did stop and pause and listen when they threw my name into his story the author asks you didn't remember Mr Lazar as far as you were aware did you not conduct a background or clearance investigation on him fig pin as far as I recall I did so many of them I if I did his background I'm not saying I did it all but if I did I don't recall the author says did you
(31:25) not tell Mr Corbell that you remembered Bob thickpin says personally no I don't know Bob I don't recall meeting him if I told him I did it was an error I certainly didn't mean to say or apply that to Mr Corbell it should be noted that Mr Thigpen readily agreed to allow this publication of this interview okay well now now play that little YouTube clip real quick where they're talking about Mike Thigpen this is the guy just to give people context this is who um this is in I think Joe Rogan's (31:52) interview with yeah the only one he did with Bob I think so Mike figpen was the guy that did the security clearances to go to debate one of the guys that was this is the guy that you work with he said he did right and and George Knapp you know George didn't believe him George put him through four polygraph tests right he tried to see man this is a big risk it sounds interesting but let's see if he's telling the truth one of the things was Bob said there's a guy named Mike figpenney did security clearances for (32:21) the base and that's a weird name it's a very specific for 30 years George found this guy in this weird Department that he didn't even know it was my Thigpen the guy wouldn't talk to me ghost and I'm totally ghosting for 30 years used Facebook and Google image match through his children I was able to find him after 30 years and I talked to him three times on the phone he lives on the East Coast he almost went on camera with me confirmed that he did security clearances for the base in 1989 confirmed he remembers Bob Lazar

(32:51) yeah well it's it's interesting that there's no evidence provided for that and there's other guys that talk to him that didn't get that story and again I've done my own in background investigation on him and I just don't think he's the kind of guy that would work out it at a place like this so let's let's compare him with someone that that did um look up Dr Bernard hash h-a-i-s-c-h okay here's one more thing as well one of the biggest um things that I believe that have been (33:20) confirmed was Bob describes that hand scanner that to get into the base he had to put his hand on this machine that measured like the length of the thing the Biometrics of the bones the bones and the fingers and that turned out to be legit well we'll get into that in a second but uh yeah so the hand scanners thing we found that apparently was in Jeremy corbell's favorite film which is Close Encounters of the Third Kind which came out a decade before Bob lazar's story so um there's again any anything that was (33:54) classif claimed classified that was from Bobble Star Story every single thing that he says was classified we found we found in sources unclassified public sources before that I can I can name every single piece of classified Intel that he's ever spoken about I can cite that in in sources that predate his disclosure so he's not a whistleblower of anything all this stuff was in public domain it was all unclassified out there for anyone to find and put this put these pieces together I mean the story about the the scientists who cut in the (34:27) reactor and supposedly died you know there was a movie that came out okay a movie that came out that same year called fat man and little boy go look it up and in in the movie it tells the story of the Los Alamos scientists the guy's name is Louis sloten s-l-o-t-i-n and he's the scientist that cut into a reactor during the Manhattan Project well he didn't cut in America they had a beryllium half shell and they were doing they had a the demon core inside of it which is a plutonium core that they used (34:55) in the in the atomic bomb the first Trinity test and they had a beryllium half shell now beryllium is a is a neutron reflector so what that does is all these neutrons that are given off it reflects those so when they put this half shell over it it reflects all those neutrons around and what neutrons are is it's a big heavy particle that has no charge so if you want to smash atoms apart you know you don't use a proton because a proton can is positively charged it can't get anywhere near the nucleus because they
(35:25) repel each other because of the charge but neutrons have no charge so you get a bunch of these fast-moving neutrons rolling around inside this chamber and suddenly they start smashing atoms up and releasing more neutrons and more neutrons and it's a chain reaction and they created the first one with they were they were trying to measure the criticality with this half shell experiment and they killed three they killed two scientists and um that's a real story that's the only that's a it's a story where you
(35:53) know it seems to match pretty closely with his descriptions of the the Reactor Core they look a lot like this demon core in the half shell that they were using in fact the experiment they were using he was using a screwdriver and the screwdriver slipped and it fell and it went super critical because the screw the screwdriver was holding that Gap up and when that Gap fell it went super critical and he quickly grabbed the thing and pulled it off burnt the crap out of his hand and totally irradiated himself but he saved the lives of the (36:20) other nine scientists in the room and um but sacrificed himself and uh for that he was like giving all these Awards and stuff but he died a couple days later radiation poisoning it was brutal man the pictures and stuff but that's a real story about uh what is this guy's name again Lois sloton Lewis slotin s-l-o-t-i-n yeah that's the dude that's fine oh look at the pictures of that thing that's the demon core right there so they they built a new uh reactor to run this experiment and it has a mechanical (36:53) um holder for the half shell that that's on top so it's lowered and raised mechanically so they can do it from a separate room a safe distance away you know so

so that they so that they can run this experiment with precision and it's not doesn't have that element of human error with the screwdriver and the the new um reactor uh Core Design looks a lot like Bob lazar's Element 115 reactor it looks almost just like it actually it's it's like if you were just to modify a couple things on the um (37:22) the new um it would be called a beryllium half shell criticality experiment that's a tongue twister yeah yeah I know beryllium half shell criticality yeah as the scientists that were in the room that he saved um and they're distant they had he had him draw their distance on the ground so is this supposed to be what he was describing when he was describing the reactor inside of the Flying Saucer well I think he took pieces of what he learned from he said it was like a basketball he said it was like a basketball this is on display at the Los (37:58) Alamos History Museum Natural History so this exhibits on all this stuff that he he would have seen if he spent time in Los Alamos so he would have you know he could have adapted this stuff to make up a story you know is all I'm saying is that's what it sounds like to me because there's no verifiable Intel that's come out of anywhere in the past 30 years on you know programs that were working on this kind of stuff or even interested in in this kind of stuff the scientists that were working on it were um (38:27) you know a cup a couple of these German guys that were working with and on CERN you know react uh particle accelerators at CERN they were continuing uh Glenn seaborg's work Glenn seaborg was again the guy who predicted this the Island's stability he discovered a huge number of the elements on the periodic table at Berkeley labs at the Berkeley accelerator so he pioneered a lot of um you know physical chemistry research in their in those early days but going back quickly to that hand scanner yeah the hand scanner so so that was in (39:03) Close Encounters it was in electronics magazines we found it we found numerous pre-1989 sources for that hand scanner that you know would have you know anyone could have known about those so but but he said specifically that that's what he used to get into area 51. the opening sequence of of Close Encounters but had a sequence of Close Encounters when the guy goes into the top secret facility there's the same hand scanner right there and and Jeremy Corbell said in interviews that his favorite movies
(39:31) close encounters but how could he have missed it how would Bob know that that was specifically in the [__] in Area 51 though because it's in Close Encounters they oh they're filming in Area 51 is what you're saying in Close Encounters they're filming a top secret facility the the alien stuff's going on and they have to get into right in the opening sequence of the movie yeah but that doesn't mean that that's the exact machine they use it's the exact machine it's that exact machine
(39:58) it is the exact machine but how would Bob know that that is in fact what they have at Area 51 just because it was in a movie do they have it in Area 51 I mean it was one of the high-tech yes there was proof there was a photo taken one of the security guards that had provided a photo of one of these things at area 51.
(40:16) maybe you can find it maybe that's the photo there pardon this brief Interruption but I want to take a second to talk about our sponsor Verso now if you've heard this podcast before chances are you already know how obsessed I am with Health and Longevity which is why one of my favorite guests to have on the show is nutritional scientists and neuroscientist Dr Dom D'Agostino who actually introduced me to this stuff Verso is a company that is dedicated to translating scientific breakthroughs into products that hold the potential to (40:44) increase longevity the problem with aging is we accumulate these zombie cells or old damage cells that linger beyond their useful life these zombie cells infect other healthy cells speeding up the aging process causing things like hair loss wrinkles arthritis cancer dementia and everything in the realm of Aging what scientists have realized is that we can manually induce autophagy meaning the cleanup process of the old zombie cells and replacing them with new ones verso's new clean being which I take every night is a powerful
(41:14) blend of cenolytic molecules that help promote the body's natural cleanup processes like autophagy and apoptosis promoting better cellular Health supporting lower inflammation and natural cardio protective functions while boosting protection against age-related diseases the three main ingredients in clean being are spermidine lutolin and dehydrocorcetin which play key roles in the control of gene expression and are essential for cell growth and proliferation specifically when it comes to cardiovascular and cognitive function

(41:43) skin Health Vision and the immune system head on over to ver.so and use the coupon code concrete at checkout to save 15 on your order I linked it all below now back to the show there's other sources that he could have learned about it from though it doesn't mean that can you find about it can you find a photo like proof of hand scanner at Area 51 maybe we can find that again um another thing about the the security at Area 51 right so Bob's security badge that he you they put it it says mj12 on it okay that's the security badge that (42:18) he used to get into work now it should have said whack and Hut on it because whack and hot does this do the security for uh area 51. and if you see other Area 51 ID badges they're actually issued by whack and hot and they don't have they don't look anything like Bob lazar's uh ID badge so he got that wrong and then I get mentioned the only other piece of documentation is he's provided is the W-2 form which had his first wife's social security number on it so can you make any sort of argument that (42:48) he is telling the truth I tried this one right so so let's just say this hypothesis has come up a few times right so let's say that you know babazar meets John Lear starts learning about all this UFO stuff you know seeing the popularity that John Lear is getting and and that they they're watching John Lear because they they obviously they knew John Lear was the only one talking about he was talking vocally about Area 51 back when no one else was he had pictures of like uh captured Russian Mig that we were you know basically running
(43:19) tests on at area 51. he had a picture of it on the tarmac that he went out there and took before they had the security at the base even set up and um you know he's like one of the one of the those original guys so Bob bobbyzar meets John Lear and then um maybe you know he was recruited and maybe they said you know we're going to plant a seed we're going to plant a disinfo pill on John Lear and we're gonna we're gonna pretend to hire Bob Lazar and we're gonna bring him out to a hangar that we're gonna set up and we're (43:47) gonna bring a bunch of at eight you know AZ 9 Avro cars um I mean vz9 Avro cars and some of the old Alfred C loading what okay so Alfred C loading look up Alfred c c l o e d d i n g this guy designed tons of flying saucers for the military between the 1940s and 1950s at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base he was an engineer that built and designed tons of flying saucer saucer shape and and other weird shaped aircraft l-o-e-d-d-i-n-g how did you find this guy that's the dude right there on the left yeah so you can look up a number of his
(45:01) experimenting with that you know nobody knows about so some of these relics might still be around today some of these craft imagine they got a bunch of these in a hanger you know put put you know locks on the doors and then bring Bob in there and tell them that they're working on alien technology in the place you know dress up a couple midgets or some kids with some you know in dummy suits and stuff and then but then he he says he actually worked on that sport model craft and it was it was he was inside of it there was no
(45:27) seams so there's another couple things that we did so from his descriptions of all that right and his his descriptions um Michael schrat is a researcher I work with um is Michael s s c h r a t t and what he does is he takes UFO case reports and he's he's actually he works for an aerospace company as a um graphic designer so he does 3D models of planes so he'll take UFO reports and then he'll build a 3D model of the of the of the actual craft based on the sighting and he has a whole Archive of all these yeah
(46:02) that's like a big chart of all the uh all the ones he's he's produced over the years so he takes all these UFO reports and he draws scale model diagrams very precise based on the descriptions of all these craft that that you know are described so he takes the Lazar saucer and takes some of the you know descriptions so that Bob gave of how tall he was when he went under it and you know tries to match up those Dimensions to see how figure out how big this thing is and when he did that with the Bob Lazar (46:29) sport model saucer he found all kinds of like problems with the dimensions that he wouldn't have been able to stand under it in in those places that he said he did um if it was the size that you know he described and the interesting thing about that saucer that sport model uh Flying Saucer that Bob Lazar talked about is that it looks a lot like Georgia damsky's craft uh or um the Billy Meyer craft or um even before that so Billy Meyer and um Billy Meyer was like the 70s and the Billy Meyer UFO he was faking all these (47:01) UFO photos got caught and um they looked just like Bob lazar's you know sport model saucer but but there's an earlier case from the 50s called Otis car if you look up XTC 0-1 Otis car and you'll find this fit this guy he was he was trying to he was a UFO hoaxer trying to sell um UFOs back in the 50s Otis Carr see how it doesn't like you will not find it unless you know what you're looking okay here we go look at this look at those diagrams down there yeah that's that one right there so look at (47:46) the saucer that he built in the 1950s and got a bunch of money to try to build an anti-gravity company based on an inertial you know gyroscopes um and he built ended up building an amusement park out of all the stuff click on that video and there's a bunch of patents on these these UFOs open that on YouTube click on that link yeah people have seen these these saucer patents get passed around every once in a while people talk about them and it's this this old you know yeah or even levitation how long is this uh these principles as (48:18) gravito inertial lift is this Billy Carson or gravity effect no that's not really almost sounds like yeah you know Billy yeah I've seen him on your shows circular foil craft there it is yeah look at that it looks just like the sports model and that's from that so like this all this UFO lore that you can trace back like all this stuff to um and and it kind of looks like Bob Lazar you know could have borrowed a lot of this stuff but it's also possible that maybe you know a counterintelligence group took all this (48:49) and put it together you know like you got guys like Richard Dodie you know that I don't know if you know who that is uh Dodie's this guy who worked for U.S Air Force uh OSI which is the office of special investigations and his job was to feed you know people disinformation to try to throw them off the case if they got too close to you know top secret programs there was this guy named Paul benowitz there's a whole movie on this called Mirage Men and um this guy Paul benowitz you know the he he convinced Paul benowitz that you know

(49:17) he wasn't seeing top secret craft going in out of uh you know the Air Force Base would he lived next to he convinced him that it was he was seeing aliens and they even beamed you know fake messages through his audio you know his his receiver and radio equipment to make him think that he was being you know contacted and and you know seeing aliens and the guy went crazy you know they tried to tell him that you know hey look none of this was real I had to do this you know Dodie tried to tell him that it wasn't real (49:46) and he didn't believe Dodie wanted he couldn't he was just got towed deep down the rabbit hole I am committing suicide um that's the Paul benowitz story and uh but it goes to show you the lengths that the U.S Air Force will go to to keep their classified programs a secret and it's interesting that mentioned the two site fours that were classified programs that you know were other facilities and then they talk about this place called site four and Papoose Lake where we've never found evidence of (50:15) anything there's no evidence that there's so we had a guy this guy Gabe zeifman he actually Flew Over the base in like Christmas time uh it like they they shut down that the air the no-fly zone so you can actually fly like real close through that area so he got real close with a with a super um you know telescopic lens in a real high def you know 4k camera and we got the highest detailed pictures of Papoose Lake ever and uh George Knapp put this interview out he showed it but then when she realized that it disconfirmed the (50:47) story and didn't confirm it he quietly like pulled the story back and it disappeared and it's like that with everything George and George like he'll report on all this stuff that debunks Bob but then he'll hide it or pull it back and it just disappears in the background and but later on if some debunker confronts him he can say oh I already reported on that and we already covered that you know like and it's kind of it's just kind of deceptive I I think that you know he he's never he's done some of the (51:13) best debunkings on Bob Lazar because he's had to confront all this like contrary evidence to the case but all of it's buried has he ever debated anyone like you no they don't do debates then they would never they would never he Corbell did one debate okay he did a debate on Bob Lazar with Stanton Friedman all right it's out there and Stanton Friedman just mopped the floor with him um who is Stanton Friedman so Stanton Friedman was a a nuclear submarine uh guy who who got really big into UFOs um after seeing one you know for I (51:48) believe I don't know if he saw one but he got super into UFOs and was one of the best you know science researchers out there you know doing early scientific work in you know trying to understand flying saucers and stuff but you know he wasn't really a he says he's a nuclear physicist but he he was actually like um a nuclear engineer or something I don't think he he wasn't like super good at physics he wasn't like as good as some of the other other scientists I've met or talked to so he's (52:15) an interesting guy but you know he he got pretty far um but he didn't you know it's unfortunate he wasn't alive for the last he died very uh he died I think a couple years back maybe 2012 or so what was the what part of that debate stood out to you the most ah the one thing that stood out the most was when um corbel's response you know to when Stanton cornered him on the whole issue of him lying about his education uh corbell's response was oh come on you've never lied to get a girl you know or that he lied he basically he (52:45) lied to get the jaw or lied to get the job you know he lied on his resume to get the job and you know so I don't know it it's kind of hard to lie in your resume with a scene you know because you have to if you're a senior staff physicist as I mentioned uh well I didn't mention that let's let's bring up Bernard hash again because I wanted to get into that um Bernard haish has what's called a CV our curriculum vitae and that's what any you know published scientist is going to have a bunch of work that they've worked

(53:17) on now this guy was a senior staff physicist he worked at Lockheed Martin Advanced Aerospace Concepts Department from 1979 to 19.99 yeah so 19 to 1999 and he worked on a bunch of classified physics programs as a senior staff physicist and this is what you know a real resume would look like for someone who would they'd recruit and hire to these types of programs Bob Lazar does not have a CV he claims to have a um a master's degree from MIT and he claims that his thesis was an mhd or magnetohydrodynamics which is a form
(53:58) of propulsion where you know it's like that when you ionize air and make it plasma and then use magnets to to move that plasma that's magnetohydrodynamics okay so um you can use it for propulsion and you know which is why he claimed that's what his degree was in that that would give him credibility to have you know actually done the thing that he did or get the position out there even though Element 115 and the the high-end you know Nuclear Physics is really a separate issue from magnetohydrodynamics it's a it's a (54:32) completely different fields but um I don't know you look at guys like this and you compare them to Bob Lazar and I'm like well you know why would they hire a Bob Lazar and why would they need Bob Lazar when they have dudes like this working on this stuff you know now what did Bob Lazar say specifically about MIT what did he say his level of Education was at MIT a master's degree he said he had the Master's Degree he said he graduated in 1982.
(54:57) okay okay which was the same year that according to the Los Alamos monitor article he moved to Los Alamos from California so if he was in Los Altos did he move to Los Alamos and then Los Alamos sent him to MIT because that's kind of like what what he changed the story yeah that's how he that's how he filled in like the holes in the timeline saying that you know oh Los Alamos sent him to this you know program to do us a speedy master's degree in mhd which apparently never wrote a thesis paper for because there's (55:23) no record of his thesis paper that's what he says the government scrubbed right they tried to scrub everything out of his life How Could You scrub that it's it's published in journals and then other other you know this other scientists in that field who read every paper if and if like if I'm in magnetohydrodynamics if a new paper comes out on mhd I'm reading it and I'll be like oh who's Robert Lazar and you remember these things so nobody's ever heard of him in the field there's no
(55:46) record of his thesis you know anywhere he didn't keep a copy of it you know there's none of that so so this there's lots of things like that that are hard to say like well he says the government deleted all the records how could they delete you know every yearbook issued to every student who graduated in 1982 so there's no yearbook or anything like this there's absolutely zero proof he was ever at MIT yeah that's all it would take is a yearbook picture you know there's not one there's no proof you (56:14) know and that's why Eric Weinstein recently you know I think he's starting to catch on because he challenged Bob Lazar to a debate he said well Joe Rogan asked me if I debate Bob Lazar and he hadn't really looked into the story at the time but I guess now he has and he's you know wants to you know get into the MIT and phys what what physics you know who what physicists do you know you know because he was asked one time in 1993 in Rachel Nevada it was the last q a session that Bob Lazar ever gave (56:41) publicly and he was asked at that q a session by Tom Mahood oh you know you claim that the government deleted your your your educational records you know could you kind of could you try to reconstruct some of that history could you name you know some of your professors from Caltech or MIT he said oh sure you know I I guess uh you know Dr duxler and Dr hassenfelder is what Bob says in the interview and uh he says that duxler was from Caltech and hasenfelder was from MIT and couldn't find anyone in the whole

(57:11) registry with that name so Stanton looked up you know duxler in the whole you know APS you know has all the all the anyone who's a physics teacher or student you know gets in into the American physical Society um or APS and you're listed under there I'm enlisted under there you can look me up and um he looked up duxler and found that there was one Professor duxler who worked at Pierce Junior College in Woodland Hills California which is where Bob Lazar lived After High School next to a rocket engineer named Eugene
(57:45) glueharev who actually built those rockets that he's on the bike uh the jet bike with you know he's got the rocket bike and the rocket cars so those are glue her pressure jet engines they're not actually rocket engines they're extremely inefficient and Extremely Loud and um the um yeah so that that bike was built by his neighbor he lived in Woodland Hills California that's where the Articles from it talks about him there yeah yeah Eugene glue Herff and he was a uh a helicopter he worked for (58:16) Sikorsky helicopters as well so he's an interesting guy and um yeah babazar lived in Woodland Hills California went to pierce junior college and there's Dot and then Stan Freeman went and looked looked it up and Found Records that he actually attended classes there and asked Dr duxler to you know look in his records and said yeah he did have a student you know by the name of Bob Lazar Robert Lazar in one of his classes so yes it's it's a fact that he did go to pierce junior college and uh if you can go to MIT and go to (58:46) Caltech you don't go to pierce Junior College right but what he says you don't go to Community College if you get into MIT and Caltech right but I think he claimed that he was sent to MIT by who by parts of the government whoever he was working for it at okay to learn more about some of this technology that he was studying that's what he I believe that he claimed that could be wrong there that's possible but then again you know would there be records of him being in Cambridge at some some time interval and (59:14) there'd be he'd have firsthand knowledge of things like around Cambridge he'd have knowledge of people that he worked with or was there with you know and then some people say I can't remember any of my teachers or any of my professors from college and this and that I was like you don't remember your academic advisor like if you're in a you know program like this I can remember all my teachers from high school like I ran into one yesterday actually you know you know you're it's the thing about him is he (59:38) doesn't smell it like he passes the sniff test he doesn't appear to be he doesn't appear to be a liar he doesn't he doesn't if he's playing a part as a character he's got it nailed he is a liar yeah like everyone's I was gonna cast him in the in as a role in the movie Man he'd be a great uh character for to play the part for sure man he he does a great job at that and and he had me fooled for a number of years man when I I used to I used to argue in favor of Bob Lazar until I got
(1:00:07) you know smartened up and educated by real Area 51 and real physicsists and real scientists and you know got deep down the rabbit hole on all this propulsion stuff man because you know if you think Bob Lazar is the the epitome of where where this is this technology and this stuff is at you haven't even scratched the surface so what gives you the right to question some of this physics stuff with Bob Lazar what do you know about physics I mean I know a little bit uh but I mean I talked so I I I've gone and
(1:00:39) interviewed we were on a site called um I I one of the guys that got me into all this anti-gravity research was Tim Ventura back in the day with American anti-gravity and I teamed back up with Tim and we started this conference because I thought he and he's perfect for the for the role he's he's our moderator and um we wanted to bring people in and create it create an academic and open Community where we could discuss these kinds of ideas that UFO propulsion and and discuss UFOs and anything goes kind of (1:01:10) conference and um we got the idea because we attended the SD's Park conference which is an annual conference put on by James Woodward he's famous for the Woodward effect and uh or the mock effect and uh Woodward puts on this SD's Park conference every year and gets a number of uh really good scientists out there to talk about their ideas for um propulsion and physics and stuff so um the best the one of the best ones from that was uh Nathan inan i-n-a-n if you want to look that up and get a good prime a good physics primer on (1:01:44) integravity did you go to school for physics like would you have any like degrees in physics yes I went to Bridgewater State University and um and I got my I graduated in 2012 with a bachelor's degree in physics I did a minor in math because there's a lot of because just cause and uh you know I I so I have a background in physics I can speak the language enough of it to and I'm not really like super into all this crazy tensor and string theory stuff I'm not no Ed Whitton you know so to speak

(1:02:14) uh but you know I'm not but I I know enough where I can I can dabble in it and I'm more of an experimentalist and uh and they an engineer kind of guy so I'm I I bridge that Gap but I I can talk I talk to a lot of the I talk to those people and I can I can mediate you know I can understand enough of what they're saying even if I don't get all of it all the time I'm pretty I'm pretty I'm pretty up on it so Eric Weinstein was recently talking about Ed Whitton and he was talking about him as if he was Gandalf
(1:02:44) of the Gandalf of physics and uh yeah he's a mathematical Wizard and just a genius is it true that I mean what I think was a smart people smart person I think what he was trying to say was that even Ed Whitton is not even in Striking Distance of understanding or coming to any sort of conclusions on this anti-gravity well it's interesting because Ed Whitton went down the string theory Rabbit Hole you know in the late late 60s and early 70s and stuff and uh he was working you know there's the Father
(1:03:46) where they actually have the video um with Lewis Whitten giving the whole story so if people want to look that up they can they can find that that whole thing an article on it and a video um with some links to more information on it but yeah 70 plus years of anti-gravity history if you just search for that um but the other thing is um are people still working on anti-gravity I know I know at least 12 groups that are like right now that are 12 different groups of people that are that are trying to figure out and doing
(1:04:17) different approaches and different methods yeah yeah there's there's a lot of people still working on it and we we've there's been 70 plus years of of projects you know this is not just there was all kinds of other projects so so they had a whole facility the other the other the other team was the husband and wife team that was Bryce and Cecil do it at University North Carolina Chapel Hill and um at North Carolina Chapel Hill also in North Carolina they have this guy Andrew bonson so they had um
(1:04:48) yeah Andrew bonson and bonson was the guy who was funny he ran a big air conditioning company had a lot of money from smelling air conditioning units and he wanted to probably smelling air conditioning units from selling um and he ended up you know funding this lab called bonson labs and they hired you know Tom Thomas Townsend Brown and a number of other guys to try to you know do experiments on anti-gravity back then that was 19 you know 54 56 and stuff um so they have this whole facility down there I know that Bryce obviously went (1:05:21) around there before yeah this is a cool article but yeah it there's there's more history to this in the physics so what's interesting is that Bryce Stewart was working a lot with a with um John Archibald wheeler who was Richard feynman's PhD advisor um at Princeton and Wheeler did a lot of classified work he worked on the h-bomb he actually left h-bomb secrets on a train one time on accident and then got so scary he like refused to leave Princeton after he wouldn't leave uh Princeton after that and stuff but John (1:05:54) Wheeler was a was a genius he came up with all these different concepts and stuff and one of two of the interesting things that he was working on specifically with Bryce DeWitt during this period in the 1960s before physics got corrupted by string theory and sent off a cliff they were working on on uh resolutions to um the paradoxes between quantum mechanics and special and general relativity and special relativity like how do you merge relativity with quantum mechanics and make the two consistent and they were

(1:06:24) struggling to how to do that and one of the solutions that they came up with was this issue of quantum non-locality and that's this issue that the the substructure of space is on some higher dimensional plane that that space and time are actually like a holographic illusion and that everything exists all in one uh hyperplane all at once and that we just see different things in different specs go from different Observer viewpoints and stuff a lot of this was confirmed you know Years Later by like alien aspect and and um John
(1:06:55) Bell and others you know with some of their experiments but what what that core argument of the quantum non-locality that's that explains right there how UFOs are getting here because if you can create an Einstein Rosen bridge between these two points in the universe um you can open a wormhole and then just you know step through but then how do you how do you do that how do you do that as another story and um like I kind of got into this on Brett's Channel a little bit because he was like you know making the the relativity argument for
(1:07:26) why aliens can't get here that we've all heard the speed of light is the speed limit you can't go fast right and that speed of light would take I think what was he saying it would take a hundred thousand years to get here from somewhere but how long does it take for the photon because for the photon it's instantaneous why is that the photon does not experience any time at all in fact the photon makes the trip goes backwards and then to negotiate and then goes backwards in time and then and then
(1:07:53) then figures out which which route it's going to take according to QED which is quantum electrodynamics the theory of light as as written out by Richard Feynman which is which is super interesting that's like this pilot this pilot it was the pilot wave theory it's one interpretation of quantum mechanics it's two different interpretations um one is this pilot wave interpretation that's bomian quantum mechanics and the other one is um Copenhagen interpretation that's the Schrodinger's cat where it's both alive
(1:08:21) and dead at the same time in this state of superposition before the wave function collapses rather than it takes the trip and renegotiates and then figures out which way it's going to go it's kind of a different approach to the the quantum action the principle of quantum action um but this whole idea is that for the photon and and light it seems has a lot to do with all this because I mentioned in order to create anti-gravity you need negative Mass so how do you create negative Mass right well they've done it experimentally did
(1:08:52) you know that I did not know that yeah there's an experiment that they did at University of Rochester where they created negative mass in a laboratory and they did it using uh something called polaraton condensate now what the hell is polareton condensate well it's liquid light there's another word for it it's light that's been trapped inside of a material so when light goes into material it produces these quad these um you know quasi particles inside the material by the the interaction of (1:09:22) the electromagnetic fields to the material those are called excitons and when the excitons are large enough to polarize the actual you know physics inside there the vacuum you can actually create these polaretons or you know or pull this polarons and bipolarons and these are all quasi particles that you can basically generate in materials and through these generation of these quasi particles you can create systems where negative Mass can be produced through these polaraton condensates which is liquid light it's trapped light
(1:09:54) so it's fascinating because you see these you know UFOs that like appear like glowing balls of light and then they do this warp thingy you know and how are they doing that and is there any you know interest you know is there any physics behind this and well sure enough light can produce propulsion you know there's a number of you know we I mentioned the radiometer Crooks radiometer um it's a it's a it's a meter which measures radiation or Crux radiometer yeah I think that's what it's (1:10:25) called yeah and um this was what you showed me in the Giza power plant book in Christopher Dunn's book no that was the crooks tube that's an electron gun so so yeah that was remember uh Joe Rogan had um Tom Delong on the podcast and he's talking about this you know meta material that they have that they use to warp space-time and he's saying oh they fire an electron at it and it goes slower you know one way than the other and uh you know Joe Rogan was like how do you fire an electron at it and Tom delong's like I (1:10:57) don't know I'm not a physicist and uh you know the answer is a Crooks tube that's an Electronics tube it's an electron gun yeah so that's that's what you can that's what you could have used to fire electrons but this is a little different so electron these are photons these are light particles and light particles actually you know contain mass or they contain momentum because you can Kate that you can get this thing spinning just by Shining Light on it and it's just black squares on one side and

(1:11:21) white on the other so what happens on the white side is it's reflecting the light and on the black side it's absorbing the light right so it gets a there's an Ina in in balance in the forces from the light um the pressure that the light puts on there so so yeah that's what causes the thing to spin or rotate because you know how they get the black on one side and the white on the other so that's that's the principal concept behind this so light has momentum so you can use light to push things
(1:11:48) so if you get enough light you can push heavy I mean this is really light perfectly balanced thing and you know you're using a small amount of light but it can still push it but what happens when you get a ton of light and you bounce it around inside this resonant cavity you know and this meta material that you've created that is made to capture and trap light it's essentially a a piece of glass or a dielectric between two mirrors so the mirror is just bounced the light back and forth between the glass you
(1:12:15) know in the middle so the light light goes in and they're one-way mirror so you can the light goes in and then it gets trapped and you can bounce it around and then you can do different things to that light you can squeeze it and then you can set up other um you know zenix surface waves and other other types of waves in in the structure to produce these different types of condensates so uh condensates or condensed matter physics so it's not like condensed milk where I'm you know evaporating all the water out it's it's (1:12:43) where I'm cooling all the quantum particles so that the statistics that govern them all fall to the same level so they start behaving you know their quantum mechanical behaviors start emerge becoming more emergent so you're creating you know macroscopic objects that are exhibiting quantum mechanical behaviors that's how you know you can there might be a window into how to you know change physics altogether and if they're not working on this then they should be and um I don't think they would have
(1:13:11) figured this out in the 1950s I don't think they had the math or the material science back in the 50s assuming that we captured actual pieces of you know UFOs or extraterrestrial technology we might have you know had some of this and maybe back engineered or learned something from studying those pieces but as far as you know us being able to build them and Manufacturing them I don't think we're at that level yet I think that that's where the the problem is right now in in the um in the whole industry of being able to do this
(1:13:41) you know that's why I'm not worried about talking about this kind of stuff I don't think you know Russia and China it would need a you need a very large State apparatus to be able to fund a program and research something like this what do you think these modern day UFOs are then what do you think do you think they are from somewhere else or do you think they are something we found and figured it out or do you think there's I I like to evaluate every UFO case on an individual basis because it's just (1:14:11) they're it's all different things there's so many there's such there's so much so many technologies that people have no idea about and I'm like oh God now I watched this one it was a video and like look at this thing it's trans medium it's coming out of the water and then it's flying around then it goes back into the water and I'm like dude that's a blurred down uh version of the mpuav Cormorant go look it up it's a they decommissioned a bunch of nuclear subs and they you know Lockheed Martin
(1:14:35) did this uh and they started you know figuring out what they could do with the launch systems for the nukes and the subs and they they built this craft called the Cormorant which gets shot out of the freaking water and can fly and then return to the water and get you know re reconnect with the submarine and um that's what they showed the video of and it's like well you know if you didn't know any better you'd think it was aliens or a UFO or something but but then there's other cases where you know

(1:15:02) you have um that are more intriguing you know where there's actual debris and contact and and and other things you know let's start maybe we should start with Roswell yeah Roswell is a perfect example you have all these rural Farmers you have you know Mac Brazzle the farmer you know finds this material brings it into the bar brings it to you know to town shows a bunch of people this apparently brought it down to the Roswell Army Air Base and and uh someone some other people found it and we're showing a bunch of pieces to the fire
(1:15:31) station so lots of people handled this material and they described it as this memory foil right um which is a it would you could crumple it up in a ball and then let it go and it would go back to its original shape and uh memory metals are super interesting like um shape shape retention alloys so um nitinols the exam the first one that we created and it was not created until 1954 at Naval ordinance research labs night it's called nitinol yeah nitinol it stands for nickel titanium n-i-t-i nol Naval ordinance research Labs oh wow
(1:16:07) so it was discovered at Naval ordinance research Labs back in the 50s but there's evidence that they were working on this or looking into titanium Alloys at Patel at Wright-Patterson as early as 1949 because bright Patterson 1947 Roswell happens all the debris ends up at Wright-Patterson allegedly right that's that's where nasic is that's where the U.
(1:16:30) S Air Force Aerospace Intelligence Center is that's where U.S Air Force Institute of Technology this is the Hub this is the real like it's three four times the size of Area 51 and they have way more intelligence people and way more stuff Area 51 if anything is just a test ground if there's any kind of real you know nuts and bolts you know physics and science research it's going on there at Wright-Patterson and Patel Patel would have been a perfect choice if you had alien technology and had to come up with a contractor to who
(1:16:59) to look at it they were doing you know tank armor Metals research and they were had all the experts in Metallurgy that they needed and at the time and they were also a um a private institution so they're not actually a government organization they're private institution so they don't have to follow the same yeah b-a-t-t-e-l-l-e it's Battelle Memorial Institute and it was set up um you know in the early 20s I believe late maybe late 20s um and it's it's been around in almost 100 years now they
(1:17:33) currently manage all of our National Labs did you know that no yeah Los Alamos labs uh Oak Ridge you know every where is managed by Battelle under contract and and uh that's kind of scary for science because if you want to control technology and you want to you know have a UFO cover-up of of this kind of scale you need that what do you think happened at Roswell what do you think that was that crashed there uh it's interesting I think that a number of people were brought out there scientists to look at this that have testified to (1:18:05) it and talked about it um Robert sarbacher claims that he was you know brought a part of it um interesting guy did a lot of work on Polar tons and exciton physics uh coincidentally um in his years um of research and also a guy named um John Von Neumann who's a smart one of the smartest guys at the on the Manhattan Project he came up with the idea of modern Neumann probes just four months after Roswell so you know maybe he heard about the idea that it was a crashed alien spacecraft and he just came up with that idea from his
(1:18:39) imagination or maybe it was a Von Neumann probe that crashed I don't know what's a Von Neumann probe that's a self-replicating space program it's a like a type three uh robot that can go out make copies of itself and call and and then colonize and and share and send back information so that's a lot it's a it's like a Droid that comes here and and sets itself up like a monolith or something and just records information and studies us you know it'll probably go unseen plug into our
(1:19:07) internet once we created one you know stuff like that there's a whole bunch of theories on them another one is called bracewell probes uh that's another variation of this uh they're slightly different Von Neumann is responsible for like the first computer right the first super computer that was ever and it was like a like a eight ton computer or something no that's Turing no I think I thought it was very annoying um this was uh Von Neumann was the human computer he was called the human computer because he could do calc like (1:19:37) very complex you know large calculations in his brain um and he's a lot of the you know work for the Manhattan Project on that but I don't know if he did any direct work on computers he was more of like the theoretical and computational physicist for for Los Alamos but yeah that that I believe was Turing and Babbage were some of the first computer guys that that you know but I don't know supercomputer was gray gray I think created the first super computer really in the 70s maniac maniac was the name of the computer an (1:20:10) army funded electronic uh it was an Army funded electronic numerical integrator um the first computer in the world and was the first computer it was 100 feet long 10 feet high and it had a 17 000 it had 17 000 vacuum cubes and it weighed 60 000 pounds look up the yeah the maniac computer oh okay yeah so he did some of this computer work too yeah I didn't know about his computer yeah Andy Jacobson talks all about this in uh her book The Pentagon brain yeah and um you know this is kind of like this sort of research into computer right and this

(1:20:51) was all like this computer was used to calculate the exact amount of uh feet in the air they needed to detonate the Bombs Over Japan to to create the most civilian casualties yeah like they literally figured out the exact altitude to detonate those bombs yep probably just set in like two integrals and set them equal and found that intersection point and they had to do it with computers probably very complex this is dark [__] man some of the stuff that Von Neumann and Herb York were working on in the beginning of DARPA or
(1:21:26) it was called arpa in the beginning yeah arpa arpanet was the original internet yeah that's cool I didn't know about this man so like yeah it just shows that they knew it was computers and they knew they needed to figure out computers and integrated circuits and stuff um I mean that's the thing like guys like the day after Roswell with Corso he says that oh all our integrated computer chips and all this stuff came right from Roswell and stuff and it shows that they were they were working on the stuff this stuff's
(1:21:56) existed before Roswell man I mean they had vacuum tubes they they were working on the transistor you know even though it was invented after Roswell I don't think it came from Roswell because the guys who were working on it like had all the solid state theory behind it and then it all the physics was there it didn't like come from nowhere and it can all be traceable to human scientists and human sources that's another thing I don't like in all this because a lot of times the aliens get the credit for all
(1:22:21) these discoveries of this stuff and it's like no you're missing all the history and the real science and the people who worked on this and there's people that spent their lives to get the science of this to this point and you're going to give you're going to credit aliens for everything it's like the same so did you tell me I don't remember if you actually said what do you think was it what do you think it was that crashed at Roswell oh I don't know what it crashed at Roswell but I don't think it was theorem
(1:23:15) handled the material described it in in you know this great detail um yes a piece of radar Target and everything and uh you know weather balloon with radar Target so that's you know you can see the look on disappointment on Marcel's face like almost like he's being forced to do this and he knows something more and even Jesse Marcel's son said he he stopped at the house on the way home and showed his son some of the material right said he saw it too he said it looked like this crystallized stuff and you know this
(1:23:48) uh in Bakelite material or something but it was you know so the materials that were described by all these Witnesses who saw it was not a weather balloon it's just hard to believe that it was mistaken by Air Force intelligence for a weather balloon that you know they would make this mistake and then have to fly it out to Fort Worth could you imagine like the Air Force intelligence get into Fort Worth and being like Oh it's a weather balloon you thought it was a you thought it was an alien spaceship right you know
(1:24:15) so I just there's certain things that don't make sense I believe that if it was an alien spaceship the government completely had the ability to cover it up they they still do to this day it with what I've seen that their ability to cover

other things up um I just cannot possibly believe that they couldn't cover something like that up if it were true um there's so many people from Wright-Patterson that reported you know handling this material or working on it then you have the Battelle study that (1:24:40) was done in 1949 looking into nickel titanium alloys they developed a whole system of you know dissolving these uh Alloys of Unknown Origin I'm using uh carb chlorine tetrachloride so they dissolve it in chlorine and then measure the off gases as they as they burn it in chlorine and dissolve it in chlorine and then burn it and they measure the off gases to tell what the thing was made out of so why would this was a a you know a Patel document you know the written for Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in 1949
(1:25:17) and the scientists who wrote it um Elroy John Center testified that you know he worked on he was given materials were working at Battelle he was given medals that he thought were from Aliens because he didn't he didn't think we could make that kind of stuff it was impossible the stuff that he had worked on he told his wife this and he told other people this so um it's super interesting and the director of Battelle was this guy Howard cross who it turns out was um you know connected with with some interesting
(1:25:45) Research into all this and then you know NASA doing research into the into these shape retention Alloys as well um the fact that they were looking into specifically nickel titanium Alloys and um and trying to you know figure out this stuff that early just shows me that there there's there might be something to this they have this you know we created the first memory medal based on this technology and then we're working on it right after this and then and these all these Witnesses are describing this foil
(1:26:15) which sounds a lot like a sophisticated memory material now I've heard that it's un like a nitinol wire a fine you know thread of nitinol wire that's woven in a fabric that's actually how this some of this stuff is made and that's why it has these you know materials that it does that it's like woven on the atomic level and that's why they looked at it under an sem and were like how the hell we're gonna make this dude you know like you need like a micro Loom or something to believe this or you know so it can just
(1:26:44) imagine that you know the complexity of these Nano materials when they looked at them and were like how can we you know build this stuff and what's even going on here as far as the physics goes because you know you dive into all this polareton and exciton stuff where you're you're trapping light inside these cavities and then you can then you can do things with the light once you once you have it trapped and you can you can build integrated photonic circuits so you can build entire circuit boards of (1:27:09) integrated electronics that function on photons a set of electrons so they're much more efficient you know when you deal with electrons you have resistivity and impedance so you're burning most of your energy that you're using to do your calculations on your computer and do everything on your computer you most of that energy is getting wasted as heat but if you had it all in in terms of light instead of electrons and electronics if you had it with photonics and spintronics of just you know these microscopic
(1:27:38) um I mean nanotechnology engineered materials that would you know can trap and redirect light through all these channels the same way that your computer does it with voltage and current and inside these integrated circuit boards you could build you know very Advanced Computers that are you know and the storage capabilities that you'd have like 5D Crystal storage you know it would just be you know this is this is the world we're going towards and you can't get smaller than building atom by atom you know so
(1:28:06) that's if you're talking about alien technology that's that's the Crux I mean that's where you're we're eventually need to get to is the ability to manufacture things atom by atom and what we're going to be able to do with nanotechnology once we get to that you know level so this light propulsion technology you're basically saying that in order for a another civilization to get here that's what they would need to use the anti-gravity would be irrelevant um well it's answer it's it's (1:28:38) anti-gravity is is kind of irrelevant because it's yeah it's not just you're not just pulling away from Gravity right yeah you have to be able to go Interstellar so you have to be able to right open up these massive distances of time space time and create an Einstein Road rosenbridge between those two things so what I'm sorry I gotta this is I'm just dumb so I gotta I don't know what a Einstein

rosenbridge is yeah so this Einstein Rosen Bridge so they kind of came up with this idea of solutions to Einstein's field (1:29:09) equations and um a bunch of these you know a bunch of people come up with different metrics and different solutions to them one one of the most popular is the Schwarz child metric which is what black holes do that's how that's that's like the the topology and um physics of black holes is this Schwartz child solution now these other um so that these Einstein Rosen Solutions are you know Wormhole Solutions so okay they're they're solutions to the the field equations where you can open up two point and connect two points of
(1:29:40) space of paper in half and poking a hole right through it yes it's all about how you fold folding the paper and then how you poke the hole so the the opening and the shape of the the hole that you poke and um all that is super important um to doing that um and this bending and fold in a space time but how do you do that so the way way we can see it being done um in physics is that the photons themselves are are actually generating and building and producing the space time so so rather than thinking of Relativity as this you know absolute
(1:30:15) Theory think of it as a um emergent Theory that's generator comes out of quantum mechanics and uh one of the guys I like he does a lot of cool Research into this is as Louis Kaufman he's a mathematician he does a lot of not Theory and shows how you know he has his whole paper on how relativity can emerge simply from you know quantum mechanics and these simple functions if you just do this expansion and you separate the odd and even terms you get relativity from that as as these two parts and uh it's it's an interesting take on on the (1:30:50) whole physics of it because it's saying that if we you know when you shine light that light is is creating an instantaneous it's building the space time the light itself is building space time and it's creating the these uh Einstein rows and bridges between every point that these interactions happen so if you were able to connect these how do you connect two-point distance points in space time is you'd have to have a lot of light going between those two points that that's you know going back and forth or
(1:31:19) are focused um and is it light in our Dimension or is it light in another dimension and that's that gets into these these real uh hyperdimensional physics that you know the Hop vibration stuff and the stuff that Eric Weinstein's getting into because I think that that's really the the door opening in you know into our pathway into those hyperdimensional physics but it starts with the material science because how do you actually build it and do experiments with it and I think that that has a lot to do with
(1:31:44) these trap polarets on condensates and also these what what Jack sarfati and others are talking about um in some of these groups these Frolic condensates f-r-o-h-l-i-c-h Frolic and this guy was a um another physicist who came up with this this Theory and uh it's basically these condensates where they're they can create you can create a super computer or a conscious AI like a conscious Ai and a super computer on the surface of this polaraton condensate like uh you know with this trapped light kind of this idea okay um and that the
(1:32:21) that it would almost become conscious and then that's like a whole other level of just weirdness because I I I don't understand that quite fully or where that's going but I I think that's cool as hell uh that there's physics involved in it and and just we have a whole team working on like small-scale laboratory replications like how do we do this how do we build it and then we have another couple guys who are working with uh they're trying to use AI supercomputers to um do material science engineering
(1:32:49) and design so we we want a 2d material that does this that's like graphene or morphine you know so can we you know can we make or or you have a material that you want to do with certain things you have to use super computers and AI to engineer and design these things and then um first so that way you don't have to go through the a lot of the work because the AI can can do a lot of those calculations and computations and thinking stuff for you and I thought that was super interesting I also have one of the largest databases on like all
(1:33:20) this anti-gravity stuff anywhere we have just massive uh like I think 30 terabyte I don't know 30 gigabytes now it's 30 gigabytes of um we had like a couple terabytes but we condensed it really down um what type of files are these yeah this is text it's books wow um texts papers everything that's been published related to you know relativity gravity Theory um any of these Search terms like polaraton condensates uh exciton polaraton pairs uh gravity entanglement quantum entanglement you know anything anything that's related to

(1:33:58) that and what we're thinking about doing is training our AI to go through that database you know we're going to like get a chat gp4 bot and then train it using our database and then and then start asking it questions about anti-gravity and physics to help our engineering team like you know come further along so um and I I think that you know there's other people probably already working on this and doing this I don't think we're the first to think of this or or do it or try it um but yeah that's that's what we're
(1:34:26) working on we have that we also have the the all propulsion.com with the Apec conference that you know I mentioned SDS Park so SDS Park during covid they had SD's Park conference which is this propulsion conference that James Woodward puts on and and they had it online on Zoom because you know during covert no one could meet up in person so we we did the first thing on zoom and that gave us the idea man we could be holding these conferences on Zoom this is just the technology and where it's come is is just great that we
(1:34:53) can do this now you know because this didn't they didn't have this back in 2011 when I went to MIT and did the um you know coal Fusion thing but we can do this we can do this now and so we set up our own conference with the Apec conference and we started inviting all these guys one of the first guests we had on was Mark McCandless he's the arv the alien reproduction vehicle guy you know talking about that uh flux liner and stuff he was one of our first guests we had we've had all kinds of people we had we
(1:35:23) had a Ronald Evans of project Green Glow on there we had a whole episode with uh um a bunch of Scholars from India where they came on and talked about all the research into vamanas and all the history of Vimana or um you know ancient Indian flying saucers and uh we just had a whole bunch of names some of these names you probably never heard of Glenn Glenn Robertson Tony he's from NASA he was one of the he worked with ning Lee on those pod Clinic replication experiments um Mike mccullix over the UK he's got a
(1:35:57) DARPA contract right now working on um his uh quantized inertia Drive idea this is Ronald Evans of project Green Glow we had him on about a month before the BBC had him on to do a a report on the same topic um of course we asked him much more detailed and deep technical physics questions because we got we had an hour it's an hour presentation in our q a where we just have like a team of DARPA NASA MIT all all kinds of super smart guys on there just asking all the best questions like current these guys are
(1:36:33) currently working at DARPA they're not under any sort of ndas or anything not for the I mean they might be for some of the stuff that they're doing or they can't be specific about right they can't share information with us but they can sit there and get information from our guests or ask questions why not they love what we're doing man are you kidding me I can't believe like you never hear about this kind of [__] this is it's amazing that this this type of physics and this type of science is so
(1:36:57) it seems like it's buried it's so hard to find not a lot of people I've never heard anyone talk about this [__] this light uh Photon propulsion before yeah well NASA did a lot of started researching a lot of this under the SDI this you know the Star Wars program with you know directed energy and and um you know these laser light propulsion and they they actually started out of um it's interesting where you see how they create and who they recruit for these projects so it's often from graduate
(1:37:25) students or graduate programs or sometimes professors it's usually like these obscure universities like University of North Carolina Chapel Hill you know for example and and and then um the other one I was going to mention was uh they they recruit out of uh a rental or Polytech so Rensselaer Polytech is who they chose to to go to to ask to help design the the Star Wars light craft microwave propulsion you know unit so they hired a bunch of guys out of Rensselaer Polytech to do all that and did we show a picture of this
(1:37:58) thing yet yeah so that's um that's the guy named Lake Marabou it's l-e-i-k first name Lee l-e-i-k-m-y-r-a-b-o and he wrote this book called laser light craft I think it was published in Canada um and somebody you know definitely not the dod or anything I went and bought out every single copy of this book that was in existence that's like craft yeah flight handbook is it John John S Lewis when was this published um you know it was probably whoa you know sometime around 2010 or something but yeah this was the idea they started with (1:38:41) these um these craft that they they started with a laser on the ground these Navy lasers that they were using to see how far they could shoot stuff up into space but they realized with the Divergence of the beam that's how far it it splits and widens out as it gets further away from the source right um as the beam diverged uh and they they lost the ability to kind of pinpoint so they could only shoot this thing about I know 400 feet or so up in the air before they could who is that who is doing this they (1:39:08) were doing it uh Marabou was doing this out at U.S Navy um research Labs I I forget where exactly it might have been New Mexico um okay so they were shooting these lasers into the sky they were yeah what they do is they they'd have to coordinate so make sure that there's no satellites or anything above where they're where they're pointing the laser where they're doing the tests because this thing they could they could shoot on a satellite potentially with this with these lasers they're they're such (1:39:34) high power um although the beam might diverge so much by that point it might not be enough power um so uh that picture kind of shows it's like a saucer flying how Bubbles are described it flying like yeah belly first and belly first yeah that's kind of crazy huh it is really crazy so that it's interesting that this is they were working on this kind of stuff back in the 80s you know Star Wars SDI program um at some of these facilities so he might have he may have heard you know or learned some information about this and

(1:40:09) weaved it into the story too so so he had a but there was impossible to get a copy of one of these books right now not impossible you'd probably pay look it up on Amazon look up that book on Amazon and see see what you can find the light craft flight handbook yeah someone went and bought out all the copies there's only I only could find one for like three grand 349 for the paperback how long is it Prime oh arrives April 18th it's still mad expensive though you know that is expensive for a book it's really it's
(1:40:41) like more than you know the even the thickest heaviest College textbook I've ever bought I don't think I've ever you know even the most expensive college textbook was add that to my car save that for later foreign yeah you can check it out it was before I mean it's been a while since I checked it but a couple uh when I checked it a while ago it was at like 3000 and there was no copies of it available so maybe the I don't people are definitely I mean that must be a resale maybe a reprint a
(1:41:07) reissue or something but I don't know if they because it it seems like those kind of things go out of print and they don't want it it's like that's how they classify it it comes out in book form and they'll go out and buy up every copy of the book but why though why why would who are you saying like the dod would be trying to get rid of that or hide that why would they want to do that because they want that just for war technology Secrets technology they just don't want it it's just another way of suppressing
(1:41:29) the information it's it's security by obscurity that's the best that's the best security strategy is what do you think their concern is with that kind of information being open sourced um they are concerned that more people will know about it and therefore their ability to use it effectively in deceptive Warfare um will be lessened you know I mean so so if they're trying to fake you out and make you think that alien UFOs are swarming your craft you know say they have say we have a bunch of these
(1:41:58) countermeasures which we we can create these illusions of UFOs and fleets of things um and even have some drones with maybe some of this light craft technology on them that they can they can do some of these crazy Maneuvers hypersonics even you know so there's Hypersonic technology that was developed from this do you know that no so hypersonics uh started with this super cavitation the super cavitating Torpedoes that would super cavitate um the water and like the like this you know what the pistol shrimp is no so the
(1:42:29) pistol shrimp will actually super cavity it creates this like flick really Hypersonic flick and it creates a a supersonic bubble which Super cavitates really quickly and it actually knocks out their prey will knock out a fish and like stun them and completely find a picture of this shrimp the mantis shrimp or the pistol shrimp the pistol shrimp or mantis shrimps do it too so yeah it's got this one claw that creates the super cavitation effect in it right in water and um what happens is for a brief moment the water vaporizes and
(1:43:04) turns to gas and and also like evacuates the area so like it it blows out so it creates like a vacuum for a roof to your period of time so it allows it to like lunge towards its prey like no it doesn't lunge toward the prey what it does a fish comes near and it creates this shock wave that is it stuns the fish and knocks

it out it just it creates such a strong powerful shock wave that it just knocks the fish right out knocks it out cold it's a man just shrimp punch you know and you're saying that this Tech this is (1:43:34) like so what they use with rockets they use it and they're using it in in in ICBM some of the advanced intercontinental ballistic missiles will use this what they do is they Direct Energy they shine a laser a laser point there's a laser tip in the nose cone that blasts energy a certain distance and again you mentioned how they use this computers to calculate that distance away that they need to do that detonation for the uh for the atomic bomb it's similar to that they create this detonation in front of the nose of
(1:44:04) the rocket or the torpedo or whatever so they super cavitate the air or water and uh so that the rocket or or Torpedoes actually flying through a vacuum so that they can eliminate a greatly reduce the Air drag by the production of these these uh directed energy induced plasmas and so they're able to get craft up above Mach 10.
(1:44:28) uh using this super cavitation technology which there which is uh this is again this is developed from this is a a grandchild of that Marabou lightcraft technology because they started out with the lasers and they're like oh creating these plasmas in the sky and they're like oh well we can the problem is we need to move that at the laser off the ground and actually put it on on the craft that was the first step then once they did that they could they could figure out how to you know they figured out how to tone it just right to create the super
(1:44:59) cavitating effects how do you know that this has been published that these are being actively like they're being tested on these icbms or it is no video tests of it anywhere there's one video I could find of a torpedo test I think of South Korea doing some tests with these the super cavitating Torpedoes but there's no like videos or anything on it but you can find the patents you look up um Kevin cremeier k-r-e-m-e-y-e-r and um he's got a bunch of patents on this including one where they actually
(1:45:31) they actually Shine the they Shine the laser down on the surface of a plane's wing and they can take control of they can control the airflow over uh that's what that is right yeah yeah so they can basically oh my God they could take control over your plane and fly you from uh remotely You by um affecting by creating these plasmas on your wing they could they could flip your plane um ground you they could put you in a stall they could do lots of things to your your flight controls by by inducing these plasmas on the surface of your
(1:46:03) Chinese airframe and yeah there's all kinds of variations and experiments that that public has no idea about that have been done with these Technologies and I think a lot of this UFO stuff is is is almost like a pentagon psyop to because none of the Technologies are ever talked about and it's always just like it's aliens it's aliens it's aliens and it's almost like the Pentagon is like putting up pushing pushing this narrative super hard um right to get people right but it also gets people to to report these things
(1:46:35) which is good because if the Chinese and Russian have Russia have these things and they're flying them over our country then we want them to be reported we want to know about it right so but this gives a safe layer of safety for the dods because now people are like reporting it but they're not getting scared they're just like oh am I seeing aliens it's a little less scary than am I seeing you know high-tech uh Hypersonic spy drones from China and Russia now we can talk about the Navy Pilots the the Navy Pilots commander fraver in (1:47:02) 2004 off the Nimitz saw these the Tic Tac UFO the thing that basically was like mimicking or mirroring his movements in his F-18 and the thing like arrived at his cap point before he like exactly where he he didn't even know where his cat point was he got there and the thing was already there um he explained that Tic Tac thing hovering above the water creating a disturbance in the water how do you explain that well there's there's a couple different you know Technologies a lot of different missiles that can travel like it looked (1:47:38) like a Tic Tac and and can cause those disturbances on the water and travel that that fast so you know I'm not absolutely convinced on that um again I take pilot you know testimony is pretty credible um these guys are trained they've seen a lot of different stuff so it's hard to argue with them even Kevin day we've had Kevin Day on and you know I believe these guys have seen who's Kevin down he's another pilot okay that's seen some of this stuff so um you know and I and I've never got the chance to really sit down
(1:48:09) with fraver or Graves and really Grill them on it because I'm I'm again

I'm not like I'm only interested in extra what kind of technical intelligence data I can extract from those testimonies and where that can get me because that's that's where I'm at it in this game it's like you know if they're not telling me yeah I know there's stuff that flies around that that does crazy stuff yeah yeah I know that there's all kinds of stuff out there but what specifically are they
(1:48:35) seeing it sounds a lot like you know again the cube inside of a sphere sounds like this project Palladium technology um which is actually so yeah so Graves said that he never actually saw this thing with his own eyes Graves said that he saw these things on his radar once they upgraded the radar on their f-18s and then yeah some of the guys that he was flying with claimed that they saw one guy flew directly past this thing that looked like a cube inside of a sphere went like right by his wing yeah and those are actually uh the project
(1:49:04) Palladium had these um balloons that they'd put a radar reflector and it was actually in the shape of an octahedron which easily mistaken for a cube you know because they look very octahedron can you find a diagram of an octahedron it looks very similar to a cube but um yeah so if you saw that inside of a balloon you'd think a cube inside a sphere right that's an octahedron so um yeah it's actually an octahedron and that's what's in the patents for these these balloon type uh devices and um and
(1:49:36) what is the purpose of these things so these are early uh these are early repeater technology like um they're signal reflectors and some of them would be um a little bit more sophisticated that they could do um radar repeat spoofing signal so so a lot of them were used as like spoofing so they would create these Blends they could inflate one out of a buoy they'd have these buoys set up that could in spontaneously inflate these balloons and then they could they could inflate or dead or or detonate and pop them on (1:50:08) command so what they could do is have one buoy here put up a balloon then pop that balloon and have another buoy put up another one so and the radar signatures would look like this balloon teleported or did a jump maneuver from one point of to another and that was like some early experiments that they did with that stuff but then other things like Palladium and this was just and the purpose of this was just to confuse enemy Radars yeah yeah a lot of it was to confuse enemy Radars and also to confuse you know your plane like a
(1:50:38) planes coming in with radar um a lot of planes report seeing these types of things and the fact that it mimicked his technologies that sounds a lot like uh like drfm technology like this Digital radio frequency memory where it can take a it can take um a signal and then repeat it back but um it's it's almost like something that's looking at it and then recreating that because like why did it do those Maneuvers and that also is interesting because one of the ideas we had is like this projector thing you know that's
(1:51:08) projecting this and then someone pointed out well you know the thing did a circle and then it followed around in a circle so it would have to project through him at some point right you know right for him to go in a circle around it if there was like one source down the ground so what about you know the SDI program put these things in satellites apparently so they might have these types of lasers in in satellites so they could project they could potentially project these types of things from above as doing my program
(1:51:33) that's the Star Wars Defense Initiative that's uh under rig and so they had a there's a number of these things then they were actually practicing with these these lasers to be able to take out icbms like in incoming so Russia sends over nukes they can shoot him out of the sky with these lasers on satellites and stuff it's a whole program that was developed it was called the Star Wars program under Reagan um and a lot of these Technologies and stuff are are basically you know the grandkids of those Pro of that program
(1:52:03) you know a lot of that stuff that that was started in the 80s under the Reagan program it's connected to a lot of this stuff but that's not the only thing is there's a lot of other projects that were even earlier in that like 1958 is when the CIA set up project rainbow audit Area 51 and that was their invisibility and stealth uh program where they were trying to figure out electromagnetic frequency responses and um so EMF response is important to invisibility because it's how do you minimize your radar signature because (1:52:31) it's your return signature and your your cross-sectional area and a lot of things have to do with it it's one equation that they they have it's actually on the area 51 patch they have the equation for the cross-sectional radar area of an object and they they just exploit that equation to figure out how to minimize that radar

cross-sectional area so that you can be visible to the radar um by exploiting that formula that's that's the reason that the F-117 has those flat surfaces because that flood (1:52:59) those flat surfaces minimize that Contour this this less of an edge for and it's really the edges it's that side of the fuselage which is that um reflective surface that they're trying to minimize in order to minimize that return for the radar signal um there's a lot of technologies that have been done into you know radar and counter Raider and as I mentioned those are called eccms or electronic counter countermeasures right so radar would be an ECM or an electronic countermeasure you're counter measuring you're having a
(1:53:30) counter measure against incoming airplanes by shining your radar to be able to see them ahead of time and um they're using their eccms against your countermeasures to counter your countermeasures using you know shapes or flares or other radar spoofing Technologies like a Palladium one we talked about or that this there's a bunch of Nemesis project Nemesis as a whole other series of these war game things where they actually can use this drfm technology to implant you know specific signals into different radar
(1:53:58) systems so they can they can spoof certain radar systems to see whatever they think they want whether it's a huge Fleet or a giant you know whatever they can make them see whatever so so I talked to Ryan you saw the clip you saw I talked to Ron I asked him about possibly you know these war games that are or testing these dark technology use radar spoofing Technologies on off the coast of North Carolina or off the coast of San Diego and his argument is that they they would have they have specific ranges that are designed to test this
(1:54:26) stuff number one number two is they wouldn't be testing it for a span of 10 years from 2004 to 2015 off the busiest traffic heavy heavily most heavily militarized uh sections of airspace right there's more there's more air traffic going through that area off the coast of North Carolina where he was flying than anywhere in the United States so he was like why would they be testing it there and why would they be testing it over a period of 10 years yeah it's interesting you know Catalina Island uh always looked like a good
(1:54:59) place to do testing to me because it's off the coast and stuff and uh you know as a naval Navy SEAL training base there and a lot of uh setups that looks very similar to a lot of the stuff that they have at Area 51 where they build like these mock cities and mock towns out of like cargo containers and stuff and they do like training you know bombing bombing training and other exercises on these facilities like the seals will they'll build a whole compound and the seals will have to set up against one
(1:55:25) team versus the other to do a Raider or something you know and and they'll do training in these types of facilities there's a lot of that on Catalina Island there's a lot also a lot of like interesting microwave and radar array systems set up there um that you know other people have been curious about so so there's definitely infrastructure there to do this kind of stuff um again why they would do it for a period of 10 years and and why why they would do it there is another question and then yes it would definitely indeed
(1:55:52) be the you know not the not military contractors deploying this technology it would have to be the military itself right um doing this type of you know using this technology in active training or you know Warfare preparation or other types of scenarios and maybe that's you know maybe that's maybe it's just new technology and they've been training with it all along and um it's just it just happens that other people um see it from time to time and then have to be you know derailed from with other explanations about what it is
(1:56:26) maybe that's that's a possibility I still haven't you know completely dismissed that yet I I haven't dismissed the possibility that it's aliens either I mean it could be aliens flying out there but then again you know they have the technology to get here why are they using their invisibility cloaks because meta materials and invisibility cloaking and carbon nanotubes that all those types of Technologies you can produce invisibility with we've done it look up Mirage effect um look at Mirage effects cnts
(1:57:00) CNT is short for carbon incredible we can find all this stuff right on Google yeah if you know what to look if you know what to look for right yeah you got to know what to look for us you have to know the keywords and if you don't then you will never ever stumble across it in your random researches right you know not a millionaires but if you know what you're looking for yeah we'll come right up absolutely so you have a sheet of carbon nanotubes and they run a voltage through it and it creates a mirage effect which bends the (1:57:26) light around so whoa that's way easier than a warp drive bro so if you've got warp drive you can you can invisibility you can have visibility cloaks bro this is underwater yes and it's underwater actually so explain to me how this is happening so what happens right is they run a voltage through those carbon nanotubes which are like what's a carbon nanotub so like think of like graphing you know almost like a super almost like a real real almost like a superconductor but not quite a super conductor so it's real High um a

(1:58:01) lot really low electrical resistance in these things they run into a high voltage through it it produces a massive amount of heat locally very quickly so so it's it's heating up to like like maybe uh I don't know like four or five thousand degrees at a very small point on the surface of that and that temperature inversion creates a um creates a warp into the space and this happens actually uh you ever heard of fata Morgana no so type in f-a-t-a Morgana so afata Morgana is another type of Mirage it's called The Flying Dutchman
(1:59:16) that refractive index changes rapidly there's a reflection off there so so you're actually getting a reflection off of that temperature gradient same way that you're getting a reflection of the Mirage off the temperature gradient in those carbon nanotubes so it's um that's how invisibility well that's how invisibility works man we you are blowing my [__] mind um our ice melted I got to get us uh some more ice well let's let's don't pause just keep running it I'm gonna go
(1:59:44) grab some ice it's gonna about to get real you need to Wet My Whistle if we're gonna get deeper than this right so so the same idea you have a surface of hot air or a hot hot the temperature gradient creates a a um an inversion effect where you have um a refractive index and that's the same effect that you look at the hot Road on a hot sunny day and you get that Mirage effect looking down right exactly same thing in a desert you see that when you look at like a telephoto shot of a desert you can see it and people are
(2:00:12) walking down the road the surface of the sand or the road is hotter than the surrounding air right because the sun's right there and that that temperature gradient a layering effect creates that creates so is there any proof that this is actually being used in defense research or any kind of like technology bigger than something in a fishbowl yeah well there's so they started the the again I mentioned the project rainbow is the U.
(2:00:41) S um invisibility project started by Edward Mills project rainbow so you can search project rainbow see right and they created a number of uh interesting Technologies like one of them was uh this is where the meta materials first kind of got their background so yeah you're not maybe not get it for that but uh look up um wallpaper project rainbow wallpaper for example right so the other stuff called the wallpaper oh no no no no no no no no so they they created a grid and they printed on it like a grid with um on the wallpaper and the grid was like a
(2:01:17) meta material that was tuned to the same frequency as the Russian radar the or the the radar systems they were trying to be invisible against and by coding the u2s with the fuselage of the U2 with this this uh wallpaper stuff they were able to make it um invisible and this was like a very early version it was very of course it was very thick and heavy and it created too much drag and other other problems for the craft to really be usable and effective um but that was like the big thing because you know they started the
(2:01:49) Russians were tracking our U2 flights is you know as early as the 50s and so we were trying to figure out how to how we can get these these programs to go over when this was Lockheed that made this yeah uh maybe developed by the Lincoln lab team at Lockheed yep yeah I was Lockheed yeah so so then they had some of these other um ideas for for how to how to do it um including the yeah the trapeze um reflectors and stuff um but eventually this uh this stuff developed into a study on you know materials themselves so it's actually
(2:02:23) the paint the black paint they use on the SR-71 which replaced the U2 for as a Recon plane um and also the paint that's on the F-117 it's this black very uh dull black paint right it's actually Brett was talking about this one you guys were on when you're on his show yeah briefly yeah so they they actually figured out it's made out of barium titanate um a version of barium titanate and uh which is a ferroelectric and it has an interesting radar response so they use this paint with a meta materials built (2:02:55) into the paint to make it more radar absorbent and um they burned a bunch of this stuff out at uh because they have to replace they have to scrape off and replace the paint very often because it's it's very uh susceptible to weather and other things um in order to keep it fresh it costs a ton of money to maintain and this you know to repaint these things and do it and also the toxicity of disposing of this stuff they were burning an open burn pits out at Area 51 and a bunch of guards got sick you can look up a case

(2:03:26) of the guy the guy's name is Fred Dunham and he's uh one of the guards that got like super sick from these open burn pits so they were actually you know burning the stuff and people were breathing in and getting sick out there uh as a way to dispose of the technology supposedly so that you know they wouldn't get out um but yeah that's that's some there is evidence of them using this yes and on activecraft oh there it is and there's is there any like has there ever been any footage of what we saw on those (2:03:57) little tubes inside the water of basically the thing becoming invisible this cloaking technology so if you look up um look up b-a-e stealth tanks so they have these polychromatic this is the earlier version of this is a very a different version so they use these polychromatic hexagon Bae is what ba is British Aerospace it used to be Marconi believe it or not look at that tank look at the click on with the guy standing next to it right right there holy [__] look at that thing dude it's like a Tesla tank yeah so those
(2:04:41) those hexagon panels on the side of it can uh change the color and all they can also they change color to make it like uh visual camouflage but they they can also change heat signature with infrared so look at that that uh image with where the tank is and the infrared the infrared one um in the middle on the bottom oh right there there so that's the tank and then it activates the panels and it looks like an SUV out there from the Heat Signature because it it changes it cools the the other panels and and heats the
(2:05:46) sophisticated us no definitely us yeah we we definitely definitely have the other countries beat what makes you think that what makes you sure about that the other I'm not so sure because China the thing is China has a lot of us be in the academic literature on some of this stuff they are you know decade a decade ahead of us on a lot of stuff and also our Electronics I mean they they produce all of our our Cutting Edge Electronics in fact the pentagons put out reports about you know warning us about how you know we don't catch up to China soon
(2:06:20) we're going to have real problems because you know even even with the computer issue with all the computers the pentagon's computers you know that you can't find you can't buy a computer anywhere that doesn't have a Chinese chip in it or a Chinese manufacturer so so like they're finding all these Hardware problems with these these little tiny chips that are these call home functions or other things they're built into these circuit boards that are um contacting Chinese servers and
(2:06:45) sharing information you know so like they they have all these problems and holes and and it's like a crisis right now in the Pentagon to try to try to get our own manufacturing inter infrastructure for integrated electronics and computer chips and stuff going here so that we don't have to be so reliant on China and um for this kind of stuff but also as far as like you know the some of these you know polaraton condensates and all that in you know entanglement and those type of Technologies is way more (2:07:16) papers that I find in the academic literature from Chinese universities than I do from the American universities which is you know disturbing because it's like we're not spending enough time we're not taking this seriously enough and looking into it enough and China is and and if we don't pay attention soon they're going to be deck they could be decades ahead of us within you know a short period of time but as far as you know as far as the actual development of it and an application of it there's a (2:07:42) the US has has done more as far as I'm aware I mean this this stuff that I know about that the US has done and I have no I mean I don't know how I know about China doing any of it but there's obviously a lot of Espionage going on so the Chinese are yeah they copy everything that we do so right that's a whole other issue so I want to I want to tie this back into these so you have all these spoofing Technologies you have all these you know technologies that can be used to fake UFOs and different different yeah confused for (2:08:12) UFOs right then you have the issue that there might be real UFOs out there of course you know I I like to think of the prime directive uh interpretation of you know why the solution to the Fermi Paradox so like this all this Statistics and stuff say that aliens should be out there why aren't they contacting why don't we see them right where are they and uh I like the uh zoo zoo hypothesis is my favorite you know it's called the zoo hypothesis that we're we're being we're being we're like a zoo and and they're just (2:08:46) observers but they're hidden from us so we can't see them they keep themselves hidden yeah they can watch yeah it's like almost there it's like almost like they're they're mocking us or messing with us to the point where like when you think of UFOs they are they show themselves enough to where they can convince the person willing to believe but they can't convince the skeptic right right and the other thing is that um right in Star Wars there's no actual like there's no real solid evidence of

(2:09:46) what he saw and uh so they want to kind of correct him and they show him they bring him up on the spaceship and try to show him a couple things and explain stuff to him and then send him back and it just it you can see that the tales as he tells it to all the villagers it just morphs into a religion and all these other things very quickly uh from from you know his experience of his interaction with these higher beings and um it just it and then they set up this thing well it's the prime directive we shouldn't have any contact with non-warp
(2:10:17) civilizations so you know once you once you discover warp drive and you can open up the cosmos then you know then we'll make contact but pre-warp civilizations we don't make contact with I like I like that I like that idea very much and I there's no proof or you know evidence for it I just uh I think that's the one that resonates with me the best and then obviously resonated uh well with Gene Roddenberry as well if he wouldn't put anything that we can't understand something that's way too advanced for us
(2:10:45) we think of it just to be God you know like there's all those famous paintings from from the Renaissance Era where there's these paintings depicting a UFO there's a there's a famous uh what is it Ezekiel in the Bible ezekiel's wheel yeah ezekiel's wheel yep yeah the wheel the wheel and the Ring of Fire in the Sky again if you were seeing a light craft that was being propelled by you know trapped in and light energy how would you describe it it's not right like that God a ring of fire sounds like stuff yeah a
(2:11:17) lot of the Angels stories sound like uh like two one things I want to say about the you about aliens and species and stuff yes I made like a video back in the day where I talked about this idea that just imagine that we had you know Gene editing technology where we could go in and you know change anything we wanted um and we wanted to create a perfect space fairing race because we're not really built for outer space man you know like uh astronauts to go into space for a long time have have lots of problems you know so we're not like
(2:11:47) we're built for we're built for Earth not even outer space just like outer orbit yeah outer orbit like the stuff that happens so so imagine we were going to re-engineer our bodies and make some adaptations you know so let's add some chlorophyll to our skin so that you know we don't have to eat we can just use sunlight and let's um you know we'll make our eyes way better at seeing you know we can add some more Spectrum you know we can expand that actual color spectrum of what we see you know uh did you know
(2:12:17) that there's pit vipers that can see infrared and there's also um

butterflies can see like high ultraviolet like a whole another range of frequencies that we can't and birds can too like like flowers and other stuff look different to insects and birds and stuff than they do to us different colors show up different ways and and uh and whatnot so imagine we could like incorporate all that into our our eyes so we make our eyes really big so they can you know see really well in the dark and low space
(2:12:46) and and also see really good good editor voice blocks you know make it so that we can make any animal sound or any noise or any you know you know you know stuff like that we could you could edit and and just Gene code uh and eventually you'd end up with something that looks like an alien gray you know like great guys and green skin and you know all these things so um suction cups on the ends of the fingers was another interesting thing they described because if you're going to manipulate things in space you want
(2:13:17) to be able to do it with one finger and all you need is a suck if you have an octopus suction cup on the end of your finger it's really easy to pick stuff up and move it around that was another interesting thing that was uh yeah um are you I'm sure you're familiar with the Ruiz Zimbabwe UFO yeah that Zimbabwe UFO where there was uh I think 60 school children the aerial School aerial School in Zimbabwe yeah there are 60 school children who all reported a very similar incident of these crafts that landed
(2:13:49) outside the playground and these beings that came out and then like communicated with them telepathically that's interesting and they all had um the the Harvard psychologist psychiatrist John Mack went there and he interviewed all of the kids separately and they all they didn't have like perfect um their stories weren't like perfectly similar but they were they varied a little bit right like they each had a different experience but it was all generally the same they all they all said that they when they looked into
(2:14:20) these things eyes they had this um this feeling or thought of technology is bad hmm and they said that they never talked and they never made a sound but they were all standing there talking like looking at them and when they looked into their eyes they had this sort of like telepathic communication experience with these things about like the future of technology and and all and there were 60 of them and it's been it's one of the most mind-blowing like Close Encounters in his in the history of the world yeah
(2:14:58) because there's so many witnesses and the kids even to this day they still recall it they still like vividly can recall what happened I remember that case a super interesting case and I've seen like a lot of the Skeptics you know takes on it we're like oh we could fake this you know let's let's see how many school children think this really we could fake an incident and then see how many school children would actually believe it happened and other stuff too and you know there are some technologies
(2:15:23) um out there that can actually beam voices in your head voice of God technology right I've heard of this it's called microwave auditory effect and it was discovered in the late 1960s with it with certain frequency of microwaves can create a clicking sound in your ear um there are different noises in your ear and then they can actually create more multiple clicks and then modulate the clicking frequency and the noise to actually you know modulate voices and other signals into your into your uh using it they could actually beam voices
(2:15:50) inside you know inside your ear but that's not telepathically you'd actually be physically hearing that you wouldn't be like writing it and feeling that in your head right that's another level of Technology you know what I mean that's something different if you're like you know getting a message in your brain directly beamed to you that's different than you know these technologies that we have you know that's different than voice of God these were like these these kids describe them
(2:16:17) as as feelings or like images in their minds not any kind of like audio there's no audio it's interesting that so many of them that show up and kind of like you know the kids that say that they were taken on board and shown this like rapid collage of images um of the you know the human race and like all the bad things and stuff that technology has brought and stuff and uh there's other ones that have said that like oh the aliens have warned us that they're us from the future and that we're gonna screw up our genetic code
(2:16:48) and end up like them and not be able to get back um and weird stuff like that and I think that's kind of scary considering you know what we're doing now with some of the experimental you know Technologies and and bio in in biology in general

um I think it's like mRNA mRNA can edit it's a like a gene like crisper and they can edit your genes and now they can do it through your food they can put stuff in your food that you can absorb through your digestive system that will actually activate you know and change your rnas
(2:17:23) so they're talking about this they're talking about this and an article is about you know saying that people who don't get the vaccine will be able to just put it in the food you know now if people it really matter did you ask Brett about this no I didn't I didn't but uh I should I didn't learn about this until afterwards but yeah that that's I thought that was like kind of crazy man that would be good that would be a good one I should ask Brett to talk do you think there's any possibility
(2:17:46) that these things these gray aliens it seems like that these seem to be the common depiction I always wonder like who is the first person to come up with this idea of this being and you know I always think I always wonder you know especially when you think about alien civilizations and you know with us also the tall Grays there's the short little mini the mini ones the three foot or four foot ones and there's also the the reptilians apparently um do you think there's any possibility that this is could be us from the past and
(2:18:17) it's just like a a super Advanced version of us that somehow got off the planet yeah that's another theory too it's like the Breakaway civilization Theory right you know it's it's something else that got away and then went you know light years into the future in a different timeline um or something could be uh again I don't think we know enough about the physics at this point to really to tell one way or another I mean there's guys that are saying well if you have warp drive you have time travel and then you
(2:18:47) have time traveling but then I I just look at time travel like well if I can just go back and edit any event that ever happened then what's reality because I can just go back and you know just change it you know right so then you get into a whole existential you know argument and debate there once you get into to if you believe in time travel or not because and I don't believe in time travel in that sense I think that you know it's allowable within the realm of physics but you have to understand that the
(2:19:16) universe is what's called a discrete event system and in control theory a discrete event system is a system where discrete events happen independently and of one another and sort of tangential and influence and then cross-influence one another like the universe works and that's how everyone works in the in this universe I believe is is that it's a it's a discrete event system and that in order to reverse time globally you'd have to reverse the time in all of those discrete events and you can only do time
(2:19:49) reversals on individual discrete events I don't think it's it's possible to do a complete group time reversal on all these discrete events because they I just don't see it as being possible and I wish I was more good with I wish I was better with the mathematics to be able to prove that with like some kind of theory or something but I'm not so right someone else might be and be able to do that but um you know I I that's the issue of time travel is if they're if they're beans from the future and (2:20:18) stuff I don't necessarily believe that although if you know like because you can go further into the future like Buzz Lightyear you know every time he goes further into the future but he can't go back you know you can go far into the future you can stay young and go into the future if you stay traveling at light speed forever right well you can't go back before the time travel was created yeah right like you can go from whenever we figure out time travel we can go from then on we can travel forward and backwards but we
(2:20:49) can't go before we figured out time travel yeah and that's that's related to that whole event yeah the system of events and causality and everything if you get into the time cones and the Penrose uh charts and diagrams and all that stuff so that's some interesting interesting physics interesting takes on physics and uh but as far as you know explaining all the UFOs I I don't think that our scientists are there yet as far as our classified programs because I've seen what you know they're working on the classified
(2:21:23) programs I've seen what darpa's throwing money at and uh if they had these things they wouldn't be wasting their time you know I mean if they had figured this out in the 50s and they had warp drives and anti-gravity they wouldn't be wasting their time giving you know a couple million dollars to Mike McCulloch to look into you know quantized inertia they wouldn't be interested you know they wouldn't be doing the other research they're doing maybe they would just to throw people off I don't know

(2:21:50) it's it's a it's a hard game to play but you're looking at the real scientists and and you have to work with what's out there because at the end of the day I mentioned on Brett's podcast that who do the science who did the government go to for answers on UFOs at the end of the day they're asking the scientists right you know so even if the government is an authority on this and takes Authority there at the end of the day they're they're talking the scientists and maybe there's some you know scientists
(2:22:16) out there that are more privy to access to the information and have more um data sets that aren't available to the public and that's what I'm concerned with and and whether those data sets can be made available to the public or not or whether they should and you know I've kind of gone through that stuff and deep on this path looking for those answers and I'm reporting on everything that I find and so who do you so who or what do you think is responsible for these Nimitz and East Coast UFOs they're so
(2:22:46) close to our military ranges and our military centers of these Technologies and these you know SoCal test range and Camp Pendleton right there you know Catalina Island on the west coast uh and then Norfolk Virginia there's you know military base right there BAE Systems and a bunch of stuff um it just seems more plausible to me that it's some kind of our own technology that we're running or testing or doing stuff with and didn't you just say you thought it wasn't that we we're not there yet
(2:23:17) oh that stuff I this is what we're seeing I don't think is warp drive technology I don't think we're seeing oh okay you're talking about different okay I see I'm talking about yeah that what as I mentioned is warp drive techno like the ability to go into Stellar or okay or maybe even but you do so these these things that are flying these modern UFOs that we've been seeing in the past 20 years you think that those are those how are those being propelled how what is the means of propulsion with those do
(2:23:42) you think um if they're actual craft and not just like the laser-induced plasmas and Holograms and stuff like that if they're actual craft then then they might they're probably drones you know what's interesting I did a lot of research into craft and found a lot of drone research connected to this stuff in fact if you read Lewis witton's um Otto he did an interview on American Institute of physics with uh and I read it and he talks about this work with it he did with Martin Marietta Corporation he says that 1947 the first
(2:24:17) job that he was hired to work on out at Martin Maria at a corporation was pilotless aircraft uh you know and and um not just that but uh like control and guidance systems for them and stuff so this is it's super interesting that back in the 40s you know you have this guy working on this in this classified program and then he's he's also con you know the guy they picked to look into anti-gravity a couple years later this I thought that that's super interesting because there's a big overlap with a lot
(2:24:46) of this you know pilotless UAP and drone technology and this is this there's so much of it you find um like for instance a company that merged with uh them later was called Teledyne Ryan and Teledyne Ryan did a number of these um craft there you know triangular UFOs a lot of the Triangular UFO sightings I now believe were Teledyne Ryan's craft and their research that they were doing back in the 70s and 80s they had developed this craft called The tr3a Black Manta and uh it was a little flying triangle Wing black you know
(2:25:26) triangle and people were seeing these things all around um UAV drone technology I just haven't seen anything in video and again I point out and Brett asked me a good great question I was just thrown for a loop because you know is there any video evidence that you do find like super convincing you know and I'm not interested in video evidence because you know the Skeptics aren't convinced by it and yeah I pointed out that you know 1993 you had that one video that looked cool with the crop circles in the UFO that made the
(2:25:58) crop circles but 1993 is also familiar with that video there's a there was a video that um apparently this guy had a a camera set up over watching the field and caught a UFO made a crop circle and stuff it went viral on on the internet away is this like Skinwalker Ranch something no but I pointed out that 1993 is when Jurassic Park came out so they couldn't create fake looking real dinosaurs in movies yeah I don't trust anything I see in video I don't I don't it can be so easily with with CGI I said
(2:26:31) anything before 1993 which is like the quality of film from back then every UFO video is like crap you know the probably the best UFO footage that I would say exists if I were if I really had to think about and go back is actually the um Mariana UFO footage from the 1950s because it's from the 1950s right and it's just a it's just an interesting case so that that's the Marion m-a-r-i-a-n-i a case and that's interesting because Dennis Mariani or um it's Mariana is the yeah and sorry I'm getting the spelling wrong

(2:27:11) because I'm thinking two things at once because Bob Lazar said his his um his boss at Area 51 was Dennis Mariani oh and we've never been able to find Dennis Mariani they never tried they got apparently got Mike figpen and tracked him down although I haven't seen the evidence for that but apparently who is this guy this is Nick Mariana okay so this is Mariana one of the oldest and most famous UFO cases from you know the 1950s in Montana He recorded this early UFO footage and this is you know one of the because you can't it
(2:27:47) by the Time video started getting good that's when also when CGI started getting good so man it's like how do you rely on and trust anything right this is the film and double for slow motion look like Tic Tacs right yeah the movement of the object as well as the tower is perceptible this is due to the handheld camera the film analyzed frame by frame shows the movement of the objects to be horizontal and steady we will now vary the action and size of the objects and also stop the action from time to time for your study
(2:28:32) we have just made a jump cut in the film to an enlarged size and reverse the action yeah it's it's again it's early UFO footage right this is probably taking on a eight millimeter you know um yeah some of the early stuff really boggles my mind because there's a lot of Pilots that have record you know that have reports and there's accounts of these Pilots seeing these things like there was a case in the 50s with uh the swarm of UFOs that were close to the White House yeah yeah they went past the
(2:29:02) White House they scrambled planes and jets to to go like track them down there was even a guy who I think shot at one of them yeah um there's a there's lots of uh like Lonnie Zamora uh the police officer the police officer who saw the thing they came and they saw like they actually found the marks on the ground where they thought that thing where they saw that where he saw that saucer had landed you know there's just so many old cases that just scramble my brain when I'm trying to think of this new stuff like
(2:29:31) why don't we see that old stuff anymore we don't like we don't see any of those traditional flying saucers is Michael schrat has like a whole Archive of all those cases and stuff and he draws like the the foot the the the you know the pictures of them and stuff and he talks about the cases and it's it's kind of curious how the stories the technology kind of coincides with the literature of the era so like the the UFOs of the 1950s and 60s looked more like Buck Rogers you know and UFOs of today and stuff
(2:30:01) look you know more more like uh you know I guess like star Star Trek or something you know like something more modern so like the these things have developed in you know on their own too which also kind of leads me to the conclusion that these are are replications of these Technologies and maybe they fly on some you know different principles or something maybe they were experimenting with some neat new technology during the time and because we had a space program bro like I went to um up to they had a whole man on the
(2:31:05) 1958 you know we started NASA and then we had a space program now we had a secret space program for like a decade and a half before that became NASA and then we had not we had NACA and a bunch of other organizations that you know were running a lot of these you know programs and stuff like Ames Research labs and the aim scientists and stuff and that's fascinating because you look at the bifel Brown case right guy was discovered this effect in 1928 was trying to like get it out there and talk about it finally met with some (2:31:39) people from the military gave a whole presentation on it in the 1940s they told him he was crazy go home and then they went and hired a bunch of aim scientists to do the research instead and you know so that that's the kind of what they do in the public domain they ridiculed it discredited it in the public domain then they threw this guy to the curb said you're ridiculous this doesn't work and there's nothing to it and then they went and funded a research study into it with some of their own scientists behind the (2:32:07) scenes so so this seems to be a like a recurring theme in a lot of these you know topics like um you know cold fusion came up in the in the 80s and they you know debunked it very thoroughly in the mainstream press and uh with some experiments and then it kind of disappeared and and um but they research they've been you know the spay War and the U.

(2:32:33) S Navy's still researching coal Fusion to this day so so like they're still looking into it even though they covered it up and suppressed it and they didn't want it to get out it's almost like what it seems but then there's also egos involved with a lot of the people that that jumped on board from both sides as well so so there's a cold fusion is a whole nother uh interesting animal of itself what is cold fusion so coal Fusion uh is now I guess a lot of the scientists like to call it Len r or lattice um assist l-a-n-r lattice assisted (2:33:04) nuclear reaction or low energy nuclear reaction and it's this idea that um you know normal Fusion what you have is the coulomb barrier and the coulomb barrier is the force between you know two two nuclei and as you try to move the nuclei together the positive charges repel and they push each other apart so the harder you try to push them together the more they push apart and right there's this barrier that if you can push them together with enough force and energy you can get them to stick together and get a little bit extra
(2:33:34) energy out of it because the mass the mass drops and some of that Mass gets released as energy there's a conversion equals mc squared right so you get a little bit of that mass out as energy from the fusion process but pushing these things to the coulomb area is very difficult you got to use these you know magnetic bottles like the itar or the uh the takamak reactors and stuff and you or you have to use um in the Sun a lot of gravity and a lot of you know heat so the heat gets these molecules going really fast and the
(2:34:08) gravity pushes them really close together so they're quantum mechanical Behavior them moving really fast plus being in close proximity allows for the the tunneling through that coulomb barrier and allows for Fusion although we're not exactly quite sure how that process takes place um even on the sun you know this debate about that so um but in this low energy nuclear reactions what you're having is is the first experiment that ponds and Fleischman did is they packed a ton of uh deuterium so deuterium is is hydrogen with an
(2:34:40) extra Neutron so it's heavy it's it's heavy it doesn't change the the atomic number it just changes the the weight of it so it's a little it's it's like hydrogen but it's extra heavy and then they pump that into a lattice of Palladium using electricity so they have the deuterium in heavy water and solution and then they charge the water um and then charge the cat the cathode and so like the the deuterium and all the molecules get absorbed into the cathode and they get packed into this lattice
(2:35:11) structure of the metal and as they get packed into the lattice structure of the metal they become really really close to one another and something about that in the physics of of that lattice structure once they get to about a 94 loading they start to see these Fusion effects in the um in the cathodes and this has been confirmed by a number of labs and a number of scientists who have replicated and done this research and have been trying to figure out ways to extract usable energy from it and so far no one's done that
(2:35:44) um but there's a big debate and uh controversy over over it and there has been for 30 years now since uh the 1980s when pawns and Fleischmann first went forward with that Discovery and it was called it was it was highly criticized because they wanted they thought that it would get shut down so they wanted to create a press conference to get the you know information out there and so they were criticized heavily for doing science by press conference instead of uh science by the academic and peer review method but as
(2:36:15) uh science has shown in the 30 years past that that method and that that you know uh approach has failed tremendously in science it has failed science tremendously um in fact before we created these these journals and and all this um this sort of stuff there was a much more free in open science and and people were more free to experiment and uh create new ideas but we've sort of with this peer review process and this this uh method we've stifled a lot of a lot of new thinking and new ideas and um you know enforced a lot of old beliefs and

(2:36:55) we've seen that happen through science in in history with like plate tectonics or the pilt down man or other other uh scientific discoveries or revolutions or controversies um so it's it's interesting what's happening in science right now I don't necessarily believe that peer review is all bad it's good to have you know people who are on your level and do the work you do reviewing your work um but I also see how it could be used manipulatively um in certain situations so I I like what we're doing we're we're kind of
(2:37:26) have this open source disclosure um approach where we're trying to just put the information out there just to get it out there and then um we have the experimental side where we try to you know verify or get results with it and that's also open source so that um you know get the information out there a little bit easier um because again you're dealing with this massive secrecy in this wall of information where you're trying to get data and trying to sort that out from the crap you know what's where's the noise
(2:38:00) and where's the signal you know because some of this stuff is is real and can be used in for real things and some of it can what are the limitations of that like how good is it and how well does it explain this or that yeah if this is an open field man and I I look at like what's going on in the mainstream media and to bring technology and not include technology in this conversation is is uh is a sin entertainment is a huge driver of this topic right there's so much money in the documentaries and the
(2:38:35) History Channel TV shows yeah that just attract the laymen to just be you gotta you gotta add in the drama to get normal people interested in this stuff right you can't just talk about particle physics and photons and neutrons no I guarantee you that's not true um but for the lame and for the for the average I hope they're looking it up and and trying to like learn more about it and stuff so because I am too man for the average working class person that's sitting at their you know in their living room and bum [__] Montana that
(2:39:09) I was watching The History Channel about Skinwalker Ranch or about you know babazar Area 51 it's like infotainment right so it's information but it's dramatized and it's turned into uh a TV uh uh a piece of art like a movie to make people to draw people in but what's good about that is it brings more money into the topic yeah it creates an account in that money well no matter who's getting it doesn't matter who's getting it I think even if it is the TV companies getting the money
(2:39:44) it's creating an economy around this topic which I think is only going to draw in more people to this topic right it's gonna that will essentially drive more interest more people like you you know more people even younger than you who are just gonna see a podcast like this one day and decide to dedicate the rest of their lives to studying physics and just figuring out how this [__] works I mean that's what that's what I dreamed of and I and you know what's awesome is that I started my channel in 2008 and I've
(2:40:12) gotten to see the people that like started watching me early on go through you know go through undergraduate and then you know some of them I've gone through grad school and seeing people that like got inspired by you know me talking about this kind of stuff to go and study Physics on their own and some of them you know come back to me and they're like you know thank you or years later I've even have you know grad students and phds and stuff that that like dude thank you for this or that you know like I have people
(2:40:41) that wrote their PHD thesis based on stuff that they learned about on my channel which is like right that's awesome bro because that that is where we need this to be and that gives me so much hope for the future because if we don't have people thinking about these things critically and really understanding you know our universe and the science and and the technology that's out there we're not going to ever be able to figure this stuff out and if we're just diving into this world where we're mixing it with the Paranormal and
(2:41:08) you know werewolves and Dino beavers and and all this other stuff I think we lose a lot of that a lot of that and like the ghosts and stuff and that stuff's cool and I see how some people are just like are drawn to those topics because there is so much mystery and and um yeah intrigue what do you think about Robert Bigelow speaking of ghosts Bob Bigelow um Bob Bigelow is interesting guy you know he he's super interested in the UFO topic and he's got a ton of money so that's that's kind of how he got into it he's (2:41:39) always been fascinated by did you watch his interview with Joe Rogan yeah I watched it on with his interview with Joe Rogan and then once he did with George

Knapp he's talking about like this remote viewing technology he's talking about Poltergeist in his house I mean he got sucked here suckered into a lot of like real crazy um weird stuff uh on for I think unfortunately um you know a lot of that stuff is tied up in these programs too is is I believe Counter Intelligence to sort of like right you know just confuse and muddy
(2:42:09) the waters and confuse the issues and and then also mix up the alien stuff with you know just nonsense so that people you know scientists and other people don't take it take the the other stuff yeah the Cattlemen relations is another thing I brought that up on Brett's podcasts and I talked about the Mirage Men thing and and I had a bunch of people like you know talking about different ideas on that you know what why wouldn't the military just pay for the cattle you know why would they just buy it or something you know like well
(2:42:39) obviously they can't you know directly be buying the cattle they don't want people to know so they can set up a front company or something else you know easily they do it all the time to just buy the cattle so if you if any for let's kind of like lay some context of this camera yeah okay yeah sorry I'm just jumping into that and people people haven't seen that so this is movie called Mirage man and um this in the Mirage man they kind of did this investigation into into this cattle mutilation thing where they talk about
(2:43:07) this operation uh our project plowshare it was called it was a series of uh nuclear tests that they did underground during the time and so they were burying these noobs deep in the ground like Broken Arrow where they my huge mining tunnel send a nuke down there on a train and blow it off and then they were trying to monitor the the spread of the radioactivity um to see if they were contaminating groundwater and other things so apparently foreign they were the ones abducting these cattle or taking these cattle and
(2:43:40) cutting the thyroid glands out in order to test the thyroid thought your thyroid has uh iodine in it has uptake of iodine so if there's radioactive iodine that's produced from nuclear fallout or from a blast it's going to end up in the environment it's going to get picked up immediately by your thyroid gland that's why a lot of people develop thyroid cancer from the radioactive iodine that your your thyroid gland absorbs so one way to test how this contamination is getting out into the environment is
(2:44:10) to take local animals and cut out their thyroid glands and test the iodine levels for the radioactive isotope and so if you're going to do this and you don't want the public to know about it you might you know cut out other things like their tongues and their eyeballs and their livers and you might drop them from helicopters and do other weird things apparently this is what they allege in the Mirage Man interview that the military was doing to cover up for the fact that they were just you know testing for this underground nukes and
(2:44:37) and they didn't want you know people to know about the radiation and what was really going on and it's all a big cover story for um nuclear tests and and uh and medical examinations of farm animals that they didn't want to just buy and pay for um it seems kind of crazy and elaborate you know a lot of people have pointed that out and stuff um you know and you know Linda Moulton how was the researcher that you know researched a lot of this Bob Bigelow knew Linda Moulton Howe I I heard that they had dated for a while
(2:45:11) but uh people attacked me and said that was never confirmed and his wife is you know about that I don't know what the deal is because Robert was married and stuff so I don't know what the whole relationship with him and and Linda Moulton Howe was but for some reason um Bigelow decided to you know pay Linda Moulton's house rent for for five years um so that she could investigate these cattle mutilations and get to the bottom of that and of course she you know concluded that it was aliens doing it
(2:45:44) and um you know that would have been perfect if it if it was that plowshare narrative but other people have pointed out some you know interesting things yeah maybe I I agree it would have been easier for them to create a front company and just buy out the cattle you know that seems like a much more you know training them I mean there's like they've some of these Farmers found their cows with all the blood drained out of it yeah like like ridiculous yeah stacked on top of each other it's interesting because I I've I've talked (2:46:12) to a couple uh one on one of the guys I met out in Colorado when I lived there was Chuck Zukowski and he's uh he's got the license plate UFO nut for Colorado and he's investigated he's a police officer actually he's like law enforcement training and he did a number of these cattle mutilation Investigations out there and

he's got some interesting views on that stuff too and um you know again it seems plausible that if I was an alien visiting here that I would take genetic samples from you know what are (2:46:42) they eating oh they eat these things let's see what they're made out of you know it just makes sense that they you know if aliens came here they would collect those kinds of things and take data you know they would take you know they would Harvest organs and harvest you know you know look at we cows what are they made of what's going on with these people you know it just seems like something that aliens would do so you know again it's one of those things that that kind of confuses and baffles me uh as well because you know
(2:47:11) you can you can come up with these skeptical plausible alternative explanations for things but then you know those kind of seem a little bit outlandish in and of themselves too sometimes you know when you consider the other things that they've done to cover up stuff it's quite easy to create a front company and buy a bunch of cows you know like and and not have to create this whole elaborate scheme but then again when you have uh someone like Linda out there creating it for you again I pointed out that that's the
(2:47:38) easiest way to do disinformation is to find someone else who's already confused or misinformed and just prop them up and let them promulgate it and you'll find very often that you know organic misinformation works the best because it's what people already believe and that's one of the reasons I think Skinwalker Ranch was chosen as a location uh for for some of this stuff because of all the legends that it was this place that's haunted and you know habitated by Spirits you know there's
(2:48:09) stories from the Native Americans about the place but it's interesting because a lot of the stuff that seems to be going on out there sounds like some of this electronic warfare technology like the spoofing technology the laser Holograms or the voice in the ear or you know some of the stuff that these people have seen out there sounds a lot like some of these Technologies to me anyways this is my skeptical rational explanation of trying to you know come up with explanations for this stuff and it reminds me of this place um I
(2:48:39) don't know if you've ever heard of Camp hero before yes I have heard of that I don't remember so Camp hero was this um facility out on the end of Montauk Island and Montauk is Long Island New York so right on the tip of Long Island is Camp hero you can look this up in this radar station and this is whole military facility that was out there and do you remember you watch stranger things yes so episode one remember like the first season of stranger the season one sorry the first season of stranger
(2:49:08) things they have that facility out on the end of the island it's uh and the government runs it and it's this whole setup out there yeah or they have where they had like that that hole that goes into the upside down yeah and they're doing all this research out there into this crazy weird stuff um that's about Russians that's based on Montauk that's based on Camp hero the real story it's based on a real story of the research that went on out on the end of Long Island and the rumors that would go on
(2:49:35) around people who live near there because you know you take a ride at night and stuff and go down the island realize oh there's a military base and I can't get down there and what the heck are they doing out there and there's weird stuff going on because they have this really large high power radar tower that was set up out there that could that could do a lot of interesting things um and this was right around the time they were researching project rainbow and doing a lot of the EMF response technology so that there's a whole
(2:49:59) nother or subsection of that I believe that was handled under MK Ultra where they were specifically looking for EMF responses and biological systems so they're looking for signals that can affect biology so and and if you look this up you can actually if you go to icnirp.org okay there's a whole organization um icnirp.
(2:50:30) org and there's a whole organization that does Research into radiation and harmful effects okay and you look at the ER yeah so the RF EMF guidelines so there's a whole report that they publish every year this report is very interesting because you can get this it's a couple hundred Pages the bibliography of this report is is key if you want to research this kind of stuff because in that bibliography of that report you're going to find every single study that's ever been done on frequencies that interact with biological systems so

a lot of them apparently you know you get the right frequency the right amplitude you can do things in in the human body and they're different for different people because we all have different GM bio bio geometrics and stuff right the resonant frequency might be a little bit different for your pituitary gland than it is for mine because you're my yours might be a little bit different shape or size so they have to tune these things
(2:51:35) specifically but I believe that you know if they did an EMF project with project rainbow to study all the EMF responses and the of materials and different arrangements and materials and they had to have done one with biological systems and MK Ultra again there's a lot of sub projects there was over a hundred something 68 uh maybe 100 something sub projects of MK Ultra and um in it you'll find one of them where they they looked into some of the stuff these these frequencies that would um interact with biological organisms and I
(2:52:08) think that that's the research that they started out on Camp hero in Montauk Virginia and then they needed a place to move this research um you know because rumors were going around and other things were you know it was just causing too much problems where it was so they need to look for a new home for that and if I were you know doing Electronics Warfare and that kind of research and I needed a new home for something like that Skinwalker Ranch would be my number one choice do you know why why because everything could be
(2:52:38) blamed on all the Legends and all the Paranormal stuff that has the history of it so I could yeah but what year are we talking again what year are we talking when all this stuff was going on project rainbow and Camp hero that was like magic rainbow started 58 58 right 58. so throughout the 60s maybe the 70s is when they shut down Camp hero so this may be a little bit of Gap period a time when for when Skinwalker Ranch was uh first you know Bigelow bought it first and started running some of this stuff and he
(2:53:08) brought in nids and some of these other teams to run these investigations and I think that you know Bigelow working with these Aerospace defense contracts working close to you know with Bigelow Aerospace trying to get into this stuff may have been involved in in some of some of this uh research or contracts and stuff that's my theory on on skin walker Ranch is that it was Camp hero 2.
(2:53:36) 0 that they chose it as a place because of the Paranormal history to to run these experiments so that they you know if anything got uncovered or got loose they could just be like well it's ghosts and Dino beavers and poltergeists and and stuff and they could also use that to mix in a lot of the I don't know it just seems like a lot of counterintelligence because to me because I can't I can't make sense of it any other way well it's like the number one show on History Channel now so you think they're still doing it there
(2:54:01) I don't number one show on the history probably Jesus probably I I'm surprised I'm you know it nothing surprises me anymore but again I have not watched a single episode and I wait I've watched a couple and I could I could barely get through one it was so cringe it is so hard to get it's so all the technical explanations With You Know Travis Taylor is their lead scientist and again this is a guy who he's got a history of research with all this Laser Technology and laser-induced plasma technology he's got patent you
(2:54:36) know he's got Papers written on this thing he did a lot of research on this stuff so he's connected he's one of the guys that is connected to this stuff so that makes me suspicious of the whole thing I don't know how I I talked about this before when I had James Fox on here I I told him that I think shows like that do this subject to discredit I do too I believe they do absolutely I wouldn't have started my podcast if it weren't for shows like what I what I would watch the one of the ones I've I
(2:55:04) watched was Michio Kaku back in like the early 2000s he did this one of like the UF would the government recover a saucer and what would the Technologies be that would be on it and he talked about metamaterial you know he talked about invisibility cloaks but he'd never mentioned meta materials and I was like come on man you're not like how can you be assigned like this top theoretical physicist and scientist talking about these things but not know about what's out there in the literally what's (2:55:30) already out there like why are you not talking about this and this and this he's got a new book coming out about Quantum yeah quantum entanglement what's it what's his new what's his new book Google's next new book I'll have to check that out man because you know Kaku is interesting he's done a 180 on the UFO topic but I really didn't like his stance and what he said about the UFO topic you know he like now the burden of proof has shifted you know he said like oh it used to be on us to (2:55:56) prove that these things you know weren't but now we have to prove that these aren't real I'm like no that's nothing to do with what's going on right now I just felt like I don't want him Supremacy how the quantum computer Revolution will change everything oh that sounds interesting yeah Kaku would be super I would love to have a sit-down conversation with him where we could just get into it you know on some of the stuff man because that that would that would get super deep quick if we

(2:56:23) could put a panel together with like Kaku Weinstein oh yeah it's got to be on there I don't I guarantee you and I'll bet you anything it is like he will not be on Joe Rogan ever again I uh you can mark my words and I'll bet you uh I'll make a bet with you that he will not debate Weinstein and he will not go on Joe Rogan again I don't think he's gonna I think he's gonna fade out of the public domain you know he just moved he moved United nuclear from Michigan to Oregon he's got a new setup out there he's got (2:56:54) an 11 acre horse farm that he lives on with his wife out there now and I think he's just gonna retire and and say forget all this I I guarantee you I I just don't see it happening bro as much as I would love to see that and it would be awesome my prediction right now is that he's gonna fade out and he's just gonna he's just gonna drop out altogether that's my prediction anyway what what is the biggest pushback that you get on this [__] obviously you have a lot of critics I knew a lot of people attacking you for
(2:58:06) all came forward and said that they were going to release they were going to build a spaceship for us if we funded it and they were going to release free energy and anti-gravity technology that was all in their like first press conference thing and you know I've been researching anti-gravity for you know 10 years at that point and I was like there is no F in way and I I was super you know vocal about that I even started my own company to try to you know compete with them for you know who's going to make the real
(2:58:36) anti-gravity technology and who's going to release more you know real information about it and I was just criticizing everything that they put out because they were they weren't talking about any physics any real technology they were just making promises they didn't even have a science division they end up shutting down the science division after they started and just focusing purely on the entertainment Division and I was just like I predicted it all right from the start and I you know I called it out and and but I had
(2:59:04) tons of people just giving me all this backlash and then my questions about you know these guys and their credibility and what they're doing in ufology and do we need them are they helping yeah they got a New York Times article they got a bunch of attention to the subject but what if the purpose was all to create a bunch of smoke and mirrors and then have it all get a ton of attention and then debunk it you know that would be like what I would do if I was the Pentagon and I wanted to run a psyop and get rid of all this stuff I would you
(2:59:32) know hire a bunch of guys Pump It Up hype it up hype up a whole bunch of fake crap for as long as I could and then just until everyone got tired or burnt out or I debunked it all and you know and I really feel like the the when they pulled the plug fully was Super Bowl weekend with those those three UFOs that were shot down in the same weekend and they were just like it's Chinese spy balloons right that was just like Roswell you know 1997 U.
(3:00:00) S Air Force all over again yes what's interesting about the U.S Air Force um in 1997 they had the whole you know they they released a new report on Roswell and they did this public press conference and the opening line of that press conference the first thing that the dod says is wow look at all the people here if only we could get this many people to you know pay attention to Aerospace defense um you know we'd be we'd be doing something you know productive here you know so it's like that right there was like they must have (3:00:33) realized wow this way too much you know we're not going to fight this we have you can't beat them you have to join them you know what I mean at that point they must have realized that you cannot you cannot like your denials are just creating more Contra you know when they came out with that report and then a year later after that report Corso publishes book the day after Roswell um I almost felt like that was distant misinformation or disinformation as well put out by the Air Force because like that the timing of it was just too

(3:01:04) um too close and then the technologies that Corso mentioned were none of the real Technologies and it was all technologies that had I found or had traceable sources to you know human inventors and human scientists who built and worked on these things some of the other stuff is is is I've traced it to humans too like the invisibility stuff and The Meta materials it goes back to project rainbow and all that the classified stuff they were working on and different you know EMF responses that they were observing and things so
(3:01:32) there's a lot of this that's just you think it's aliens because it seems like it came from nowhere but it really came from these you know classified programs or these scientists who worked on it for their entire life and even it wasn't classified it's just obscurity so it's a scientist that worked on it and just nobody knows about it except you know very very few people so yeah one of the I think one of the most impactful things one of the most impactful quotes from your conversation
(3:02:00) with Eric was when you were talking about disclosure when it comes to like New York Times and looking to like the biggest irony in this whole disclosure movement is that we deeply distrust we deeply distrust Authority while simultaneously looking at Authority for verification of all this stuff yeah yeah absolutely yeah yeah that's a that was that's a good point because that just brings it all all full circles because like who do you trust at the end of the day and the only thing I trust is what I can verify you
(3:02:34) know with my own you know researcher experience either experiment or evidence or something and you know some of this stuff is you just have to like accept it as a mystery and maybe you're never going to get to the bottom of it and some of it you have to um you know think about outside the box that other people other researchers before you haven't approached this this topic or this problem the same way and haven't come up with the right solution sometimes you do you know sometimes you're looking at a UFO video and you're
(3:03:02) like dude you we looked at a UFO video we finally like tracked it down to where where the location was taken then we noticed that there's mountains in the backgrounds with all these you know Motocross Trails so it's what we're actually they were actually filming were um dirt bikes going down the mountain on the Motocross trails and it looks like UFOs in the video this is like all kinds of cases like that where you just have to step outside and get a different a little bit different way of thinking
(3:03:28) about things or perspective and then instantly things make sense right yeah what do you know about that guy Malcolm bendall who has been working with Randall Carlson for the past year on this plasma technology I haven't seen any of his like actual technology or his lap I heard he's got a lab like in Malaysia somewhere and doing kind of tests and like experiments and stuff I haven't got you know I contacted him on Twitter and tried to get like a little bit more in with him and see but he didn't seem real
(3:04:01) vocal or open with me you know and I don't know if that's a bad thing or a good thing um sometimes you know if you got something to hide you definitely don't want to talk to theoretical physicists and and scientists because if you're if you're pulling a trying to pull a front then you're going to get found out real quick you know right so um that's the same the same thing I tell people who criticize Gary null and you know people like oh you work for the CIA and the CIA recruited him to study these
(3:04:27) brain you know injury victims to to understand Havana syndrome and that's how he got into all this so you can't trust him because he worked for the CIA but he's a scientist and I don't I I think that more science we need more scientists in this field we need more science uh scientists studying this I think the more scientists the better and if he is a disinformation agent and he's trying to spread you know misinfo to the scientific community good luck well it's like it's another it's just (3:04:57) another example of of people like yourself people like you know you're very similar in your field of physics to Ben van kerwick is to like this guy he has a YouTube channel and he studies all this ancient high technology evidence in in Egypt where the pyramids are like he has he has finds all this evidence of these Precision uh core drills and these Precision saw cuts and these Basalt Stones yeah and he had to have iron yeah right like bits and during the time where they say the pyramids were built they had literally like stone tools and

(3:06:04) technology ahead of you know everyone else wouldn't you keep it classified wouldn't that be like a CL a highly classified military secret that would be like you know it to ancient Egypt you know figuring out iron smelting technology would be the equivalent of you know our Hypersonic missiles you you wouldn't share that with your anyone you know you wouldn't share it with even your citizens so it's easy to see how Technologies like that could have gotten lost over time like could have been
(3:06:31) discovered and then lost yes yeah I mean there's been there's been Greek Fire there's evidence of cataclysms of massive floods of comic Comet impacts that created Global cataclysms that wiped out civilizations and their extinction level events and you know what modern Academia says is that the Egyptians 2500 years ago 2 500 years ago they built the pyramids and they created everything that's that you see there today but with all the evidence of the technology they had it's not possible they were the ones
(3:07:06) that were drawing that were carving those hieroglyphs with copper chisel copper chisels into the sides of those giant Basalt obelisks yeah they weren't the ones that were actually moving those massive toys it's like we found them and we just did stuff to them exactly rather than they were like them it's the equivalent of like toddlers drawing with crayons on the side of a mausoleum you know what I mean to say that these giant pyramids were created to be tombs I think that a lot of that stuff's super interesting
(3:07:36) you know there's a lot of cool you know Egypt research and a lot of Unsolved Mysteries there but back to like specifically the Malcolm bendall uh this Malcolm bendall um guy I know that he he did some stuff on Twitter uh with this periodic table that he created where he like he arranged it in a circle and said that there's some you know significance to that and I made a video where I showed all the different periodic tables including the real period the real full periodic table which is the chart of isomers and that includes like all the (3:08:07) Isotopes and um and all all like all the different you know Arrangements of Isotopes and isomers so like the uh the full the full chart and uh you know that's like the full periodic table that's like when Gary Nolan says you know our regular periodic table we're working with like a you know 100 elements but you know in between those there's all these isotopes of each element so they're they're working with like 250 in in their building blocks and rather than you know what we're working with and why they
(3:08:39) need those might be you know is another issue a debate and stuff that I can get into like for example uh they did um they took a different isotope or of lithium and replaced it with like the regular lithium and they found that like because of that isotope replaced basic functions in the brain that um weird things happen because the isotope so there's there's functions in your brain that are clearly you know affected by these these spin relaxation times because that's the only thing that changes when you up the isotope is that (3:09:13) that spin route that that alarm or frequency our alarm or procession so there's quantum mechanical processes that occur inside the brain this have been proven with the with the with the lithium study in mice where they gave an isotope of lithium to the the mice and they they behaved much differently than the the ones with the normal lithium um so there's obviously something going on here um in with with the physics and the science of of these isotopes that that create something uh some of these effects and it's again I think it's (3:09:45) really it's definitely related to that spin relaxation time um Factor but I I think that uh Malcolm's got some you know interesting ideas I'd like to talk to them more and get them on the show and really have if he's got real science I'm the place to do it man like come on my podcast like you can you can talk to a whole bunch of people ask you really good questions and and really like delve out your your ideas and uh get to the nuts and bolts if you got something legit uh like it will be proven like I'll make sure like we're (3:10:19) not just gonna like fake debunk you and and make it and ridicule you and send you off like we're gonna give you everyone a fair shot and and keep an open mind to stuff and if you're wrong about certain things we're going to point it out and like your periodic table is not the full periodic table and there's there's other there's other things in in some of the stuff that he's put out where I'm just like this looks like it's not the it's not the real story it's like it's like a I don't know some (3:10:44) of the stuff I've pointed out already with with his stuff but again I I haven't gotten the chance to speak with him directly or really look into his experimental work and research fully enough to get to that but just what I've seen of the theoretical basis stuff like that periodic table of elements he had with the circle chart I mean I don't I I think what is he claiming he's claiming that what he's discovered is a plausible explanation of How Sound was able to manipulate massive objects and move some of these massive (3:11:17) objects in Egypt and like build the pyramids potentially so they have Sonic they've built Sonic levitators that you know they'll levitate a golf like a Styrofoam ball or something really lightweight I'm yet to see anyone levitate you know a silicone block or a Sandstone block you know a piece of pyramid Stone yet to see that experiment done you know Sim Harriman a number of these other guys talk about how they've cracked the ancient Egyptian Egyptian technology well just show me how to lift the stone show me how to lift lift the (3:11:54) Rock and how to do that right um and I've Heard lots of different theories and ideas on how it's done and how to do it and you know this was scepter that the Egyptians had that had this you know it looked like a tuning fork on one end that they supposedly resonated at a certain frequency and that could you know get the stones vibrating that would cause them to levitate and well someone's got a fake if the ancient Egyptians figured it out with their primitive technology man why can't we do it in some of the labs we have and (3:12:26) figure this out why do we get like teams of you know real phds and other kinds of people working on the stuff and and we haven't figured it out if it you know it's just so I'm skeptical well that's what Ben that's what Ben van kerwick points out he says it wasn't the ancient Egyptians it was a civilization much before them yeah with much much higher advanced technology and the ancient and the ancient Egyptians simply inherited that stuff right the technology was gone or new zealandia one of these ancient (3:12:54) civilizations that structured and then the collapsed and everyone moved to Egypt right you know and then you know people like Randall and people like Graham Hancock that point all this stuff out they just get like discredited and called you know racist like Graham Hancock was called a racist for some of the theories that he pointed out about ancient Egypt and the peer how the pyramids were constructed there's there's these uh these these attempts to discredit them by labeling them on social media and portraying them as bad

(3:13:24) guys when right really all they're doing is paying more attention than anyone else and it's just it goes against what modern Academia and all the people that have I can sympathize with some of those people because they're like oh how could brown people have built the pyramids you know that that's racist you know to think that they're in Africa the other thing I think is like the same thing I see with scientists still all the time is like I get I get pissed off because these scientists are not getting the
(3:13:48) credit you're not getting the real education and not knowing the real knowledge and you're just saying giving aliens all the credit for stuff and not getting a good understanding of the science or anything that's going on because it was real scientists who worked and built the stuff like the transistor do you know who Walter shotkey was if you don't then you should look up you know what he did in his research and how it developed the solid-state Theory and group theory that led to uh what became the transistor of
(3:14:14) P doped and endoped uh you know silicates and stuff like that the the science that went into it and you don't get an appreciation for that and it's the same thing I look at with the pyramids man it's like you're you're taking all this credit away from humans who humans have done some amazing and just a miraculous just awesome things and you're giving all that credit to something else or aliens or you know some advanced technology in a civilization maybe we're not thinking hard enough
(3:14:42) maybe we're not I don't know it I've yet to also see on the other side as anyone who's been able to show how you can lift stones and do all this with primitive technology and do it I like the idea that the grand Gallery being this Cog mechanism where they walk the stones up the the grand gal where there's a ramp where they actually you know drag the stones up for a final construction product there's lots of cool theories on how they built the pyramids I love that guy have you ever seen that guy that (3:15:09) does all the concrete buckets he moves all these super heavy objects by finding the center of mass and then balancing the object on that Center of mass and then just rotating it or spinning it different ways or just you know rocking it back and forth and putting you know lifting uh a little bit of you lift this side put a stick under tip it back this way put a stick under lift it back this way put a stick under you can jack up like huge megaliths oh no I haven't seen that what is this called uh look up like um Man shows how

(3:15:39) the pyramids were built or a man moves heavy enormous objects by himself I think it is there's some guy that he was fascinated by how they built the pyramids and he started is this the guy from Florida I think he no that was Edward lead scallion and down in Homestead Florida yes and Homestead the coral the Coral Castle Coral Castle yeah this dude moves 20 20 ton blocks by hand that guy yeah yeah without Machinery he shows how to do it a couple of these things he builds and shows are I thought that was you know super
(3:16:14) interesting in in because if you deal with just the physics of it man like some of the stuff's not that crazy you know you could build one of these ramp systems look how he pushes this enormous Stone by himself like you get a you get it whoa what is he using right here what is that he balances it on a pebble and then he's put it he he's big concrete block and he's put leverage on it so he cares about and then when you look at the the magnitude of the weights that he's moving around and this it is really
(3:16:44) impressive and it's not using any equipment or anything in playing with blocks Wally thinks he's discovered cow Stonehenge was moved this is my first Stonehenge Arch I permanently put in place uh it's three blocks away over a ton each it's all based on a very simple technique I found a simple explanation for this uh to move a block about the weight of a minivan would be to place a stone underneath it and once I balance on it I can spin it holy [__] yeah it's all about that Center of mass and the balance
(3:17:23) on each Stone I moved the block horizontally the distance between the stones so my own output I could move a one-ton block 300 feet per hour using this technique wow he's moved everything from one block to building that here's how so he's tipping it with weight he's raising it off the ground six inches at a time by placing a wedge under each underneath each end weight of the block on this rope [Music] rope break I'm gonna guide it into the pit the easiest way I can explain this is the this is just a big teeter-totter and I
(3:18:06) got the big kid on that end and he's going to go down this end's going up so each time he does the teeter-totter he places another wedge underneath one day I got thrown over top of a block and a couple times I had three blocks roll off the top and almost laying on my feet that's pretty wild but still even with this kind of technology I mean imagine how long it would take them to build the [__] pyramids I think there's like a mathematical equation that was done based on like modern technology and how
(3:18:32) much each of those blocks in the pyramids weighs like two million blocks that weigh what like five to ten tons each yeah it would take like how long would it take maybe a place like one stone every you know like you'd have to place I think like 2 000 Stones an hour to do it and I don't know let's do some math yeah yeah Google how long how long would it take to build the how many blocks would you have to move per day to build the pyramids so it's two million blocks two million yeah so if you had two million
(3:19:05) divided by 7 300 that means you'd have to stack 274 blocks every day 274 blocks so that's in how many years it's 20 years 20 years that's not using what that guy was doing that's not using wooden wedges like a lot of people doing a lot of people right twenty thousand it's bizarre man I don't know it would be it would be cool to do some more experience with it but like yeah as a lot of people pointed out like you couldn't hire a contractor today to build the pyramids and right it would
(3:19:43) cost so much yeah the amount of to cut Google a picture of of one of those giant obelisks that uh on on type in Uncharted X um the one that they started Excavating that cracked they stopped yep yeah Obelisk ob-yl like 100 tons or something yeah it's insane but it's like cut with perfect precision and they get them inside of these pyramids too hmm yeah look at that one look at that one on the very top top yeah that one right there that one right there yeah that's it too thing is insane you're not doing that with copper

to keep it that straight like you'd have to have things on on like a line going back and forth mm-hmm even set up like Auto automated you know cutting systems like like Ed lead scoutman apparently had that at Coral Castle like he had this this Tower with um the electrical signals they were put through like he had all this stuff on the walls and people pointed out that those are actuators you know like you have this electromagnet you put (3:20:59) something inside of it you can have like a whole like a saw system on on automated like running by power that would just you know cut cut blocks you know you could have the way he cut the blocks he's cutting Coral so it's a big Coral bed and coral is a really soft Stone so it's really easy to cut so the way he would do it is he took like a big heavy steel door and and just rubbed it back and forth and that would cut that would cut through it over time so like that's kind of like the method he used but they said
(3:21:29) that he set up those steel doors on like these actuators and that's what that flywheel was like a electromagnetic generator and that it would create current and the sky rebuilt like a whole um if you look up Coral Castle mystery solved this guy like did a whole bunch of experiments where he showed like how he'd build like this Coral cutting automation system using these actuators that were very similar to all the stuff in in lid scowling's shop and um you know so that he used like a system of um cranes and chain hoists and other other
(3:22:04) lifting techniques to be able to lift the stones and position them and put them into place but that ultimately it was uh there was no anti-gravity technology involved in the whole magnetic current book doesn't really make much sense I've looked at that in his whole you know this whole idea that you know he was using magnetic current to somehow you know lift the stones um we've had a lot of people look into this any kind of potential coupling between electromagnetism and gravity and there doesn't seem to be one you know it
(3:22:34) doesn't seem to be like electrogravidic seems to be a misnomer it's ion wind and all the it doesn't work in a vacuum for example and um you know how do you lift physical objects non-magnetic objects with magnets it's no one's been able to do it so how do you you know what is gravity nobody knows man it's it's a mystery so I don't even know how to end a podcast like this but you already missed your flight we're like almost four hours in what we're three and a half hours in yeah is there anything we
(3:23:09) missed that we should cover hahaha look at that is there any is there anything we've covered a shitload but is it recovered a time is there anything important that we missed great I I I think we we nailed enough stuff to keep people busy for the next you know couple weeks um yeah all I really want to say is we have a lab down that we're trying to do these experiments and replicate these experiments and we're encouraging people who have information or prototypes or anything they need tested or verified
(3:23:42) you know we're trying to encourage and Foster this community to do that and be that and be the Pioneers or leaders in this field to try to if this technology does exist you know Bob Lazar did work out there for real then he there's got to be other people there's got to be other guys that were recruited into this program or other programs similar to this and if there are we want to talk to them we want to talk to them in great detail and deep detail and make sure that we're getting you know all the (3:24:11) technical intelligence that we can extract from these people and if we can't extract any then we're I'm trying to you know show people where they can get real technical intelligence and and why they shouldn't look at certain sources if they're not reliable you know so what do you think it would mean for Humanity if our government just came clean and said yes it's true Bob Lazar was telling the truth those flying saucers were real we found them in archaeological easy for you to say archaeological dig and we found a
(3:24:42) reverse reverse engineer Dome we don't know what it is from another planet and like all this stuff was just made transparent like what do you think that would mean for the for science humanity and like the evolution of our species I think I think the truth would honestly be like the best thing for us it's almost like although I don't know because it it could I don't know what that technology contains or what that file might contain so it might contain something like really bad there may be a reason they're (3:25:13) they're keeping it you know out of you know everyone's you know the public domain it might be a reason for that but at the same time it's like where is Humanity going you know where are we going right now are we gonna We either have to get off this planet or or we're gonna and if we don't get off this planet then we're eventually going to die here like we're either going to Nuke ourselves kill ourselves or an asteroid is going to wipe us out entirely so if we don't colonize the moon colonize Mars and do (3:25:44) these other things that you know Elon elon's super you know invested in this is his mission his company Mission you know how do we get to Mars how do we colonize Mars and and create a Mars colony and all this that should be our ultimate goal as become a space fairing civilization and to get off this Earth so it's either we go that direction or we we go backwards and we say screw technology we're just going to shut all technology down and we're going to go back to you know Rural serfdoms and foreign and uh you know and that's never (3:26:19) going to happen so where do we go from here there's how many options do we have we either we either leave the planet become space-faring and become you know a post-warp civilization or we die here I don't think there's any other it seems so [__] mind-boggling that we've we're still flying around on the same [__] airplanes we were back in what the 50 how long ago did we figure out commercial airplane travel was it night well commercial plane travel probably like 19 early 1930s 1940s how is it

(3:26:53) we're still flying on the same planes we were flying in the 1930s or 40s it seems like just modern technology has not evolved yeah we're working on anti-gravity in the 50s what the [__] were I mean you could you could make an argument like electric cars like we're we got computers on Wheels powered by batteries but like like Eric said you know if you look past screens really nothing else is has really changed yeah as far as energy production and you know we're still using turbines powered by Steam and that's that steam is either
(3:27:27) generated by you know nuclear heat or uh burning coil burning fossil fuels burning old dinosaur bones and um I don't know we need to get a get off and curb our addiction to fossil fuels and find a better energy sources um what those are going to be in the future is you know is death definitely an issue still up for debate and stuff but uh as far as we as this UFO issue is concerned I just think that it's created this state of uh ultimate secrecy you know surrounding this topic and a lot of other topics I think that that
(3:28:04) didn't necessarily create the state it's almost like that emerged from the Manhattan Project which was created you know out of this whole thing it it seems like it seems like it started with this whole top secret research project in the Manhattan Project you know right because it's like where'd it go from there the aliens started showing up after we blew these nukes off and right the atomic energy commission and everything is is been you know deeply tied to this Men In Black and this conspiracy to keep stuff
(3:28:34) covered up and whatnot for for years um I think that there's there's definitely more more to it um but as far as you know where we're gonna go with it it's got to be through the technology because I don't think the tech I I don't see that ever happening that the government's going to come forward and be like right we're going to admit to anything because when has that ever happen and then if they do it's like it's automatically caused to not believe whatever they said it's like so
(3:29:02) so I I don't think that that's how it's going to go I really that's why that's why we started the Apec conference and the and the and the the all propulsion and Falcon space Labs because we want to create this environment where like well we're going to force disclosure through technology so like you know if the technology exists all we have to do is is show show other people how to do it with an experiment you know you got these these these awesome YouTube channels out there that that (3:29:29) um like uh that will take this and do an experiment with it and show people how to do it and then like other people once once it's once we put a video out there with an experiment and all the details and the recipe for how to recreate it then you know other other scientists and other labs and other people can go out and produce it for themselves and I think that that will be the best man if we could create like a free energy or an anti-gravity and then just show people like well this is how you build it this (3:29:54) is how you do it um I think that that's the way forward and and and also the physics too because we go over we go over the physics and we get into the in the physics and these arguments with other physicists about what's the way to do this and how do we do it and well this will work this won't and uh coming up with those better ideas is is the way we're going to get through this and we're going to you know eliminate the noise and and get to that um that signal we're chasing after man because that's what it seems like is (3:30:27) that there's a very faint signal and there's lots of noise and lots of muddy mud in the water to to prevent us from seeing clearly through to the bottom well I'm I hope I can I'm trying to do everything I can to amplify that signal um how can people get in touch with you watch more of your videos what kind of what kind of interviews are you doing who are you what kind of people are you talking to on your on yourself I'd love to talk to Malcolm like I want to talk to anyone that wants to talk science

(3:30:53) like because because I I get real deep on science and and Technical so I want to talk to people that want to talk science and want to talk it with people on a more um intellectual level that then you know normal you know sometimes we break it down so that I like to come on podcasts like this and and try to explain this really complex technology at a Layman level so that more people can learn about it and know about it but at the same time I want to work with those scientists at that next level to try to produce it and (3:31:23) then and then know how to share that information and and whatnot with everyone so yeah it's I think it's only the start and I think that uh what we're going to be doing in the next you know 10 to 20 years as far as this technology and and in this field I think we're going to see some pretty amazing stuff like you've already seen some really cool [__] on them yeah today so one thing I forgot to ask you about actually how put off we didn't talk about him yeah we talked about him briefly off the podcast and (3:31:55) you kind of blew my my mind a little bit Hal's interesting you got I don't know where he like started with all this but I know he like was an SRI International it's a Stanford Research Institute and they were like uh not really affiliated with Stanford but uh I think it was like a CIA run organization or something that did a lot of research into weird and paranormal stuff they were you know investigating Yuri Geller at one point in time then he was also in if you read the Jim Mars book Psy spies about the whole Men
(3:32:26) Who Stare at Goats was based on that whole story and um this Army psychological warfare operations center that they had set up and they were running experiments with you know mind control all the remote viewing stuff again I don't think there's any evidence for remote viewing uh I don't believe in remote viewing I think it's um I think it was put out a study that was done by the CIA into the possibility of whether this worked or not I think it failed and uh when they some other documents leaked or someone (3:33:04) found out about it they put out some other studies like that project Stargate stuff you know to suggest that it was real and that the CIA confirmed that you know it did exist and that they use it and it was it was real and all this stuff and I think I laugh at that you know people like oh how can how can the CIA confirm that you know we have remote viewing and people still not be paying attention I was like well it's kind of like you know when all those CIA directors and stuff stepped up to confirm that the hunter Biden laptop was
(3:34:26) and that accurate then that's all we'd be doing you know we wouldn't even we wouldn't worry about you know hiring Espionage and and how you know people that hack sources and and these prostitutes that that go and sleep with people and for for secrets and stuff like that we wouldn't have to do any of that if we could just you know use super power super soldiers to look in people's minds of course that's my whole take on that I don't I don't believe I don't buy in it for a second and I think that they did a

(3:34:54) lot of research in in it just to see if it was real or not and then afterwards of course that you know they're gonna say that it was real because why not and how you should be a Scientologist too didn't he yeah he was he was big in the Scientology too um he's an interesting guy but he also like the some of the stuff from the 80s and 90s is interesting because he talks about a major breakthrough that happened around 1984-85 and um in one of these interviews where he's talking about the polarizable
(3:35:24) vacuum one of the early ones from the 90s he's talking about the first stuff on that polarizable vacuum theory of general relativity so it's a it's a wave saying well relativity only works if you know the speed of light's only the speed of light because of the permittivity and permeability of free space these two magnetic and and electric constants that govern space time and if we can locally affect those then we might be able to change the speed of light and therefore change the laws of you know relativity
(3:35:52) um at least locally or in other ways so that's this whole idea they can polarize the vacuum is one way if they thought about doing it again that's that's what I'm talking about with these polaraton condensates these condensates that they're polarizing the vacuum with and um you know we keep this polarizable vacuum approach you change the local uh refractive and index of space-time and much like we're warping you know the Mirage effect warped that uh the photons and light energy around objects we could
(3:36:21) potentially warp gravity around objects by using a similar a similar method methodology or similar physics and that's you know put off's greatest you know work that I've seen in the field is is that stuff he put out and I'm not sure not sure if that was entirely 100 percent you know him and his ideas because it seems like a lot of that stuff you know Bernard he he publishes a lot with some of these other authors like Bernard haish the Caltech senior staff physicists from Lockheed Martin who I mentioned you know he wrote
(3:36:54) a lot of papers with Hal put off and I think that they shared a lot of research and ideas on inertia and the Zero Point Energy field and and how gravity and mass and inertia come to be from the quantum vacuum and um yeah I think that some of his his research into that is is super um deep and fascinating but I also think that you know like why isn't he talking more about that he'd mentioned that meta material and some of the the aspects about that but that's about as far as you know he went with ttsa and the (3:37:26) science division is is and as far as they Declassified this it's like he doesn't even talk about it he's never interviewed or really gotten deep into it even that you know I watched the one he did with Eric wines yeah Jesse Michael's Channel and stuff and even that I'm like man you know like they could get so much deeper on this than they did Eric was being very polite with him during the interview I mean he was asking him about like is there is there an operation designed to wield stigma
(3:37:56) yeah that was a great interview man I just like that's that's those are the conversations I I really really like and I would love to have been a part of it or got to ask some of my own questions and got in there because that's just yeah I wish how putoff would would talk to more people like me at least and do that more publicly and stuff that would be cool because um and that that light experiment he was talking about in the 80s that breakthrough was uh squeezed light you know they squeeze light and (3:38:23) that's what they use in ligo for the detectors to detect gravitate gravity waves in ligo and uh one of the theories in physics is that if you can build a detector you can build a transmitter so that may be the transmission and the signals might have something to do with this these squeezed lights so they squeeze coherent States and I pointed out what is a squeeze State well it's um you take Heisenberg's uncertainty principle and then you squeeze one of the parameters so like you can only know the position or the momentum of an
(3:38:54) object Quantum mechanically it's within a degree of H bar over two Pi this Quantum limit um of of what actuality is so if you were to squeeze one of those parameters like say the the position or the momentum the other one will jump instantaneously to conserve this Heisenberg certainty relation so you could potentially create instantaneous you know spikes and momentum if you if you squeeze that position state or or changes in its position if you squeeze its momentum state in the right way and so there might be some you know deeper (3:39:26) quantum mechanics involved in that that is related to this these polarathon con these again these light these trap systems of light and how we can squeeze those systems of light to get them to you know to do things physically that they you know ordinarily wouldn't um and I think that's a lot of interesting physics there and I'm hoping that you know the next breakthrough happens in my lifetime that I get to see it and that I you know maybe someone who is part of it is got got into the research because they heard about it you

(3:40:00) know through this you know because it's out there it's being done Hal putoff worked on this stuff you know and um I just wish that he talked about it more or that it was explored more and I think you know maybe the reasons are they because they're afraid of you know who might get this technology or how quickly it advances or develops um but I'm afraid of what might happen if it doesn't develop quickly enough uh also you know and also they talk about this it's a it's a playing Ground field you know leveler
(3:40:32) you have this technology it's it's going to make us all gods kind of essentially so we're going to have to humanity is going to have to go through this process of growing up and and right it's it's kind of like humanity is is we're hitting puberty or adulthood you know this this we're you know we have to give away our childlike ways and realize we're part of a much bigger Universe a much bigger Cosmos if if these Technologies do exist and if we're going to wield them and utilize them we need
(3:41:01) to you know evolve not just technologically but spiritually as well to to so that we don't destroy everything once we have the power to wield that you know ability you know no that's a great [__] way to end this thing man thank you so much for doing this um dude thanks for having me man and like my pleasure bro missed my plane I'm gonna yeah we miss your flight but we'll book you a new flight um you gotta get someone on here to debate me and have me come back on again sometime man this will be awesome I'm
(3:41:32) 100 gonna have you back on um there's no question about that uh you completely just blew my mind I'm gonna have to watch this back like three or four times to really grasp it but um so again tell people where they can find your more your work your videos the talks that you're doing so I'm alien scientist on YouTube and uh my email is the alien scientistoneword gmail.
(3:41:56) com and if you want links or sources for anything I discussed or more information or want to share something or anything drop me an email send me a line and uh I'm alien underbar scientist on Twitter and uh subscribe to me on there and I'm working on a rumble and an odyssey account to back up some of my videos and stuff but I haven't quite got that set up yet so um thank you again man I'll link all your I'll link all your stuff below so people can look at it and check it out thanks man yeah feel free to contact me
(3:42:23) and uh you know I I got sources and papers for days if you want to get into this you'll be I'll keep you busy for the next four years cool all right dude thanks again and uh good night world sleep tight

The UFO Reporter Part 1: The Files of George Knapp | NewsNation Prime - YouTube

Transcript:
(00:00) Ask their doctor Chairman, ranking members and congressmen, thank you. I'm happy to be here. This is an important issue and I'm grateful for your time. My name is David Charles Grusch. I was an intelligence officer for 14 years. In July 2023, a bombshell congressional hearing made waves around the world.
(00:24) I was informed in the course of my official UAP crash retrieval and reverse engineering program. But one investigative journalist has been sounding the alarm on UFO secrets for decades. I think it is a hugely significant moment, and I never thought I would see it in my lifetime. George Knapp joins us now with UFOs, the best evidence, George.
(00:46) There are many unanswered Speculation about some long standing government cover up. Is tough for many people to swallow. You got photos, you got movie footage, you got video. There is some kind of a phenomenon here that can just be written off. I've always approached it as a news story. It's not my religion.
(01:03) It's not a belief. I don't know what to believe even now. Now NewsNation is bringing you unprecedented access to the files of George Knapp. I have secret stashes of files and things all over the station. Mountains of evidence compiled from the government's own files. No one who knew Area 51 from the inside ever talked publicly.

(01:25) Well, there's several. Actually, nine flying saucers. They have between 30 and 50 alien bodies. The government has been telling us for years that they're not real and how his life's work still influences the conversations on UFOs. It would be the biggest story in history. 36 years later, I'm still trying to figure it out.
(01:49) We're in Vegas. We're on the strip. We're on our way to meet George. I. He's finally agreed to meet with us. It took a long time because he's very busy. He says he gets multiple interview requests per day, but he's finally going to sit dowown with us at the TV station where he's worked for decades.
(02:13) So this has been my office. Amazingly, they've let me keep it all these years and I have secret and things all over the station because I'm a packrat. I keep everything. This is where a lot of the a lot of the stories that we did were created. All these things that have come out over the last couple of years started right here.
(02:37) What brought you to Vegas? I flipped a coin. I was living in Northern California. I had been the debate coach at UC Berkeley. I was tired of being broke. You know, I knew I had to do something. And I met these crazy bartenders from Las Vegas and they told me about the town. They said, hey, you can write, youre a speaker We know a guy on television.
(02:57) You can get a job there. So I moved here. We've done so many stories. You know, when I moved to Las Vegas, I didn't know there was an Area 51. I didn't know there was a Nevada test site, the most nuked place in the world. This is the center, the heart of the nuclear testing, where all these all these big holes that caused by nuclear bombs and those bombs became tourist attractions by themselves.
(03:16) But all those brainiacs and scientists and engineers who amassed in Las Vegas at the same time the mob was here and showgirls. It was a really interesting historical time. The wide variety and array of top name entertainment is really what sets Las Vegas apart from anywhere else. I met this bartender who was a mob guy, and he said, You want to drive a cab? in the history of the world.
(03:40) I didn't know where anything was. And during the same time, KLVX hired me as a part time production assistant. At night when I finished the cab driving shift. I go over to this nightclub, which was called The Oz, and all the Mob guys were there. All the mob guys from the movie Casino would be there on a regular basis and I got to know him.
(04:00) Back to KLVX, I would toil there and do whatever jobs they asked about. Two months later, their anchorman quit and they had open auditions to be the anchor of their newscast. I applied and I got it. And suddenly, less than a year in Las Vegas, I'm anchoring two newscasts. It was crazy. Can never happen again.
(04:17) And within a year of doing that, KLAS, Bob Stoldal and a guy named Ned Day took notice of me, invited me to come over. And Ive been here ever since. And in those days, we all did mob stories. Like it or not, organized crime is part of our city's heritage. Mob money and mafia muscle put Las Vegas on the map.
(04:36) There was so much going on. Every day was a bust, a gaming control board hearing, a trial. There was always something going on because it was the start of the push to get rid of them. Commission has issued an emergency order pursuant to Nevada law, effective immediately upon service suspending the license of the Aladdin Hotel.
(04:55) And of course, because I already knew these guys, to law enforcement, but I could talk to the mob guys. And it was really helpful to me in those formative days. Again, like before the Internet was big. I mean, was it all just files on paper? Sure. These are mostly crime stories. Cold case, murder. Would you do a file for every story? Or, what was your system? Yeah.
(05:16) People would mail you stuff or I mean, people would mail me stuff. Almost every day people send me a little stuff and make me homemade saucers out of tinfoil. That's the stickers we hadn't made up when Mystery Wire was first prind in my craggy old face there. This was sort of my little nerve center for a long time.
(05:34) So you were a popular news anchor, Popular investigative reporter. How did this UFO thing suddenly come into your life? It was really a quirk. Ned Day and Bob Stoldal had broken a really big national story. They had information about a secret plane out in the Nevada desert, and it was invisible to radar. That's what our sources had said.
(05:54) George Knapp source was this man, John Lear, famed aviator, son of the founder of the Learjet, and soon to be influential in the conversation on UFOs. Thanks for being here. Okay, George. To begin with, you're a pilot, 17 different world speed records at one time or another. You're a member of the famous Lear family that all Nevadans are pretty much familiar with.

(06:26) His father had and he had a passion for secret planes. So he and a group of people, they call them the interceptors, would go out into the Nevada desert and would sit outside of Area 51, the Nevada test site, to see what was flying around in the sky. You don't sound like the kind of guy who would get hooked up in something that a lot of people would say is a bunch of nonsense.
(06:47) No, it's just by coincidence that I got really interested this about two years ago. My father saw a UFO, and my brother did. And one day John Lear walks into the news station, and this is in 1987 with a stack of documents, UFO documents, and he plops them on Ned's desk and he says, Ned, this is the biggest story you will ever cover in your life.
(07:07) It's about a cover up of massive proportions. You're going to become famous. You got to do this story, he pushes the documents over and Ned starts reading them and he pushes the pile back and he tells Lear, If this was true, this UFO cover up, then Id already know about it, he says.
(07:24) I'm eavesdropping, as I tend to do. And I said, Mr. Lear, let me take a look at that stuff. So I read through it, and at the time I produced a little talk show, a half hour public affairs show called On the Record. and welcome to On the Record. And it would air on Saturday or Sunday morning at six or 7:00. And I said, John, you want to do this show? And I put him on and I just let him go.
(07:48) I'll give you the bottom line. Im not trying to sell it. I want to hear your thesis. I'm not trying to sell a book and I'm not trying to promote a lecture. This is based on what I've come across after intense and I have found out that the government has retrieved between ten and 15 actual flying saucers, three of which been in perfect condition, one of which they tried to fly.
(08:09) They have between 30 and 50 alien bodies in cryogenic storage. We even have the name of the person whose job to the heads of state and the people who are authorized to see them. They represent at least five different civilizations. to your antidepressant.
(10:04) Welcome back. UFOs. Are they real? We're talking with John Lear on the subject. The most commonly described alien is about three and a half feet tall and is wearing a silvery space suit or coveralls. I can see the expressions on my face. Is this for real? Is this guy making this stuff up? Hes nuts. I'm not making this up.
(10:21) This is Air Force, you can pick out an Air Force physics book and read this stuff. And at the end of the chapter, they go on to say, This leads us to believe in the unpleasant possibility of alien visitors to our planet, or at least of alien controlled UFOs. Now, the picture that we have of the of the big head that the Air Force describes.
(11:04) The story made headlines around the world, but hours later, higher ups said no. It was a weather balloon. Pieces of the balloon were shown to reporters. Years later, the officer who first visited the crash site, Major Jesse Marcel, confided that the weather balloon story was a cover up. One thing that was certain of being familiar with all our activities that it was not a weather balloon, nor an aircraft, nor a missile.
(11:28) It was something else which we didn't know what it was. What was shown to reporters wasn't what he found. The newsmen saw very little of the material, very small portion of it, and none of the important thingsgs like these uh, that have these hieroglyphics or markings on it. And when the General ce in, he told me not to say anything that he would handle it.
(11:49) Since Marcel's admission, scores of other witnesses have also surfaced. And one of the surgeons that was responsible for the autopsy drew that picture. This is an autopsy report. And you said the government goes to great lengths, the Air Force in particular, to discredit this kind of stuff. Where did this come from? How did you get that? That came from the private collection of Leonard Stringfield, who was one of the premiere researchers.
(12:10) He worked for the Air Force in the early fifties in a secret project reporting UFOs. Then, as a civilian, he continued his private research. And this is out of his collection. You think maybe, it's a top secret area, if the Air Force actually does have them, maybe they got them here. I'm certain they do. Up at the test site.

(12:34) There's a report that of the three in perfectly good condition, at least one is up at the test site and has flown and one was being flown as of 1981. By us? By us. We mentioned at the top of the show that perhaps a breakthrough might be coming that some of these people from MJ 12 or from the Project Blue Book, who were in on the government's research.
(12:59) and saw some of the stuff might be ready to talk. We got about a minute left. Why don't you tell me about that. It's our information that MJ 12 wants to release it. Part of it doesn't. We're hoping that we can do this. But of course, as researchers, we're not aware of all the ramifications. We just know of what we're looking at.
(13:19) So we would like to see them release it, but we really don't know if they are. Okay. John Lear, it's been very interesting. You keep us posted. Sure will. Thank you, we'll see you next week with more of On the Record. And as soon as that aired, I started getting calls and it didn't stop. What was the deal with that guy? Is that for real? Do you have any more information? Are you going to do that again? I realize this topic touches the pulse of the public in a way that I did not understand and did not appreciate (13:49) at the time. I had him back on again the following year and in between I started reading about UFOs just trying to separate wheat from chaff. It's a gigantic learning curve and figuring out what makes sense and what's real is really hard. So I tried to educate myself and get ready for that next Lear appearance, and the response from the public was even bigger.
(14:07) Now, on April 25th, 1964 was the first official communication between our government and the aliens. Three saucers landed It was filmed by five high speed cameras, 68,000 feet of film. The reason we know this is because in 1972, when they were going to release the first information about UFOs to the public, a very knowledgeable writer whose name was Robert Emenegger was asked by the agency to write a documentary, and they were going to release this thing.
(14:39) And we had the whole history of the UFOs. In the last part of the documentary was the the footage of the saucer landing in 1973 when they were ready to go. We had Watergate and they were faced with two problems. Number one is they didn't think the public could handle two traumatic experiences at the same time.
(14:56) And number two, they thought that the public would perceive these this picture of aliens and spacecraft as a ploy by Nixon to divert the attention from Watergate. The inevitable result of these charges questions about the integrity of the White House itself. So they shelved it. The documentary It was narrated by Rod Serling.
(15:19) But instead of the real footage, they had drawings of these flying saucers landing. And they said, Rod Serling says, let's look at an incident that might happen in the future, or perhaps could have happened already. According to John Lear, of real UFO footage that aired in the documentary. You believe in part that the movies E.T.
(15:49) , Close Encounters of the Third Kind, were not entirely just the creative products of some Hollywood director that maybe there's more to that. Why don't you explain? They were carefully guided by representatives from MJ-12. Who is this organization that is in charge of the cover up in order to get us ready for the release of the information that there are indeed aliens.
(16:12) So to prepare us, that the idea of benevolent aliens from outer space are going to help us. Unfortunately, they're not. They're not so benevolent. So they made probably one of the most disastrous mistakes when E.T. was put out at that time was before we discovered what I call the double cross or the grand deception.
(16:33) And they were trying to get us used to the benevolent little creatures. But that isn't the case. I had him on a third time in 1988, and he hinted at the time that he met this guy who was trying to get hired at this place out in the Nevada desert and that he thought it was going to be a really big deal. John Lear's new friend not only knew what was going on out there, he knew when Good evening. This is John Lear.
(16:59) In March 1989, he accompanied a small group to the outskirts of Area 51 three Wednesday nights in a row, they watched a glowing disc rise In the spring of 1989, (18:17) I'm anchoring the 5:00 news We would have a five minute nightly interview segment, a live interview with somebody on the set. Our guest on this particular day I'm thinking, who could we get to fill this? I called up John Lear. I said, you said you had a guy who was going to work out there and maybe work on flying saucers in the desert.

(18:35) Can we talk to him? We put a silhouette, we created a silhouette interview. He used a pseudonym, and out this story comes. Well, there's several, uh, actually nine, uh, flying saucers, flying disks that are out there of extraterrestrial origin. And they're basically being Uh, some are well, in various stages of completion, built from other parts, and they're being test flown and, uh, uh, basically just analyzed.
(19:09) You say there's nine saucers. How are those tests going? Uh, as far as what? Uh, as far as whether they're successful and that sort of thing? Oh, well, some of them are 100% intact and operate perfectly. Uh, the other ones are being taken apart. I was involved mainly in propulsion and the power source. Basically, as far as I can remember, about half of them do operate and the other half are just been torn down, uh, basically to analyze the components going Where did we get these saucers? How did they come into (19:43) the hands of the government? I haven't the slightest idea. the information is very compartmentalized, and, uh, I was only allowed information that pertained particularly to what I was involved in. But, I mean, couldn't Well, there's several, um, (23:48) actually nine, uh, flying saucers, flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin. And he tells this story. And out in the desert, into the side of a mountain, disguised it to look like desert so it couldn be seen from the sky. And in that facility he said, were these nine hangars built side by side.
(24:09) And each one of those hangars that came from somewhere else. So how do you know they're not ours? He said, well, this is technology that we do not have. Area 51, a now well-known military base that is synonymous with UFOs, But it's still shrouded in mystery to this day, with the exception of what The military now admits what the world already knew.
(24:33) It has a, quote, operating location near Groom Lake. Buthe Pentagon says By denying the base has a name, the Defense Department hoped to forestall a lawsuit filed on behalf of base workers, workers who claim they werere exposed to toxic chemicals while working at Groom Lake. Despite official denials, the common name for the base has always been Area 51.
(24:54) We recently found this 1967 government map, which lists that name. Subsequent maps left the name blank. To those who suggest that Area 51 has been ut down or moved somewhere else. There are a few points that are kind of tough to explain. For example, the bus filled with employees that comes in and out of the base several times each day.
(25:15) It's still there. All right. Still closely guarded, but not much of a secret 51 up there. Oh, is it? Yeah, that's Groom Lake. That's Papoose Lake. So where is, like, where is it? Can you see it on a map at all? Any of the buildings or is this all pre No. some of that right there. Yeah. And that's the runway.
(25:33) And then those are some of the buildings from when that photo was taken. There is an entrance to Area 51 from here, to do stories on other matters. And the Department of Energy Staff is always funny. They would just say, just don't look that way, Just look this way. And Im like, of course I looked that way. Area 51 is about 150 miles outside of Las Vegas.
(26:02) We're on our way there now on a highway actually called the Extraterrestrial Highway. And this is a route that George has taken dozens and dozens of times over his career. It's not exactly an easy place to find. You can't just Google Area 51 and figure out where the entrances are. You sort of have to know what to look for.
(26:37) Okay, so we made it out It is so eerie and quiet out here. We had to go down this long, windy dirt road off the main drag, the extraterrestrial highway to get out here to the entrance. You really cannot get very close. Behind me, about a quarter of a mile is one of the guarded entrances. There's barbed wire, there's armed guards there.
(26:59) We're pretty sure that they definitely know we're here. Trip after trip through the Nevada desert, George broadcasted the closest photos we've ever seen of Area 51. shown in public, are about as close as anyone will ever come to seeing what the place looks like again. The dry bed of Groom Lake, a three mile long runway, and some highly sophisticated radar and detection equipment.
(27:25) It's been known by many names over the years Dreamland, the ranch, If ever there was a place to test a secret new technology, this is it. And that's exactly what's been done here for decades. Area 51 is where Francis Gary Powers and the other U-2 pilots were trained in the fifties and where the U-2 itself was developed.
(27:45) The SR-71 spy planes that spotted Soviet missiles in Cuba in the early sixties were also developed at 51. 51 is where stealth technology was nurtured, where Star Wars devices are still tested, and where all manner of C.I.A. and refined. The CIA built it for use in the U-2 program. This is rare footage taken from Groom Lake of some early tests.

(28:08) Current warning signs indicate it's an Air Force facility, but all branches of the military have used it, along with most major defense contractors. The common thread has always been EG&G, which has had the contract to operate the facility since the beginning. What goes on there today? Plenty.
(28:26) Highly placed sources say the base employs about 1800 people, one of their main missions is to evaluate Russian defense systems, equipment that's in the hands of unfriendly nations like Iran and Iraq. Another program at 51 isn't far along. As for flying saucers, the military admits it has built these unmanned craft and may not be a coincidence that the Air Force's only unmanned aerial vehicle squadron is based at Nellis.
(28:52) Whatever is flying around out there still attracts visitors from all over the world. It's still newsworthy in Europe? Area 51 is well known and this is all closed off, this whole area. Yeah, it's a secure facility. I mean, they have tours out there, but it kind of hard to get in there now. Do people live out there at all? Or do they all commute? They have a little town where people will stay for a short period of time.
(29:22) Our report set off a UFO stampede that is yeyet to dimish. Tens of thousands of people have trekked into the desert hoping to see a UFO, inspiring no one who knew Area 51 from (34:30) the inside ever talked publicly about the saucer story. Well, there's several, uh, actually, nine, uh. Flying saucers. Flying discs, that are out there of extraterrestrial origin. He tells me this story. I mean, we couldn't get away with it now. We'd done no vetting at all. I get pulled off the set and pulled into the news director's office.
(34:52) The general manager comes back. What the hell was that? Is this for real? What did you just do? I said, look, I don't know if it's real. I have no idea. We just wanted to do an interview. But I'm going to find out. The live interview with the shadowy Dennis drew international attention. Theres actually nine, uh, flying saucers.
(35:13) Flying discs. Despite numerous inquiries and feelers, Dennis has remained anonymous until now. I, arranged to meet this guy. We went up to Lear's house. It was sort of an uncomfortable situation in the beginning because Lear wanted to control the whole thing. He wouldn't tell us the guy's name, but the guy had signed a guest book at the entrance to Lear's home.
(35:35) So I already saw his name, I knew what it was. His real name is Robert Lazar. A young scientist with eclectic interests. The choice of Dennis was an inside joke. He says that's the name of his superior at Groom Lake. It wasn't a joke to Dennis. He called right after he said, "Do you have any idea what we're going to do to you now? " And I said, well, no.
(35:54) And he hung up the phone. Lazars story is, by any standards, fantastic. He says he's telling it in order to protect himself. We go in there and we start talking to the guy who turned out to be Bob Lazar. He told us his life story, where he'd gone to school, where he'd worked before, and some of what he had seen out there.
(36:10) He says he was hired to work at an area called S-4, which is a few miles south of Groom Lake. At S-4 he says, are flying saucers, antimatter reactors examples, technology that are seemingly beyond human capabilities. Right. This this came from somewhere else. I mean, as bizarre as that is to believe. But I mean, it's there and I saw it.
(36:33) the art is and in physics and it can be done. After 3 or 4 hours of grilling him, we look at each other and go, holy crap, what if this is real? What if this is true? This would be the biggest story in history. But it's also perilous for us. If we go after it and it blows up in our face, it could destroy not only my reputation and his, but that of KLAS too.
(36:54) Checking out Lazar credentials proved to be a difficult task. He says he earned degrees in physics and electronics, but the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him. He also said he worked as a physicist at Los Alamos National Lab, where he experimented with one of the world's accelerators, a half-mile long behemoth capable of generating 700 million volts.
(37:17) Los Alamos officials told us they had no records of a Robert Lazar ever working there. They were either mistaken or were lying. A 1982 phone book from the lab lists Lazar right there, among the other scientists and technicians. Alamos newspaper profiled Lazar and his interest in jet cars. It, too, mentioned his employment at the lab as a physicist.

(37:39) We called Los Alamos again. An exasperated official told us he still had no records on Lazar. EG&G, which is where Lazar says he was interviewed for the job at S-4, also has no records. It's as if someone has made him disappear. Well, they're trying to make me a non-person. Explain. You called, where? Well, the schools that I went to, the hospital that was born at, past job.
(38:02) And essentially nothing comes up with my name. He smiles, but out of futility, knowing the whole thing must sound ridiculous. I don't think there's any secret flying saucers at Area 51. I suspect that there was something like that out there at one point because of people that I know have seen it. So where would they be now? Well, either they moved them further out into the Nevada test site.
(38:31) If you're out there at night, you will see these pockets of light that pop up in the darkness at places that do not exist. Something's out there. After the sun goes down, it is a different vibe out here. It's almost totally pitch black. If we switch to the night vision, you can. You can see better out here.
(38:48) I've never really experienced anything quite like it. There's no city lights. The military base Area 51 is behind me. It's just wide open. The noises are interesting because it's obviously nature noises. You can hear the crickets. But then we've also heard military aircraft for the last probably hour or so.
(39:14) Obviously doing some kind of training missions. You can hear the planes flying overhead. You can't always see them. Sometimes there's flashing lights, sometimes there's not. Theres it moving, right there, to the left, See it on the left side of the frame? And there's also been some other lights that have sort of popped up over the mountains and also in the brush, That light just turned off again.
(40:06) Oh, there's a plane. It's true. What I have seen is true. I don't know about the big story, where they came from, what they're like. And, and uh, but certainly these crafts came from another and not just another planet, another solar system entirely, extremely far away. And they're here. What we've learned this week is that the government has lied information, has spied on UFO organizations, and has discredited UFO witnesses.
(40:35) Now, none of this proves that UFOs are real, but it does indicate a disturbing level of interest, government interest in the subject. If the government won't tell us what it knows. What about science? Well, science is supposed to stand for the investigation of the unexplained, of the uninvestigated. And so far, science has avoided the subject like a plague.
(40:54) It's like what Roy Neary, the main character in the film Close Encounters, had to say. is, what's going on?

Transcript:
(00:00) Yeah man, one of the things that I'm kind of excited about is I talk a lot to the typical media that knows the very simplified version of what's been going on with UFO mystery, but I also talk a lot with people who are just way into UFOs. I appreciate that you're neither of those and we might have a different conversation.
(00:22) So yeah, anything you want to talk about that is interest to you and your audience is fine with me. Recently, I had the pleasure of speaking with Jeremy Corbell, a documentary filmmaker who specializes in what he calls the extraordinary. So UFOs, aliens and the like, it might seem like a departure from the academic chaparral that you're used to from this channel.
(00:45) But keep in mind that the goal has always been to give you in depth analyses on topics that are abstract in such a way that you can't find it pretty much anywhere else because I believe you're far smarter than other podcasts give you credit for and that if you don't understand some terminology or some mathematical concept, it's just a Google search away.
(01:07) You can learn it if you want to put the time in. Alternatively, you can go to the subreddit, a new one which is recently launched for this channel called r slash theories of everything dedicated to expositing on theories of everything this level of somewhat recondite detail is necessary if we want to get to the bottom of the fundamental laws of physics rather than stay at the surface.

(01:28) Okay, so how does this all relate to Jeremy Corbell? Recall that I'm of the opinion that a large breakthrough is necessary in physics, and I have a feeling it's going to come from the outside though I can't prejudice myself as to where the signal or series of signals will come from the ordinary physics community draws the line at consciousness, you know this, the ordinary member of the public draws the line at the supernatural or the paranormal. Now I don't draw those lines.
(01:53) I find it dubious and pretty much each direction, whether consciousness is fundamental or ontologically primitive, or whether aliens exist or not. I'm unconvinced in each direction. However, I'm still willing to explore it. If aliens do exist, then that means there's new physics. See, I'm, I don't see technological applications like some of the engineers I happen to be theoretically trained.
(02:14) So I see, or at least I perceive potential new physics, and that excites me. Now I have some issues with the way that gravity wave amplification is used, because I don't see that as a coherent concept. I don't understand it unless I see the equations. It's ill-defined to me.
(02:32) I also don't like the use of the word dimension to speak about alternate realities, because to me the word dimension is reserved for a degree of freedom. I also have a pet peeve of people saying space and time. There is no space and time. There's only space time, not even a hyphen. It's technically space time. It's a four dimensional manifold. It's one object.
(02:54) There's no such thing as separate space. There's no such thing as separate time. Either way, if during the interview, you see me somewhat subdued or quiet during those parts, it's because inside my head, I'm making a Wu Yang dictionary like substitution. And I didn't see the need to correct it in real time, because it doesn't change much of the underlying meaning.
(03:13) And there's no sense slowing down the conversation for what will be perceived as pedantry. Jeremy Corbell is undaunted and has my respect and commendations. I'm lucky because this might be one of the most sobering and enlightening videos with him. Please support at patreon.com slash Curt Jaimungal if you'd like to see more videos like this because right now I'm doing it pretty much pro bono.
(03:38) And it takes quite a bit of time to do the preparation since the goal is to investigate with each guest at a more benthic level, deeper and more academic, let's say then any other interview with them. Enjoy. I'm here with Jeremy Corbell. Thank you, Jeremy. I appreciate you coming on. Thanks for having me on Curt. You know, you and me are similar in that we're filmmakers.
(04:04) We're both one man bands in that I write, direct, edit, produce, shoot my own films. How about yourself? Yeah, that's the only way I know how I'd love to work with other people. I just haven't gotten there yet. So I do everything on my own.
(04:23) Right? What's the thought process that you go through to select the topics for your films? Yeah, well, I, you know, the premise for each film that I've put out, I've done a lot of investigations, I haven't made films on each investigation. The premise has always been, can I move the ball forward? Can I bring something to light, show it in a way that hasn't been done before, that will alter the narrative that will bring new information.
(04:52) And so that's kind of been my passion, in one sense is that I, I would like to uplift the visual aesthetic on this topic that I love, which is UFOs and the mysterious and the unknown, but that I can also move the ball forward. So that's kind of been my two prong approach. I mean, I'm not a, I didn't know if I was a filmmaker, I'd never made films before I got I lucked out, I put one out on Netflix called Patient 17. It was my first film ever that I submitted and got picked up.
(05:22) But with all of my films, what you'll see is that I'm trying to humanize the individuals who I'm speaking with, there's no script, in the standard sense. They're long form investigative documentaries, where I embed myself in people's lives and their belief systems, their extraordinary beliefs. I'm not choosing sides and saying someone should believe this, or someone should believe that.
(05:45) I always leave it open to the viewer and I show it just as it is. This is what happened. This is what's going on. You need to decide for yourself reality. And so I'm not preaching to anybody in my films. The world is mysterious. I have more questions than answers. So have you always been interested in the paranormal? Yeah, I don't, I'm kind of allergic to that word because I don't know what normal is.
(06:13) Let's just use what I mean is what the general public will call paranormal. Yeah, it's just that I'd like to kind of combat that idea that things are considered paranormal, like germs were considered at one time magical. And it's just because we didn't understand them. And so I think that we have a lot of catching up to do. These mysteries exist. These things occur.

(06:39) And putting your head in the sand is not going to do anything. So getting to understand the way that people engage what I call the phenomenon, which includes the paranormal, but is also related to UFOs. It's important that we understand that we might not understand it all yet. And so that's the kind of premise of my series Extraordinary Beliefs and all the films is, you know, let's talk about these things.
(07:07) For people who are watching who are my audience, my usual audience, it might seem like a departure this interview, because I usually talk to professors of physics and so on. Yeah. And the channel is called theories of everything. So the goal is to explicate the current theories of everything as well as to generate my own. And it's somewhat of a process because I'm taking input from the audience.
(07:27) There's some people with, let's say, outrageous theories, that are theories that are considered to be non rigorous. And I welcome them unlike most people. And the reason is that I think that the innovation is going to come from the fringe rather than the center. And I could be wrong about that. But that's my intuition. So why am I interviewing Jeremy? Why am I interviewing you? One of the reasons is that what's held physics back for the past 40 years is a paucity of data. So a lack of data.
(07:59) And one of the reasons for that is it's high energy physics is it's extremely expensive. When I look at someone like Bob Lazar, and Bob Lazar, I would think of him more as a, an extremely sophisticated engineer, rather than a theoretical physicist. And I think that he considers himself to be an engineer, but I could be wrong.
(08:18) Either way, he looks at it as technology and many and many of the interviews with UFOs, they talk about technology technology. Now, I see it from a theoretical physics standpoint, I don't see technology, I see new fundamental physics. And I'm curious, I'm so curious if any of this is true. Well, there's breakthroughs for a potential theory of everything.
(08:36) For example, there's something called so 10, which is an flipped so 10, which is a unification of the weak and electromagnetic and strong force, but it doesn't incorporate gravity. It's pretty good theory. But I heard Lazar refer to the strong forces gravity number two, something like that. Now that like I would, I would love to explore but either way, I think that you have some, it might not be mathematical, but you have some ideas as to what possible new technologies, new physics exist. And I just want to speculate like mad here. Yeah, the physics of it's amazing.
(09:08) But let's back way the fuck up, you know, for your audience, people might not know. So let's start with this. So my name is Jeremy Corbell. I'm a documentary filmmaker, I make, you know, investigative documentaries, I recently released one that was a Netflix smash hit went all around the world, hundreds of millions of views.
(09:30) I went on the Joe Rogan podcast three times with three different individuals that I brought with with me that all relate to this topic of UFOs. The man you mentioned Bob Lazar, in case people don't know, Bob Lazar is the man, he's the reason why the in the public consciousness, you know, about Area 51 and flying saucers. Bob Lazar is the reason for that.
(09:56) He came forward in 1989, over 30 years ago, and talked about how our government, the United States government was attempting to reverse engineer these extraterrestrial machines, machines from other worlds, and that he participated in that attempt to reverse engineer those spacecraft. People called him a fraud, a liar, they tried to dig into his personal life and, you know, decide that he's not telling us the truth about UFOs, because he ran a brothel, or, you know, all this crazy shit.
(10:25) But bottom line is, after 30 plus years, Bob Lazar's story stands true. He did exactly what he said he did. Now, people don't need to believe that, there's a much bigger picture going on here. The big picture is this, does our government, the United States government, or world governments, do they have craft from other civilizations, advanced civilizations that are technologically more advanced and operate in the realm of physics that is beyond our understanding? That's the question.
(10:55) Bob Lazar has always said, I can't prove everything in my story, but over time you'll see it's true. And the big thing for Bob was that, Bob is a scientist, so the big thing for Bob was the science and technology that's being holed back from humanity, that are represented in these craft.

(11:15) Now, we couldn't replicate them, we couldn't reproduce them significantly in any way, because the material science was the number one thing that held us back. But we did get an understanding how they operate, how they use gravity wave amplification to traverse space-time. All of this sounds like science fiction if I was talking to you five years ago, but in December of 2018, there was the announcement that the United States government had a program called AATIP, Advanced Aerospace Threat Identification Program.
(11:48) This program was tasked with identifying and tracking and trying to observe the flight characteristics and patterns of what we call UFOs, non-terrestrial vehicles. So it has been admitted that the United States military is investigating the UFO problem and that they've been doing so actively.
(12:15) There was another program called AUSAP, Advanced Aerospace Weapon Systems Application Program. This was the mother program that housed the AATIP program. New York Times came out and said these programs are real, and not only that, but we have fighter pilots like Commander David Fravor, who came forward, who chased the UFO for the United States government. I was the person that was able to get him first on record, long-form audio coming forward, also first filmed interview coming forward. I also got the guy, Chad Underwood, he is now Commander, Commander Chad Underwood.
(12:46) He's the guy that filmed the Tic Tac UFO, the now famous Tic Tac UFO. So that's kind of the brief history of what's been going on with Baba Czar and UFOs, but we're now at a place we understand how they work. It is not against our physics how they work.
(13:05) We have to reimagine what we don't understand about physics. It's gravity wave amplification. Okay, at times I'm going to slow you down or ask you to repeat because I don't know too much about, this is, I have a brief foray into the UFO phenomenon. So when you say AATIP and AUSAP and so on, I might get you to repeat them, one for our audience, but two for me to write down to ask you some more questions and to investigate later.
(13:25) I just learned about John Lear today. So I was just watching some of your, I think it was episode one about John. Yeah. I abandoned that project a while ago. I filmed with John for about eight years, seven or eight years. And he's the godfather of conspiracy. He's not the touchstone of truth that I go to about the UFO thing.
(13:45) He's wild, but as an individual, I really liked him. So I filmed with him for about seven or eight years. Right. John Lear mentioned that he saw some object on the moon. Do you recall what he's referring to? John Lear has told me a lot of things, people living on the sun, that kind of thing. I would not take anything that John Lear says as a touchstone of truth for the UFO topic.
(14:08) He is as fringe as fringe gets. I didn't document him because I believed him. I documented him because he's a character. He's the son of William P. Lear, inventor of the Learjet and the 8-track stereo and Motorola company. He's an interesting guy. Babu Zarr stands aside. Babu Zarr was an employee hired through EG&G to work at a sub-base of Area 51 called Site 4, where he was tasked specifically with the power and propulsion of these non-terrestrial craft and trying to back engineer them. Who else do you find credible? There's Babu Zarr, John Lear Null, David Fravor, (14:50) and then you mentioned the guy who actually took the video of the Tic Tac. Yeah. Who else? There's a lot of people in the UFO field, right? But there's individuals who are kind of keystones along the way. Why Commander Fravor is so credible? Because he's a trained observer. He's a fighter pilot with more hours than anybody that was out on that mission, right? And not only did he engage this Tic Tac shaped UFO that defied our known physics, its propulsion system was a reactionless system. Usually things push something out the back and they go forward. This had none of (15:26) that. It was a gravitational system. You could tell by the acceleration, the lack of the sonic boom, the instantaneous control turns and speeds. So Commander Fravor is a trained observer who came forward both in briefings to Congress, private briefings to Congress, as well as intelligence reports.
(15:48) And then publicly, once I was able to really bring him out, he is credible because of who he is. And then of course there were other witnesses and that's what makes for a good UFO case. There are other trained witnesses and we have footage of that one. It's one of the famous three videos that was released by the Pentagon showing the world public that UFOs exist.
(16:06) They're flying with impunity in our airspace and they've been here a long time. So this is not- And when you say impunity, you don't mean that they're exempt from punishment. They would try to punish them if they could. It's just that we can't do anything about it. We can't do a thing about them.

(16:25) If you look at the 1952 flyovers in Washington, DC, a very famous mass sighting that occurred on multiple weekends and all the newspapers came in- Sorry, what was that? Do you mind repeating that? It's 1952 flyover, Washington, DC. It's a mass UFO sighting that was covered on multiple weekends. We scrambled jets, fighter planes, and they literally could not catch up with these objects, with these craft.
(16:55) So when I say flying with impunity, what I mean is that there is a technology that somebody has, an aerospace technology, and that we are incapable of defense or offense when we try to compete with the maneuverability of these craft. This is something that has been occurring a long time. Additionally, there are incursions on military bases, documented incursions on nuclear bases, where these vehicles, these craft have come in and have shut down our nuclear weapons. This happened at Maelstorm Air Force Base.
(17:32) There's a guy named Robert Salas, who is the man in the Minuteman bunkers. He actually is a friend of mine, and we've gone through the case. It's now public. This is something to know, not that these things are hostile, just that they are much more technologically advanced than anything that we have. We work on reactionary propulsion systems.
(17:58) You know that? All airplanes, all aerospace, we still use the same rockets to get up out of Earth's orbit that we did 50 years ago. So this is a different technology. This represents not only a different technology, but this represents possibly a different advanced culture, and it's not something you can get around. The evidence is so weighty for so long that if people don't know about it, they haven't been paying attention.
(18:24) What do you think is the reason for the visitation? Oh, I have no idea. No idea. I could theorize all day long, man. Maybe they like our truffles. Well, here's one. Here's one reason why I used to not believe, and I'm not saying I do believe. It's just that I remain open. It's not a matter of belief, Heather. It's not a matter of belief.
(18:43) It's true whether you want to believe it or not. I mean, there's documented cases, more evidence for this than there is for most things on planet Earth. There's more incursions. There's more evidence of UFO presence than almost anything.
(18:57) There's so many cases over so much time with so many credible witnesses. Now we have film footage, radar footage. It's not a matter of belief. So why do you think that they look somewhat like us, that they're hominid, that they have two eyes, that they have two, you know, there's something called convergent evolution, but it's not as if all intelligent species must converge to be like us.
(19:17) So I'm curious, why do you think it is that they look similar to us? I don't mean to be coy, but I don't know that they do. And the reason is when you first start looking into UFOs, you get all these ideas. You're like, they must be from other planets.
(19:33) Why are they visiting here? That's like, you know, UFOs 101, the first thought you got. Then you're like, oh, they've been represented to look kind of hominid, you know, whatever, bipedal creatures. The more you look into this, the more you realize all of that is not supported with the evidence. It turns out we don't know if these craft are from other solar systems, or if it's stranger than that.
(19:58) If it's a dimensional reality, if these things are popping in and out somehow of our demand into our dimension, we don't know we are so far behind in understanding it. Certainly hard physical craft makes you think they're from other planets, for sure could be maybe they're looking at us like they would livestock, like a commodity. Maybe they have some investment in the human species for some reason.
(20:22) And this is the why they show or flex on the powers of our nuclear weapons, which they've done a lot. Additionally, the other thing that you mean when you say that, you mean that when we have done nuclear tests, the UFO sightings have increased. So there's a lot of information and evidence of the UFO phenomenon engaging our nuclear process.
(20:48) So everything from coming into very famous cases, like I mentioned before, maelstrom, maelstrom, Air Force Base, there's a UFO, a disk that came in and shot a beam of light down into the nuclear silo. And again, don't believe me, this is documented fact. This came out through FOIA, this came out through Information Acts, and it shut down our nuclear weapons. It was a display of power.
(21:14) So why are they doing that? And they're not only doing it to us, there's also documented cases in Russia at the same time, at the height of the Cold War. So obviously, there's some sort of message being sent where whoever's occupying these craft, whoever's piloting these craft, whether it be a physical being, or an artificial intelligence, whatever's piloting these vehicles, they're showing us, hey, we can shut down your nukes at any time. So I would suggest everybody look into that.

(21:45) So just look at this guy and say, oh, the crazy guy told me this, look into it. This is something that is verifiable fact. And if any, if sorry, if any of you who are listening are somewhat specialized in the UFO field, if you don't mind putting some of the sources, because I can't get to them all, that'd be great. And then I can link them in the description. Okay, continue.
(22:04) Yeah, and then I just want to touch upon what you said, because we're going through this, this zeitgeist of like, what UFOs are. So people are like, oh, they're from other planets. I am unconvinced. The more I learn, I'm unconvinced. This is a phenomenon of just other people from other star systems coming here.
(22:23) The evidence does not suggest that when you really look at the totality of the evidence. It's not just flying saucers, shaped saucers. We have all shapes and sizes of vehicles that shouldn't be existing in our skies. Again, Commander Fravor chased the Tic Tac shaped UFO. There's a very famous case called the Phoenix Lights. And this is a mass sighting of a triangular shaped craft, a mile wide.
(22:46) We don't have anything like that in our arsenal. And people that you speak with, who actually saw it, I interviewed a doctor and a lawyer, husband and wife, who saw it. And this thing came over, it touched mountain to mountain. So it was over a mile wide. And when it came over them, totally silent, it was like as if there was a bubble around them of silence, like all the crickets stopped everything.
(23:07) And they're looking at what would have been the bottom of this thing. And it looks like waving of glass, like they can see the stars through it. And there's a lot of reasons that you can see different optics when you see these craft because of how they're powered, how they distort, how they navigate is through a propulsion system based on gravity. As we know, gravity distorts time and space.
(23:29) So you can get an optical illusion just looking up at these things. Back to the beings, because this is always exciting. People will say, well, they look like us, they're bipedal. No, that's not true. There are so many cases of the grays, right? That's what you're referring to, this popularization of the gray alien. And yeah, a lot of people have seen that.
(23:50) Betty and Barney Hill were the first abduction case to identify this type of being in the pop culture. However, there's been a lot of reports of different types of operators of these craft. They look very different than that. So I can't say for sure that we're being visited by another planet.
(24:10) I can't say for sure that these things look a certain way. Again, these could be artificial cyborg intelligences that are just being controlled by a super intelligent AI. We don't know who's controlling and piloting these craft. They could be drones. When you say that it's not necessarily from outside of our solar system, then do you mean that it's us in the future? Or do you mean that it's, when you say another dimension, I'm unclear.
(24:40) So just please speculate. I'm unclear. I don't even know what another dimension means. I'm not that smart. I just know that the evidence doesn't suggest that this is just people from Zeta Reticuli star system coming in and visiting us because they like our mushrooms. I mean, I don't know. But people have theorized that these are extra temporal beings by the nature of time travel itself or by the nature of gravitational travel itself.
(25:03) You do have distortions in time and space. So some people say they're extra temporal. They're us from the future. I have no idea. The evidence doesn't suggest that to me. But the more exotic theories is this idea of extra dimensionals, that there are these kind of perforations in our reality, in our dimension, and that beings and yet craft can come through. Now, I don't know the physics of it.
(25:30) I don't know if that's true. But I do know that the study the government did on a place called Skinwalker Ranch in Utah, where a lot of these phenomena seem to express themselves, they were doing so because they saw deployment. They saw tears, what appeared like tears in the sky, and craft and beings come through.
(25:56) Now, whether you believe this or not, our government did study this ranch for many years, our Defense Intelligence Agency did. They thought it was a real threat. So my point is, I don't know. The more I learn, the less I know about UFOs. Are they just beings from another planet? Or is it stranger, like interdimensionals, extra temporals? I don't know. Have you heard any great ideas as to why they flex in isolated situations? For example, why don't they now, why don't they come to a place like New York or Toronto and show themselves if they want to show their prowess? Why is it always in places where there's lack of footage or secrecy?

(26:36) Well, we no longer have lack of footage. Lack of high resolution footage, let's say. Okay, but that's another misnomer. Because the Flirpod, the at Flirpod footage, it's not like an iPhone. Those things are targeting systems, they're weapon systems. Those are multi-million dollar camera systems.
(26:59) They're just showing you a thermal signature because they want to look for thermal signatures to see how these things are propelling. So if you had a normal camera, you'd get less information. So the footage, albeit square, black and white and grainy, gives us more information about that vehicle, the Tic Tac UFO in 2004 off of the West Coast of California than if you had a normal camera.
(27:23) But to your point, your point is, well, if they're here, why haven't they landed on the White House lawn? Why haven't they said, hey, we're here? And a lot of people over centuries have asked that question. It's like, what are these things and why aren't they presenting themselves? I would argue that they are, that they do so in a very delicate and intricate manner, that they do so to a variety of individuals throughout time.
(27:54) Obviously, if they wanted to show great power, if they wanted to show a great force, they could do so. They could shut down our nuclear weapons or turn them on. So there you go. Maybe there's a program in place. I would like to believe it's an educational program that over time we're being acclimated to this other reality. I don't know that to be true. Maybe, as I said before, there's a reason, like a prime directive, if you're a fan of Star Trek or that kind of thing, or non-interference, maybe they're just making sure we're not blowing ourselves up. I don't know. Have you explored any connections between (28:31) psychedelics and aliens? Personally, yes. I love some mushrooms. Because there are different classes. There's like the mushrooms and there's LSD, and then there's DMT, which is like psychedelic 2.0. And that one, apparently you can get to places where you can speak to other beings and other forms. And I'm curious if they're the same.
(28:55) I'm interested in the expansion of consciousness and what exists within our consciousness that is untapped. So my psychedelic experiences have been beautiful. I never have communed with the aliens or anything. I don't know if there's a direct connection. A lot of people have these great ideas that the planet was seeded from outer space on an asteroid by mushrooms to enhance Homo sapien and bring them up in intelligence.
(29:19) That's a Joe Rogan theory. I don't know. I just know that people do draw that connection in that the expanse of our consciousness seems a little bit less limited when you open these doors of perception through things like psychedelics properly used, maybe ceremonially used and not frivolously used, going to a rave or something. But I don't think they're the key.
(29:47) And I don't think they're the answer. And I think that if we were going to learn something from them about these visitors, we probably would have learned them thousands of years ago. Human beings have been doing psychedelics for thousands of years. So I wouldn't go jump and do a whole bunch of psychedelics to try to commune with the aliens. It's not going to work.
(30:02) Why do you think it is that the government released some of the videos, the TikTok video in particular? I know specifically why. They released reluctantly these videos because of public pressure, pressure on the inside and pressure on the outside. There's a number of people who worked to get these videos released.
(30:24) It's not something that the Department of Defense and the intelligence agencies freely wanted to release. Why give the public an opportunity to why give the public information about something that one, we don't know that much about. And two, we certainly cannot control. It's a needs to be perceived as a threat from a military perspective until we can identify the pilots, the purpose and intent.
(30:52) So it's not just like the government's like, oh, UFOs are real. Here you go. There's a lot of people that worked to get that information out. Remember if you're a fighter pilot and you chase one of these things and you go start talking about it, people are going to think you're not wrapped so tight and they're going to take away your wings is what they used to do. Stop you from flying. No fighter pilot wants that.
(31:13) So now they're trying to make it, there's actually new policies that have been promised to make it easier for people to report these near misses they call them, like close encounters. And if we do that, then people won't be stigmatized as much and we'll get more data. So you think it's because perhaps they want more data and they just want to destigmatize it? You know, I don't know that that's, I think they have way better technology than the civilian world. I don't think they need us anymore for UFO data. I think that they can track something, (31:46) size of a golf ball coming in from outer space. So I don't think they need more data. I think it was just public pressure. People know this stuff is real. They see it. Pilots see it. Individuals see it. I mean, it's tracked on radar systems. It's hard to continuously cover it up. You know, I want to defend you for a bit because you take a lot of flack and I feel like much of it is undeserved. We're going to get into some of the criticisms of you.

(32:16) I'm curious as to what you think about them. But the way that I view it is there are very few people with the breadth of knowledge that you have when it comes to this topic. And this topic is extremely pre-possessing. It's frightening. It's also enrapturing. And I see you like maybe George Knapp can rival you. So George Knapp is like you on Benadryl and you are like George Knapp on Ritalin.
(32:38) So I like George Knapp, at least from what I've seen of him. And I'm a fan of you. So I wanted to defend you. Guess what? What have people said? Let me know. Tell me. Well, if you look at the comments in some of the Joe Rogan interviews, actually, I don't know specifically, but what do you see as some of the best criticisms of you? And what do you see as some of the worst? Which one do you not pay attention to? I've stopped paying attention to other people's perception of me a long time ago. You know, (33:06) it's not important to my well-being. It's not important to my spiritual evolution or personal evolution. I have friends that have completely different points of view than I do. But social media really allows people to be so anonymous that they speak with authority about something that they don't have authority on.
(33:31) So, you know, yeah, man, people, you know, they hate me for my beard. They hate me for my attitude. They hate me for talking. If I say a word, you know, I shouldn't be able to say that word. So I don't really care. Sure, if I were to go in and read thousands of comments, you know, on the Joe Rogan podcast, you know, that would be the worst thing I could do in my life because it's just like people call you a shithead over and over.
(33:54) You might start believing it. But ultimately, I know who I am. And the truth is I'm a curious individual. I want to get closer to the truth. I'm not afraid of speaking up and saying what I believe to be true or what I know or what I don't know.
(34:16) My personality is not one to say I would get nothing done if I just sat back and let things come to me. I go for them. I try to dig in and find out the truth on things. And for some people, that's off-putting. So, yeah, I get love letters, you know, and then some that are not so love letters. And I think the ones that are very vocal are the ones that, you know, try to diminish me or, you know, say that I'm somehow a problem.
(34:40) All I'm doing is making films. I can't believe people give death threats for making films. Whoever watches a film finds out the guy that made the film and threatens to kill him. I mean, that's crazy. It's complimentary in some sense. Yeah, I don't consider that a compliment. I consider that a mental disorder. I don't know.
(35:05) People are very passionate about the UFO topic, and I think it strikes a lot of nerves. And I think that you see that polarization in social media comments. So what you're bringing up is a lot of people talk shit about me. That's what you're bringing up. And fact, that is true. I think a disproportionate amount of people like to talk shit about my appearances or what I talk about or when I make films or stuff like that.
(35:32) I don't let that affect my work. If something is good, if it's like a constructive criticism, I guess they say, I'll better myself from it. Right. And most of the people who call themselves skeptics are more in the business of tearing down rather than building up. So it's not much constructive. Oh, no. Yes. Skeptics are like debunkers.
(35:53) People that just are trying to prove something without looking at all the evidence. I'm hands off. You can't help someone like that. You can't help. It's a mental sickness. It's a mental gymnastics. Well, to defend you and to defend debunkers, there is a place for them because you need to know your harshest critiques in order to strengthen your own theory.
(36:14) But then at the same time, I'm also a fan of there's something called the method. It's a Socratic method of eliciting ideas. And I don't see them as engaging in that. They may say that what we're doing is trying to get to the truth, but the truth is also in part a creative process and not just a purely destructive one.

Yeah.
(36:28) And there's a difference between somebody who's skeptical because believe it or not, I'm extremely skeptical. I have to deal with so much bullshit, so many lies in the UFO field that I've honed myself to have a bullshit meter. I mean, I am as skeptical as they come, but I'm not a debunker.
(36:48) You know, debunkers are people that try to just say what Commander Fravor saw was a reflection inside the hood of his airplane. And you know, forget the radar data, forget the other pilots that saw it, forget the internal investigations through the Defense Intelligence Agency, none of that matters. He saw a reflection inside his cockpit. That's ridiculous.
(37:13) These are ridiculous people saying ridiculous things to try to presuppose their initial assertion. I'm curious about how you structure your day. What time do you wake up and how long do you work for? And do you have to work in solid blocks? How do you get inspired? I don't advise anybody to take my advice on how to structure your life. See, I don't think I've got the model life. Forget about advice.
(37:40) I'm just curious as to how you do it. Yeah. Okay. Well, I was a mixed martial athlete my whole life. So starting at nine years old, you know, up until 2004 is when I officially stopped, you know, training. I was a very dedicated physical individual. So from training to meditation, to diet, very strict. You know, I trained probably, you know, eight hours a day.
(38:11) So coming from that place, I had like a life changing experience with illness. And then I started on a new path, a path of art and a path of film. And since that time, my daily habits have fluctuated. But the thing that remains kind of consistent is I don't sleep very much. I've always been one of those people that just work creatively best at night.
(38:40) I go to bed when the sun comes up or whenever I feel like it. And I sleep as long as I want. But I, you know, I don't sleep a lot. You know, average is like five to seven hours a night. I eat once a day. That's another thing that has always been, you know, kind of for me is I don't, I eat when I'm hungry. I'm hungry once a day.
(39:02) I don't know. I like beer more than water. Do you meditate still? Not in the same way. No, my life has changed a lot, you know, from that physical discipline. I will say, though, that all those years of intensive training, both physical and then mental with meditation, I can kind of be doing anything. And I feel I'm in that meditative state.
(39:28) So if I have to clean my room or do the dishes, you know, that's when I take that silence. What kind of meditation was it? Mindfulness, transcendental? Well, it was movement meditation. It all started initially with jujitsu. And then I developed a form of yoga that was handed to me for martial arts, for martial athletics. So it was a form of yoga called warrior yoga.
(39:53) And it basically trained me and then my students. And I opened up schools all around the US and actually outside of the US to use a movement meditation that incorporates breath and very strenuous exercise that work with the fine twitch muscles. And so I did that for probably 20 years. And, you know, then I did seated meditation.
(40:17) I traveled all around the world, looking for people to learn from, from martial arts, to meditation, to healers, to seekers, to, you know, I've been all around the world. This is before your foray into filmmaking or this is afterward? Yeah, it's a joke. I'm a filmmaker. Like I had no idea that I would ever become a filmmaker. I was a mixed martial athlete. That's it. That's all done.
(40:38) And, you know, then I got an illness and it transformed me. I was not able to be physical in the same way. It's called Valley Fever. And, you know, a good year of my life, I could barely walk. So I was it just changed my trajectory. And I fell into filmmaking. And then I realized that I could do it, that I could do it well. How is it that you get the funding to do the films? And you just go in? What does it cost? I have to buy a couple cameras.
(41:08) And I have to travel places to talk with cool people. I mean, it's all my own personal, there's no big budget. I don't have a big company. It's me, a couple of cameras and and, you know, travel. Yeah. I mean, I, I also I survive off of real estate. I manage properties, people don't know that because they've never asked me. But yeah, this, you know, I, when I was much smarter in my martial arts days, I bought a couple properties. So I manage those properties.
(41:38) And that funds my, you know, fuels my film funding. Okay, so pretty much, you just need money to live. And then you like doing filmmaking. So you go out and filmmake and then you can maybe sell some copies of the film, get some money that way. But either way, you're just self funding because you're interested in it.

(41:53) Yeah, it was never a question. I didn't even know I was going to put movies out that the camera, it was like a, it was like a gag. You know, the camera was like my passport into people's lives. Right. I just wanted to learn from them. And I found out real quickly, you point a camera at them and they start talking, you know, they're telling you stuff they've never told their families before.
(42:19) So making a film was just me sharing my life experience, what I have learned, who I have met. And I was very lucky in that aesthetically, you know, companies like Netflix were like, fuck, this is good. And they were like, we're gonna put it out. So finally, I'm making money on my movies. Let's go through some of the creative process. What's going on on the board behind you? How do you structure your scenes? And is that helping you structure your scenes? Well, yeah, it's kind of like a free association wall in that, you know, I get my base ideas, like even the title of a film, I go through a bunch of different versions. And then, (42:50) yeah, what I'll do is I'll structure the footage that I have. I think I do this probably the worst way possible in that I edit all my footage. So usually people film for a few years, and then they take portions of it to piece together a film. Right. What I do is I come home after filming, and I edit every single scene in its full length to perfection.
(43:18) So when it comes time to putting together a narrative in a movie, I already have these perfectly edited long form scenes. And I'll go in and grab a piece from there, put it, sew it in there. So I edit all my footage, I don't ever let something sit. How do you choose when to put some of those interludes or some of those recreations? Like, for example, there was this isn't a recreation, but you filmed, I think it was John Lear's kid with fake blood.
(43:45) As well as like, there's you walking into the desert with a voice. So I'm just curious, do you see them as, okay, I have seen A and seen B, and you need to connect them? What makes you create a scene that wasn't filmed in field? Right. So, so really, for me, it was when I was, let me use a concrete example. So I was, the Bob Lazar film.
(44:06) So I've got a director's cut version, it's really long, right? And I'm like, it needs to be about an hour and a half. How can I tell this 30 year story in an hour and a half with this huge movie that I've already cut? So really, it's about paring it down to be the most pointed, what are the most important parts? And I brought it down, down, down. Then I got to a point where I was like, I need to put something in there to show the moment that I got notified about the FBI raid on Bob Lazar's business.
(44:38) So I'm free to film, I have my, you know, my studio I can film in. So exactly like it happened to me that morning, you know, I brought the texts onto my phone and filmed at different angles in that pink intro to the film. It was to give people this cinematic feeling of what it was like when I actually picked up my phone and called George Knapp and Bob, I was like, what the fuck just happened? So I insert these parts to the movies based upon kind of what I feel is lacking.
(45:06) But it's really easy, man, pick up a camera, the world is out there, there's a lot to film. How long is this director's cut? Is it ever coming out? I don't know. I think I'll put it out in sections. So the Bob Lazar, Eric 51, and Flying Saucers, that's the name of the Netflix film.
(45:23) You know, imagine there's thousands of hours of footage with Bob that I have surrounding him, his life, his entire family, all the other investigations that I've done surrounding Bob's story. The movie is an hour and a half. So what I've been doing is on my Netflix or my YouTube channel, I've been putting out extended bonus scenes or deleted scenes, I'm calling them.
(45:47) And so that's so that people get to see these longer interviews with Bob. Yeah, okay. Now, just to get into some nitty gritty, I'm curious as a filmmaker, does that violate any of your contract with Netflix? How is it that you can reuse the same footage or you don't? Oh, no, I'm a completely independent filmmaker.
(46:02) My contract with Netflix, I let them use the movie for a certain amount of time. See, I own everything. I own all my own content. You know, I allowed them to use the hour and 30 movie to put on their platform, but I am the owner of all my own content. So that's how it works is I gave them the hour and 30 section. Cool. Let's get to this background one more time, because I'm curious about it.
(46:26) Why don't you take me through a specific example? How is it that you make the connections? Make the connections to what? You said that what you have is almost like somewhat of a madman approach, where you put different pictures on the wall, maybe you draw lines and you put together, I'm assuming either a theory, or a theme,

(46:46) Can you take me through an example of your creative process? Yeah, sure. Yeah. Well, the main thing really is, again, I'm trying to uplift the visual aesthetic for UFO films, right? So I want people to be enticed by the look and the feel, kind of the playfulness of a film.
(47:06) I don't want it to be this dry, ancient aliens kind of, this happened on this day. With my films, I try to give a little bit of personal character to it. So that's why I had Mickey Rourke, the controversial Mickey Rourke narrate with a mouthful of gravel in my film. I can barely understand him, a lot of people say. That's the point, shithead. The point is to get people to listen and be enthralled by his strange voice.
(47:31) And he was talking poetically. He wasn't just giving you factual things about the movie. I wrote him a script that's super poetic and weird and psychedelic. So you're talking about my chalkboard wall. So wherever I've lived, I've done a coat of magnetized paint, and then I've done chalkboard paint. And I get neodymium magnets, so that they're very strong super magnets.
(47:56) And I can put up pictures and kind of use the wall as kind of like how the movie's playing out, and how to structure scenes to some degree. Everything from music and the soundscaping that I've done, which is very intricate. If you've listened to any of my films. You do your own music? Well, I work with a couple musicians that give me the same beats in sections of tones, not like usually full songs. And then I weave all of those hundreds of sections into songs.
(48:28) There's a guy named Red, Blue, Black, Silver, who I worked with for both Hunt for the Skinwalker, which is my film on Hulu, and then the Babazaar Area 51 of Flying Saucers. And he sometimes gives me larger songs, but he gives me a lot of just audio clips. So I soundscape the films over the months by using certain tones for certain people to create an emotion.
(48:53) So yeah, I guess the wall is kind of where I can take these investigations and say, I've talked to this person, they said this, this is the next person I have to call. They're going to connect me with them. It's like an active board for me when I'm doing these investigations, because a lot of times they're happening during the filming. So same with the Babazaar thing.
(49:15) When I got the guy who did Babazaar security clearance to work at Area 51, at first he was going to go on camera with me. And then he basically decided not to go on camera with me because it was explosive. What he had to say, I remember Bob, I did his security clearance. So all I could do in the film is report on that. Trust me or not, I talked to the guy, his name is Mike Thigpen, and I got ahold of him.
(49:38) After 30 years, I was able to find him. You mentioned George Knapp. George Knapp is an investigative reporter out of Las Vegas, Nevada. He's the guy that broke the Area 51 story on Babazaar. You had mentioned him earlier in the interview. George Knapp has been a mentor to me. So George has helped me with my investigations. I've done a couple of films with him.
(50:01) He's featured in two of my three major films. You used some of his footage in Skinwalker, correct? Absolutely. That was footage the world had never seen. He had been documenting Skinwalker Ranch for like 20 years. He wasn't allowed to put the footage out, but I was able to get it for that film. Do you think aliens have communicated with our government explicitly? Yeah, I'm curious about that myself.
(50:28) I'm not sure. Look, it's step one time, man. Step one is the general public needs to get caught up. They need to get caught up with the fact that the UFO presence is real, that we are being visited on a regular basis by an intelligence that are flying hard craft, that are far outpaced our technology. We think we know how they work.
(50:56) Our government thinks they know how it works. They can't replicate it. Okay. But as far as you know, there's no documents that say that the aliens have explicitly communicated with USA or Russia. There's nothing that I would concretely say, a classified document that I would say, that's probably real.
(51:17) I have obtained documents that say as much, but the authenticity of these documents will always be in question because you can't track the source. The documents, are they implying some sort of collusion between the aliens and the government or is it something else? Okay. So anybody that wades into the UFO world really, really needs to protect themselves from disinformation.
(51:41) There have been active programs of disinformation that have been admitted to by our government. So there's- Okay. As far as I know, there's Project Blue Book. Is that what you're referring to? No. No. Or is that different? Okay. So this is important. Project Blue Book was the, it ended in 1969, supposedly. It was the United States government study of UFOs.

(52:08) Now what people don't know is that, or a lot of people don't know, is that there were two UFO study programs before, Project Sign and Project Grudge. Sign as in sine wave or SIGN? SIGN. Sign. Project Sign and Project Grudge. And then there's Project Blue Book. And this is the one that's very famous that everybody knows about where the US government said, the famous saying where J. Allen Hynek, who ran Project Blue Book said that one of the UFOs was swamp gas.
(52:38) You ever hear that? Oh, it's probably swamp gas. It's a very famous thing that people say to debunk UFOs. J. Allen Hynek, who ran Project Blue Book later apologized for that because he knew the UFO topic was real and he was mandated to quote unquote, demystify the UFO topic to the public. So Project Blue Book was a sham. And now everybody knows that.
(53:09) There are cases that they can't describe, but their mandate was to try to calm the American public. Okay, wait, wait. Sorry, I have to cut you off because I'm trying to understand this. So there's Project Blue Book. And what that was, was a disinformation campaign by the American government? Ultimately, ultimately, it's been revealed that it was at best a disinformation project in that this was the official study of UFOs by the United States government.
(53:43) And people involved in that process, like J. Allen Hynek, later revealed that their mandate was to suppress the information, was to minimize it, was to come up with prosaic explanations. And this is what that term swamp gas comes from. Now, our government, the United States government, also told us that our study of UFOs ended in 1969. We now know that to be a lie.
(54:13) I told you about OSAP, and I told you about ATIP. Those programs have now been acknowledged. So our government did not stop studying UFOs. Of course they didn't. They represent a technology that's far superior to what we have. We want that technology. Whoever gains the technology that is shown in these UFOs, they win. They win everything.
(54:36) It is a technology that cannot be competed with. It can be weaponized. If these things do travel using gravity wave amplification, if that's true, then this can be weaponized. So in the history... Go ahead. No, I was going to, I was going to make a joke. Speaking of weaponized, one of my first questions to you was, has your curiosity been weaponized? I asked the audience for a few questions.
(55:06) Someone asked him if his curiosity has been weaponized. I didn't get it until I watched a few interviews. Man, my curiosity has been radicalized. Are you kidding me? What I've learned through all of this, are you kidding me? Yeah, of course, man.
(55:21) So for your audience that doesn't know, I am accused, rightfully so, of saying weaponize your curiosity almost every time I talk. And I make a point of doing it. I think it's hilarious. I think I like to see people get so upset about it. What does weaponization have anything to do with it? Look, your curiosity is your greatest weapon, man.
(55:43) It's what allows you to ask questions, right? If you don't ask questions, you're never going to even get close to the answer. So I always make the joke, weaponize your curiosity. Yes, my motherfucking curiosity has been weaponized. I got a few IMDB credits here for you. Apparently, you're still working on them. So there's Extraordinary Beliefs that says it's a TV series or filming, Immaculate Deception, filming, Indelible, filming, Truth Embargo, filming, Storm, Area 51, filming, and then post-production on Looking Up and Moonwalker.
(56:04) Is that true? Or are you just pretty much working on some other projects? Yeah, and I think people are going to be really upset if they try to put me on a timeline. I'm one person. Yeah, I'm filming on all of those. Some of them, I think, are probably finished filming. And depending on where I put my effort next, I'll come out with that film.
(56:26) For example, Immaculate Deception, I filmed, as I said, for seven or eight years with John Lear. That's that movie. I could make that movie right now. I could cut that movie. It's not the time for it. It's not the time for that movie. So all of those are projects of mine that are in the phase where they can start being edited, but I don't know what I'm coming out with next. I haven't chosen.
(56:51) How do you decide when the time is right to release a particular film? Right. So for Hunt for the Skinwalker, which was my second big film, came out on Hulu. I knew it was time for that film to come out because if you watch the beginning of that film, we announce that there's about to be a paradigm shift about UFOs in the public. That is before the New York Times article came out identifying the UFO study programs.

(57:21) So because I had prior knowledge that the US government was going to announce through the New York Times that this was going to be announced, I knew that film had to be made because what people didn't know is that a lot of those programs specifically tied back to Skinwalker Ranch. Skinwalker Ranch had been a mystery before my film.
(57:48) Nobody had ever seen footage from inside of Skinwalker Ranch come out into the public domain for 25 years. Never happened until my film. So I knew it was... Yeah. No, continue, please. I knew it was time to release that film. I knew it was time for that film because I had pre-knowledge that these UFO cases were going to come out through the New York Times. Speaking as a filmmaker, how long did it take you to develop the relationship so that you can get inside knowledge? Because if you're just someone from the outside, even if you say, well, I'm making a documentary on topic X, you'll get a surface level clearance, let's say, (58:19) and you don't have the connections. How long did it take you to build it? What'd you do? What tactics? I have a charming personality. Can't you tell? That's my best tactic. Prank or treat. Look, I'm not in the military. I don't have a security clearance.
(58:32) I've never signed an NDA for anything. I'm lucky I have a good mentor in George Knapp. He's certainly opened a lot of doors for me with witnesses, I'd like to say. And I think just over time, I've been persistent about it. I've been interested in UFOs before I started making movies.
(58:56) So look, I've been able to be led into the Annapolis Naval Academy and sit in on classes that have to do with aerospace. I've made great connections with individuals who would have access to these UFO-based programs within our government. And I've never burned anybody. I've never spoken out of school. So the people that have come forward to me, I've never burned them.
(59:23) So imagine what I'm showing you in my films and the information that I'm bringing forward. There's a lot more that I've never said, because I would never burn somebody for giving me information. Has the government ever contacted you or followed you or have you received any threats or strange occurrences like Lazar had his doors opened and his gun that was in his glove compartment put on his seat and so on? Yeah, no, I've only been assisted by individuals within government and agencies.
(59:52) The only strange thing that ever happened to me was that that raid on Bob Lazar right in the middle of my filming. They waited. We have the documents that show that they were watching in preparation for that raid while I was there in Michigan filming Bob. But they waited till the cameras were gone. I mean, last thing they wanted is somebody filming this raid.
(1:00:16) So that's the only images we have was Bob and his employee just snap some photos during it. And that's where you see the 15 or so or more people. So I've never had any negative thing. People actually call me with tips all the time, whether they can go public or not go public. People now come to me. And that's interesting.
(1:00:37) So I think just over time, people have realized and they've told me this. People call me after the Lazar film. I know Bob's telling the truth. And here's my little one thing I can tell you, but I don't want anybody to know it came from me. And they contact you over phone, text, email, or in person or letter or what? It always begins with email or usually begins with email.
(1:01:00) So they text my editor, Katrina, and then she'll sort through there's hundreds of messages a day. A lot of them are from crazy people. And then she'll send me the ones that seem promising. And then some people want to talk on signal or an encrypted app or proton mail. Okay.
(1:01:22) Let's get to this Bob Lazar raid, because I was unclear about something when it was shown in the film. So let's say you're talking to Bob, some forested area. If I recall, I could be wrong either way, whatever you're talking to Bob. I remember seeing trees. So there's some trees. Is it away from his house or is it right in his backyard? Yeah.
(1:01:41) Well, he, he, in Michigan, he had a large property and the senior you're talking about just for your audience. So Bob Lazar has always claimed that these craft are gravity driven, that there's a gravity wave amplification propulsion system in these saucers that he was able to work on or explore the power of propulsion in one of them. He also claimed that the craft was fueled by a super heavy element called element 115, but a version of element 115 that is stable, that where it's half-life is significantly long enough to, to, to have these properties. So Bob has always claimed that in the film, I was asking him

(1:02:23) specifically about that and about the claim that he got a piece of these stabilized 115 out of Los Alamos. Actually, people thought it's site for everything. When it's not, he claimed he got a piece out of Los Alamos national laboratory where they were machining the element 115 to send back to the test site. I see.
(1:02:50) But the people at Los Alamos didn't know what they were machining. Correct. It was a contracted job. According to Bob, it was shipped under a code name LA 1000. And they would tell the machinist that it was an exotic armor and machinist is not going to sit there with spectroscopy and like figure out, you know, the composition. It's, okay, cool. I'm going to machine this precisely.
(1:03:13) So they would bring it in and they, they'd machine it in a very specific way that you can see kind of detailed on my YouTube, probably on my YouTube site or a little bit in the film. And Bob did claim to get at least one piece out from Los Alamos. And he's been very cagey about that. Although he did do an experiment, a cloud chamber test, and there were witnesses and I've spoken with all of them.
(1:03:35) There are witnesses in the room with him at home. And I'll tell you this, Bob believed that he had a piece of element 115. His friends who were scientists, many of them scientists, George Knapp saw the experiment as well. They believed that he had a very unique element that had properties that had yet to be seen.
(1:03:58) And this is before laser pointers, right? So they were doing a cloud chamber test to show how light bent because of the, I guess, gravity differential with the piece of 115. If he had a laser pointer back then, you could just shine a laser over it. And if it was real, it would have been, but they didn't at that time. It weren't readily available. This was 1989. So they did a cloud chamber experiment in Bob's backyard. I mean, Bob's a smart guy.
(1:04:20) He built two particle accelerators, one in New Mexico and one in his bedroom in Las Vegas. He's a very technical guy and a really interesting scientist. And so that talk in my movie in the forest was, I don't know, 600 meters away from Bob's front door, right? It's a pretty significant distance on his property. And we thought our conversation was private.
(1:04:50) And in my film, I just show you a little bit. I show the viewer that we are talking about element 115. We are talking about the idea that he might have retrieved a sample of element 115. And if you believe that he did, that might give a rational explanation for the intense FBI multi agency raid of his facility, which happened the next day, the day I left.
(1:05:20) So that was the point in the movie. Now, of course, I fast forwarded through that scene in the movie. I am not showing the contents of that conversation. Okay. So is the insinuation that the FBI or the CIA or whatever it may be, was listening to you, even though you were 600 meters away from the house? Oh, they were. Yeah.
(1:05:44) Yeah. Like with some sort of shotgun microphone or we don't place transmitters. Man, I got to tell you, it drove us crazy. I mean, Bob initially thought I talked, Bob, Bob, I think all the fingers were pointed at me from Bob and Bob's friends. I was the guy with camera equipment, recording devices.
(1:06:10) And when they came and said, we know you had a conversation and we know some of the specifics of that conversation, it terrified us. Okay. So let me break this down for you. So it doesn't sound so cloak and dagger. We go out to where we thought was remote on Bob's property out of precaution. We're about, okay, we're about to talk about element 115.
(1:06:36) We're about to talk if Bob Lazar got element 115 out of Los Alamos, this super heavy element that apparently was brought here, 500 pounds was brought here from somewhere else. And our government was using it in these non-terrestrial craft. I mean, it's a wild thing. And if Bob Lazar is telling the truth, just consider that for a second, just for a second, consider that Bob Lazar is telling you exactly what happened.
(1:07:00) The United States government is reverse engineering UFOs, alien spacecraft. They're trying to, and that they have some, they have physical evidence of an advanced civilization, not from this earth. And these craft are, show a technology that's way beyond what we have. Just imagine that he's telling you the truth. And then he says he got a piece of element 115 out of Los Alamos.
(1:07:27) Now our government would want that back. So the idea is this is the one thing that's keeping him alive is that he's got this piece stashed somewhere. So he's about to tell me about this. And we're going to talk through this and we're going to talk about how you could get this out to the public.
(1:07:45) That's the premise here. So no shortcuts, that's the premise. So out of caution, I was like, well, Bob, if you are telling the truth, let's just go out of your house. And he's like, well, no one's, no one cares. This is 30 years ago. Nobody cares about me anymore.

(1:08:02) And I'm like, well, let's just go anyway. So we go out to this forested area. And then as I'm recording with him, I'm like, you know, we have cell phones. I'm like, maybe I should put those cell phones like over there. So I take the cell phones, we turned them off and I ditched them about 200 meters away. And we kind of joked about it. Like who cares? No one's watching. No one cares. Right.
(1:08:27) And then come to find out the next day he gets raided by multiple agencies. Now you can believe, you know, Bob's version, you know, my version or, you know, the documents that we have found, they say they were there on an unrelated issue. All these agencies were there because of thallium that, you know, that he might have thallium, you know, that he was selling.
(1:08:52) He didn't, not in the way that they said. So in Bob's experience, this is not the first time he's been raided by multiple agencies and people that have been on those raids. I was able to talk with one and they're like, this is the weirdest raid in the world. We didn't know what we were looking for, but the way Bob experienced it, and you have to take Bob's word on it or don't, I don't care, but this is what he said, is that they came in, they could care less about this potential thallium
(1:09:22) that they cordoned off in grids, his entire building, which I know to be true. I talked with the employees. I have some photos and they were looking for the element 115. This is what he said on Larry King. And I stand by it as well. And the one thing they did was they repeated, I'll just say the best way to say it is they repeated back to him, part of our conversation. And it was mystifying. I mean, Bob immediately thought I leaked the feds.
(1:09:55) RG. They mentioned your name or they just said, you recently talked to someone and this is what you said, or we hear through the grapevine. ACKERMAN I have to dance around this part, but word for word, the conversation was relayed to Bob. There was no doubt that there was recording of that conversation.
(1:10:22) Now it's not so weird when you find out through official documents that they had been surveilling both his home and his place of business two days prior to the raid when I was there. So now how did they achieve that recording? I have some friends that do these types of raids in federal agencies and I have spoken with them and I have learned that there are multiple ways to do this, multiple ways.
(1:10:52) For example, they have a very cool technology that you can point at any window in any house and the vibrations of the voice can be picked up off of those windows. Now, obviously we were in the woods, right? So how did they get it? We have theorized over and over, we've looked into the technologies. We thought it could be our phones and that's the number one culprit right now.
(1:11:17) We thought our phones had been turned into listening devices because they knew a certain amount. If they had heard that whole conversation, they would have no need to speak with Bob. So clearly at some point- Wait, what do you mean by that? If they'd heard the whole conversation, they wouldn't need to speak with him? Meaning that Bob conveyed to me the details of the Element 115 and potentially if he had some where he stashed it. I see. So they wouldn't need to contact Bob.
(1:11:51) Okay. Because I was thinking that perhaps what it is, as you said that you go home and you edit your footage. I know for me, I upload my footage simultaneously so it's syncing so I don't lose a backup. And I thought perhaps when you went home, you sunk it up somewhere and they have access to that. And I was so paranoid about it.
(1:12:09) First of all, Bob Lazar had never let anybody into his life to film with him, right? Yeah. So every card I had was connected directly to a computer that never went online. There is no way- Interesting. Yeah. There is no way that anybody was able to get that out of the ether. So first thing I thought is we went out to dinner that night.
(1:12:35) Did somebody come and get my computer card? But it was there right where I left it. And I don't see that as a possibility at this time. I mean, he didn't have security cameras up on his home, but I don't see that as a possibility. And just the mere fact that they decided to look at his place of business for the element 115, they didn't hear the rest of the conversation. I see. I've never talked about this, but that is how I understand it.
(1:13:03) Someone that doesn't want to believe Bob, this is just another reason to not believe him. This sounds so crazy, but I'll tell you, it happened and it happened exactly the way I'm telling you. And I'm dead sure that our conversation was monitored, that they were able to record that conversation and that they had full knowledge of that conversation until I put the phones to the side. And that's why I think it was the phones.

(1:13:29) And by the way, if you write to the- Ah, okay. I see. I see. So the second part of that recording, which is by the way, now spread out on multiple drives in multiple states, it's never going away, that footage. I have that footage. There's no stopping it from coming out at it. It will come out one day when the time is right.
(1:13:49) But the point is, I think it was the phones. There are cool ways to get audio- It makes the most sense. It makes the most sense. It does. But if you appeal to the NSA, who dictates some of these FISA warrants and these phone taps, they can never confirm nor deny. So you'll never get any information.
(1:14:11) So I'm unable to get any information if that is true or not, if it was the phone. Too bad. Too bad. Oh, wait, why do you say that? This is what's keeping Bob alive. This is something I've thought about. I'm sure many people as well. It's like, okay, let's say Bob is telling the truth.
(1:14:29) Why doesn't the government from day one or day two, just kill him? There's many ways that you can kill someone. Breaking bad, you can just give someone ricin and make it look like they have the flu or especially right now during COVID. So why is he still alive? That would be a bad idea. A smart man like Bob has ways to get information out if he were to go missing. So look, again, this is a very touchy situation. Bob wouldn't even talk about LMN-115.
(1:14:54) Everything I'm saying now was off limits when I first started filming with him. Because if you believe Bob, this is real world implications. Somebody had to get him the 115 out of Los Alamos, a machinist. That could be very problematic. That's a real problem. You get charged, you get thrown away for smuggling. That's a bad thing.
(1:15:20) So if we believe Bob, and I'm okay if people don't. I'm totally cool if people don't believe him. I wouldn't believe him if I didn't have the direct access to everybody in his life where I realized the story is true. So I don't expect anybody to believe it. But if we just suspend disbelief for a moment, we believe Bob.
(1:15:48) I would project that one of the reasons why Bob Lazar was not killed for speaking out is because one, who's going to believe it? Before December of 2018 and the US government studying UFOs, who's going to believe Bob? Not many people. So is he really a threat? But a physical piece of evidence, I would suspect that is the reason why he's not just given rise to be killed because they know he probably has a backup plan.
(1:16:11) So if you are to believe Bob, I would think that's an important thing. I would be careful if I was Bob. I see. When I was watching, I think it was called Immaculate Deception with John Lear. Yeah. I put out an episode of that. Yeah. When I was watching that, there was this clip with him saying, behind me, maybe soon there's going to be some UFOs flying. That reminded me of what Bob did.
(1:16:34) Is he doing the same thing that Bob did where he gets some of his friends to film it because he knows the schedule of when these crafts are going to fly? No. I think John Lear's got a few screws loose. People are going to hate me for saying that, but he does. I love John. He's like my crazy uncle. He does not love me anymore. He's very mad at me. Oh, it's a long story.
(1:16:58) John's a conspiracy theorist. He was very difficult to work. He sabotaged his own movie, the movie I was working on for seven years. He just killed it dead in the water because of his actions. John's pretty wild. Are you allowed to talk about that? Yeah. I'm under no contract. Yeah. Okay.
(1:17:16) What do you mean? How did he sabotage it? Well, I had filmed with John for many years, and I had a really good relationship with him. When it came down to his life rights, and finally relinquishing and letting me make the film, he decided to sign him over on a napkin to his daughter, basically. When I had brought in other producers and people to come help bring this to life, it was like maybe there's money to be made was his thought or something, and just sabotaged the whole thing. That's my version of it, at least. It's sad because he was a friend, and I care for John,
(1:17:56) but I think he wanted to be the star of the movie. When I made the Bob Lazar movie, I think he was very upset the movie wasn't about him. Oh, interesting. Yeah. Yeah. For the record, I love John Lear. I wish him well. I care about him very much. Unfortunately, he's sabotaged a lot of things in his life, and this is one of them.
(1:18:18) As for why John Lear hasn't been killed, why do you think that is? He's not credible. But in the beginning, you said, look, this is someone who worked for the CIA as a pilot, and he has here some world records that he has. Oh, yeah. No, he's had phases of credibility, for sure. Look, he's an exceptional man.

(1:18:39) At one point, he was the youngest person ever to climb the Matterhorn. The guy was an explorer. He was right he was right about Area 51, the term Area 51. He was right about what they were doing there. He actually was able... Look, he comes from the Lear family. At the news agencies in Vegas, the guy has some credibility.
(1:19:06) He was right about some of the back engineering of the MiG, the Russian MiG fighter they were doing. He got photos of the stealth fighter and leaked them to a guy named Ned Day in Las Vegas, a reporter who was George Knapp's mentor. He had this credibility of being a guy that goes out in 1977, takes the best photo ever of Area 51 at lake level. I have that photo. This is like... Hold on. This will take me one second, but I think it's worthy.
(1:20:07) You can see it coming from a long way away. He's like, oh, they're coming. He took the camera, he took the film, put it under his ashtray, put in a new roll of film, took the identical pictures. When they rolled up on him, they said, we know who you are. You got a camera. Give us the film. Pops open the camera, gives him the film.
(1:20:31) They never asked if he had another duplicate set inside his ashtray. It's a great idea. He comes out in 1977 and gives us the best photos ever of Groom Lake, Area 51, at close range. Again, nobody had ever done that before. He wrote to me. He said, Jeremy, it's Groom Lake, you moron. Let's go Wednesday. We went. That photo doesn't seem to show anything incriminating other than that there are buildings at Area 51.
(1:21:00) In 1977, it shows Groom Lake. There has not been a photo of Groom Lake since John Lear's 1977 photos that have been that close up. It was just at the time in particular, it was really crazy. He's exposing this military base that people didn't even acknowledge the name of. John had credibility.
(1:21:28) Then when he came forward to George Knapp about UFOs, no one wanted to touch it. George's bosses didn't want to touch it. George's boss famously said, or his mentor Ned Day famously said, if any of this were real, I would have known about it, which is the worst attitude because it was real. Area 51 was real. What's going on there? He didn't know about it.
(1:21:52) That's when George Knapp picked up all the UFO stuff and did his first report. When you said that UFOs are just some small part of a larger project, what did you mean? Phenomena. Phenomena. What do you mean? I like to say to the phenomenon, I believe from what the evidence shows me, that UFOs is a very small aspect of a much larger phenomenon. What I mean by that is that UFOs appear to be part of a larger phenomenon, meaning UFOs are kind of an auxiliary implication of a much larger reality.
(1:22:25) This idea that what we're seeing are machines from other planets, I'm unconvinced. What we may be seeing is an alternate reality. Maybe it is something closer to dimensional travel. There seems to be another version of reality that is occurring. Somehow, once in a while, they perforate and they pop through into our reality. This is not just from a cursory look at the UFO phenomenon.
(1:22:56) This is from talking with thousands of close encounter eyewitnesses who tell me that this is something bigger than just flying machines. To give you an example, at Skinwalker Ranch, the report is that a piece of the sky opened up like a tear. Out of this tear came beings, came craft. UFOs is a symptom. It's part of this alternate reality, the phenomenon as I call it. It's not just about UFOs.
(1:23:27) UFOs represent this phenomenon. What other phenomenon are there? Bigfoot, ghosts? Yeah, I don't know. That they're related to, I mean. Yeah, I wish I knew or I could stand firm in saying I know this to be true. Skinwalker Ranch is the best example of this because you have UFO phenomenon, but you also have cattle mutilation, which is often associated with lights in the sky.
(1:23:53) Cattle mutilation is something as an example, concrete example. Cattle mutilation, is this a UFO phenomenon or is this a government experiment or is this a private corporation that's going around and mutilating these cows and draining their blood in the dead of night? Nobody has ever been caught during these cattle mutilations that are homogenous.

(1:24:16) They are the same across the board. They're drained of blood. There's two types of incisions. They take the same things, the genitals, the sexual organs, piece of the cheek and an eye and an ear. It's the same thing.
(1:24:36) This is associated with the UFO phenomenon because the farmers and people that are cattle ranchers, they see UFOs oftentimes during these mutilations. I can't separate them. We got UFOs tied with cattle mutilation. That one I can understand. I've heard of that since I was a kid. What else that's tied to UFOs? What else is tied to UFOs? I don't know. The experiences are so wild, man.
(1:25:04) When people get engaged with these entities, people have had it's not just like craft come in there and no one's flying them. I'll give you an example. The aerial school, this is an amazing case in South Africa. 80 kids or something saw these craft land in the field by their school. All these kids, the BBC came the next day and interviewed these kids with head of Harvard psychiatry, John Mack. John Mack gets out there.
(1:25:29) They interview the kids. They all say the same thing. These craft came down and there were little beings on the craft with these huge almond-shaped eyes. I personally know two of the children they were at the time children and then now they're adults. They were within meters, within four feet.
(1:25:53) One of them was in four feet of one of these beings, bipedal being, wearing a suit, a gray alien kind of thing with these huge almond-shaped eyes that she said mesmerized her. This is somebody who's not lying. All of these kids saw it. Again, John Mack at Harvard psychiatry went and he was head of Harvard psychiatry and he went, interviewed them with the BBC. It's a historic case.
(1:26:12) What was his conclusion? That they're telling the truth, that they saw exactly what they said they saw. You can't make it up across all these kids with the same explanations. Liesel and Salma are the two females who were there as kids that I know now, current day. It has affected their lives. If you look at footage of them talking to John Mack on the BBC and they're talking about how they were mesmerized and then they showed them images in their mind's eye, like a movie of the destruction of our planet and how we have to be more careful with our
(1:26:46) ecosystem and our earth and we need to treat it right or we're doomed. Back when this happened, that wasn't a huge topic of conversation like it is today with climate change. These children took on the burden of telling people what these aliens told them. That's a good example of a phenomenon that goes beyond just the hard craft and goes into the beings operating them.
(1:27:13) Why did these, I know you're just going to have to speculate, but why do you think these aliens came to these African children instead of going to some places that could make a difference now, given let's say they're the CEO of some corporation that's exporting negative externalities in the form of pollution? Much higher rate than these 80 African children.
(1:27:32) Why do you think that they went to them? Yeah. Again, you were right. I have to speculate. I have no inside knowledge. It's okay. Who cares? Who cares? Let's speculate. It's fine. I'm curious. Give me some ideas. Sure. Let me toy with it. Yeah, yeah. For sure. Total speculation. I'm not trying to be evasive about it.
(1:27:49) I just like, really, when I don't know something, dude, I don't fucking know it. Here's the deal. These beings, these craft, these entities, maybe they're all playing the same game and on the same team. Maybe they're not. Maybe there's competing agendas. And maybe this is a learning process.
(1:28:14) Maybe it's so weird to think that we might not have even a most simple grasp on what's going on with UFOs and this alien presence, whatever this is. Maybe it's so much stranger. Again, maybe we're a commodity. Maybe humanity itself. In one of the documents that Bob Lazar read, it called this containers. Containers of what? Blood? Are we containers of souls? I don't even know what a soul is.
(1:28:44) What is a soul? So maybe one of the crazier theories, maybe we're containers for the maturation of souls, like a nice wine. And we're a commodity in some way, just like we would make sure that our livestock doesn't spread a disease that eliminates them. These entities are being sure that we don't blow up our earth with our nuclear weapons, because somehow we're important to them. The nefarious version is we're a commodity.
(1:29:15) The non-nefarious version, the positive version, is that we're a sample of life. And they want us to get through our primitive stage of warfare and self-destruction and violence and hatred and racism and horrible shit so that we can thrive in a larger community. I don't know. That was somewhat haunting when I heard that we're containers or that the aliens refer to us as containers. Let's imagine it's true.

(1:29:49) Is this just a somewhat terrifying thought? I mean, it depends on what you're containing. Well, again, we're on real fringe territory here. Most people, they're worried about where their next paycheck's coming from. People are worried about keeping the peace within their own family. People are worried about not giving a loved one COVID.
(1:30:16) This idea, I think, is very important that we are not alone in the universe, that we are being visited by an intelligence that's far technologically superior to humanity, and that we've been visited for a long time, and that there is a message being sent in some ways to some people. Don't fuck up where you live.
(1:30:33) And if that's the case, if that's really what's going on, it's an important message. But in some ways, it's also a fatalistic one, because it doesn't matter what we do. They may save us if it's in their best interest and they have extremely advanced technology.
(1:30:51) So why should we clean up the environment? They'll probably save us at the last moment. No, I'm being serious. If we're in their interest, our survival is. Well, maybe their interest is not just on the safety of the planet and the safety of the human species regenerating. Again, maybe there's a different investment that they have in the maturation of human consciousness.
(1:31:14) Like some spiritual development? I don't know. I'm not particularly a spiritual person necessarily. I'm not a religious person. So I don't know. I don't know. Are all of your films related to UFOs slash aliens, or do some of them touch on other subjects like near death experience, remote viewing? Yeah. I mean, all of those things interest me.
(1:31:35) The consciousness is not contained within the biology of the human body is a big one to me because it is evident that these phenomena, these beings use a different form of communication often, telepathic or whatever. But my films that are released, the big ones, Patient 17 is about an alleged alien implant removal surgery. Doesn't get any weirder than that.
(1:32:04) The second one is about Hunt for the Skinwalker, which is a government study of a haunted property, a property that has all sorts of strange phenomenon. And the third one is about Baba Tzar and Area 51 UFOs and Fly Saucers. But I have done other films on things like nanotechnology. I've done one on something called a space drive, he called it. It's basically is a non-traditional propulsion system.
(1:32:32) These are short films, but those are of a lot of interest to me. So yeah, I like to- Are they available to be viewed by people on YouTube or Vimeo? Yeah, yeah. YouTube, Vimeo on my website, there's tons of information on that. And then I like doing a lot of short movies. My first movie had nothing to do with UFOs. It was called Lost Vegas. And it's just a short 12 minute film maybe.
(1:32:53) And it's just about- About? Yeah. People that were kind of living on the Las Vegas strip, performers and whatnot, kind of jumped out at me. It was very deeply touching and personal and kind of a spiritual experience. And you see these individuals just exposing their deepest selves. It's pretty powerful short film. Speaking of Patient 17, I have written down here what happened to Patient 17 at the end, but I don't remember why I wrote that down.
(1:33:24) Does that ring a bell? Is that an incoherent question? No. I mean, at the end of the movie, it's frustrating. There was a sample of this material that was taken out of a guy's body. Now, if anybody knows me and watches the film intently and you watch it, this is not something I believe. I'm not pushing to my beliefs. I found somebody with an extraordinary belief. It's a doctor, a surgeon, Dr.
(1:33:47) Roger Lear, who said he's going to remove an alien implant. The guy, the Patient 17 himself was not convinced that this had anything to do with his other experiences of abduction, which he does firmly believe he had. So at the end, it's kind of like hard because what happens to the sample, I don't have control of the sample. I'm not a scientist.
(1:34:11) We got an anomalous result from the sample, meaning that the isotopes within the Zinc-64 came back from the laboratory as non-terrestrial. That's how you tell location is isotopes. And this was odd. So no, I didn't follow up. This is not my life. I'm not a scientist. That's Jacques Vall e, the famous Jacques Vall e. He can follow up with it. He is a scientist. So with Patient 17, he went back to his normal life. He's just a subject of a film.
(1:34:38) You mentioned that there's someone named Richard Doty who was driven mad. Do you mind expanding on that or expatiating? Yeah, that's a deep dive that people will need to really look into. But no, Richard Doty did not go mad. There's a guy named Paul Bennewitz. This was a situation where the United States government put disinformations into the UFO field.

(1:35:00) One of the guys involved, he's a friend of mine. Paul Bennewitz? Bennewitz with a B. Bennewitz. Yeah. This is a guy named Rick Doty, who's a friend of mine. I like Rick. People vilify him and they're so angry I'm friends with him. He's a good guy. He was- Okay.
(1:35:17) So who's Rick and who's Paul and what happened to them? Rick Doty was paid to disinform the American public about UFOs by infiltrating the UFO field and spreading disinformation. And in one of his jobs doing this, there was an individual named Paul Bennewitz who was being fed the disinformation. And why it's so controversial is because Paul Bennewitz went crazy.
(1:35:47) And some say it's because of Rick Doty playing with his mind and his emotions. But in reality, Paul had had a breakdown prior. Paul was not fully hinged. So that's a very famous case in UFO lore about the United States military manipulating the beliefs of people within the UFO field, which has happened from time to time. Disinformation. Rick worked for the government and Paul was just someone who was interested in, or maybe he's a UFOlogist, as some people call them.
(1:36:15) Yeah. He was a very brilliant scientist who worked near Manzano weapons storage area out in New Mexico. And he was filming things on a classified base from his home. And they were- Rick or Paul? What's that? Paul. Who was filming? Okay. Paul was.
(1:36:39) And Rick was tasked with disinforming the UFO public and Paul and a couple other people and researchers. It happens all the time. People that research UFOs, you get hit with people trying to convince you of something. Happens to me all the time. I get evidence that's too good to be true. I get photographs, documents, and I never publish it because these people are fucking with me. You think that they're government spies or government agents? I don't know who they work for, but yeah, certainly I have gotten information that feels too good to be true. And when I dig deeper and deeper, I'm not going to fall for it. Yeah.
(1:37:13) I don't know who's orchestrating it. Yeah. And Rick's role at the government was what? Was he a part of the CIA or FBI or what? Yeah. I think it was OSI, Office of Special Investigation for the Army. I don't recall specifically, but he has done a lot of counterintelligence and intelligence work for the army.
(1:37:31) Was this disinformation part of Project Blue Book or was this just a separate task? Yeah, it was separate. Project Blue Book officially ended in 1969. Right. And there was a certain number of cases that were unresolved. But there have been active programs about UFOs since then. Lots. Did the government ever pay civilians to debunk UFOs, as far as you're aware? I've never been paid by the government to do anything about UFOs.
(1:38:01) So if somebody else is getting a paycheck, I'd like to know about it. Yeah. I mean, whatever. So I don't know. I don't know. I would imagine it's just like anything within the intelligence community is when you have individuals who are predisposed to doing the work that you want them to do, that you can fund them to continue that work.
(1:38:18) I've seen it happen with domestic terrorism. I have a personal experience with that. I know individuals who were involved in that and they were paid- Are you allowed to talk about that or no? I should not, but it's just there were individuals involved with infiltrating domestic terrorist cells. And it's something that's done all the time. Yeah.
(1:38:42) Okay. David Fravor said that the Russians shot at a UFO and the UFO shot back. I don't know if you've heard of this. Yeah. I'm unfamiliar with that. Okay. I'm going to send you the exact clip. And then if you don't mind watching it, because it might ring a bell. Yeah, that was- It was an engaged five minute thing. And there's other stories from other countries.
(1:39:02) There's a story back when the Soviet Union existed that they actually would chase these things. And one of them shot at some, it shot at it because they said, shoot at it. And it shot at it and then it got shot down. And then he said, don't ever shoot at them again and don't chase them. Just you can observe them, but don't go after them because obviously they have firepower that we can't control.
(1:39:24) Because if you can make something float around and jam radars at will and do whatever you want, modern terrestrial weapons are probably not very useful. Yeah. I'm not familiar with that specific case, but I know that there was a shoot down order in Russia regarding UFOs for a long time. And then that order was removed to not engage. And there was probably a good reason for that.
(1:39:46) But I don't know the specific case Commander Fravor's talking about. Have you heard of other cases where UFOs have engaged with an attack mode, let's say, to civilians or to the army? No. There's an interesting set of cases that the Argentinian government did a massive study on that you should look into where these, they call them chupas, I think. How do you spell those? I think that was the name, C-H-U-P-A-S. I'm not sure that that's right.

(1:40:16) I could be getting that wrong. But there was, I think it was Argentina, and there was this whole government study. Again, man, I could be getting this totally wrong, but I'll send you the information later. Sure. But there were some instances of physical harm done by lights. But I think typically with the UFO phenomenon, these things are disinterested in us.
(1:40:40) Usually they're doing something, like in the Travis Walton case, very famous case, Travis Walton was abducted. And you can look into this case yourself. But he believes that when he encountered the UFO in the forest, that it let off a field that did hurt him. But then maybe they swooped him up to take care of him and drop them back off days later. I don't think there's overt hostility.
(1:41:05) Obviously, there's weaponry that would completely nullify anything that we have within our arsenals of defense in any developed nation on earth. So obviously, these things are not overtly hostile. That goes back to any of these encounters. You're just not seeing attack mode by these things. Brandon Fugel said that there were some of his employees or people studying Skinwalker that were actually hurt and had to be hospitalized.
(1:41:32) Do you know of any of those cases? Can you tell me about the details? Yeah. So you're talking about Skinwalker Ranch and the current owner is Brandon Fugel. The owner before was Robert Bigelow, aerospace billionaire, Robert Bigelow. I do know that at Skinwalker Ranch, that there are a lot of claims of people having physical injuries from the phenomenon itself.
(1:42:01) I remain unconvinced on that connection and association between the phenomenon and these injuries. Now, I could be wrong. I do know that psychologically, people have been injured from engaging the phenomenon. It appears that when they do, it appears to follow them. And that is something that George Knapp has talked a lot about. And if there's a grain of truth to it, you're going to find it at Skinwalker Ranch.
(1:42:25) And when you say the phenomenon, you mean it more like in the Wittgenstein sense of a family resemblance. It's not just UFOs, it's cognate topics like the poltergeist and so on. Yeah. Again, UFOs are witnessed when there's a whole bunch of other phenomena going on as well. I mean, so people are having visions, they're having telepathic experiences.
(1:42:45) Obviously, there's occupants. So Skinwalker Ranch really teaches us that, that UFOs is just a part of the phenomena. It's a part of a bigger reality that we get to see from time to time. Have you spent any nights at Skinwalker? Sure have. Yeah. Okay. What's happened to you personally? To me, that I was aware of nothing. I just snuggled with a friend out of terror and fear.
(1:43:09) I mean, there's nothing that I have as far as- That's a positive. Oh, absolutely. He's a good big spoon. My buddy, Matt Adams. No, look, I've had only positive experiences at Skinwalker Ranch. I did, just before you called me today, I did get a message from Robbie Williams' security, head of security, a guy named Neil.
(1:43:38) And Robbie Williams is a pop star from England. And he came with me to Skinwalker Ranch and me and George Knapp. And his security guy, Neil, was also with us. And Neil did claim to witness a very strange phenomenon, which was like a shadow being. I guess you'd say it looked like a tall being follow me through the kitchen at Skinwalker Ranch. Now I didn't see it. I knew.
(1:44:08) Yeah, yeah. But I didn't see it. I never see anything like that. I would love to turn around and be like, yo, shadow person, tell me what's up. I never see this kind of stuff, but he's dead fast that he did see it with another guy that was at the table.
(1:44:24) What he didn't know is that in the Defense Intelligence Agency study in this command center that we were in, that this shadow being phenomenon had occurred twice before. He was not privy to that information. So if he was making something up, he could have made up anything and it wouldn't have rung a bell. That's what's so weird about the ranch. So I didn't see anything. I'm open to it being true.
(1:44:52) I don't necessarily believe it to be true, but we're talking about a witness who is trustworthy. And he was seeing it live in person or was filmed? Yeah, live in person. The thing apparently followed me right through the kitchen. And I could see this look on his eyes and he told me about it. And I have this like a six minute audio clip.
(1:45:12) We're going in the car and he tells me about it. And I recorded- He didn't tell you right then, there's someone behind you or a shadow person. No, he said, it's time to go. Interesting. And someone else saw it too, he said. Yeah. Yeah. There was somebody else at the table that was able to see it. I miss everything, man.

(1:45:28) My back's always turned. I mean, look, in conclusion, we'll wrap this up with this, in conclusion, you don't have to take my word for it. UFOs are real and enough evidence is out there for you to understand that. If UFOs are real, then that should make you so curious about what they represent, what alternate reality they represent.
(1:45:56) There's an uncharted territory, a mystery here that UFOs are a beacon for. But by studying UFOs and by really looking at the history of what's happened, the credible information, there is an alternate reality. There's a reality that is more expansive and bigger than what we know. And that's what's so exciting to me about the UFO topic. One day I hope to learn more about it and I hope to get closer to the truth.
(1:46:19) But right now I'm like you, I'm just hungry for answers. Jeremy, thank you so much. Do you happen to have, I know you got to go soon or even right now, do you happen to have 10 extra minutes because I have quite a few audience questions. We can just hammer them out. Yeah, sure. Let's do it. Great. Thank you so much. Okay.
(1:46:35) Rivulet says, I'm curious what he was like as a kid, if he knew he was going to be doing something of this nature, if he was intrigued by the abnormal, I suppose. No, I had no idea. Like, how do you ever know what you're going to do when you grow up? I didn't know that I'm growing up yet. We'll see what's next.
(1:46:51) Okay. Then he also asks, and has his occupation ever gotten dangerous? For instance, threats from shady figures offered money to be quiet. Wish I was offered money to be quiet, but I never shut up. No, nothing dangerous. The only thing dangerous is like the people that are so angry at me for like being on social media. I don't know.
(1:47:11) What's the single best piece of evidence you've come across in studying this? That's the same question that I ask every single person that I first interview. Anytime I turn on the camera and I've never gotten a satisfactory answer. I certainly can't give you one. My best evidence that I have is my own personal experience and the people that have come forward to me who don't want fame or to be known and have told me a verifiable piece of information that I can't share with the public. For me, that's the coolest piece of evidence.
(1:47:41) Viewer Q says, he wants to know the, or she, the three most influential slash perspective shifting books to you and why? Oh man. Well, a story, Plato's cave, amazing. Three most influential, like the most, the absolute most. Oh my gosh. I don't know, man. I read mostly like martial arts philosophy books.
(1:48:14) So art of war, another great book. I don't know. I like to read for fun. Okay. Voyager UK 2002 said, in his movie with Lazar, he surprised me with a book called Voyager UK 2002 said in his movie with Lazar, he surprised Bob with a photo of a hand scanner. And apparently the same scanner was used in close encounters of the third kind.
(1:48:40) What do, what do, what does Jeremy and Bob think about this? Well, Bob's no, I'm glad people ask him that. That's a nice way to ask these people are so accusational, man. People totally fucking misunderstood the point. So, okay. Close encounters. This clip has now come out that the hand scanner was in it.
(1:48:59) Now I've watched that I've watched that movie tons of times. Have you ever watched the movie? Okay. No, I don't know what this person is talking about or what you're talking about. That hand scanner was never publicly shown or talked about. It was not even on people's radar to after Bob Lazar. Right.
(1:49:22) Also in the movie, they don't show what the scanner does, how it accesses the bone links and that kind of thing. The revelation of my movie was not that the hand scanner existed. And of course, remember things like close encounters, people are advising that movie. Military people are advising that movie. I know people who advise that movie. So it's no surprise that they would use a scanner that is used in the UFO programs in that movie, but they never expressly say it. Now, Bob Lazar, we've all watched that movie.
(1:49:52) None of us thought about that. Everybody said Bob was crazy, but he said at site four, they use this scanner. It was really weird. It measured your bones. I have the audio and visual of him doing that to George Knapp. Come to find out, it was acknowledged. It was acknowledged that these scanners were used at area 51 and area 52. This happened while I was filming the movie.
(1:50:19) So when I got that image and I showed it to Bob, that is a genuine reaction. He was like, holy, whatever he said, holy, this is the fucking scanner. I never thought I would see this again. He didn't say all the F-bombs and all that. So people like to say, because the scanner was in the movie Close Encounters, that Bob just made it up.

(1:50:40) Well, guess what? If he made it up, he's again, the luckiest person on planet earth, because turns out we now know they were used at area 51 and area 52. How did Bob know? So you come back into the same problem. If you want to shit on Bob and try to call him a liar. Well, he's the luckiest liar you ever met then. Okay. We'll get to the next one. Steven Paul, he says, artist, filmmaker, dot, dot, dot. Ask him about sense-making.
(1:51:00) How does he navigate through the chaos? Sense-making? Yeah. Let's skip that. And then he wants to know, ask if he's read Future Shock by Toffler. I have not. Is it good? I'm just asking Steven Paul's question. All right. Okay.
(1:51:22) Efron, did you have any problems with authorities when trying to film? What happened and how did you overcome them? No, no problems. It was just the, you know, the recording of the conversation and the raid, but that didn't mess with me at all. Yeah. Okay. Efron again. Do you think the government will ever expose aliens to the public as disclosure? No, not, not in like the big sense, like aliens are here.
(1:51:42) We're going to tell you everything about them. It's too guarded a secret because of the potential for weaponization. Efron also asks, what's your advice to other documentary filmmakers attempting to create films regarding ET? Let's say. I mean, if I can do it, literally anybody can do it. Like I just grabbed the cameras, started filming, got Final Cut Pro and edited it. Very simple. So just do it.
(1:52:04) Don't ask permission. Actually, that is the advice. Don't ask permission and don't give a shit what other people think. Make your movie. Joshua Lysak asks, have you heard of Wright Patterson Air Force Base and what are your thoughts on what goes on there? I sure have heard of Wright Patterson Air Force Base.
(1:52:21) That is famously where there is a place called hangar 18, where they hold some UFO materials. So yeah, I have heard about it. And what goes on there is that they house extraterrestrial artifacts there. Do you have any information that hasn't been, let's say disclosed or not known to the UFO community about it? I do.
(1:52:40) And I will be presenting that information when I can back it up thoroughly. But I do. There's a warehousing program that is very interesting. It's been quoted to me as a museum of paper, a location where there's a clearinghouse for all UFO based content over the decades. Mike Wixon asks, how much of our current technology is based on reverse engineering of technologies from other beings? And if you could provide some examples, if you know of any.
(1:53:06) Yeah, that's debatable. A lot of people have argued that. There's a real famous book that deals with Colonel Corso's claims about how industry has been seeded with certain things like super capacitors or whatever. So, or what are they called? Whatever it is. Superconductors? Superconductors.
(1:53:25) So I don't know if that's true. I suspect there is some overlay, but I do know this. I do know that the problem that we're facing now with our military is that a lot of these technologies are wrapped up in black budgets with private industry who seem to supersede the power of chain of command with our military, with these programs, which is a real problem for our sense of government.
(1:53:57) So there are individual corporations which have historically held on to these programs and they're not sharing information. Some of this might be retreading some of our interview, but I'm going to ask it again. Maybe you can give a compendious answer. Mike Wixon also asks if we've been visited by aliens since the beginning of time, or at least since a long time ago, which aliens are they? Where are they from and how, and are there more than one species visiting us? Actually, I would suspect that there's more than one species that's visiting. Again,
(1:54:25) if this is not some simulation reality, if the whole thing is not a simulation reality, then yeah, I'd suspect there's different beings that are visiting. The UFO phenomenon goes back to the beginning of recorded human history. Sajad asks, why are they always so clandestine in their abductions? And if they're directing our evolution, that means they effectively are the creators of religion.
(1:54:52) So how does this play into the greater picture? That's been claimed before, that they've influenced our religion and politics and thoughts. I don't know. Clandestine. I mean, if you're going to abduct somebody, you should probably be clandestine about it. I don't know. David Gibson asks, what fascinates him about aliens? Man, that we're not alone.
(1:55:22) Just this concept that human beings are semi-intelligent beings predisposed to war, but that we might have other brothers and sisters and individuals out there, life forms with other forms of propulsion, other forms of technology, maybe other understandings of the universe, dreams for the future. That's powerful. That is what's most interesting to me. Okay. And just a couple more.

(1:55:50) Voyager UK, 2002, Westfall UFO mass sighting in 1966, Melbourne, Australia, witnessed by over 200 schoolchildren. That's not even a question. It's just a point. Okay. Do you have any comments on that? Look into the case. It's a great case. All right. Number two. Okay. It's another point like that. Phoenix lights. Okay. Number three, Travis, Travis Walton's abduction.
(1:56:12) Why does nobody talk about this anymore? Where are the loggers who were involved in this? It has a profound impact on them. They don't like each other, but they never changed their story regardless. That's true. Not everybody gets along. Just like with Bob Lazar.
(1:56:34) Look, not everybody gets along that were surrounding Bob at the time, but they all agree on one thing. Everything happened exactly like Bob Lazar said. So same with the other case you just mentioned. Travis Walton? Yeah. Travis Walton. I brought him up earlier. It's an important case and people are talking about it. I don't know. If you want to hear more about it, someone should make a movie on it.
(1:56:52) Another movie. Voyager UK, 2002, perhaps you should make a documentary on it. There we go. There's a great one out about Travis. Jeremy, thank you so much. I appreciate it. Hey, man, I'm just so excited that you're interested in it.
(1:57:09) There's a PhD level understanding of UFOs that needs to occur before you can even begin to have the right questions. But the initial reason why people are interested in this is because the implications that something is greater in our reality and we have been lied to, this has been hid from us, that our governments have been implicit in hiding this information from us. That is huge.
(1:57:38) And so I think when someone gets interested in this concept, what I'd like to tell them is, keep your mind open about it. Keep an open mind, but don't let the marbles fall out your head. There's a big problem. It's called UFO disease. You start believing one thing, you believe anything. Keep your head on straight. Look at this rationally. Look at the mountain of evidence.
(1:58:02) Be skeptical, but don't become a debunker. We've already decided one way or the other. Have you seen the Skinwalker series? I don't remember who published it. History Channel, maybe? Yeah. TV series. Yeah. What do you think of it? I actually haven't watched the whole series, but I think it's great that Brandon Fugel is allowing people to document what's going on.
(1:58:22) Look, it's TV. I've heard the criticisms that it's exaggerated for the TV show. I don't know. There's a mystery at Skinwalker Ranch and that mystery is alive and well, and it's worthy of scientific pursuit. The UFO topic is worthy of scientific pursuit.
(1:58:41) People like Neil deGrasse Tyson shouldn't make comments about low resolution photos when clearly he doesn't know what an at-flare camera is, a targeting pod. People like that, we should hold this information to a higher standard. It is one of the greatest revelations that we could possibly have if it turns out it is true.
(1:59:02) Not only are we not alone in the universe, which you all suspect because it's mathematically probable, but additionally, they are visiting here. That is the key point. And if that's true, then that's going to speak volumes about our technology and why they're doing it. I'm super interested in talking to someone about the physics and getting into some of the details and some of the nitty gritty.
(1:59:26) Do you happen to know, well, maybe Travis Taylor, someone I'm, I don't know if you've heard of Travis Taylor. Yeah, I've heard of him. He's in that TV series. Yeah. Yeah. Yeah. That's right. I'm trying to think about who would be a good person. Obviously I would recommend that everybody go look at my YouTube channel, which is just YouTube slash Jeremy Corbell.
(1:59:49) And there's a, a, a long version on there called the anatomy of a UFO. And that's where Bob Lazar describes the propulsion system itself, how gravity wave amplification works with the structure of the craft that he was able to have hands on with. I saw a video with him, but it was from maybe 30 years ago. Is this the one that you're referring to or is it? No, I filmed this with him.
(2:00:12) It's a, it's a 17 minute version of him explaining and drawing the UFO that he worked on, but explaining how the propulsion system works with the structure of the craft. Okay. Okay. All right. Well, all right. Thank you so much, man. I appreciate it. I'm a fan. So any of the haters, if you want to, you can hate on me as well, then. Yeah, I, I, I don't mind. Everybody can have an opinion, even wrong opinions people can have.

(2:00:37) But the idea is that the, the individual, it's, it's not the messenger. It's, it's the message. If you're interested in this at all, you know, try to move the ball forward rather than, you know, trying to suppress people that are trying to talk about this.
(2:00:51) You know, the, the comments land flat anyway. I don't read comments. So, you know, enjoy and hopefully people get curious. I'd like to say weaponize your curiosity. All right, man. Have a great one. Okay. Have a great night, man. Thank you. Do you have ADHD? You know, I was actually diagnosed with ADHD before it was, you know, kind of a very common thing when I was a kid and they put me on, must've been like a Ritalin based drug. And I took it for like a week and I, I felt horrible.
(2:01:25) Like I felt like my soul was ripped out of me and I was like 10. It was before it became so well known, you know? So yeah, I guess I do. I mean, stimulants make me kind of tired, like coffee and stuff. So, you know, I think I'm the same way. Yeah. Yeah. So probably have a paradoxical effect on me, unfortunately, because I would love, I would love, you know, many people say that they live by nootropics and amphetamines and so on, but anytime I've tried virtually anything, it hasn't helped. It maybe has made me worse. Almost nothing helps except. Yeah. It's like
(2:02:02) the reverse. Yeah. It's like the reverse stuff. Yeah. I don't know. Everybody's, you know, got to figure out what works for them, but yeah.

(00:01) [Music] hello and welcome to on the record flying saucers extraterrestrials monsters from outer space the government has been telling us for years that they're not real they're weather balloons or swamp gas or reflections from the Sun or the ravings of lunatics but serious UFO researchers say a breakthrough may be very close some of the government scientists who worked on the top-secret project Bluebook are ready to talk what's more a series of revealing government documents have trickled out of the federal files
(01:17) of guy who would get hooked up in something that a lot of people would say is a bunch of nonsense no it's just by coincidence that I got really interested this about two years ago my father saw a UFO and my brother did yeah they were very interested but there was really no proof as far as I was concerned to really look into it and about until about two years ago your father and brother saw them can you give details my brother saw one he was flying a p38 from Phoenix to Los Angeles at night it just appeared in front of him he made two (01:50) turns 90-degree turns it stayed in front of him and then disappeared and my father was fine flying at night I believe over the Arizona desert and saw one too so he started you got an interest because of the other members of your family how did you start out I had an interest but there was really nothing I could put my finger on and like I say two years ago friend of mine came through town we had flown into Southeast Asia together and he was retiring from the Air Force he came over and we started talking about where he had been (02:19) for the last 15 years and he mentioned that he had been stationed at Bentwaters and I said oh Bentwaters that's where the flying saucer supposedly was in 1980 he said no John not supposedly it was he said I don't care if you believe me or not it landed I didn't see it because we were confined to quarters but I know people who did and I'll give you the names and if you ever see them tell them you know me and they'll tell you the whole story since then I ran into one of the security police who was within ten

(02:47) feet of the saucer and actually saw the three aliens get out and go up to General Gordon Williams who was the Wing Commander at that time now there was quite a bit of documentation regarding this bent wanna read Siddhant why don't you go into that a little bit there's the Colonel halt memo that would came out under the Freedom of Information Act and it told about the mysterious lights and beaming down and everything that happened in the forest except the actual aiding and landings that wasn't in the memo and there was (03:15) also the tape Colonel Hall tape forest tape that he made over a period of eight hours and there's a 20-minute segment that we've been able to get ahold of that you can hear him running through the forest and and being worried saying that things after us now why do you suppose that hasn't come out I mean this particular incident why hasn't come out of so many people and you've told me about this before I've seen it or seen these aliens why haven't some of them come forward a lot of them have come
(03:45) forward but they're just not getting any press it's something that people just don't want to deal with the press doesn't want to deal with and people aren't going to listen to something unless dan Rather or any of your big press people are going to tell him about it and they're just too spooked the Air Force has made an art form of ridiculing people who have talked about this thing they've done an excellent job of covering it up for the last 40 years George basically what we're dealing with (04:16) here is I'll give you the bottom line okay I just Ellen I want to hear your thesis I'm just trying to sell a book and then trying to promote a lecture this is based on what I've come across after intense research in the last year and I have found out that the government has retrieved between ten and fifteen flagyl flying saucers three of which been in perfect condition one of which they tried to fly they have between 30 and 50 alien bodies in cryogenic storage we even have the name of the person whose job it is to (04:48) show these bodies to the heads of state and the people who are authorized to see them they represent at least five different civilizations I can't imagine a Dan Rather or Tom Brokaw if that were to come to their attention a story of that magnitude that they wouldn't do something with it well I can't I can't answer that question I don't I don't know why they don't do it there certainly is enough evidence based on what I've looked at for instance the Linda Moulton Howe documentary in four in Denver for the (05:21) CBS affiliate they are called a strange harvest since 1975 to 1980 when she made the documentary there's at least 9,000 cattle mutilations now the government said that the mutilations were normally at the your desert predator did these but they weren't the mutilations they think we have a picture of these somewhere well maybe we can see that as you're talking well that's the next picture there we are this is a mutilation New Mexico State Police did the research or the investigation on it and they cut out certain parts where (05:56) they in the cut was made where the laser being far sharper than anything we have as a matter of fact they were able to determine that they cut between the cells and didn't cut the cells themselves we presently don't have this kind of technology well if we don't know that we have this kind of technology or you and I don't know that we don't but that doesn't prove necessarily that it's et no except that there's usually a visual sighting of a flying saucer or a light a strange light at each one of (06:26) these sightings okay you mentioned the saucers and the bodies now what kind of proof do you have that that that is true how do you know that well let me take a look let me read to your first day what the Air Force says about the about the bodies first of all I'm gonna read from the introductory Space Science Vol to Department of Physics United States Air Force this is chapter 13 unidentified flying objects now this is what the Air Force has students at the Air Force Academy read and it says the most commonly described
(06:56) alien is about three and a half feet tall has a round head arms reaching tor below his knees and is wearing a silvery spacesuit or coveralls other aliens appear to be essentially the same as Earth men while still others have particularly ride wraparound eyes and mouths with very thin lips and there was a rare group reported to be about 4 feet tall weight of around 35 pounds and covered with thick hair for clothing members of this last group are described as being extremely strong now I'm not making this up this is an airflow you (07:26) can pick out an Air Force physics book and read this stuff and at the end of the chapter they go on to say this leads us to believe in the unpleasant possibility of alien visitors to our planet released of alien controlled UFOs now the picture that we have of the of the big head that the Air Force describes this picture was drawn by an Army Surgeon these are one of the bodies that was recovered in the famous Roswell incident of 1947 tell us about that it was the first flying saucer that crashed and was recovered by the army it was (08:02) covered up there has been several books about it they recovered four beams and one of the surgeons that was responsible for the autopsy drew that picture and and came up with some of these interesting things in the autopsy I'll just read a couple like three and a half to four and a half feet tall two round eyes without pupils no earlobes noses vague neck described as being thin arms is described long and thin reaching down to the knee section you can see that there was a web portion in the hands no teeth no apparent we've reproductive (08:41) organs brain is capacity unknown colorless liquid prevalent in the body without red cells no lymphocytes and there's more in that particularly this is an autopsy report and he said the government goes to great lengths the Air Force in particular to discredit this kind of stuff where did this come from how did you get that came in a private but came from the private collection of Leonard Stringfield who was one the premier researchers he worked for the Air Force in the early 50s in a secret project reporting UFOs then as a

(09:13) civilian he continued his private research and this is out of his collection why does the government want to hide this why doesn't the Air Force just come forward what isn't you know why don't they level with us if this is all true well there's not really much they could say based on what I've been able to find out George they're really you know what what could they say about it they've been researching it for many many years and based on my information let's say that the president decided to (09:41) make an announcement this is if he made it today this is what I think that he would say my fellow Americans I come to you before you tonight with an announcement of great importance despite all our denials flying saucers do in fact exist where they come from we do not know who was in them we do not know where they are from we do not know nor do we know how they got here or what they want we are an MBO unable to duplicate any of the medals found on the several craft we have recovered nor are we able to figure out how they are (10:14) propelled we have hidden these facts from you over the past 40 years in hopes that we give you could give you more answers unfortunately we are no closer to answers today than we were 40 years ago god bless you all in other words you find it highly unlikely that the president would ever make a statement anything like that no it's just it's too big if they're the master the problem is not only just the fact that there are five to five and as many as ten different civilizations visiting us apparently and this is from the research
(10:49) that I've done at least 90% of them are hostile and when I say hostile if not hostile they have a completely different set of morals than than we do okay I'll tell you what we're gonna come back to the President and aliens because there have been some statements made by presidents including President Reagan we'll be right back [Music] welcome back UFOs are they real we're talking with John Lear on the subject mr.
(11:28) Lehrer mentioned a couple of minutes ago about what the president might say about UFOs do you believe that various presidents have been informed about what you believe to be the truth on UFOs each president has been informed up to an including President Reagan I'm not sure to the extent they are informed privately I don't believe they are giving the the full briefing the people that control this information is a organization that we know of as mj-12 and their top group of military and scientists and I do know that when the President becomes president it takes at (12:06) least three or four months before he is actually gets the clearance to know everything there is and that doesn't mean they tell him but it does take three or four months together now talking the president let's talk about what the president has actually said has he mentioned anything about aliens President Reagan President Reagan on December 4th 1985 this is a copy of the speech from the White House just before he went over to Iceland he says I couldn't but one point in our discussions privately with (12:35) secretary-general Gorbachev when you stop to think that we're all God's children wherever we may live in this world I couldn't help but say to him just think how easy his task and mine might be in these meetings that we held if suddenly there was a threat to this world for some from some other species from another planet outside in the universe we'd forget all our local differences that we have between our countries and we would find out once and for all that we really are all human beings here on (13:03) this earth together couldn't be just making a supposition for purpose of making a point you're saying he's trying to tell us that well here one week ago at the 42nd General Assembly at the in front of the UN September 21st he says in our obsession with the antagonism of the moment we often forget how much unites all the members of humanity perhaps we need some outside universal threat to make us recognize his common bond I occasionally think how quickly our differences worldwide would vanish if we were facing an alien threat from (13:35) outside this world and yet I ask you is not an alien force not already among us now this is right out of a White House speech I'm not making this out what did he mean by this alien force I mean does it say does he go on to say something yeah he says what could be more alien to the universal aspirations of our people than war and the threat of war I thought the point is why would he even bring up aliens I mean it's it's it's pretty far out for the President of the United States to be mentioned threats from (14:05) outer space okay what about President Carter President Carter we have the quote from Carter when he was during his election campaign if I become president I'll make every piece of information this country has about UFO sightings available to the public in the scientists I am convinced that UFOs exist because I have seen one Jimmy Carter says he saw one that's Jimmy Carter you saw what he didn't he didn't tell us did he he doesn't the pressure is enormous on these people to cover this stuff up how can that be are they (14:38) afraid of a panic that people would panic there's the panic problem and there's also the problem that in fact in cro-magnon man there may have been some tinkering to make us what we are today and that's been borne out by several researchers we couldn't have developed exactly there's the missing link something had to happen to get us going between 4,000 and 8,000 BC we had just been going along and for hundreds of thousand years not doing anything all of a sudden bang we started making pottery

(15:13) invented the wheel invented fire and everything took off what was the key that did that I don't know but it causes one to thing you mentioned a couple of minutes ago before the break that you think 90% of these visitors are hostile what makes you think that well doesn't fit with what we think of as et you know we if you read some of these books that are on the news Dan one was called intruders one is called communion they apparently come down and when I say apparently this is taken from 300 hip missed hypnosis cases a friend
(15:50) of mine has done a hundred and forty of them and the people are abducted they're taken up into a saucer usually lasts about an hour they do all kinds of experiments they give them shots they poke them they they cut them they do all kinds of things then wipe out their memory and send them back only after several months of some psychological problems do they end up going to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist on trying to find out what the problem is in the use of hypnosis finds out that this person has been abducted what's the (16:24) reason for that what are they trying to learn there's three things that they're trying to do with these abductions the first thing is they're trying to monitor us it started in the early 40s and they'd put a little unit very small BB type object way up in the backside of the brain and they'd leave it there for about 18 years they'd pick him up and put it in about four years old 12 years old they would pick him up and monitor it and about 18 they'd take it out the second thing they did is they put a post
(16:54) hypnotic suggestion according to many of the people that have been hypnotized and we found out what they've told them apparently within the next two to five years there is going to be a big event something enormous is going to happen and these people who have been abducted and there's probably over a hundred thousands of them have been given someplace to go and something to do but under our best hypnotic techniques we cannot find out what it is so how do we know that that's true because they said (17:27) where they are going to do some they know that they're going to do something but they under they have notice they can't find out exactly what it is and the third thing that they do is genetic experiments they've been crossbreeding there's a very good book out now called intruders written by Budd Hopkins and it's about a crossbreeding experiment with a girl in Indianapolis and they actually the the bighead which you coat what we call the bighead and researched a little three and a half foot tall with a big (17:55) head they cross proved that with this girl in Indianapolis and there were seven children and just last fall before the book was published they brought the oldest and the youngest to show to her and they let her name all seven now this book has been thoroughly researched by Bona Hopkins and although it sounds strange believe me when I tell you you made me not you may not find out in a month a year five years or ten years but you'll look back at what I'm telling you now and you'll say to yourself my gosh

(18:28) the son of a gun was right well where's this girl now she's just she got no she lives in town or just outside of town she just got married but went to her wedding we all know who she is she gets long you know just fine it doesn't mean just because she was adopted and gave him children doesn't mean it was the end of the world it was just a part of her life why don't we see a lot of photographic evidence as many cameras and video gear why don't we see a lot of that there are before you go on I know
(18:59) the pictures that we showed in the beginning of this program you say they're baloney they're phonies that's right that the pictures you showed at the beginning were the called the Myers incident it's called a visitor the visitors from Pleiades and any ufologist worth his salt knows and who has researched that case knows that he cannot back it up with the negatives and the essential information to prove this that something like that happened so we we look at that as as suspect so in other words you run into your Sheriff
(19:33) phonies as well in your research absolutely there's not that many but there are a few out there there are so many people that have real stories to tell that we're just so busy with those for instance let's take the November 17th Japan Airlines incident I'll tell you what we're gonna take another break and we'll do that when we come back stay with [Music] welcome back we have a few minutes left with John Lear we're talking about UFOs you're about to tell me about the Japanese airline incident it's probably (20:11) something that's still in the memory of our viewers yeah the Japanese airline incident was a cargo 747 that had taken off from Iceland flying to Anchorage and as he passed over the United States border and the northern part of Anchorage he was intercepted by a UFO it was twice the size of an aircraft carrier and he was followed by 40 minutes he made a complete 360 degree right turn he made it a sin of 5,000 feet that things stayed with him regardless of what you hear the FAA did have him on radar and so did the Air Force if you have a
(21:25) is from the captain's rendition when he was debriefed by the FAA now certain UFO debunkers have said what he saw was the planet Jupiter well this is an insult to all transport category captains around the world I mean the guy knows the difference between something that's twice as big as an aircraft carrier and the planet Jupiter I've also heard that it's the reflection of his own plane that's what the radar yeah it was an attempt to describe it unique cannon I can't imagine what pressure these people
(21:55) are under to to cover this stuff up it's it's tremendous pressure it really is okay you were gonna tell me that the church did you want to go further into the Jael incident no that's I just want to say as a 26-page report it had the captain and the ATC conversation had the the radar plots and it had the airforce plots and the FAA radar plots there's no question about it it was no being followed him the church what do they think about UFO well here's a copy from the London Evening News July 21st
(22:28) 1987 and says prepare to meet dyneins Vatican theologians have acknowledged that there could be life on other planets now they plan to train missionaries capable of working in space and meeting aliens Jesuit scientists at the Vatican Observatory in frascati near Rome have reported moving lights and other identified phenomena in the sky starting in September the Vatican University will have especially you a full section you've said before you thought a lot of their intentions were hostile and you've mentioned before that (22:58) a lot of the sightings are around military bases why don't we see him here

Las Vegas we got a lot of military bases here well the in fact there have been a lot of a lot of reports of UFOs in around Las Vegas not specifically over the air force bases we have the test site and of course we don't know what's going on there and we have Nellis Air Force Base but there have not really been a lot of sightings over there the main air force sightings were in 1975 and the UFOs descended on every Strategic Air Command base guarding the (23:34) perimeter of the northern United States and they hovered over the nuclear weapons storage area and they stayed there with impunity for up to two and three hours over a period of three days and nobody heard about it well there was a few reports but you really don't I have a I have a report 150 pages long of the f-16s that were sent out to chase him in the helicopter is and notifying the Canadian authorities and the and the security patrolmen that were sent down to actually see what was going on and they'd come up on these things and they (24:08) say I'm not going any further you think maybe it's a top-secret area if the Air Force actually does have them maybe they got him here I'm sure they do up at the test site there's a report that of the three the they got in perfectly good condition at least one is up at the test site and has flown and and one was being flown as of 1981 by us by us you know we mentioned at the top of the show that perhaps a breakthrough might be coming that some of these people from mj-12 or from the project Bluebook who are in on the (24:45) government's research and we saw some of the stuff might be ready to talk we got about a minute left why don't you tell me about it it's our information that that half as part of mj-12 wants to release it part of it doesn't we're hoping that we can do this but of course as researchers were not aware of all the ramifications we just know of what we're looking at so we would like to seem release it but we really don't know if they are okay John Lear it's been very interesting you keep us posted
(25:15) sure well thank you we'll see you next week with more of on the record

(00:00) [Laughter] [Music] hello good morning good afternoon yeah pleasure to meet you pleasure to get to talk to you and i really appreciate you coming on here means a lot to me um you and i have uh some shared interests clearly in the world of uh ufos but i want to talk most people know of you because of bigelow aerospace they know that you're this billionaire investor and you're a very successful businessman but you have a deep fascination with ufos yeah yeah sure do how did this all get started um back when my uh
(00:52) when i was about three years old which would be about 1947 and actually of may of that year my grandparents had a um very close encounter that was dramatic and they were taking a an afternoon evening drive in the late afternoon up into the mountains and coming on back down to las vegas and they saw um what appeared to be at first an airplane on fire and um the object became closer and closer to them and they pulled off to the side of the road and at one point then it filled up the windshield and they thought they were (01:30) going to die and at the last second it shot off and and disappeared and um i learned of this story when i was probably 10 years old and because i was three at the time and my mother had told me the story so i approached my grandfather and he wouldn't talk about it now after all these years like seven years have gone by because i was intrigued with it and so into my grandmother and she only would say a few words but she wouldn't talk so i got the story from my mom and um and they had my grandfather had to (02:14) sit on the side of the road there in the car for a while to recompose himself and uh because they thought they were they were gonna die and uh and then he finally was able to drive on back to las vegas so that was the beginning for me did he ever describe what he said it looked like a plane on fire but like what was the shape of it as it got closer i i don't recall any kind of shape that was that was uh this is my mother described i don't recall that um but they just knew it wasn't a plane they knew it was

(02:46) that's right so that's crazy so in the family you know in the family the family had an event and i lived right next door to my grandparents and the family had an event that kind of started things at that date for me other personal things came later but for the family that was a big deal so this was you said 47 47.
(03:10) and 47 was the time of the roswell crash 47 was a time there was a lot of ufo activity being observed worldwide and the speculation is that this had to do with the nuclear bombs that were dropped on hiroshima and nagasaki and all the tests that united states had done and russia had done and that there was a lot of interest in in obviously in that well actually russia hadn't dropped any bombs by that time right right it was after that but that there was interest in our species by extraterrestrials because they let oh these crazy [__] are (03:44) detonating nukes like let's let's go take a look at them right we had uh so-called foo fighters during the war these lights that were following uh bombers and the tail gunners were the ones that saw them most often of course and uh and that happened through through the war and then um and then of course roswell before that was ken arnold right in about june junish and then in july uh was roswell and there's a direct uptick though from the trinity experiments right i think i i yeah i gather my feeling
(04:24) simply is that without any kind of other other evidence or proof that that was a huge stem stimulus yeah so this was around that time then you had heard about this as a part of you know family discussions right and so that sort of ignited the fire initially yeah and i started asking my friends as i say when i was about 10.
(04:47) uh you know have you any any reports in your family of anything and and by golly a couple of my close friends told me things that they had never told me before uh so you know it wasn't that wasn't and necessarily an exclusive event is what i'm saying other people in las vegas had had uh seen things at close proximity as well now your relationship to this is obviously something that you've carried for so long it's it's been an obsession of yours for so long yeah yeah it started with this but what (05:25) personal experiences if any have you had well when i was probably seven or so seven or eight i used to have what i chalked up all my life to just being silly dreams and i had maybe five or six of these dreams and they i could never make sense of them and i would be laying in bed on my side and a typical dream always the same there would be three short somebody somethings in a kind of monk uh robe and so i couldn't see any face couldn't see any appendages and the these three whatevers were standing there and they they were not too far from my
(06:11) eye level as far as the heights and so forth so these like child size yeah yeah and uh so there's nothing in the i was an avid comic book reader but there was nothing in the in the whole genre of comic books that uh related to that or movies and uh we didn't have television las vegas until 53 or 54 and even after that it was terrible broadcasting uh you know at first but so it made no sense to me and um so over my lifetime i never mentioned it to anybody including my wife you know it's funny how you keep things
(06:47) secret and uh just kind of for no no good reason um maybe i would be embarrassed to to talk about it but i finally thought well you know maybe it was just dreams maybe it was something else and so that was a first event personally that i had uh at that time in the subject when did you start to connect the idea of these tiny people or human-like things with extraterrestrials well years later when i began to start my process as a researcher and as a student in the subject and began to talk with people who are who made it their business to be experts
(07:33) in abductions and the more i got into the field and sat writing out questions for the researcher for the therapist who would be asking the questions and and i'd be sitting there watching the process and just over time i thought well you know maybe there was something more to it but uh i'm better off not knowing anything so i'll just block it off and forget about it yeah we talked last night about john mack a little bit uh the harvard uh great guy yeah and he did a lot of these sort of hypnotic regression (08:11) sessions with people where they describe very similar scenarios well yeah a multitude of different situations the abduction phenomena was was very proliferate in the population it seemed like even we did a survey called the roper poll and we repeated it three times so that the margin of error was really reduced to like one one and a half percent and abduction researchers came up with the 10 questions and so they we distributed that and the the conclusion was a fairly relatively sizable percentage of the population had some kind of

the poll um i i am not qualified to speak to the accuracy of whether the questions were that relevant to the conclusions or not uh but that's what they said and uh so and i had in my own research found people that i put them through a regression not personally but i found a hypnotherapist that could do that and i found a number of people just here there scattered around maybe somebody in my own staff and uh they would come up with with these these (09:38) stories in these events one of the criticisms of john mack and hypnotic regression in general is that the idea that you can put um the idea that you can put a memory into someone's head that you could suggest things and you could create false memories and this was something that i've read inc the criticism of his work that this style of hypnotic regression and bringing up these very specific scenarios to a bunch of different people you can sort of help create especially in uh people that are easily influenced or (10:12) people people that are open to suggestion you could put these false memories in their head and so you know especially when you're dealing with something as fantastic as a ufo or alien abduction or visitation or something like that no that's definitely possible there's also something called screen memory but dealing with the first the power suggestion that's absolutely true but my experience was with different hypnotherapists they went out of their way in fact maybe if they did make a suggestion it was just the opposite
(10:46) they might say okay you're on board this craft um you know where's the where's the lighting coming from is it coming from the corner or of the of the room that you're in well there were no corners they'd be corrected right away by the person being hypnotized and so they went just the opposite direction on purpose to make it make suggestions to maybe coax the person to come that direction and they wouldn't do it the person wouldn't do it now screen memory is different supposedly if somebody
(11:21) has a very close encounter with supposedly somebody that's that's et you leave that that uh the memory turns out to be entirely different and that's put into you consciously and you recall something entirely different than what actually happened maybe you you saw deer two deer on the road or something of that sort uh or maybe there were owls or whatever so um that's what's purported to be what's crazy to me is if you go back to betty and barney hill if you go to travis walton if you go a
(11:57) lot of these abduction experiences people that did not know each other and particularly were talking about before social media before or any of this stuff right they have very similar stories like similar to a disturbing extent yeah well betty barney betty and barney hill was accidental you know i think somebody had betty or barney had a sleep problem and they went to try to get some therapy for a sleeping disorder i think there was some kind of connection like that but it didn't have to do with oh my gosh we have this recollection the (12:32) story evolved through the therapy and in order to try to fix this other problem all of a sudden this story starts just to flow out and so i don't know whether it was betty first and then barney later and i think barney resisted uh going under hypnosis i believe and then everything just started pouring out so there's a woman named angela hill she's a top ufc fighter and she is actually the granddaughter of uh betty and barney no kidding it's crazy and i didn't know about it until after we did a conversation
(13:06) i was interviewing her just talking to her about her fighting career yeah and at the end of the conversation she like when we were done wrapping up and about to leave she's like oh i forgot to tell you and then she tells me that her grandparents were betty and barney hill what that's amazing that was her grandfather did you did you inquire did you ask yeah we talked about it yeah we talked about it and she you know she didn't have a much of a memory of him but you know her parents recalled the the scenes
(13:33) that he described and you know obviously it became this huge national story i mean i remember hearing about it when i was a kid so sure it was in the 1950s right yes yeah and there was no there was no archetype that you would sort of model you know your memories after i would wonder like if i ever did hypnotic regression today i would i would be very skeptical of my own memories because i've heard so many stories right of these spaceship encounters i've talked to people like travis walton i've talked to (14:06) people like bob lazar i've talked to these people that have had these experiences with these things i i would wan i would think that my memory might be tainted by my expectations but you can't say that about betty and barney hill these people they had there was no stories like that before then this is not some pop culture thing that they were latching on to right and even the way they described these creatures the film the similarities between their descriptions and travis walton's descriptions you know 20 plus years later it's very (14:37) eerie right right right and same thing with uh well like ken arnold's sightings you know that was that was virgin territory back then in in uh 46. explain that to people well so ken arnold was a pilot and uh uh that's in that movie phenomenon right isn't it described in that uh maybe so the phenomenon maybe so and so he was flying over mount shasta somewhere in washington there and saw these objects nine objects uh kind of skipping along in formation and he being a professional pilot was able to estimate their speed calculate that and (15:19) um they were traveling way too fast for conventional aircraft and the shape that he described was i've always thought them of them a little bit of a manta ray shape without the tail and kind of a little bit of a curved boomerang kind of shape to to the craft and um and that that got an awful lot of attention because he was very credible fellow uh as were other people that later um revealed their own sightings military backgrounds people with that were had major rank or captain rank you know so they had they had uh

(15:55) stories you would listen to you know about their experiences because uh they were professional observers in the in the military and uh and actually while we were out eating dinner last night dan crenshaw sent me a text and i shared it with everybody at the table and it's from american airlines pilots that saw some spectacular sighting right over the last couple of days right and they're you know trying to figure out what the hell these people saw but something that sped by them at some insane rates of speed and
(16:29) there's a recording of them discussing it whether it's uh abnormal or conventional that should never have happened in that proximity to that aircraft right so if it were an accident that's a really bad accident to come that close and if it were flying in the in the line of flight and it sped that fast over its head it was really moving yeah well was a conventional commercial aircraft go 400 plus miles an hour american airlines pilot reports seeing ufo an american airlines pilot reported seeing a long cylindrical
(17:02) object flying right over the top of the plane as he was flying sunday's american airlines flight aa2292 was operating from cincinnati to phoenix using an airbus a320 aircraft over the northeast portion of new mexico at 37 000 feet during what was otherwise a routine flight one of the pilots contacted air traffic control at albuquerque center he said do you have any targets up here we just had something go right over the top of us i hate to say this but it looks like a long cylindrical object that almost looked like a cruise
(17:33) missile type of thing moving really fast right over the top of us so what's missing is propulsion signature right so they that should have been evident that it had some kind of propulsion some kind of exhaust was was going on right yeah you would think um that they could detect that if it were in the line of sight if they were if they were behind it well that's a very short description though i mean maybe it did have some sort of propulsion that they they saw that's all we saw i mean maybe there's a
(18:02) report that'll come out where they describe it in detail that's just them calling it in right yeah if it's not super unique then it was one hell of a mistake right yeah i mean but so it's just yeah there's a lot of those that's the problem there's there's a lot of these and there's there's video of them like the the one what is it the one that's uh on the east coast that's moving over the surface of the water at insane rates of speed and you see it it also no heat signature
(18:30) no obvious method of propulsion and it doesn't exhibit because that one was done i believe it was infrared the camera so you should have been able to see some exhaust or some heat signature that was showing right how it was being propelled at that insane rates of speed and and you hear these pilots who are used to flying they're flying fighter jets and they're like holy [__] look at this thing yeah and they're you know they're kind of freaking out well the good news is there's there are (18:59) so many more people with cameras with cell phones yeah these days and so you have a much more aware public than you did what 25 years ago in 1997 was the so-called phoenix lights yeah and they weren't just lights because that craft started from northern arizona some say maybe clark county nevada area and proceeded down south toward phoenix in the twilight of the evening where thousands of people saw structure it wasn't just lights it wasn't just could it be confused with flares

dropping aircraft dropping flares
(19:40) and they and uh no such things had occurred anyway at that time that that day and uh so people saw structure and the structure was estimated what quarter mile maybe from tip to tip boomerang kind of shape kind of craft and and yet that should have been a really big deal news wise right over a major city so many observers and but it wasn't and then you had but it was though right because we all know about it well but then of course the governor at the time was wife sirington and uh we know now that he didn't know
(20:21) what to do because he was an actual witness that he he admitted to 10 years later of actually being a witness right but he he didn't know how to address that well that was the famous press conference that was a famous press conference had a guy dress up like an alien exactly yeah had just if he had done just the opposite what might have happened on that with his testimony as being a witness a governor of a state and and then draw that other people then might have come forth more and more volume of folks saying yeah me
(20:52) too i saw i saw it with your understanding of the way the government sort of processes this kind of information that it's it's not it's it's not available to everybody and the the information in terms of like what these things are what they aren't whether or not they're some sort of top secret aircraft that the government is working on or whatever it is they they don't if unless they're making press conferences about these things they don't necessarily want to broadcast what it is and they certainly don't want
(21:24) to broadcast it if it's not one of ours do you think that they contacted the governor and and informed him that he needed to make a mockery of this or do you think it was his own personal decision my my feeling is it was his personal decision um i and my feeling is that the government is not that organized anymore maybe it was back some quite a while back but i don't think that i think that denial is is able to be um to be carried forth without government encouragement um so he probably did just to calm everybody down yeah just (22:07) i mean he probably felt tremendous pressure right because i remember this was an enormous story i mean it was going all across the united states as people were talking about it and then there was all sorts of sort of semi-reasonable explanations about dropping flares the thing about the dropping flares though were that they hovered in the sky for a long time like it didn't make any sense at flare like are they defying gravity how are they just because there's video footage of it from multiple sources home footage where (22:34) people are filming these things where these these red lights that are just hovering in the sky but the red lights coincided with these triangular shaped vehicles or boomerang shaped vehicles that other people were seeing well there were people living on camelback mountain and not at that this is how low this this craft was to the surface as it it they got a edge-on view yeah coming practically at them just slightly over the went over the mountain but there's no video of that right not that i i don't know there could be i
(23:05) don't i've never seen this was 97 97 yeah yeah see that's not you know phones back then not everybody had a phone and they didn't have good cameras right the thing about even today you know with cameras and most cell phone cameras aren't capable of seeing things at a zoom like with um with the exception of the samsung galaxy series the new ones they actually have a setting where you can take photographs of the moon because they have some pretty spectacular zoom capabilities it's pretty interesting stuff
(23:38) um if you got one of those and you saw something in this guy maybe you could zoom in on it and get a good shot of it but you know you're talking about things traveling at insane rates of speed that's very far away you're really not going to get much anyway no it's got to be much closer to really have definition of what it is you're looking at now there was a story quite recently of a pilot in a fighter jet that took a photograph of some similar shaped object some triangular shaped object and (24:08) apparently it was very very clear image it was a very clear image and there was some speculation about people releasing this and that they were going to release it and there was hesitation about releasing it do you know about this well is that the one off the east coast uh real estate real recently no i'm not familiar with that there was do you know what i'm talking about jamie i think we discussed it with the picture that you can like see they zoomed in on the picture apparently is [__] okay that picture apparently is not real but (24:37) but there was one taken by a pilot in the plane yeah but a couple two three years ago sometime oh a different one see this is the pentagon response to release a photo taken from navy pilot showing unidentified objects i heard that this was nonsense i heard i heard from people that are in the know that this is not the image that they're talking about the one they have this is according to people that are in the military the one they have is much clearer than this there's more than one image right there i don't know (25:06) we may be talking about different ones maybe i don't know okay uh breaking sorry breaking uh debrief media has learned the leak of an unclassified photo said to have been widely distributed in the intelligence community which reportedly shows what the dod has characterized as unidentified aerial phenomenon i don't know if that's see look obviously i'm just talking out of my ass but what i had heard was that that was not the image in question that there was a much much clearer imaging question that was (25:33) pretty stunning that they were debating on whether or not to release because once the new york times in 2017 published that front page article that showed some of those images that have been captured from the video cameras and that fighter jets experiences and and talked about commander david fravor's experience with the tic tac ufo off the coast of san diego that sort of like released a lot of uh pressure on the concept of if if you discuss these things you're a foolish person right for a long time and i'm sure you

(26:07) must have experienced this because you've been in the game for a long time right discussing ufos in 1970 or in 1980 like people would look at you like you're probably crazy or something right i was too busy being in business in those years he didn't care uh i had a little plan i was following that i put together when i was a kid and i was on a mission to be in business to acquire resources so that i could someday have fun chasing this stuff yeah that's that's one of the more interesting things about you like you
(26:44) became like a hotel tycoon and a real estate tycoon gathered up all this money so that you could study ufos and and do fun things maybe in space yeah well you've also been involved in creating shelters and structures that people can actually live in in space right does the genesis and the genesis well we call it a b330 is what we have on our our plant right now is uh engineering units which are flight units as far as hull and bulkheads are concerned and longerons and so we had to shut down because of the covet
(27:24) and uh and but we have very advanced structures yeah and these have been implemented too some of them have actually been you've actually put these things we we have a trl9 because we have a structure scale structure um that's on the iss now yeah so your dream in a lot of ways of getting involved in aerospace and in space travel like you're this is real like yeah you're a guy who actually has contracts with you know big government not that i've ever made money back you know it's been a bottomless pit has
(28:03) it been yeah sure so you've just done it as a passion maybe a hope and a prayer you know kind of thing hail mary's and part of it is because of your obsession with extraterrestrials i'm not sure i don't know i don't know uh probably that probably is a connection there because you're made aware that there's a whole lot more out there than what we know and and uh what people think so that could they uh there probably is a connection that was always was do you have any images of that see let's
(28:39) pull it up so people could see what we're talking about the stuff that you've created yeah so this one so that's that's an older version that we did quite a long time ago um we have a full scale that's that's just a one-third scale uh basic architectural features and accommodations for for living space okay now yeah i think those are those are full-scale uh architectural renderings now down at the bottom keep okay so um that's full scale that one right there yeah that's that's an old version but that's (29:20) a full scale that's 330 cubic meters and um it's it's a more crude mock-up than what we have now and the standard volume on a module for the iss is about 120 or the largest is around 120 cubic meters so 330 is about you know three almost three times that so when you design one of these things or when you go into business to create one of these things how what what's the steps that are you're taking do you contact engineers do you bring in uh i mean how do you decide that you want to go into business to (29:56) make these things and how do you go about implementing it so you know we it was it's been a 20-year process and first you try to try to engineer i in fact i had nothing about about the origination was original with me because i became incredulous about what nasa had done in the uh in the early 90s uh with something called the transhab and it was a vehicle to take people to mars and congress cut the funding for that um and uh oh my god how could they do such a thing because it was very apparent apparent that that (30:45) that craft was uh really cool for a lot of reasons and so i started the company started putting money in it and started going after that and then after about three years acquired a license exclusive license to use their patent for just for the enclosure no book of instructions came with it there wasn't a manual saying here's how you do this and so we started from scratch and we had no assistance from nasa whatsoever in in arranging architecture architectures and engineering and then through a process of trial and

(31:21) error and testing and testing and testing destructive testing long duration leak tests destructive because you had to to try to quantify that the strength of of the materials and we were using factors much more demanding than the factors for metallics factors of four instead of metallics maybe one and a quarter or something and uh and we finally engineered envelopes that were very durable ballistically we did a lot of what's called hyper velocity impacts tests where you shoot a particle at about seven kilometers a second
(32:08) six to seven depending on the type of gas gun you're using and uh seeing how well the structure can defend against something going that fast um actually the defense on something going fast is easier than a particle going slower like a bullet for example uh kind of crazy but for some reason that it uh uh and when you mean defense you mean something like micro meteors or space yeah actually junk smaller than that you know maybe the size of a centimeter uh which is actually a big particle historically to hit something you know
(32:43) like the station or whatever i think maybe some of the solar rays have been hit by something that large but so you're defending against also radiation aluminum structures are not what you want to be inside especially for deep space missions outside of leo low earth orbit and there's something called secondary radiation that that propagates so in the background galactic radiation has heavy protons and and it's it's more lethal so what did you do to shield your habitats from radiation well the hull has no aluminum structure
(33:28) so and the hull is a matrix of many layers of different kinds of materials and those materials are um like kevlar you know or vectran we use vectran um a little bit for a couple reasons but it's like kevlar and so through a series of of other materials in addition to to that type of material you start to evolve a shield and the shield on a b330 overall is about 15 to 18 inches thick and there is there are spaces in between layers so it's not as though you compress it and it's going to be a foot and a half
(34:23) thick right but it's those spaces that make a difference and how debris breaks up and finally just becomes dust or if it's too fast and too large it's not dust it's going to succeed on going through and when it does is there a patch method yeah they used to first of all you have to maybe locate there could be things on the hall that are in the way because you use the hall as an attaching surface and so that volume is very useful and so assuming you've located it now uh and it depends on the size of the (35:00) particle if it actually was significantly large it blow off whatever was attached to the home you just put another hole right through whatever is attached so it'd be easier to find the hole that's the good news bad news the gas is you know your gas is escaping a lot faster so you do have some time though in a large volume for that gas to totally escape so then you have to make a judgment as to do you have time to create the patch and it's actually a fairly simple process because anything you put there wants to (35:31) stick to the wall right but depending on a basketball size something there's not an explosion it doesn't go boom like a balloon it just loses gas um you know your air and uh so you'd probably have time to go to the airlock unless uh you're on the plane you'd have time to escape but that would be the move you really wouldn't want to yeah you want to be able to go someplace else you know hopefully you're attached to something that can accommodate whoever's on board why did this become your uh
(36:04) area of specialty when it comes to aerospace like why did you invest in this why'd you invest in habitats well at first i played around with some other companies i invested in two or three other companies in the late 90s one they were rocket plane type companies i came very close to investing in in what bert rutan was creating before virgin came along and so i was looking for some place to go somewhere to put capital money and and energy and passion into something and uh so i did these these investments in these different companies and then i (36:48) stumbled on the transhab you know so so your initial idea was maybe some sort of commercial space travel type investment something like virgin galactic or something like yeah i really didn't know i think the most enticing thing was what bert was working on and um and that the financial model for that was very attractive um and um i think he was of course he's a aircraft design genius he has so many awards you hardly can count them as you walk down the hallway to his office it's like floor to ceiling plaques you know you got a couple extra

(37:32) just for souvenirs you know put something you know but uh and so he's he's a total genius and he by the way had his own ufo sighting that has stayed with him all his life when how old was he when he i don't know you'll have to get that story from him but it's worth listening to um it so many people have you know so anyway that's how i i started in that and i fell in love with the concept of of expandable systems launching something with a finite fairing diameter and length and being able to (38:07) triple the size of that that volume once it's ejected and it's it's launched you know and the fairing opens up and now you start to expand and inflate and uh wow all that you can do with that volume is is really cool and so this allowed you to i mean these contracts if you're doing with the iss are they with nasa or like who is that who you you work with yeah nasa's that basically has been the only game in town for us and for most folks most folks in the rocket business uh other than for the air force who buys
(38:42) launches for satellites nasa is the game still and when nasa's financially hurting everybody hurts depending upon who who is providing the leadership both in congress and in nasa and in the white house you can do fantastic things so it's all a combination of whether or not people can all work together if they're fighting in congress and going on you're not going to get much you're not going to go go places like you could yeah so with you being involved in this and creating these habitats and your (39:18) long-standing obsession with ufos and potential alien life getting involved with nasa must have been pretty exciting you're like well maybe i'm going to learn something now oh definitely you're definitely going to learn absolutely they have a lot of good people and very expert people so you're going to learn a lot it's a great place to to sponge all that you can uh but i mean learn things about ufos and alien life oh that oh that oh no i was back i was back about you know space conventional space trail well that too
(40:01) basic way to learn you're not going to learn anything about ufos and e.t from the vast vast vast vast majority of the scientific community and that includes nasa and everybody else are they not interested i think it's a combination of things i think the reason for that is not because they're not not interested and a lot of people are because i'm asked things all the time a lot of people are i think there's always the concern of embarrassment i i think they're not in a position to be an investigator
(40:37) they might have a passion and want to do that but it takes time it takes time and effort to go do those things and usually you want to stick to what your career is right so and maybe they they've had somebody in their family that has had a tremendous story and so um they'll carry that with them and they might be uh they might buy the books they keep at home they might brown bag it you know not bring it to the lunch at commissary where other people can see what you're reading right you know so it's all different
(41:11) kinds of things everybody's different right so there's kind of a maybe a shame or something along that line involved in pursuing extraterrestrial ideas not as much as it used to be right now it was much worse 20 30 years ago what was it like then well as i could speak to to you know just the general um science population was much more reticent to to talk about ufos 30 years ago i think than today there's been so much more exposure on the media so uh because you have a regular television program now on (41:53) aliens et's ancient aliens whatever doesn't matter it's all over the place compared to 25 years ago so it's all it's a different kind of world but the thing about the ufo et subject as you continue to do research and and work in that whole community is a kind of a strange frustration about acquiring a little bit of a taste of understanding about the possibilities of locomotion of movement and where we are whether we're still working with fire engines you know and thank god for people like to have them but the the dynamicism of ufos and ets is so overwhelming as to what that world is like and if it's all true or even some of it true it's more than just a holy cow it's all my god you know so it's like night and day comparison and and here we are still in 2021 and um still waiting to get back to the moon well i think when we were talking earlier about the (43:25) new york times article i think that was a real um a pivotal moment in the the culture's acceptance of the concept of these things because when you see something like printed on the front page of the new york times when you see like people like commander fravor yeah very well respected you know all full respect no one no one thinks that guy's a kook oh no you read about his experiences and you go okay there's something to this yeah and leslie keane the journalist that did that article did a terrific job

(43:59) fantastic job just fantastic it's a dangerous subject for someone yeah it is you're open to ridicule and sure but the preponderance of evidence had gotten to the point where there was enough out there we could say listen this is not something to be mocked anymore there's something to this right that's right when you have you have like commander favor and we hired doug one of the pilots there we learned about that in 08 the event happened in 004 so you have really credible people seeing something
(44:31) that's totally an anomalous that has no business doing what it's doing right so you got to take it really seriously not only yeah things that have been tracked by instrumentation things that have gone from well it's like 80 000 feet above sea level to one foot in less than a second and then traveled to the the agreed upon uh destination where the the plane was going to go later like that they knew it knew where they were traveling to it was able to travel at an insane rate of speed that's not even (45:03) it doesn't make any sense with any technology that we've ever even theorized nope no so these are these are things that were tracked by instrumentation so it's not this is the best instrumentation this is instrumentation that's used by the united states military to protect the boards it's all the real [__] so when you read things like that in the new york times everybody has to kind of go huh yeah okay and then you couple that with hundreds of thousands or millions of other events and stories
(45:36) that have happened over the last 50 60 70 years you think oh my god uh we're so far behind you know of what else is going on right because we've been so afraid of ridiculous how long is it going to take us to get to that point right you know and do we even understand even the beginnings of the physics of it because what if their consciousness operated you know that's it you don't have the right significant signature it isn't going anywhere nothing is coming on no there's no lights the dash didn't light up right so sort
(46:11) of like when you walk up to your car like uh i have a a ford f-150 when i get near it it knows i'm there because my key fob sure you know sure when i touch the handle or like a test somebody else has your key fob yes it's gonna it's gonna light up but instead of it being like like a tesla key fob when you get to it the handle opens up so you can open the door right like as you get close to it's pretty cool yeah sure but instead of that it's actually your consciousness yeah and what if you're not even close to it
(46:41) yeah what if you're on the other side of the planet and you want it to start like you can with a car with a with an application like if you have a tesla you could roll your windows up with the app you could lock it with the app right it operates through wi-fi who's to say they can't do something like that with with consciousness yeah we have no no idea i mean it's not even that's not even outside of what makes sense you know if you if you looked at like if you followed the technology and the
(47:11) technological improvements over the last 15 20 years and you explored the possibility of what could be done in the next hundred or a thousand or a hundred thousand years yeah that's not even crazy yeah well in our physics physics is incomplete in my humble opinion because it doesn't provide answers for all the paranormal basket not not just what we're talking about with ufos but all the other kinds of stuff that has done and has been done in laboratories for many many years on camera by by people that have performed really strange (47:51) things you mean like quantum mechanics and no no like micro macro pk something just takes something simple and what is that michael just just manipulating um material objects whether they're electrons and and so uh or or a bottle cap and so you're let's say you've got a screen computer and um you've got a

it's hooked up to a random event generator and which is flipping a coin you know many many hundreds of thousands of times a second and it's establishing a firm even line this 50 50 across your screen (48:31) and then there's another line coming along and your challenges to is to have the two lines deviate so you're you're and i don't know i've it's been so many years since i i was in the pear lab with bob john and brenda dunn i forget the exact details on this but the point was there was a line that was created a second line that you were to think about and try to deviate that line and you should not be able to do that at all so they had maybe a one flat line on the screen and then you had this (49:04) random event generator that should be 50 50 right alongside that same line but it's not you're causing it to go up or you're causing it to go down and they had a lot of people successful on this many many many and they did just a huge number of trials that were successful so that's in the smallest context you had well that russian woman kalignia something like that was her name that worked with objects in a bell jar and um she would be able to manipulate them cause them to spin to cause them to lift and objects what
(49:38) kind of object small objects you know something something small microscopic no no no like a bottle cap you know something that size so some sort of telekinesis uh macro pk so you're it's a it's it's some kind of a consciousness connection that is causing the effect that effect on that object this is something that's been filmed oh yeah yeah so this woman is doing what and she she died at a relatively young age her heart they said would go up to like 180 beats or 90 beats a minute and i while she was doing this
(50:16) yeah and i she was just this is this lady oh your guy is good he's the best he is the best so what is she doing here well she's well this is like really old stuff huh oh yeah oh yeah she's moving one of those matches yeah but she's also moving that piece of metal right um and there's other ones where she would do this and these things would be in a bell jar i believe so she's not touching it she's making it move yeah and i think they literally wore her out what year is this yeah but here's my problem this is (50:53) something that's on the table right i can't see below the table i can't see if there's a bad a magnet i can't see what's underneath this deck of cards there's a piece of metal and you can move things around with [__] i don't know if this is real and those matches were moving because that piece of metal was moving the matches right so the piece of metal was plowing the matches and she's got it moving around i i'm not buying into this but on its face yeah it's really intriguing it's (51:19) intriguing but it's a party trick like to even i don't even like the way it's set up the way it's set up on a table and she's doing this with her hand and her lap is right there and that anything could be happening there it's cool if it was real but and that's that looks really old like what year is that i don't know probably 50s yeah i don't know but so the point really is if you were to make it a a job to accumulate this kind of information from as many sources as possible you'd really have a large volume of (51:53) stuff and then you'd have a lot of material to look at and analyze not just one case i think it's easy to to look at one case and and have doubts because it is just once it is a one one situation do you think that things like psychic powers like or or psychic or an understanding of other people's thoughts and ideas these are maybe possibly emerging aspects of human beings like as a human evolves as we go from being you know a tree dwelling primate to being what we are today where people are intuitive and we can sort of (52:30) read social cues and we understand each other and we can talk and communicate using sounds and noises that as the human animal evolves they'll eventually develop some sort of a psychic power so that in a way that's connected to supposing that those psychic powers already exist to some degree maybe in some people more than others right right so that means there are white crows like we talked about last night yeah okay can you explain that concept there shouldn't be any white crows white crows aren't white
(53:05) so there shouldn't be any anomalies like that so if you come up against a white crow you've really found an anomaly so now the question is why how how did this happen well it's an albino right it's just a genetic so it's a metaphor right so it's a metaphor saying you've really come across something that shouldn't be it shouldn't be right there's no way this should happen right right and oh my gosh here's another one and it's a cousin it's different it's it's in a different area of the of

(53:33) the whole psy basket what's going on here well we already know that there are extreme variations in intelligence we know that there's people that are just not that bright and then there's people like elon musk and these the these people like this well he's not from here forever we know probably he's not from here anyway yeah most likely if there's an alien amongst us that's right but i mean if you go back to nikola tesla it's sort of the same sort of situation right you know he was clearly of uh
(54:02) not just superior intelligence but superior vision he had this ability to look at things that didn't exist and figure out a way to create them right and that's uh that's a very unique thing and what is causing that what firing of neurons what personal experiences combined with education combined with innate creativity makes a person create something but that's not as paranormal no it's not but it's a different aspect of being a human being now you we all know that some people more intuitive than others
(54:36) some people are more sensitive to other than others some people are better at understanding some people are really good at picking out liars some people are really good at picking out talent they they understand people better right as a human as the human animal evolves we could only surmise that that those types of skills and those types of uh qualities that a human being can possess could possibly get better if you get two very intuitive people they have a child and a child is even more intuitive than them and that some aspects unprovable
(55:10) unmeasurable aspects of psychic power could be something that's emerging out of the human animal i would never say never i think a lot is possible i think what may more likely would happen because we're shifting now to taking uh normal physio human physiology which is a separate situation from um being able to perform things that um are more unique than just being creative so so um i i think that you might have you know small circuitry and you know com small uh things that are added to the human brain to enhance its capabilities like
(56:00) neurolink yeah and and that's much more likely in in terms of human evolution than that you're all that you're going that future generations are going to become enormously psychic and enormously uh cause and effect on with using consciousness so whether it's clairvoyance or telepathy or psychometry micro macro pk remote viewing the whole basket those are all real and they have all world performers in every one of those things remote viewing is a great example of this because we know for 20 years the cia and the army had (56:38) programs in this and so did the russians right and we talked about remote viewing last night too that we'd i'd done an experiment on a show that i had and it wasn't effective at all but that could have been that the person that was doing the remote viewing was a fraud that maybe there are people that do have that ability now has it ever been clearly demonstrated that someone can do that have you seen it personally well i've hired somebody to do it twice for me but i've also what do they do have (57:08) friends that ran the programs what did they do what the people that you i tasked them to uh to describe a longitude latitude location and describe it uh what was the surface what was underground those kinds of things and they were accurate yeah how accurate very accurate and gave me information that uh to this day i don't know if it's true or not because it was underground information that i don't even know but it just came in the that came as a here here's a bonus i'll tell you what's (57:42) what's underneath so the government had these programs these secret programs that they were studying remote viewing but their official conclusion was that it was horseshit right oh no wasn't it oh gosh gosh no not not public no that was never concluded in that way what did they say publicly about remote viewing did they ever say it's 100 effective and real i think there would probably be at a point in time it was classified for a long time okay and then it became more public eventually as a program aged and so
(58:16) forth as things usually do um to be a hundred percent you could acquire by having more than one viewer have the same target you increases the likelihood of the accuracy of the information a hundred percent is a lot to ask for because you're getting you're getting a drawing at the same time you're getting conversation and sometimes the drawings revealed more than the conversations did um so the remote viewer would also be in a position as an experiencer so if his tar if his or her target was at a certain location that (59:01) and the person was eating an orange for example a remote viewer could almost taste it could almost hear hear the gravel that the person was walking on feel it under their shoes that they're walking so it's the methodology how would they go about doing this so the first of all the aspect of of this is though you're over the person's head that you're so there's we have to go back and say there are different kinds of remote remote viewing first of all so i'm just taking one type where maybe your target is a person (59:32) and the person is at a location and maybe the location is a a wharf a boat dock there are a lot of boats and maybe the gravel pathways getting there maybe they're having a fruit in their hands an orange apple whatever and so the remote viewer is back above the head kind of like an out-of-body experience is the way that those are reported and you're watching yourself going down and we can talk about that later going down a hallway but you're above yourself same way with remote viewing sometimes they would be in that kind of a position

(1:00:03) and um so did you describe everything in your drawing maybe not well then you didn't get 100 did you but you you were spot on as to where they were you could go find that location and that's actually where they were at that point in time it was true that's exactly where they were so they were able to figure out where people were and they were able to get a sort of an understanding of what they were doing and how they were doing it and what their surroundings looked like that's the tip of the iceberg the tip of
(1:00:33) the iceberg but what was the methodology how would a person remote view would they be alone in a room would they have to achieve a certain state of meditation like what did they do to to do this so um they would be in a room and with a with a a control per controller i forget the terminology now that they used so remote viewer would be there at a desk and patent paper and and and there would be um the person sitting across as a controller and then at the appointed time and it depends on how these remote viewing sessions were constructed i
(1:01:07) think uh the real people that you should talk to or the guys that ran the the programs i'm i'm just you know i talked to ed daines that's the guy that i talked to dylan guy i would recommend uh people like hal put off he would be a very very good person to talk to on this so how would someone learn how to do this and who figured it out initially don't know who was necessarily the first you have early players uh like pat price and go swan i think helen hammond uh gentlemen monaco those kinds of folks
(1:01:46) um and i'm not sure the genesis of of how it began a lot of times things happen by accident right um and you stumble on something say oh wow what is what just happened right but it has to be some sort of a repeatable skill like something that you could teach someone how to do right yeah and i believe what i've been told is is that um most people have some degree of abilities that are beyond the five senses and some have more of those abilities than other people and so it can be taught and built up and developed but
(1:02:28) some people are more predisposed to certain kinds of stuff than other people are and so how would they train people to do something like this who like who was the first person to figure out that they could do it and then how do they train other people to do it uh joel mcmonagle has a book i think he authored it back in 1993 and he had i believe a near-death experience about 1970-ish 70.
(1:02:58) and um i mean there's a little there's a lot of literature out there on the shelves that people can buy they can they can get a hold of this stuff without having to talk to these fellows and these people and the stories are amazing as to what they can do so it's and purportedly um distances irrelevant i mean you could do something thousands of miles away and that could be the target and you can describe that target it doesn't have to be on the surface it can be a building it can be inside a building it can be inside a room
(1:03:31) i mean this really gets strange and so you have actually experienced this and you are a hundred percent on board with remote viewing you think it's real well i've experienced it to re we extend i hired a fellow to do it twice but he did it he did it that's not we that's uh that's pretty big if the guy did it he did it and i i sat once i got to sit behind a screen on a on a computer to play around a little bit so i don't have any real experience you know with this i just have a lot of admiration for the people
(1:04:04) who manage the programs and who can function that that exercise it's really amazing there's an old story uh about ingo swan he's passed over but uh how can i say that he was best over he's he's they don't say he's passed he's passed over well now you know where my my thought is about things well i do know where your thought is about things but i just want to i could i want to get to that too okay but the way you describe it he passed over well there's a story i love about ingo
(1:04:35) he's being tested as always happens you're trying to verify verify verify

right trust but verify verify always and like you're doing exactly what you should be doing is questioning always questioning it and um so he's being tested by officials and they have a submarine that that is his target he doesn't know what his target is of course and um it might even have been a blind or double-blind situation i don't know but they go to a lot of effort so that maybe even the person that's with you
(1:05:11) doesn't know what the target is that's usually the kind of protocols so and he identifies the sub he identifies the sub accurately and this is a a advanced sub that he's identifying so it's under water it's you know it's deep and he's able to see this thing and describe it so it makes them pretty uneasy and they're impressed this is like wow this is a big deal this guy so it's not like just how is he doing this it's like he did this so they're calling the meeting kind of to a close he says
(1:05:52) well don't don't you want to know what's following it duh right see he's just then he starts describing this other craft that's falling behind the sub um ingo was a amazing guy i got what was the other craft i i guess it was uh some kind of uh ufo something else that wasn't another sub you know of ours or russians or anybody's that's one of the speculations about um unidentified flying objects is that they're not just flying that some of them actually exist under water there's been
(1:06:26) many sightings of things that went into the ocean yeah oh yeah what do you think of that well i mean like you know supposedly didn't uh aren't there stories even about christopher columbus crew and so forth seeing things uh uh going back for centuries things coming in and out of the water well that was part of the tic tac the commander david fravor's encounter yeah that there was something below the surface of the water that was creating a wake almost like rocks yeah it was true yes it was churning it
(1:06:52) was a very large thing and that it went under when as they approached and the tic tac craft face them and that you know they don't know to this day what that thing was that was under the surface but that's what led them to go and investigate in the first place and as they were going towards it that's when they realized that there's this thing like you know roughly the size of this room yeah well in that carrier group was a ship or two that was bristling with electronic equipment and it's the first
(1:07:26) thing that sensed something out there and that's that's when i my understanding was and i'm going back a long time now was that that's when they were launched to go check it out because what was out there shouldn't be out there and behaving the way it was behaving according to all the electronics on this ship that was part of the battle group right you know with the aircraft carrier i think a couple of subs it was a battle group um and so and then they had an encounter they had eyes on the target now yes
(1:07:59) right so they're able to see firsthand for themselves what's going on and yeah and when they were speaking uh over the mic they had found out that they had been encountering these things yeah over the last couple because because when commander fraber was inquiring like what the hell is this thing yeah the other end was saying look we've been seeing these things over the last few weeks like no one knows what it is yeah yeah but like what do you do about that what do you think sometimes alone if you know they're really behaving
(1:08:28) fantastically yeah and they're not the russians or chinese or whatever go have a sandwich forget about it i don't think they had a choice i mean you can't catch it it's literally jamming your radar you have images of it right and you you know you're tracking it and they're moving in a way that is literally impossible with our technology right what do you do yeah you can't do anything what are you going to go to war with it what are you going to do you're going to try and it's not like
(1:08:55) it's it's not like it's offensive it hasn't tried to attack you or do anything they've done nothing yeah it's a very strange situation to be in to be you know the a fighter pilot with the most sophisticated military equipment and to encounter something that is beyond the scope of even imagination of what's possible right yeah um you had uh you had encounters with bob lazar you you know bob and you you were around when bob lazar first uh now is this going to be all about the mylar balloon evap what's the mylar
(1:09:34) balloon event oh you don't know that one no ah so we all jump in my car to go out to to the alien inn area out there you know on the alien inn is that uh out there yeah it's like a north bar or something yes for uh north of that area and so

so bob lazar um george knapp myself and i think jane huff who is bob's friend we all go out there well i'm being honest to me bob has a mylar balloon which really bounces their radar signature a lot for its size and a bottle of gas helium so we we find our way back out in the (1:10:21) desert out there we're kind of i'm thinking we're on a a ufo watch which is always fun sometimes the best thing is the food you take along right and you're out there under the stars and it's nice and you have a good time just watching so but um there's a rustle of things going on here and next thing i know there's a balloon this mylar balloon's inflated and there's a slight breeze and bob lets it go and we're on the opposite side of the mountain range from supposedly s4 and he wants he wants to go that way
(1:10:58) thank god the wind was going the opposite direction was traveling north instead of south and it went the wrong way you know so i'm thinking my life's just passed before my eyes why do you think your life passed before your eyes because if the balloon goes towards area s4 it's going to get picked up yeah they're going to go find out where it came from security is going to come get us and i'm going to spend the night in jail right so you know it all just unraveled real quick and was this before bob had gotten in
(1:11:25) trouble for bringing people to the observation point to watch because let's let's tell a story about bob real quick bob said he worked for area s4 and he was hired to back engineer what they believe were alien crafts along the lines he had this top secret clearance and along the lines of all this happening they're monitoring his phone calls turns out bob's wife is having an affair bob doesn't know about this they removed him from the project because they believe he'll be emotionally unstable
(1:11:54) if he's so he's he's freaking out not knowing a that his wife is having an affair not knowing why he's pulled from this project doesn't totally understand so starts telling people about what he's doing and telling people listen i can take you to a place where once a week they do these tests so he starts bringing people to this area they see these objects flying in these spectacular ways that we really can't do with any of our conventional aircrafts and then bob gets in trouble for that
(1:12:21) then bob goes on the george knapp show and starts explaining all these different things presumably for self-preservation because he the best way to probably protect your own life is to go public with this and explain everything that's happening and they can discredit you and make you look like a nut but if they kill you then you know then it leads credence to your story yeah it gives you a very a huge hardship so when do you kill you when do you fall into the story well you've just given me an overload of information now
(1:12:52) that i'm pretty much aware of uh but i don't know exactly when i don't think as i recall it um everybody was pretty much at ease and um i wasn't it wasn't part of what year is this that this is all going on oh god um i don't know 91. so this is around that time this is around when was he on george knapp's show somewhere in that time frame but i wasn't aware of a lot until much until i don't think at that time i was aware of him taking people out on you know wednesday nights to go see
(1:13:29) something out there i kind of missed out on that or whatever and um i don't think this was anything like connected to that i think that that was before this yeah probably that was i think you're dealing with him out after you know he had met george and after he had told his story yeah because george is with you oh yeah yeah so obviously they had already met oh sure um so what was your initial well obviously you're a person that has a deep fascination with ufos now here you are talking to this guy who's clearly a genius
(1:14:02) brilliant guy bob lazar and he's telling you this [__] banana story he's out there back engineering spacecrafts that came from another land that are that are using this element 115 this this stuff that's just a theoretical element that wasn't even proven by particle collider until what 2013 somewhere along that line like it was just theoretical up to that point so he's telling you about all this stuff what was your what did you think um i i wanted to reserve judgment until i knew a lot more
(1:14:38) and the more he talked the more interesting it became the more research that george did things that he uncovered it became more interesting and and so as i said a while back i think george was doing an interview with me and i said i i wouldn't bet against bob's the truth or the majority of of everything that bob has said i wouldn't bet against it could there be arizona missions for different reasons

yeah sure that could but um the the uh i i would tend to say bob is is legitimate um and uh you know i don't there are certain (1:15:26) aspects of things that are parts of stories that you wonder well how could this happen and so forth but i think if you if you take all of the collective information and the work that george knapp has done to validate things it's awfully damn impressive but george is such an important part of it because he's a legitimate investigative journalist and that was his career and so he poured himself into this yeah and exposed all the different aspects of this story that seemed to indicate that he's telling the truth
(1:16:01) oh yes yeah and that's that's what's crazy about it and george is not any normal journalist he is he's like what he has like six peabodys yes he's fantastic and he's diving into this and the more he uncovers the more it seems like bob bobbles our story is legitimate right right so i i think until you i like the philosophy of reserving judgment until you have a preponderance of evidence that really moves you one way or another you don't have to have a hundred percent i go by reasonable doubt but what was it like
(1:16:34) for you to be this guy who's had this deep fascination with flying saucers and here you are talk like let me tell you my experience with bob doing the podcast with bob i wanted one of two things i wanted to go oh this guy's full of [__] or i wanted whoa this guy's it seems like he's not full [__] i think he's telling the truth i think this guy really did encounter these aircrafts and really did work on these spaceships whatever they are that's what where i'm at right now my experience with him my communication
(1:17:06) with him he didn't seem like he's full [__] at all he's clearly a brilliant guy his story has not changed at all over the 30-plus years that he's been saying it it's a crazy story but when you're a person like yourself me you saw me even more than i who is obsessed with this subject this the possibility of alien life that has visited visited this earth and and maybe even left crafts behind and maybe these crafts are in the possession of some secret government agencies that are trying to observe them and back engineer
(1:17:42) them what is it like to talk to this guy to this because this guy has seen the thing you're looking for this guy the all the you're you're searching and all of your wondering and staring out into the heavens and here's a guy that has actually touched it actually worked on it been inside one tried to figure out how they work can't do it doesn't understand it it's talking to these people everything's compartmentalized you've got the metallurgist people that are working on the the the what what kind of alloy this
(1:18:09) thing is made of you got him who's a part of the people that are trying to understand the propulsion system and then you've got people that are giving you this information that like maybe they have uh been here forever maybe this is a part of an archaeological dig maybe they've been trying to study these things for decades with no no advancement at all yeah so we came across or myself and a couple other people came across folks who could collaborate some of the things going on out there such as silent craft actually lifting off
(1:18:49) at night time not looking as though the control was very good but actually lifting off maneuvering like a real small trial kind of thing and that fellow observed it from a distance where he wasn't supposed to be george has come up with with collaboration i think from two or three other sources also besides what bob said about certain aspects of things out there it's just that bob's story is so much more in-depth so much more detailed like that book uh that he talked about years ago coming across um uh
(1:19:32) amazing things so what tell people about the book well there was a there was a book as i remember there was some kind of a book that bob um was allowed to look through or he actually or he sees the opportunity to do it when he was in a room where the book was but i think that was by design and it was some kind of a holographic book that as you opened up the pages whatever the stories were became a hologram that's my recollection of a conversation that's decades old now so um um you know if i got it wrong fire me it's
(1:20:14) it's uh you know it's you'll have to talk to bob about that would you or talk to george okay and uh because i remember something like that i mean that was like wow what a what an amazing way to portray information in some kind of a book and actually have holographic images coming forth out of the you know i don't know it just was so that uh i haven't ever heard of that being repeated any place in terms of something else like that happening and so much that happened to bob it was so unique there was also some

(1:20:52) very strange summary of what they understand or what they believe to be true about the origins of human beings and that they believed that what these visitations were about was that human beings are the product of accelerated evolution and that these species from wherever had been coming here and doing genetic experience experiments with primates and created human beings which is the ultimate like who knows like wow that's fun to think about but we were talking about this last night like how bizarre humans are
(1:21:30) that out of all these things on earth we're the only ones with shoes either all these things were the only ones that have to wear clothes were the only ones would jump into metal boxes with rubber tires and roll around these hard surfaces that we created or flying planes or send video through your phone to other people that are on the other side of the continent we're weird we're real weird we're way weirder than anything else that exists and if we are really a product of some sort of accelerated process
(1:22:00) like that this is how they uh get the party started on these planets they find semi-intelligent curious animals that are using tools or using you know opposable thumbs and uh they they do some things to them yeah they uh there's a large variety of of uh potential um beginnings um more evidence for some than others right so that's that's always the trick um have you considered that this is like a subject that you've deeply considered and thought about not really really i'm here i don't want to look a gift horse in the (1:22:47) face i'll take it for what it is you know really yeah i mean i think about it a lot i don't know i i think uh i need more more evidence to be more curious about i'm more concerned about other kinds of things that are now than where the human species come from particularly i'm more driven by other kinds of things that could make a difference today going forward so getting back to the bob lazar thing when you first got to know him and you first were considering the story and how crazy it was what was it like
(1:23:23) to to meet a guy who at least by his own accounts had encountered this thing that you were seeking well bob's a likable guy he as you said he's very smart and so he's interesting to talk to right yeah and um and so that's more than just entertaining to listen to his story is profound right and so it gives you an awful lot to think about and to try to to position as to how can you measure future information you might get against that story how can you verify different kinds of things and uh so i i i've heard a lot more silly things i
(1:24:12) think than than what bob was talking about didn't seem all that ridiculous and then the more you get to talk to him the more you get to know him and and people like george who's an investigative journalist it gets more and more wow yeah it's uh if there's like one thing that i could know about on this earth involving human beings i think that's the thing there's a lot of things i'd like to know who killed kennedy i'd like to know there's like a lot of things i'd like to know but whether or not that's real
(1:24:50) to be in that hangar and see that ship and to to go walk through it with him and to really understand that this is not from here i think that would be the that would be the one and have crashes been intentional yeah that's a weird one to me we were discussing that last night the problem with that is there's also this discussion of alien bodies if crashes have been intentional what do you have suicide bombers just for our own edification that seems silly and and that's really disheartening to think that someone could come here from
(1:25:25) another galaxy and still get tripped up by lightning yeah but maybe they're just anthropomorphic that they're you know maybe they're more robotic and uh maybe that's our future at what point does a specie have to have a spirit or a soul i mean does it could a machine even if it's very advanced and can think better than we can think and calculate faster and and actually understands uh fear love uh passions right does it would it ever evolved to having a soul or a spirit you know so i mean that's a really
(1:25:58) that's that's a good question yeah it's different kind of it's also a good question as to are those things imperative for life like we we when we think of ego when we think of our mating instincts and all all the the various pleasant and unpleasant aspects of being a human being how many of them are impediments to growth and progress how i mean what is growth in progress right are we trying to achieve mastery of the elements and of life are we trying to keep peace are we trying to make things better but but stay human like what are (1:26:35) we trying to do because when we talk about artificial life it's just artificial in terms of the fact that a another life form has created it but if they

figure out a way to you've seen ex machina that movie no you haven't how dare you how dare you go out see it right now hey i'm living in the desert well listen they have movies in the desert i've been to the desert it's a great movie fantastic movie one of my favorites ever and it is about uh this super genius guy who develops these uh artificially intelligent humanoids
(1:27:08) and uh it's it there's a lot of you know suspension of disbelief when you're watching a science fiction movie that takes place in you know modern era that has robots that look exactly people and have emotions and thoughts and stuff but but it makes you wonder how far away are we from something like that some super intelligent thing that we create ourselves and then it can create other super intelligent things i mean are we 50 years are we 100 years when when is that going to happen and is that going to happen or
(1:27:39) are we going to become some sort of symbiotic creation are we going to merge with technology instead of create some sort of technological being are we going to become one and that's one of the things that i've always been very curious about when it comes to these aliens these iconic aliens that people uh experience they always seem like what we will look like in the future if you look at a chimpanzee or a gorilla they're much more muscular than human beings they're much stronger they're covered in hair
(1:28:16) they have smaller heads and then our heads are bigger our bodies are smaller we're weaker and softer and then if you continue to move forward and we advance and evolve and eliminate all the like a lot of the problems that human beings experience whether it's because of war or crime or all these different things that that trip us up as a society and as a culture these things are all connected to the tribalism and biology and emotions and and the the desire to sexually procreate if they eliminate all of those things
(1:28:53) with technology over time and you get these genital less aliens that have these enormous heads and that don't communicate with mouth noises anymore they communicate with thoughts and they don't have the need for physical strength anymore so their bodies are these tiny child-like things but they have god-like powers is that our future so is there a pre-pre-requisite and all of that for the reptilian brainstem to be eliminated is there the potential for in either inanimate objects or combination biological material uh anti-anti-android type of
(1:29:42) of objects to have consciousness and what is it to be human in the first place well if you have bred out or artificially created um something that is close to whatever perfect might be as opposed to a human being that's very imperfect a very imp human being has all kinds of imperfections all kinds of emotional imperfections and and capabilities um that you know go from here to here and so that is what's it's like to be human being we are very imperfect um and so we're in a we're in a class by
(1:30:34) ourselves now you introduce something else um maybe our consciousness is unique to being a human being and it's not possible to actually evolve consciousness in an artificial mechanism so and i you know consciousness and and thought are two different kinds of things like mind and brain are two different kinds of things so consciousness to me is is a uh of a force you by like we just saw coligna whether you think it's real or not but there are many other demonstrations of being able to use consciousness attention as a force upon something
(1:31:24) to either gather information you shouldn't be gathering from remote viewing or removing an object you know it has it's a different kind of force thought is a creative mechanism so um and thought can come to promoting the force promoting you know in other words to channel the conscious effort i don't mean to be getting off the topic but i think no i don't think it's off the topic at all okay so um so then it comes down to even if this were even if you did create those kinds of advanced beings whatever why did you do it
(1:32:05) why you know is is perfection that important i mean is as everything have to be perfect or isn't there some beauty and having some imperfections well here's the question all of the human elements that we talked about whether they're emotions or the desire to procreate sexually or jealousy and rage and territorial uh behavior tribalism all the awful and great things about human beings ego all those things lead people to want to do things to get recognized to get attention and they also want to get recognized for (1:32:52) their achievements and they also want to push things past the boundaries that have been established by other people that are in the same business or the same creative venture as them whether it's artificial intelligence or whether it's art or creativity or music or anything that people do they're always piggybacking on the work of the people that came before them it's part of being a person with everything with architecture with technology everything is piggybacking on the work before and these things are motivated by these very (1:33:25) imperfect aspects of being a person by ego by the desire to be loved by all these these and even by the positive things by curiosity by creativity all these this this soup of influences are all making people advance technology and innovate that if you just extrapolate if you just look at what technology is and if you look at what we're doing if you look if you were from another planet and you had no idea about human culture you had no idea and you had no no familiarity to the human form and to what our life

(1:34:04) is like down here and you looked at us you would say well what is this species doing what are they doing well i'll tell you what they're doing they're making stuff and they're making better stuff every year that's what the species does what is what do bees do they make bee hives they make honey but they do the same [__] every year human beings don't they need a new goddamn phone every year the tvs get bigger the cars get faster everything they do is better the computers have more terabytes of hard
(1:34:28) drive their their processors work quicker the video cards are better everything's better no one's settling for less good everybody wants better and they want better constantly and they want to show their friends it's part of being attractive look look at johnny he's got the new car he's got the new phone she's got the new watch you've got the new oculus rift headsets you got this and that we make technology it's our primary thing we work we get ourselves together like human batteries and we
(1:34:57) generate income and revenue and we're all obsessed with making or buying better stuff that's what we do now that what does that mean ultimately well it means technology technology is the pinnacle of human achievement it's the stuff that puts us into space it's the stuff that allows us to videotape things it's stuff that allows us to essentially capture time you could capture time and a phone and play it back to people this is when i showed jeremy this thing we both laughed ha ha look you can laugh too you could laugh
(1:35:29) at our memory that's what it's doing well we're going to get better at that it's going to keep getting better and better and better where does that lead to it leads to some sort of singularity at least there's some sort of paradigm shifting invention where all of these technologies piggyback onto themselves until we reach some sort of pinnacle of human achievement and i think that's probably going to be some kind of artificial life or some sort of a symbiotic relationship with technology where literally instead
(1:36:01) of carrying around like a phone like a baby that you don't want to leave behind it's going to be in your body don't think it's enough and i don't think it's all together better i don't think it's all together better either but i think it's going that way i think you've got half the coin half the coin yeah well you're missing the other side what's the other side okay so so you've built this societal empire of technological achievements right that's what we have right now
(1:36:31) right well and who knows in 50 years or 150 years whatever okay um i think you've just described an infrastructure for a serious problem coming yeah what if you were to create a graph and on the graph were just two things two lines and you were tracking over the last 150 years spiritual maturity among the species 20th century was the worst annihilation of people 60 million people in ever in terms of numbers wars right what if you were to track in that same graph the progress of technology well you'd have one vertical line
(1:37:23) and this technological line in the 20th century and now and it will probably be segmented which i mean is jumping it's going faster than arithmetic progression or any normal progression it's jumping so it might be at a a 2 4 8 16 32 situation now you look at the spirituality line it's practically flatlined so what's the consequences of that eventually what do you mean by the spirituality i think uh species needs to have grounding spiritually i think a species have to have an essence of spirituality
(1:38:13) something that in their being to their bones says it makes a difference what you do it makes a difference how you behave for your overall good and the good of others and it makes a difference so an intelligent species like us not just all species correct the sure the most intelligent yes yeah right so if you don't have a grounding though in a solid spiritual philosophy in a species like us like humans then you're rolling the dice on handing a species that might be immature spiritually some very advanced dangerous stuff that

(1:39:04) can be used as weaponry or just misused and abused in other kinds of ways and maybe the species thinks it knows it all and it's cavalier is careless about the way the the disposition of the technologies but more than likely it's hostile because things are tend to be weaponized so you wind up with a species that's more like the klingons than you want right so so you wouldn't want to be on some other planet and having these discover you right uh so i think those those two lines are really important to try to
(1:39:38) harmonize the problem is there's no intersection in sight in in our lifetimes and other lifetimes there's no intersections in sight we haven't even begun to create a homogeneity of spirituality in the human species compared to the proliferation of technologies so that incongruity can be a really serious problem someday maybe yeah for sure i mean if we continue to concentrate only on things and on improving technology but not improving the way we communicate with each other and love each other exactly yeah exactly so what's the
(1:40:16) solution wow yeah i mean that's that's the big you know that's the 64 thousand dollar question that they used to say yeah old television program yeah i mean that's that's what is a solution you know but who ponders that who whoever ponders this only people with a lot of free time yeah i suppose so yeah some some uh monks on the mountainside somewhere some buddha someplace that's the problem with the way we live our lives we're very very busy with things that aren't exactly spiritually satisfying right
(1:40:49) yeah yeah we're there's a tremendous amount of of noise for attention and so when do you get the time to just to think right when do you who me yeah when do you i'm just i'm too busy running in circles but i know you think about these things and i know you you've you've thought a lot about consciousness and this is one of the things that you've studied it is con one of the things you're involved in is the concept of whether or not consciousness extends beyond death right yeah and what do you think i think it's it's (1:41:27) a it's a really important subject um so we have two holy grails right and the second holy grail is are we alone as you've said and then everybody kind of has attracted that question the other is does or do aspects of your consciousness survive your bodily death so is there a difference between mind and brain so as brain the generator and mind as a reservoir and actually more more causal than the brain is in a sense so in theory the question relates to guys you're doing away with a brain if the container decomposes and dies and
(1:42:13) is permanently offline are there any aspects of your mind that continues does your consciousness continue that is a question that has been attempted to answer uh since maybe the dawn of man a love a loved one has just died um is there any way to recapture that anyway at all well no it's written office it's gone and that that is just a relevant question today as ever because you have a lot of disparate kinds of folks beliefs and and you have religions that are against that that notion all together and so you have a huge
(1:42:57) uh difference amount of differences in people's philosophy and driven by religious beliefs or just the way they've arrived at their own conclusions or whatever so you have to be respectful of all these different kinds of beliefs and and try to yet do to try to yet approach that that subject in a way that is somehow determinable try to arrive at something that maybe is not a hundred percent but can you can you find answers in different ways that drive you into the high levels 80 85 90 95 that you're leaning towards that
(1:43:41) that would be really good news if you could legitimately do that and for yourself and you know and know that you have something else in addition to this well that's always been what religions have strived for right to show people that there's something more than this life oh yeah there's something it's their backyard something waiting yeah for the majority of religions is there is there a backyard and there's all kinds of promises about what our backyard contin contains if you're a follower of our religion
(1:44:15) yeah and the cynical people would always say well they're just trying to promise you that to get you to behave in this life but there's really no evidence whatsoever that anything happens once you die but then you have people that have had near death experiences and those are the weird ones because they've had these near-death experiences and they almost always come back saying it's going to be okay they almost always come back going there's something more to this right and right we don't know what those (1:44:40) near-death experiences are we uh we know that certain aspects of them can be recreated with psychedelic drugs and we do know that the brain produces

psychedelic drugs you know particularly dmt and people that have had experiences on psychedelics have had these moments these like larry haggard the guy from dallas remember that uh oh yeah he famously was on cnn once and i watched this interview where he's talking about how he had a high-dose lsd experience once he never worried about death ever again and he was talking about it and the cnn
(1:45:16) anchor was clearly a little rattled because i believe what they were talking about was his um green home he had this home that operated off the grid and you know he had had it all set up so it was really well insulated and solar powered and all this stuff so that he could you know not have a heavy carbon footprint right so they're talking about this and along the line they get to talking about his lsd experience and death it was pretty trippy to see him say that and to see them going oh like but many people that have had intense
(1:45:50) psychedelic experiences have had this thing happen to them where they believe they've gone to another dimension they've gone to this other place that seems more real for my own personal experiences i've had these where you go to these realms that seem more real than the realm that you're living in and you encounter something whether there's something is an imaginary or whether it's it's actually you could put it on a scale and measure it i'm not sure if it matters because it's
(1:46:20) still a thing you experience did you have after these experiences did you have any kind of evidence afterwards that you could draw a connection between what you saw in the visions and actually now what you discovered i mean was there anything that that popped up later on that connected the two no no there's no evidence there's uh even the memory is shaky like remember your memories are shaky just like the memories of a dream are shaky but when it happens and i've done it a bunch of times every time it happens you're like oh
(1:46:58) yeah i remember this because it's so intense each time that you do it is it more vivid no it's always there's no you can't get more vivid it doesn't get any more vivid it's just it's way more vivid than life what do you learn as you've been doing this multiple times what what's the lessons learned abandonment of the ego is a big one that's the big one that your ego and your your desire to protect yourself from failing or from reality that those things are ultimately very detrimental to your
(1:47:29) consciousness very detrimental to the way you communicate with other people and that uh it's a battle a constant battle to abandon these monkey instincts that we all have and that these things have protected us and gotten us to this stage but they can ultimately trip you up as you try to to uh sort of understand yourself better you know you're just hitting on something in the literature of of survival of consciousness of which there's hundreds or thousands of books that you could actually access and
(1:47:58) people to talk to the message seems to be in the literature abandonment of the ego is a very important thing to do it's a very important thing as you've passed over that's one of the things that happens is try to remove the ego and and shove it aside yeah yeah that's uh it seems to be that's an impediment to learning uh in a lot of different ways it's an impediment to learning uh art it's an impediment to learn because you think you're better than you are if you let your ego lie to you oh sure
(1:48:35) it's same with uh technical skills physical skills you can lie to yourself you know a lot of that is the ego but the ego is also what keeps you alive you know it's the the thing that makes you want to be successful it's the thing that makes you want to progress it's the thing that makes you want to accomplish things like it's not and the key to uh and one of the keys to an actualized life is to progress move your motivation away from ego to the fascination in problem solving and acquiring skills
(1:49:11) and getting better at tasks is that there's something something interesting in it and especially if you're doing something that benefits other people when it benefits other people that you get better at these things because these other people get to enjoy these things on a higher level then you get this this cool feeling of actually benefiting people actually helping people with your your fascination with these things right so and the more you concentrate on the ego the more you're gonna you'll it'll taint whatever (1:49:40) progress you're making you know taint whatever thing you're creating so back to the near-death experiences so let's suppose that you just look at the ones that come along naturally you know somebody has flatlined on an operating table they've fallen through the ice yep uh whatever okay so um there are so many near-death experiencers i mean i've heard numbers that are ridiculous in the millions yeah uh people and in this country uh not just in the world and so there's a hell of a lot of smoke there's (1:50:20) an often there must be an awful lot of heat somewhere in terms of the the probability that this is real because how other explanations are really tough now you can have out-of-body experiences and you can validate conversations in a room you should have no way of understanding where tools were were taken from what drawers or anything like that what people look like in the eye because you're gone you're under anesthesia right right there's no way and yet the literature is replete with stories thousands of stories like that and same

(1:50:52) thing with near-death stories you know huge volume of information every example you can possibly imagine and um and so then you you wonder well how can you correlate that how can you correlate anything to do with did the person have an experience not just through the tunnel but what they saw afterwards in that period of time after they exited the tunnel into wherever they were and how do we how do we verify that what they actually saw was the other side not only that you have different human beings with a different
(1:51:32) understanding of language so they have limited vocabulary or limited ability to describe things are a limited ability to express themselves and maybe they're not so good at relaying what it was and does it fit with their religions rights and their philosophies right right you know right yeah and how much of it do you distort when you get back to make yourself feel better how much of it do you how much do you actually share with people i mean remember you were you were talking about your childhood experiences
(1:52:01) you didn't even want to share with your wife like when people have a near-death experience maybe maybe some of it's like unpleasant yeah i didn't want to share with her i mean she might have said hey go sleep in the other room yeah crazy yeah i don't want you around me you know so yeah why take the chance well people people have a real fear of being ridiculed you know um and to be ridiculed for a near-death experience is probably similar to being ridiculed for a ufo encounter or a ridicule for any other
(1:52:27) super spectacular thing that most people are never going to experience right right yeah so what when you have talked about this the the ability to measure whether consciousness exists outside of life when they're what how can that be measured and what what steps can be made to try to quantify and to try to validate whether or not this is a real thing you don't want to hear this i do want to hear this all right so can you say i don't want to hear this well i don't know i'm just guessing i'm just guessing i'm sitting here with
(1:53:05) a reptilian brain stem trying to keep up all right so um so how do you verify a near-death experience it might be that there's some kind of messaging that can happen uh from whoever greeted you temporarily on the other side because you are coming back and maybe that message can be verified in some way maybe it's something doesn't make sense to you okay so you do come back you snap back in to this reality you're alive and sure enough uh what was conveyed to you from the other side actually happens and it wasn't something
(1:53:48) that was expected it was it was profound in some way and so that might be a way of verifying through this message that you had no other way of knowing or predicting that this was going to happen there's also the subject of psychic mediums all right i can see your stone face right now you're not buying it all right well i didn't say anything i know but i always give stock effects i'm looking i give stone face when people talk okay all right but yeah most psychic mediums i think are full [__] yeah i know right so okay
(1:54:26) doesn't mean they're all well okay no we'll say that again that doesn't mean they're all full [__] okay okay good all right all right all right yeah and some are a whole lot better than others yes and some look it's like everything else there's con artists out there yes and then there's people that are genuinely genuinely unique yes yeah absolutely yeah world world-class performers yeah yeah and so so of course you can't help yourself but try to get information that falls in the (1:55:00) categories that they should have no way of knowing in fact you might not even know the information yourself at that moment in time right you know you'll say no or it's only later after you've listened to the recording or whatever that oh my gosh they were right and this and this so that is a very important source of information assuming you're talking to ones that have been legitimatized right and they've been bona fide do you know any i know a a very good one you know a really good psychic medium can i meet (1:55:37) that person i don't see why not i mean it's up to them too right yeah but i think that would be uh yeah i i would i'll ask what does this person do professionally are they a psychic medium professionally so they make money doing it um this person um isn't motivated uh by as far as my understanding is by just doing these things as a as a business uh this person um will do things we'll do we'll do readings uh pro bono without a fee without charging that's promising uh-huh and um uh that helps (1:56:29) is that helps believe you helps you believe them rather they have a family you know the person has a family and so on so it's always a woman why is it always a woman that's really good at it what do i do is it a woman do you heard that what did i say is it a woman actually yes yeah well it is it is interesting why psychic mediums tend to be women i think because women have to be worried about men because men are [__] crazy and uh like and you know men are more violent and women are probably more intuitive because they gotta

(1:57:02) pay more attention these [__] well you know a pound for pound they're the best astronaut there is women of course yeah of course you get all that brain power in a package that doesn't weigh as much oh that makes sense yeah you're watching launching less weight so they're right okay but all kidding aside um yeah psychic mediums are a really good legitimate source of getting uh alternate information um that helps to collaborate things maybe that that have happened other ways or information has come maybe from a
(1:57:34) near-death experience or you know for example um but outside of psychic mediums what when you're talking about measuring whether or not consciousness exists outside of life whether or not your consciousness somehow or another transcends right your physical body right so you've heard of automatic writing yes and i don't mean that means explain it to people it has nothing to do with your wife automatically going into your checkbook it's got nothing to do with that people write checks anymore that's that's
(1:58:07) automatically all right oh okay i don't do that i'm old-fashioned they bank online i write a check but what is explain automatic writing to people all right so apparently it's it's something that has occurred for many many years over over especially back when the study of spiritualism and and and uh the the the whole um investigations of of psychics was very very strong from about 18 35 or 40 to 1930ish and and then it has continued in some ways up until recent times um so you have somebody who is
(1:58:57) writing and they are being controlled by a spirit okay or they're in a trance or maybe they're in a trance yeah but they could be lucid it doesn't have to be in a non-lucid trance or or anything they could be they could be lucid in their writing or they could be in a trance and maybe they're not writing in the vernacular and language that they're used to maybe they have a sixth or seventh uh year education um and they're writing very sophisticated information have you experienced this no
(1:59:36) no um i don't i'm i'm a explorer and a researcher investigator a student but so i'm trying to gather information through other ways and i've had personal experiences but i'm not nothing of automatic writing so anyway again the literature is huge on on this subject of automatic writing and it's easy to mis dismiss because it just seems very strange you're being possessed you're you're you're actually being controlled right but has anybody ever verified any of these this automatic writing
(2:00:20) stuff in the literature yeah you have a lot of information that um the writer isn't uh aware of shouldn't be it doesn't know it's not it's outside of their world okay so so there has been different kinds of cross-correspondence and other kinds of ways of of uh verifying that this didn't come from this person something else is going on here it didn't come off from this person it's not not right there's not it's completely illogical so you know so that's that's one means
(2:00:54) of adding something to the menu but when you're trying to measure whether or not consciousness exists outside of life you just because someone's automatically writing they they could be receiving some signal from someone that's still alive if there is some sort of uh psychic communication if there is a possibility of remote viewing and you can transmit information from person to person without words and this is one of the ultimate goals of neuralink elon musk actually said you're going to be able to talk without (2:01:27) using words i mean if if human beings if it's possible to do something along those lines this could be a live person that's somehow or another projecting these thoughts and someone else is tuning into them in the same way you would tune into a radio signal okay so the way you would test that is um probably it's it's going to be what's the nature of the entire subject matter how extensive is this subject matter because at some point you're adding on so much weight in so many different variables

(2:02:06) that it stretches the credit the credibility the credibility of that theory working it's kind of like using ball lightning as an excuse for all kinds of things when it has a very short life usually travels in one direction and is very very very rare so everybody uses oxen occam's razor as this is what you do you'd want to go to what is the simplest solution instead of trying to find swamp gas to describe the craft that just landed so you know i i would say that's probably testable you could probably create the (2:02:46) methodologies to some do some some laboratory type tests on that but my guess is that would fail as a solution but you see we're we're talking right now in these weird terms because i don't know if that stuff's real i don't i mean i i could describe what i think would be wrong with these scenarios but i don't know if any of this remote writing or automatic writing has been verified you do through the literature the literature what does that mean though well it's through literature people are full
(2:03:21) of [__] they write things down that aren't true it just means that we haven't set up experiments ourselves to verify ourselves and actually watching implementing it under controlled conditions double-blind right right so what else do you have to resort to it's what's in the literature thoroughly digest and pros and cons and everything from a lot of sources and people who have engaged in this and maybe they have they have film maybe they actually have film of the writing and you compare the handwriting
(2:03:51) maybe it's different handwriting altogether maybe it's in a different language completely in fact there are stories of uh a lot of accounts of exactly that but the subject of consciousness and whether or not consciousness exists beyond life this is something that's important to you so i'd assume that you've looked into it further than just this idea of automatic writing being the only piece of evidence actually that area is the least i've looked into what's the most what's the area the most
(2:04:16) you've looked into um well now first of all i have kind of recaptured this this survival of consciousness inquiry that i was into in the 1980s and i have now formed an institute called bix that started in june of last year what does big stand for bigelow institution for survival of consciousness and um for conscious conscious survival bigelow institute for conscious survival of consciousness and um i i this this organization is is very new and um so we're in a method of trying to stimulate research and investigate and catch up on the
(2:05:13) literature and we have a unique situation where i have people around us uh that have ongoing things happening um ongoing things yeah what does that mean um different kinds of events that are being reported by family staff friends like um apparitions ghosts yeah you believe in ghosts i have it's fun i have my experiences well there's a difference yeah well there's difference in terms of um what causes you to believe in something the most personal experiences probably so my personal experiences are not having ever seen an apparition
(2:06:11) my wife did i have had poltergeist a very demonstrative poltergeist event decades ago what happened probably i don't know 25 years ago or more 11 o'clock at night my wife and i are laying in bed halloween eve this is appropriate halloween eve okay um hardwood floors downstairs in the entrance hall on which tables are all set up with lots and lots of candy's bags because bags are being given out large very large candy bars and bags and bags of everything piled up hundreds of kids having to be taken care of (2:07:05) okay halloween big deal big ghosts in the trees and this is a family thing it was a big deal every year decorations oh yeah yeah the whole nine the whole the full monty got it all right so we're laying there and there's this crash bang boom crash crash crash blah blah blah like a thousand malt balls just dropped to the hardwood floor made all this noise it sounded like this the sound the sound i estimated seemed to last forever probably about three and a half four seconds which is a long time for noise to continue and i said oh
(2:07:43) jeez stay here i'll go take care of it whatever i'll get it all i'll get i'll go take care of the mess so i go downstairs nothing's wrong nothing's wrong she doesn't believe me she comes downstairs and she says oh my god i said yeah i don't have to do anything everything's perfect i didn't touch it it's just like we set it up so that was a really interesting event and poltergeist a lot of times so it's just a sound that you heard yeah just a sound a sound like something

(2:08:26) crashed like all everything on all those tables piled all up had all crashed to the floor and bags broken open yes but nothing did you had children at the time uh i had uh teenagers and they were gone they were out of the house they were gone you sure they weren't [__] with you the teenagers no yeah but well what would they have to do have a recording yeah they would have to crash all this and record it wouldn't it isn't that more likely to spend hundreds of dollars doing this and well that's how much we always spent
(2:08:55) on recordings no on the candy i mean i mean just sounds it sounded like mothballs you said right or like uh malt balls hitting the floor right is that what yeah jawbreakers or whatever candies hard things yeah whatever but it's that was it just a sound that's a lot but it's not necessarily a ghost when when nothing has happened well no we're talking i understand we're talking about poltergeist polar guys okay don't have to be anything manifested as a ghost it can be a an audible sound but was
(2:09:28) there anything more to the experience than just a loud sound that turned out to be nothing no that was pretty good that's not enough for a starter that's pretty good you know i probably like okay what's gonna happen tomorrow night did something happen tomorrow night no that was it just one loud noise it was a big deal you know it's like wow imagine if that was that whole movie poltergeist just a loud noise well wouldn't that be that entertaining it wouldn't be a good movie no you have
(2:09:57) to have chandelier swinging and crashing and all that kind of that's what i was expecting yeah i wasn't expecting just like candy hit the floor but no candy actually hit the floor well i never said that my life was that exciting you know it's it hasn't been that great but i want to get to this this idea that you're trying to pursue of measuring consciousness or trying to figure out whether or not consciousness survives death right like what it what a what do you want to do and how do you want to do it
(2:10:21) you can't just do it through remote writing or automatic writing or psychic mediums or there's got to be a way to figure this out yeah so we started the institute and i said okay let's stir the pot up and uh in fact we thought we would join an organization and they didn't want us so we got rejected so we got rejected and then crawled off and conjured up a contest so the contest says you have to have some credentials to enter this contest what kind of credentials do you have to have as a psychic you have to have no no
(2:11:07) no no okay you have to have background in the topic of of um i and you could be you could be a priest a minister or rabbi you have to have background in the topic of studying and understanding does potentially does the other side even exist we're not asking to tell us what it's all about okay just does it friggin exist right so you might be a producer or director of a television show for years and you've got more stuff on film than you can imagine of different kinds of weird things happening that you have no explanation for any of
(2:11:47) that and you've made a study of this for a long time you could be a good candidate you could be a detective and maybe you're solving murder cases by using psychic mediums so you'd have to have something bringing to the table so you have to have someone bring to the table and you can't send us an essay you're going to write an essay to present your case and it can't be more than 25 000 words which is about 50 pages so you're just essentially going to allow people to come up with some
(2:12:15) convincing argument and bring it to you so you have a contest to do this is that what it is yeah that's what it is so we say okay uh there's a deadline to get all your applications in and then you have many months the deadline is actually the end of this month the 20th of february and then you have jamie's got it up here dick's sa competition best evidence for afterlife ss will be judged by five renowned experts that's up to six now oh we have another judge which is good thing because because uh the winning essay gets a half
(2:12:51) a milli second place gets three no it's perfect okay good second place gets 300 third place gets 150 grand so if you have a semi semi-shitty near-death experience story you get 150. it's um it's an interesting way to do it but uh you know i would hope there would be some better way to measure you know you know the expression extraordinary there's a way to say this yeah but now extraordinary evidence yeah true but um you got to remember that well first of all we're causing conversation and and thought about the subject
(2:13:33) right and we're stirring the pot and this kind of contest has never been done before and what if they're all terrible do you still give first place to someone who's terrible worse than that what if there were only three applicants

right even for second third price they all suck yeah yeah well the good news is we have some really good people jamie's thinking about writing one right now we have some we have yeah half a million bucks we have some very good people who are entering this contest their credentials are are terrific (2:14:07) they're very good they're authors of of many books um there's a there's a extensive extensive background of these kinds of folks so um we're excited about that the response has been favorable and so then well there's a lot of money on the table they have until august the first to do this oh okay and then the judges now so here we are what is it the 24th what is it 24th of february sure all right okay so then the judges start and we just added a physicist to this group he's the sixth one
(2:14:45) and so he understands judging things and being a critical thinker and uh so he really rounds out the group very well and so the judges start august 1st august september october and they're supposed to be finished by november 1st okay and have made decisions so then we announced the winners and we want to post all the three winners and i suspect the judges are going to have a problem it's going to be damn hard to pick three out of the group because we have that kind that we have uh this has been generated
(2:15:24) a lot of interest and we have some really good folks into this so we are going to get permissions as an applicant they have to give us permission just to we don't own anything we just want to put it on our website so people can read all all the essays so maybe we have 20 25 essays not just the three winners so it's going to give people a chance to really read a lot of different kinds of arguments and maybe what metrics are you going to accept evidence of the afterlife good question okay so we patterned this after the legal (2:15:57) system of the western world and the western world says two things that you can convict providing you have beyond evidence beyond a reasonable doubt it doesn't say hundred percent it says beyond a reasonable doubt number two witnesses really matter the veracity and the quality of their witnesses witnesses matter and how many did you have to something you know what what is it that that is being claimed here you know and what is the cross the cross correlation collaboration and whatever it is that you're trying to
(2:16:38) relate here so when you're talking about convicting someone for a crime here's the problem with that analogy crimes are real like if you're talking about convicting someone for a murder the murder is real the person's dead and you want to catch someone so you have eyewitness encounters you have evidence you have all these things and you can convict someone on that evidence there's no evidence that ghosts are real there's no evidence that the afterlife is real so you're you're guessing wrong how's it
(2:17:06) wrong wrong but murders are real right you would say murders are way more real than the afterlife what you said is wrong in this context in what way uh an applicant an application who's a detective who's been using dick tracy psychic no what in fact i got my my watch right here i'll talk talk to that watch that that turned out to be real right what it did it is talked to us we'd be like that's crazy the time didn't fast forward two hours i come from a pacific time oh it didn't no that's weird no and so i
(2:17:39) haven't been using my cell phone and i forgot forgot to bring my channel on some shitty service my mind changes everywhere i'm going to talk to my granddaughter because she gave it to me but you understand what i'm saying though because we actually talked about wait a minute though this guy's a detective oh solving murder cases right using mediums right isn't this like wow yeah but when they solve murder cases using mediums if that has ever been real and i've talked to some detectives that say
(2:18:09) that's all horse [__] because i did have a long discussion with someone who is uh he's an investigative detective and he solves crimes and he's like there's no evidence that any psychics have ever given you any real information now he hasn't investigated the subject he has had probably one experience maybe two no he is he's it's this is his personal opinion on cases that he's been involved in and maybe he's wrong but this is just what he said he said people are desperate they hire psychics
(2:18:37) they they but my point is murder is real the difference is you're convicting someone for something absolutely happened when you're talking about trying to figure out whether or not there's an afterlife based on the kind of evidence that would be used to convict someone of a murder that doesn't necessarily work because we know for a fact that murder is real we know for a fact that human beings are real and that if you kill them you're a murderer we don't this is all fact we don't know whether or not

(2:19:07) there's an afterlife so to use the same obligation or the same preponderance of evidence that would convict someone of a crime for something that you don't even know is real so they don't necessarily it's you can't they're not comparable no wait no i wouldn't say don't put the seriousness of an event in terms of the harm it caused as not being as being more legitimate than an event that actually produces information that you should have no way of acquiring well let's not say that then let's talk
(2:19:45) about it in terms of something different than a murder let's talk about in terms of vandalism just someone spray painting some building somewhere right let's talk about that when no one gets hurt just physical stuff and someone spray paint let's take that example and suppose you went to a psychic medium and and she says what i'm hearing is that your house is going to get spray painted with a message on on the back side of your house i'd go to that lady she probably [__] did it she knew you're impossible she knew it
(2:20:13) was kind of impossible no i'm possible i'm very possible but this is all nonsense but no well wait a minute don't wait a minute no so there is a predictability in events however only if someone actually can prove that they've done that and no one's ever done that no one's ever said someone's going to spray paint your building and it wasn't them i didn't know how do you know prove it prove it show it to me do you see what i'm saying like people have definitely spray painted people's
(2:20:37) buildings i do right but no one has definitely showed you that there's real evidence that consciousness survives death and you can talk to someone from beyond the grave there have been a a mountain of of readings for sitters who which where the information comes that says something is going to happen and it happens it's prognostication that's a day or two or a week away and it happens maybe maybe no no it is yeah you just have to you've got to show me specifics if we're going to have this conversation
(2:21:08) you see what i'm saying like for you to be so convinced you should have things you could pull out of the top of your head right now and tell me specifically that this event was predicted by this person and this is how it happened and there was no way they could have known about it otherwise otherwise you shouldn't be convinced or in the tens of thousands but that doesn't mean anything when they're written down after the fact that it doesn't mean jack but they're they're actual accounts of things you
(2:21:30) have to say well the authors the authors are all fraud maybe the authors are all friends their sources are the problem is you want to believe that's the problem so maybe it's true maybe it's true i got to switch you don't but here's the thing robert i love you you don't know i got the solution what's the solution the solution is for you to have a sitting for christmas sake maybe that doesn't be good enough wait a minute earlier it was no never was never good enough it was interesting interesting to have a
(2:21:57) sitting you could have both chopsticks and vanilla ice cream and you wouldn't be happy no no no no no no you you look there is no proof ever that someone has been able to accurately perform some sort of psychic demonstration that's the whole james ramsey is sitting badly i don't need a sitting mat yes you do you have a belief in these things that may or may not be founded but the problem is you don't have any evidence you're not saying you're not saying specific like i can tell you specific
(2:22:28) things yeah that i know are true yeah and i could and i'll talk to you about them because i was there or i know about them i could talk to you about martial arts events i can talk to you about uh stand-up comedy events i know things that absolutely did happen right and therefore if you argued with me and said there has never been a ufc fight i go well that's not true because i could tell you specific dates i can tell you what happened what the result was i could show you a video tape of it you don't have that same knowledge of
(2:22:54) these things but you have the same conviction that i have when i'm talking about things that are hardcore facts like a mixed martial arts event or uh you know whatever fill in the blank with whatever the event you want it to be you have the same sort of conviction that these things are real but you don't have the same kind of hardcore evidence not only do you not have the same kind of hardcore evidence but give me an example give me an example so an example is any kind of information coming from the other side
(2:23:24) that maybe you don't even know about okay so it can't be explained away as telepathy or clairvoyance okay because you don't even know about it yourself give me an example though well pick anything that's that something's going to happen no no no no no or there's something give me the example of someone actually doing this okay so that um uh aunt martha just died what the [__] is that martha is this a real person well you said give me an example no no i want an example of a real psychic prediction that turned out to be (2:23:54) true you can tell me i can fill this table up with examples with literature i just want one you don't have to do that just give me one that you know about that i listen like i'm saying i have the same conviction in things that i know are real as you have when you're arguing that psychic ability is real i just want you to tell me one okay my own city okay my own city okay um my father came across in the city and um my father was killed in a private plane crash when i was 18.

(2:24:31) and it wasn't his plane it was his partner's plane and so she tells this to me and um i hadn't thought about uh anything to do with his partner for decades how long ago was this sitting how how long ago how long ago did you have this sitting a few days ago you're a famous public person and you your history is available someone could find this out about you that's maybe true on about the plane crash but not the first name of the pilot not the first name of your your father's partner why couldn't someone find that
(2:25:11) out yeah why couldn't someone find out i think i think because this is over a half a century old i think it's it's like 60 i'm 76 right but there was probably a record i think that's stretching it i don't think that's stretching it at all you couldn't you were telling me about ufo encounters from 1947.
(2:25:30) you were telling me about people that have seen things you were telling me about events that happened that are in the historical record okay so let's shift to something else that's not ever could not have been written down okay okay so um in my own my own setting okay so um my wife passed february 19th the last year and she was in and out of hospitals a lot for a long time and i was kind of the nurse at home for a couple years and uh so toward the end she was in the hospital about about three days before she wanted to
(2:26:11) pass at home so the challenge was how to get her out of a area in the hospital that was basically a waiting area for people to go to die it was an area that that's where people were that weren't expected to leave okay alive and so there was a day there where my son and my granddaughter and i uh were playing a lot of loud music in the in the room for my wife and um the medium said to me and i'm recording this and the medium said thank you your wife wants to thank you for all the music that that was played for her before she
(2:26:57) passed all the music i said well i don't know about any music i don't remember anything and uh why did you say that because i didn't remember i didn't remember playing loud music i didn't remember but you remember it what is she talking about how do you remember it now because my granddaughter because i had recorded it and we listened to the recording together after i had done the sitting and my granddaughter says to me pop don't you remember i said oh god that's right yeah well yeah i forgot i completely
(2:27:32) forgot it well that's certainly interesting and unusual so what i would i don't know if she would do it but i think she probably would be a very interested sense it's you and because you are a big figure um that uh and you're easy to learn about you'd go into this assuming which she's very very honest person but you would have to go in this assuming that your everything about you is so public uh you can find out a lot of things so that's the problem that i always have with psychics yeah don't tell me
(2:28:05) something that i already know the challenge for her is to tell you tell you something that nobody else could possibly know but even that well nobody else could possibly know is a stretch right but tell me something that i don't know when whenever i've had friends that have gone had psychic readings i always say well how did they structure the questions how what did this go how did it's go what did they say were they fishing around did they accurately get to it or did they give you probing questions first it's (2:28:35) almost always probing questions and they told me about my grandfather how could they know i go you know you know about your grandfather why don't they tell you some [__] you don't know everybody tells you things you already know tell me something i don't know so that'll be the challenge for her wouldn't it is to be able to to tell you to tell joe rogan things that essentially only joel knows no don't tell me things i know okay tell me things i don't tell you things tell me reality that i'm not aware of that has

those lines yeah something where you know don't say you're going to spray paint my house but it's supposed to be a sitting for joe yes it's supposed to be i understand so so it's just the problem is they tell you things you already know and i'm like this is just i guess i guess there's something to that right there's some sort of clairvoyance you're saying well then that's only relevant because they can they're (2:29:25) reading my mind which is a whole that's what i'm saying that's not what i'm saying at all i'm saying they're they're telling you they're giving you these questions in a way like i have a friend who does this he's a mentalist he does it out of las vegas and he tells me it's all [__] he tells me how he does it he tells me how he structures these questions and probes people and gets people to give up information then he makes these educated guesses and then they start saying oh my god i
(2:29:51) can't believe you know that you are not supposed to say anything more than yes or no you don't talk during the sitting you're supposed to say yes or no that's it or say or say nothing that's it you're not supposed to talk okay well listen i haven't experienced this before i try to keep an open mind if someone actually could do this that's pretty pretty spectacular but to my understanding and i've spent a lot of time reading about these things and reading about skeptics and the james randy challenge and all these
(2:30:19) different people that have tried to attempt to demonstrate psychic ability that no one has ever successfully done that okay let's go back earlier am i wrong jamie wait a second like if the james randy challenged like he's oh he was a fraud forget it he was randy yeah he was a lot of people he wouldn't he wouldn't have ever paid out anything if somebody had been successful but people all know that no he would not have paid it out because he disputed arbitrarily disputed everything that would have would have
(2:30:47) been attempted and finally people quit because he was not going to be fair in his judgment what is fair though in terms of psychic ability if you could prove psychic ability but what was his uh what was his rules like what did he want you to establish i don't care about james randy i care about joe rogan and my my premises about this we just stuck with aliens okay but wait a second wait a second earlier correct me if i'm wrong you actually said yes there could be legitimate mediums yeah it's possible
(2:31:22) and and there can be better ones and and really terrific ones and maybe capabilities yeah maybe so my problem is your conviction your your belief in this is so strong well no but what happened to the joe of just a little while ago that says yeah there can be legitimate mediums open-minded they're all fraud because i know a magician no that that shows open-minded i'm willing to believe that it's possible but i don't understand why you're so convinced by just one story about music in a room maybe that's what happened maybe this
(2:31:56) lady tuned in to the the the the akashic records and figured out that there's some music in the room when your wife is done i would argue start with and time is precious for a busy guy like yourself but you have to start with reading good literature reading good books okay tell me a good book on psychics i'll have to send you a list okay i'll send you a list of things to read and i'll do that you've got to give me how i do this okay we'll talk afterwards but you you understand that most skeptics
(2:32:31) believe that this is all [__] right well they would or they wouldn't be skeptics but i mean that's what they study things that are extraordinary okay there's open-minded skeptics too you can be skeptical but still be open-minded right right right and i don't know i don't immediately buy off in anything i'm all i'm told just because i hear something i i like to to get to a point where i stay open-minded and then i may start to shift into saying there's more and more maybe to this let me investigate more
(2:33:04) i'm not going to let go until i let's investigate more so just because i had one sitting here with this particular person i've had others years ago um but you seem particularly convinced that well this particular person was very good it was a long it was three and a half hours long i'd say okay so there was there another example besides just the music yeah there were there were a number of other examples i'd have to stop and and uh and regurgitate everything okay because right now is enough to (2:33:37) convince you pumped up for space questions about space cosmology et's survival of consciousness and what kind of car is the most fun to drive what kind of car is the most fun to drive the amber doodle the lambor doodle what is that it's a it's a name i gave a car i just bought what is it uh it's uh orange uh um

lamborghini called a um ursa or uh ursus yeah this is a truck the suv yeah it's a yeah it's an suv yeah 640 horsepower four wheel drive eight speeds forward it's the most fun car i've ever had in my life it's a cool
(2:34:19) car my friend russell peters has that exact same car who does russell peters hilarious stand-up comedian from toronto it's an exciting car yeah he loves it he's got the same color too in fact i bought two and one's going to be given away at the larry rouvo cleveland clinic gala in october in las vegas it's going to be auctioned off oh really and the price of that car is 286 000 i think out the door that's tax and everything and he's going to auction that car off and come october i think they're lining
(2:34:54) i think it's more than that you should think that car's like 300 and something isn't it that's an expensive card when when uh it says msrp base is uh 200k oh the base 280 for the base yeah russell's was like super loaded up and you ought to be at the gala to bid no why not i got things to do why not i'm busy it's a lot of fun larry puts on a hell of a show every year for these galas and they're they're fantastic i'm sure yeah sounds like a good time so that's the most fun car to drive
(2:35:26) for me it has been what other cars have driven that are like contenders uh i have a corvette my wife bought me when i was turning 70 and i can't control it which one is the zr1 or something i don't know it's a stingray it's uh it's it's it's too much car it's it's goosey on the uh on the rear end it's too small again and i can't predict where it's going to go well i just need to learn how to handle it um the the new corvettes are better for that they they're mid-engine now
(2:36:00) i can't see out of them the new ones the rear window there's no rear window it's like four inches high yeah it is a little smaller and an 18-wheeler is up behind you what do you do hit the gas yeah don't let them behind you they make me too nervous i understand yeah the new ones are pretty sweet though it's uh and they've they're it's much better traction with the mid-engine design yeah yeah um let's get back to aliens because we've been talking for a long time but i really want to talk to you
(2:36:24) about this what evidence do you think is the best evidence in terms of um what what physical evidence is it just video is it just uh photographs or do you think there's physical evidence that either our government or some other government has somewhere that could show beyond a shadow of a doubt because i know jacques valet who was on the podcast before discussed uh um we were talking about specific metals that had been examined that these alloys that if they had been produced in mass it would be billions and billions of dollars
(2:37:06) for these alloys and that this was although not evidence of extraterrestrial intelligence seemed to indicate that some like because of the examination of these alloys that this was this is not something that's mass-produced in this country right now or in any country right now like that this is something that if it was done it would cost an insane amount of money to create but yet here it is right yeah so people have pieces of things that are like that that have been i don't know i assume they've gone
(2:37:41) through electron microscope and for a look-see but they're they are very unique in how thin they are how many layers of material they have um and um and the view the the opinions are that uh we can't make them and that these things have been recovered from crash sites apparently apparently yeah but that's that is part of the problem right is that there's so little real concrete information like there's there's no consortium of scientists that's aligned together that's saying this is
(2:38:25) 100 from another planet we've all examined this we've got together with the people at stanford and we we've done these tests and this is what we know and here's the press conference right but that's never happened yet well so far the there have been investigations on these materials and they're anomalous yeah do you think that's the they could be you know something that's uh part of the part of the uh kitchen of the ufo you know some bowl that yeah they hate out of you know what
(2:39:05) who knows and uh because how can you tell about a craft just because of one little piece right um other than bob lazar's experiences which you know he has of course the most spectacular experience i actually haven't been there at s4 you know i wish there was a way we could convince whoever is in charge of that to allow people to film this to allow people to examine this to bring in the scientific community if it is a real thing but the other the other thing about the lazar story was that element 115.
(2:39:42) what are your thoughts on that this was the idea that there was some super spectacular element that was a new version of propulsion so instead of shooting something out of the back end it was literally bending gravity yeah i don't know enough about it to really comment i mean i i'm not disappear i'm not saying about anything to do with disparagingly with bob lazar at all i'm just talking about the element 115.

(2:40:13) um i have no i no understanding of its properties and what it can do or not i don't have any information like i do on these other subjects survival of consciousness yeah i don't have any information about element 115 did you talk to bob about it oh no no we the conversations about it were where somebody had taken his and he was kind of regretful that he had let go of it in some way and he wanted to get it back and and uh and this was when he was at s4 yeah yeah yeah so but i don't remember much about
(2:41:02) conversations about how much what all of its properties were and that kind of thing you know did you bounce a ping-pong ball and never it didn't come back to you straight it took off in a different direction or something or or a candle flame or a way i didn't i don't know about those things i don't know um but um i think that um oh i had something else i was gonna say and i forget now on that 115.
(2:41:31) how about i forget what it's going to say his diagrams of the uh the ufo of the i know what it was okay getting back to these kinds of treasure you were talking earlier that really what ought to happen is there ought to be a major program where you're gathering all the best scientists to analyze the hell out of all these materials that have been retrieved yeah but the problem is you know a lot of this stuff purportedly is in corporate hands corporate hands and some in government hands okay and it's it's come to be
(2:42:22) kind of corporate treasure and a national treasure at the same time because it's because there's a relationship between between a company and the government that has this kind of treasure um it's it's a national kind of treasure no pun intended there but i mean it's a it's a in a sense it's a national treasure right mm-hmm and so it's also a phenomenal treasure that doug isn't ever understood and so the problem is um it may be the most precious thing around you know you don't have diamonds that
(2:43:02) are more valuable right you know especially if it really is from a country exactly yeah and so it's drug out every 10 years looked at to see if there's anything that we that has improved in 10 years on the on the understanding of x y and z that makes sense or has something else shifted has something else happened in the last 10 years that could make a difference on trying to understand the the material or craft or whatever so you think that's what they do with it they drag it out when technology is advanced and say what do
(2:43:40) you think now right and allow people to examine it and then it goes back in storage because not enough has changed not enough has changed you know we were talking about the speed of our technology but it's all relative right right so this technology is so much more advanced you could do 10 years for a hundred years and still be way short now how do you know that this stuff is in corporate hands is this just hearsay is this the discussions you've had i would imagine because you're so open about your interest
(2:44:13) that in your conversations with other people whether it's at nasa or there's got to be other folks that also have similar interests that come to you and want to talk to you about these things um yeah so the there's a community of people not necessarily nasa people but um that um have been trailing this for years george knapp for example and um so it's not poorly known that corporate certain corporations are involved it's not poorly known so it's kind of common knowledge among some people yeah the corporations are
(2:45:01) involved because they recovered it or they acquired it and that if they were able to mass produce whatever these alloys are or whatever these particular the properties of these metals are there would be obviously some amazing commercial value for this stuff it may be too precious for that what about bodies now you're talking about the las vegas desert or what talking about alien bodies no not like sinatra's enemies splashes in lake mead at one o'clock in the morning no off of a cliff i'm talking about like uh
(2:45:42) alien bodies that was one of the weirdest stories about uh roswell was that they had not just recovered uh crashed ufo but they had recovered these uh alien bodies what do you think about jackie gleason's wife's story about he and richard nixon yeah nixon taking him to the base and showing jackie yeah that i remember that story i had a friend who knew jackie gleason and he said that jackie gleason had recreated in his backyard what he saw what nixon showed him oh wow yeah that apparently he was so blown away

(2:46:20) by nixon i guess they were drinking this is the legend yeah yeah yeah nixon and jackie gleason were drinking jackie gleason's [__] hilarious guy probably loved to drink i mean definitely love to drink and probably so fun to drink with him and nixon are talking and nixon says you want to see a ufo and takes jackie gleason to wherever it was hangar 18 or whatever it was where they had this ufo and shows him and apparently changed jackie gleason's life and he couldn't stop talking about it and what i had heard was that he had it
(2:46:50) recreated in his backyard this thing see if there's a story that's a powerful impact this isn't a story i'm looking through yeah yeah so he saw something yeah i listen i'd be friends with nixon just for that it wasn't because of the boost right no no i don't think it was because of the boost i mean look i i am a as as ridiculous as it sounds for someone who doesn't believe in psychics uh i'm a believer i i want to believe you know it's that's problem probably part of my problem is that i
(2:47:19) want to believe sure sure and also there's so many planets there's so many stars i mean the universe is literally littered with planets and the idea that this is it that you and me this is as good as it gets well the odds of that are a trillion to one yeah they're not that good it's it's off the table the odds are so unlikely and then when you take into account people like commander david fraver who i've had the pleasure of sitting down talking to and and listening to his explanation and
(2:47:47) then when you realize that the way his vehicle the vehicle that he observed moved mirrors what bob lazar talked about from 1990 now now we're talking we're in this weird realm of like huh so i'm a believer yeah so if if the government has it i mean [__] in the the 1960s when nixon was president and him and jackie gleason are partying that that that's a credible story or at least a fun one i always thought it was you find anything i can't find the thing about the backyard because it just keeps bringing up
(2:48:23) uh his ufo house he had in new york which is like a ufo shaped house and a bunch of interesting cool [__] inside oh whoa maybe that's part of it okay upon his arrival armed guards took gleason to a building in a remote location on the site there gleason who harbored an intense interest in ufos saw the embalmed bodies of four alien beings two feet long with small bald heads and big ears he was told nothing about the circumstances of their recovery he swore his wife to secrecy but after their divorce beverly freely
(2:48:56) discussed the story that [__] he swore to secrecy that's what chicks that's what happens when you divorce them in the mid 1980s when ufologist larry bryant sued the us government to get to it to reveal its ufo secrets he tried without success to subpoena gleason holy [__] so that's the thing in his house that's his backyard that's his ufo house so he built a house that so that was what they were talking about it wasn't that he just built a ufo he built a [__] house shaped like a ufo where is that new york
(2:49:31) is that still there yeah you ought to buy it that's what i'm talking about bro that's what i'm talking about it was for sale well here's the realty.com thing for 12 million 12 million oh that's a little steep for a [__] year it's probably a negotiable house he couldn't go it must be negotiable but it's jackie gleason it's probably worth it just because he's jackie gleason's listen the hustler is one of my all-time favorite movies i'm a pool player and so that movie i've i've seen that
(2:49:56) movie literally probably a hundred times because they used to they used to put it on in the executive billiards in white plains new york they would play it late at night all the time so we would be playing pool they'd put the hustler on everybody loved it yeah such a great movie and jackie gleason was uh amazing in it and a serious role too not a comedic role at all yeah i mean he was great in the honeymooners wasn't he he was great in everything jackie gleason was great in smoking the bandit yeah he was just great
(2:50:18) i loved that guy but i love him even more because he's a ufo freak um do you think that they have some sort of body somewhere yeah you do i do what makes you think that um i think what do what what would be why do i think that trying to narrow it down um well i think that um i'm trying to not get into conversations so i i think that because uh it's in the i think there are enough different kinds of sources in the media about people seeing things i did an interview years ago with safro
(2:51:24) henderson and stan friedman and kevin randle went to her house in california because her husband was pappy henderson and pappy henderson was one of the the pilots that flew material flew stuff out of right pat and she said he said they were in a grocery store one day and the inquirer had a big article aliens revealed so on and so forth and there's the checkout stand and she said he took the story seriously and as after they checked out he said well i guess i can tell you now because it's out so he thought the (2:52:13) inquirer was serious he thought it was whatever it was a choir i think it was could have been some other one but i let's just use that as a right as a one of those tabloids as one yeah magazine and um and he said well i guess the story's out i can tell you now about i flew uh the crates records and uh crates and wreckage out of out of and you told about the whole ufo thing and i believe that she said that he said to her there were bodies now this was part of the story that went with the whole roswell crash was that there

(2:52:52) was a local mortuary that was told to make small coffins right and that people had said that they had seen these bodies and that the wreckage was flown in three two separate planes to write paterson air force base and that if they really thought it was just a balloon why would they why would they fly it in two separate planes to write patterson right and that truman was truman right how was it they couldn't recognize balloon material from something else and you had a debris field that was a quarter mile wide half
(2:53:22) a mile long yeah it's all pretty fantastic stuff but again part of my problem is i want to believe that's part of my problem is that i'm willing to [__] myself do you believe in a god force a god force a god or god or a god force do you believe there is such a thing can you define it well do you have any belief that there is a supreme being of the universe or a god force of some kind i don't think it's impossible i don't know i don't know what what creates a big bang like what what starts this whole
(2:54:08) process what what causes nature what what causes all these elements to fuse and create carbon-based life what causes what causes planets to exist in a goldilocks range around the sun is it just happenstance is it coincidence is it just bing bang you knows on its way out the big bang's on its way out it's on its way up oh okay so it's like fossil fuels so string theory is on its way out is it yep what about all those guys have been scribbling [__] on legal pads for years so like a friend of physicist friend of mine said
(2:54:41) very recently that perhaps the entire generation has wasted its time we've lost an entire generation of people maybe longer than that in my opinion so what do they think now the thinking is first of all it's a little bit bogus to think that the universe extends only as far as you can see 13 and a half billion light years i think they don't believe that though they think that's just as far as we can measure it right well they they assume that they're that the uh the universe is expanding and they're judging that based on 13 and
(2:55:20) a half billion light years of sight right okay that may be a very very small neighborhood but that's as far as the cave wall is and you're not seeing beyond the cave wall right you're also telling me that you know a lot about the cosmos and you want me to believe you uh but yet you don't know what 95 96 percent of the cosmos is of the energy you have no idea dark energy dark matter right you haven't a clue right and you're telling me that you know all of this stuff about the cosmos and you're missing 96
(2:55:53) of the information really i think what they're trying to tell us is this is what we know so far i think that's what they're trying to tell us i don't i think they're as perplexed about dark matter and dark energy as we are but they have a lot of information about background radiation about the signals that seem to indicate one neighborhood yeah in the neighborhood in our neighborhood well if the universe is infinite 13.
(2:56:22) 5 billion years is nothing it's it's like literally this block yeah not even and then of course what singularity you know big bang started from what from what from what and so string theory a series of what 11 12 theories and hypothesis stand on top of each other and they all have to be perfect they all have to fit for and you wind up with with this other conclusion that basically everything started from nothing but they don't think it starts from nothing they think it started from an infinitely small point that exploded in an instance and (2:56:54) created all the matter that we see okay versus today so i can see the head of a pin as not being nothing okay concede that well better can see it because it's got more matter i've got to concede than anything more galaxy okay right right just a theory right so it's just an opinion right but it's an opinion by people that have been studying this their whole lives and they and now it's out it's going out the door it is that's what i've been told who told you that the psychic no now if i

correlate the physicist that (2:57:26) told me that along with the psyche you really have something here no um i i think um there's been a bunch of different ideas about the big bang whether or not it's a constant cycle of expansion and contraction and then there's been i kind of actually like that one yeah i like that a certain kind of steady state of elasticity expansion and contraction that continues to go on and on with the orderly force being whatever dark energy and dark matter is to maintain organization structuring um harmony and everything so you reach
(2:58:04) maximum elasticity and then it starts to retract again yeah so your density is maximum density and you do this all over that's that is a theory that i've heard i like that one another theory that i think is pretty fascinating is the um the theory that inside of every black hole might be another universe that the idea of inside every galaxy apparently is a super massive black hole it's exactly one half i think it's one half of one percent of the mass of the entire galaxy so this intense massive black hole at the center of every galaxy
(2:58:38) and the theory at least the one that i had read was that if you could go through that black hole you would enter into another universe and that each of these galaxies has infinite like there's infinite number of galaxies essentially right there's hundreds and hundreds of billions of galaxies and each galaxy has a black hole inside of it a supermassive black hole and that through that you would go into another universe and that there's infinite universes because there's there's just all these portals and
(2:59:12) inside each one of them there's hundreds of millions of galaxies or hundreds of billions of galaxies each one of them has a black hole go through that you reach more universes with hundreds of billions again and it's just that's true infinity and you can have the same effect if you have infinite bubbles so you have multiverses right under these bubbles maybe the bubbles are 100 or 200 billion light years in diameter you know and they just have unlimited so i don't buy that there's that space is finite i
(2:59:39) think it's endless i don't think there was a beginning i don't think there was an end to the universe and so i think i think time is only relevant when you're when it's connected to some kind of matter or electrical energy or like electrons or protons or something like that and um otherwise there's no time because what are you measuring it against right so so that means that okay time could be infinite okay and so is distance there was no beginning and there is no end yeah that freaks us out but uh so should
(3:00:12) 13 and a half billion years 13.5 billion light years that should freak you out too all of it is beyond our possibility of of understanding because it's just so massive like when you see the number 13 billion it's like okay i see it i know how many zeros there are but my brain's not ready for that it doesn't it doesn't really compute yeah but what does that have to do with uh the concept of god though so i was asking you do you believe in a god force and he said yes you think so i realized i said it's
(3:00:42) certainly possible okay now why do you think it's possible because the universe is so spectacular that the idea that there's some force that's created it it doesn't make it any less spectacular or it's so insane just what you're what you're looking at on a night sky on a clear night sky if you're in a place with no light pollution is so insane the idea that there's some god force as well that makes all these things happen and creates all these things and there's there's actually like a good path and a
(3:01:12) bad path for at least sentient life forms and that there's some sort of ultimate goal for this this matter coalescing like that's possible so if you think there's a god for us this omniscient omnipresent omnipotent what role does thought play in that it's a good question um thought could be what we were talking about earlier that this could be how this human animal creates how this human animal innovates and how it interacts with other animals it gives it motivation to create and innovate and this is what
(3:01:50) creates this new form of life i've often said that i think that human beings might be some sort of biological caterpillar that gives birth to an electronic butterfly that we create something because of our desire for innovation and for material possessions and for there's a lot of weird instincts that people have you got to wonder what how are these serving us like how is it serving us to live your whole life to try to buy a new house in a lexus like what is it what is it about that well there's something about the pursuit (3:02:21) of material possessions that encourages innovation and encourages the production of things that's what people do they make things and if this is what our goal is just like a bee makes a beehive and we make things what what what's the ultimate expression of those things well the ultimate expression would be a new form of life and it seems there's a lot of work being pushed in that direction there's a lot of work being pushed in the direction of artificial intelligence of uh of robotics i mean there's there's (3:02:53) so much research that's that's going on right now to try to create these autonomous things that move around on their own whether it's autonomous soldiers for the battlefield or whether it's drones that can fly themselves and operate on on artificial intelligence like there's this direction is going to eventually if you talk to people far smarter than me like elon musk is terrified of it because he thinks it's unchecked and that it's going to lead to something that's super potent sentient far smarter than

(3:03:27) us and has no use for us the next not a good thought not a good thought yeah so um so then you keep it open that god can be a creator and can respond to the power of prayer if you're if you are praying for somebody and there are a lot of studies that say the power of prayer works more than just a placebo kind of effect you know that it actually actually works if you have a control group and a group that you're praying for a group that's you know a lot of tests like this that are blind double-blind tests
(3:04:02) and it it works in a laboratory kind of context what is it that's responding to the request for prayer is it a god force what is it that's responding i don't know that that's true i don't know that that it's true that prayer works like that i do know that the placebo effect works and i do though that the mind has extraordinary properties that we haven't harnessed i do know that people have the ability to change their state of mind and it'll change their physical well-being i do know that people have
(3:04:35) the ability to boost their immune system through breathing exercises and meditation and that we don't totally understand how they're doing that or why they're doing that a why we can't recreate that without that kind of discipline or maybe it's an emerging property of being a person who's written some good books he's a he's a md retired and i guess he he left the uh the hospital world because he he was intrigued with the anomalies he found among his patients and one of his books i think has some
(3:05:08) something to do with the title of power of prayer his name is larry dossey dr larry dossey and um and it's a really book that's worth reading okay it's he authored it quite a few years ago and he talks about the power the power of the power of prayer and a bit i think he gets into um the investigation of the power of prayer that works so that like well you know i think that's also probably works in a negative way too right this is what the concept of voodoo was the concept of voodoo is that someone
(3:05:42) puts a curse on you and they let you know they put a curse on you and then your life is [__] and then you get it in your head that your life is [__] and then you have this self-fulfilling prophecy well supposedly the results under tested you know legitimate test conditions are that the results are greater than you can explain other otherwise just because of uh um just you may not even know that you're being prayed for so it's a controlled situation so you don't even know that you're part of the group that's being praised
(3:06:15) how would you measure that though when you're talking about response from illness and everybody varies depending upon your immune system and there's a lot of different things your nutrition youth health i think that gets into how the tests are set up right in order to to make sure that they're balanced in the in the in the in the group the sample group is being prayed for or the person maybe it's an individual i think if someone knew you were praying for them it would help that seems to make a lot of sense if you
(3:06:45) know you're being loved it'd make you feel better it'd make you energized when you're loved you you there's a feeling a reaction according to the literature not in his just his book but other that that it helps also the number of people that are praying for you and how committed everybody is to that that they're that how earnest they are in the effort so apparently that matters what do you think about all that jamie it's a lot it's a lot to think of um listen robert we have we've had a (3:07:20) long conversation here i think we're at three hours in yeah three three hours there's no restroom break and i'm just saying you're amazing a lot of a lot of people they tap out early they'll run out to pee no you handle it like a champ um

but uh thank you for all your work thank you for all the things you're you're interested in investigating and thank you for your time to come here and sit down and talk to me well i'll tell you this is my pleasure i i this is for me that it's a it's a great
(3:07:48) uh honor to be able to be on your show thank you it's an honor to have you i appreciate it thank you sir thank you very much all right goodbye everybody you

Transcript:
(00:02) We're talking with John Lear on the subject. Previously on The UFO Reporter The most commonly described alien is about three and a half feet tall as a round head, arms reaching to or below his knees and is wearing a silvery spacesuit or coveralls. Our guest on this particular day canceled. Who could we get to fill this? I called up John Lear I said, you said you had a guy he was going to work out there and maybe work on flying saucer in the desert.
(00:27) Can we talk to him? Well, there's several, uh, actually, nine, uh, flying saucers. Flying disks. I don't even know his name. He used a pseudonym and out the story comes that are out there of extraterrestrial origin. I get pulled off the set, the general manager comes back. What the hell was that? Is this for real? What did you just do? His real name is Robert Lazar.
(00:49) He says he earned degrees in physics and electronics. But the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him. Well, they're trying to make me a non-person. And tonight, George digs deeper, searching for the truth. Did you knowingly lie? I am telling the truth. I tried to prove that. Look, I don't know if it's real.
(01:06) But I'm going to find out. The Area 51 whistleblower comes under fire. We got threatening phone calls. You'll never make it back here. And George gets the attention of the U.S. government. We were followed. So they were definitely listening to you? They were listening to my phone. Along with two secret allies, all paving the way for an unprecedented twist inside the halls of the U.S.
(01:26) Capitol. A multi decade crash retrieval and reverse engineering program. Oh, this is serious. It's been serious for a long time and it's been ignored for way too long. The keepers of the secrets are better at their job than people like us are at ours. And they're not going to let this thing go easily.
(01:44) For over 30 years, investigative journalist George Knapp has fearlessly taken on the biggest mysteries, crimes and scandals. Tonight, we examine a few additional UFO cases. From the Las Vegas mob The murder of Alan Dorfman was never solved, nor was the bombing of Frank Rosenthal's car. To strange phenomena in the sky.
(02:02) There is some kind of a phenomenon here that can't just be written off. Covering it all just the same. I've always approached it as a news story, It's not my religion, it's not a belief. I don't know what to believe. Even now. Now NewsNation is bringing you unprecedented access to his archives that date back decades and how his life's work still influences the conversation on UFOs to this day.
(02:32) 36 years later, I'm still trying to figure it out. Well, this field is a mess. This is just, you know, 95% of this stuff is nonsense, it's explainable, it's prosaic. And I figured, well, look, I mean, what this topic needs is a good reporter I?ll have this all whipped into shape in six months. And of course, that was ridiculously optimistic.
(03:04) Six months turned into a 36 year Las Vegas career for investigative reporter George Knapp. Did you have any interesting meetings with anyone UFO related around here? You go to any certain restaurants, or? All of them. I mean, the Peppermill where we grabbed lunch, that was like my office annex. I would meet all kinds of people from Area 51 there.
(03:27) George helped reveal the very existence of Area 51 through his interviews with Bob Lazar. Tonight, we're going to delve a little deeper into the subject with the man who was the impetus for our reports in the first place. Bob Lazar. Bob, good to have you here. A thumbnail sketch of yourself for those who might not be familiar with with your background.
(03:44) Lazar was a young scientist who claimed to work at the secret base called

Area 51 near Groom Lake in an especially hidden area called S-4, where Lazar claimed crashed UFOs were stored. Actually, nine flying saucers, flying disk. This came from somewhere else. I mean, as bizarre as that is to believe, but I mean, it's there. I saw it.
(04:04) I know what the current state of the art is in physics and it can't be done. This is one of George's reports from 1989 about what exactly Lazar says he saw. According to Lazar, his employer was the United States Navy. employees would gather near EG&G fly to Groom Lake, and then a very few people would get into a bus with blacked out or no windows and drive to S-4.
(04:29) So you get off the bus, What do you see? It's a very interesting building. It's got a slope of probably about 30 degrees. Which are hangar doors, and it has textured paint on it. But it's it looks like sand. It's made to look like the side of the mountain that it's in, whether it's to disguise it from satellite photographs or what.
(04:48) He says he was never told exactly what he'd be working on, but figured it had something to do with advanced propulsion. On his first day, he was told to read a series of briefings and immediately realized how advanced the propulsion was. The power source is an anti-matter reactor. They run gravity amplifiers.
(05:07) There's actually two parts to the drive mechanism. It's just it's a bizarre technology. There's no physical hook up between any of the systems in there. They use gravity as a wave, using waveguides, almost like microwaves. It took a while, Lazar says, before he actually saw one of the flying discs.
(05:26) However, there were hints everywhere. Right. They had a poster and it looked like a commercial poster, almost like it was a lithograph. And you could buy it at a Kmart or something. But they were all over the place and it had the the disk that I coined, the term, the sport model was lifted off the ground about three feet at at areas, four on the dry lake there.
(05:48) and those are just all over the place. Later, he got to see the real thing. When I was led in, it was the first time I saw the sport model in the hangar sitting down and I was told they could have walked me in the front door, but they purposely wanted to walk me by it. I was told not to say anything and just keep my eyes forward and and walk past the disc into the office area.
(06:09) And I did. And as we went by it, I just kind of stuck my hands on it just to run it alongside the thing. And you know, that that was about the smallest time. After that, I got to see it actually lift off the ground and operate. But you you also in between that you saw more than one. Yeah. The hangars are all connected together and there are large bay doors between each one.
(06:35) And there were nine total that I saw, each one being different, like they had the assortment pack, One of the nine flying disks he says he saw at the base, which was designated S-4, looks exactly like this UFO photographed in Europe. Lazar called it the sport model. I gave everything simple names, there?s the top hat one, and the jello mold and the sport model operated you know without any hitches at all.
(07:06) I mean, it looked new. If I can, if I knew what a new flying saucer looks like one of them look like it was hit with some sort of projectile. Even before he saw the sport model operate, Lazar says he suspected that the ship came from somewhere else. The realization slapped him in the face the first time he glimpsed the inside of the disk.
(07:26) I got to look inside and it had really small chairs, and I think that was the first confirmation I had. That was just a shocking thing because every time before that I was able to label, well, this is just a little advance that a group of scientists had formed and you know, they're keeping it secret. And yeah, we could have built a big disc like that.
(07:46) That's no problem. And, you know, we could have adapted these to make it fly. But why does it have little furniture inside? Essentially a little seat in it. And things began to click together just all too fast. A few of the discs had been completely dismantled to find out how they work, Lazar says. But others were fully operational.
(08:04) The bottom of it glowed blue and began to hiss like any like high voltage does on a round sphere. It's my impression that the reason that they're round and have no sharp edges is to contain the high voltage. Like if you've seen on a high voltage system, the insulators things are round or else you get a corona discharge.
(08:24) In either case, it began to hiss as in high voltage, and it lifted off the ground quietly. And except with that little hiss in the background, then it stopped. As soon as it reached about 20, 30 feet. Lazar's interview with George got attention far beyond Las Vegas, Nevada. (Japanese narration) Suddenly people around the world were paying attention to it.

(08:48) There was something called Paranet that was transcribing every piece as it aired, and then they send it all over the world via this fledgling technology called the Internet. There were people dubbing it off and then showing it in movie theaters and charging admission to it. We got inquiries from all over the world, other media, everywhere.
(09:04) When that Lazar part of the story broke in episodes five, six and seven, man, it it went to a different level. Lazar was credible enough for the Nippon TV Network. Nippon devoted 2 hours of prime time to a special on Lazar and UFOs in March. Lazar was invited to go to Japan to interview with reporters there.
(09:22) But along with all the attention came disturbing threats. The day we were supposed to go had tickets in hand, even went down and bought yen down at the currency exchange. You know, we got threatening phone calls. I mean, that basically said he'll never make it back here. So we really sat down and just thought, how important really is the interview? And we didn't go Lazar told George that security was tight and that fear and intimidation was used as a brainwashing tool They did everything but physically hurt me.
(09:53) Put a gun to your head. Yeah. And said, what? Actually put a gun to your head? Well, they, they did that even in the in the original security briefings they had guards there with M-16s and guys slamming their finger into my chest, screaming in my ear. Some people were pointing weapons at me. Like I said, it's not a it's not a good place to work.
(10:17) When you came out with the series and then the special was there pushback? Yeah, well, there was. And during the making of that, there was push back. We were followed, me, Lazar, a couple of others of us. I know it's hard to believe that, that they would go to that trouble but they knew I was working with him.
(10:34) They knew what I was digging into. They would go to his house when he wasn't there, open up the doors and windows, write stuff on his blackboard, move things around just to mess with his head. He went to the gym one time with a friend of his. He was really getting kind of panicky about the whole thing.
(10:49) He has a gun. He had an Uzi in his car for self-protection. He goes to the gym, has a workout, comes out an hour later. The doors of the car open, the windows are rolled down. The Uzi, which had been in a glove box, was there sitting on the front seat. They were just letting him know that they're watching.
(11:05) Coming up, threats and also questions about whether Bob Lazar was telling the truth about what he saw at Area 51. Did you knowingly lie when you said you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation? No. The results of several lie detector tests. I am telling the truth I?ve tried to prove that. Plus As soon as they talked to me, they got visited the next day by people claiming to be government agents.
(11:33) More sources coming forward as the government ramps up their intimidation tactics. When we come back, They had guards there with M-16?s Guys slamming their finger into my chest, screaming in my ear. Some people were pointin weapons at me. Like I said, it's not a good place to work. It was one of the stand out scoops for famed UFO reporter George Knapp.
(12:06) His interviews with Bob Lazar, a young scientist who claimed to have worked at Area 51. But was Bob Lazar telling the truth? George put him to the test in a series of reports, Lazar agreed to undergo a polygraph exam as part of this report. Polygrapher Ron Sleigh asked about the technology Lazar had seen. Did you knowingly lie when you said you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation? No.
(12:35) The results of this exam were inconclusive, Lazar appeared to be truthful on one test, deceitful on a second Sleigh recommended that a second examiner be brought in. Polygrapher Terry Tavernetti runs a corporate security operation and is a former Los Angeles police officer. He put Lazar through four tests and concluded there was no attempt to deceive.
(12:55) And I left there thinking that I feel we do have some credibility to what the subject had to say. And that's when I went to some of my colleagues. Tavernetti sent the test results to a third polygrapher who agreed the results appeared truthful. The charts were then sent to a fourth examiner who did not agree, suggesting Lazar might be relating information he'd learned from someone else.
(13:18) The polygraphers conferred and decided they would not issue a final statement on truthfulness until more specific testing can be conducted. And that's where it stands. Tavernetti believes that difficulty in determining Lazar?s truthfulness stems from the fear that was drilled into him. I think we?re talking about a subject here that is so far reaching and it is so emotional.

(13:40) And when you're dealing with emotions, this is polygraph. Because we're dealing, in polygraph you're looking at fear, the fear of getting caught telling a lie because something bad will happen to you if you do. Well, I am telling the truth. I've tried to prove that what's going on up there could be the most important event in history.
(14:02) You're talking about contact, physical, physical contact and proof from another, another system, another planet, another intelligence. That's got to be the biggest event in history, period. And it's real. And it's real and it's there. And I had an extremely small part in it, but I'm convinced that what I saw is absolute proof of that.
(14:25) There is there is no way we could have created those systems. There's no way we could have made the disc, the power supplies, anything to go with them. You believe his story, don't you? Yeah, I do. Yeah. I've got to know him pretty well over the last couple of months, and I believe he's telling the truth.
(14:40) George?s connection to Bob Lazar led other tipsters to start calling him. But again, there was intimidation that made his quest to learn more, increasingly difficult. I had people call me during those projects, those first two who offered to give me information about reverse engineering, flying saucers. 6 of them, right in a row were visited. As soon as they talked to me.
(14:59) They got visited the next day by people proclaiming to be government agents who told them, Shut the hell up. Even one of the polygraph examiners, former police officer Terry Tavernetti says shortly after his involvement with Lazar was made public, his employers were contacted. The corporate offices where I'm employed, received a telephone call from a government agency wanting to know why I was getting involved in something that I shouldn't be.
(15:26) And I asked, well, what agency, what was said? They identified themselves and I said, because I've be more than happy to talk to them. And I was refused this information, told that he didn't know, meaning my boss. Tavernetti says his house was also burglarized around the time he did Lazar's polygraph.
(15:43) As an investigator of over 20 years, I don't believe in coincidences. There's a reason for everything. I mean, could it have been a random residential burglary? Yes. One case, the source was a cop. He worked at the courthouse and she worked at the courthouse as a court reporter. And he said she told me one time over lunch that she had worked for a defense contractor and heard this information about Roswell and wreckage and bodies and it being stored out in the Nevada desert.
(16:13) I asked this cop friend, would she talk to me He goes, I think so. Here's her number. I called her and she gave me the broad strokes of her story. I said, Can we meet if I need to hide your face or your identity, change your name. I will. Very next day she gets visited by these two guys. They told her, You know, you're still subject to your security clearance.
(16:30) And then they go, We know your daughter lives in L.A. and you travel across the desert to see her and she comes to see you. It's a a big desert out there. It'd be a shame if something happened to either one of you. This is a veiled threat, not so veiled threat. She was scared to death. Not only wouldn't talk to me, I called her ten years later after she had left that job, and she still wouldn't talk to me.
(16:51) So they were definitely listening. They were listening to my phone and it really pissed me off. I mean, they couldn't have obtained a warrant to do it. No judge in Nevada would approve something like that. They wanted to know who was offering to give me information and it really made me mad. Again, I was already sort of on a crusade because of the the FOIA documents, the paper trail and the lies, this really got under my skin.
(17:12) And so we produced another nine part series in May of 1990, and it hit even harder. And that sort of sealed the deal for me. It made me the the UFO reporter, whether I like it or not. Coming up next, the UFO reporter was about to get two of his best sources. I?ve been interested in this subject for a long time.
(17:32) You?ve said that you don't think it's little green men. Is it possible that nobody really there's no one who knows the ultimate answer? I don't think no one has the answers. I?m anxious to get the facts. I think it's something we should look into. A U.S.
(17:46) senator and a rich American businessman take George's UFO reporting to places he never imagined. It was George Knapp?s bombshell 1989 interview with young scientist Bob Lazar that opened the door to new UFO sources. Two really important things that happened in association with that project. One was Harry Reid. Nevada Senator Harry Reid saw George's UFO series and was interested.
(18:19) You know, George, I'll have to look at this. I have heard about this exact story. I've heard about it, as kind of a preview of your program. I visited with you once before. I'm anxious to get the facts. I think it's something we should looknto. He says, Yeah, well, I'm going back to Washington.

(18:34) My car will pick you up. You can talk to me on the way to the airport. And so I spilled the beans to him. What I'd learned so far, he didn't kick me out of his car. He was interested. He said at the end, Well, look, keep keep me in the loop and I'll do the same for you. And that friendship that sort of started there, the secret conversation started that day.
(18:51) It lasted for the rest of his life and had a major effect on my life. Senator Reid visited Area 51 several times over the years, but never commented to George on the record about what he saw. I had never wanted to ask you on the record because I know there are limits on what you can say, but you've been there multiple times.
(19:07) More than enough, quite a few times, and that was something that was really necessary, especially with the Soviets, with their satellites. No, it?s, and I, look, today I see things that were experimental up there that are now are everyday deals. Were there a lot of off the record conversations? Oh yeah. Documents he would give you that you weren't reporting on? For years and years and years.
(19:33) It would ebb and flow at different times depending on what else I was working on. I'd go to Washington if not every year or every other year to interview our congressional delegation, and I always made a point to spend time with him, and he'd always pulled me aside and we'd have our own little UFO conversation out of ear reach of his staff. Drove them crazy.
(19:51) Drove me crazy, crazy for years because neither one of us would tell him what it was about. Now, after a while, they figured it out. And George, as you know, I became terribly interested in this. And rather than think about it, I said, Why want to do something about? In 2007, Reid and other senators authorized the black budget study of UFOs.
(20:15) AAWSAP Advanced Aerospace Weapons System Application Program A contract with the program was awarded to a company called BASS, an offshoot of Bigelow Aerospace, owned by Las Vegas space entrepreneur Robert Bigelow, a billionaire who had funded his own UFO studies for years. Bigelow fifirst connted with George after his initial UFO reports in the late eighties.
(20:37) I start getting all these calls. One of them came from this businessman I'd never heard of. Hold for Robert Bigelow. Okay. He gets on there. Boy, that was really good. He kind of introduces himself. I had no idea that he had already been funding UFO research. He offered to help. He was going to give me money to go ahead and pursue the investigation.
(20:53) I said, No, no, no, I can't do that. I?m working for channel 8, but I appreciate your offer of support and maybe we can get in touch. That friendship that I developed with Bigelow then proved so important in the long run, and eventually Reid and Bigelow got together and I introduced them. George reported on every step of the new project.
(21:11) Bigelow built secure facilities inside his aerospace company. At its peak, the study had 46 scientists working at the Nevada facility, writing reports and analyzing data that came in from the military. Rapid response teams were dispatched to the scene of UFO events. Over the five years The project cost a total of $22 million.
(21:33) So you knew that the US government was funding a secret program and you just had to stay qet? Yeah. They asked me to be part of it. I was asked twice to get a security clearance so that they could bring me in and show me stuff. I was not privy to everything that was going on. I did not have a security clearance, so I'd get bits and pieces, big picture stuff about what they were doing.
(21:52) And most of what they did was not classified, but it was very restricted, you know, it was kept in a stovepipe. And during the five years of research, Robert Bigelow's team made an unexpected finding. Details of a UFO resembling a Tic Tac off the West coast of the United States. Over a two week period in late 2004, an unknown 45 foot long tic tac shaped object played cat and mouse with the U.S.
(22:20) Navy off the coast of California. Even before a bombshell New York Times story on the Tic Tac, George knew about it. The USS Nimitz aircraft carrier and its support ships carrying the most sophisticated sensor systems in the world repeatedly detected recurring glimpses of the tic tac, but were unable to lock on.
(22:40) On November 14th, F-18?s were ordered into the area and saw it up close. Veteran pilot Dave Fravor, commander of the elite Black Aces unit, says the Tic Tac reacted to the presence of the F-18s, then took off like a bullet fired from a gun.

If you go from what what I saw, which is very close to what Bob describes, that would change mankind.
(23:03) And it's one of the reasons why you believe what you saw in 2004 was not ours. Yeah, like I said last night, I think a lot of it was, if you ask me in 2004, I don't know. My thing is it's now almost 15 years later and that technology is still there. No one has figured it out or no one has seen it.
(23:20) You can hide stuff. You can hide stuff for a long time, but hiding stuff for 15 years, I think it gets harder and harder. Something that revolutionary. Yes. I mean, it's literally, why would you hide a huge technology leap for mankind if you have it? AAWSAP had created the world's largest UFO database, 200,000 cases, a data warehouse or what it was, they put together an amazing pile of work in a short period of time, a stack of documents, if you print it out, the pages would be taller than than either of us in-depth reports about different topics.
(24:00) The tic tac, There's an investigation, an explanation of the tic tac that is so much more advanced than anything that anyone has seen. Congress has not seen one page of that stuff. The public hasn't seen one page of it. Where is it all? Good question. I don't think the DIA can find it. You know, we've seen these reports and documents that we've obtained and photos and information from the Navy about these drones buzzing their ships.
(24:28) And they don't know where they came from. They can't track them. They're coming in swarms, swarms like bees, like insects. I don't know if it's scarier that it's an unknown or if it?s scarier that our adversaries have made great strides in technology. And always remember, Russia, the former Soviet Union is run by a man who ran the KGB.
(24:53) They had as many as 30,000 agents at one time, KGB agents. So Russia's involved in this? No question about it. Coming up, George travels 6000 miles from Vegas to Moscow. There was a period of 78 to ?88 where the Russians had had these dramatic UFO incidents. And wait until you hear what he came back with.
(25:18) Plus, never before heard parts of our exclusive interview with UFO whistleblower David Grusch. As George Knapp started to become synonymous with UFO reporting, he started to look outside the U.S., specifically at Russia. So there comes this high level Russian scientist to Las Vegas. We have a couple of beers, I ask about UFOs.
(25:44) You ever hear anything about it? He goes, no, I don't think so. It doesn't ring a bell. We have one more beer. He goes, you know, now that you mention it, there's a friend of mine at KGB who said he had worked on a report about UFOs and some documents. I could ask him about it. I said, you think there's anybody else who might know? In the Ministry of Defense? Well, I know all those guys, I could find out.
(26:04) So he said, yeah, I'll do it. Behind the scenes, George planned a high stakes trip in 1993, with Russia in turmoil and sources ready to talk. We were there ten days, we were pulled over by cops seven times. There were people stationed outside of our rooms at the hotel. I would put little traps to see if they went through my stuff, which they did every single day.
(26:28) We met with this guy, Boris Sokolov, who had been the head of what was then the largest UFO investigation conducted by a government in the history of the world. There was a period of 78 to 88 where the Russians had these dramatic UFO incidents, and they decided to create a program to get to the bottom of it.
(26:47) And man, well, that was really something. I won't explain exactly how I got access to the files, but I did, thousands of pages from the Russian Ministry of Defense. Many of those pages were classified at the time. So then we had the problem of how to get it out. Well, that?s what I was going to ask. That was pretty tricky.
(27:05) What did you do? Well, these documents in those days, at least, the Russian Ministry of Defense would stamp classification on the top page of the document, and the rest of them weren't marked at all. It was clear they were military documents. But without that classification, it's a lot less onerous and dangerous.
(27:20) I just removed the top pages of all those documents and I threw the rest of it in my suitcase. With some caviar, by way, which they told us we were not allowed to take out caviar. So I threw some caviar in there as a diversion, and it worked because they opened it up, they look, hey, caviar. Not allowed. Close the suitcase back up.
(27:38) And then the other pages I carry through security, I carry it on my person. If they caught me, I'd still be there in a gulag somewhere. But they didn?t. And, you know, the goal was maybe we'll find out more from the Russians about what our government knows about UFOs that we'll ever learn from our government itself.

(27:54) Which is true. We did. George started sharing his findings with key players in Washington and his friends, Senator Reid and Robert Bigelow. I'd ask Colonel Sokolov, what's the interest? What are you trying to do here? And he said, it's really simple. These craft can do things that we can?t. Th fly circles around our best aircraft.
(28:12) We know they do the same thing to you. And we figured if we could find one, figure out how they work, we could kick your ass in terms of stealth technology, because at that point, we're way ahead of them. Three years later, George returned to Russia and came back with even more bombshells. I interviewed this guy named Maltsev, who'd been commander of the entire Russian air forces, and he told me about these encounters that Sokolov had recounted 40 different incidents where Russian warplanes chased UFOs and boom, they were gone.
(28:39) In three of those cases, though, the Russian warplanes crashed, two of the pilots died. And after that, this guy Maltsev issued an order. Leave him alone. You see a UFO, leave them the hell alone, because, quote, they have incredible capacities for retaliation. More than 25 years later, a Pentagon that George reported back then.
(29:03) A secret Cold War with some of our biggest enemies. We're in a competition with our adversaries to understand this. It's a multidecade Cold War that has been under our nose for so long. And, you know, there is no good way to level the playing field and hold other nation states accountable if they're doing unethical or illicit activity as it relates to this subject.
(29:25) And I think the obtuse secrecy is actually putting us in a very dangerous position where a country might make a breakthrough that?s say an adversary of ours and it is so destabilizing. In June 2023, a worldwide exclusive interview on NewsNation revealed alleged secrets within our own government. What conclusn did you come to at the end of your time on the UAP task force? The UAP task force was refused access to a broad crash retrieval program.
(30:04) We have spacecraft from another species. We do. Yeah. How many? Quite a number. You're kidding. No, I thought it was totally nuts. And I thought at first I was being deceived. It was a ruse. People started confiding in me. They approached me. I have plenty of current former senior intelligence officers that came to me, many of which I knew almost my whole career that confided in me. They were a part of a program.
(30:31) They named the program. I've never heard of it. And they they told me based on their oral testimony and they provided me documents and other proof that there was, in fact, a program that the UAP task force was not read into. I've been told that there have been attempts to bring down craft. There have been instances and there are certain techniques.
(31:01) Have human beings been hurt or killed by a non-human intelligence? While I can't get into the specifics because that would reveal certain U.S. classified operations, I was briefed by a few individuals on the program that there were malevolent events like that, Including this never before seen moment where Grusch describes the roadblocks he says he faced when trying to pry for answers.
(31:28) You're telling us we're being lied to? Yeah. It's an obvious intelligence community disrespect to the legislative branch. And I. I tried to gain access in my official capacity and, you know, I had one agency say, oh yes, we have what you're looking for. We?ll read you in. And then two months went by.
(31:45) they wouldn?t return phone calls. They wouldn't return inquiries by the UAP task force director, my colleagues with the same kind of statutory authority to investigate this and in one case, they tried to kill all my security clearances from that particular agency, as almost like a show of force. Like, please don't ask again, Dave.
(32:07) And I I thought that was extremely unprofessional. And yet you were legally entitled to seek this information. I, I stated my official capacity to look into this. This wasn't me trying to get access to a program I wasn't supposed to or anything like that. I this was in my official capacity. Grusch's story first shared publicly in June, was actually known to George well before then.
(32:30) I had been told that I might be introduced to somebody. I'm sitting at a bar and they're shooting video of me just cutaways. And at that exact moment, while they're getting video made, Dave Grusch walks up and introduces himself and we started a conversation and got to know each other. And we've been talking ever since.
(32:43) And boy, a shared with me something that I wasn't allowed to make public t then, butt was his whistleblower complaint, what he had filed with the inspector general, because at that point they were already coming after him. Now, he had come to that conference to meet people, to learn about UFOs, to interact with UFO world a little bit, and to interact with Jay Stratton, who was, you know, the guy who had given this assignment.

(33:07) He didn't come alone. Now, Grusch came with his boss and his boss?s boss. They also went to this thing. They knew what he was up to. They knew what he had found. They haven't come forward. It's interesting that nobody's asked them questions about what he was doing or whether it was legitimate, but they were there because they knew what he found and they wanted to support him.
(33:25) We've heard these stories for years that there's reverse engineering, crashed saucers, UFO secrets stashed in there, hidden by the use of hundreds of millions of dollars of national security dollars that are unaccounted for, that Congress has no idea what's being spent on. Go find it. And he did.
(33:44) He had the clearances to go into those special access programs, interview the people, put them under under oath, get their testimony, collect it at all, and send it send it up the stairs, up the chain of command. And once it became clear what he was doing, what he was going after, he was messing with the fundamental forces of nature.
(34:03) These are powerful interests that have this stuff. The keepers of the secrets are real and they're not going to give it up. So they came after him. Coming up, it all comes full circle. As George?s front row for historic UFO congressional hearings. A multi decade UAP crash retrieval and reverse engineering program.
(34:36) David Grusch?s claims on NewsNation sparked an unprecedented move in Washington. A historic hearing specifically focused on disclosure and getting answers about what the government truly knows about UFOs. Mr. Chairman, ranking members and congressmen, thank you. I'm happy to be here. This is an important issue and I'm grateful for your time.
(34:58) My name is David Charles Grusch. I was an intelligence officer 14 years. I was informed in the course of my official duties of a multi decade UAP crash retrieval and reverse engineering program. And seated right behind the three key witnesses was none other than George Knapp. So how did you end up in the front row right there of the hearings? Well, these members of Congress haven't been at it that long.
(35:25) They knew they needed help. They wanted to set up a hearing. Do you have any personal knowledge of people who've been harmed or injured in efforts to cover up or conceal these extraterrestrial technology? Yes. Personally. Would you have had the capability to defend yourself, your crew, your aircraft? Absolutely not, sir.
(35:45) No. My main concern that it needed to be bipartisan. It can't just be Tim Burchett and other Republicans one sided kind of a thing because the temptation to be really partisan you can't help it. And he agreed to that. He said, Yeah, we're going to make it bipartisan. We got some Democratic members who are interested in it.
(36:01) And he did. He kept his promise. And thank you all for being here and the courage it took to come forward. And and again, the sacrifice that you've made. Is it possible that these UAP are testing for vulnerabilities in our current systems? Yes. Yes. Possible. It is, based off of the information that you've been privy to.
(36:22) Is there any indication that these UAPs are interested in our nuclear technology and capabilities? Yes. By external observation, sure. That could be a fair assessment, Yeah. Yes. Is there any indication the Department of Energy is involved in UAP data collection and housing? I don't have an answer. I can't confirm or deny that in a public setting.
(36:41) Could you do it in a secure setting? Yes. For the record, if you were me, where would you look? And I put that as an open question to the three of you. I'd be happy to give you that in a closed environment. I can tell you specifically. Thank you. And Commander Fravor. And I would say I've told people that you have to know where to look.
(37:02) They're not going to divulge it to you because the classification levels. But if you know where to look and who to talk to, which is exactly Mr. Grusch can point you then then you have them. Okay. Mr. Graves. I was an operator, so I was depending on folks like Mr. Grusch to do that homework. Okay. Thank you very much. I yield back to the chair.
(37:17) Congress, it's a perilous moment for them right now. You saw those members of the House. They were very passionate at that hearing. They wanted to get to the bottom of this. If you believe we have crashed craft stated earlier, do we have the bodies of the pilots who piloted this craft? As I've stated publicly already in my NewsNation interview, biologics came with some of these recoveries. Yeah.

(37:39) Were they, I guess, human or non-human biologics? Non-human. And that was the assessment of people with direct knowledge on the program I talked to that are currently still on the program. And was this documentary evidence is video, photos, eyewitness like how would that be determined? The specific documentation? I would have to talk to you in a SCIF about.
(37:57) Yeah, absolutely astonishing for me to see Tim Burchett and Matt Gaetz, as far right as you can get. And over on the other side is AOC and Jamie Raskin, and they're all asking pointed questions. They're all into it. These are not questions just prepared by staff. They're listening the witnesses and asking good stuff.
(38:15) And they are, they're pissed off. But as I have said 100 times, the keepers of the secrets are better at their job than I am, people like us are at ours, and they're not going to let this thing go easily. The pushback has already begun. So yeah, it's interesting. Burchett said that too. There were other witnesses that backed out.
(38:33) Well, I think there was a statement about other witnesses. They didn't pass their security clearance or something and that was not the case. Okay. There was two other witnesses that we tried to get who declined to be part of it, but they might do it at some future point. Well, how do you think the Pentagon is going to react, given, you know, your experience covering this issue? You know, they've resisted being truthful for 75 years.
(38:55) It's not going to turn around on a dime. But after what happened today, I don't think you can put the genie back in the bottle. Mr. Knapp, having covered this for years, decades, is today surreal for you as weird? Yeah, it?s weird. It's really, it's weird to see it finally happen. I had a moment where it kind of overwhelmed me, thinking about, Gosh, this is happening right in front of my eyes after all these years, progress finally being made.
(39:19) It was, it was quite a moment. It's quite a moment. I wonder, are we going to be able to figure out these mysteries even if we have, say, a crashed saucer? Does it tell us where they're from or why they're here or what their interest is in us? I've been pretty far up the food chain. I don't know anyone who knows the big picture.
(39:41) Do you think there's someone behind the scenes that does? I think there's, there are people behind the scenes who know a lot more than we do. A lot more than I do, a lot more than AAWSAP learned. I've heard about these people for a long time and somebody pulls these strings. I don't know that there was ever an MJ-12, but I suspect that there was an organization like that.
(39:59) You know, I'd love to have the answers while I'm still alive and kicking here, but I'm not sure that that's going to happen. It seems like this is the worst possible moment for you to retire, which you're obviously not retiring. But are you working harder than ever? Would you say? It seems like it.
(40:17) I tried to retire. It lasted two months. And yeah, it'd be pretty hard to walk away from it now. George has teamed up with UFO researcher Jeremy Corbell for his podcast Weaponized. They continue to be at the forefront, breaking some of the biggest stories. Congress has made it pretty clear they want this information, they want to have access to it, they want whistleblowers who have information, direct hands on experience with these legacy programs to step forward.
(40:43) Those people are really reluctant, as we know. We talk to them. We have we have passed people through the process that are verifiably who they say they are. Other people whose names are not yet known to the public or to the UFO world who want to tell the story. And George says there's more to come. There are more whistleblowers, and there will be more that will come out.
(41:04) We know some of them. There are some big shoes still to drop. Do you think it's sunk in for you how pivotal you were in all of that? I lucked into it a lot. And I'll take credit where, you know, I'll take credit if somebody wants to give me some of it here and there. But moving here in the first place, getting to know Lazar and Lear and all that, that where it lead- You may not find out in a month, a year, five years or ten years, but you'll look back at what I'm telling you now and you'll say to yourself, (41:31) My gosh, that son of a gun was right. You got to work it. You know like a like a reporter does. Yeah. You got to, if it becomes your beat, you work it. I think what we can say about this is there is a body of information, there is some kind of a phenomenon here that can't just be written off. The government is sitting on a certain amount of information that it isn't letting us know about.
(41:51) And I don't think the topic has been fairly treated by science or journalism. It would be interesting if we could have a much larger investigation by someone else. It does seem a lot more mainstream now, though, to have these conversations. I'm thrilled when I see other media covering it. It?s fun. The public's interested, our listeners, our viewers, our readers are interested.

(42:09) And it's important, too. I mean, the big picture, if we could get to the bottom of it, it changes everything. George Knapp, Channel 8, Eyewitness News.

Transcript:
(00:00) [Music] [Applause] [Music] from the high desert and the great american southwest i beg you all good evening good morning good afternoon wherever you may be in the world's time zones because we cover all of them with this strange unusual program this eclectic adventure in the night called coast coast a.m it's uh an honor to be here it's honored to certainly be interviewing the man i'm about to interview amarillo slim you may not have known that he was on the way tonight but indeed he is uh tell you all about him
(00:58) in a moment and then in the second hour of course bob lazar and so this should be quite a night all in all folks i want to note for you very quickly i've had about 10 000 emails richard c hoagland's website is just temporarily down as is he with the flu richard c hoagland has the flu look out out there i'm hearing stories that this year's shot may not do the job and being in isolation may be a good thing anyway his website will be up shortly understand we may take a moonshot with a shuttle that's something we'll talk with (01:35) richard about i spoke with him a couple of hours ago coming up in a moment oh what an honor uh the book is amarillo swim in a world full of fat people the memoirs of the greatest gambler who lived that's who you're about to hear from uh thomas austin amarillo slim preston 74 years of age is a fast talking colorful texas gambler and poker ambassador who won the world series of poker in 1972 never without his snakeskin wrapped stetson and custom designed cowboy boots he lives in amarillo texas is 6'4 and
(02:15) weighs 170. he is skinny he's so skinny he looks like an advanced man for a famine despite his string being build amarillo slim is larger than life and considered around the world to be the greatest gambler of all time the greatest gambler of all time what is he what kind of things has he done to give you a little taste he played minnesota fats in one pocket uh with with a broom in one pocket playing one pocket with a broom he took 21 and a half points on the jets and won a six-figure bet on broadway joe and
(02:56) super bowl because that couldn't be three well maybe it was um he um he he made a cat pick up a coke bottle this is what i got to hear about made a cat pick up a coke bottle he bet on which sugar cube a fly might land on in an arkansas jail whenever he was therefore he won the world series of poker no small matter at binion's horseshoe in 72.
(03:28) he beat evil knievel in golf with a carpenter's hammer betting 2 out of 30 cab drivers in dallas would have the same birthday beat bobby riggs playing ping pong with a skillet beat willie nelson out of 300 000 is playing dominoes in vegas played bob stupak my neighbor over the hill there pitching coins for 65 000 at the rio in las vegas played larry flint heads up poker at the phipps club in los angeles betting a prominent politician betting a prominent politician yeah that george w bush would win the 2000 presidential election a whole lot more
(04:13) in fact they've got 21 listed here the crazy bets and crazy things the man you're about to hear from has done in a moment amarillo slim now to where else amarillo texas and here's amarillo slim amarillo welcome to the program good to be here bud what's going on ha ha you at the moment my friend um i spent 18 months in your fair city back in the days when you used to have an air force base there emerald air force base well yeah but when lyndon johnson failed to carry potter county where our air force base got phased out (04:53) i recall i think last time i was there the only thing left were a few red and white towers out there where the air force base used to be that's about it that's about it but amarillo is a good town hell i i've lived here nearly all well all my life i i met a pair of really good-looking twins in amarillo so i i remember that place for a long time why you should because our population has been the same in the last 30 years never married every time someone gets pregnant some man leaves town so amarillo just been the same forever (05:25) why why are you a gambler well i don't know i uh i don't know why it seemed like it come pretty easy for me and hell that soft is better for me i enjoy it uh yeah but i mean there must be something in your psychological makeup you must thought about it from time to time why do i do this why am i a gambler uh sometimes it's uh it's a good thing sometimes and today it's a bad thing my gosh look what southern cal did that last field goal you'd like to go spend what it cost me i had taken 22 points on (06:01) that game so uh you haven't let up at all have you that's for women and children nobody gives up i would love to hear your your book is out how is your book being greeted by the way folks uh if you go to my website uh and just click on arts webcam i'm holding a copy of emerald son's book picture of them right on front and uh so there's a lot of really cool stories in this book uh let's talk about a few of them i mean you you you played minnesota fats in one pocket with a broom well yeah when uh in (06:34) in my youth i uh i was a professional video player uncle sam sent me all over the world giving uh like admitted exhibitions when i was only 17. and when i came back from europe i ran the patch at perth amber in new jersey and uh and we played and he beat me out of roy beat me out of a good-sized figure but a little later on he found out he should have won about five times that so let's get him a couple of sponsors together and they come to amarillo to play me some and i matched a proposition game with him a

(07:08) game that i had practiced for a long long time and there was a handicap involved but that was a good player but what he smelled cooking wasn't on the fire you know what i'm saying he uh a broom well yeah just like you sweep the floor with and uh and bless his heart he uh he left here scratching a broke tail and i felt it was good for him i liked that so i was one of the few people that liked that but we knew him as new york bats he only become minnesota facts after the movie come out oh oh the movie did that
(07:43) to him yeah yeah we knew that i played that in uh in new york i played him in atlanta i played him in hot springs arkansas we played several times you said you were one of the only people who liked him huh well yeah because he was a man he was stronger than nelly's breath that that son of a gun was uh well i like splash hill he was okay with me very few people knew his name his name was rudolph walderon and he was a showman and a good one in fact he told me one time i played him an exhibition in reno and sculled out on him i couldn't meet
(08:20) him at that time and he says to me say you skinny cowboy if you want some notoriety go set yourself on fire so i thought fast was all right that suited me just fine uh he was as good as his reputation says yeah yeah uh i i'm a cat person i own four cats and so when i saw that you i mean you you you made a a cat you you bet somebody that a cat could pick up a coke bottle now cats can't pick up coke bottles oh yeah i've done it several times in my life i make the cat pick up the coke bottle made it take you up the elevator
(08:59) to a parking lot and put the bottle on top of his car what i made the kill yeah i heard you i just said i'm saying like how could you do that well all trappers don't wear fur caps and early that men and this man had been playing some high god and one evening we always went to the office bar that way in lawrence there in new york and when we when we did that well if anyone had a phone call they'd say where are you well we was always at the office you know what i'm saying so now i had given a newspaper kid a
(09:34) fifty dollar bill that morning and told him to catch me a cat he said what kind i said just a grown cat i don't care if it's a i don't care what it is it's just a grown cat not a baby kitten so he caught me a cat and i had stationed this gentleman on the outside of the booth where he'd be sure and see him had he been unable to see him i would have pointed him out to him but he saw this kid through this cat in the lounge where we were it was the office uh he said my god what's a her cat like (10:07) that doing in a nice place like this so i leaned completely over him and saw the cat and i said well that's a real smart cat and just sat back down and he grabbed me with the shoulder and he said well you mean a smart cat as you can tell by the width of the distance between his ears that he's real intelligent well i'm a non-drinking stiff so i was drinking a coca-cola which wasn't out of land i asked well like i bet i can make that cat pick up this coke bottle and take it up there on that parking lot and put it

(10:36) on top of your car oh man you could hear a mouse wet on cotton it got just this quiet in that building so naturally they they sent and got a yellow legal pad and they wrote out stipulations as to what you could and couldn't do you know what i'm saying yeah the the uh the way the bat would come down sure i'm taking it you mean the outline of the the bet exactly how it would be yeah because i couldn't uh you know i couldn't tie it to him or something so none of them covered what i did and so
(11:10) i i was real sure that the cat would how much money was on the table over this oh man we bet enough hundred dollar bills to burn up 30 wet mules this everybody in the joint batman you take an empty coca-cola bottle and snap the cap back on it just hit it with your hand there's a very very slight minute indentation where you open it it raises the edge on that cap yeah you grab a cap by his tail and i had some welders grill but spaced in that place and you grab him by one hand by the tail and he'll turn over and scratch you you
(11:46) put both of your hands on his tail right at the face of this tail yeah you can keep him off of it well at every entry to any restaurant or lounge or bar or business or anything there's generally a tile surface especially right in the front of the cash register so i lay this coke bottle down and i dragged this cat when you drag him he grasped everything he just he lets his claws out and he's trying to get hold of anything that's right they'll grab on anything that's right so i drag him over
(12:15) the bottle it doesn't take long and he his claws will catch on that indentation now you knew you knew this because you'd done this whole bunch of times obviously you weren't just oh i wasn't flying by the seat of my i knew that cat is going to pick up that bottle so when i pick him up by his tail as long as i hold on to his tail he'll load onto that bottle we went out and we opened the elevator and everybody got in that good and the rest of them planned the stairs took it to the top of the parking lot up there and when i
(12:46) turned loose the coke bottle he eternally says i mean when i turn loose with his tail eternally turn this to the bottom there was so i felt it was good for him because they uh they should have known he was a smart cat but they looked at the width between his eyes well they should have been looking at your eyes probably well that doesn't do them any good because uh i i i'd only let them see what i wanted them to see so there's a lot more than uh tibetan gambling especially this kind of gambling than just betting i mean there's really
(13:22) there's one element of showmanship there's one element of well there's a little bit of deceit a little bit of uh i was gonna say grifting well yeah because see some of the things the only one i ever did that was just an out and out i'd call damn near a swindle was about that eating a quail a day for 30 days yeah what was that all about well all my life i've heard that you couldn't either no one could eat a quail a day for 30 days why not well that meat's too strong you get to where you can't even (13:58) walk in the room where it's being prepared a quail a day 30 years yeah i know an attorney in austin that better big figure that he could and he didn't do it i know about 20 people that tried it no one ever did and couldn't do it so a friend of ours bought the holiday inn casino in reno and a bunch of the bosses and then some of us peons too we went to reno to welcome him to nevada and he said femme get us something unusual for dinner so i sent back home and got some turkey fries none of these guys are there eating turkey
(14:32) fries so one night then i got uh some cat fries and i sent to louisiana and got some probably you know a bunch of old spoiled millionaires sitting around there and uh finally i he said don't you have some quail and i said yes well i i got some massive quail so he volunteered it all come up on the natural and when it comes up natural it's always a certainty to become a reality you know what i'm saying i well i think i do well tom said oh these are real people i'm talking about he said uh lemon do you think you could eat a quail (15:06) a day for 30 days i said well i know i can't because i you know and you may he said well you you only win a couple hundred thousand i bet you can't eat a quail a day a couple hundred thousand two hundred thousand dollars on that well yeah see those kind of people aren't on any budget uh well so that would that'd be that's not an out-of-line wager no i i know it isn't i i know i've been watching some of these world series of poker tournaments and uh i want to talk to you about that insane well we get a stack of (15:35) hundred dollar bills out there the show dog couldn't jump over you know when i left the world series last year and went to the host opening of a new casino in colorado i put eight million three hundred and twenty thousand hundred dollar bills on the end of that poker table oh my god we had 832 players post 10 000 a piece to play in the tournament that's eight million three hundred and twenty thousand man that's got some whiskers on it oh yeah it sure does you know mine anyway finish up yeah yeah yeah so anyway that night where we went (16:08) up we had adjoining suites and about two o'clock in the morning benny come in he said glenn you're awake i said to hell no go on back and go to bed let's get some sleep he says i got a chore for you that's what i said he said you got to find a way where a man can eat a quail a day for 30 days i said benny you can't do it i said i know a lot of people have tried he said i've heard that all my life but he said now you will find some way for a man to eat a quail a day i said i don't know he said well i'm

(16:37) designating you a job to to find a way to do it so about four or five months later by sheer accident i was in roswell new mexico trying out a new cutting horse i had him in a round pin there and i told the the cowboys brought the horse over there i said open that gate there for me let me show him a little bit of country he said well flam just go down when you get out the gate turned right there in that pasture and said yeah you're going into about a three section pasture i said i'll see you later so i looked down at the end of that lane
(17:11) and started to step off the horse to get open the gate and this guy said oh my swim let me get that gate for you so this guy opens the gate where i'm going in that big pasture and i said how in the hell did you beat me down here he said what are you talking about well you just let me out of that round pin down there about a quarter of a mile or he says that's my twin brother identical twin i said lord and lord look here so apparently you can either quail every other god i'd let one of meet it for (17:48) about three days and then go to a dark movie or something and come out and he'd eat him for three or four days now see that's pretty close to a swindle what did i just tell you you did it was so much fun but when this guy after about the 12th day and this guy looks like he's doing all right with it but these these folks had waited they couldn't swallow bald opera it looked like the wheel had already run off and uh i had i enjoyed that one because it was a little uh well i guess you could say it's (18:29) unethical i don't know i just uh will you gamble uh i mean you gambled on a fly landing right while you were in jail or something being uh well i wasn't in jail i've never been incarcerated but never no well now see that that right there is something interesting you've never officially been in jail that's right i i've got a call oh from the little old town over in arkansas from the sheriff and he said he had a i was a big drug lord in his jail and he had an awful lot of money on deposit and he wanted me to (19:01) come over and see if i couldn't find some way to beat him so we agreed to cut it like a watermelon you know how you cut a watermelon don't you i do right down the middle so i went over there and they determined that if i smoked in the hall there at the courthouse and couldn't pay my fine that they put you in jail for a couple hours so i let me a cigarette and i was unable to pay my fine so it looked like it was on the square and they put me in there with this fella and uh we were sitting on the edge of a little (19:34) i guess you'd call it a bunk because one below and one above there was a little bench in front of us and this guy knew who i was or he heard some stories about me and he said my god i bet you could get us some coffee i said well probably why were you on he said man i'mma copy him i know you are let's have some coffee i said okay we hollered for what they call the jailer that's the guy with the keys i guess he come back there and i told him we wanted some coffee and this guy said slam i use cream and sugar bowl
(20:08) so i said well can you get us some cream and sugar and the guy said yeah so he brought us some but the sugar he brought us was uh love sugar cubes you've probably seen them yeah of course they look just like a paradise or just a little well that's what they look like paradise yeah they do so uh it wasn't real sanitary in there anyway and uh and there was some flies buzzing around so i thought well looky here i've already got me a way to break this gap so i put five of these sugar cubes on this little bench right in the front of (20:42) us about you know two foot in the front of us hold that story right there amarillo we're uh here at the bottom of the hour uh he was gonna bet the guy that he could cause a fly to land on a particular sugar cube this is a man who bet on anything obviously and pretty much has from the high desert in the middle of the night doing what you never expect always the surprise this is coast to coast am don't touch that dial [Music] got [Music] [Music] (21:58) [Music] [Music] on every call the wildcard line at area code 775-727-1295 the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with arc bell from east to the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5033 from west to the rockies call art at 800-618-8255 international callers may reach our bell by calling your in-country spread access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell you're listening to one of the greatest (22:55) gamblers if not the greatest gambler in the world his name is amarillo slim and he'll be right back all right back to emerald slim if i got this right there's guy in a jail right a whole bunch of money and i'm going to split that watermelon right down the middle and so he gets himself tossed in jail on some smokey infraction and guess uh in the js betting with this guy and he says up about something about sugar cubes so he had sugar cubes there right that's right and so what how what was the bet

(23:30) uh what he had on deposit but after it got told a lot of times a lot of people thought he had more on the prize and he did he had thirty seven thousand thirty seven thousand dollars but actually what was the bet thirty seven thousand and whatever odd things he had no i asked the money i meant what were you betting on well i put five little sugar cubes out there on this bench all right and he said uh uh what what do you mean i said well i'll you see those flies i said i bet i can tell you which one those sugar cubes the fly lands on yeah
(24:03) he said well you've got it i said well not even money there's five of them and even money would be four to one but i'll take uh seven to two i knew he had fudge you know he wanted the best of it which is three and a half to one so he didn't disappoint me he said no no no i'm not gonna lay friend hats wanna lay three to one i said well you got anything of course i already knew he had so he said yeah i'll ask for what i've got on deposit i said well you haven't got glass pockets let me see a receipt
(24:32) where i tell what you got on the body of course i already knew so i designated the cube it would land on and we wagered yeah but you see sugar just in its normal form uh one of those sugar cubes is just like a teddy bear i'm looking at one on the tv or a picture or something it's nothing but to apply but if you're moisten your finger and wet that sugar cube it'll dissolve a little bit of it it gives off an aroma now when it gives off an aroma mr fly he doesn't even see those other four they're just like that bent
(25:08) he just die about that cube oh my god you're gonna play again on me on this man sure tail it was sticking my food out when you see that but uh i knew which one that flower was gonna land and it did well it always will that's something to remember so you just get a little you're just going to put a little water there on there a little bit of spit on the end of that thing and that's exactly well you know it dissolves it oh my well when it evaporates but naturally it gives off a sweet aroma amarillo what's your wife's
(25:41) opinion on the on your lifestyle the way you live well i guess she thinks i'm a pretty clever little fella because in my youth i used to make some trips and they weren't all positive but it was very seldom remember asking if it was how did you do i'd even if i had a bad trip i'd say oh i beat these folks so there wasn't any of me being a burden or a hardship on my family over my gaming listen i i've been watching these uh poker tournaments and yeah man amarillo to play i understand these are good poker
(26:16) players but my god people land down sometimes hundreds of thousands of dollars on you know like no hand i it's just i it you would have to have i don't know great big giant brass ones to play in a tournament like that those people are crazy well let me tell you uh years ago they uh i was a guinea pig for a thing that they they wanted to do and originally i turned it down and a friend of mine got me to go ahead and do it they put some monitors on me like they strapped on those astronauts yeah and they wanted to show why under the (26:56) arrest i didn't show any emotion right there's a way it was kind of worded to me and uh hell i could look you right now and you know it's just like that guy that stands there and he swears to you it's raining outside but all the time he's wetting on your leg so uh i know i don't know but it takes a different breed of cat see everybody move the chips up and down you watch these tournament games which you're doing and so is everybody else in the country all these guys shuffle their

chips
(27:27) straight up and down well everybody can do that but it takes a different breed of cat that can move them chips out there in the center without a hand now anyone can if they've got the nuts or a sink hand or a good hand but i uh i respect a guy that can combat all that without without having anything i know but uh well i tell you it's uh it's a it's a it's a pretty tough goal everybody asked me about they wanted to become a professional poker player or something and my suggestion has always been they
(28:05) get them a driver's license and go to driving a dump truck what the hell they have a guaranteed income and it might be easier because this is no laugh for the week at heart you know i guess not uh listen my wife is uh she was uh she she dealt uh in las vegas and she's got a question for you she wants to know why a woman has never won the world series poker well i don't know what this leading up to well no you don't because even even i don't uh why hasn't a woman ever won and and will do you think one ever will what but
(28:41) oh and see y'all are going back 20 several years ago when that lady got home about oh she got hold of seven or eight hundred thousand about eight hundred thousand in less than two hours in one of our big tournaments so i was doing an interview with upi in there in the sombrero room during a break and naturally she stuck her goat smelling fanny right in the middle of it and said well it's like well i'm gonna find to be the first woman that wins the world series of poker now i did not say if a woman wins it i
(29:14) said vera well i said mess if you win it you can take a dull knife and cut my throat well by the time guys like you got hold of it i was quoted as saying if a woman ever wanted they'd cut my throat so every year during the world series of poker some some lady will get hold of a few hundred thousand or else no admiral i'm not listening to me now i wasn't going down that trail i really i wanted to know i mean why hasn't a woman won i mean just the plain odds it's gotta be something different i i just (29:48) don't think a woman right here say i'm gonna catch health on them again yeah i just i've got i've kind of got an agreement with the ladies if they won't do any gambling i won't have any babies and i'll i'll stick to my part of the deal but i do say this that's the only place in the world i can be the woman or not get thrown in jail so i welcome all the ladies to play yeah but you still haven't answered the question why do you think one hasn't won what is it about a woman playing poker
(30:16) that's different i just don't think they've got a heart as big as a p and under duress i think they'll give it up i i maybe they won't now wait a minute i know a lot of good lady poker player i know a lot of good would-be lady poker players in fact uh uh the best lady poker player that ever lived is a girl named betty carey she hadn't been around the last few years she she went to alaska and played and she got herself completely rich now i think she's living in montana but she uh she played about 10 different
(30:50) guys in vegas head up poker and beat every one of them and i'm talking about top water players i'm not talking about uh somebody that's running around looking for a hundred thousand to get in a game with i'm talking about successful players so she called me and said i'm ready to graduate and i said what do you mean she said you're next so i didn't disappoint her damn yet i went out there in fact she and i played right after my first tournament at the hilton uh i treated her like a stepchild
(31:20) but on your hand and uh that's the psychology and poker so somebody told her that on your hand i mean not by the seat or the deception i had she had a tail on her and uh i called that's why i say there's a lot of psychology to poker yeah now a tell is something uh that somebody does it's a giveaway right yeah well i'll tell you what it is now that everybody knows about it now okay uh when we set down the play she played me a hundred thousand dollar freeze out with uh you had to play with somebody one or lost it
(31:54) in other words you couldn't get winter and go to dinner you had to stay and play you know what i'm saying sure so prior to playing they're going after the tips well it takes a little while to get a couple hundred thousand dollars worth of chips and get a couple of decks in the dealer and everything so as i said i'm a coffee hound anyway i said betty i'm gonna have a cup of coffee would you like something to drink she said well thank you slim said i would i'd like some hot tea so they brought her some hot tea (32:22) well they're getting all this ready and i had finished my coffee i looked at her and i said betty how was your tea ooh the tea was very nice liam thank you very much i enjoyed it well in about 40 minutes after that pot come up that the show dog couldn't jump over i mean it's really in technicolor you know what i'm saying yeah so i say to her betty how do you like your hand she said oh slim this is a real good hand well i know that little worldwide you understand that's not what she said about that t (32:54) that was on the square you know she didn't know that was a trick for her oh that's a tello well i called her yeah and i caught her with the weakest i caught her with two fives i'm talking about something that a couple of years good salary you know and uh it it got uh it got awful quiet in that room but on your hands so word got out some stupid inner tattletail went and told her what had happened to her so the next time she played me she played me again next time she played me she played me down at the golden nugget

(33:29) yeah i know it was and uh they had told her that she couldn't talk to me so she showed up with one of them the little disc that plays music and headphones over both ears and i was at a disadvantage because i tried to get her to talk to me and she she was told if she talked to me she couldn't play anymore wow but i liked betty betty was betty was a good player the best woman player i've ever seen when you uh win a bet uh is it most times intuition skill or luck well i don't believe in luck i i think
(34:05) you make your own luck and again i'm in luck yeah no matter whatever your endeavor is if you're a farmer you'll be a lot luckier if you'll spend more time on that tractor than you do down at the golf course i i've got a question and maybe you can answer as no one has ever been able to for me you know what card counter is of course right yes sir well okay card counters are banned i understand from las vegas casinos on a regular basis they just don't let them in and i i have always wondered amarillo
(34:31) what's wrong with card county is something you're doing totally in your head right well let me tell you i was a uh i was a guinea pig for a program called 60 minutes you know may not be familiar with it it comes on oh i know the price oh yeah and i was supposed to have not been able to play then they the nevada gaming commission made a ruling that i could play and i played it the only place in the world where i could about what i did and they filmed me playing 21 for a lady now this lady was square's
(35:04) an apple box she didn't know she thought the king was a ruler of a foreign country and the queen was his dead mate she didn't she didn't know a thing in the world about cards yeah and i i and that type ass producer give her 200 well i'm supposed to take this 200 and make this lady win some money and i put it on 29 800 for her in about three hours and she showed no excitement no relation whatsoever until we got ready to go to the cage and cash it in and she is shaking like a leaf so i know uh there's 16 people in the world
(35:40) that's barred all over the world 21 yeah they're in the griffin book and people can win i understand that i just don't i don't think you should be bars on what basis they're barred i just never have been able to figure that out i mean this is a talent they're just doing something that the math in their head it oh well anyway i'll never get that listen what do you think of um there's a new gambling world here i mean there's online gambling there's casino resorts we've got indian reservations
(36:10) now uh is las vegas and i guess atlantic city going to get hurt by all this no it just creates more players yeah so yeah uh i'm fairly close to that gaming industry out there in nevada and i remember when atlantic city first opened uh everybody thought that it'd take off maybe 20 as much as 22 or 35 didn't happen nevada's been as all it did was increase it yeah because it creates new players and now those blanket ass indians have opened up a casino everybody that's got a ubangam tribe has got a gambling license and i don't
(36:48) think the poor indians are winding up with them but there must be i hosted opening of 14 different indian casinos the last two years so they're everywhere and i think i really and truly think they'll break the whole world uh do you think las vegas of course you know las vegas used to be an adult playground now it's like disney vegas i mean it's changed i mean they they used to throw around the drinks and the cigarettes and uh it was just a different kind of place and now it was a better place then though (37:23) you think so yeah when the mob run everything back there where you're safe walking down the street you wasn't going to get hijacked in your room and and just ordinary folks that had maybe maybe twenty or thirty thousand they got their room compton food and beverage and everything and now everybody's uh there's no there's no camaraderie you're not an individual you're a dollar mark walking around yeah well i'm involved in i know some places out there where with a hundred thousand dollar card you can't (37:52) even get a room during chinese new year or the super bowl or new year no that's true no it's still successful i mean las vegas is it's grown like crazy successful my god they i think they're gonna i still think they'll break the whole the whole world you know eventually either them either vegas or lawyers you know yeah i'm sick of the lawyers they they milked me like a rocky mountain goat my titties gets a sword can't button my shirt so i know about the lawyer yeah i bet you do they take a third of everything

(38:27) and my theory is eventually setting out just a little well i said they take a third of everything so my theory is eventually they'll have everything well yeah i guess the only lawyer i've got no no i was special for a lot of them your mayor and i are pretty close i know he come out to jim miller's show and introduced me and told a bunch of lies what a good sign of a gun i was just sat in the other but but uh what do you what do you think is the the hardest bet you've ever won oh the only one only time i ever risked
(38:56) anything other than money was when i bet all that money i could go down the river of no return what the hell i didn't know you couldn't do it after i'd already bet then i went and had jacques cousteau make me a wetsuit that would keep me alive in that water for up to 15 minutes by then i'd already charged a couple helicopters to hover on the serious part of that you're a cross between a gambler and evil knievel say hey i like that boy too i've done some awful dirty things to the little (39:25) fella yeah you want some you beat him out of something didn't you oh man i have really been a hardship on him but it was good for him it kind of builds character and and he is a character anyway well i'll tell you what i did one day i beat him down in dallas van gaal with a bow and arrow i'd already beat him playing with a hammer so i played him some with a bow and arrow a bow and arrow so now i thrashed his little penny so i was a guest speaker at the po-bo banquet that night after we got through yakking up there and everything why
(39:59) he would come around he said gee well swim is there anything we can do i said well i don't know there's a map of the united states and the telephone call somebody i play nearly everything there is he's well i hate to leave here so now i remember some things i had done before and i said how many people's in here he looked around and where's the anatole in one of those big banquet rooms he said probably 150 why i said you pulled them not me and i've been out of the first 30 people you go to two of them's got the same
(40:30) birthday yeah brother the wheel run off everybody in that building except two people one was a well he was a big shot official with the nfl the other one was an nfl owner that me something they might have just bet 600 or a few hundred or a few thousand but everybody bet well sure enough the 18th person that they went to had the same birthday as the second one did you know that beforehand oh i knew it at work i didn't know i didn't put anyone in there but one of the guys stole my money in the floor so i know he's (41:07) dissatisfied you understand yeah so he's insinuating there's something wrong with it yeah so i scolded him and had him pick my stuff up hand it to me and i said well it's obvious you think there was something wrong with it so let me tell you what do you think of some place we can go i said we'll go to a theater or bowling alley the police station anywhere there's 30 people we'll bet again now one of the wise guys that was down there says hell why don't we call 30 taxi cabs i said y'all call them
(41:40) and we won't ask them nothing in texas they've got a little identity badge that hangs over that visor we're almost out of time here yeah all right let me tell you so anyway we called 30 cabs and i paid off i paid off the last 17 drivers because the 13th driver had the same birthday as the number nine in your gamble in life amarillo how much money uh just guessing how much money do you think you bet one way or the other winning losing altogether how much money passed through your hands in bets oh you (42:08) couldn't it's not all win see it's uh there's you have some sizable losses too oh i know that's what i'm saying winning losing how much money back and forth you figure you've dealt with well you couldn't you couldn't put it in a train you couldn't put it in a tray all right listen buddy uh we got to take off we're out of time but it was your pleasure thanks a million i'll see you later all right take care amarillo slim [Music] in a world of fat people all right we're (42:36) going to take a break here at the top of the hour and then along comes bob

lazar from the high desert i'm mark bell [Music] inside [Music] to the sun again or to fly to the sun without burning a wing to lie in the meadow and hear the grass sing all these things [Music] [Music]
(43:58) take this place [Music] wanna take a ride to talk with art bell call the wild card line at area code the 775-727-1295 time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east to the rockies call toll-free 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618 international callers may recharge by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art valley it absolutely is it's the (44:56) weekend everybody and you're off and boy do i have a guest for you bob lazar he is a man who is probably one of the more controversial uh people in the entire field of ufology i mean really controversial bob lazar is president of united nuclear they specialize in research and development of cutting-edge technologies design and manufacture of radiation detection equipment for the nuclear weapons industry and the retail of scientific equivalent supplies he was formerly senior staff physicist for the us department of naval (45:35) intelligence at the nevada test site you know that area near me and the nuclear physicist at los alamos national labs where he was involved in advanced nuclear weapon design and development and in the middle of all that he's seen things that very few living americans have ever seen he's actually seen the ships he's actually seen the saucers in a moment bob lazar some of you i know uh probably didn't hear the first program uh or the last program i guess i had to say i did with uh bob lazar he is a fascinating guy
(46:23) who got to see the real mccoy at area s4 near four seen from this area 51. i uh just i guess it was uh last uh book a few weeks ago now i interviewed our mutual friend john leer oh what an interview that was uh bob it was really something welcome to the program well thanks all right um gee bob uh i you know what i'm gonna start at the end um why do you hate talking about ufos well there's a few reasons first first of all it's gotten pretty old it's been you know over a decade and uh second of all uh yeah i'm i'm glad i was involved in (47:12) the project for a short time but um you know once you leave that and try and enter normal life especially if you're peddling your services in research and development the scientific field it becomes really tough for people to take you seriously when you're known as the ufo guy so it's just hard to kind of divorce all that stuff that's kind of the same problem that john lear had you know when he was working for the airline so it finally got to the point where i had to say no more and for years of course he (47:44) didn't talk at all right i know he had a lot of problems with that and and that's something people just don't take into account got fired actually got fired because of it from one airline yeah that's that's right that's that's what i heard um how how do you now remember that special year with john or maybe it was more in a year but the time period of time you spent with john and you went through all of that how do you now remember that do you remember it fondly do you remember it as something you wish
(48:16) you hadn't done or what oh no it's those are fond memories it was uh it was fun and exciting back then uh you know before all the problems started and all the hassles from the feds and whatnot but uh yeah back in the early days before all this became popular in area 51 was on the tip of everybody's tongue uh you know we were sneaking around out there when there were minimal security and and whatnot and i had the uh the test flight schedule at that time so we knew exactly what was going to happen and what was going on and well you know
(48:50) what i'd like to know why did you i mean you at that time had a pretty damn good secure job uh at an extremely secret place what made you decide to grab john by the collar and say hey buddy i can show you something i mean how do you make that choice i have to place myself back in that time welder i it's one of that that's kind of a loaded question because there was a lot of stuff going on at that time and you know i kind of make a long story short at the time they were just calling me out usually at night
(49:36) on specific days to go out there when i initially started working down at the test site right and you know this was causing problems with my wife at the time because i would i was keeping everything confidential even from her sure and you know a hero 11 or 12 o'clock at night i get this call and you guys disappear and you know and this happens time and time again and where are you going honey i'm sorry i can't talk about that right yeah i'm going to work i'm sure you are yeah you know

and uh
(50:06) as this goes on for quite a while suspicions begin to build up and uh you know i i kind of kept my friends at at arm's length at that time because i just didn't want any problems i wanted all the you know this newfound security to go smoothly sure and uh was pretty much playing with the game so it started causing suspicion in my friends and you know immediate family and that sort of thing so i decided to take the risk one night and just bring everybody out close enough to where they could see a test flight when i knew a test flight
(50:44) was going on yeah but you you had to know what you were risking right oh i did and you know i can't i can't really say what the actual motivation was back then you know specifically what made it you know what made me snap on that day but uh were you angry at them uh were you sure no not at that point were you showing off there's nothing wrong with that by the way i mean that's what it was that's what it was i mean i i can understand no i i it really wasn't that you know and that that that would actually be an easy answer
(51:19) but uh it really wasn't that if i recall that we didn't start we didn't start butting heads until after that right but um that was about it i think it was to alleviate suspicion and show you know several of my friends what was going on what was really going on yeah um how much during those sojourns how much did you actually get to see along with john while we were out of the area or while i was actually working there in the area well yeah they're two separate things no i meant when you took john and others up there
(52:00) what how is what you saw uh was it convincing for those who came along with you there was no question in the mind about what they were seeing oh no there's there was no question i mean john hauled out his even though we got much closer in than you can today near the area well i have no idea what it's like today but at least when i was last in las vegas a few years ago you really couldn't get very far out on the road but we we drove in close to 10 miles and you can't do that anymore but john hauled out his
(52:37) celestron 10-inch telescope and from there it was quite a view so [Music] and you were seeing saucers a saucer yeah a saucer um hovering moving yeah just lift it off the ground and hover it around do you have any idea now of course you actually it's another story but i mean you of course got in to see the real mccoy um you saw how many saucers ultimately at s4 well there were nine total nine total but you know these were seen at a distance the only one i actually had direct contact with was the one that was being test flown
(53:19) uh-huh um do you have any idea how they sufficiently back engineered whatever in the hell they found inside that saucer to be able to test fly it do you have any idea what went on to to to learn about i mean there must be i mean what was it like inside inside this thing what was it like if you were standing there looking at it inside what would you be seeing well i guess the most shocking thing about it is it was everything was one color there was no aesthetics at all everything was a light gray and uh it was as if (54:00) and i've said this before it was as if the entire device was made out of carved out of wax heated for a bit and cooled off there were no sharp edges no right angles everything was rounded and smooth both inside and out there are no seams or anything like that it looks like they've been done by from a mold or something right like a giant injection mold of some sort but um so that's it's yeah i mean that was probably the most obvious thing you'd notice when you walk in there it just uh didn't look (54:31) conventional at all any idea again i mean from that could you see but what how did they navigate this thing were there buttons were there joysticks were there what sort of i have no idea no idea and so you would have no idea then how they back engineered i would have to be a pretty dangerous thing to take a craft that you just had and try to figure out how to fly the damn thing i imagine so and from the stories i've heard that it was quite a dangerous thing but unfortunately a lot of this went on way before i ever got there and (55:10) uh obviously they had at least found out to some extent how some of the systems and subsystems operated do you know how they got their hands on these in the first place i mean how did they get them i don't know i don't know unfortunately a lot of the information is compartmentalized so nobody has no one person has the whole story about everything and that's typically done in any government project so nobody can walk away with you know the whole project or knowledge of everything but uh yeah i i wish i had the complete picture (55:45) sure of what was going on even just smaller pieces to the picture i did have

i would be very interested in how the navigational system operated that still kind of puzzles me uh has do flight controls and and things of that sort but and propulsion this element what is it 116 115 yeah 115 115 um do you have any concept of how the propulsion system did what it did i know how a you know a jet plane moves from a to b and so forth and so on i mean how was this element 115 used to to to move the craft what kind of propulsion system is it it's a gravity (56:32) propulsion system something that's uh completely alien to us if you don't mind me saying that that's good working the um instead of an action reaction system i guess the analogy i always use is if you go put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and three feet away from it push your fist into the bed and push down really hard the bowling ball rolls towards it that's correct and what happens in these craft or on this particular one anyway there were three gravity amplifiers in them and what these are are long tubes that (57:09) are in the belly of the craft and they're on kind of a universal pivot type joint to make it simple uh it's actually something more complicated than that but what they can do is swing two of the emitters up at one time focus on a point in front of the grass and cause a local distortion and essentially the craft moves forward towards it just like the bowling ball would so it's kind of it's falling into a path it's making for itself right it's kind of it's kind of constantly rolling downhill so to speak
(57:44) which is the opposite of how our vehicles travel we always accelerate air throw exhaust out the back do something to propel something forward and uh in the air anyway and this essentially operates the opposite now is it dependent on a local field of gravity in other words obviously these ships are designed to fly through interstellar space and i wonder what that if they're using gravity in that manner then how does local gravity i wonder affect them in other words the earth has gravity and when they're within our (58:23) field is it any different than when they're in interstellar space in terms of the way it operates yeah completely there's two different modes of travel there's delta and omicron and the omicron configuration is when the craft uses one of the emitters to essentially hover on and causes that local distortion with the other two in front of it right causing it to move forward this is something i've never heard before okay oh the delta configuration in fact there let me take a step back for a second that's how the craft has flown in an (59:04) area of gravity now when you want to leave a local area of gravity say fly into space what is done is you transition from omicron to delta and in a lot of the uh ufo pictures you see occasionally uh you'll see these ufos at these ridiculous angles at 45 degree angles hanging in the middle of the air sure and uh that the reason for that is that's the transition between the two different flight modes as the craft lifts off the ground it has to fly in a gravity-free environment in space with the belly forward it doesn't fly (59:49) like a flying saucer does in a science fiction movie the emitters focus on one point right all three of them out in space and that's how the the thing travels so you're kind of going from a conventional mode of flight lifting up in the air raising the belly and then aiming that towards your target and that's how you you progress bob knowing what you know about at least the propulsion system um what can you imagine that might go wrong and cause a craft crash as it allegedly did for example at roswell
(1:00:27) you know i've wondered about about that for a while and i can't i really can't see how one of these things could could crash um but apparently it did but i just i can't see where a failure is going to typically occur i don't care if there's a a lightning storm or what locally is going on unless there was something that occurred within the craft i don't think there's any external force that's going to act on it certainly any natural force and cause any problems because if you're generating your own
(1:01:05) gravitational field you're essentially immune to everything that's going on around you um if that field should fail for some reason well yes that's why i say if something if some defect occurred inside or if something was done unintentionally as far as piloting the craft that i could see happening but i i don't buy the story somebody comes cruising in from 30 light years away runs into a thunderstorm and crashes into the ground yeah you bet uh are you convinced that roswell was in fact a crash of an alien craft no
(1:01:40) oh oh really now there's a surprise well you use the word convinced um oh well i know there's there's a lot of information that leads me to believe that but you know i'm one of the most skeptical people when it comes to flying saucer stories

and i know that almost sounds hypocritical but that's that's just the way it is becoming involved with you know one aspect of it uh kind of cemented that in my mind but you know but there's lots of wacko stories out there and and i'm sure you've you've heard your share of them
(1:02:13) maybe more than anybody perhaps i have um but but you know if if this propulsion system i mean it could mean so much for the world uh if we knew how to manipulate gravity in that way that obviously would be a power source that could be harnessed and utilized in a world where we're running out of coal and oil and all the conventional stuff we've used uh we really badly need another energy source if i mean when you saw these saucers it was how many years ago now well it was in 88 89 88 89 and now 2003 we're starving for energy we're
(1:02:53) probably going to have wars if well we are having wars because of it and there will be more wars because of it so why do you suppose bob that all of this has been kept from the world i don't know there's also you know there's also a tremendous weapon potential here that too you know a tremendous weapon potential maybe more so than energy because as far as duplicating the the power system well you need access to materials elements things of that sort that that we simply don't have and cannot fabricate and uh well you know they'd be
(1:03:30) making weapons well yeah of course of course you know if you can control i think i said this on my last interview with you you know we have we have devices that can produce magnetic fields we have devices that can produce artificial light but you know the big gap is we don't have a machine that can make gravity you know there's there's nothing that does that well that's a big gap in physics or we haven't made it public and and the question is why is this technology still buried i tell you what
(1:04:06) we're at the bottom of the air hold on bob we'll come back and we'll jump right back into the same place it's what uh dr greer who by the way will be here tomorrow night a lot of other people want to know about why is all of this being kept secret from the high desert this is coast to coast damn [Music] is [Music] [Applause] [Music] with no more angry words to say you come alive
(1:05:12) get into a car and drive to the other side [Music] to talk with art bell call the wildcard line at area code the 775-727-1295 time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 [Music] to talk with artbell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618 international callers may rechart by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art bell it is and my guest of course is bob
(1:06:13) lazar the very controversial bob lazar is a physicist and he's actually been where few living human beings have ever been and that's standing right in front of the real mccoy ufos flying saucers flying discs some describe one described i recall as the sports model but the real thing in fact i believe what bob saw resulted in the tester model do you remember the tester model of the uh the saucer well that came from at least in part if not in totality bob's description i think that's right we'll ask about that in a moment bob
(1:06:49) lazor all right the ability to create or manipulate gravity some incredible thing to be sure and bob we're talking about the you know the energy needs of the world and then you brought up weapons and you betcha i mean do you believe for example that they have in fact uh developed weapons using this technology and that we have them now in our arsenal my own personal belief absolutely absolutely absolutely because i saw evidence of that even when i worked there part of the part of the briefing contained a couple hints about
(1:07:35) using gravity as a lens or one of the gravity emitters as a lens to focus energy weapons so which to take a step back if your particle beams and other energy type weapons of that sort disperse quickly in an atmosphere and uh it's kind of hard to keep a focused uh intense beam on your target but if you can manipulate gravity you know i'll you can really really change the dynamics of that so what would such a weapon do well that's what they're using a technology there essentially to focus something that's conventional but if you
(1:08:17) could maintain the energy density maintain uh you know essentially a tight focus spot right of any high intensity energy you could burn you know penetrate [Music] destroy different targets but also it's also a great defensive thing because uh once you start talking about manipulating gravity and you can create a gravitational field in any plane you wish you know things that become possible are are what we consider science fiction now the popular shields in star trek become possible now well how about not quite so as fictional

(1:09:00) uh suggestions made by ronald reagan about star wars right you know you gotta wonder if um some of what that man said at that time came from some knowledge he might have had about what was possible it could certainly have had i've heard several people talk about reagan in that way and i know he made several of those uh yes he did speeches with uh making reference to aliens invading the earth that's right and what not but uh yeah that's that's very possible uh certainly that would have been one of
(1:09:36) the early conclusions any military mind would have drawn and that could have easily made it to the top to the president ronald reagan was somebody who said what was on his mind uh to the consternation of many around him and you know he'd just say what was on his mind and uh to hell with the consequences so one does have to wonder about that but still there it is maybe we've got the weapons we didn't use them in iraq no i think these are these are way too valuable to use in combat these aren't things that have
(1:10:07) been produced you know we have if we have any uh we're using the parts from the craft and their prototypes and i don't think anybody is risking putting these valuable things into battle [Music] i think it's you know unless we've developed another source for the materials or have been able to duplicate them you know in the past 10 years i really don't see that we're going to be going anywhere with that but who knows maybe maybe by this time research has continued and they've actually come up with something one of
(1:10:44) the key things that uh john lear did during our inter last interview was he said hey art i'm going to take you to a briefing and you're going to get to say whether you think all of this uh there should be total disclosure about everything the united states government has done since day one regarding this whole issue of extraterrestrials what we've learned what information we have how we got it what we've done with it the terrible things government has done to protect the secrets and all the rest of (1:11:17) it i'm going to lay it all out for you and you decide whether or not it should be all publicly disclosed you know everybody in in ufology is screaming for disclosure and so i'm wondering about you bob um if you had a litany of things laid in front of you that we had done some of them pretty terrible if you buy it uh would you would you say that there should be full disclosure or is this something better kept from the american or the world public well it's not better kept from the american people because you know we're we're
(1:11:52) supposed to be the government we hire these guys elect them to their positions to take care of business yes sir so nothing is supposed to be kept from us however you know there are other countries we do have an awful lot of people in the world that just hate us because we're alive and uh you know if you're concerned about weapons and the proliferation of things of that sort uh you do need to keep certain things secret from the rest of the world however it's one of the things that i had said initially
(1:12:22) go ahead and keep all that stuff secret but just admit hey by the way you know a long time ago we ran into some of these things this this technology is real there apparently is actual intelligent extraterrestrial life somewhere else and you know we have a few artifacts and you know go ahead and release some stuff to the public so look up here you know here's a hinge made on another world just something generic and uh you know keep all the other stuff secret but then i can also see the flip side of that that's going to wet everybody's
(1:13:02) appetite and there's going to be a furor over you know disclosing the rest of the information and if the government's been keeping that for secret for so long what else have they been keeping secret well i don't see the government coming clean with any of this stuff i mean they're they're up to all kinds of no good so uh do you believe that there is uh a government uh behind the government you know sort of pulling the strings as it were i don't know about that i think ours is pretty screwed up as it is so i don't think it
(1:13:36) needs anybody else pulling any strings yeah you're right about that uh but surely there is uh some method for keeping this gigantic secret and not not all politicians nor even perhaps uh all presidents are told about the existence of that do you believe that no i think yeah i think very few people know and one of the things they told me which was one of my first comments there when i finally knew what i was working on uh how do you guys keep this secret yeah and what they told me was this is the easiest thing in the world to keep (1:14:09) secret because it's so unbelievable and you know when you really think about it they're right well they are because every everything just gets uh dismissed

or perhaps erased how much anger do you uh have for them now i mean what they did to you they virtually erased your life they brought a steel fist right down in the middle of your life and kind of ruined things for quite a while for for you well i don't know i've tried to put this out of my mind you know as i fight to try and just put this behind me and forget about (1:14:46) everything you know a lot of people uh keep prodding me for information and you know that it resurfaces in my mind but for the most part i i just try and get rid of this uh at the time sure i was pissed off more so than you can possibly imagine and uh you know as my friends at that time recall i drove around in my little 280z with an uzi you know that's the kind of trouble i expected and i didn't go anywhere without it but uh you know times have changed a lot of time has gone by and uh i don't know it's it's kind of hard to
(1:15:24) say yeah it's always in the back of my mind but you know what am i going to do to this day i'm still fighting to get some paperwork and well some things i can't even talk about but back back to the way it was so i could be a normal person you obviously thought they were going to kill you oh no question that was the impetus for going on the news yeah yeah and and uh the famous or infamous channel eight uh thing yeah um you want to tell everybody about that because of course not everybody in the rest of the country uh either
(1:15:59) recalls or knew about what happened with regard to that um explain exactly how that came down well i i'm wondering how far i should go back well essentially after i left the project um and it wasn't really voluntary but uh i'm trying to remember exactly what happened then i think in fact i think it was john that interview took place at john lear's house it was george knapp that talked you into it wasn't it yeah it was a combination of both i think i had i had gone down to john lear's house and
(1:16:49) really was afraid to go home at that time and hid out there for a while and john said why don't you go talk to george knapp and maybe if the stuff's all over the news they'll just leave you alone it'd be your way of kind of pushing back george knapp folks is a reporter for channel 8 um the cbs affiliate in las vegas and yeah he was uh i'm sorry for interrupting no no that's right george is just a very heavy duty uh investigative reporter for that station and um i guess he was sort of doing
(1:17:21) stories on john lear at that time and then somehow you got involved in this and and then and then if i remember correctly uh you were put on television in a shadow behind something or i can't remember yeah it was just a backlit shadow so um you know you couldn't recognize who i was and the pseudonym i used was the name of my boss at the time which was kind of a little smack in the face to say hey just back off and leave me alone and apparently that caused a quite a stir and i got a call shortly after that
(1:17:58) and needless to say they were pretty upset with that move do you think john well i bet they were do you do you think john wanted you to do it to in essence back him up at that point oh i'm sure at that time now i mean you you have to look at things at that time first of all i got into the project thinking i was going to be working on a new fighter a propulsion system for a new fighter aircraft yes and uh i was certainly not one of the people that believed in ufos these were people that were just you know something to laugh at as far as i
(1:18:29) was concerned so um [Music] i already lost my train of thought well let me put you back in that chair and that night when the interview got done was done what what did you say to the audience that night well that was essentially just admitting that there were nine craft out there that they were actively back engineering and you know attempting to duplicate the power and propulsion system of the craft and that's that's basically about all that was said i mean there were a few details about where it was that was
(1:19:05) enough that's like taking a match and throwing it on gasoline what was the reaction like after that uh well it was it was pretty widespread yeah it went all over the place you know i had i had seen uh new because they interrupt well i don't know if they interrupted it but it was in the middle of five o'clock news oh yeah a live broadcast and and i've seen that exact broadcast repeated on japanese television and you know in germany so it it made the world fast what was the nickname you used for that interview
(1:19:43) dennis dennis yeah that's right dennis a long time ago now that must have taken great big ones to sit in that chair and say that on television dennis mariani was my supervisor at that time i see um okay so after that story broke um i mean you must have you and john probably just sat back and watched the world explode around you well kind of yeah i mean at that time you know john o'leary was out there himself saying that uh there were flying saucers at the test site and all kinds of stuff that i thought was (1:20:23) pretty silly but uh as it turned out you know he was right i don't know what information source he had at that time but uh he'd been telling you and saying that so i guess maybe maybe that's the reason that you went to john uh as as dragging him along saying hey i got something to show you maybe maybe you just sort of felt as though you owed it to him in some way huh uh maybe i can't i actually can't remember the exact reason but uh it was just the people around me at the time i felt obligated to at least

(1:20:58) give a peek to wasn't the uh the tester the tester company that makes models came out with a model of a ufo of a flying saucer uh quite a unique um scale model of a flying saucer i have one of them and uh how much of your input was used to create that model 100 100 yeah yeah john andrews from testers just sat down and said hey we want to make a model of this and you want to help us or not and i said yeah okay this is it they brought a couple guys in and you know off the top of my head i tried to remember some dimensions and we did
(1:21:38) some initial drawings and the craft just didn't look right and he had a couple friends that were i don't quite remember what they were they were skilled in but in any case they were able to get the correct dimensions by me recognizing the sizes of known objects at various distances sure and they kind of you know back engineered it from that and were able to get uh the proper dimensions and when the drawing was done it that did that did look correct and i think i'm more comfortable with the the final drawings and um
(1:22:17) dimensions they came up with and it was i think came up like to 52.8 feet in diameter or something like that well when you look at the the tester model today uh does do you look at that and say yup that's what i saw yeah no no question but they they hit the nail on the head with that really yeah yeah that's exactly it how long a process was that for you to accurately finally you know i guess it's like going to a police station and go into a sketch artist and have them finally come up with something that
(1:22:47) matches you know the person you saw if i remember it it took a while um it probably took a month on and off of uh going over drawings drawing the layout over and over again and you know having these these guys look at it and then scale it up and see if it if things fit and but it it did take it did take quite a while all right uh am i right or wrong do you do you really have do you own a missile silo in roswell new mexico yeah john furrette and i have a new project going down there and uh it's yeah it's a decommissioned nuclear missile silo just
(1:23:36) outside of roswell and it's not like i wanted a a place outside of roswell it just happened to be where it was oh yeah but uh how does a principal about getting a missile silo in the first place i mean who do you approach well i think they're actually on the internet if you type in missile silo there are there are a few left for sale but they are they are pretty neat it's uh i believe the the main where the missile sits is 200 feet deep and uh you know these places are uh quite a deal compared to what the
(1:24:12) government paid for them i think they paid close to 13 million dollars just for the concrete to build these places and it's literally bomb proof you can set up you know a thermonuclear bomb on the door and set it off and still be drinking beer inside for a while why did you want a silo oh it was cool just because it's cool yeah well we also have some other plans for it but uh that you can or can't talk about it no i'm really not i'm gonna i see um but so this is a full decommissioned nuclear missile
(1:24:50) silo yeah in roswell yeah just not something that uh the average person would have or want and i wish i knew what you were gonna do but you just you can't talk about that at all huh well not really i can i can tell you some of the things we're not doing with it we had uh not launching missiles unfortunately i couldn't find a reload kit for the place but uh i would certainly have bought one if i could i see all right uh hold that thought we'll be we'll be right back it's top of the hour my guest is bob
(1:25:22) lazar he does he owns a missile silo in roswell new mexico and he'll tell us shortly things that uh well i guess he's not going to tell us he's going to tell us things he can't do with it or he can't do with it or maybe things that he will do with it we'll see what we can pry out of them next [Music] [Music] he's got this dream about buying some land he's gonna give up the booze and the one night stands and then [Music] but you know he's never gonna stop moving [Music]

(1:26:30) when you wake up it's a new morning [Music] call the wildcard line at area code 775-727-1295 the first-time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5035 from west to the rockies call art at 800-618-8255 international callers may reach our bell by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell i liked his after actually why
(1:27:29) would you own a missile why would you buy a missile silo well because it's cool now you see i can understand that answer because it's cool indeed owning a missile silo would be cool bob lazar owns one and he's pretty cool and he'll be right back once again bob lazar bob you said you could describe some things that what you you can't do or you might well one thing i do have to correct is um my partner john ferrat and i are involved in the silo and john has far more invested in it than i do so just to say
(1:28:12) that it's mine personally so you have it's not part of us i guess and in the respect um i mean but did you there's it had to be more well maybe there didn't i i you know i was going to actually put a rocket on my front lawn to impress my neighbors i thought it'd be cool i mean if you're a neighbor and you see a rocket go up in a guy's lawn so do you own a silo for the same reason just for just well you said it's cool it is well now we actually have some serious plans for it i thought you might
(1:28:45) and uh you know you don't invest all kinds of money just for the hell of it but um it's amazing the amount of rumors that start and generally for some reason when my name's involved somewhere all kinds of ridiculous stories pop out of the woodwork but i think even channel 8 carried that story in las vegas there and in fact when i was down at the silo uh we got a call from the police in roswell and they sounded kind of embarrassed and said uh you know we're gonna have to come down and check out the facility there and we asked why
(1:29:25) and it was kind of a hesitation and they said i know this sounds crazy but you know we have people that actually have come down to the station and said that they believe you're holding alien hostages underground in this silo yeah every day and you know because they filed the report they actually went down they are obligated to go check things out so they had to come down and verify that there's no aliens being held hostage in there they actually did that yeah yeah they did that while i was there and um
(1:29:58) now that's a story in itself that got reported i missed that one well that was most recently before i moved to new mexico [Music] what had happened was uh just a a random guy drove out there and was planning on committing suicide now of all the places in the world this guy could have gone to kill himself he drove down the road to the silo parked on top of it and set his car on fire or something like that anyway the thing burnt to the ground and the guy was dead and prior to that there's also wild animals antelope cattle whatever in the (1:30:38) area and there's been a couple dead cows out there so the connection between cattle mutilations and all this stuff started brewing in the mind to some people so somehow it got around that i was developing a death ray in this underground facility and that i had tested it on cattle which is why they were dead and of course a guy came driving down the road and i vaporized his car and killed him and you maintain that none of this is true no of course not [Laughter] all right but it's just amazing the stories that get started well
(1:31:14) of course you are bob lazar there is a certain aura around you and when you connect that with buying a missile silo people's imaginations naturally go berserk well berserk is a good word but but then again you are bob lazar it is a missile silo and to be honest you haven't actually answered my question yet about what you're going to do with it and you say you can't answer that question and you know that's going to feed rumors it's got me thinking okay well all right well i hey you know i just can't help that yeah bob over the
(1:31:55) years um especially in in the in that time period when you were with john and the whole thing was coming down um how much and you've done a number of public interviews several with me how much is left that you can't talk about can't can't can't are unable to concerning the ufo the whole thing information yeah uh not a whole lot but some there's just a couple little tidbits and i think i've told you that before there's a couple things that i need and this isn't to burn anybody and hold (1:32:34) information back but it's in case somebody claims that they were involved with the project or work there there are a couple things that only those people will know and anytime that anybody brings those up when questioned by me i'll know so that's that's the only reason there's there's just a few little bits and pieces of information here and there all righty then then let's go down that road for a second i mean there there are other others like you bob who worked out in and saw all of that (1:33:06) um obviously there had to be quite a number over the years of people who became aware of that knowledge why why are there not a lot more bob lazars out there i don't know initially i was not supposed to be the only one that came forward but uh not supposed to be no you mean you had an agreement with someone well barry the guy that i worked with there uh was supposed to additionally come forward but uh that apparently never happened so i was left out there in the dark twisting in the breeze so i don't know what happened

(1:33:42) so this barry had promised you he would step forward with you well kind of and you know i wonder if it's wise really to comment too much on that because i don't know what barry's situation is now but we had you know we had talked about things but if somebody would come forward and claim they had seen what you saw they also know it to be true because they weren't there you would have a couple of questions you'd be able to ask them that would verify the authenticity sure instantaneously instantaneously
(1:34:14) all right now why did you move i mean you've been a very long time desert rat uh out here in the las vegas area nearby me and of course uh the infamous area 51 s4 and all the restaurant i mean you lived here so long why'd you move um you know after a while las vegas gets to you i was there and uh certainly working at the test site uh was fascinating and a little bit of the work i did there when i initially moved to las vegas but after that um being out of the scientific field i i really went stagnant and really didn't produce or do anything
(1:34:58) that i really considered worthwhile and just needed to get out of the las vegas environment completely and new mexico especially around the albuquerque area you know you have two of the most prominent oh yeah national nuclear labs here los alamos and sandia and you know the cities here are filled with phd scientists and it just feel it felt good to get back into into the mainstream of things and uh you know in the short time i was here in the first 18 months uh i just began to actually produce what i considered decent work i started
(1:35:37) filing for patents and as you know working on the hydrogen system and uh yeah i want to talk a little bit about that as a matter of fact yeah patents and uh on hydrogen fuel systems and i i know you've had them in your car you've run your car on hydrogen do it for a long time right right um whatever patents you have uh what's this about a swat team coming in and grabbing all of your uh data and computers you know i have to stop you there we can't even touch that one i spoke to my attorney after (1:36:10) uh i sent that kid no we got to totally just not talk about that huh yeah okay uh at any rate now that you're back or you're in new mexico you feel like you're you're doing good work in in your area once again yeah and it's uh yeah i guess it's just a different mindset and also the immediate area that i live in you know moving up isolated and in the mountains in the middle of a forest and you know on a lot of acres of land and uh is different than living right in the middle of las vegas and
(1:36:48) you know typically in town so it's just it's a freer environment and i'm building my own research lab here and i don't know it's it's a lot more fertile ground for for thinking and actually doing something serious well i do get the sense there is still an awful lot you can't talk about you said a couple of things but then we can we keep touching on uh several things that still there's aspects of it that you can't talk about so i would say a lot of your life still is surrounded by having to keep secrets are
(1:37:27) you good at keeping secrets no i think it's been proven pretty well that i can't do that but it drives me crazy because the thing i would love i could spend four hours on the phone more pissed off than you can imagine talking about the swat team thing but i my hands are tied right now oh no i maybe in the future i can say something about no but no attorneys are that way i know when there's ongoing stuff uh and they're right of course ultimately they're right but it does kill you not to be able to talk about something yes
(1:37:57) it does um do you think that you're working on without asking you specifically what you're working on did any of us try this way did any of your experience at s4 and what you saw and what you learned technically have application in any work that you're either doing now or contemplating yes [Laughter] uh my uh

yes now i'm obligated to ask you about your project what what you envision what you're doing even in general terms can you tell me a little bit about what you're working on well there's a (1:38:41) there's i actually i'm overburdened with projects in progress [Music] as mentioned as you mentioned the hydrogen fuel systems that's actually something i've been working on since the late 70s and that's finally come to fruition and a lot of the materials needed long-term testing and they've certainly had it now that's probably the biggest okay perhaps you can answer a hydrogen question for me now it's hydrogen is being touted even the president of the united states is touting it as
(1:39:19) the way to go and but there are others bob who say look um this is in a way all foolishness because you know to create hydrogen in amounts that would be good for the public to use you know energy cells fuel cells uh would require manufacturing pollution the use of energy in other words all you're really doing is finding a new storage facility and way to store energy that still has to be uh produced frankly in the old-fashioned way no not really well then lay it on me not really how well first of all there's (1:40:02) there's two trains of thought here the automotive industry the president and his advisors are all going down the fuel cell path and for those that don't know a fuel cell is a device that takes gaseous hydrogen and oxygen combines them and makes electricity and little fuel cell water dribbles out of it because when the hydrogen and oxygen combine that's the only the only by-product is water right and so you can use these in cars or to power homes or whatever right right well you can use these things and that their car of the (1:40:35) future has fuel cells and an electric motor and that's how the car is powered now that's that's very efficient it's around 35 percent efficient okay uh overall and uh that is pretty neat however all the technology is not there the vehicles will be fantastically expensive none really exist right now i'm in production and what about the billion cars that are on the road now you know what is everybody gonna dish out 175 000 for a new car and on top of that they want to just replace gasoline pumps with hydrogen
(1:41:11) pumps and sell you the fuel again all right let's get back to refuting this in other words no matter how it works bob and it's it sounds like you're almost more on the negative than the positive side of this but i mean no matter how it works aren't conventional fuels going to have to be used in copious amounts to produce these cylinders of of uh of hydrogen no i don't how do the systems that i came up with first of all converts a conventional car to burn hydrogen conventionally and without much cost
(1:41:47) well let me get to that in a second the actual conversion is not that difficult not that terribly expensive um i have i have not used any energy producing any of the hydrogen that i make as far as power off the grid fossil fuels or whatnot hydrogen is easily electrolyzed by water you know if you need to prove it to yourself take a 12 volt battery put both wires in the water add a pinch of salt you'll see bubbles coming off of one side well some off the other two that's got to be hydrogen right anyway it's easily
(1:42:20) produced and it can be produced uh with solar panels or a wind turbine i use solar panels that's where all my hydrogen comes from i fill up the corvette with it and we drive 700 miles on it and the car will also run on gasoline all right all right so that's perfected i mean it works right right and it's worked for years and years and years all right let's say i buy a conventional automobile for i don't know 20 30 grand something like that um what would it cost to convert a car like that to hydrogen
(1:42:52) well the big the big hang up right now has been the actual storage medium you don't want to store hydrogen is just a compressed gas because it's dangerous it's flammable and on top of that you need thousands of times more space to hold the hydrogen then you would an equivalent amount of gasoline okay so it just doesn't work right you don't want to store it liquid because that's cryogenic it's dangerous it's just a big thermos bottle in your tank and it's another big headache the the third way
(1:43:25) is the best way and that's a metal hydride and this is a granular material that absorbs hydrogen like a sponge absorbs water and it only releases the hydrogen when it's heated and it's when it's not being heated i can fire incendiary bullets through the hydride tank and it just smolders like a cigarette so it's extremely safe wow and this is the material that i store the hydrogen in in the vehicles and for home use is this the subject of a patent yes it is yeah now there are various hydride materials

(1:44:00) and some were actually very difficult to get a hold of because some of them like lithium-6 deuteride which is a a hydride actually well the material i use as a hydride the only use for that material is in thermonuclear bombs and it's restricted obviously restricted for sale yeah um and the only reason some of these hydrides are manufactured was for the weapons industry and they're done so in such small quantities the cost was very high for instance to convert the corvette just for the tanks of hydride we were looking at fifteen thousand
(1:44:40) dollars without the hydrogen conversion itself so this is you know that's that's a a pretty large price tag out of line right now right but if if this pro uh whole thing were perfected and you had access to the materials and it were done in mass i'd like to get some idea of what it would cost to convert well we've been working with the hydride manufacturers and uh they promise a 70 reduction in cost in volume production so does that make it viable very much so i mean wouldn't you pay between forty five hundred and six
(1:45:19) thousand dollars to have your car converted you'll have your hydrogen generator at home so you can drive locally and even up to seven hundred miles away on hydrogen and if you want you can always put gas in the tank and the car will switch over to gasoline when uh i've always wanted to know would i need to do that uh it would hydrogen give me the same uh equal amount of horsepower would i be happy with a hydrogen fuel you get a little less you know for instance in a and a larger engine in fact that's the reason
(1:45:52) we converted the corvette was a lot of these alternate fuel cars just a little ford escorts and these little tiny motors and it leaves everybody wondering well can't you power something substantial so he purposely did a large v8 engine and uh yeah it still lights up the tires and you know screams away there's a little loss in horsepower but in a in a large engine you're not going to detect a 10 loss in horsepower but you're still having a lot of fun though i mean it's uh it's enough horsepower that that
(1:46:22) generally most people can be happy campers oh sure and most people are willing to pay that price tag if they never ever have to go to a gas station again and who wouldn't on top of that you're not supporting you know the oil cartel that's right or anything else that's going on or polluting the air all right i'll hold it right there bob has a corvette converted to hydrogen and he's had that for a long time and i guess the rest of the world is yet to come we'll continue to talk with bob lazar
(1:46:51) who knows lots of things we'll see what we can pry from him as the hours continue from the high desert i'm art bell [Music] [Music] okay [Music] hey [Music]
(1:48:19) to talk with art bell call the wildcard line at area code 775-727-1295 the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call sprint 800-618-8255 number pressing option five and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art bell bet on it we'll get questions uh from all of you for bob lazar coming up in the next uh hour listen check out my webcam by popular
(1:49:10) demand i did put up a picture of the chester model i'm holding the tester model for you in case you've never seen it there it is that's bob's accurate recollection of what he saw at area s4 and i'm holding in my hands that's on my webcam top left hand side of the coast coast am dot com website by the way there may be in fact we know there are other bob lazars out there and if there are i'd like to encourage you to contact me we'll work it out trust me a lot of people get a little older now and
(1:49:50) perhaps they'd like to talk about the things they saw up there if you would email me my email address is artbell mindspring.com that's artbell a-r-t-b-e-l-l mindspring.com so if you're another bob lazar out there and you figure the time is right for you and you want to tell your story i'm your guy that's the way to get me our bell at mindspring.
(1:50:16) com bob lazar will be right back and by the way i was probably going to screw up my little scenario pleading for some more bob lazar's to come forward but out of curiosity uh bob uh tonight all across uh the world people who have been involved uh up at area 51 s4 have seen what you have seen these people they're probably listening bob a lot of them are listening you can be sure of it actually and so what would you say to these um these people would would you say you know what art's right why don't you go ahead and email them and why don't
(1:50:57) you come on and tell what you know would you advise them to do that no no i knew you'd screw it up don't tell anybody what you know just take my heart forward right now you'd do that i knew it yeah well that that really is my message just forget it forget it huh just forget it don't bother saying anything it's not worth the hassle it's not worth it it's not and for the most part nobody's going to believe what you have to say anyway so don't don't even think of doing it oh

(1:51:28) thanks for the help i'm sorry but you asked yeah and i knew i knew i guess what i was in for um okay well i know but still all right but let me take the other side of it bob uh let's fight this a little bit um the there's a lot of people out there like stephen greer who i've on tomorrow night and they really do make a compelling damn strong case that gosh darn it all if we've been visited by aliens if they've really been here if we have their craft their technology and even bodies and this is such an
(1:52:02) incredibly large story so important to the human race that nobody has a right to keep anything like this secret and it should be told it should be out in the open and if these bob lazars don't come in and talk to me and others then how in the hell are we ever going to find out because you said to yourself the government sure isn't going to tell us yeah and i agree with that completely well then how can you say that [Laughter] from personal experience yeah in other words you're not really a crusader at
(1:52:32) all are you no you're not no no i'm not involved in ufo research i don't follow the stories i don't do lectures i don't uh i know you don't you know i i don't do any of that stuff you know i i try and put it behind me you know and a lot of people really you know have the drive to get this stuff on kev covered but uh generally those are the people that haven't been involved with anything and uh you know sticking your neck out on the line really does change your life forever and it's it's not a positive
(1:53:01) thing uh you know people really get the wrong impression i think that you know this is a uh you know a big boost in some way to you and it's not by any stretch the imagination so i you know why would i recommend somebody do that well a lot of people bob think that i mean when they have these reality tv shows and people line up for blocks and wait two days through the ice and the cold to get a chance to be you know i have face time on television we do live in that kind of world and so some people suspect your motive is
(1:53:34) that but um yeah but i hate me being on tv i hate doing interviews and i don't do lectures and all that how could that possibly be my motivation yeah that's right well i i believe me i do understand do you have any knowledge diane up in washington wants to know i get a computer message every now and then a lot of them actually do you have any knowledge it's a good question of any agreement between any group of aliens and humans or the us government do you believe that to be true or know it to be true that there is some understanding
(1:54:07) i i've heard rumors of that uh from various sources but um you know i i don't have any first-hand knowledge of an actual agreement agreement that was cut between anybody uh there's a lot of speculation of course about an agreement to allow some human beings for example to be abducted you know for research in return for let's say technology uh and john lear alluded to all that and said that they in essence reneged on that aspect of what was supposed to be a deal of course to make you you know you'd
(1:54:46) never make that kind of thing public if you had made a deal to shuffle off some of your citizens at random to guys who are going to do god knows what to them chop them up cut them up whatever they do you could never talk about that ever uh i don't know i find that kind of hard to believe um so then john has gone too far for you is that right i'm sure he's listening i'm sure he's with me that john knows he's gone too far for me john's convinced that there are people living on or some sort of being beings
(1:55:22) living on on venus and some other local planets that's right and that drives me crazy doesn't it yeah it absolutely does and a bunch of the things he says well he's convinced there are artifacts on the moon gigantic artifacts on the moon and mars um and others have said that as well richard c hoagland and others have said there are uh things on on the moon in fact you know what there's a speculation that the president of the united states uh mr uh george bush is about to make a speech in which he
(1:55:53) says he's going to say the united states is going to go back to the moon there's going to be a shuttle mission to go back to the moon i heard that yeah yeah i heard he's supposed to make some sort of announcement and we would do it presumably with the shuttle which is really yeah really how are you gonna get the shuttle don't ask me i have no idea but that that's what i'm hearing and actually

i've heard mr hoagland say it's possible i mean that you know if they used every in other
(1:56:24) words once i think richard has said or someone said once you get into orbit uh you're halfway to anywhere well sure but if you want to actually get on the moon it's a different story you know the the orbiter wasn't designed to do that at all and in fact it needs to be replaced with something else yeah it's getting pretty old yeah still that's apparently what's going to be announced i could turn out to be wrong but i don't know of any other spacecraft that we have in uh current production
(1:56:53) that would get us to the moon do you no but uh you know we deal we do still have a saturn v sitting there a saturn v could do it uh well it was designed to do it with a laser module and everything it's sitting there in florida yeah yeah cut the thing off and launch it because they stopped the program right you know you think it'd be all right not like old ammunition i mean it's pretty old now well you know it's for the most part you know it's metal and components just sit there with something you know that works don't
(1:57:26) do what the united states typically does and reinvent the wheel constantly that got us to the moon many times it worked just update it with some modern materials electronics and components and use it since it's there and stop spending huge amounts of money doing nothing what can you imagine our motivation would be for going back to the moon i mean we did go most people believe uh something actually i don't think we even went but uh we i believe we went and we got rocks and we didn't get very many surprises
(1:57:58) and so what could we do on the moon today that we didn't do then that always seemed more sensible to me to to make a small moon base as opposed to a space station oh really why well for various reasons first of all the space station [Music] is limited in what it can do i and i know a moon base is much more difficult to get to it doesn't have to be large but you can at least try uh some and test out some technology on you know i'm trying to manufacture fuel do some small refining see what you can get from the surrounding environment you
(1:58:37) know there there have been reports i think the i don't know it was the cassini some radar mapping craft over the past four or five years detected that there were supposedly large frozen areas of water that's correct on the moon right however they just went over that data again and had another arbiter now are refuting some of that so oh yeah you know if you've got water you've got energy and you've got the possibility for all kinds of stuff but uh so we're back to a foggy area there may not be
(1:59:06) enough water there to manufacture fuel which would be a necessity right so uh that would make it uh uninhabitable if if uh if they're completely reversing themselves now it's kind of strange to me a lot of people believe uh bob that there are things on the moon large glass structures incredible things that were hidden from the uh the world when we went to the moon and have been hidden ever since and that that's the reason they say we haven't gone back i believe john is one of the people who believes
(1:59:39) that yeah he is i'm not one of the people that believes that you are not uh no no absolutely not then why go back bob exploration you know why go to the top of the mountain you know that's it it's a completely different world now than it was in the 60s there's a lot more technology so there's a lot more we can investigate there you know and the original reason to go to the moon was never to research the moon you know aside from beating the russians there the original intention was only to see the feasibility or to investigate
(2:00:14) the feasibility of making a small base there and launching a mars mission from the moon this was all about going to mars the moon was only supposed to be because it would be easier to get there from the moon less gravity so on and so forth sure and that was just to be looked upon as you know as a potential launching site for a mars mission so that the interest was never in the moon i mean we we pretty much knew it was just a rock up there anyway the interest is it you know has always been in mars but mars isn't that easy to get to (2:00:44) unless you had a moon base and that would help well yeah that would help it's it's a shortcut and uh you know you could store fuel there there would be you know if if plans had gone how they should have uh you know maybe we would have already been to mars but i think that's that's the frontier we should look at is investigating that or go to go to europa there's plenty of things in our immediate solar system that are you know potentially fascinating and you know europa has probably the best chance
(2:01:14) of life you know in our solar system and you know even the hardcore

skeptics at nasa pretty much agree there's a good chance there's something in the oceans there so but bob if we've got technology that can manipulate gravity and damn it was back in the early 90s when you knew that we had that uh here we are launching whether it's a saturn v or a shuttle or however we get back to limp back to the moon um and for what reason i'm not sure about but what whatever um we're using very ancient (2:01:52) buggy like technology compared to what you know exists now absolutely absolutely i don't care what spacecraft they've come up with in my eyes they still look like fireworks and they've proven themselves to be that on occasion but it's uh it is it's archaic technology and we do have something that operates differently however it has limited fuel a limited lifespan and we don't want to lose it so it and as far as i knew at the time we couldn't even come close to duplicating even the the most basic
(2:02:34) parts of the device so it uh you know what are you left with you're left with your own archaic method of transportation to other planets you can only investigate what's going on around you we have been unable to decipher the the manner in which or duplicate the manner in which gravity is manipulated by the devices on on the craft that you saw obviously we've failed or what i in other words otherwise we'd be using this technology so we failed well quite possibly now again i hesitate because i'm talking
(2:03:12) about my knowledge from the early 90s and late 80s i don't know what's happened up till today but uh as far as i knew back then yeah we've we failed that's that's the bottom line can't be duplicating that do you think these craft uh when tested were taken outside the earth's atmosphere no you do not no i i know that for a fact for a fact yeah i don't i don't well well no go ahead just whisper it in my ear uh yeah i pretty much know that for a fact um why out of curiosity this is what
(2:03:58) we're getting right real close to one of the areas that i said that i i purposely don't talk about so i know if anybody's been involved with a project which has to do with the craft and where it's gone oh so that that's this is why you're hearing my hesitation on this okay well the the next thing out of my mouth was going to be why do you think if we thought or we well look this is a very valuable article and it's an operating craft i don't know if the other crafts were operating we
(2:04:27) know this one does there's only one of them so in other words what kind of thing would you risk taking this out of you know of the earth's gravitational pull and losing it in space yeah it's a very good point it's a very good point you know this is their prized possession and you believe we still have that safely wherever by the way do you think it's still up there or do you think it's been moved and if so where do you suppose i don't know you know i always thought that that was an odd place to put it
(2:04:57) because in the uh you know early days of the nuclear weapon development some of the best places that they kept everything were in the south pacific like kwajalein island and and things of that sort and uh it's a good thing you know you don't have any lookie-loos there you have no hassles from from anybody you're in the middle of nowhere and nobody can get there without you seeing them what a tremendous point and that's where i would have put it i wouldn't have built this secret base in the middle of nevada you know outside of
(2:05:25) las vegas the and the only reason they moved the nuclear test site to nevada was because it was just too expensive running supplies back and forth and all the personnel to the south pacific well you don't have that problem with the et program because it's limited personnel limited supplies and you know go hide it in the middle of the ocean on an island like they did with everything else so if i was going to put it somewhere that's where it would be why do you think instead it ended up here in nevada
(2:05:53) i don't know i don't know i mean because obviously they're going to be more people conceivably seeing what's going on there's gotta be a reason somebody must have you know i mean bob they still drive up to the mailbox people take videos people take pictures so then there's another great theory that you might want to comment on that is that they want there to be a slow time release of information they want rumors they want talk about this subject of for some reason that fits their agenda otherwise put it in the south pacific
(2:06:38) and you know nobody well there may be some other shortcomings of having it out in the middle of the ocean that you know that we're not thinking of but uh perhaps i don't know maybe they need lots of supplies to get to deal with this thing and maybe maybe they figured if it crashed it's going to be deep down under the pacific somewhere potentially and we'd lose it that way that's quite possible too uh

the desert is good for one thing isn't it it's uh you know it's just there and it's fairly (2:07:09) arid and you'd definitely be coming down on land if you landed in a strange place anywhere in nevada yeah yeah so you maybe your original point is actually the reason it could be that they wouldn't want to risk losing the one model they've got then you figure they're still working on trying desperately to back engineer this or do you think by now they've done it it's been a long time i would hope they've made some substantial progress in 10 years but um you know if you don't have access
(2:07:45) to exotic materials uh then what are you going to do no fuel and that's like like i said before being you know back in the 1800s and if you want to make something out of plastic you know all you can do is look at it and say hey this is really neat but you know how do we make this stuff and yeah hold on hold on we're at the top of the hour we'll be right back with bob lazar and you [Music] come to me [Music] is
(2:08:53) [Music] who's gonna love you love you [Music] to talk with artbell call the wildcard line at area code 775-727-1295 the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-50 from west to the rockies call art at 800-618-8255 international callers may reach our bell by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option five and dialing
(2:09:58) toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell we love you baby because we do we're going to let you talk with bob lazar in a moment if you'll stay right where you are the forum the questions are directly ahead by the way tomorrow night we'll give uh dr greer what i now call the lear test we'll give him the lear test and i just can't let go of that ever since john said what he said on this program i can't let go of it for some reason anyway coming up in in a
(2:10:45) moment bob lazar is going to attempt to answer your questions so uh i guess what i would say is uh prepare yourself bob because you never know what's going to come all right it's it's it's fun bob don't don't worry it's actually it's fun what's the john lear test by the way oh what's the john lear test uh it's really cool uh to use your phrase john uh took me to a briefing in essence he said art imagine you're going to this briefing and i'm going to lay the briefing out
(2:11:24) for you showing you slides and um you know putting things on the blackboard and i'm going to explain to you everything the united states and world governments have ever done regard the whole et issue and you tell me at the end of it if you would say okay make it all public okay yeah this is what you had touched on before okay yeah and uh you know at the end of it i said no i wouldn't oh really oh absolutely and uh now that really intrigues me why would you say that because because some of the things that john
(2:12:04) said are so far beyond the pale that the religious implications the social implications uh the fact that i do believe people would go to go berserk i mean completely berserk it would take down our government it would disturb the world it would disturb the force it would be you really think people would really wouldn't be able to handle this well you've got to remember now that the test was given from the john lear perspective and remember that john believes a lot of things to be true that you don't
(2:12:39) right i am quite aware and so to take the john lear test you've got to take what he says as gospel in other words here's what some of the terrible things we've done really terrible things would you make it public and if you had to assume that everything he said there is correct i guarantee you i'll i'll bet you you'd come up with the same answer so well yeah i come up with the same answer without that but i mean i truly hope everything john lear believes isn't true but uh me too oh me too
(2:13:13) believe it i have been proven wrong before about many other things so who knows all right are you ready yeah sure okay here we go uh west of the rockies you're on there with john lear hello no bob was there uh bye i've got john on the mind here bob lazar how are you doing hi art hi bob hey there howdy what's pleasure to talk to both of you it's been a while since i talked to you art well glad to have you back um bob i just missed meeting you by day one time and i regret that um that was down in uh nevada
(2:13:51) no okay um i was wondering if you knew about a material called starlight um it was supposedly created by a couple of scientists but i've always had suspicions it was um you know alien technology starlight what is this material sir

well a physicist told me about this material it's like two liquid plastics and when you put it together it forms an indestructible solid a nuclear blast won't touch it nothing will destroy it have you heard of such material bob no i'm i i'm pretty skeptical about a claim (2:14:27) like that that uh well it's not supposed to be classified and it came came from a pretty reliable source and also john wanted me to ask you about the orange crate in the crater copper nickus wanted you to ask me about the orange grade right the crate on the moon john who learned john lear yes that's correct oh okay i know what you're talking about he showed me a picture one time and there was a perfectly square object on a on a moon picture and said well what's this orange crate doing there and we
(2:14:58) were arguing about uh you know some of the images from the moon and this these grainy little things with a couple dots and john was claiming well that's just the reflection from a giant uh you know glass dome over so and so and uh but anyway he did have some pictures that you know i couldn't explain but well you know bob uh and some of what john says is pretty wild i mean there's no doubt about it but on on one hand bob you're somebody who's actually seen alien craft most of us haven't
(2:15:31) so to have seen what you've seen uh are the things then john says really so crazy yes well i mean you see a lot of people would say flying saucers we got them you've seen them oh come on that's crazy right that's i know that's crazy and maybe it makes me a hypocrite for saying so but uh that's look i am the first one to admit that if somebody came forward to me with my identical story and laid everything in my lap i'm not sure i'd buy it so i i can't expect anything else from anybody else and in
(2:16:09) fact i almost prefer people don't believe it because then i get hassled less about it martin martin in san rafael says and i think this is accurate and why i love interviewing you it says lazar continues to be the most credible witness of all straightforward direct not self-serving no books tapes no website nothing to sell he just describes what he saw reluctantly at that he makes a believer of this skeptic so in that way you really do sell your story i mean you're so damn low profile about all of this like you don't want it
(2:16:43) well it's not a business i'm just relaying you know what happened to me at the time and and that's it you know that that's the end of the story and uh you know where it's gone and why the you know what how all this stuff came about is beyond my scope of knowledge and i don't profess to know anything that i you know haven't been exposed to but uh you know i will stand on what i have seen and i've got that but i mean as incredulous as it sounds um why not br believe other incredulous things i
(2:17:19) mean if there are saucers here if there were bodies recovered if we actually have aliens then certainly some of the stories about aliens could easily be true well and and maybe so but but you don't know what i'm spoiled i had some things verified to me and had hands-on experience i got to touch him i got to see him i got to analyze them and said okay this is real now for the layman or research or whatever that hasn't everything is in the same category to them it's all conjecture you know yet i've had some things proven
(2:17:57) to me and i hold on to those like an anchor okay i know this is real but i don't know about anything else i don't know if betty and bernie hill were abducted but they have a compelling story i don't know if the roswell crash occurred but that's a compelling story some of the stories you hear are totally illogical and don't make sense and to me they fit in the category you know you try and maintain an open mind and remain scientific about it but they're you know you have prejudices in either direction
(2:18:22) you know as most intelligent people do and uh you know they're you know i don't believe everybody that says they were abducted were was abducted um but they might have been how would i know it's just my own personal beliefs no of course not i i don't i don't believe at all either bob or even i might even go as far as say large chunks of it that i don't believe but but um some of this i do believe is true and based on what you saw and you know to be true then it's not too hard to imagine
(2:18:54) that there was interaction we might not know the exact parameters of that interaction but there was interaction with aliens chances are there was in some way shape or form over you know over a period of time by the way on another note i you know i get so many emails about this um apparently in some other show and i just got three more recently yeah some other show you spoke to somebody a female that said they claimed that i took her out to area 51 and showed her around that's right does this ring of lps oh absolutely i (2:19:32) remember that this is the most ridiculous story i've ever heard so that didn't happen either huh as if they allow visitors to top secret security and stuff that's absurd who would even claim something like that no yeah in either case that's you know it's just one of the another one of those knuckleheads that uh just likes to hear themselves talk for some reason ah okay um as a matter of fact i had an email from this person just uh yesterday bob really yes she imagines quite a relationship with you

(2:20:08) oh really oh yes yes not not true though no first time caller line you're on here with bob lazar yoho okay um i'm calling because i'm a physics student and uh all right speak up good and loud oh okay that's better i'm uh i'm calling about the gravitational um amplifier system i'm interested in this because i'm a physics student and i was thinking that kind of at the forefront of physics research now it's kind of a push to detect gravitational waves and which is a tough thing to do and
(2:20:44) probably ultimately discover the gravitational particle the graviton and i was thinking about this three-pole system that you described as very directional and maybe maybe a gravitational current is involved i was wondering if that maybe hints at why we can't figure out what is going on there you have any thoughts on that well this is more of the research i wanted to conduct while there while i wanted to get down to the hardcore research and gravity and and how the energy propagates by itself and by the way i don't i don't believe there are
(2:21:24) gravitons i don't believe there's particles involved i don't believe it it's even a wave particle duality you know like light photons are i you know i think this is well i it's it appears to be more of a wave effect and exactly how it propagates is at least i don't personally understand that it almost seemed to propagate as microwaves did since any time inside the craft the gravity uh the base of gravity wave was rooted anywhere from the reactor to the amplifiers it always traveled inside
(2:22:04) tuned pipes so uh again that implies at a specific frequency you should have some sort of gravitational effect if it's just a basic you know carrier wave of some sort but you know that that doesn't appear to be true so it's something it's something more than that well we know don't we that the microwave can be carried in like oblong tubes right waveguide right exactly wave guides so that's what connected the reactor to the uh the skin of the craft and ultimately to the so then whatever that whatever the nature
(2:22:38) of this wave is you could imagine it like microwave because it was carried according to your physical description kind of the same way right but if it's just a basic wave you know you could just set up a high frequency oscillator and then as you slowly increase the frequency you get different effects you know you get microwave you get it and it's all part of the electromagnetic specs spectrum and you get x-rays and whatever you should just run into gravity at some point but but you don't so there's
(2:23:05) there's something else there but they were they were so concerned about the actual application of it they weren't really concerned about you know research into the the basics of it which you know probably if it would have been done that way when i was there i at least i think it would have given us a clue at least a better clue of how to use it and how to duplicate it but again you think bob don't you that uh they're now per still if they haven't done it they're certainly pursuing it you
(2:23:34) wouldn't give up on something like that would you are you kidding not a chance not a chance i'm sure just tremendous amounts of money are being funneled into this and so then i'm sure they continue to hand pick specific people that they can think anyway are going to keep their mouths closed and uh you know be involved with it but uh i there was a frustration even when i got there by the way i wonder what happened to the person that picked you it's a good question hey caller caller anything else uh yeah
(2:24:02) actually i was wondering if if bob has it i'm sorry mr lazar i shouldn't bob is fine i was wondering if you have any thoughts as to the propagation speed of the wave we know light travels at a certain speed right um or at least we assume it's a constant speed do you think um you think that gravity is different good question yeah excellent question because for all in from all indications the propagation is instantaneously and i know that it upsets everything but remember gravity in itself distorts time
(2:24:36) and space and every way we attempted to measure the propagation from the reactor base to the emitters themselves there was no delay at all and so i believe that i don't know if the wave is actually propagating instantly or the fact that it's a gravitational wave is distorting the time space around it and making it appear as it's an instantaneous propagation but that's those are the results that we got bob you said uh you actually measured no delay at all how carefully was that measured i mean no delay at all is quite a statement to (2:25:16) make you could measure this right so right there there was there was no delay at all and we uh again envisioned other potential uses you know here's uh look at communication to mars is still a flat 20 minutes between our little robot orbiters and and things of that sort uh you know here you have the potential if in fact there is instantaneous propagation of gravitational waves uh you know here's uh a fantastic communication device where there's no delay where you can talk in real time at great distances

(2:25:52) so the uh you know obviously there's just tremendous implications of this technology even time travel it's it's possible you know gravity distorts time and and if gravity if the speed of gravity which is not defined is faster than light then you certainly have time travel based on that alone well you know like they say time travel is a lot more common than you think time travel in the future the future happens all the time all you have to do is stand there is stand on a high mountain go into a spacecraft travel fast you do slip
(2:26:27) nanoseconds into the future time travel backwards is debatable whether or not that's even possible well we're off on a tangent caller caller any final thing uh i guess there's one other thing um you notice you uh you mentioned in element 115 i'm assuming that's atomic mass number and that's i think that goes further than the periodic table is that true right that's correct so so maybe um maybe that kind of uh insinuates that you're dealing with a higher amplitude gravity waves and just
(2:26:59) i guess more to start off with if you're going to amplify it i mean well yeah there's something unique about that element just like there's something unique about the nuclear elements we use in reactors but something apparently happens different there that doesn't and i know there were previous attempts to duplicate what was going on with other materials other nuclear materials and there was no success in that so there is something very unique about the fuel and specifically what it is you know on an atomic scale
(2:27:33) we were only just beginning to look into that so bob i heard some rumors about uh some kind of speculating about or perhaps lab work going on something surrounding element 115 it's just i between when you told your story and now sometime or another i remember hearing about some legit science dabbling with a concept of 115 or something i can't remember yeah i believe it was the lab for heavy ion research in darmstadt germany and at the time they were on the cutting edge of coming up with new elements and i they
(2:28:09) were they were shooting for producing element 115 at one point and they were using a new technique instead of bombarding something with neutrons they were just slamming nuclei together and somehow it was fusing into heavier elements but i don't think they they reached it and in fact i don't know if it was the same lab but uh somebody found out that there was false data i mean the last heavy element that was claimed that might have been 113 what do we think what do we think the uh the properties of this element would be
(2:28:47) generally well that's hard to predict i mean we certainly observed some unique properties of it it's it's incredibly heavy and incredibly dense um aside from that it uh the way the reactor worked in the craft was like a small accelerator and it constantly bombarded the 115 which transmuted and immediately decayed and that's when it produced its gravitational pulses and as a byproduct it produced a tremendous amount of heat and outside this one okay all right we're at the bottom power hold on uh this is really good stuff bob
(2:29:23) lazar is my guest but yeah john lear is on my mind the test tomorrow night for dr greer [Music] who will be you've here seen woman [Music] oh [Music] seasons [Music] wanna take a ride to talk with art bell
(2:30:43) call the wildcard line at area code 775 [Music] the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free three 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618-8255 international callers may recharge by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option five and dialing toll-free zero nine 800-893-0900 three from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell well for sure fascinating stuff bob lazar man who's had hands-on with alien craft
(2:31:28) hands-on with area of alien propulsion uh element 115 that's another story that he can't quite totally talk about nor will john lear in a moment we continue with bob stay right where you are from the mountains of new mexico directly to you and with you right now here is bob lazar bob you you ready for more sure yeah these are pretty good p and you were in the middle of uh i i don't want to miss out on anything else you'd like to say about the propulsion system and how element 115 was acting in the process

(2:32:13) you know i was on a roll at the minute and now i can't go well you remember you said it was bomb it was it was hitting element 115. oh how the reactor operated i just like drifted on to that and yeah the 115 itself was bombarded uh released in some way shape or form releases a pulse of a gravitational wave and kind of as a byproduct releases a tremendous amount of heat and that heat is converted to electricity which runs the craft however there's no wiring or any conventional connectors or controls or anything of
(2:32:50) that sort on the grass but uh all incredibly fascinating and you know to a scientist it's a dream come true so yeah yeah sure in some respects i i regret the way things turned out but uh i don't know maybe eventually we'll all find out what's going on yeah i i wonder uh i really wonder as the world grows short of oil and the wars are raging because of it and we prepare to go back to the moon maybe in the shuttle of all things i don't know it just seems like if all of this really is there and yet and yet i guess the answer is
(2:33:29) that you suggest we have as of well the date you knew anyway not been successful in the back engineering attempt so we don't have it down yet or if we do for some reason we're not willing to begin to release i mean you'd think uh they could do it through industry you know sort of sliding things slowly into industry as some development or something just to get it into the economy possibly and maybe that's already been done but um every time somebody points at something you know there is also conventional explanations for it we
(2:34:04) really haven't seen anything you know incredibly amazing pop up we see the improvements over products here and there and uh you know a couple things but there really hasn't been any quantum leaps you know in recent times well you may recall if you ever heard colonel corso's story before he passed on that he suggested that's exactly how a number of things made it from the roswell crash to modern industry it's pretty interesting stuff wild card line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hello yes hi okay uh hi art hi bob how
(2:34:37) are you there speak up good loud sir okay um this is alan from colorado and i have three questions so i hope you can bear with me all right my first question is is uh if aldrich ames of the cia can go to jail for so many years um because he revealed government secrets um how is it that bob um you know was able to pull this off and then my second okay well let's do them one at a time uh bob uh pretty good question um if you'd been revealing secrets of the magnitude that we've been talking about tonight
(2:35:13) uh well of course uh what would you tell me for you know i know when somebody gives away you know secrets satellite secrets or other technology secrets and you know that information has to be brought out so okay you're going to take me to court and say okay you released the information what did he release oh well secret stuff well what you know they you're not going to trick them into admitting what they're trying to keep secretly on something of this magnet exactly so uh so i guess i would answer that caller i
(2:35:47) mean after all if they charged him with something they would simply underscore everything he said next question okay the next question is are there not simpler ways to create gravitational propulsion effects um you know like with scalar waves possibly i mean i mean we're talking element 115. this whole procedure seems so exotic and so advanced can we not work what we have now there have been great there have not been gravitational waves produced in any other method and there are claims as such all over the place and people say
(2:36:24) you can do it with these mercury engines i've heard scalar waves i've seen you know all of that data the bottom line is it's not real next okay last question um t townsend brown uh john searle uh victor shaw berger with his vortex technology john keel otis carr all these researchers uh which this relates to the second question when i think i know how you're going to answer it um how do you feel about what they've and so-called contributed to gravitational propulsion technology contributed where where is it show me
(2:37:03) one bring it down here i'll even fly and see it every time i've wasted my time on that looking at everybody that's claimed any of that stuff it's never panned out it's like perpetual motion yeah there's plenty of claims and you know people want you know we're looking for funding to research this or do that and you know for the most part not for the most part there is no device of any sort that can create a gravitational wave now and go ahead and prove me wrong other than what was that (2:37:34) as for damn you are such a reasonable person no but that's that's a fact please prove me wrong check out what you're going to claim with you all the way but you you see that that's what makes your other claims so damn legit in my mind just like that person who fast blasted me geez louise in every other way you're so now that i'm i'm not belittling these people that are doing this work you know d doms and brown many others were brilliant people doing work and i think a lot of the things they observed have

(2:38:09) other explanations yes and uh you know just because something lifts off the ground does not make it gravity propulsion but gravity propulsion i define as something that's acting directly against gravity and i don't mean being lifted by electrostatic forces something like that something that's actually counteracting your skepticism everywhere else just uh is so strange in light of what you say uh to the rest of us he's like i barely believe my own story it happens to me you said how big of a skeptic i am east
(2:38:40) of the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar hello bob speaking to both of you and to you sir where are you okay yes for over 20 years i've been within the research of exo biology i don't want to mention any names but my ex-father-in-law who was with the cia at groom lake before he died of agent orange he asked me if there's anything i would like to know about area 51 and i said yes is the government cover-ups of ufos and et's true he said yes because he stood guard several feet away within one of the (2:39:15) hangar bays guarding ets from the ufo that was being brought from one place to another but this person is your dad has passed on yes he passed away see he was all fed up with the government for what they were doing to him because he spent so much time in the service and all that you know with them that they wouldn't do any more for him and so he just said to heck with it yeah they have a pretty bad record of taking care of their own people right but uh yeah you find a lot of people as they come you know close to the end of their lives
(2:39:47) look what happened with the jfk thing you know just if enough time goes by people become more comfortable releasing what they know yeah well that's why i said there there's got to be other bob lazards out there and there surely are so um you take the very moral position that you'd rather see them not come back for their own sakes then come back and and verify your story oh abs absolutely if you're listening don't listen to art don't say anything let's do the rockies you're on the air
(2:40:20) with bob lazar hello hello uh this is bob in beaverton listening to kex yes sir uh i want to know uh bob have you ever heard of the work of jerry gallimore who under certain conditions could see gravity no never heard that before okay uh the way he did it uh was um doing the old high school uh science class project just lay a bar magnet on a table and put the paper on and sprinkle the iron filings on it so you can see the magnetic lines of force okay but jerry was a native american and something of a shaman and uh around the center point of that (2:40:59) magnet he could see a halo of energy uh that was gravity okay and here is where the why did they think it was gravity the metaphysical meets uh science well regardless he he thought that so i do you ever wonder about that at all bob i mean the entire metaphysical world uh maybe it's all hui and maybe it's another one where you can say prove it to me first but boy i'll tell you there's some good stories out there i hear them all the time about things that we simply really don't understand regarding the
(2:41:34) afterlife i'm sure that that is true you know to to be to be so bold to say that why we have science handled and we pretty much know what's going on and everything's cut and dry and you know that is so far from the truth we you know we are even even at the tip of the iceberg as far as knowledge about everything around us and you know talk about the metaphysical stuff we really have no idea what's going on and a lot of these things that you know people think are silly you know and the things that i i may
(2:42:09) laugh at may actually turn out to be true so there's going to be a place to keep an open mind there's going to be a place bob where the metaphysical or something in the metaphysical square on meets science and science suddenly will say oh my god there is another side or oh my god we really now suddenly have proof to some degree of a soul some way to prove something in the metaphysical who knows what it might turn out to be but somewhere science and metaphysical will suddenly meet i predict it um first time caller
(2:42:41) line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hi this is ken in salt lake and i'm just loving your program you guys are both wonderful thank you i have an observation and a question the observation is in in carta in microsoft and carta in the encyclopedia there's a reference about element 115 if you go into 1976 look under physics 1976 it talks about element 115 as being present in a meteorite that came into the earth's atmosphere and also the heavier elements wait a minute where was this again in carta

(2:43:19) yeah which is the i guess that's the uh what is it the encyclopedia that you get for your computer from microsoft microsoft and carter and you go to 1976 where understanding is talking about a meteor that had element one 115 met they were able to measure it and deduce that it had element 115 in it and also uh the other reference is for 116 through about 124 at the end of the article it says they were measured in micah schist that was in africa wow so in micro shifts uh micah schist which is i guess a rock formation there
(2:43:57) is uh there's trace when they bombard it with a van de graaff generator at high energy gives off a pattern of uh of atomic uh some signature that shows that those elements were there the logic is there they talk about it well wow that's really interesting right now this is an isn't in carta we're not talking about something that's on the internet all right we're talking about in carter that you'd buy for your computer which is a encyclopedia from right on uh it comes from microsoft right microsoft
(2:44:26) software program and what did you look up to under physics 1976. all right great at the bottom of the article it's in there the reference okay the other question i have the only question i have alright stop for a second uh out there if somebody would be so kind as do the research email it to me i'll have it by tomorrow night continue sir okay uh let's see one other question that is i heard the rumor that somebody had tried to open one of the reactors somewhere on the facility there somebody made that
(2:44:55) suggestion and there was a atomic explosion underground do you know anything about that yeah i heard that and i heard that officially too oh oh oh really yeah i yeah that was one of those things that was told to me in fact that was one of the reasons why i worked there because i was allegedly replacing one of these people so the previous bob lazar got a little too close to what was going on apparently and from from what i recall from the story i believe it was in march and i don't remember the date but it was it was uh
(2:45:25) announced as a nuclear test and there is a corresponding date for that test and what they have listed as the test is completely false information that was the detonation of the reactor at the test site um the detonation so it exploded with the force of you say they announced it as a it was a low yield test you know as they remember they used to do that in las vegas oh i'm sure i used to announce it you know get off high buildings that kind of stuff right they they'd always tell you in advance but uh anyway they
(2:46:01) that that data is on their site not about what it was but that date and i don't remember it in march i'm sure george knapp were one of those guys that do you know anything about the nature of the um uh the explosion the uh yeah i know it was the intention was well the frustration was with the reactor at that point and for whatever reason somebody had the bright idea well let's try and open it while it's operating oh really yeah oh my extra smart guys working on this problem so they took this uh
(2:46:34) they they took the one of the prototype not the prototype rag was one of the reactors from one of the other craft and by the way they all looked exactly the same not the craft but the reactors and they uh took it to the nuclear test site and it was done remotely underground and the people monitoring it i apparently were too close and they didn't they didn't realize the explosion was you know going to be that large and it did and again this isn't something i witnessed this is something i was told but it was something i was
(2:47:05) told while i was out at the site so it just has another notch of authenticity because i heard it out how many uh people allegedly lost their lives in this do you know i don't i don't recall it wasn't it wasn't like there were a lot of people there you know two or three people from what seems to stick in my mind but i i can't say that for sure i don't recall i i i did hear that exact story i'll be doggoned i had never heard any of that all right uh wild card line you're on here with bob lazar hello
(2:47:36) yes uh my name is ben i'm just outside of boston okay and uh i've got a question going back to bob's comments about running his car on hydrogen okay fire away okay over the last bunch of years nexus magazine has run at least a couple of articles about running one's car on hydrogen uh using electrolysis in other words generating the hydrogen on board on demand um and i just some people i've spoken to about it say it's a ridiculous idea that it's impossible that it would take i'm one of (2:48:14) those people really more energy it's not happening you can't crack water that fast oh really yeah the if you can't because there's a god unless unless you're carrying a nuclear power plant behind you you you just can't water doesn't come apart that fast and and there are flash ways in fact i met a physicist from sandia labs here and was talking to him and they have uh this neat device that kind of works on a plasma pulse and cracks water at much higher volume than electrolysis and in

(2:48:46) fact the guy emailed me reason emailed me recently that has something that does that with hydrocarbons but uh as far as you know driving a car and having and producing hydrogen by electrolysis from water at a volume great enough to keep the car running oh never going to happen so it just takes so you you you are uh required really to generate the hydrogen at some other time some other place and then pipe it into the car and store it you can't our product is a small hydrogen generator kind of like a dishwasher
(2:49:22) uh sits in your garage solar panels and it takes two to three days to fill the tanks because it you it takes a lot of energy and it takes a long time to do it now there are faster ways but you know they consume more power and well some don't but are more complicated don't use water so on and so forth ours is a low cost just uses connects to the water line uses solar panels and slowly cranks out hydrogen and you can over a period of two to three days fill the tanks in your car and then you know you can drive
(2:49:50) 700 miles ideally you'd have several sets of tanks and just fill them and and whatnot but uh that's it's the only way to do it i've been playing with hydrogen fuel systems since you know the the late 70s and uh that you just can't make it fast enough huh call her a few seconds uh well i'm all set you're happy all right thank you thank you thank you and uh take care and i'm afraid that uh time is sleeping by no it has slipped by and the end of the program is here so hey bob man what a great program again every (2:50:28) time you come on it's a great program hey always great to talk to you all and uh maybe next time you're here i'll give you the uh the lear test anyway anyway listen thanks for being here huh hey thank you thanks again eric take care and good night thank you he always he's a totally excellent interview anytime you talk to him bob lazar from the high desert middle of the night i'm art bell see you tomorrow night bye [Music] is [Music]

Transcript:
(00:01) [Music] [Applause] contrary to what pop contrary to what Bob is worried about we're gonna have some fun here JC was just here like 1990 was second yesterday yeah I thought maybe we would start with a couple of questions sort of it let you get to know Bob a little bit so they played one of the great Super Bowls of all time last month which of the teams did you like who really we're gonna do sports kind of what I thought I don't even know who plays that's right tomorrow tomorrow's the Oscar broadcast
(00:51) who would you think is the best picture doctor I have no idea because you don't watch a lot of right yeah Breaking Bad or Sopranos which of those series did you like best yeah yeah when you're just not on my channel because you live what I'm trying to convey is you live in Bob world right right what do you do tell them tell them what you do now I know I live in a scientific bubble that's just about it I mean you know it's uh my my work is my life whether I am working or having fun it's pretty much the same (01:23) thing so it's I don't I pretty much do the same thing where you live and what you do your business I unfortunately live in Michigan yeah I would really like to be back there but yeah the business is United nuclear scientific we sell and build lots of scientific equipment and supplies supply it to schools universities the government you know everybody we also do contract work we do R&D work design construct prototype gadgets weird things for different companies if they have a problem or something they're trying to (02:01) solve they'll come to me and just say make this work and you know so we do but the bulk of it is really just selling scientific equipment and supplies and you know trying to bring that back back when I was a kid you know used to be able to go into a hobby store and buy chemicals and have a chemistry set now if you see any glassware in somebody's house you just think they're cooking up meth or something like that so you know we try to change the tide and bring back cans on stuff and you know the current generation that's one of the (02:33) stories told about you right that you had a meth lab oh yeah that's true yeah I forgot about that do you have any government contracts we do government contracts you see where that could go people haha he's working for the government they're paying him off he did his job spread this information now he's working for the government you're not welcome to go no I don't work for the government but you know if there's contracts I bid on it you know every faction of the government doesn't know what the other ones doing

(03:03) it's it's a complete mess I want to give them an idea you know the question is raised you're not a scientist what you've kind of scientists for you and I I haven't been to your house in Michigan but the last time I visited you it was in New Mexico and there was something built in the house that building right behind your home it was as I recall a 30-foot particle accelerator yeah you built yeah yeah what did you do with it what do you what do you do with your home particle accelerator that's 30
(03:34) people well at the time you know are working on an efficient way of storing hydrogen for you know automotive use so it can be used as a fuel and some of the most efficient hydrides materials that absorb hydrogen like a water like water like a sponge absorbs water were restricted because they are used in thermonuclear hydrogen bombs and so you couldn't purchase these materials but there was kind of a loophole in the law where you could make them so I had to make a particle accelerator to make the material to use and run tests on so
(04:12) that's what that was all about you moved to Michigan in part because you thought that you were gonna have some help from state government with the system right the hydrogen system yeah kind of I mean a lot of things changed I mean we moved to partly because of you know family reasons out there and just to get a change from the Southwest which I regret and you know yeah there was a lot of but the times there were a lot of unemployed auto workers and we thought you know we can hire those but you know a lot of (04:42) things happen the recession happened and also at the same at the same time but around 2008 or something the Chinese who at the time we're making a lot of the rare earth elements because they did it cheaply and the u.s. mines had shut down years beforehand decided why not you know we pretty much control the market on it we're gonna go ahead and crank up the price you know ten or a hundred times what it was and it really made what we were doing impossible to do profitably so you know you use your business as science-related you sell
(05:18) sighted equipment you build things like a particle accelerator and jet car engines and things of that sort but I think if you heard me talking earlier you'd have to agree with a lot of people that you don't fit the mold as a typical scientist I mean you're not a member of any science organizations are you no no you're right papers you submit papers now I mean that not typically not even not in the normal sense I mean you know the when I first went to Los Alamos what was really annoying to me was the boy
(05:45) that the typical pompous self-righteous scientist you know and they would come into town and you know interact with the ordinary people and you know use terminology that was over their head just to get him to say well what do you mean by that and they just would puff up and you know it boosts their ego and it really annoyed me so you know when I worked there I relabeled some you know important equipment whirligig or something along those lines and it you know it really pissed him off and you know it was really just but to make a (06:20) long story short you know I was the new guy coming from the west and to the you know hardcore a scientific field and it you know really I was able to run circles around these guys because they followed a set path and did a set amount of things there their support teams were were very limited and weren't engaged in him because they had no idea what was going on they never took the time to you know bring these guys in but I don't know I just looked at a looked at things from a different point of view and I simplified things so explaining

boy you don't talk like a scientist yeah I'm trying to make everyone understand you know but and and it works you know if you if you talk on a simple basic level everyone is gonna understand what you're talking about it's easy to talk over everybody's head but all that does is make you look like an idiot you know when I first met Bob I remember going to his house and there was a skull and crossbones flag flying over his (07:24) house at the time he had this giant jet car parked in the in this in the driveway he had these videos that he shared with me that we used in Mother's reports were it's a lot of machine guns he a lot of really interests it'd be kinds of interest that you don't associate with scientists I mean you heard my comparison to Edward Snowden I hope I didn't make you uncomfortable but I mean he's sort of the same vein there was a guy who had no academic credentials he didn't make it through high school he (07:52) took online hacking classes he worked as a security guard the next time they hear from him he's working he becomes a computer expert for CIA and NSA and sort of fits the mold he doesn't fit the mold in the same sense that you don't know but he fits the new mold you know he doesn't fit the old wall just as what were we're used to seeing but I don't need a degree no no they're looking for tell I think they'll only learned a long time ago that they were missing a lot of creative people and people that would (08:19) think outside the box and if you really want to move forward that's where it is especially with computers oh yeah no no no doubt yeah and that's scary let's get to Flying Saucer you got hired through e GG to work for the US Navy yes first day out we're out at the facility well the first day the first day was going to you know what area 51 proper and signing all the agreements and doing all that stuff signed agreements what kind of greatness did you say it was really paperwork and going over you know exactly what I was
(08:54) going to be doing and it was a lot of security stuff I mean they questioning you know my family where we had moved it was you know boring nothing they had an area they'd been around talking to everybody you knew yeah clearly and because I already had previous security clearance you know I made it a little earlier as opposed to somebody starting from scratch which typically takes like 13 months from what I understand to do a top-secret or civilian Q clearance did you have the clearance that you needed to work there
(09:23) when you started working there no no no I just had a convenient starting point where you know they didn't have to go back to the day I was born and you to verify that they go okay well you had clearance here and we can go from there so you get on the plane in Las Vegas Jan plane yeah right fly up there they put you on the bus with the blacked-out windows oh yeah when we're going to ask for right yes so the you don't think you landed room like that did 51 and then sign some papers yeah if you want to (09:51) make it a short version yeah right you had told me the story that they started showing me these briefing books that sort of laid out the general story was that it at grow them or was that that was it as for that was no that material would never get north of sport grew lake who say I never heard any of the stuff there is no flying saucers stuff at 51 no that's like 51 is it's a there's lots of people working there it'd be hard there's when I worked at s4 again I have no idea how it is today but you know
(10:24) back in my day at s4 there were 22 people that had clearance and knowledge of the et material et crafts that was it we were given the list we knew the names on the list that was it I still know that the names on that list today and those are that some of the things that I never say anything to you about because well exactly there has to be some stuff I keep to myself because you know how many times people said yeah hey I worked out there with Bob and so on and so forth really who are you what you do when you're there and it's only the (10:56) stuff I said I'm waiting for the guy that says hey yeah I worked out with you and here's some of the other people on the list or we did this or a zip so it's if I don't keep that stuff there's nothing I have to verify if some other guy comes up to me you see it all the time I made med you get emails all the time or you read stories or you hear claims on if you watched television you'd hear it that is about people who claim they've been out there and obviously they're making it up well I mean the (11:23) most recent was this Bushman I think it was like yeah like at the CIA guy or something like that was it his anima sky you see was dying or he died yeah and a lot of people asked me hey do you know and he was apparently very supportive of me and

but I never heard of him and what am I going to say I've never heard of the guy and I've never seen him back to day one here you're at groom you take a bus to s4 to Papoose yeah there's a old Bluebird school bus but navy blue how did you know it was called s4 did you read that on something (12:02) that is what they said that's what they call it yeah did you ever see it written down yeah and and it's an S and a four or s - four SFO you are or no it's a Newman numerical 4004 yeah okay and so you get to s4 and you see what describe what you saw well the first time I went we went around it's kind of hard to describe there's a little mountain or rise whatever that that ends and the first time I have to admit I didn't notice it that we just drove around and I thought it was just a flat part of the (12:36) mountain at the very end is an entrance a flat wall with doors and that's where we parked we went in and that's the first time I went into the facility at all that's where I was taken to the medical facility that's where I was given the briefings initially and it was it wasn't till the second time that I was taken down there that we stopped in the middle because the site that I thought was flat was actually hangar doors that were you know really cleverly blended into the side of them to look
(13:11) like desert yeah yeah a great job when you're inside can you see all the hangar doors you can only see all or whatever it is that from outside what do you mean know anything if you were inside looking at in one hangar can you see all the way down see all of them see more they're separating yeah there's there's inside each hangar bay there's you know if there's the big door that goes to outside inside on the sides I guess I could use the whiteboard there's a what the hell okay all right this is (13:48) gonna be a tough one okay so is that making anything so there's a the doors here where this is you know Papoose like the main doors here roll up however inside there are regular doors and on one occasion these doors were all open and when I came in to the came in through here on the first well I think was the first time they showed me well there's the craft in there these doors were yeah these doors were all open and you could see that there were different craft in each so those are the doors I'm (14:47) talking about let's talk about the worldly gangs or whatever you want to call this so talk about the first time you saw them the first time I saw one of them was the second time I came in the end the last bay door was open that was the sport model that was sitting in there we pulled up we stopped instead of going around and the front normal entrance we went in through you know the big bay door before who had seen these posters you described that were all the walls yeah yeah they're here posters describe but yeah they went through the (15:25) trouble of actually making a picture of the sport model that was lifting obviously off with Papoose Lake because you can see the the background there and it just said they're here and it was it was like I'm a commercial poster I mean they looked like they were lithographed I mean they must have been printed on site they wouldn't have done that out there but somebody's idea of a joke yeah it was good to see that level of I don't know light heart into us out there first day you get a look at the sport model
(15:51) what do you thinking to yourself oh my god what are you thinking no it was the Flying Saucer did not alien Flying Saucer did not enter my mind it was it was exactly the opposite that well this explains all the UFO sightings that you know we have some field propulsion technology it has to be in this you know shape or form you know flying saucer type and this is what people have been seeing for a long time thinking that their alien craft and it made perfect sense to me it's like great I might really like to be part of this project
(16:21) advanced propulsion this is dynamite so I was excited to be part of it in fact when we went by it and I think I'd even mentioned to you it had a little American flag stuck on it and I dragged my hand across it and you know it felt like it cold so I just assumed it was metal and got yelled at immediately you know don't keep your hands at your side walk forward all right thinking to yourself I am part of the coolest inside history because we've got flying saucers that we'd made and we're playing a joke (16:52) on everybody no I wasn't really playing a joke it was that you know this is cool technology and by at anytime we feel like we can probably just take over the world America you know and that was attitude so at what point do you realize we didn't make it how did you learn that is that the briefing books well yeah the briefing books just did not make any sense we started into you know that that would actually either predated seeing that and I really don't know that the briefing books covered a little bit (17:23) about a lot of topics and it dealt with you know analysis of it was all back in engineering material analysis of metal you know power systems and the way things were even even the way things were laid out within the craft and again it really had me confused I going is it was so far beyond what I was expecting is this it is this some kind of test or is this actual material so I just you know I thumb through everything and went okay and just went on it from there but it really didn't hit me until I went in (18:02) I was introduced to my working partner was Barry castelia or whatever area pronounce his last name and the way they worked there was everything was very compartmentalized so everybody had a buddy to work with and that is the only person you can talk and converse with and bounce ideas off of you can't talk to anybody else in any other group you can't you know even if we go sit and there's a bunch of other people around you can only talk to the guy you know your buddy they called him so anyway so he was when I'm buddy and when I the (18:37) first day we went in there he was excited to show me everything and it seems like he had been alone for too long it was you know he was you know really excited that I was there and I was kind of picking up on his enthusiasm going well let's he said oh you weren't gonna just die when you see this and you know and you know one of the first things he did was you know fire up one of the reactor that had been taken out of the corral that story the reactor is a it's a small device is probably you know just roughly a foot square with a

(19:14) half a hemisphere on it or half a hemisphere I was right anyway so there's really nothing there the the top comes off and there's like a little Tower on it it doesn't hmm oh this is my erasers did you see those drawing in the back now all these guys can't have that's not clear screen was anything about the this in the briefing books about how this work you did read about this there's very little about this essentially you know crew size comparison half a basketball on a
(20:19) plate that was probably no nothing I mean is just incredibly simple there was there was nothing there that could that could do anything for and it was too small to hold an a large power source so anyway the the top came off and he put the top on and then he said go ahead and and grab the sphere and as my hands approached it I couldn't touch it which was fantastic and if you ever played with magnets I'm sure everybody has you take two light poles of a magnet you can kind of feel that bounce it was exactly
(20:54) exactly like that but it was my hands they weren't magnetic and he says you're feeling a artificially produced gravitational field and that really floored me and you know that but I began to run through in my mind how can this be a joke or faked or there's just there's no way and it that that's the first time that it was kind of a domino effect than what I had read in the briefings and going do these guys aren't kidding this is unbelievable let's go back to briefings for a second and it
(21:30) will come back and you can tell us a little bit more I'll have this operator in the briefing books you see the craft described and then you get into some more exotic stuff they could really you had to wonder are they messing with your head aliens oh yeah there was it was a one-and-only briefing whatever you want to call it or an overview of it it would split the the entire program that were split into individual projects and you know each had an overview of each project and each group got an overview of all the other projects in case there
(22:06) was some connection to what they were doing but it was clear they didn't want everybody to know everything and although the military loves doing that it it really really screws up move forward and and to compartmentalised UK it's insane but they's really enjoy that but anyway the only thing that dealt with any kind of you know biological it yeah it's just essentially what you'd call him there was just a few of OVA creature and I closest estimation I can give you is it great because it had a head with a large (22:48) eyes but what they were focusing on was a tea cut in the chest and it was one large organ and the comments were about how it functioned as a liver a lungs a heart as if all organs had grown together or evolved together where it was just but I don't know when all purpose internal organs yeah I guess I don't really have a analogy for it but that was it and they were and the accompanying photographs were that was the that organ removed it was sectioned it was showing the different chambers or indications of it there were the weights (23:29) of the different pieces that they removed so I again I don't know where the thing came from you know where that this was just a briefing of something else but it was you know there's nothing in the briefing book says this comes from X planet they're just and you're wondering yourself are they messing with us right are they messing with me are they fast right I mean I well it really didn't it really didn't hit me at the time it seems they wanted me up to speed really fast to where there was skipping (23:56) too many places to make me feel comfortable you know at the time I didn't realize that everybody got these and you know the people that dealt with biological connotations of everything we're getting mellowed metallurgy reports in it again it was just in case there was some connection you know you could kind of raise your hand and say wait you know this thing might relate to us in some way did Barry or anybody else tell you why they wanted to get you up to speed so fast where there's some urgency there or were they

(24:27) just tired of not making progress or what was it that was never really clear I know there was some accident prior to me being hired and you replace somebody yeah I replace somebody somebody was was killed and it was playing with the reactor and you know they said well we're gonna be working on the reactor well you know but so yeah there was obviously a lot of caution being taking but I from what Barry said and what Dennis said who is my immediate supervisor was that you know they were trying to make leaps and bounds way too
(24:58) fast and you know I was certainly not planning on doing anything like that especially hearing the news well you say think of yourself I shouldn't be here why had they got me yeah yeah yeah please there's a billion people they could have hired you know that I thought would have been you know a better choice for that but they were they really wanted somebody it seems like they were stuck and they wanted somebody coming from left field with just new ideas just get us out of the rut and just move something forward yeah what did they get (25:32) the right guy the mayor I feel yeah I don't know if that's the way to let's go back to talk about the reactor so he showed you with this experiment in your hands you could feel it's a force field and how they faked that if they were faking it is amazing no I don't think you can you saw some other stuff the golf ball yeah administration tell me that story tell us well I wasn't really supposed to be a demonstration but yeah well in some way it was and you know once I said that's that's unreal this is (25:59) a gravitational field and you can see that you know it's extremely strong by it and it tapers off and you know it's following the inverse square law which is you know a gravity radiation the the inverse square law is essentially you know the amount of energy dissipates really quickly as distance increases so you know it that was immediately noticeable to me and he said well check this out and you know he had a golf ball and I'm gonna winged it at the thing and it bounced off the field coming nowhere
(26:39) close to the the reactor and we have those ceilings suspended ceiling tiles in there mm-hmm and it knocked it out of place and you know he flipped out and said you know you know Dennis is gonna be back in here to jump up on there we're trying to rearrange stuff and you know fix the thing and he's knocking the the reactor around and going out a man it's my first day you know don't screw everything up so and I'm taking the dust off the thing and but the second we finished you know Dennis walks inside
(27:13) and there's how things going she's great so it was something let's say it's day one you've read this interesting briefings you don't know quite what's going on you do see this technology it's damned amazing what is your job what do they tell you you're supposed to do either the bottom job is not to figure out how this thing works or you know let us know what this met is just can we make another one of these so just let us know if you can can we duplicate I can only duplicate it like it doesn't have
(27:46) to be exact but find out how this thing works if we need to make something that's bigger or do it just but we want more of these things and just do it right now so that was it and the answer is can we I mean can't we no no no no no no we're just not not even in the same ballpark is it because of materials or we just don't know yeah that's it it's both look this is like dropping off an iphone and the wagon train days and say we're gonna need more of these you know if you did you ask anybody hey
(28:26) where do we get these where did these come from no I really thought there was so much other stuff that was flooding my brain that was just amazing and you know I was so excited to be there I didn't care where the thing came from it's you know it was beginning to trickle into my mind boy this is maybe what you know flying saucer crashed in South Africa or something we got it we're taking it apart this is great you eventually saw all of them or you saw glimpses well when I looked through the doors I could (28:58) see far as you could tell they looked they didn't look like they'd been in a crash right well there's one one there's one and I mentioned this to along to you a long time ago and I I never added this one thing which I let now there was one like I said that had been shot with a projectile and I know for a fact it came out of the water that's all I know you know it's a fact because that's what you were told yeah that one big projectile like a howitzer shell or something I know it was about it's hard

(29:29) to judge from distances you know like from here to the exit sign how big is that but I'm guessing it was what a maybe a nine inch diameter hole the sport model no dents no it's great now looked like it came right out of the showroom and it looked like the Billy Meyer beamship yeah from the pictures I've seen of the Billy Meyer one which you know to look fake to me but no there it is I'm sure the Billy Meyer people are happy about that but I mean you you know there's a lot of people don't take
(29:57) that case seriously and it's either the most amazing coincidence coincidence on the face of the earth or something really did happen to that guy billy meier so the sport model you called it you had names for all of them yeah what happens well there's one that looked like the top hat and one wasn't obviously a jello mold and I you know but it was they're just silly names because we were talking about him and you know they're talking about bird six and I'm like what's that is that the jello looking thing you know
(30:26) so I gave him my names and they stuck with them like that it allows Alamos so the support model you've got to know that one pretty well though you got this yeah it's the only one I say I hands-on I touched I walked in you know that I can say for all the other ones could have been holographic projections to fool me but this is the only one I know was really before we talked about the test one other thing about the reactor and I want you to use this example to sort of explain how it worked you had told me a (30:55) story about a candle and again a flame that was basically frozen tell me that story and why it gives us an indication of how this thing operated what power had had well when we had you know after the golf ball incident there was the benches we had set up the reactor was not the only thing in the craft the reactive sits in the center on the level underneath there are well I should say the reactor surrounded by the reactor there are three gravity amplifiers as they were called directly under those there are emitters which are Oh probably (31:37) like 55-gallon drums there are three of them they hang directly under the emitters and apparently the way the device works excuse me is the reactor supplies the base gravitational wave and power to the amplifiers which channel it down to the emitters which propel the craft so in addition to the reactor that was out of the craft one of the emitters was also on the bench now I don't know which craft this came out of it was not out of the sport model but they had the reactor operating and the emitter and Barry had taken a candle and put it
(32:18) about well I'd say about two feet from the end of the emitter and lit the candle and he fired up the reactor and he said go check out the candle and the flame was there but it wasn't moving it was like a picture of it it was just frozen and now that makes you think of a lot of things oh boy if it's we know gravity and time are interrelated and you know one is essentially the other and fine if gravity if it stopped or slowed time down there how are photons still being emitted so we can see the light it
(32:56) should just go black you know there are a lot of things made absolutely no sense whatsoever what if the science we're familiar with but this is these were just things he was showing me as a demonstration that you know properties and what it's doing that are just so far beyond what we even know what's going on and this had nothing to do with the work I mean we're we're just supposed to make another one of these things somehow so you know so help us understand what this technology means how advanced it is you (33:37) know it becomes obvious at some point it's somewhere else we didn't make it because we're taking it apart to figure out how it works like a machine that makes gravity is the most important thing that mankind could probably create look we have electoral magnets that make magnetic fields you know we can make electric fields we you know with the Van de Graaff generators and you know it god knows what else but you know to make a gravitational field it's like the the last piece of a missing pie because when you can art (34:07) right now the only thing that makes gravity as far as we know is mass you just need a bunch of stuff and it's a property of mass that it just magically pulls in things you know we observe gravity we see what it does but we really don't know what it what it is we can throw some equations together and say well it works like this but we really don't know what's behind it but if you can make a machine that on demand makes gravity you know all the stuff we write science fiction about stops becoming science fiction that afternoon

(34:36) they force fields become a reality you can shift time I mean everything becomes possible it's it's it's the most important thing and here is an operating machine sitting in front of us that makes gravity and due to we really want to be able to make one of those things I mean you could make impenetrable fields you can do have propulsion that is mind-boggling as the crafts operate it would be the ultimate weapon well no not just the ultimate weapon but it would really be the ultimate thing it would it would catapult mankind forward
(35:15) and what really sucks is the military is in control of this I should I neglected to mention this during my presentation but Cobb and I have talked about before guy named Ben rich who Jim Goodall knows and interviewed several times Ben rich was the head of the skunk works which was there they operated things at at Groom Lake and and had been there they developed the u2 and sr-71 and stealth if anybody would know about advanced technology it's him and Kelly Johnson so a lot of people have speculated whether (35:54) been rich and those guys had incorporated alien technology into some of the advanced airframes that we've got and I even had a chance to ask him on the day that the stealth was unveiled out there at Nellis whether any alien stuff was in there he said no but other people have talked to him Jan Larson who's here from MUFON heard a speech that Ben rich gave at UCLA and which he basically said we now have the technology to take e.
(36:18) t home we had the calculations slightly wrong but we can do anything you can imagine we can travel to the stars but he said the technology is locked up in black but black budgets and black programs and we'll never see the light of day what do you think about that that's really like the same thing you're saying yeah that sounds exactly like what I'm saying and I hope that's not the case but I mean how do you pry it out of there it's it's really there should be a lot more people working on this oh well that (36:49) that's sort of what why you became disenchanted with it but we'll come back to that let's talk about sport model a little bit you got to see it fly you got to see a test yeah once well once close up we Barry and I were in the lab we were working Dennis came in and he said there's a test flight going on Bob why don't you come out here Barry you can tag along too and that's what we came in you know side door into the hangar the craft was already out onto the dry lakebed in front of where the lake bed
(37:26) proper but it was out in front of the door and probably about two minutes after I got there the craft just began to silently lift off the ground and there was a guy between where I was standing and the door that had a small desk and there was some sort of transmitter on it and he was just on a microphone talking apparently to somebody in the craft and at the time that again immediately set up a red flag in my mind going that's not supposed to work either there is a craft being powered and surrounded by an intense
(38:06) gravitational field how are the radio waves getting into this thing this it just didn't make sense but again very few things did there and I didn't have much of an opportunity to connect all the dots but it lifted off the ground silently there was an obvious high voltage Corona discharge it was beginning to get a little late but you could see the purple blue glow but as soon as it lifted off you know it six 10 feet that dissipated and it just moved around and sat back down where it was but it wasn't it (38:39) doesn't sound like much but it was incredibly impressive there wasn't there wasn't a sound other than a little hiss when it first took off but you know it's a big device it moved around and and sat down and I mean I was just I was beaming it was so cool you didn't get it didn't fly off to Venus or anything and people know no no no this this is there this is their prized catch here I mean they no one is going out there and taking it out of the atmosphere and risking it I mean that was a big deal you know like the (39:13) it could I'm sure I don't know if they knew how to get it into that mode but you know like the test flight data that I saw they even were very careful on what days to take it above the mountain range where traffic was it low at its lowest in the surrounding area so they were very concerned about who could see what and you know how much they risk the thing moving around but it was it was quite a prized possession of theirs so you saw a reactor up close and you saw the craft inside not only the test but (39:44) you got in it yeah later on later on it was again you know we have to look at at everything we're trying to figure out how this device works from nothing so and it's technology you know we can barely grasp so you know obviously the placement orientation of the components and subcomponents might be critical to the operation of it so I was led him one time there were several other technicians in there doing their own thing I don't know what they were working on but we wanted to see where the reactor was how it you know how it

(40:21) was positioned you know where the amplifiers were and this is when you know I described to you there was a access to a lower level to where the emitters were which was a small hexagon shaped area that had a what I thought was a really creative collapsible doorway and I guess the only analogy is if you take a whole you know a six-pack of beer that comes in bottles and you take out the little divider there it's if you stand it up by itself it's really strong it'll hold a lot of weight but you can easily collapse it flat by the (41:02) side this is essentially a metal version of that and it was in a hexagon shape with a little hole and you can walk on it but you can just put your finger in the hole and pop it and the whole thing snaps over to where you have a you know hole you can kind of stick your head upside down and which is what I did I just leaned in there and they wanted to me to see how the specifically how the arms that held the emitter is connected to the bottoms of the amplifiers and those in themselves were fantastic technology
(41:34) described the interior what it looks like it's very very bland if I again was to give you an analogy I would say it was if you put all these components in there pretended everything was made out of wax heated up for a bit and let it cool off there was never a sharp angle anywhere anytime something sat somewhere perpendicular to it it had a radius of curvature to it everything had a smooth curve everywhere was all one color was it all one piece it it looks like it was one giant injected molded thing but there was not there was not a seam there
(42:12) wasn't a rivet there wasn't a fastener it was just all there any buttons and no place to put in the key and no and there is no wiring you mentioned about I'll use the term furniture because you got a lot weak both got a lot of bleep furniture yeah well that was because I was you this was I think the first interview on TV and I was well I was frightened for a couple of reasons first of all what's in supposed to be saying anything and the fact that it was on TV and I didn't know what kind of big mistake this was and so
(42:49) you asked me what was inside or describing I was trying to work think of the word seats and I couldn't in a million years get that out of my mind and all I could say is there's furniture in there and it I know it sounded ridiculous and everybody said well that guy can't be a scientist he doesn't even know the word Cena then hey you know it's just stress does that do you it was the size of it that was small yeah I was yeah well yeah that's that's that's quite a critical point everything was (43:17) very small it looked like well maybe that's where the it popped into my mind because I was thinking of you know the children's you know furniture said or tea set you get four little kids that have you know the little molded chairs and little tiny but that's exactly what it looked like it looked like a little furniture set for her kids so I mean obviously it was uncomfortable too around it when you first come in the side you have to hunched over the only place you can stand up comfortably is you know right by the reactor in the
(43:45) side so whatever built or used the thing was obviously smaller than than my statue I'll come back to the term the kid so somebody did the test somebody was in it they must have figured out a little bit of how it operates yeah obviously and in the sport model the ones that I went in they removed one of the amplifiers which was really shocking to me done it now the reactor and emitter all those were in that one so these must that must have come from another craft which made me at least partially to believe that these (44:27) all may have the same power systems in him which you know really makes you think that so the one you had in the lab that you were working with yeah when component had to come from somewhere that was in the in the sport mom yeah but wasn't the smart models so at you know you can extrapolate and say yeah it's kind of like a Chevy they all have the same kind engine and they're different but I don't know it's all conjecture let's talk about the fuel so big it's an interesting part of the (44:58) story and a bone of contention for a lot of folks element 115 how did you know it was 115 describe its properties describe its property what does it do but what's so miraculous well I let me put it this way the we weren't given the task to say you know analyze the fuel find out what it is and you know would they just again the thing was and there was a lot of push to it was to what is that and do we have any and you know that's that's it and these guys really do talk and think like that it's just you know what did

(45:35) you guys do today we just looked at this the other day but you know I mean we you if you remove the top of the reactor there's a little tower in there with a cap and there's a triangular piece of fuel in there what we called the fuel because if you put that in everything starts to work we analyzed what was there now somehow again we didn't have access to all the information but somehow Los Alamos had something to do with either keeping or storing the fuel now it's we did all kinds of tests on it not just us we had (46:16) a scent all that equipment isn't there we don't have you know all kinds of interesting Specter gases but we had it tested and we just wanted to see where this was on the Periodic Chart what kind of Peaks we get off of it and you know maybe it's just you know I unique fuel maybe it's just some you know a blend of a nuclear material but when it became obvious that this isn't even on our usable periodic chart you know that's that's essentially where we stopped you know and said we weren't
(46:46) going to analyze the material and see if we could make it we just wanted to know if it was something that we could possibly use and it wasn't you told me that we couldn't make it why couldn't we make it well it's just like any heavy element or super-heavy element more specifically you know the only naturally-occurring heavy elements uranium I mean as soon as you get anything heavier than that you know a larger number of protons you have to make artificially and that's that's a difficult job because you either like to (47:18) make plutonium which our country loves you know you have to take you know other materials put them in a reactor let it run for a couple years and then you can in the case of plutonium you can chemically separate out you know the small quantity of that now even heavier elements you have more difficulty obtaining you know extremely heavy ones like 110 you I mean you have to make that on an atom by atom basis and an accelerator where you're you know slamming accelerating single atoms or beams of other atoms you know near the (47:53) speed of light smacking them together and it doesn't make a usable quantity I mean you may get the interaction you want and it flies off and hits a detector you know in a fraction of the speed of light you go that was 115 and you know that's when they say we you know we synthesized one but that's what it is it's not like a cup pops out and we've we've got something you know it's it's just a you know a particle comes flying out when goes well at these angles at this magnetic moment at that (48:22) speed it will be 115 and if you get a peak at that you know boom it comes off it's a little display on a thing and right we made 115 but you know it actually make usable quantities forget it would take you know the entire resource all the resources of a country forever you know to get a grammar so how much was up there well they say there was 500 pounds of the material now was that recovered in a craft was that separate that they certainly didn't synthesize it but you know where it came from I I have no idea but but again Los (49:01) Alamos had something to do with it because they they renamed it la 1000 I know there are shipments back and forth there but I think it had to be from what I understand it had to if you assume a cylinder of this material it has to be machined into a cone and that cone sliced well it has to be stacked first like a bunch of quarters stacked on top of one another then machined into a cone and then sliced to be usable in the reactor now all of that had to do with the metallurgical guys and we weren't even allowed to know why but I knew that was (49:36) necessary for whatever it's worth reactor doesn't work without 115 did you ever do an experiment to try some other kind of fuel no no I mean we I mean quite honestly we really didn't know what was going on there I mean we had a basic idea of at least we thought again we just had a report to what was going on so it's not like you can ever say you know we really don't know we've been working on those two weeks you better come up with something so it's a you know like we think it's a

(50:05) it's an accelerator and you know we we've identified that that's you know 114 115 116 it's an element and you have to explain this stuff to guys that absolutely have minimal scientific background and just try that when you're dealing with stuff that's not even you know from the earth so how does it work I mean how does it work what you learned you you get a piece of it a triangle it's in and how does it really you just put the I I wish I had that model that to my car show me is it really okay
(50:44) you you you just put the the fuel in there you there's a there's a little cap that sits on top and then as soon as you put it yet nothing happens but as soon as you put the lid on it turns on there's no on switch yeah it's just it's like it attains resonance or something it just is on which makes you wonder how does it work on the craft because no one's taken the lid off because in the craft it sits on the ground and there's a conduit that sits over it and goes to the top of the craft so but it's not (51:14) clear how anything works in the craft and it generates gravity oh yeah yeah it generates its own graph artificial gravitational field and that lifts the craft off the ground we've had conversations in private about how this accounts for some UFO cases I mean it in effect achieves invisibility in the sense you could be Sanrio it yeah absolutely yeah because light it will bend it around there in it I'm sorry I didn't leave that I've dealt that pretty important observation when the craft was up I mean you could walk underneath and (51:54) look straight up and you can't see the craft until you step to the side and it becomes visible again it's quite it's quite amazing you know so it bent well it bends it bends like just like you know you can see on a hot roadway in the summertime how how heat would affect that coming off of you know but here your memorial situation and the way the shape of the gravitational field the artificial field around the craft if you look at that and then we're able to stand at different vantage points you can just look around
(52:31) it now this isn't something new we know this from you know looking at faraway stars if they call it gravitational lensing where a star might be over here but because we're looking around another star it bends light and you know but here again here is an artificial source a machine that does this and that's everything but yeah like I said all the science fiction things become reality this your invisibility cloak there's your you know impenetrable force field here's your field propulsion system and (53:03) you know here's your even beginning to tamper with you know potential time travel it occurs to you hey this could work not only in space but underwater maybe that's why the Navy's interested running the program I mean that it's odd admit that it's a u.s.
(53:19) Navy running the program out there you know that never occurred to me oh no I know I swear to this I never even thought about that thing operating under water I wonder how that would I guess I I don't know I know I mean yeah I don't understand why I wouldn't but they'd be interesting to see what the water does you had said I remember that I could barely get my pointy little head around it when we were first talking about this but that if somebody had one of these and were out in space and wanted to come to earth in essence they're not (53:53) propelling themselves toward earth it works differently right yeah yeah in fact the two modes that Kraft operated on are they labeled Delta and Omicron configuration Delta meaning using all three amplifiers and Omicron obviously meaning just one and the way the craft work is rid of my reactor here now I'm gonna draw really bad Flying Saucer so normally the you would have the three amplifiers hanging or the three emitters hanging down in Omicron mode a single one with slings swing sideways and you would have the other two sitting like
(55:01) that now what happens is the two that are facing straight down essentially act like a pedestal where they just keep the craft steady the one swung out to the side creates a gravitational distortion off the edge and these in Omicron configuration these things really fly unstable there they do not look like in any sort of high-tech technology it to give you an example if you put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and two feet away you take your fist and you push it down the bowling ball rolls towards it that's exactly how the craft
(55:47) operates it focuses the a single emitter and creates a gravity distortion essentially a divot and space-time and the craft rolls forward you know in the distortion so that's basically how the thing moves around so and this is opposed to our conventional propulsion whether you're using you know a jet a rocket a propeller we always take something and accelerate it out the back using the action-reaction principle and you know push forward and these guys are doing it exactly opposite they're creating a (56:22) distortion in front and tucking towards it when element 115 of course when you're talking about this stuff it did not exist we're still years away from it but you said you had told me in that first interview look we believe that there was an island of stability somewhere 115 116 somewhere in there and and you know maybe someday we'll be able to make it it didn't exist then but they've made it since tiny little piece as you said when that news happens out people say some people said aha bob was (56:49) right others people say aha Bob was wrong because this isn't 1:15 at all it doesn't behave anything like what you said there's not 500 pounds of it that's for sure so there's not 500 pounds I mean like they had up there no no obviously not and well lucky I mean you're talking about physical quantities and also you know atom quantities from fabricating it but yeah I mean the island of stability isn't something that we came up with I mean that's been theorized it's probably (57:19) the 50 said it you know it just looks like in the you know physical makeup or just the geometric stacking I guess of protons and neutrons it's certain combinations they're stable and other combinations they're not well it you know it looked like further up in the periodic chart why if we haven't ever had anything with 115 protons or something in that range it looks like that might become stable and you know that was actually in our minds when we're trying to identify as a boy this thing is off the charts you know is it

(57:53) are we looking at the island of stability and I'm beginning to get lost here well I was going with this the 114 that was synthesized oh yeah so the 115 again you know I think they what did they whack together calcium and I don't know bismuth or something like that but they did it they did a unique collision and accelerators and they made yeah a few atoms of it and they went this as you know 115 and it decayed now obviously this is a stable material but a different isotope yeah it's like I said there's you know we have hydrogen
(58:28) that's you know one on the Periodic Chart just like 115 is 115 as one proton 115 115 protons well there's hydrogen which is protium which we're all familiar with the hydrogen gas it's flammable it's stable it doesn't you know decay but there is you know two other isotopes of hydrogen there's still hydrogen still element one and you know when we call deuterium as two protons it's it's also stable but it's different it's heavier and there's another one called tritium which is (59:02) radioactive and it decays about half-life about 12 and a half years again they're different isotopes they have different numbers of neutrons they have same amount of protons so it's the same thing no doubt 115 has the God knows how many isotopes we know at least one is stable there's probably you know several that are unstable and you know again they if they keep playing around with it and I don't see why they wouldn't I'm sure they're gonna find a stable isotope and well idea of (59:34) anti-gravity propulsion I we've heard it from scientists odd guy does Lazar does know what he's talking about that's impossible violates this it violates that you've heard that you would dealt with it I mean yeah I'm was one of the guys that say it's violates this notice that before yeah yeah you would have said things about UFO people this can't be I mean you were pretty dismissive right which is the way I shouldn't be you know and I give a lot of people you know crap about that too because you
(1:00:04) know look if you're gonna if you cannot work in a scientific field you're gonna be a scientist and you know in any capacity the most important thing is to keep an open mind because you know look back in time they said you know 30 miles an hour is the fastest a human body can possibly take and that was written as a scientific fact I mean that's what aliens disbelieve then and they all agreed on it and you know how many other things we you know they said this is the way it is you cannot do that you know
(1:00:33) you have to keep an open mind it's like flying saucers I used to laugh at John Lear and have a good time of it I still do but that's a different story but you know but I have to give him credit you know he was talking about delay of flying saucers up at the area 51 really John you know I would be an adult now but you know there's a lot and as far as the technology yeah it violates a lot of what we know which concerns me because some of the things we know our laws and the reason we call them laws and not
(1:01:08) theories is because they've been verified time and time again you know with experimental proof and you know that's supposed to be cast in stone so you don't want to see anything that violates a law to see any aliens up there I know

several the people who submitted questions wanted to ask about aliens I mean the only you did see you know this came from yeah that now the diagram you want to call that seeing an alien the only other time and I know it's because this one incident I told that one time I was being led in and (1:01:43) dragged my hand across the craft we went in that door there's a corridor to the right and you immediately turned to go to the labs well as you turn to the right there's a door and it has a small you know window on it that has the little wires running through it I peeked in there as we turn the corner and that's when I saw I told you this before there were two guys there and a little tiny thing that they were looking down at you know and and I just walked by told to keep my eyes forward and you know I think I told gene that and a
(1:02:18) couple other people as well you probably saw it well not the gene said that but you know what you probably saw an alien or whatever I don't think that was the case I think even to this day I think they they had a little doll or something because they were trying to find out you know whatever size creature would fit in the craft and you know they were recognized to term the kids did you ever hear the term the kids yeah and that's referring to the creatures that ran the craft so they called them the kids
(1:02:47) wherever these yeah craft came from but you never got an answer how we got them no that was just incidental talking that you know so had nothing to do with me you you know you've heard all the stuff over the years they of those who don't believe your story they believe you're either making it up or it's disinformation that you're working for them out there that spread in the story not now so you're making it up no sorry make it up no really no I'm sorry that's way too much for me to handle
(1:03:19) no really I don't and I know I look a lot of people are into you know UFO stuff and I just kind of exploded on to the scene and said hey I don't follow UFOs I don't follow reports I don't know who's researching what I don't know the names of people involved and but on the other hand you know I know people make their living doing this sort of thing and you know I just pop in one day and say hey this happened to me I did this and this and this but you know I'm out I'm not part of this I can understand
(1:03:53) how that can interfere with their you know income stream or their belief system or whatever and they need to attack me but like I'm sorry this what I said happened absolutely happen period that's it you know I've been speaking about you for a long time a couple times a year I'll go explain the story from my perspective and and defend you because it deserves to be defended and I believe the story as it's been told but you know you go out there and you hear all kinds of crazy theories about what you're
(1:04:34) doing and who you work for and everything and and there are those who have a lot of trouble with it I can understand that look if the tables were reversed I honestly could not say I would believe my story look there's not enough I can't provide enough information and so in some cases won't to you know to back up my story and you know if the tables were reversed I I have to take that other side and go look unless you can you know provide more proof it's I just can't say that you know I'm behind it and I have to agree
(1:05:11) with that so why did things go south for you seems like the scientists dream to work on a program like this why in the world would you walk away from that or tell anybody else about it do you were you picked because they figured you would tell somebody about it no I mean that that doesn't make any sense well I mean well what happened was I mean it was kind of more of a personal nature between my wife and I at that time now it's not like I had a nine-to-five job and they said you know come out at these hours it was it was
(1:05:44) really a sketchy setup that they would call me the place that EG&G by the airport what what was that I was on Sunset Road yeah I think it was called something I can't remember anyway they would call me and say you know it's now 8:45 by 9:15 we expect you to be you know at the building and and board the craft and you know the airplane or about the guys yeah so it would be at a moment's notice like that well and I was so really thrilled to be part of this project I was keeping with the whole program like I couldn't talk to my wife
(1:06:26) you know it's look I'm working at at the test site there it's on I said some secret nuclear stuff you know and that's it but again I get calls in the middle of the night she can't hear who they are and I said I gotta go it's work you have to go to work at eight o'clock at night you may not be back you know until the middle of the night in the morning I said yeah that's just the way it goes and that happens

you know time and time again and you know if the phone picks up and you
(1:06:53) know my wife picks it up they hang up you know and you know until so then they call back I pick up the phone yeah it's Bob here and okay two hours I'll be there well after a while that seems like something else in fact maybe not after a while but pretty quick and you know I mean it's something I could laugh at now but it it was not funny then and you know I kept with the program never said anything to her and you know she thought I was having an affair and yeah you know as time went on going back and forth she
(1:07:36) she really didn't have a job or anything to do so I started since I was making money from here now I got her flying lessons down at McCarran Airport and to give her something you know to do and anyway she started having an affair with a flight instructor so you know I had no knowledge of this but you know part of the requirements of the project and the security requirements really were to have my phone monitored now I'm going back and forth to work and now they are listening to this affair progress on the (1:08:17) phone that I know nothing about and you know one of the things one of the main things is that you be you know mentally and vision is stable and they're really concerned about that so it reached a point one day where they didn't call and they were kind of in a quandary at that point go and they you know what are we gonna do with Lazarre we got to see it either this you know affair fizzles out or they break up or whatever so you know I just stopped coming and I stopped getting the calls I called Dennis I don't get
(1:08:55) returned calls and you know days are going by and you know now Tracy's going back and forth and flying and doing stuff she's busy all the time because you know she's got a boyfriend and you know I beginning to get now beginning to get really concerned I mean these guys are so over the top of security and you know we want to know everybody that knows this material we want to know where they are 24 hours a day so on and so forth so they're not even calling me what's going on and so I started getting
(1:09:24) concerned and it reached a point where I don't know where the breaking point was but I I think it I'm pretty sure was Jean Hough the first you know a guy that you know I talked to and and said you know kind of spilled my guts hey look this is what I've been doing out there and you know told Tracy to and hey let's go see him yeah well I had also had mine or skip went over lots of stuff but I had there were you know charts of the test flight days and which days that they were going to go over the mountain
(1:10:00) and do that what they call high performance tests so those days statistically on that Highway they went by the lowest number of travelers was on a Wednesday night so Wednesday night I think 8 o'clock was like the test night so it's I I knew how long they were gonna be in there I know all that stuff just from memory so I told these guys that this is gonna be an unbelievable story but this is what I've been doing you know I can go out there and show you guys but I'm starting to get concerned that they don't like me anymore for some
(1:10:29) reason and I'm just gonna like disappear so I just want somebody else to see what I had done in case I'm just gone one day and at least you guys have a story so we go out there take everybody and you know the story we Wow ditz yeah eight o'clock did everything happens like I said and you know it lands and then you know now it finally hits Tracy oh my god he wasn't having an affair and so you know she breaks off the affair reason you know and it is just a giant mess it's embarrassing yeah but I mean it is the (1:11:08) human side of the story that yeah but the other human side as I alluded to it in my talk is that there's stuff that happened to you in that period after after they caught you the third time they went out they got caught and so they want to talk to you and that they're very upset Denis in particular the guy Kelly yeah so they want to talk to you and then a whole series of really bad things start happening share with us a little bit about what that period was like was it's hard to it's hard to convey it and that (1:11:37) it was really going on but it was real yeah I was the well I guess it started when we got caught you know and we got caught that time I can't quite remember which time that happened but you know we had we had gone out again with the test flight data at two times and been there on Wednesday night and gene huff and we had an ever-increasing amount of people that we began to trust to go out there and which was getting really ridiculous I think we've brought a motor home out there parked out on the road because

little cocky and thinking of why they can't see us so we're out there and you know gene and I kind of joke around sometimes and say stupid stuff you know pretending that someone's out there listening so we're sitting out there on the dirt road that that's flight time is coming up we're sitting leaning on the front of the car and you know I it's Jean or says something to the effect as well I hope they out there they don't (1:12:50) realize that we've got those other 150 you know team members out back with you know automatic weapons and everything and we're getting ready to storm the base and I said they can't possibly know about guys you know and so right after we said that not now it's pitch black it's you can't see your hand in front of your face not 50 feet in front of us who saw a little green thing fall on the ground and rolled to us and everybody in there what and as it turned out there were a whole bunch of guys standing there in
(1:13:21) the dark watching us through night vision scopes and after I said that a guy dropped one and it rolled over to us so they they turn on you know turn on the lights okay everybody come with us and you know that I told the story about the break in the car I mean they I remember going to your house after a break-in yeah you had to shout you're ready to shoot somebody and then the break-in at the car at the gym that stuff really happened it was really going on oh yeah that was with Mario the guy it was a truck driver now he was
(1:13:55) going to and we were just working out at a local gym near us and I was it this is it probably a highest paranoia stage and I had a you know and Uzi and the the front and you know Mario and I got to the place and I said okay it's loaded here we're safe to go outside and we open the car doors we closed them and we may even make a joke about it we locked the doors we try and open them okay okay the cars secure we go in there and you know joking you think we'll be safe for half an hour and yeah I think we can do
(1:14:31) it and we you know we come walking out there's all the doors drunks open the is laying out there and my wallet you know and we just looked at each other this is impossible you know but yeah that had happened Mario's tells that story probably every day you at some point you decided to talk to me you know we did that interview in silhouette I can't quite remember why what that how that happened there was just too much going on but yeah I know at some point and that was really again Lear was making a
(1:15:00) big deal he started naming off the people that he knew that suddenly disappeared and he said you know unless you talk to this guy George Knapp you know and if you go out on the air they all you know they'll be afraid to talk to you I said I'm not afraid to do anything you know it's but I called you anyway or he did and then it kind of hits the fan they're really mad at him and then that's when a lot of really bad stuff started happening and then we we decided to record an interview just for (1:15:28) safekeeping in case something happened to him so it was a couple of hours on tape and I under the condition that I wouldn't use that until Bob said okay it was eight months eight months until we got the okay and I worked on him every day to talk him into allowing me to use it and tell the story assuming he was still alive and on the day that we were to bready to broadcast it it was part six of a nine part report Bob suddenly changes his mind and grabs the video talk because you were gonna say Who I was yeah yeah we're getting ready to (1:15:57) identify him I'm worth 10 minutes from going on the air he's we're wrestling over the tape he didn't as a UFO profiteer and messiah coming forward and making up stories he was a very reluctant witness I can tell you you're regretting I mean we heard a little bit of it at times you certainly regret it because it's you know my life yeah it has it but it's not good no I mean that's what's kind of entertaining to me people you know they come oh I made up some story abut you're making all kinds
(1:16:31) of money on there where does where I want my cut but no I and you know to be honest I did have I did have the opportunity I mean new line Studios in Columbia you know when they heard all this I mean they've president at Columbia Pictures came down and yeah you're here right yeah and yeah you say we're doing this and you know and they started giving me screenplays and I know you know you know they've - it was a James Bond movie they had me running over the tops of cars it's like look India tell the story how it happened or (1:17:07) just or leave me out and just make up a UFO story but you you can't it has to be exactly what happened and so it was just constantly everything being turned down it's like you know what we're not doing it I had mentioned before about me going out and doing presentations about you and one of the things always said is that Bob doesn't show up at UFO events he's not cashing in on it there's nothing wrong with those who do if you can make some money at it more power to you because it fuels the research but

(1:17:34) you've never done that before that's not the case anymore why did you decide to come here okay well I really didn't you know I got here yeah I know I'm here but now I know a lot of people mentioned you know a 20 look there's this big you and I have never been to a UFO convention I mean I thought they were like Star Trek conventions people walking around with antennas and stuff but you know I didn't want to be have any part of that and you know what the people that arranged this in you and know this is a class thing
(1:18:11) just come down as 25 years once in your life just say something and I you know I well everything I've said has already been said either on the internet and why would anyone even care to just hear it again so I finally just said okay fine just to stop you from hassle [Applause] but it really didn't end there and that was just a moment of weakness and then about you know about a and one of the reasons why is because it was like two or three months away so I just yeah February I'm fine wave whatever you want
(1:18:57) to do and then and then anyway a few weeks went by and it kind of hit me that one day that dates going to come around and I you know I was more than that maybe it was uh you know three or four weeks or something like that so anyway I I called them back here and I said not you know I'm really thinking about not doing that and I'm sorry and you know I told my wife and George and you know and I really didn't realize there were those many people that were interested and you know they said you can't back out you
(1:19:31) know we've been advertising there's gonna be a lot of people here and you know that's and I said you've got 15 or 50 speakers or something it's just one less that's gonna be here but seriously you don't recognize so you don't understand that people are so interested in seeing you and hearing from you doesn't register well not no but I appreciate that I do but um I mean in that you know they made that clear aside from the fact that they sue me if I didn't tell her and I said it's a nice
(1:20:00) way yeah so I I will go so I am here well the fact that you said that you would do it because I keep pestering you I take that no I know so I did you know I I did give him my word I do it and it's not like I'm you know it's too bad well I'm no problem you know when you look at you heard my presentation about how far this story has traveled how many industries and businesses it is launched the extra-terrestrial highway that's from you Vegas 51s baseball team and they feel boy people jumped capitalizing
(1:20:35) on it really really quickly when you say area 51 mentioned in movies and some Tom Hanks movie or you know the Independence Day or something it's it's overwhelming yeah I guess it's it's hard for me to grasp you know it's almost it's I don't know how to describe it so this the experience here so far has been pretty good for you might you do it again or might you open up a little bit or open there's nothing else that's the whole stuff a it could be another okay let's carve you got a
(1:21:09) leg list of names that I hate you haven't Bea even me yet no I mean look I believe me I could really make it easy to verify a bunch of things and I do not want to do that at all it would prefer people don't buy the story because it makes my day-to-day life has nothing to do with UFOs and being the UFO guy is a big problem it's hard to get contracts and be you know taken seriously and I you know I don't want the last thing I want is you know a movie coming out or something like that it would be a
(1:21:44) catastrophe well be a great movie if they made it right well I don't know you know it was amazing no you're so a couple years ago there's the story about this Russian spy that was killed by use of polonium and they called me or any network people want to do a story yet see who where can we get polonium and they find online oh here's a guy who sells it it's Bob Lazar yeah yeah they are at the house that's the first day but do you get stopped I mean to you you know got people stop you on
(1:22:15) the rug I know you get emails and phone calls well emails you know people asking you know questions that you know that really aren't up on you know the topic at all it said you know has anyone tried to you know duplicate one of these the crafts well you know that was the whole aim of the project there and but you know they're just hearing that there's a guy that might have worked on flying saucers and you know this is his email address but by the way I'm not on Facebook there's these guys that pretend to be me

(1:22:44) and I keep getting these emails a thanks for friended me on Facebook on what are you talking about well it's I think this is our time we're up I've been asking questions from the submitted by folks including in this and you know I think that people are just excited to hear it directly from you tell the story and again I certainly understand why people would have a hard time believing it but I do yeah it really is it really is it really happened yeah yeah exactly that way [Applause] I want to thank you thank you all for (1:23:28) coming and hope you enjoyed the conversation with Bob and maybe I can pester him into doing this again sometime thank you very much

(00:08) well as far as the alien bible i don't know what you're really talking about some of the briefings that i read dealt with some of the information about uh you know as being the product of a genetic modification right but that's about all that's about all that i know repercussions the big story all that and all that i really have an idea about well i meant like you mentioned a date when they were supposed to return is something supposed to happen when they return i have no idea it was just a date
(00:38) and uh it was it was a number that made no sense to me it was a 601 or 300 something you know obviously in a different numerical system and so other than having created this and then the genetic upgrades because that's it as far as supposedly if that information is correct uh i'm interested a little bit more about the physics of the power generation from the development of the antimatter to [Music] to the gravity a wave and amplification and that process of the generation of that and being able to follow space
(01:22) that's a pretty lengthy explanation in other words the relationship between the development of the antimatter and the gravitational force field well it's i can give you i guess a brief overview of essentially how that works if you want an in-depth description of that you can give me your address and i can send you a paper on it essentially what the reactor does is provide electrical power and the base gravity wave to amplify and it does that by interacting matter and antimatter essentially the way it does that is (02:04) injecting an accelerated proton into a piece of 115 that spontaneously generates any hydrogen essentially that's reacted in a a small area it's a compressed gas probably compressed atmospheric gas and the antimatter reacting with matter produces the energy mainly heat energy and that is converted into electrical energy by a thermionic generator that appear to be 100 efficient which is you know a difficult concept to believe anyway uh also the reactor has two functions that's one of them the other function is (02:46) it provides the basic gravity wave that's amplified and that appears at the upper sphere of the amplifier itself and that's tapped off with a waveguide similar to microwaves and uh is amplified and focused essentially essentially without wires and i related it to almost a tesla setup it seemed like each subcomponent on the craft was attuned to the frequency that the reactor was operating at so essentially the amplifiers themselves receive the electrical energy like a tesla coil transmits power to uh you know
(03:30) fluorescent two and uh what was the rest of the question what is the relationship between i think that's you basically answered yeah that's that's how the amplifiers receive the power through the waveguide to receive the basic wave it's almost it's very very similar to a microwave amplifier and uh you know for more technical description and i can send you drawings or things along those lines but that's basically how it works i understand you took someone 115 home with you to uh do some testing on your own
(04:05) i obtained it yeah did you document any of your testing yeah you did yeah the video mostly video tape and things like that john said it was stolen from you later last night he said they stole it back he said well there's another level to that but like i said right now it's in private hands okay element 115 um john said last night that a piece a wedge that's about two inches in length on the ship up to 30 years how does that go in like well it really depends on the energy level though the more energy you expend

(04:45) the uh you know greater consumption of fuel just like in any any modern machine so it really really all depends on the amount of energy you requested does dr keller's relationship ask for do you think he might be working on antimatter weaponry i don't know but he was certainly uh i forgot what his exact title was he was chief consultant or something along those lines and as far as any amount of weaponry i don't i don't think anyone was involved in that certainly some beam weapon work and you know teller has (05:21) been involved with that i think his last project livermore los alamos was um i think he called it super excalibur and that was essentially a uh nuclear bomb detonated in orbit and fiber optic light guides that directed x-rays to uh incoming warheads and uh that's his pet project he loves that thing so i don't think he jumped to uh any matter weapon all the way in the back there you think was on uh three and where was the bathroom i don't know if anything was on level well i don't know if there were any
(05:59) bathrooms on level three i can only guess and i would imagine that there was some sort of navigational equipment or their version of a computer or something along those lines because i saw nothing else that uh controlled the uh the amplifiers the directions they pointed at bob how do you perceive that mankind can develop this title for rashima uh i really don't i really don't without access to certain materials or maybe new manufacturing techniques that can produce those but until those problems are solved you know the fact
(06:36) that we even know how to how to deal with it or even duplicate it uh you know it's pretty useless how many other materials might be necessary uh besides 115 that you know that we're contained on the ship that might be it but the rest of it might be just uh essentially polishing out manufacturing techniques making things smaller you know just general increase in technology getting a a small accelerator running at a higher energy level i don't know about the metallurgy aspect of the craft i don't
(07:10) think any exotic metals are necessary though they may be employed i don't i imagine you could make a craft out of aluminum if necessary but uh what part that plays i i don't know is there any significance to the saucer shape the geometry having to do with any resonance or anything of that nature not any resonance but it's important most of the edges on the craft are rounded because a high voltage feel does appear at most of the craft except for the upper the last upper bump there's a little ring before that now i'm only talking
(07:41) about one craft so i don't know about the rest but there's a small ring before that a darker black one and that's an insulator ring and that's the only place above that that upper section the third level is where high voltage does not appear did any technology that came from the aliens resemble anything that we can do today but we advance to any degree that they are well there are some basic things the fact that they're using a little accelerator with smaller you know we have things like that if that's what
(08:15) you're getting at anything really advanced uh well as far as controlling gravity waves yeah other than the fact that just the way the craft operates you know by manipulating gravity that's that's about it really so i'm going to ask you talking about metal version what you observed in terms of uh the structure the skin of it thickness because you know there were reports from roswell other where that there was a very thin type of metal skin that was really undamageable and so on what was this construction
(08:57) well i called it metal and uh i really can't say that's what it was i called it metal because i slid my hand across it and it was cold and it was semi you know lustrous so did you notice any place like where you're on an edge or something where it may have been a lot thinner than your standard metal or balloon aircraft it's hard from the outside you can't tell when you walk in the way the the way the archways are inside they're probably about uh four inches thick anyway so you really can't tell
(09:28) how thin the uh the skin is itself or if it's exotic yes more on this element 115 and your contention that it couldn't be made here on earth what if we found the right bombardment speed the right target shape and the right containment well i imagine with enough time you can make a small amount of it i mean my analogy is look at uh you know look at how long it takes to make gold an accelerator from bismuth or something like that um that may just be a technology that hasn't advanced far enough right but the bottom line is you have to (10:09) sit there and plug in protons and neutrons with that matter into an existing atom and you have to do it you know essentially on an individual basis and they're not all going to catch on and so we're going to but how did how do you think they got their first piece of it if it was in a dead star how uh going from i think it was naturally occurring somewhere on their just because it's stable yeah probably some that's just a guess on my part but uh you know if that technology was harnessed quick enough (10:43) chances are they didn't have uh you know when they came here our levels of technology were probably fairly new to them they've probably never even considered an internal combustion engineer for that matter you know when they came flying into the atmosphere and saw a little cigar shaped things with fire coming out the back they probably couldn't conceive of how they were powered so it was uh you know it just all depends how you know what materials raw materials you have but you know that's just an opinion that

(11:10) that was a natural agreement as of the time that i was there i was told that they didn't they really didn't take them any great distance at all other than right outside uh if we had a working agreement with the aliens at one time um why didn't they give us a user's manual for these shifts why have we had to work for hardback engineering i uh the slightest idea with any of the technology i i really don't know you know it almost seems like there has been some assistance or some information found but
(11:54) but who knows your information yeah uh with such tight security around there's supposedly only 500 pounds of this material how is it somebody can get some of it out of this because some of them not some of the material the material is that they have there is essentially raw the material is it has to be machined into disks these discs have to be stacked up and then cut into a cone shape and then sliced [Music] along the long axis of it that work is done at los alamos i don't i'm not exactly sure no loss
(12:32) almost knows what they're doing uh apparently they think that they're developing the little coins they're working on is some new type of armor and uh having worked at los alamos and no people around that area that's i obtained some of it can you say anything about project looking glass and relationship between gravity and time well gravity and time are almost essentially the same thing and looking glass dealt with using gravity essentially to distort time and as i've said before i really know very (13:07) little about that but you know they're only talking talking about milliseconds or even less microseconds of time distortion they're not like looking back in time to see who killed kennedy or something the uh the crap that you are you talking about the scout craft is that the one that's like the damn ski picture with the three domes underneath and if it's not i'm not exactly sure what the dam's okay this is this is the one that uh looks like a my one of the mirecraft did you see any others than that one or is there
(13:44) nine up there yeah i saw nine total but that's the only one i got close enough to do you see one of the three domes underneath that uh three balls underneath that has the central housing underneath and then the second question was um did anybody give you any indication as to who was driving or any information on that i assume that it was humans that were violating the craft so it could have been remote control but at the one test flight that i saw on the ground uh they were in radio communication with someone and i assumed it was someone in (14:15) the craft i mentioned it's possible that it could have been a remote observer somewhere but uh and i just assumed that the seats were retrofitted or they were sitting on the floor for that matter are you familiar with a couple uh aspects of the question are you familiar with howard menger's electrocraft and uh otis cars saucer design and how are those how are their devices how do they generate their gravity fields and compared with what you've described and lastly can you can you speculate how the why the commercialization of some of (14:55) these crafts hasn't been possible with so many different patents applied for these kinds of design because they don't work are there any g-forces encountered by the products inside the crack no no um from your interviews you seem to feel that the area 51 or the escort test site was kind of slip shot and how it how it does its research it really doesn't have the facilities there to actually do the research correctly and also i wonder could you comment about that and also i'm wondering what you can tell us about (15:31) the other types of ships you saw there that you thought were alien in origin well the as far as the research at s4 that was kind of slip shot just because mainly it was being done from a military point of view if anything it was a weapons development program and they were more concerned about duplicating the technology

not really duplicating the technology duplicating the hardware as opposed to back engineering the technology to find out how these theories actually work and you know what's going on with them and (16:08) so they really weren't taking the scientific approach and that was causing some dissension uh i don't remember the second part of the question um just what other types of ships did you see that might have been alien in origin i only saw them and they buried in shape and i was told they had the same identical power and propulsion system and that's the extent of my knowledge on them they vary completely in shape well they really didn't talk about the aliens uh the only time i ever heard anybody mention anything about an alien someone
(17:05) and i'm just assuming that someone called it or called the thing a gourd and that was that was it i heard it in the middle of a conversation and they stopped talking when i got up so how about consoles or displays nothing along those lines but what i call the console there are three seats if you look at the bottom level there's a three amplifiers in a triad formation directly above each one is something i call a console and i think that's a secondary part to the amplifier and an analogy to that would be that would be
(17:53) the actual amplifier and the thing hanging underneath would kind of be a speaker if you're talking on audio terms not that i could find did it seem like there was any place or even a need for a life support i have the slightest idea how they navigate you know like i said i think if that uh whatever controls the configuration the amplifiers the focusing which is basically their their navigation is most probably on the upper level of the craft that i didn't get the look out of and as far as a conversation between them my (18:44) your guess is as good as mine was the local means of propulsion the same as this uh across great space differences what was the local means the local means of propulsion is essentially them balancing on an out-of-phase gravity wave and it's not as stable as you would think when the craft took off it wobbled to some degree it's uh i mean a modern day hawker harrier or something along those lines a vertical takeoff craft is much more stable than them in the omicron configuration which is that that mode of (19:24) travel the delta configuration is where they use the three amplifiers and uh that's those are the only two methods i i know about removing the crowd can one pilot as far as you know pilot this uh craft or does it take three or do you know anything about that i don't know i wanted it back in the red yeah was that stable does it give off the radiation no it's stable yeah theoretically elements should reach a stability around anywhere from 113 to 116 somewhere in there and apparently that's true and again they
(20:03) should reach a stability somewhere up around 220 some odd but uh you know whether those elements will ever be synthesized or found naturally yeah it's unusually heavy yeah the monuments of mars and do you think we have faces also do i think we have bases now uh the monuments of mars are interesting that's about the most i can say it's if they're suspicious and uh you know i really don't know until there's more information you know i've seen pictures of them and things along those lines but the most recent mars
(20:45) probe is taking uh low altitude photographs of those so i guess everyone will know in about a year indirectly yeah what about your perception of time and length and height is it the same aboard the crap that's off of it why do you want to board compared to it well as long as you're on the craft everything seems completely normal your time flows at a normal rate and if you're off the craft and you're comparing the time of someone in the crowd coming off the crap there'll be a definite difference there anything where (21:30) gravity is involved you know even the shuttle astronauts they'll come back just because of the difference in gravity when they come back they're uh you know there'll be a slight difference in time did you learn of any other well-known civilian scientists who are involved in this uh yes not not involved in this but involved in the gravity work and he's at los alamos and we've had a little bit of contact i'd rather not just because so far no one's bothering him and i'm sure he wants to keep (22:20) no no there's only one one place where the seats faced and it uh you know there again i said that's advanced technology but it's not that advanced because you know we have something along the lines of that liquid crystal that we could you know make transparent and also use as uh you know a display of sorts so that's uh but this was metallic and we haven't anything along the lines of the toughness of you know metal that you could drill into that can become transparent about 30 seconds or so we have two related questions

(23:01) are you aware of any instances where the inside of an alien craft is much larger than its outside no i've heard stories like that though but i haven't uh if i just followed up the strong force that you've identified with gravity a i know i've missed in recent theories actually in the 11th dimensional universe i'm not saying that does it operate on any principle related to that yeah my main problem with that and stephen hawking for that matter is that once you start creating other dimensions it's like an excuse i mean in particle
(23:39) physics they do that too when they can't figure out something they say well you know we don't know gravity as well it's caused by the uh the graviton yeah they make up particles like that and you can do that with dimensions too where'd it go i want to do another dimension yeah it's like an excuse the bottom line is you know as everyone has said every physicist has said the answer to everything is always simple and it's there's not an 11-dimensional universe it does first of all there
(24:03) doesn't need to be because all this technology works you know one dimensional essentially a four-dimensional universe and and uh you know there's there's no need for it [Applause] across the lake no i've never been over there baba getting back to his question about if there is any difference between being on the inside of a craft well it's under power versus being on the outside of a craft of course you wouldn't experience that because you weren't you were never on the craft when it was powered right under power
(25:01) well by the fact that the screen became transparent and other things were operational i can assume that it was there was some power generated okay bob how long were you a part of the s4 project and how key of a person were you on the science team i was probably there only six months four months something like that it's hard to remember as far as a key person i'm sure i was the last wrong on the ladder [Music] though because no one has really gotten anywhere you know they were looking to me for fresh ideas which i really didn't have (25:42) any anything because i didn't know what really was going on or where they had been so uh it was a very disorganized group and that's that's really all i can relay i don't know i don't know how else to describe it it was frustrating in that regard it's very frustrating 115 does it have mission models does it have a mission lines spectral i mentioned it does every other element does yeah that you know that well i haven't seen you know any spectrographic analysis on it or uh well actually
(26:17) they did do i don't know if i if i saw it though i saw a neutron bombardment test and density measurements and things like that but i i'm sure they carried out that that test on it but i wouldn't be able to identify the alliance no you're not aware of the results you know they probably showed them to me but i can't for the life i may remember after four years uh in possibly in heavier stars or in you know planets that uh so you know surround the larger star system and uh in fact some people brought up that
(26:56) some people brought up that you know that's that's ridiculous because you know all the elements that we know of are found on earth and that's you know that's not true i think it's a technium or something along those lines is only is not found on earth and it's on the periodic charts [Music] and they mapped it out in the south of france they looked back and looked and it has to fall where the natural belt of uranium is there and i was wondering if you know you had anything that would lead you from what you saw with that (27:38) propulsion system to think that aliens may have come here at one time to do that i don't know i mean no matter what uranium is certainly a valuable right you know element uh i don't know did you get to see any aliens at all no in fact when you talk about you know what's strange about the billy meyer photographs that the discs that one of the ones he took a picture of looks exactly like the one that i looked on but yeah i'm certainly not an expert in the field but some of those look unbelievably fake
(28:40) and i can't especially the thing with it flying around the tree i mean boy it looks like it's hanging from a string you know but why would he do that if he had some authentic pictures and uh i don't know i i have mixed feelings about that how do you feel about our do you have an opinion of this conflict that allegedly happened between gray's and the delta force and what was it 89 or whatever the great thing about that i really don't really have an opinion i just you know repeat it do you think it really took place (29:10) why i don't know yeah apparently there's one but i was involved in the project that dealt with it and what's your next video well it's really not a next video there's the video that i made is being redone by another company only because they liked it so much and uh they're just redoing the uh graphics and making a little more technical and you know i'm just serving as a technical advisor on it but for the most part it's 60 to 70 percent of it's you know the identical thing they just uh wanted to do it

(29:46) because this particular group of guys uh involved i think companies call dreamquest involved in uh special effects we're really into the ufo thing and they wanted to do it with modern day stuff instead of you know knit stockings and things like that well it's certainly possible you know i don't i don't have any information on that but just by the emp generated you know by the systems on the craft that makes perfect sense to me i'm going to ask you what kind of type of weapon do they have it's some sort of directed energy weapon
(30:21) and i think it's a like a laser beam well no a particle probably a neutron how many levels there might be two but i know there's one because obviously i was on one but uh i can't actually remember if anyone if there's any direct mention from there there being a lower level but i really wasn't allowed to roam freely around the whole place so i don't know i really don't know could you tell us about your education a couple of different things that varies widely [Laughter] i as far as electronic technology my (31:12) degree there is from caltech and physics is from mit what did did you go to pierce college yeah i did okay where did you hear that a friend said something that you know somebody i don't even know i i just thought well something i want to ask because yeah i went to pierce and northridge and then uh you know i'm terrible at dates i don't remember what date i was at probably like in 76 or something i was at pierce and then 70 seven or eight i went to northridge just for short time for some classes i was at caltech and
(31:52) then mit after that yeah some critics have suggested that there is not a department of naval intelligence as shown on your w your irs record i wonder if you could address that yeah i've heard people say that before but the bottom line is if you uh and i've let other people check into that bob explorer is a guy that managed to trace that down through the irs and if you write the zip code number on the bottom of it or nc-101 or something like that or etsy something anyway it gets to it gets to somewhere in the navy
(32:30) you know as far as if there's a department of there i don't know but uh you know that's that's the w-2 that i got sent so well that same person was saying the zip code that was on there was someone that was in reserve unused in washington that was unused yeah well now he had he had uh correspondence with someone in the navy through that address i'm not talking about bob excellent talking about bill moore oh bill moore i don't i don't know milmore i know he's gonna dig in himself yeah
(33:04) that was his point i guess he disputes everything i said he said well there's two different types on here and this and i said well you know i don't know so uh you know that's basically what i get sent and uh you know i've seen enough information where that zip code works and uh that's all the information i have and i haven't pursued it selling but maybe clarify for them why you think this is a legitimate document because of the certain elements that are correct well because of the amount of money right no
(33:32) one would know the amount of money except me and that was correct um that's all the information i've got i have two questions uh they're not related to each other but one is are they silent or noiseless and b who signed your paychecks as far as are they silent or noiseless um there's a slight hiss before they take off and up to a certain altitude and that sounds like a high voltage hiss of sorts uh that's all the sounds that i've heard i've heard lots of reports about you know weird flying saucer type
(34:11) sounds but uh you know i've never encountered that um who signed my paycheck there was a signature on it but i don't know you know whose it was i never even you know the time that i catch the paycheck that never even concerned me tracing anything now so there wasn't a company name up in the corner like this paychecks well when i worked for the federal government years ago all you know is a green treasury check there would be no other papers with it or anything from the department of treasury no this is the department of naval (34:42) intelligence on on a check yeah okay thank you bob a craft like that comes into our atmosphere would you expect a loud report that might be well it's solely dependent on the velocity that it enters so if uh you're dealing with something that manipulates gravity and doesn't have to slingshot into the earth uh you know you could come in at a low speed not heat up not not really encountering philosophy right well yeah if you're trying to supersonic then you get a report if you're not you don't you know it's (35:15) pretty straightforward uh when you were at a sport to your knowledge what was the approximate percentage of civilian versus military personnel and what kind of uh job categories the civilian personnel were scientific in nature and the military personnel were only security as far as the percentage it was a small percentage of scientific to military personnel there i'm sure there were offices all over the place but when i came into the facility i was essentially escorted right to where i work and worked there other than the few amount of times that

(35:55) i got to walk into the hangar and under an escort too and when i left it was the same so like i said there might be offices there might be bunkers in there there might be underground levels there might be an alien nest in there i haven't you know excuse me how did you eat how did you eat the only place i ever ate was at area 51.
(36:18) so if there was a cafeteria there i never got to eat him i usually came with dennis mariana he was my supervisor now i wasn't on a full-time swing essentially i flew in usually between three and or between four and five o'clock at night and left by eleven so i was only there for a short time each day rob aboard the bus from groom lake to papoose how many people were on that reporting with you very few more than one more than yourself that's me and dennis and usually like well actually not usually occasionally one other person how about
(36:56) barry i don't think i were so barry on the west just two of you is there a chance that any of the workers might defect yeah barry would that's why i spent some time trying to get a hold of him and there was actually some time after all this hit the news and the whole thing went down we got a call from dennis my supervisor and he arranged a meeting at the union plaza hotel and when we got there i brought three people with me and i think he said he'd be in the casino area somewhere and we went back gene
(37:29) huff came with me and [Music] we went into the area and walking down the corridor i recognized one of the security personnel from there and then when i finally found dennis he didn't even acknowledge my presence couldn't get his attention and you know i left so apparently someone had known of the conversation and sent someone down there and made themselves obvious to dennis or something happened and we left but i think that was uh where dennis really wanted to say something i understand that you used hypnotic
(38:04) progression to get at some of the details of your experience if so what is your impression of hypnotic aggression as a tool it's probably reasonable because there are specifics they contend that you can sit there and re-read a document as if you had as if you were there reading it for the first time and uh what i was mainly interested was in some of the schematics and drawings and uh you know i did some of the hypnosis stuff with lane keck had no therapist in town and i was certainly able to redraw a lot of the (38:41) schematics and you know engineering drawings along those lines and it's uh so as far as using is that a tool for that that seems to work for anything else i have two two things one's a common the other one's a question uh first of all um when i was 12 years old i i saw a daylight flying disc which looked exactly like one of billy meyer's photographs 15 years later and uh and this just earlier no earlier 15 years earlier i saw this disc and then billy meyer took a photo in 1975 with the same exactly the same disc that i saw so
(39:26) down to the last detail it's the same and then you said that the sport model looked a lot like the same photo in a interview with georgetown and i thought that was really interesting because it kind of tied it all together for me and then uh just i just wanted to make that comment and then the question i had was uh what was the year of your graduation from mit and did you have a phd no it's a master's degree the year what was the year graduation probably probably 82 because i think i left there went to los alamos i went to los alamos
(40:12) is there can you talk about the mind control that some people said was used on you when you decided to leave muscle with friends what mind control didn't happen someone made the comment when i was first brought there they had a doctor or a nurse actually in uh political medical setup there and right after i had signed all the release papers and my first time out there i went in and they did what i perceived to be an allergen test because i put a grid on my arm and different you know particularly different chemicals and (40:53) you know it was their convention that well there's a lot of strange elements here and unusual things you'll be working on so they're trying to see if you're gonna have any adverse reaction to them and uh i was given something to drink i i said it smelled like pine uh which it did you know that's the best way i can describe it and a lot of people jumped on that saying aha well that's the mind control substance when you leave work you're gonna forget everything when you come back you can (41:18) remember everything but you know i think if anything it was an anti-allergen drug or something along those lines how about the threats being used yeah threats how many can you feel like bodily harm or loss of pension or what kind of stuff you know jail time that was part of signing the paperwork as far as bodily harm after they caught us the time i brought out john lear and a couple other people up there then they threatened me and uh they really didn't get much reaction out of that then they threatened my wife at the time and uh

(41:51) you know that uh they really threw out everything they could without physically you know attacking well that's what i was wondering once i knew it was bill you not dennis or someone else or anything why didn't they just arrest you under charges of you know violating the app well they can't arrest me because they have to admit you know that this is classified material yeah they have to release it you know why did they you know kill me uh you know that i really don't know so maybe that had to do with uh how i got (42:23) the job or you know referencing the connection to that teller or something along those lines but i don't know were there any contractor names departments divisions that were mentioned or signs on the wall or anything like that referring to any companies or anything like that no but i know eg had nothing to do with it that's the only light i can on that because uh i had mentioned that to him once because that's where i was interviewed at the eg building and i thought that it was part of an egmg project and i think it was dennis
(42:57) who said that you know we don't let those people you know anywhere near this place or any you know they were just a sore thumb to them well as a as one way of getting this information out and at the same time the government stopped harassing you did you ever consider bringing them to court threatening your family harassing you and as a result of that forcing them to what evidence would i do that i mean it's hard enough to prove it to uh you know the layman in general but taking it to court it's impossible and there's uh
(43:32) so yeah there's plenty of people that don't believe me anyway so you never stood on legal counsel with regard to any of this well a little yeah initially and uh you know the bottom line is you know the attorney said there is absolutely nothing to go on it's a total waste of time and you know if anything it's going to be a public forum uh to discredit me in some manner so uh you know i even go through with it what about class action aclu but still you need you know some sort of evidence that uh this happened if i
(44:00) pulled out a piece of 115 and said here well what does that have to do with anything you know and uh there's nothing that uh and what did they do to violate my rights that i didn't agree to at the beginning so they really had their bases covered it's pretty dirty what they did to you in las vegas there in 1990 in the summer that was pretty good what was that well yeah that was that was my own call so you've been through your counseling by saying that right how would um someone get a piece of paper explaining the physical properties
(44:35) used in these in this mode of transportation the physical properties i mean i mean the formula is used in the gravity if you're being watched currently if you have any interaction it's strange you should mention that uh there's been nothing uh for probably these four years or three years whatever it's been but uh the other day one of my phone lines has not been working and the other one was breaking up so i called centel down and they checked the house out and said there's nothing in the wiring here and (45:09) they called me down from charleston boulevard from the from the telephone phone they said my individual line was cut and that the other one those other wires were stripped and twist tied together so of course me being paranoid things well someone tapped in there but i really can't think of another excuse of me being uh you know just my single lines being played with but uh that's what he said and you know they filed a report on that so that's one form of documentation you say your records at cal tech and mit (45:39) have somehow disappeared in los alamos and apparently everyone else is there any way you can you could reconstruct your coursework and your professors oh sure i've got people that uh you know that i went to school with and george's spoke george knapp has spoken to some of them and you know even flew with me up to los alamos and spoke to my colleagues there and uh you know it's just could you could you reveal some of your professors at mit and caltech yeah if you want i don't have a list of them here dr

(46:08) duxler i think was one of them and uh postfield was another post field h-o-h-s-f i-e-l-d or something along those lines they remember you oh yeah i was feeling well these were mit or uh hostfield was at uh mit that duxler was at caltech yeah who's barry barry's a guy i worked with they essentially worked on the buddy system there and uh someone you have ideas to bounce bounce off of and uh bury a castilio or castile will be there before you or yeah a long time it's probably still there did you get any information from him
(46:59) well he essentially taught me everything that they had done up to date in the course of your work uh did they ever mention any other facilities installation around the no they did mention though that uh this was the place that all of this stuff was brought to and it was really purposely condensed here to keep an eye on everything and have uh you know immediate access to everything that dealt with this you know the alien technology regarding the crap of the alien craft um were there any test personnel that crashed them and if so do you know about
(47:35) what the causes were i didn't read about any crashes during tests at all but you'd think that there would be some but i didn't when you were at caltech were you affiliated with any of the student houses no um when i first heard of uh s4 it reminded me a lot of disc testing that i've heard of that goes on in australia at pine gap and i was wondering if you know anything about pine gap did you read anything about find out that you could tell us about i really don't keep abreast of the ufo information as far as officially i
(48:14) never read anything i've heard the name pine gap mentioned but um i haven't heard anything about that has anybody ever approached you with a screenplay offer oh god yeah constantly do you ever consider that uh yeah the main problem columbia pictures last year really wanted to do it and uh they said we're making a screenplay and and my only problem is is that uh if you guys are going to make a movie it has to be exactly what happened and not the hollywood version i don't want to see stephen sigal in the rain
(48:50) [Applause] do you have any speculation why they recruited someone with a master specifically phd no that's that's a really good question i've always said there's plenty more people qualified than i am and uh if there's any there's only two reasons they could have is either number one uh was that dr teller essentially juiced me into the position that said you know there's a guy bubbles i know i'm finding a blaze for him or that the fact that i have traditionally approached everything from a very
(49:29) strange angle and uh you know essentially off the beaten path and you know tackling you know technical problems so it's only one of those two reasons and unless there's a third one that i have no idea about two things do you think they'll ever release this information and if they don't how do you think it'll ever come out besides people like you know or will be something like what you're doing well hopefully it's not this way hopefully there's going to be a release of information eventually but (49:57) you know whether or not they're going to say uh you know okay we've been keeping the secret for so long it uh almost seems to me that they need a staged incident uh to get them off the hook take a flying saucer up in a c-130 and push it out the back and say look [Laughter] [Music] they don't apply once you've distorted distorting gravity essentially having a gravity amplifier distorts time and space and that those really don't apply there's no interaction so there would be no effect on humans
(50:32) either no there's no effect inside at all bob did you when you were working on the escort project did your education and whatever scientific vision that you have permit you to believe that at some point you'd be able to make a meaningful contribution to the program and if so after how much time uh i was always in serious doubt whether or not they were going to get rid of me because uh i had there really really wasn't anything that i could contribute i wasn't an expert in any particular field uh that they were (51:05) dealing with so uh i mean i made some contributions as far as uh determining what element they were dealing with was but uh that was significant right yeah to some degree your education pretty traditionally grounded as far as your own views as far as physics as well as common knowledge and in other words how surprised were you when they started showing you all this hardware and these concepts that could do things that is really oh very i was even when i was reading the documentation you know the alien the alien question really never entered (52:04) my mind i kept pushing it off to you know all this group of scientists

secretly came up with now i never and i i just had a mental block against that because i always thought flying saucers were totally ridiculous and the people that uh really paid attention to such phenomena we're we're just out in left field you know they belong thanks bob but it really made very little sense to me that that you know anyone would deal with something like that so i really held out to the very end and you know they finally said well bob (52:37) that was it did you ever hear any air force or military squadron yeah i probably did but i can't remember i do remember someone talking about something along those lines uh i i don't think they were pilots but there was someone someone related to the air force i don't remember who or they were talking about the air force and i think they mentioned a squadron and i don't know if that was what they called the group that flew the craft or with someone else you know at groom lake i really don't know
(53:25) no it really wasn't much you know idle banter going on as far as like the gravitational field with these crafts and so forth if you were to amplify it enough could you um enlarge the area that you wanted to take in other words could you move more than just the craft itself say two craft under the same power source and so forth or even you know even ever consider something like that as feasible well like a tractor base it's possible as long as they were both uh essentially in the field that was being emitted
(54:04) um i don't i really don't know what uh you know how the level of energy relates to the amount of mass that can be bent that way or how the amount of space they can those numbers i really don't have so it's just again do you think it'd be feasible i really don't know that uh anything that i assume was control systems or instrumentation was up up above and i think that's where the navigation computation took place and uh you know i dealt with only the strict the power hungry components essentially
(54:45) when you were at s4 was there ever either a period within a day or even a couple of days where you at this point don't remember what you were doing during that time was there ever a period of time that you're not able to encounter yeah i kind of i said that and again that's been taken and bent a lot of different ways too there were times that it that i left and it's because so much stuff i was exposed to i was essentially drowning information and when i got back home i couldn't i really couldn't remember what day
(55:17) anything happened uh you know that did i forget big chunks of knowledge no i just uh you know they're like periods of days where you're not you haven't recalled what happened during those days and second you probably don't want to get into this but i really appreciate if you would when you were walking either by the hallway or down there by the door with the window in it and you look through will you go into that and describe what you did i mean even if you're not sure say just made it as exactly as (55:47) well this has to be taken in the right context too first of all being surrounded by the you know flying saucers knowing that the alien thing exists and all this technology uh when i was walking down a hall to the uh i don't remember where i was going anymore but uh different doors to the hangers are small nine inch square windows with wire mesh running through them and i i looked at one as i i walked by and was still told to keep my head forward and i saw the backs of two guys and they were talking to a child or i thought it
(56:19) was a small child and you know of course when i told that to john leary he said that was an alien and i don't know what it was i don't know if it was a small guy but it just looked weird it was a glance so you know do i think it was an alien though did you see this the quote small guy did you see the small guy or you only saw the two guys looking downward no i saw the small guy saw the small guy that they were talking to yeah what did it well i it was just it was just a glance i have no idea that's why i said i
(56:50) believe if i had a rounded head and big eyes i'd say hey there's an alien there but you know i can't say that but it wasn't small also look at it from a technical viewpoint that it could be a model a life-size model they're trying to see how how the size relationship works in the seats and other parts of the craft and you know what's accessible so it doesn't necessarily mean that it was a living game would you mind speaking at all about how this body of knowledge has affected you emotionally or (57:32) maybe spiritually are you frightened by the implications of what all this means or no um you've no doubt thought about the the overall agenda i'm speculating i'm sure you know yeah but it's difficult to really uh you know put a finger on it

since there's so little evidence to go and really 99 of the stuff that i hear you know i really don't even come close to believing at all and it's not just because i'm skeptical it's because it's absolutely ridiculous uh you know i even though it's stepping (58:08) on a lot of people's toes you know i i think 99 percent of the sightings out here are absolutely not flying saucers most people are watching 737s coming to uh groom lake and they may turn up there and there's lights on the planes and uh that i mean along the same lines there's uh these parachuted flares that they fire off near the papoose lake area and they're an orange color which is pretty coincidental and they're on essentially a modified small hot air balloon so the burning heat of the flare keeps it afloat longer
(58:40) and uh whether they're doing that for disinformation or practicing how missiles lock on to you know heat seeking targets again i don't know but i think 99 of that stuff is what you know people you know they come around this area it seems as if even knowing that we possess alien technology hasn't even made you a believer that's probably true but it has i mean i believe the stuff that i worked on there's absolutely no question in my mind but uh i think everyone can only go so far and i can't (59:13) i just hate to speculate because i hate to be wrong i don't want to say well you know this they had to be given to us because they're you know we didn't shoot them down and you know it's uh so i i just stopped right there i think we forget sometimes you're a scientist maybe so i i just i stopped with what i'm i'm pretty sure with him what is your synopsis in a nutshell based upon your what you saw and what you experienced well i can't like i said i stopped before that you know i have (59:40) lots of possible ideas in my mind based only on what your experience was only on what you saw what is your synopsis my synopsis of what i know to be true that the government is holding uh nine alien spacecraft that are propelled by a modified gravity generator uh it's being the work is being conducted 15 miles south of green lake at that isolated area only designated as s4 that at least one of those crafts operate and that's about it okay thanks bob did you ever see the smell no not at all did you ever see the word s4 written
(1:00:28) anywhere for the letters asked for it that's a good question what was the question the question is did he ever see s4 written anywhere on your badge yeah the s-word was punched out on the badge down so you never saw it was more along my eyes i was thinking it was a sign and i think because it's hard to see i think near when you approach the papoose mountain range that there is a sign that designates it as s4 but if i i'm pretty sure i saw a sign there because i can only see out the front window when i'm when i'm going through
(1:01:08) there and i'm not i'm really not sure what it's what it said but since most other science designated it's an area or tech area or something along those lines that might have been s4 if that's because that's what you're experiencing so you just heard it orally s4 orally and that's how you know the designated panel well yeah and then as someone else mentioned on the badge that was scar punched out there but as far as an actual sign to the area uh i didn't see it in any other writing so
(1:01:34) did you ever see it on the vagina since it was punched out you wouldn't see it well that's it it really says it directly above it i mean the star punch oh so how was it written s four dash oh dash there's a hyphen in there yeah oh cause bill moore's making a big thing i said how is it how do you write it he's talking to george knapp trying to debunk the whole thing how do you write s4 you know does it make a difference right right that's what you call pick and use yeah well i know there's a lot of people that
(1:02:05) don't believe the story you know all together but uh you know i it's uh it's difficult that it you know there's really a limit to what you know what else could i possibly do uh you know to show people what happened other than you know relaying some of the information and things along those lines um what kind of work are you doing now a variety of things i mean everything from uh i have three separate companies one is uh deals with uh commercial photo processing the other one is uh developing uh and repairing alpha
(1:02:40) radiation detectors for radiation off of uh plutonium which unfortunately that's going down the tubes because they stopped the testing out here and i do computer graphics a lot of that and actually music videos believe it or not are you still building and racing jet cars well i don't i don't do it for money anymore and i just take the jet car out and run it around but uh it's i kind of got scared when most i when i originally started racing jet cars were like 25 people or something along those lines

(1:03:16) that were licensed to drive uh and uh now there's like seven and the guy when i stopped racing the guy that framed me crashed so you know everyone else is dead so i don't race anymore you still have the lamborghini the body sitting in the backyard the car i take out once in every couple weeks of the dry lake laying around two questions do you have any idea how they achieve that proton source of steady stream of such a small reactor it could be a radioactive element i mean you could use well proton source could certainly be
(1:03:53) they could be using alpha particles for that matter which is essentially a helium nuclei and there's lots of elements that can do that the other part is in the video we saw the badge have the letters and capital letters maj written turnovers was that actually on your badge yeah that was really on there and uh i was told majestic was the level of clearance that that was cleared for that also that makes you know you wonder about you know uh bill moore's thing at the mj 12 documents and all that is that you know actual or uh
(1:04:33) considering that uh these guys had made posters that they're here and things like that they could have taken majestic and made it the name of it just as kind of a tongue-in-cheek thing uh you know or was that actual evidence that uh you know majestic 12 actually just existed and all that so what about your other associates did their badge look identical to the one we saw pretty much so except dennis's looked different and for the most part they had different areas punched in them at one time you said that you thought
(1:05:05) you know uh the scientific community should be the ones in charge or you know charge the research of this and everything what name would you put out who do you think would be qualified enough to have a group like that you know um as far as being able to decipher what's going on you know and stuff like that do you have any names you could fill out uh yeah they're friends essentially that i've worked with before but i know what their expertise is actual qualifications go and so forth like that and do you
(1:05:32) think that the names you come up with they get along enough to get along well enough to be well one of them was joe beninetti a guy that i worked with in los alamos one of my colleagues and uh i was trying to force his resume on them and uh you know they did take it and look at it and i was kind of hoping that he would he would be a big bone to the project but you know i already left by the time i would have had to look at it concerning local sightings here i've personally seen two at one time maneuvering and along with the third one
(1:06:11) later and they looked and performed exactly like your video that you took that night now not to i'm not attacking anyone that's had sightings but uh you know there are a lot of there's a lot of atmospheric phenomena that can relate to i needed to sound like middle class what's that guy's name uh glenn campbell i wrote that area for only one guide and uh brought up uh i don't think he believes my story but uh i think he uh brought up some very good points in there and that a lot of that stuff could
(1:06:57) be mistaken and uh if you're looking at something with the naked eye a lot of times it can look like it jumps around and things like that especially if you're staring at it for a long time uh it all depends it all depends how it's like that obviously but something dramatic if something is close something makes a tremendous jump a great distance other than a little you know tiny white light that looks like the head of a pen that's a different story you know if that's what you saw then that remains
(1:07:22) unexplained well that's what i'm referring to because it was very close both of them were very close and they would get brighter and darker just like in your videos they sometimes almost strode and they were down on the ground got right took off and moved around and my main question is now they can't shut them off what happened is the craft probably pitched with the bottom towards you and it looked like the light was off because you can't see the light from the bottom two questions one is nuts and bolts but
(1:08:02) why do they generate light why why do you see any light at all well to just answer that one first is that's essentially operating like a fluorescent tube anywhere you have uh you can take a lar a powerful radio transmitter and you take a neon tube when you bring it near it it's gonna light up just because the uh the atoms are getting excited and certainly right you know the electrons go to a high energy state you drop down and release a photon and that's what's going on okay and secondly just to change the (1:08:29) venue and force you to speculate now that you have some time to think back on something do you want to elaborate anymore on your your ideas what containers are

and why we are referring to containers in some past containers i i can't even guess you know all i can say is exactly the way it was written and you know it because as soon as i speculate on something you know it's people are going to lean towards that way and it's not fair did those documents at all inscribe a purpose to why these genetic manipulations were (1:08:58) being done you know this was not a large briefing i had 90 percent of the material that i read was dealing with my project and when i mean briefings i mean two sheets of paper as the uh just the information i got on whatever else was going on probably to alleviate you know my curiosity and that was about it now the aurora i did see once on the way out there and the only reason i say it's the aurora is uh i uh i was told it by dennis and the bus it makes an unbelievably loud sound and uh i think when i heard it i said it sounds
(1:09:38) like the sky is tearing and from what i understand it operates on a liquid methane powered engine there's a lot of information has gotten out in aviation week in popular science and it looked if this in fact was aurora it was certainly a strange aircraft it looked like if you know what the old x-15 looked like a very long slender craft with short wings on it and a square exhaust that had little veins in it is it quite large is it large yes it's quite large it's a really overgrown thing and uh there are a couple people that came up
(1:10:14) who i described the sound to one of them was uh john andrews from the testers model corporation and they're always spying around to make the most recent models of a stealth and things like that and he heard the exact sound that i described unfortunately he couldn't record it but that really got him lit up and he probably has more information about it than i do okay quick when you listen to some abduction reports whether or not people believe it or not this is a common thread of people being moved by blue beams of light
(1:10:46) uh did you ever talk to anybody in your work about technology that could explain that or is there extrapolation of ulcerative systems that you worked on that could explain something any of the three gravity amplifiers could do that could lift something off the ground or for that matter compacted into the ground that's not a problem because the craft in fact can operate on one amplifier in omicron mode hovering that would leave the other two amplifiers free to do anything so i imagine they could pick up cows or whatever else they
(1:11:12) want to do but you know the craft that i worked on there there was actually no provision for anything to come in through the bottom of the craft or anything along those lines so i i don't know how if that in fact happens in a completely different type of craft does it sound is a blue color consistent with what you would expect that's more consistent than the grass glowing orange because you know the interaction of the it should the you know nitrogen atmosphere ship appear to be a piece of metal not cast at least mark it was injection
(1:11:46) molded because there was no sharp objects even where the seats meet the floor is curved the top of everything i think the analogy i gave it looked like it was completely made of wax and heated till it melted and then cooled down everything is completely perfectly rounded and if in fact you're talking about something that's uh containing a high voltage feel that's exactly what you want to have to help prevent the corona discharge from spraying off how can you focus a gravity wave on something that's so many millions and
(1:12:16) millions of miles away well first of all i don't think they focus it that far away okay i was talking to with someone else uh i think these trips were made in several small jumps because the amount of energy required to do something like that in the it's not really that not the amount of energy but if you're looking at three amplifiers that focus down to something the size of a tennis ball that the amount of precision that's required to move the amplifier with minimal deviation out there eventually is going to exceed anyone's
(1:12:49) level of technology so if you're doing a jump of a thousand miles i mean that's tremendously impressive if you're doing a job you know i can't see them jumping a light here much less 30. it just doesn't seem possible i never heard of them in the video surrounding ufos and mexico city during the eclipse there's some very remarkable video of a pulsation of some sort of field surrounding these ufos would that be an attribute would that be attributable to the type of technology that you saw it's possible an optical
(1:13:41) distortion absolutely you saw a pulse and the polarization of the pole seems to be changing as well that's certainly possible yeah in your videos yeah apparently whatever i don't know what else to call it other than some sort of anesthetizing hypnosis along those lines but anything that distracts attention uh at a high level and you know certainly uh you know some sort of stimulant drug or something uh that gets someone riled up would not permit that to happen it's just like in modern hypnosis or not really modern hypnosis but in (1:14:44) hypnosis in general if you're not in a relaxed state you're not you're not going to get into that level of consciousness so uh you know if you're in a very alert awake state it's going to be hard to you know cause that effect if you know again if in fact that is correct information what context was that information that dealt with some of the biological effects of the uh of the aliens on i think essentially on the human race is what it was uh is how it was termed it it this was in i think it was in part of

(1:15:19) the autopsy reports because they had the single organ they had in their body uh cross-sectioned and and split up and i think there were there was a comments in there about what different functions of the brains are and i think that's where this came up is that they're trying to relate some unknown lobe with a brain to uh to this function but that's so typical there again you know like in particle physics we don't know what it is so hey that's what does it you know it's not necessarily true
(1:15:48) uh yes uh i i hope you'll be offended by this question and i i have to ask it to verify your bona fides uh have you ever gone up by any other name i ever gone by any other name no no as far as i know information on um aliens besides that they have one organ no that's all i have and that was uh essentially just from looking at a photograph so we don't know if they eat or drink or they probably do but i don't this is really just a comment because you mentioned how you feel about billy meyer that little scene but
(1:16:40) you said that the craft that you worked on looks just like the craft that from the philly meyer one of them yeah however um the beings that billy myers supposedly was in contact with are supposedly full-sized like average human beings and you said that the staff but if you look at the billy myers information i think somewhere in there maybe i've got this wrong because so much stuff has gone through my head that they the people of large people and apparently flew that craft did not produce the craft they think billy meyer
(1:17:20) said it was uh it was obtained from creatures that were two meters tall or a meter tall or something along those lines which craft was that the fact that they did during those contests well so are our guys for that matter so i imagine they could be retrofitted but you know i i don't know i can't go either way i i know the one that i worked on was small and was certainly uncomfortable for you know anything in the area five to six feet to walk around i don't know that's information that uh you know wasn't given
(1:18:03) but i did i think as i said on my tape and an interview somewhere one of them absolutely had a projectile hole through it and uh the only thing i don't believe it was shot down this is a personal belief but uh more along the lines i believe it was stood up on its side just to see you know how the metal would react to a high-speed projectile going through it you were you were there for what four to six months yeah um you had a lot of contact with security obviously yeah too much too much how did they act each one goes
(1:18:42) they only went so far you know if i walked if i was in the lab area and i went to the bathroom the guy that came with me or that was by the door went to the bathroom he would go so far and if i was leaving the perimeter somewhat there would be another guy that went from that distance on was the army air force can you tell i don't know any insignias on his uniform no it might have been like i said they had a dark blue uniform most of the guys there except a few of the people outside had that desert camo it's like ear bray cap
(1:19:16) no they didn't have any hats on there wasn't any in sydney or anything on them yeah there might have been but you know at the time i probably didn't pay much attention to it i was trying to put the guy in my mind though they never wanted to talk to you they all seemed like a stern uh delta force pipe or were they like oh yeah yeah they weren't the least bit interested in what was going on and you know what they've been briefed on i have no idea but you know to them it seemed like we were a nuisance (1:19:48) but you know it's the reason that they're there so i don't know did you ever see any inside hardware this machine the nuts and bolts wires and obviously what we did did it look like our nuts and bolts and wires we get in the hardware store well as far as fastening devices everything was formed together there were no nuts and bolts uh wires there were no connecting wires even between electrical systems um so what what was the course of energy how did it go from one area to another area the best guess is essentially an (1:20:24) operator like a tesla coil does a transmitter and essentially a receiver tuned to the transmitting frequency and receives the electrical power and you know there again that's not real advanced technology tesla did that in the 30s lights on a console were they plastic no i don't like it yes the uh could you recount for us and detail uh your memory of what happened the night that you and the group of people were discovered on the perimeter of the uh you know the viewing area where you saw the captain i bet john larry

(1:21:09) no no it just uh it was compelling and i just would be curious to hear when he in particular there was one aspect of the story he said evidently when they were vehicles with some ten unmarked broncos were how many he said five on each side of the road it must have been a different time you know you jumped from the either jumped in the car or left the occupants of the car to go out into the desert so that you wouldn't have discovered it amongst the people there when you returned that's true we uh we drove out well i mean john lear is a
(1:21:46) nice guy and i like him but you know he does have the tendency to add about 15 percent color to stories and if a story goes through them twice it's 30 percent my wife at the time and her sister were going to go out and see what we could see because there was a test flight coming up and john knew that we were up to something because we didn't invite him in and he showed up at the house and said okay you know well we're going and you know come on um we had rented a car because the only reason we rented a car was because
(1:22:34) sister-in-law was in from out of town all i've ever owned usually the sports cars they see two people and uh and that's all we had so we had rented a car and we all piled into that and uh we drove out there i don't remember what time we got there in it but it got dark we waited right till dusk to drive up the road and we got probably about seven miles in i think and we were very careful not to hit the brakes because we didn't want the lights going on because we knew there by watching up on the road beforehand we
(1:23:07) knew there were security guys running around just looking is the mailbox road no i've never been on a mailbox truck that's the only brew road that okay you know big one that goes up there well it's probably on mailbox road but i didn't watch anything from there um we drove in probably about five to seven miles and i had brought we brought all kinds of stuff with us we bought geiger counters we bought a celestron 10-inch telescope i brought a nine millimeter pistol because i didn't i really didn't want to (1:23:38) get caught and we came up there and as we stopped the car uh my sister-in-law was driving she stepped on the brakes and so we stopped right there and just waited we didn't see any reaction and then somebody opened the door and the dome light went on and as soon as that happened two different sets of headlights lit up on either side of us and we said that's it we're dead so uh i went in the truck and i got my pistol and i went out to the desert they were far enough away oh no what happened i got there we we hopped in the (1:24:13) car and then started really all in ass back to the exit i think if we get to the road in time you know we're out of there too jurisdiction there's no problem so we got about halfway up there and i think there were three vehicles maximum i stopped and you know we figured we're not getting out of there because uh as we're getting close to the top of the road you can see another vehicle pull in i said well yeah we're trapped so i got off and ran out to the desert uh now the rest of the story is from the people that were there
(1:24:42) because i was out in the desert laying down on the ground supposedly what happened was uh these guys came out john set up the telescope real fast and um that was the best excuse up with that's right and uh the guys came over and said i think john interrupted him say hey what are you guys trying to do a drug deal or something did we interrupt something and you know they kind of just shrugged that off and john said well we're looking at jupiter and uh you know they said what are you guys doing out here they just ignored
(1:25:13) whatever he had to say and went on for a while i don't remember the conversation because i wasn't wasn't there but uh now it was pitch black you couldn't see your hand in front of crazy it was a moonless night and they said all right we'll just get the hell out of here they backed off down the road and they stopped but we didn't know that and turned around you can see all this happening right because no my head was down i didn't want my glasses or my white face uh a few hundred yards away our yards

know out of the desert and uh yeah i'm usually very sarcastic and joke around and uh what i said was gene huff was standing there and i said man we're lucky those guys didn't see the other 50 delta force we had out there or something along those lines you know that could have taken him out at any time and he laughed you know it was just i don't remember the exact content of the joke but uh those guys heard that and they're sitting there watching us so
(1:26:08) i guess now i've learned about most of this from the debriefing afterwards they took me in so the guys that were there were on top of the truck or jeep they had and they went to arms because they thought there were guys standing out there so they had us all under gunpoint we didn't know what was going on and we're sitting there talking about everything that had happened flying saucers and all that stuff sitting on the bumper and we're just looking off down the road and we'd see a little green light drop
(1:26:33) on the ground and roll around and it was a night vision scope and someone picks it up and it disappears and you know we all said well let's get the hell out of here what's that what happened except one of the guards that dropped a night vision scope and it rolled on the ground and we could see the little green image rolling around and you see it pick up and you know disappear and it was only like from here to the you know the netting over there that was the distance because it was completely dark wow and
(1:26:56) uh so we got scared and you know as soon as we got in the car we all agreed they're right there you know and they heard everything so we took off and we got to the you know top of the road and lincoln county sheriff was there and that was another major hassle so he wanted to search the car we wouldn't let him and he was in radio contact with the base for these guys out there and they said where did the extra guy come from and you know that completely confused them because they had never i guess they had never seen me
(1:27:25) come up or something like that they thought i was another guy that walked around however can anyway the big problem was that there was another guy and i think legally they can only hold you there for an hour and we were there for like 59 minutes and he said you know okay go but you know he really wanted to search well i gotta back track of that john lehrer made the colossal mistake we were under just minimal suspicion at the time and he asked for everyone's id and in the trunk we had everything the guyer counters and all that stuff and
(1:27:53) you know the the people that didn't want to show their id he said well we don't have it we left it at home and the other ones that did you know took it out and john said wait mine's in the trunk and he opens the trunk and here's all the stuff laying there and that's that's what the cop decided to keep us for a long time we've always hassled john about that forever and uh he said so you guys are out here with a geiger counter a telescope and all this other hardware sound equipment
(1:28:14) and video stuff and you're just out you know just out walking around and you know we all said yeah and you know so that's when he kept us and that's that's really what happened that day and the following day was a work day for me but i was taken into debriefing and right well that was uh that was kind of a turning point you fired them you officially fired no i was never fired see at the time they were going to pull my clearance before that so it's i don't know if that was ever clear the main reason
(1:28:45) was for me not progressing any further there was they halted my clearance because at the time i had my phone was being tapped and i i allowed that i signed the uh the order to do that and i'm going through my background and uh you know at the time i you know didn't tell my wife what was going on until later and you know as things progressed but she was having an affair with somebody on the phone and i was her flight instructor that i was paying for playing lessons as uh this was going on just like in you
(1:29:22) know the astronaut program not only do you have to have you know security as far as and no connection to foreign governments or things like that but as far as your family life it has to be stable because they don't want any you know loose cannons running around so this was going on i had no knowledge of it and they said well you know we're gonna what they're gonna do is not say anything to me and wait until one way or another the situation resolved itself either you know my wife took off or you know (1:29:48) you know came to an end or whatever so when i was in uh debriefing essentially that day you know this is when they really started attacking me and hassling me and that's when they took out the phone transcripts you know by the way bob your wife's somebody and that was the last time i so that was just been just pretty bowled over yeah but not that really changes anything it's the same thing it's just little technical things that no it's really not worth bringing up real quick did you see the paperwork and (1:30:38) how they got got the discs to start with no that's pure speculation what did you have the geiger coverage for and do you believe that are there dangerous levels of radiation uh in this area because of testing that you they did previously now at least at this point we just i think we wanted to see the background level and yeah i don't uh it was just like a staple to take along with it you know it's probably i understand that this area is just high for radiation radioactivity the background levels are

(1:31:11) high interior is that true i don't know we had the geiger counter but before i got to measure the background i don't i don't know what it was bob this might be important because jacques vallee is such stature and he's trying to debunk you on the basis of your supposedly he's telling your report is only that you saw a dvm and an oscilloscope at s4 as far as the equipment there yeah this is another thing that's gotten so twisted she's actually who's a ufo writer or something um came to see me in las vegas i don't
(1:31:43) remember how long ago it was but after the george knapp thing and um he came down with some producers from universal studios who was going to make a movie about his um his book intruders or not intruders that's something else anyway they came down with him and they said well we want to know what you think of this and uh you know just give us your opinion if this jives and i looked at the information and he explained it to me and i said that has nothing to do with the craft that i worked on or any of the technology that
(1:32:15) i was involved in period and jack really didn't appreciate that but they asked for my opinion so i said and you know as far as the conclusions he's drawn i don't agree with him i think they're completely wrong and so on and so forth so he really didn't like me after that point so he began to interview me and he said well what did you do here and here and i went over things and there's one and this is on tape i don't see why he would even make a fuss about it but he said well well what kind of equipment did you have to
(1:32:42) work with and i said a wide variety of you know of different things he said well what about your bench what was on your bench i said anything you'd find in a normal tech bench i said oscilloscopes dvms things like that and he said okay and then you know later i heard through the grapevine that he's out doing election bob lazar said he's back engineer of the flying saucers with an oscilloscope and a ddm it was on tape and i i think a lot of that's he's really pretty pissed at me for shooting down the movie but i had no
(1:33:10) idea that was going to be the effect or although i would have reserved my opinion that's just the way it goes what was the physical layout of the compound where you worked at like did you describe it uh it was long it was about up the side on the side of the mountain range there uh all the hangar doors went alongside and there's a long corridor that goes down in back of the hangers off that corridor comes several rooms only two or three of which i've been in the medical area the lab that i work in and then there's a
(1:33:48) small little room where i write some briefings some things along those lines but i've been in any of the other rooms or know if there are things behind it or underneath it so that's that's all i can help you with on that um last night john lear said that you really didn't believe that there was anything unusual going on in those space shuttle shots you thought it was ice particles you know these ones they've been claiming our uh that's not nice it's dusk oh dust whatever there's no fans or
(1:34:22) butts about that you know that's uh have you seen the hoagland yeah i've seen the whole thing a copy from nasa and it's uh you know unfortunately it would be neat if they were flying south but if you see a bright white flash first that's the positioning thruster firing on the left side of the shuttle the shuttle didn't change no it doesn't it it normally doesn't do that you know they those are station keeping thrusters and that it all depends if the thruster is firing in the direction of the shuttle
(1:34:48) keeping its forward momentum there'll be no attitude change that's only if they're firing a pitch rocket well you see a change like that and the fact that it flew forward means it was firing in the direction of the shuttle so those little dots and things you see i mean i firmly believe because i've seen other things along those lines are right on the lens they're not on the horizon that's why you see a flash there's a delay and then particles that are normally floating in space you see

dart
(1:35:11) off like that because of the delay time from that and you know until i see something else that uh leads me to believe this i know it it looked neat you know like there was a flash and something came up from the ground but if you just watch that and think that these are right against the lens and that right flash is one of the uh thrusters firing that uh you know you'll probably have a different opinion of it but what about the right angle move it's a 45 degree turn which means it has to stop you're talking about little dust
(1:35:38) particles that are moving and then when the thrusts are fired you know it doesn't there's there's no mass to them and they reverse direction there's other particles in the video that do the exact same thing yeah if you look at the whole video not just the crop down there's all kinds of junk floating around and when that thruster fires there's about a one second delay and everything goes flying off exactly like you'd expect everything goes flying off and drifting except for one item that accelerates at like 10
(1:36:01) times the speed of all the other items in the video yeah but there's there's have you seen copeland's detailed breakdown what about when he's talking about the light coming over the horizon of the planet under the layer what he calls and over the ionosphere yeah but that doesn't it still doesn't make sense it doesn't take into account that something is right on the camera lens did the tape that you listened to did it have the last transmission from mission control i really don't i don't remember no i'm
(1:36:36) not standing on this like as an absolute fact but from what i from what i've seen most of the states have had the editor heads up which means pay attention and keep your mouth shut i don't know i mean that's that's my opinion and i haven't i haven't seen anything to fear me from it but you know i always remain open-minded but uh i don't know that's all i can say you mentioned the photon earlier do you think physics is taking a wrong turn by looking for exchange particles were you thinking about the
(1:37:11) strong force not clear on why you're skeptical about the ground about the gravity time no not necessarily i mean they make it have one but you know as time goes on that uh that really hasn't held true uh and you know the bottom line is they don't well first of all they don't even believe there's a graviton anymore so i'm not the only one as far as exchange particles you know still though some of them like the zeta particle maybe that's maybe that's an actual thing but uh you know when they're looking at transfers
(1:37:52) of energy i think these are scapegoats you know for the most part and uh you know a lot of the experiments that i was doing in los alamos uh essentially was uh along these same lines but you know other exchange particles like the intermediate vector boson you know i don't i don't believe that thing exists i really don't i think they're grabbing its straws and just come on with excuses did you use or see any any kind of drawing mechanical drawing or electrical schematic any kind of documentation
(1:38:23) which you don't know uh of what we do with the amplifier and engineering layouts and things along those lines and i've duplicated those at home is there a difference in the well zero gravity is ideally what it wants i don't think it wants in any other interactive gravity field [Music] 1989 when i left since it be possible that is things could either make themselves entirely invisible or a field of invisibility by bending the light around the outside of the ship yeah that's a byproduct of what's going on
(1:39:20) because you know just as any large source of gravity bends light and you get an intense focus source like that and it's going to really distort it directly like you just said that you've duplicated the gravity amplifiers some of the equipment muscles are drying um uh no i'm not testing it because i don't know the facilities to do that but like i mentioned to someone else earlier that uh this summer i'll be patenting those drawings and that that device itself so should anyone decide that all of a
(1:39:56) sudden they discovered it and since they've made no claim to it i'll have them back you don't know about this that's that's really part of the federation the intergalactic patent treaty doesn't know about that no i didn't sign that that's right yeah yeah sure how do you build a gravity wave detector let's say you can determine the frequency of the source direction of a gravity wave emanating from a planet and other source well actually gravity wave detector is a tough thing to make (1:40:38) and uh there are there they are being made and i don't exactly follow what they're doing but i know the basis of what it is it's a giant drum it's 20 or 30

feet long and it's filled with dry cleaning fluid with carbon tetrachloride in there and it rotates and i haven't i never paid much attention to it i have no idea how that detects a gravity wave but there's i think caltech has even funded funded one of them well i mean the gravity ways that you're talking about well gravity waves are gravity right what about the (1:41:10) small gravity what is the frequency the well the frequency the the actual reactor operates at is like 7.46 hertz it's a very low frequency that's the frequency or universally oil gravity that's the frequency that the reactor operates at did you use any computer process in the control process in the control process no i wasn't affiliated with that but why would you suppose that that the government would continue to spend these massive billions of dollars on space projects that are extended you know 20 years into
(1:41:53) the future when it knows it has this technology that would make them all obsolete oh i want to know why the government would continue to spend millions and billions i guess of dollars on space projects when you know they have this technology and uh well first of all you're assuming that you know the whole the whole one of the government knows what's going on and that's probably not the case nasa probably isn't aware of what's going on here uh second of all just because they have this stuff they haven't you know they
(1:42:27) haven't left the earth with it and they won't so we still want to send things up in orbit and uh that's the most efficient we you know way we have doing it is essentially building a big firework to go up there um you know if they spent the same money in developing this technology or half they they'd probably be able to not necessarily you know sometimes all the money in the world doesn't get you anywhere you know though it helps and of course if you want to keep something secret you know that's out of (1:42:53) the question but you know putting that aside just helping billions and billions of dollars into it sure you're going to make big strides and you get you know real reasonable people to work on the thing but you're still going to get stuck you know around the area where [Music] you don't have proper materials or you know the techniques required here to manufacture these things and that's where you'll get stuck if your patents are when you have to get approved what do you plan on doing at that point nothing just paying the
(1:43:25) yearly fee to women leave them alone they really uh didn't go into much it was they wanted to tell you what we were doing out there and they went into well you know we reviewed this was secret when we said it was secret you know we didn't mean to bring your friends here and you know things along those lines they had flown in uh two of the guards that were on that truck uh that were watching us and it was my impression that they didn't know what was behind the mountain what we were watching they were just told to
(1:44:11) guard what was going on i made it a point in bringing up the uh you know flying saucers and things of that sort and that's when they threatened me that's when they mentioned the thing about my wife the way the reactor is operating that the you know the pulses that we detected out of it were probably you know instead of a straight dc power supply it was a lot more along the lines of a pulse as if uh you know we were getting bursts of particles coming out in any matter of mission and a reaction a pulse of energy and that would repeat
(1:44:44) that's around you know seven and a half first something along those lines well i mean gravity is unfortunately the physics physics hasn't gotten to that part yet but the gravity essentially is part of the electromagnetic spectrum that's something i'm observing for myself about the microwave well you know you can kind of sort of figure it out by the dimensions of the uh the waveguide itself and uh but this is part of the equipment that i'm working on and you know i want to get it operating before uh
(1:45:43) but we'll find out one day absolutely did you ever get any idea through any documentation or anything that this kind of alien technology is being researched or tested at any other planets bob this information it asked for about gravity propulsion and so on control wave control what does that do to endeavors like kip thorne and caltech with his ligo wanting to spend tens of millions or multiplied millions on this light interferometry gravity observatory i mean doesn't it rather mothball that it does and that's just another reason
(1:46:22) for people not to you know look at this from a realistic point of view because it really will shoot down a lot of research effort like that exactly you know it's it shouldn't it shouldn't it's uh research like that should go on anyway if if for nothing else just to prove that it doesn't work you know [Laughter] can i just go follow up i'm sorry um can you speculate as to how you think they found us or why they came to us i you can you can speculate as well as i can i really can't uh you know i mean would anything in their

(1:47:00) in their technology seem to imply that they can sense life anywhere else or uh it doesn't seem like just randomly flying around the block but if the documentation was correct about genetic manipulation they didn't have to find us they didn't just happen to snoop around roswell one day right george knapp just got back from russia and uh i spoke with him recently and he purchased since apparently the whole country's up for sale i guess he purchased from the kgb and the russian government all information pertaining to flying saucers
(1:47:44) so he's got that information yeah i think they're his company altamira corporation that financed the whole trip and the whole nine yards i guess he'll be releasing that but he's got uh all that stuff well just a couple more i'm really feet and around this area the fallout went up to cedar city how much according that epa monitor a quarter of a mile away we're about four times the background dose that we've been getting in los angeles [Music] plutonium though it doesn't you know all
(1:48:42) go into fusion uh or fishing for that matter it [Music] it's efficient hydrogen goes into fusion uh is really consumed in the fireball and you know the other fallout products the radioactive iodine astronomy 90 and things like that those are all over the place and they're still around but you know time has gone by though most of them haven't even reached their half-life yet but they are diluted in a large amount of space and uh you know it's relatively safe the concentrations went down aren't that
(1:49:14) i broke and got chased out by the guards and all the dust that got in the audible oh that's no problem you know you die of something else way before that [Laughter] so bob the cash land room saucer that gave us off this tremendous radioactive radiation and causing these ladies irreparable harm how does that fit that's obviously not element 115 gravity no it's not i think that was i'm not even convinced that was a you know alien craft that might have been a government attempt a nuclear-powered craft
(1:49:44) incredibly dirty obviously that uh and they you know just looking at some of the you know medical photographs the burns and their you know the loss of hair uh you know was either gamma or neutrogen a neutron radiation and i don't know what the status is well that brings up another question our friend jeff who actually saw the saucer up close it shot out adam right at mailbox he saw it up close he said we showed that earlier by the way anyway he said that he got a a sort of a sunburn probably from uv it's is it possible
(1:50:12) these craft give off well beta burn is also uh looks like sunburn uh you know uh yeah uh beta particles electrons it looks exactly like sunburst so this would be the radiation from the craft and the excess uh yeah but you know if you just we're going for a blood cell test a uh you know a high white cell count will you know verify that it was radiation exposure because you get that you know reflex i know it isn't your first choice to make public appearances like this so i just want to tell you in case nobody
(1:50:42) else thinks it cool enough that we all of us really appreciate you coming on down [Applause] uh [Applause] [Music] and is used to perpetuate the conspiracy's vast wealth by the creation of money out of nothing two in the united states this monetary fraud is perpetuated through the federal reserve system although the executive branch theoretically has some control over the system through occasional appointments in reality it is the system and those behind it who control the executive
(1:51:45) practice three the capitalist conspiracy in this country surfaces the public view in the form of the semi-secret council on foreign relations its members exercise their control over the nation through government well as far as the alien bible i don't know what you're really talking about some of the briefings that i read dealt with some of that information about uh you know as being the product of a genetic modification right but that's about all that's about all that i know repercussions the big story all that
(1:52:28) and all that i really have an idea about well i meant like uh you mentioned the date when they were supposed to return is something supposed to happen when they return i have no idea it was just a date and uh it was it was a number that made no sense to me it was a 601 or 300 something obviously in a different numerical system and so other than having created us and done the genetic upgrades because that's it as far as supposedly if that information is correct i'm interested a little bit more about the physics of the power generation

(1:53:06) from the development of the antimatter to [Music] to the gravity a wave and amplification and that process of the generation of that and being able to follow space that's a pretty lengthy explanation um in other words the relationship between the development of the antimatter and the gravitational force field well it's i can give you i guess a brief overview of essentially how that works if you want an in-depth description of that you can give me your address and i can send you a paper on it essentially what the reactor does
(1:53:50) is provide electrical power and the base gravity wave to amplify and it does that by interacting matter and antimatter essentially the way it does that is injecting an accelerated proton into a piece of 115 that spontaneously generates any hydrogen essentially that's reacted in a a small area it's a compressed gas probably compressed atmospheric gas and uh you know the antimatter reacting with matter produces the energy mainly heat energy and that is converted to electrical energy by a thermionic generator that appears to be 100
(1:54:35) efficient which is you know a difficult concept to believe anyway uh also the reactor has two functions that's one of them the other function is it provides the basic gravity wave that's amplified and that appears at the upper sphere of the amplifier itself and that's tapped off with a waveguide similar to microwaves and uh is amplified and focused essentially so how is the electrical energy related to the amplification of the gravitational a weight they're probably about uh four inches thick anyway so you really can't tell
(1:55:13) how thin the uh the skin is itself or if it's exotic that's right yes more on this element 115 and your contention that it couldn't be made here on earth what if we found the right bombardment of speed the right target shape and the right containment well i imagine with enough time you can make a small amount of it i mean my analogy is look at uh look at how long it takes to make gold an accelerator from bismuth or something like that that may just be a technology that hasn't advanced far enough yet
(1:55:51) right but the bottom line is you have to sit there and plug in protons and neutrons for that matter into an existing atom and you have to do it you know essentially on an individual basis and they're not all going to catch on and so we're going to but how did how do you think they got their first piece if it was in a dead star how uh going from i think it was naturally occurring somewhere on their planet just because it's stable yeah probably some that's just a guess on my part but uh you know if that technology was
(1:56:27) harnessed quick enough chances are they didn't have uh you know when they came here our levels of technology were probably fairly new to them they've probably never been considered an internal combustion engineer for that matter you know when they came flying into the atmosphere i saw little cigar shaped things with fire coming out the back they probably couldn't conceive of how they were powered so it was uh you know it just all depends how you know what materials raw materials you have but you know that's just an opinion that
(1:56:55) that was a natural agreement as of the time that i was there i was told that they didn't they really didn't take them any great distance at all other than right outside uh if we had a working agreement with the aliens at one time um why didn't they give us a user's manual for these ships [Music] it almost seems like there has been some assistance or some information found but but who knows your information didn't indicate that now yeah uh with such tight security around there's supposedly only 500 pounds of
(1:57:48) this material how is it somebody can get some of it out of it because some of them not some of the material the material is that they have there is essentially raw the material is it has to be machined into discs these discs have to be stacked up and then cut into a cone shape and then sliced [Music] along the long axis of it that work is done at los alamos i don't i'm not exactly sure no loss almost the electrical energy is essentially without wires and i related it to almost a tesla setup it seemed like each sub-component on the craft was
(1:58:27) attuned to the frequency that the reactor was operating at so essentially the amplifiers themselves receive the electrical energy like a tesla coil transmits power to a fluorescent tube and what was the rest of the question yeah in other words what is the relationship between i think that's you basically answered yeah that's that's how the amplifiers receive the power through the waveguide to receive the basic wave it's almost it's very very similar to a microwave amplifier and uh you know for more technical (1:59:00) description and i can send you drawings or things along those lines but that's basically how it works i understand you took some 115 home with you to uh do

some testing on your own i obtained it yeah document any of your testing yeah you did yeah the video mostly video tape and things like that john said it was stolen from you later last night he said they stole it back he said well there's another level to that but like i said right now it's in private hands okay element 115 um john said last night that a piece a
(1:59:40) wedge that's about two inches in length run well it really depends on the energy level the more energy you expend the uh you know greater consumption of fuel just like in any any modern machine so it really really all depends on the amount of energy you requested what is dr keller's relationship to ask for do you think he might be working on antimatter weaponry i don't know but he was certainly uh i forgot what his exact title was he was chief consultant or something along those lines and as far as any amount of weaponry i
(2:00:23) don't i don't think anyone was involved in that certainly some uh beam weapon work and uh you know teller has been involved with that uh i think his last project that livermore los alamos was um i think he called it super excalibur and that was essentially a uh nuclear bomb detonated in orbit and fiber optic light guides that directed x-rays to uh incoming warheads and that's his pet project he loves that thing so i don't think he'd jump to any i don't know if anything was on level well i don't know if there were any
(2:01:08) bathrooms on level three i can only guess and i would imagine that there was some sort of navigational equipment or their version of a computer or something along those lines because i saw nothing else that controlled the uh the amplifiers the directions they pointed at knows what they're doing uh apparently they think that they're developing uh the little coins they're working on is some new type of armor and uh having worked in los alamos and no people around that area that's i obtained some of it
(2:01:42) can you say anything about project looking glass and the relationship between gravity and time well gravity and time are almost essentially the same thing and looking glass dealt with using gravity essentially to distort time and as i've said before i really know very little about that but you know they're only talking talking about milliseconds or even less microseconds of time distortion they're not like looking back in time to see who killed kennedy or something the crap that you are you talking about the
(2:02:17) scout craft is that the one that's likely a damn ski picture with the three domes underneath and if it's not i'm not exactly sure what the dams is the saucer shape this is this is the one that uh looks like a my one of the mirecraft did you see any others than that one or is there nine up there yeah i saw nine total but that's the only one i got close enough to did you see one of the three domes underneath that three balls underneath that has the central housing underneath and then the second question was um did anybody give
(2:02:51) you any indication as to who was driving or any information on that i assumed that it was humans that were violating the craft so it could have been remote control but at the one test flight that i saw on the ground uh they were in radio communication with someone and i assumed it was someone in the craft i mentioned it's possible that it could have been a remote observer somewhere but uh and i just assumed that the seats were retrofitted or they were sitting on the floor for that matter uh are you familiar with a couple
(2:03:24) aspects of the question are you familiar with howard manger's electrocraft and otis cars saucer design and how are those how are their devices how do they generate their gravity fields and compared with what you've described and lastly uh can you can you speculate how the why the commercialization of some of these crafts hasn't been possible with so many different uh patents applied for these kinds of design because they don't work are there any g-forces encountered by the products inside the crack
(2:04:06) from your interviews you seem to feel that the area 51 or the escort test site was kind of slip shot and how it how it does its research it really doesn't have the facilities there to actually do the research correctly and also i wonder could you comment about that and also i'm wondering what you could tell us about the other types of ships you saw there that you thought were alien in origin well the uh as far as the research of that bob how do you perceive that mankind can develop this uh i really don't (2:04:44) i really don't without access to certain materials or maybe new manufacturing techniques that can produce those but until those problems are solved you know the fact that we even know how to how to deal with it or even duplicate it uh you know it's pretty useless how many other materials might be necessary uh

besides 115 that you know the rest of it might be just [Music] essentially polishing up manufacturing techniques making things smaller you know just general increase in technology getting a small accelerator running at a (2:05:21) higher energy level i don't know about the the metallurgy aspect of the craft i don't think any exotic metals are necessary though they may be employed i don't i imagine you could make a craft out of aluminum if necessary but uh what part that plays i i don't know is there any significance to the saucer shape the geometry having to do with any resonance or anything of that nature not any resonance but it's important most of the edges on the craft around it because a high voltage field does appear at most
(2:05:53) of the craft except for the upper the last upper bump there's a little ring before that now i'm only talking about one craft so i don't know about the rest but there's a small ring before that a darker black one and that's an insulator ring and that's the only place above that that upper section the third level is where high voltage does not appear did any technology that came from the aliens resemble anything that we can do today but we advance to any degree that they are well there are some basic
(2:06:25) things [Music] the fact that they are using a little accelerator with smaller you know we have things like that if that's what you're getting at anything really advanced uh well as far as controlling gravity waves yeah other than the fact that just the way the craft operates you know by manipulating gravity that's that's about it really well i wanted to ask you talking about metal version what you observed in terms of the structure the skin of it thickness because you know there were reports from (2:07:03) roswell other where that there was a very thin type of metal skin that was really undamageable and so on well i called it metal and uh i really can't say that's what it was i called it metal because i slid my hand across it and it was cold and it was semi you know lustrous so did you notice any place like where you know on an edge or something where it may have been a lot thinner than your standard metal or balloon aircraft it's hard from the outside you can't tell when you walk in the way the (2:07:38) the way the archways are inside

Transcript:
(00:01) no there was no absolutely no et craft et technology anything like that at area 51 this is why s4 was made specifically to separate it there people at area 51 do not have the clearance i was paid by the department of naval intelligence and what they're doing researching extraterrestrial craft is beyond me but that's that's where my checks came from so i can only assume that they were in charge of that at one time the russians were involved and supposedly there was some breakthrough made by our team however this project was split
(00:41) up and right after that happened uh the russians were no longer permitted on the facility at all and uh you know that's that's all i know about it what was discovered why they were kicked out when they started working with us is all unknown to me i was put into the briefing room with a 121 or 22 briefings and really was just told to sit and read through them i think they were there just to mainly educate me on on what was going on they weren't a complete in in-depth explanation on everything else but just uh essentially a brief synopsis
(01:23) on some of the other projects that were going on there supposedly the information now this isn't something that i determined it's something i was told that the crafts originated from uh a planet that orbited the zeta reticuli star systems that articulate one and zeta articulate two or two two stars of a binary star system uh the craft allegedly came from there one or two autopsy photographs i saw uh dealt with just a small photograph a bus shot essentially just head shoulders and chest of an alien where the uh (01:58) chest was cut open in t fashion and one single organ was removed uh the organ itself and then in the other picture was uh cut and vivisection essentially the showing the different chambers in there this was totally unrelated to anything i was doing but from that photograph it looked like what you see in ufo lore as the

typical gray so how tall it was from what i could see i i couldn't tell because i only saw a portion of the photograph but if everything else you see is correct i would imagine it was three and a half or four feet tall but (02:36) uh there again you know all i had to see was a photograph and you know i didn't have much to go on allegedly this interaction has occurred since you know man was a simian creature and uh you know there were genetic alterations made how specifically did the briefings detail how the aliens manipulated our genetics over the centuries it mentioned 65 or 63 corrections or additions to the genetic makeup that finally resulted in you know a human creature allegedly this interaction has occurred since you know man was a simian creature
(03:27) and uh you know there were genetic alterations made how specifically did the briefings detail how the aliens manipulated our genetics over the centuries it mentioned 65 or 63 corrections or additions to the genetic makeup uh that finally resulted in you know a human creature allegedly obviously i i didn't see this and i don't know it to be fact but this is what i was told that i was hired to replace one of a couple people that were killed while working on one of the reactors from one of the crafts apparently they (04:09) for whatever reason cut open an operating reactor and the device exploded killing both of them the scientists that were killed there allegedly the detonation from the explosion was fairly large it would have rivaled a small tactical nuke so it was done at the nevada test site and it was to be passed off as an unannounced nuclear nuclear test again this is a story that was relayed to me and uh allegedly what happened in 79 there was some sort of information exchange going on where there were actual live aliens at the facility
(04:47) and at one particular point there was an area where some security personnel went to enter and apparently because not the sidearms but the bullets and the sidearms from what i understand if they would have entered the area the bullets would have detonated and supposedly one of the creatures tried to stop the security personnel from entering the area and a fight ensued and the bottom line from the altercation was that the security personnel i don't remember how many were involved but were all killed and they died of (05:27) head wounds and that's all that all that i heard of that story there were 22 people with majestic clearance i had majestic clearance majestic clearance was designated as clearance 38 levels above q clearance and q clearance is the civilian top secret clearance it probably really hit me when i got inside the craft and looked around and began to understand how the craft was operated and finally grasped the whole project as a whole as what we were doing the fact that we weren't building this thing we were trying to find out how it
(06:07) was made we were back engineering it normally the bus pulled around to the opposite end of the facility which was the main entrance and that's where we went in on this particular occasion it pulled up to one of the hangar doors which were normally closed and the last one was open we came out and i saw the disc in the hangar upon seeing it it struck me that well this explains all the ufo sightings not thinking that it was an extraterrestrial craft that this must have been some advanced form of fighter that we've been working on (06:40) for years and you know people have just caught it being tested so on and so forth and it never even occurred to me even though i was looking at an extraterrestrial vehicle that you know this wasn't man-made uh people have asserted that boy that must have been the most exciting time in your life and that's not the way it was when i first got to look inside the craft the all i can say it's an ominous feeling you walk in there and uh it's it feels as if you shouldn't be there i know that sounds kind of corny but it's (07:12) real ominous feeling it's not an exciting feeling uh it brings up a whole lot of questions in your mind well where did this come from and you know that they won't give you the answers to the whole story but it's uh that's the only way i can describe it there are nine and their shapes vary i only got to do a close inspection on one of them uh the others i just briefly saw and they they pretty much varied i give everything nicknames there the one i worked on was kind of sleek looking and i gave it the name the sport
(07:44) model there was one that looked like a jello mold there was one that looked like a top hat there was a disc that was turned up on its side and it had a large projectile hole with the metal bent outwards on it i can only surmise they were testing it to see if you know projectile could penetrate it of course it's just a guess on my part but for the most part they were pretty pretty varied i only entered the sport model the other ones i wasn't allowed to loiter around to go near really even to look at i just at one

(08:23) point walking through the hangar doors all the bay doors between all the hangers were open and i got a glimpse all the way down uh the whole corridor but that was the only time it was ever open the lower level of the craft the floor itself is hexagonal a little hexagonal squares and the hatch or if you want to call it a hatch the access way to get in there is an ingenious little assembly it's a honeycomb and if you put your fingers and went into the honeycomb and push all the honeycombs will collapse in on each
(08:59) other making a hole it's kind of a neat uh a neat doorway something that we could you know use i don't know what for but i mean it's it's something that i haven't seen before and it's kind of a novel idea but a very efficient lightweight very strong uh access way i had to hang upside down in there to see the lower the lower level essentially and there were three large gravity amplifiers these devices looked like about a two foot diameter four foot long piece of pipe hanging by a smaller piece of pipe
(09:38) from the level above and they can be independently positioned and that's what what emits the gravitational waves that propel the craft and there were three large gravity amplifiers these devices looked like about a two foot diameter four foot long piece of pipe hanging by a smaller piece of pipe from the level above and they can be independently positioned uh and that's what what emits the gravitational waves that propel the craft the second level was the only other level that i was on it was the main level
(10:15) that contained the reactor where the seating was the gravity amplifiers themselves though we also called the devices that hung down on the lower level the gravity amplifiers because they're really one in the same they were probably the wave guides or horns if you want to relate that to microwaves um it would be extremely inconvenient for a human pilot humans really can't even function in there the because of the ceiling clearance uh the seats were so tiny it was obviously made for a creature much smaller than a human (10:51) it produces a gravity wave which is similar to the gravity wave that the earth produces however the craft phase shifts the wave in other words it it turns the wave not really in an opposite polarity but something to that effect where it will work against the natural gravity wave of the earth and it produces a lift in that effect well the craft generates its own gravitational field being inside that field essentially it doesn't shield you but essentially you're in and this is a terrible way to say it almost in a different realm because
(11:36) you're you're now influenced only by that gravitational field for instance people wonder how a craft like this can make a turn at such high speed a 90 degree turn when they would imagine people slamming up against the wall or something to that effect well that really wouldn't happen inertia would have no effect you're you're in a distortion and don't forget that gravity distorts time and space so really nothing is going to influence you while you're in there there are three amplifiers
(12:08) the craft can operate on a single one can lift off the ground the way in which gets propelled are two different ways there's what they call omicron configuration where the craft is using one generator or a delta configuration where it's utilizing all three delta configuration would be for space travel essentially the craft will tilt up on its side as opposed to a science fiction movie where you see a flying saucer moving around the craft will tilt up on its side focus the three gravity generators to a single point and move through space
(12:47) that way moving around the source of gravity is a problem to a disc because it's interference essentially so what they do is they work with that interference to their benefit they'll use one gravity generator to lift the craft off the ground and as opposed to what we're used to for instance a plane once it's in the air we envision thrust or some force coming out the back of it to push it forward the crafts work completely opposite of that what they do is once they're hovering in the air they'll swing the gravity two remaining (13:23) gravity generators up in front of them and create a distortion essentially a downhill and the craft rolls downhill for infinity it's always chasing a little distortion that's why they look goofy when they fly around at low speed because they're essentially and anytime you run over you know the gravity field around the earth is not completely constant and stable depending on the minerals and density of the earth underneath it that gravity will vary somewhat and you will get odd movements of the craft so (13:57) its low speed mode is is kind of unstable for the most part i only witnessed

one test flight up close officially that i was in just inside the hangar uh the test was going up probably you know just as the sun was going down and it was a low performance test i believe there were some pilots or test pilots in the craft the craft must have been retrofitted to fit them because the seating arrangements were really not accommodating um they were in radio communication with the craft the craft lifted off the ground virtually noiseless other than a small (14:39) corona discharge in the bottom of the craft indicating the presence of high voltage that dissipated at about 30 feet and it stood there completely silently and moved over to the left to the right and sat back down that was the entire test however that was an extremely impressive test uh maybe to someone that really knows a little about science or anything that that wouldn't be a whole lot but you have to realize this craft was about 52 feet in diameter i don't know exactly how much it weighed but it weighed a lot
(15:13) and this was quite quite a scientific feat to lift something completely silently under control and you know perform a maneuver like that the craft itself was uh i assume it was metal it was cold to the touch that's why i say it was metal but it was a uh brushed aluminum actually just an unfinished stainless steel not shiny finish to it had no seams it was a as if it was injection molded from one giant die i was completely amazed i gravity is something difficult to explain because it's something that we essentially don't understand is (15:55) just something that we can observe not much is really known about gravity uh there are many theories about it but they are just mainly theories there's theories of gravitons which allege that there these are these subatomic particles that act like an attractive force like gravity that exchange between two pieces of matter there is also a theory that gravity is a form of wave an electromagnetic wave but basically gravity is a force it's uh it's it's the attraction it was the inherent property of matter
(16:30) to have gravity a mutual attraction for each other and that's it it's basically all that we really know modern science current science right now identifies one gravity it's one force in nature uh apparently through research at s4 or information gained from one of the crafts they were researching there it appears that there are two different forms of gravity one form works on an atomic scale on subatomic particles holding pieces of matter holding atoms themselves together another works on a larger scale the (17:07) scale we're most familiar with uh holding planets in orbit holding ourselves to the ground things of that sort because it produces a gravitational field i i wouldn't say the craft is invisible during the day however if you're under the craft because of the way the gravity is being used gravity bends time and space and it bends light if you are looking underneath the craft or from certain vantage points you will actually see what's above the craft it's a it's really a trick of the way light bends under the (17:42) influence of gravity for instance we can see stars that are behind the sun that are blocked from our view by the sun the reason we can see them is because the sun is a tremendous gravitational field and it's bending the light around it where we can see the star space space-time and gravity are all essentially interrelated they all act on one another gravity bends space gravity also distorts time when you vary one you essentially vary the other two if you as an example if you have a massive body say a planet or something that's making
(18:23) a lot of gravity producing a lot of gravitational waves if you will it distorts space it bends space to it it also slows down time these things aren't theories we know them to be true we cannot artificially create this because we can't create gravity but this is how they're all interrelated how are vast distances of space traveled by amplifying a gravitational field well because space time and gravity are all interrelated if you could produce gravity artificially an extremely intense field of gravity
(19:06) what you could do is actually distort the distance between two objects and make it shorter not just distorting the distance but now you're also decreasing the time the actual time between the two places so you're not traveling in a linear mode like flying a spacecraft from point a to point b you've actually modified the time and the space that you travel in so you're now traversing a huge amount of distance with little time and actually with traveling little distance as crazy as it seems that that's what's going on (19:45) there are several problems traveling at the speed of light just a couple of them are the fact that as your speed increases so does your mass proportionally in other words the more energy you put in to go faster begins to slow you down by the fact that it's converted into mass you have other problems like just traveling at such an extreme velocity navigational problems the fact that you might run into little tiny micro meteorites at speeds like this they would undoubtedly destroy your craft there's just a a whole host (20:24) of problems that you're going to run into uh just attempting to do something like that aside from the fact the amount of energy required to accelerate to the speed of light is uh horrendous project sidekick was another project going on with galileo galileo was the project that i was involved in sidekick dealt with any of the weapon potential of the craft whether or not the craft had a weapon in it or could it be used as a weapon but it's had something to do with some sort of particle beam uh configuration where the gravity

(20:57) generator can be used as a lens to focus focus a weapon of some sort similar to the sdi device we were working on in the uh the 80s but with the potential of a focusing device using the gravity generator project looking glass dealt with the distortion the fact that there's a time distortion essentially looking back in time and by that i do not mean looking back years ago to see the wagon train days they're looking for distortions that are milliseconds in time and what what that was used for i i don't know
(21:29) but that was uh just observing the time that the time distortion time dilation phenomena the craft and operation 115 is strictly an extraterrestrial material it probably occurs naturally and some other places maybe other star systems some people not familiar with science or chemistry say well that's ridiculous all the elements occur on earth you know but that's not true there are elements on the periodic chart that aren't found on earth i believe the heavy ion research lab in darmstadt germany has reached element 112 recently so
(22:07) 115 isn't isn't that far away and when they synthesize it it's not like they're making a a couple ounces of it they're talking about one or two atoms of it to make any usable quantity of a heavy element like that is virtually impossible element 115 is in the top of the reactor and the base of the reactor apparently is a small something similar to a cyclotron it's a particle accelerator a particle is accelerated to high speed and then deflect it up a small tube and it's aimed at the 115. this transmutes the
(22:46) 115 similar to the way we we do that in a normal particle accelerator this causes a reaction a radiation emission that we really haven't seen before it produces antimatter this antimatter is guided down a tuned tube and reacts with a gas when matter and antimatter react they convert to a hundred percent energy this energy is converted heat energy is converted to electrical power in the reactor itself this is done through a a thermoelectric converter and this electrical power is used to power other subsystems on the craft so
(23:34) there is no wiring you know also that's almost a byproduct of the reactor the reactor also sets up a gravitational wave from the 115 being bombarded this gravitational wave was present at the top of the reactor and is essentially guided in the same way microwaves are guided through tuned tubes and this goes to their amplifying cavities and through the projectors that are in the bottom of the craft there is no thermal radiation while the reactor is running the thermionic generator is 100 efficient which is in violation of the (24:10) first law of thermodynamics but in fact it works element 115 is stable and for those familiar with chemistry we know that elements with higher atomic numbers have shorter and shorter half-lives however when you reach a certain point they call it the island of stability there is a place and we've theorized this for a long time somewhere around 114 to 116 there should be an area in there where the nucleus of the atom is geometrically stable with protons and neutrons where it it no longer decays it's not radioactive 115 is in fact this element
(24:56) in fact it does occur again somewhere around element 247 of course we're nowhere near synthesizing that we can only you know predict things like that but that's that's where 115 whether or not it was given to us i i can't answer that question however i was told that we have 500 pounds by one of my co-workers uh how it was obtained and you know where exactly it came from i don't know whether it came in one of the crafts or you know with separate cargo somewhere anyone can speculate but i was i was (25:33) told that was the figure the test flights i saw off the base actually the the best test flight was witnessed by my friends who i brought out there at the uh exact moment the craft was hopping around and doing some really impressive maneuvers i had turned around and i think was uh looking for the video camera or something to that effect but i missed some of the most uh impressive maneuvers but the craft was

uh similar to what was done before that i had seen close up other than the fact that it went above the mountain range (26:05) uh moved a much greater distance at a much higher rate of speed the test flight schedules were told to me specifically because i was probably going to have to be present during those times and at that time the test flights were taking place on wednesday nights and from what they said that was because that was statistically the least amount of traffic in the area and that's all that they were concerned about there was a high voltage discharge on the bottom of the craft but as far as there being an exhaust there was not
(26:40) well that's kind of the same reason why a neon light or a fluorescent light lights up what you're dealing with with is a high energy source in essentially a gas atmosphere oxygen nitrogen and when you apply enough energy to a gas molecule they emit photons they emit light and i don't think it's anything it's really a byproduct of how the craft operates when it's emitting that much energy the gas surrounding the craft emits light the same reason why lightning is visible you have a huge electrical (27:15) discharge and the gas emits light in the form of lightning bolt if you were going to see one of these crafts at night operating it would appear really as a glowing ball or a just a bright light in the sky from a distance even close up you'd see a glowing halo around it this is typically what you'd see in your normal ufo sighting when i was leaving the area 51 facility heading down to s4 there was a tremendous roar and i've described it as the sound like the sky was tearing and i couldn't see out the windows of the (27:56) bus all i can see out was the very front and as we came by i asked dennis who was my supervisor and on the bus at that time what that was he said it was an aurora a high altitude research plane and um it was a large craft and the one glimpse i got of it was from the rear and it had two huge square exhausts with veins in them and uh it was just it sounded more like a rocket than a jet i don't know i'd even think he did mention that it was liquid methane powered but um there again you know working on the disc technology
(28:37) i really could care less what was rolling around at area 51 but i i it did catch my eye one day when i was getting on interstate 15 driving down charleston boulevard a car came up alongside of me and i thought he was just trying to race me to get on the freeway this was after i had left the project it was a white boxy looking car exactly what make and model i don't know but i accelerated to get on the freeway to go fast and there was a gunshot and the back of the car was hit and i skidded off into the median and i stopped and i was frightened and i
(29:24) just stood there because i thought the guy was going to be alongside of me and just shoot me i had nothing to do i was essentially paralyzed with with fear and i waited there and then nothing else happened wasn't it i mean it was an attempt on my life but by who specifically wasn't it i mean it was an attempt on my life but by who specifically i i don't know though i was threatened uh before i had left and they threatened my wife's life and my life so i can only put two and two together and say that (29:52) they were kind of pissed at me after we were caught out when i had the test flight schedule and i brought some friends out to show him the disc test we got caught out there and the following day i was debriefed down at indian springs air force base and um [Music] i was in the room with the security guards that caught us my supervisor and some other people and some of the security personnel uh yeah they were essentially grilling me about security and you know how could i possibly bring people out there and i guess i wasn't as responsive as they
(30:35) would like and they got in my face and one of them pulled the sidearm out you know just pushed it for a very brief time after i left dennis who was my supervisor did try and make contact with me at the uh the meeting place was the union plaza hotel and i took a friend of mine jean huff down there and another friend a former colleague and scientist from los alamos and we did we saw him but i also did recognize some security personnel walking around there from s force whether or not it was a set up or what was going on or was trying to talk
(31:13) to me we never found out and we left it just was a real strange situation i never heard from him since well if you want to work the question how are my opinions changed i would say considerably before i was at s4 i was more or less one of the uh one of the guys that thought you know all these government conspiracy and ufo buffs and things like that were complete lunatics i even remember before i was involved there a friend showed me a little newspaper clipping and said john lear was giving a lecture who was uh touting that

(31:54) aliens from another world came to earth and there's 70 different species and i remember laughing on the phone that this guy had lost his mind and uh i was also under the impression that you know well the government's all for the people and they you know you know they're out here to protect us and all that you know after the experiences i had there uh everything is completely turned around you know the government is doing everything but uh looking out for us i mean the only thing they're looking at (32:25) is for themselves you know obviously the et craft do exist something had to build them so there must be aliens and since there are in the crafter there there must be some sort of factory and an entire civilization somewhere and if in fact that is true and it apparently is then there must be others actual crafts and technology from another world and that's probably the most important event in history he kind of moved from science fiction into reality in my mind and it really just i guess opened my eyes the big thing is whether or not (33:09) we can duplicate it if we can understand what a device is or how something operates or what its physical makeup is that's great but if we can't duplicate it it's useless to us so there's really two phases to the project going on there it's understanding what we're looking at and then once we understand it is can we duplicate it with earthly materials and earthly technology and you know unless we've got a handle on both of them all that technology is useless to us and if it turns out we can't do that all we (33:42) have is one single prized possession that we have to take care of and that's it after all i would probably have played along for a longer time i would like to have known a little bit more about the technology and probably kept quiet if i could have um and possibly never have said anything yeah i almost wish i had done that you know it's uh it's really only caused headaches and problems but i believe if i was given the opportunity again to go back in time and redo it i think i pretty much would have just shut
(34:26) up and gone along with the program i would have much preferred that instead of the navy or whoever it was that hand-picked a few renegade scientists here and there that they turn it over to some more qualified people obviously i was not the most qualified person on propulsion or field propulsion or anything of that sort i was just some guy i mean they could have picked i could have named 10 or 12 other guys that were more qualified than me but you know if they turned it over to the scientific community and not just a
(34:59) couple guys here in the united states i mean you need a large group of people in a large lab to research what's going on there uh not a little quiet installation it's the it's the security itself that prevents them from getting anywhere i mean it they never do work hand in hand you can't have a military mind science itself must communicate you have to have a free exchange of ideas that's how things progress and when you clamp down on a security system like that where you work in isolated groups and ideas cannot be (35:40) exchanged you don't get anywhere and that's that's the problem they have well i'm not really involved in any of that stuff anymore that's kind of put behind me i have my own businesses that i work at some computer graphics some consultation other technical jobs radiation detectors and a few other things like that um so really i just go about my life and that's you know something that happened that was fantastic and and it's over but uh it's kind of hard to shake it loose but eventually i will and that'll be that
(36:15) i think all the surveillance and everything stopped i don't think anyone's bothering to monitor me i've said everything that i know it's been all over the place so it's kind of a done deal as far as whether or not there are any craft out there i believe you know they were out and gone in probably the late 89 early 90s and the only thing people see now out there are you know either flares or planes coming into land but that's about it i was never interested in flying saucers as a child science fiction you know i
(36:49) watched star trek i guess with everyone else back then but for the most part you know i didn't even believe in flying saucers up until i was employed at s4 i couldn't help at one point in my discussions with privately with general secretary gorbachev when you stop to think that we're all god's children wherever we may live in the world i couldn't help but say to him just think how easy his task and mine might be in these meetings that we held if suddenly there was a threat to this world from some other species (37:34) from another planet outside in the universe we'd forget all the local differences that we have between our countries and we would find out once and for all that we really are all human beings here on this earth together well i don't suppose we can wait for some alien race to come down and threaten us but i think that between us we can bring about that realization thank you all god bless who says he will no longer hide the truth bob lazar claims our government captured alien spaceships ufos and keeps them in (38:14) a secret warehouse and that's not all bob says uncle sam hired him to figure out how they fly if you're skeptical you have plenty of company lazar has been questioned and criticized he even had to take a lie detector test and that's when some people started believing him dan housley has the inside report and wants to blow the lid off what could be the greatest story never told and the people who seem to be trying to stop him strange lights over las vegas within view of tourists and gamblers along the (38:54) city's casino road what are the odds these are alien spacecraft out for an evening spin or would you bet they're simply standard aircraft or worse yet some kind of hoax before you decide take a look at another shot on this home video where what does appear to be an aircraft strays into view along with the lights strange things like this have been appearing over the nevada desert for years the answer to the mystery may lie in the sprawling nevada nuclear test site just north of the city in a place called area

(39:31) 51 area 51 is known by other names groom lake dreamland the skunk works it's an isolated military facility where the us develops its most top-secret projects the u-2 spy plane was developed here so was its replacement the high-flying blackbird along with the current stealth aircraft and star wars but there are some who believe these formerly secret projects are nothing compared to what's currently under wraps not too many people live out here in the remote sections of the nevada desert far from the lights of las vegas
(40:07) but here on the edge of the secret u.s government test facilities people have been seeing strange things for years some of them talk about it a lot of them don't but no one who has actually worked on the test site has ever talked about what goes on there no one that is until now they are actively and having their possession uh alien spacecraft and they are actively uh undergoing analysis and flying and flying them bob lazar is an engineer and physicist who says he worked on flying saucers for the u.s government at (40:43) area 51. he drew these sketches of one of nine different saucers he says the government has in a secret warehouse lazar gave the saucers each names according to their various shapes top hat the sport model the jello mold called in to help figure out how they work lazar says the saucers are powered by an anti-matter generator fueled with the element which he says could only have come from another planet they set up and produce their own gravitational field just as the earth holds all matter down they produce that
(41:21) same field but out of phase and it repels itself the effects that can cause the way in which everything operates is is by all intensive purposes magic i mean it is so far beyond uh our level of technology now before you toss lazar on the pile with all the other ufo wackos understand that he willingly agreed to take a lie detector test requested and independently arranged by a las vegas reporter terry tabernetti is the ex-cop who administered the test if he's lying he ought to be in hollywood because he gave absolutely no
(42:03) physiological indications of attempting deception lazar says he was referred to his government job by dr edward teller the renowned scientist who helped develop the atomic bomb but in a rare interview with inside report teller insisted he doesn't know lazar or at least doesn't remember him i think it it appears that someone's trying to wipe them out george knapp is the las vegas tv reporter who first aired at bob lazar's amazing flames he says he ran into unusual problems just trying to look into lazar's background
(42:36) though lazar claimed to have once worked at the los alamos national laboratory government officials denied they knew anything about him but when knapp came up with a phone directory listing lazar's name los alamos grudgingly admitted he had spent some time there officials at the hospital where lazar was born even denied the simple fact he was born there until nap tracked down the doctor who delivered lazar i find bob to be credible and and the main reason is because the story hasn't changed it stayed from the beginning (43:06) it's been the same uh it hasn't expanded like some of these ufo tales you hear it's been the same and we've been through a lot of different interview sessions many on camera many more off camera and it stayed exactly the same consistent but even inside the community of ufo believers there are many who are skeptical of bob

lazar's claims nuclear physicist stanton friedman says mazar may indeed be the real thing but he says he can also believe lazar might be a hoaxer or worse yet a government agent spreading false stories
(43:38) designed to cover more important secrets i find bob lazar as somebody who isn't silly who doesn't say totally stupid things who comes across well but i certainly until i get verification cannot endorse the legitimacy of what he is saying bob lazar says he quit his job working on the government saucers when his bosses began harassing him because he was letting others in on the big secret but now that others are greeting his claims with skepticism and outright hostility he says he wishes he just kept his big mouth shut
(44:11) lazar says he never took the idea of breaking security lightly he just wanted to let the world in on a story he says we all should have been told why keep a secret about probably one of the most important events in history that there's been contact from an alien civilization it's a significant event in history more significant than anything could be we'll see well

Transcript:
(00:01) well guys the day has finally come today we are privileged to be sitting down with two men who are making huge waves throughout the alien and UFO research Community the first is investigative journalist activist and filmmaker Jeremy Corbell The Man Behind the upcoming documentary we're talking about today and the other is a man that most of you have only heard whispers about over the past 30 or so years a man that among other things brought the very existence of Area 51 to light and is said to have actually worked on recovered alien craft
(00:39) at the secretive military base Mr Bob Lazar gentlemen it's an honor to have you both here thank you for coming on today and uh we uh really appreciate it millions of people appreciate this thanks so much thanks yeah I appreciate it man well um as well I'm sure you know Jeremy many of the audience members my audience members have commented that they didn't think this day would ever come Bob you have become sort of a UFO Legend and icon over the years and especially to the younger generations of people curious about the UFO topic
(01:17) because the world wanted it and now it's here finally we have this definitive documentary on your life so the first thing I want to ask you both is was this a smooth process creating this film Welly that's a tough question that is that it's kind of it was a a long arduous process and um oh clearly much more difficult for Jeremy than for me yeah I don't know uh if that's true I mean Bob you know lived uh you know this you know experience for 30 years so I don't know who's more difficult for but (01:55) I think the the joke in in it all is no it's not been a totally smooth Road um Bob has you know he didn't ask me to make a movie I begged him to make a movie um but I'm really glad that he allowed me to do it because I think where we ended up is somewhere really powerful where the people that have never heard his story will now get to hear it and um they'll hear it in its true form they won't hear the lies and they won't hear the uh propaganda and the things that aren't true they're (02:23) going to hear it straight and of course they'll hear a portion of it but a man's life for 30 years is much bigger than an hour and a half movie right well I mean that my motivation was simply getting out an accurate account of what's going on cuz there is so much nonsense that's been repeated on the internet and distorted and um so really I was just looking for a a vehicle to get the true story out yeah right right and I I think for 30 years now that has been what people have been waiting for (02:58) now if I could ask you Jeremy could you tell us a little about what originally what it was that got you interested to speak with Bob about his experiences and get this sort of thing you know get the ball rolling so to say yeah I mean real simple I think like most of your listeners uh if they were born in 1989 already I was 13 years old and I heard Bob on the radio uh and George knp interviewing him and it really I like to say it weaponized my my curiosity in that uh when I heard what he said about the uh gravity propulsion system it kind (03:34) of flipped the script for me because I was aware of rockets and that kind of thing but the idea of falling into place in space and time I mean it was just really cool and the technology of it and the propulsion system that got me curious and from that day forward I was listening exactly and and um as you said earlier there's been a ton of uh disinformation I mean a lot of the videos that I've made surrounding Bob have just been the same old info that's out there I mean there hasn't been really anything new in all of these (04:06) years and so I really don't know if a lot of the stuff that I referenced regarding his experiences was true uh half true and so I wanted to ask some questions here that I know my audience would would love to hear to you Bob now you have said that you worked at S4 on did you say there were at least nine craft that you knew of alien craft at this secretive site yeah there were absolutely nine yeah okay now apart from the sleer sports model craft that you had mentioned in the past can you give us an idea uh perhaps of what the (04:43) condition of the other craft were in were they totaled were they shot down in a perfect condition as if they'd been gifted to the military what what type of condition were they in if you could say the condition uh of all the craft with the except ception of one which it looked like uh they had intentionally fired a projectile at uh just to see if the projectile would penetrate it but with the exception of that craft everything looked like it was new now I've heard stories and you know read on the internet about you know theories about

(05:21) them being gifted or Crash Landing clearly none of them crashed at all now my gut feeling and this is my gut feeling I have no information on this that I almost believe that this this was some sort of archaeological find in some way so I don't I don't think I don't think there was a I don't think there was a an exchange like we're going to give you a bunch of crafter um I just and again I I really can't say why it's just because of the mutterings of my supervisor and the other people that (05:56) worked there and it was very compartmentalized as I understand it I mean it was it was basically here's what you need to know and you don't need to know anything else is that basically how it was yeah we worked on the buddy system and you know when I worked on nuclear weapons at Los Alamos it's it's it's similar you know you don't get to know the entire project how everything works you you're assigned a component of it and you work on that component and you unlike Los Alamos and other places
(06:27) there is no free open discussion and open discussion is really what propels science forward uh that's the one problem I really had down at S4 you know they worked on the buddy system uh my lab buddy quote unquote was uh Barry and you're only given really one person to bounce ideas off of and you can talk to him in fact when you go have lunch at the facility you can only sit with him and you can only talk with him you can't talk with other people or exchange ideas and that in itself can thwart uh you know the entire project
(07:05) moving forward but um it's yeah it's very compartmentalized so it was really just Barry and I working on that one small subcomponent at that time right and I think I'm I'm really glad you said that because that's a message I've been trying to communicate to especially the younger viewers out there who in this sort of high paced internet age they want everything now they want all of the answers right now now and so they come to me and they hear that I may be speaking with you and Jeremy and they (07:35) say well look if you're talking to the most well-known name in ufology if you're talking to Bob well he should know all the answers you should be able to get every answer about aliens where they come from you should be able to lay it out for me in a nice summary and I try to let them know this is not how things work Bob was a part he's one of many everything was very compartmentalized and so you do have answers but you don't have the full scope because you were just a link in the chain as it happens working there
(08:05) but your story is fascinating in and of itself and I I'd like to Pivot to Jeremy here and ask you sort of a double question Jeremy if I could first of all with this film and with others is it true that you do everything yourself as far as filming interviewing recording audio editing are you truly an independent filmmaker and at the same time being an indep dependent and doing a film like this very controversial film uh have you ran into anything during the making of this any sort of push back uh things happening or from people or (08:43) places that didn't want this film to come out you know um Tyler well first of all look man yeah I'm a completely independent filmmaker people don't understand what that means I also film in the artour fashion which basically means I I do everything I edit I film I I finance it so yeah I'm totally independent uh my life you know doing this is dependent upon people liking it so if you watch my films it directly affects me so yes I'm an independent completely independent filmmaker the second part of your question is have I

(09:16) been resisted in any way in doing uh this film I was going to just say no I'm just like laughing now um so the answer to that is I had never been in anyway um resisted only assisted people have only helped me in the process of making films they encourage me they give me tips so actually personally yeah no I I personally I have never ever experienced anything that would try to stop me from making a film I'll just leave it at that right well uh certainly we do know that Bob again from what we know that is (09:53) public or that he has said himself he has had a great amount of push back over the years from coming out and and what he's done done and you know I think one of the biggest questions on my viewers Minds as well as mine to Bob here is if I may ask bluntly if you did what you did and it it it looks like you got someone scared I mean I believe that you are telling the truth 100% so let's just say if you did it how are you still alive well clearly that was the whole point of coming out and saying what I did look you just can't kill people as (10:31) soon as they say something all it does is underline what they said and immediately get everybody looking in that direction you know that the fact that I said um what I did and told him my experiences down at S4 that was done to protect myself I had already been shot at before that and um you know so it it works in the opposite of of what most people think right right to to to take us down would would only be to further validate our claims basically exactly exactly I'll tell you a little thing real quick just you know people
(11:08) don't know the humanity of this the actual experience so you know no matter what you think or what you can make up in your mind Bob came forward to protect himself that's what happened right and he didn't come forward you know o you know openly like oh yeah let's do this man I mean George knp and Paul Lazar physically wrestled on the ground the day that the tape was being put in to reveal his identity George told me the story I recorded it and and and Bob told me the story so you have to understand look at it that way I it's (11:39) hilarious I mean obviously George won you know he's he wipes my way yeah yeah it's like you know that was the deal man whether you understand it or believe it or not um I've come to truly understand that Bob came forward to protect himself well it it's kind of more complicated than that you know this doesn't I know everybody's used to watching Hollywood films and things of that sort you know and that's not how real life goes you don't shoot you know bullets into a gas tank and they explode into giant
(12:09) Fireballs that stuff doesn't happen you know and it doesn't work like that either they don't the only time they would go out of their way to kill someone is if they are consistently releasing increasingly damaging information the thing is I released all the damaging information initially and I was done there was nothing else to say there was no reason to stop me any further right what they do at that point they did do they began to destroy your friends and family people I know have you know we audited by the IRS people
(12:42) that had security clearances and other jobs of that sort had their clearances pulled so they begin to destroy the world around you so you lose your support group it's a lot more complicated than people think or Hollywood portrays was it true that you were shot at at one point in time yes yes I was shot at uh on the on Charleston Boulevard getting on to the the freeway in in Las Vegas yeah in your opinion do you think that was part of that sort of campaign to just discredit they they know they can't kill you but
(13:17) they know that they can spend years trying to discredit you hurting you and your family now those pop shots that they took at you do you think that was a part of that maybe just to scare you was it just a lone woof do you think it anything to do with it or was it just one of those freak things where you were like well what the hell was that but you got away and that was it you never you never found out what that was from I don't know I I think it was just essentially terrorism um you know like I think we mentioned in the movie there (13:48) were times uh my friend and I would go out uh to work at a a health club there and you know all the car doors and you know drunken Hood would be open I mean there were constant things that that let me know that you know they could gain access or do whatever they wanted to right and uh they were on you quite yeah quite frankly it really was wearing me down at the time I uh I really wasn't sure what I was going to do George tells a lot of this story he says you know he always told me for all these years I (14:21) mean you know George has been a mentor to me in journalism he's uh broke the story with Bob in 1989 uh he has said to me over and over when I first started talking to him he goes you're never going to get it cuz you weren't there I was there he says he goes I saw it this is real this happened someone didn't want Bob talking they wanted to mess with him then they did mess with him so I guess the point is you know looking at it now 30 years later from our outside views you know it's different than the people that (14:52) lived it and I've talked to a lot of them now a lot of them that lived some of them went on camera with me for the movie so I just want to kind of put a exclamation point on what Bob said you know right this is real it is real I mean from from the thousands of videos that I've done and again I just sort of take take what comes to me I try to correlate I post it to YouTube and I do stories on people like you and Bob and from what I'm found you know it's extremely real they're definitely covering it up it's an ongoing cover up

(15:24) um you know and my question for for Bob would be you know what what is your opinion Bob on the state of I guess you'd call it the UFO movement where we have Guys Like Me on YouTube but we have many others putting out movies and books a lot of them in my opinion charlatans that's why I don't do interviews with them but they do have huge followings a lot of disinformation so you know was it that that kind of caused you to come back into the spotlight and if not what was it that that made you say okay it's (15:57) been long enough I'm going to come back back out and tell the truth of exactly what happened and do this film what was your major your uh you know your your stepstone to doing that well if you're talking about the stepstone to doing the movie with Jeremy um well I mean that certainly played a part there was so much nonsense getting passed around and it began to grow and fester as time went on because I never challenged any of it and people began to build on it and it it got to ridiculous portions and uh I mean that was really
(16:32) shocking and and you know as you mentioned anytime I looked on the internet or read any UFO material it was so blatantly nonsense and whether it's Facebook or Twitter or I mean I don't I'm not really into any social media but there you can find people that were I me pretending to be me on on on everything I even was listening one time on an AM radio driving I think it was to New Mexico from Las Vegas and it was late night I turned the radio on just to you know keep myself awake and it was a UFO program so I turned it on on talk radio
(17:12) and here's a guy that that was talking about yeah I had lunch with Bob Lazar yesterday and look he told me all this new it was all nonsense so I mean all of this was just constantly going on and I heard so much nonsense uh I mean from people Liv interviews with rep reptilians on YouTube and it's crazy so the the sad thing is that yeah there's probably two or 3% true and accurate information out there but how especially today the way information is disseminated around on the internet how are you going to dig through 98%
(17:48) nonsense and mine out the 2% it's almost impossible it is almost impossible I mean in in a small way that's what I attempt to do uh with secure team I I get I have multip people working for me they bring me you know research summaries every day I try to sift through it it's hard to do anything from a computer screen I mean some things you just need to get out there and do but as you said it's probably 3% of it is real and you know it reminds me of a time where again someone had come on to my (18:19) channel posted a comment they had your face as their little uh you know screen name face there and said hey guys Bob Lazar here you know ask anything you want you know write in the comments of one of my videos and I said there's no way but it was amazing to see how many people were brought in by that totally fooled by it I think I ended up deleting uh the comment after I finally figured it out I I highly doubt Bob would just pop up in the comment section after all these years and you know I just so you're right I mean the only you know
(18:49) for a brief period Bob was trying to answer questions on Twitter and that just was overwhelming and that was done with uh however I'm going to take personal credit both for uh our buddy Zach's engagement and also for and also for the fact that uh United nuclear which is Bob's business is now officially on Instagram and his lead employee um Zach is the one that uploads the images and I just he just started it a few days I don't know if Bob even knows that I think does but Zach's doing the official United nuclear um Instagram

(19:23) so so there is now finally an official social media where people can but it's not from it's your business it's your business that's awesome congratulations that's awesome it's awesome news and you know I think it it's awesome and you're going to see this in the film I don't want to give too much away but uh this is the first time in many years that we get a bird's eyye view into the life of Mr Lazar what he went through very tough times how the controversy shaped him
(19:55) throughout the years and to my viewers who are listening you're going to see that in this film you're going to see a lot of stuff and again I don't want to talk about it uh Jeremy without saying too much is is there maybe something that happened in this film of note that maybe you'd like to kind of talk about something explosive or that sort of what blew your mind about making this film or what has Bob told you rather well I mean yeah the look The the whole process for me was kind of mindblowing you know challenged
(20:29) me in 2012 oh yeah sure get Bob to talk to you you have to be the luckiest leprechaun in the world I mean it was like it was hilarious so the whole process I think has been for me really interesting you know Bob saying okay total open book what do you want to know let's do it you know here are the tapes here's the photographs I'm not going to pre-sort them just grab the box of tapes and digitize them whatever's on there it's yours so Bob has been completely 100% open with me without giving me any (20:59) restriction put me in touch with his mom his friends whatever so that's been really eye openening to be honest with you um so I don't know man I I think what I'll give you one thing from the movie I I'll give you a spoiler right now close your ears want okay the fans want it uh okay so I'll give you a hardcore one man so uh 30 years ago Bob Lazar said that uh there was a gentleman named Mike thigpin a very specific name that this guy was he thought an agent that was doing a background check on him
(21:29) he didn't know maybe FBI George goes on the news he says oh we've got some news there's a guy named Mike thigpin and he came and like questioned Bob Bazar you know we can check the veracity of his claims and you know went on the news and I I can just imagine I talked you know I can just imagine this guy he's he's eating like pasta at his house and he's at dinner with his wife he sees the news and like just it's a fork drop moment he just drops his Fork into his food well I know that you know that that was his (21:55) reaction because after 30 years I found I found Mike fpin and that could only be done after 30 years because George tried in 1989 called and the FBI he had a source that told him it wasn't the FBI George it was the ofi office of federal investigation and they were doing Bob security clearance so George tried to get a hold of this guy who was by the way in trouble because they wondered if he was impersonating an FBI agent because how did that get confused so this poor guy you know he's just doing his job and he got hit with a storm
(22:25) because of this well for 30 years no one was able to find him I found him tracked him down and I talked to him and he is a cool cat he's a good guy and he says yes I was doing security clearances 1989 for Nellis and the the bass and I do he says I'll go as far as I do remember Bob Lazar well Jeremy let me follow that up and ask you know has your personal opinion about the world in general the world we live in has it changed at all since you've gotten to know Bob Lazar has it enlightened you about certain
(22:55) things or may maybe changed your mind regarding certain things or topics yeah I mean look I I think what my hope for the movie is that you get to kind of know Bob a little bit because I think that's the missing component a lot of people can dehumanize Bob and his story and just you know say whatever they want about him because they don't know him and so it's easy to make stuff up that wouldn't be congruent with his character because there's nothing to defend it so I hope in my movie you kind (23:24) of get a feel as a documentary filmaker I hope you get a feel for who Bob is because I believe a big part of the story is the human story it's about who Bob is is he somebody that would be trying to like waste his time messing with you for 30 years or is he somebody who who wouldn't and I think that's a you know that's the big question everybody in the earth wants to know is Bob worthy of our trust when you boil it down that's what it is they want to know is Bob worthy of our trust of course of (23:58) course of course everybody wants to believe this what a cool story we all want to believe it but that's the only way that they're going to get you know to the bottom line is if they kind of look at the facts determine for do the facts back it up that's what they truly want to know don't don't use junk data that's Bob's don't use junk data don't use the the stories that aren't true so yes my whole life has been changed because you know I wanted to know if this story was true I wanted to know if (24:22) you the truth about UFOs hey that's a bonus really I got to know a guy named Bob laar he's a cool [__] guy so oh can't say that on your YouTube I'm sorry no it's it's fine that out he's a cool dude yeah so there you go this is historic say whatever you want do whatever you want get naked if you like so me so Bob I want to get back if I could I know you've probably talked about this a million times but you know of course I know the viewers would love to know a little bit more about some of these (24:48) craft that you worked on at S4 so just a few basic questions whether you know all the answers or not at least we can say this is what Bob knows EX exactly so I guess I I'd like to start off with now we covered the sports model the conditions they were in now were you ever told at any time um uh what star system or area of space that the craft came from did they uh come home from all the same place if you know what I mean when were they acquired do you have any of that information about these craft I don't have any information as

(25:23) far as when and it wasn't you know I like to get very particular on on exactly what was told or read or I saw so uh I was not told that but I did read in the briefings that the CRA all of the craft the craft came from The Zeta reticula star system so that's the location it's a it's a binary star system uh apparently there are several planets around it and it's only visible from the southern hemisphere so don't bother going going out there and trying to find it at night um but you know
(26:02) again that's something that I read and uh that's that's all that I know about that yeah well oddly enough that specific star system is uh well known in the ufology movement um for you know whether it's true or false there have been a lot of stories a lot of reports a lot of testimony just a lot of stories that seem to all go back one way or another to that star system so there definitely May something you know something might be there so that's very very interesting now if we could speaking a little bit more about the (26:31) equipment in some of these craft can you explain uh the equipment that was on board the sport model craft uh as far as Communications Weaponry or camouflage you know what did you see when walking into this Craft um those are all separate questions so um again to be specific as far as how you know a very very a brief overview how how the craft worked um there is a reactor in the center of the craft in this craft there are only three seats um at the bottom of the craft there are several levels in there and the bottom the suev of The Craft there
(27:17) are three gravity emitters they look like for lack of a better analogy like a couple 55 gallon drums stuck on top of one another just big tubes um there were three of them and they're on a very interesting uh connected to the floor above on a very interesting pipe I guess you would call it that bends at 360 so these are just three big drums essentially suspended directly above them are the gravity amplifiers uh they sit right above them and the uh uh reactors in the middle the reactor produces the energy and produces the (27:55) base gravity Wave It's Amplified by the amplifiers and it's channeled down into the gravity emitters and the gravity emitters can be swung in any direction uh to produce a distortion in gravity uh there is no wiring there is no interconnection between any components the components work just by being close to one another and considering the power output which is the equivalent of a few nuclear power plants that's really amazing because you know according to the laws of thermodynamics there always (28:30) has to be a loss you know there's no 100% transfer of energy but it apparently was occurring here because there was no excess heat produced anywhere and I I can run off on a technical tangent here but I won't um you also asked what I saw inside I think yeah communication systems or or maybe what was the uh the type of metal used if it was metal at all you know things of that nature again this is a compartmentalized so there was a a Metallurgy group that dealt with that all I can say is I I felt and ran my (29:07) hand against uh the material all the entire craft is the same color and it's all the same material and there are no sharp Corners anywhere there was a radius on everything and it felt to me when I put my hand on it it felt cold in my mind that relates to metal but could it be an advanced ceramic of some kind you know absolutely so I I can't can't even comment on what the uh what the craft is made of it was kind of a peor gray in color right um and there was an upper level on on the craft that I did (29:43) not have access to or information on uh it's where if you've seen pictures of The Craft that I worked on there are black rectangular what people call Port holes around the top they're not they're not Windows I personally believe there's some sort of planer sensor uh that just determines where the craft is in space and how to orient itself right so well I I think that uh having said all that I think what would probably be an even more important question to my viewers which is that do these things have (30:19) bathrooms let me let me there's actually a really cool answer for that let that's a popular question it is let me ask Bob something real quick because I actually know the answer and I want to know is like um was there an obvious navigation like how do you think they flew the craft was there like a some kind of navigational I I I really don't know I really I I have no idea how they got from I mean I see hand thing or you know I have no idea you know and I don't even like to speculate because then people

(30:51) will say well Bob said so that's not uh so I don't even want to go okay so do they have bath did you see no no there's no bathrooms and quite frankly there's no need for them because the travel time is so short you know you're taking gigant remember time you know SpaceTime is one thing and if you're distorting SpaceTime you're taking gigantic leaps in milliseconds that right you know you're not traveling you don't really break the speed of light because you're traveling
(31:20) in a linear fashion but you go far in excess of the speed of light because you're bending space and time you know you're just taking gigantic leaps so there's you're never assuming they need bathroom right you know um well especially you're not flight in a for a long enough time you know to have any kind of emergency right right and and another thought I had had which has been widely discussed is that many of these alien beings or at least uh particularly the smaller gray alien a lot of people
(31:51) seem to believe that these are uh droids of some sort they are not flesh and blood and they are more like Pro that are sent out they fly these things so there is no need for eating or drinking or using the bathroom or anything like that have you heard anything similar or have you at least heard of this Theory and that's to you or Jeremy uh I haven't heard of that theory me but I do have to say I did see a briefing now you know there are several other projects going on at the same time and what we do have is each group gets a (32:23) A two or three page briefing of what the other groups are doing and they're again they're trying to keep everything departmentalized but what they want to do is at least let you have a little knowledge of what's going on in the other groups in case there's a connection so you you know can complete your you know your research right but so in my briefing it did have to do with um as far as the you know the actual beings uh that were in the craft they had a photograph of them where their uh a chest was cut and and peeled back and (33:00) they had made notes of wow it's a there it was only one Central organ is as if all the organs had grown together into one mass and it had multiple functions and that was like the extent of my knowledge of it right but it was certainly a biological specimen now whether or not that piloted the craft or that was making reference to uh something you know that had to do with the craft uh I don't know but was there was definitely a reference to a biological entity of some kind that had unique organs inside well and another
(33:36) thing regarding these craft this may be the most controversial of this whole bobazar topic is that of element 115 which is said to have been used to power these craft and of course nobody knew back in the 80s Element 115 did not exist it wasn't until almost 20 years later that yes we have something here now there are uh debunkers so-called debunkers out there who say well Bob didn't know what he was talking about in regards to Element 115 it's not stable so what would you say to them regarding Element (34:14) 115 how it exactly worked and maybe how maybe these debunkers today simply just don't understand these things about this element you know they're they're not in the know as much as you were what can you tell us about that ele and why it was perfectly legit and it was used to power these craft yeah well that's an understatement first of all don't tell me I don't know about 115 because it was in my hand second of all5 was synthesized recently and you know for people saying well it's not (34:49) stable and you know that's the end of it uh clearly you don't understand

chemistry the you know the the way elements work all elements have isotopes to them and the example I always give is you know for example hydrogen we all know hydrogen's a a gas hydrogen one actually the technical name is prodium to it um it has one proton and one Neutron well there's actually two other forms of hydrogen one is dyum and one is tridium trium is radioactive there's you know other elements cesium that have 20 or 30 I (35:25) don't remember what it is uh Isotopes to it all elements can have the same number of protons making the element but they can have different numbers of neutrons and by changing the different number of neutrons the element can have remarkably different properties so yeah Element 115 probably has many many isotopes of it that decay but there is certainly one isotope that is absolutely stable and it is that isotope that is used in the craft right so it's basically sort of an issue where you know just just because we can't figure
(36:08) it out yet today does not mean that these alien beings didn't have it figured out because they did obviously well no question in time if they keep experimenting with now keep in mind they only made four atoms of 115 and again if they keep experimenting with it I'm sure they'll find uh eventually a combination with neutrons that will be stable and that'll be another point of indication but um yeah that's typical of any element there's nothing new about that and anybody claiming you know that that disproves it
(36:41) uh really has limited knowledge about that yeah I'm going to jump in here and just say I've done a lot of research for the film on this because I wanted to understand it you know I'm not a scientist I'm a filmmaker but I did talk with some of the top scientists in the nation and outside of our nation from Russia to San Franc Isco to um gosh uh Washington DC so I talked to a number of scientists and physicists and people that actually work Hands-On with the fabrication of super heavy elements and (37:11) across the board the you know some people got ticklish talking to me when they realized that it had anything to do with UFOs however the people that would talk to me about the hardcore science they absolutely 100% unanimously across the board confirmed and agreed that element 115 that we cannot discount a stabilized version exactly like Bob Lazar described so I I just want to make that really really clear to your audience Tyler because people always use this as a fake news they use this as something to say to dismiss and discount what Bob
(38:03) said and and and that is they say that it is junk science or it is pseudo science what he said I have confirmed every way from Sunday that we cannot discount a stabilized form of element 115 and and so I just I want to say that on the record now it is total BS when people try to act like scientists and say that that it's they discount it they either don't understand the story or they've got an agenda cuz the top of the top of the worlds deal with this told me to my face so I just want to throw that (38:37) down well you heard it right there guys uh that's all the info you need to know about 115 exactly what Bob and Jeremy just said I mean we have scientists on record who say what Jeremy just said I mean we we know the element exists and I personally believe that he was there and you know as we were talking about these so-called debunkers who will pick and choose these little things you know a lot of people attack Bob by saying well there's there's no proof that he worked at Los Alamos or there's no proof he (39:10) went to this this college or was at this base or anything like that well we've come to find out that that he is and there there has been proof not just finding his name in uh the phone book registry but uh as many of you will see in the film and I don't want to give anything away but there is much more to this story that proves that Bob was there he did this work so you can count on that uh seeing it in this film now you mentioned earlier Jeremy uh Mr George knap now he is your Mentor is that correct yeah George knp has been a
(39:43) mentor to me uh he's been an incredible resource of information he originally broke the story about Bob back in 1989 and he actually championed for 25 plus years completely alone you know about this story and uh I really admire him for that he stuck to his guns and uh look George knp was convinced of of Bob's truth and if for a second he thought Bob wasn't telling the truth he would have not only dropped the story he would have exposed Bob and people forget look man Bob tried to prove his story to (40:17) you um you know George wanted to know too so George put him through four polygraph tests Bob aced them all AC them no deception yeah aced them there's you know know which way from Sunday about that so that was with Terry tabern period full stop Ace them all so what else can he do you know look George put him in front of people that verified worked at Area 51 at the time cuz that's where Bob would land in the plane and then go on the bus and aced it they all believed he was there at least they could prove a 51 so George really put (40:48) Bob through his Paces it's not just like he wanted as a journalist to believe a cool story so there's a lot of history here people need to just understand already so George is the bomb is what I'm saying he's the bombb he is he did the work and he stood up and he stand for it and he beat his chest like King Kong and he's the bomb that's it he is he that definitely well said sir now he also he also took people out and he said look I know for a fact that they are going to be testing these craft at a (41:13) certain time of night in a certain area and isn't it true that multiple times Bob you took people out and like clockwork these crafts were out there being tested and you even got it on film is that correct yeah I did have when I was there the one thing uh that I was able to memorize were the name first of all there were only 22 other people that had clearance to work on the project and I knew those names and there was also a clear test schedule and they always the you know the the test site is close not close but (41:51) I mean the closest highway to it is uh I don't remember the to that do you Jeremy it's it's not but what they did is they looked for statistically the lowest volume of traffic along the highway before they did the tests and that was always on a Wednesday night all the tests all the flight tests were on a Wednesday night and I had the times of those test down and when things went bad between us and my employers there um you know I still had the schedule so that's when I told my friends hey we need go

(42:27) out what I told you I want to show you guys what I was working on so we you know we'd go out there hide out in the desert and the craft came up and flew around you know at the times that I specified it's amazing footage and you know it I know it's been years but from what you saw them testing in those videos in your experience and in your opinion from maybe some of the research you've done today I'm not sure if you've had ever your own UFO encounter but in your opinion would most of the UFOs seen
(43:00) today uh come from a human Source from an off-world Source there's this is almost split right down the middle where half of my audience believe that it it's all us every craft the even the ones that show you know anti-gravity uh Tech Everything Is Ours half the other half believe it's it's all offworld and that maybe we have one or two of their craft I mean in your opinion where where do you think you would fall well um it's certainly advanced technology now I mean can I say that it's not Advanced I mean this is really
(43:35) pushing the limits of you know belief here but can I say it's not advanced technology from the future I mean that's possible it is how do you explain the connection to Zeta rully though I mean is it possible in the future humans live there and we're coming back and just checking on ourselves I mean all of these are it that is another big theory that it is human I me it's possible no I have I have I have nothing to say that that's possible or not possible it's it's it's all it it can all possibly be real um
(44:08) but uh I well I really don't know actually well I think I mean if it's funny you ask like you know has Bob ever had gonna come to you next have you seen one Jeremy I was joking because of course like you you did because you at that score but not a classic UFO classic you actually when I went to work out there the first thing I thought was first of all I never believed at UFOs I thought people that believed in UFOs were just nutcakes and uh you know when I went out there the first time I saw the craft I thought oh well this clearly (44:43) explains all the UFO sightings were developing a really advanced fighter and they've been testing it and everybody thinks it's alien life forms this is hilarious I'm so you know happy to be working on this project and it was clear that was not the case right yeah what I meant to say was since then have do you have you seen anything in the skies or do you think there's any uh of our public technology uh fighter jets that we have today that could be potentially using Tech from those crafts so many years ago just in your opinion I
(45:18) haven't seen anything at all I mean the technology is extremely Advanced and uh I haven't seen anything it's all been just and you weren't you were not able to successfully back engineer it were you I I just want to clarify that when you were working on these craft was there an wasn't there an issue where I mean you can take them apart you can analyze them but you you you couldn't replicate it was that true right it wasn't just back engineering I mean the the aim of the project was to (45:50) duplicate the technology with the materials available to us now we could at least from what we ascertained is determine how the systems worked but there was no we the problem is we couldn't duplicate anything we couldn't even duplicate the metal in the conduits everything was and pardon the pun was alien to us and uh it was just too big of a project and so you know they would have Splinter groups working on smaller components of it like you know you guys figure out how this part works but it's really a dead end they the material

(46:27) science was just too advanced for us so no we couldn't duplicate anything now maybe there were some you know that there were some components here or the way things were laid out that might have translated themselves into military components but it you know to me it was just a giant military project but the you know the major technology never made it into anywhere because it's uh it was all very high energy related and we had no way to store and transmit levels of that energy at all do you think they're still (47:01) likely working on it sort of tinkering with it to this day trying to make something out of it in some dark Hammer somewhere it would probably be conjecture I mean um you know I remember when I first talked to Dennis that was my supervisor they had an argument about this being out in the South Pacific to keep it out of and remember that's where they did the first you know uh thermonuclear bomb test um you to put it out there just to keep it away from prying eyes and and things of that sort but uh the reason was the same as it was (47:35) for the you know hydrogen bomb development in the 50s was it's just too expensive to shuttle back and forth all the time um but that was always in the back of their minds they always wanted to leave the continental United States and take the stuff somewhere else um maybe after I came out and kind of you ruined the situation there they did that or uh it's I would find it very hard to believe that's in the same place and still proceeding at at the same rate but uh right uh there's no doubt they (48:08) research continues on it well and I think and Jeremy I think would you agree to this that despite the fact that we don't know where they're coming from would you agree that we are definitely surveilling them I mean with the recent DOD releases of those three UFO clips taken from fighter jets everything I've been able to to scr up and put on the channel I mean they they definitely seem to be monitoring these things they they know that these things are here we know that they're here I mean it doesn't take long I mean how (48:42) many pieces of footage and eyewitness testimonials do you have to go through before you start believing right I mean look it's not a matter of belief you know UFOs are either real or they're not real obviously they're real if you you don't understand that then you have a data poor perspective but the you know kind of a social kind of Consciousness people are starting to understand that now because of the release from The New York Times in December of 2017 however I'd like to say I did break
(49:11) the Tic Tac UFO case the famous Tic Tac UFO case before the New York Times because Commander David fraver who's a friend of mine was talking to me for 2 years before that and I kept it quiet I didn't tell anybody and I developed ources I broke that story that's right twice before the New York Times now what does that tell you yeah I can tell you beyond a shadow of a doubt United States government does have a UFO program and they admitted it to you and it was called atip Advanced Aerospace threat
(49:39) identification program and guess what it was a reactionary program to military encounters and sightings and that is one tiny program and I happen to personally know that there are more why do you think they let you release that in the first place why do you think they even let you in the door nobody let me release anything I've got a Charming personality Tyler that you do sir yeah I I called up these individual Witnesses these Admirals these uh you know fighter pilots and I made friends with them and I didn't burn them and I
(50:12) didn't distort their story or mess it up when I told it and guess what the whole world is now Commander frer story is being twisted and and I told it right and he we talked the other day and he's like everybody else twist in it I'm like I told you it would happen and I was like yeah I'll try to clear it up but that's the deal man I just don't burn people it ain't worth it and the people I talk with is cuz I want to and they're good people I I have a no deag policy so right well from this new film which I
(50:40) actually had a chance to watch last night uh I wanted it to be fresh and I just kind of I wanted to wait as long as I could and and stick with the audience because they're having to wait for it but it was an amazing film and it truly gives us an insight uh after all of these years to what Bob's life what he went through how his life has changed and you know I'd like to ask you Jeremy well you've said before that timing is everything with your films you know why have you chosen as a filmmaker to focus (51:11) your attention on this story now and is there any new info that the global audience will be learning upon the release of this new film yeah there's new info the whole film this is not a rehashing of the past this is not repurposing vintage footage this yeah this is brand new breaking news and information in fact I am shocked because I did not anticipate what we were going to experience in the filming of this movie so yeah you can anticipate to have your socks knocked off for the film you know absolutely you'll hear the chatter as soon as it's (51:49) out in public people are going to talk about it so um why now though is kind of an interesting question I just want to briefly answer that I mean first of all it's because I don't know Bob let me finally film him so that was cool and then second of all because I have always thought this is the most valuable story in modern history about UFOs and exotic propulsion and I stand by that I agree and and because we live in a different world now than we did in 1989 we now live in a world where people are on (52:22) Twitter and social media and all sorts of uh you know every communication device possible yet they have a lack of credible information this is credible information and the world has changed we now know that it was a lie that the study of UFOs ended in 1969 with Project Blue Book that our government lied to us and that in fact we are currently studying the UFO problem on multiple levels and that is a GameChanger all of a sudden the story that Bob Lazar told in 1989 about a government program to study UFO foes to back engineer them has (52:57) a completely different meaning and light because of modern day events it is time it is time and as I like to say Bob's critics have been holding the mic for 30 years and we're taking the mic back and we're taking it back on December 3rd at the world premere in Los Angeles which you're going to be at Tyler so we're taking the mic back and we're not giving up that mic for a while we're going to scream into it yeah that's going to be a blast well I know you guys don't have a (53:21) lot of time I I just have a few more questions uh starting with Bob but let me ask you this what was the if you could say the most important thing that you learned from your time at S4 and followup if you could would you go back and accept or would you not accept your position at Area 51 and S4 if you could do it over um boy as far as the most important thing that's that's a difficult thing to say um I guess the one thing that really caught my atten attention was the fact that there were alien craft I that's it

(54:02) I thought there was this was Advanced up you know what they hired me for was advanced technology and advanced propulsion system that the military had made and it just happened to look like what people had called a flying saucer the biggest shock in my life was the fact that the actual aim of the project was we have to figure out how this thing works right um so it was it it was really the scope of the whole project that there were actually alien craft from another civilization so that today uh remains and probably always will be (54:36) in my life the most shocking thing I was ever presented with um I already forgot the second part would you go back and accept the job at S4 if you could do it over yeah I would always accept that job because just being exposed to that technology uh things I thought were impossible possible I will never forget um and usually people ask after that would you if you could go back uh tell the public again and I really don't know how to honestly answer that question because sometimes I say I wouldn't sometimes I say I would it just (55:14) depends on my mood of that day right um you know and I I really don't know but I no I would never turn down that project especially knowing uh you know that technology is real because that was the most fascinating thing in my life right and and I think that'll lead me to my final question for you Bob and it's a big question that my audience constantly asks which is that in the end why do you think Bob that there is so much secrecy why has the public at large uh been lied to why is this secret being kept about (55:49) the UFO subject and still is to this day because this is the most powerful technology on the planet and anybody that controls this this technology controls the world look it's all a battle you know whether we know it or not but you know Russia the United States North Korea I mean it it's you know if you really take a step back

they're all acting like little children on a playground but uh really this is extremely powerful technology and this is a military project and you don't want to give away even the slightest hint of (56:26) what's going on at one time part you know the project right before I got involved with it the Russians were involved and they made a huge Discovery at some point again this was right before I came on and they kicked everyone else out and kept it to themselves and there's kind of been you know a point of contention between the Russians and the United States at that time I don't know what that was but yeah this is it I think it all boils down to weapons and control rolling the world and forcing your views on everybody else
(56:58) that's just the bottom line well do you think that you know is there something that needs to happen for our government to to finally tell us the truth or is it just out of our hands I don't know if I can answer that question I don't think our government ever really you know comes clean unless they're pressured to for some reason right and there's no reason for them to come clean about this um quite frankly I'm more concerned about the repercussions from the movie coming coming back on me but um uh you
(57:29) know I have it wouldn't surprise me if I suddenly got accused of some bizarre thing and I'm just I'm waiting for the other shoe to drop yeah that's that's been you know I got to tell you that's a debate of mine I in one sense I'm like yes the movie's going to do really well now and the other sense I'm thinking oh no you know is that gonna affect Bob and I think you'll understand that when you watch the movie that there's real world consequences to this type of dialogue
(57:56) and I experienced that for the first time in my life like a doing this film so as a friend I want to you know hope and protect that nothing bad's going to happen to Bob from this but you know Bob has always been able to defend himself he has never needed a Defender uh he just chooses not to engage and I think smartly over the years uh because there's so much signal uh or so much noise in the signal so I I'm look I'm going to look at this really positively I'm going to say we we've had 30 years
(58:29) where Bob has been you know really beaten up by the UFO Community unnecessarily and honestly we're we're so far beyond it our scope of our audience is so much bigger now with this movie you dozens of millions of people are going to see this if not more and and it's a new day I don't think Bob needs to worry about no repercussions from government or anything like that we are now out in the light permanently let me tell you something we have an army behind us now I mean my little Channel alone we're about to hit 2 million
(59:04) subscribers but have had almost a billion views in the last couple of years we have an army we missed you Bob we truly did uh you know I'm I'm I'm tired of posting videos using 20-year-old vintage footage of you I I'm so happy that you came on you have nothing to worry about there's an army out there who support you and back you and gentlemen it's been an honor a true honor to have both of you here I want to thank you for coming on today um you know Bob you truly are a legend you have millions of people
(59:37) behind you so just remember that I know it's been tough for you over these years but sometimes great men have to pay a price for the things they do and for doing what's truly right and that is giving the public the truth that they deserve and you have gone above and beyond that sir so I want to thank you for that to Jeremy I want to say thank you my friend for coming back on secure team once again and for all of your hard work getting these films made and getting this film made and for being one of the very few left spearheading this
(1:00:11) movement and leading the March for True disclosure you are both always welcome on secure team thank you both again it it truly is an exciting time and Jeremy I'd like to end this by asking you you know is there any information that you can give regarding the film when it's coming out when when can we see it tell us what you got to say buddy I'm gonna give you that but I'm gonna give the mic to Bob for a second okay what we well I just I just wanted to thank you for the kind comments and uh I look forward to (1:00:42) meeting you when you when you come down for the premiere thank you sir I truly look forward to meeting you too and it was an honor to have you and so just about the movie yeah let's just get this out so everybody knows I really really want people to see this film that's why I made it as an independent filmmaker when you watch that movie and you buy it on iTunes you buy it on Vimeo that directly affects my life you know thank you and Bob is making nothing off off this film he would accept nothing I want

(1:01:08) to clear that up right away it's only me so if you want to see more movies from me yes please get the film so you ask Tyler I'm going to tell you okay so we do we want to see more yeah okay Bob Lazar Area 51 and flying saucers that's the title of the movie if you get it on iTunes you get over 2 hours of bonus material the most amount of bonus material and then next up is Vimeo you get all that bonus material too but it's available on Amazon and all Pay-Per-View platforms just literally click the
(1:01:36) button buy the movie watch it and you determine for yourself reality otherwise somebody else is going to determine it for you so that's it man I hope you enjoy the film I'm really proud of this one celebrate with me watch the film and engage in the debate all right so you heard it right there guys if you want to see this movie I'll put all the links down below this is a historical film it's not going to be another one like this and from what I've seen Jeremy has knocked it out of the park it's it's
(1:02:08) such a treat and especially for Bob to come out after all these years after all he's been through and putting his life back out there for the public so let's show both of them they're going to stand behind them we're going to support them support this film we're going to watch it it's an Epic film thank you both for being here I'm going to do my best to continue supporting you guys and I hope you will both come back on very soon I I thank you so much Tyler you know just to make it clear Bob Lazar is
(1:02:36) not going on UFO circuits he's not doing Raider interviews you were like literally the only one we have rejected everybody every publication everything he he made he allowed me to make the movie that's it guys well you know what I was just trying to leave a little bit of hope that he might at some point come back on that's all it was I know very private man a treat I'm hoping that listen honestly to be candid here I'm hoping that Bob has such a good time at this Premiere that he'll come with me to a couple more
(1:03:06) theatricals because I think it's powerful for people to see Bob and to actually hear him talk about it so he's not he can't be dehumanized by people they're like oh that's him so that's my hope but bottom line I just want to let everybody know stop calling me stop asking me it ain't happening Bob's not doing that made the movie done you're right Bob you have that's true you've done enough I'm I'm I'm selfish of course I'm going to want you back on I'm
(1:03:30) going to want you both back on I'm a selfish man but you you Bob especially you have done enough live your life enjoy your life my friend you have done it all Jeremy you're on your way man I appreciate it buddy you've done great work thank you both for being here thank you so much Tyler can't wait to see you at the premiere man talk soon you too buddy have a good day all right all right you too

(00:03) foreign [Music] this week we've heard the contention of UFO researchers that there is a secret government within our government well there are several uh actually nine flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin thank you [Music]
(01:13) not to burst your bubble but the Earth is not the center of the universe at least not anymore you are not the star of your own movie humans are not the top of the food chain and fate is a fantasy but I can't prove any of this even if I wanted I wanted to there is an indefinable mysterious power that pertains everything though I do not see it it is this unseen power which makes itself hurt there is an indefinable mysterious power that pertains everything I did it though I do not see it it is this unseen power
(02:04) which makes itself there is [Music] thank you [Music] reality simply isn't what it used to be things are not what they see everything around us is a mental construct we create a real reality breaking that down is hard to do and once it's done there ain't no coming back [Music] what happens to people when there are fundamental beliefs the Bedrock of their understanding explodes into a million thousand pieces (03:08) something comes careening from out of the blue it messes with everything we know but it will reactively act how do we react [Music] [Music] [Music] foreign [Music] [Music] (04:37) beliefs and behavioral things they direct our lives and choices Moment by moment there's no ways to the imagination Emporium harness the hunches polished with proof they're like clothing you can't afford they elevate us yet they're not ours to keep we discard them when they no longer serve our needs or we find out they weren't real at all story is extraordinary especially if it's true and it all started in the desert just north of Las Vegas [Music] thank you [Music]

(05:53) yeah secretive spots on the planet is located on the northeast edge of the Nevada test site and is said to be where numerous top secret weapon systems have been tested over the years According to some UFO researchers it's also where the government is test flying alien spacecraft it sounds pretty far out but some Las Vegas residents report having seen these flying saucers a local scientist who says he worked at Groom Lake and saw the saucers joins us in tonight's interview he has asked that his identity be shielded sir how do we
(06:24) know you are who you say you are and that you actually have knowledge about what's going on at Groom Lake well I guess there's no way you could really know uh there's really no way I can prove it without revealing my identity and getting myself into more trouble than I have already exactly what's going on up there well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial Origins and they're being test flown and uh basically just analyzed you say there's (06:58) nine saucers how are those tests going uh as far as what as far as whether they're successful and and that sort of thing oh well some of them are 100 intact and operate perfectly the other ones are being taken apart I was involved mainly in propulsion in the power source where did we get these saucers how did they come into the hands of the government I haven't the slightest idea and you have to understand the information is very compartmentalized and I was only allowed information that pertained particularly (07:32) to what I was involved in but I mean couldn't couldn't our government have made them as opposed to getting them from some alien beings totally impossible uh the propulsion system is an uh a gravity propulsion system the power source is an antimatter reactor this technology does not exist at all in fact one of the reasons that I'm going forward with this information it's not only a crime against the American people it's a crime against the scientific Community which I've been part of for some time or (08:00) actively trying to duplicate these systems yet they are in existence now and basically in the hands of the government what would happen to you if the government learned that you were giving us this information Anything could happen I don't know it's a I have it the slightest idea well you said uh you referred to getting into trouble have you had some repercussions already yeah I've been threatened with uh being charged with Espionage I've had my life threatened by them my wife's life threatened by them and uh
(08:31) I I mean I don't know where else you can go from there well we want to thank you for joining us pretty interesting stuff you've got to say thank you thank you sir or more news in just a moment now first we go to Dan Rather in Beijing for a look ahead at the CBS Evening News CBS Evening News from China you'll have extensive coverage [Music] the live interview with the shadowy dentist Drew International attention portions were broadcast by radio and six European countries and in a nationally televised TV special in Japan
(09:08) despite numerous inquiries and feelers Dennis has remained Anonymous until now his real name is Robert Lazar he says he was hired to work at an area called S4 which is a few miles south of Groom Lake at S4 he says our flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly Beyond human capabilities Eyewitness News 8.
(09:34) good evening everyone you're in the right place at the right time blasting out of the Mojave Desert like a Scirocco blazing across the land into your town into your home slamming into your radio like a supercharged nanoparticle of unobtainium greetings to all of you from the boldest bodies most outrageous city in the world planetary capital of sun Fun sins sex and secrets by not so humble Hometown Las Vegas Nevada you know there are a lot of people myself included who would like to focus on Big Picture stuff who are these (10:14) visitors why are they here what is the nature of reality what is their interest in us where do they come from now those are the questions that people have been asking about the UFO mystery since the beginning we're no closer to answering any of them but Bob got pretty close Bob got to read these briefing documents that provided those kind of answers the thing is when we were covering his story so much of the effort was improving that he really was the person he said he was is it true is it plausible that really (10:44) that was the focus more than the really important stuff you have to cover the story of Bob Lazar and the only way to do that is to talk to Bob and I don't know if it'll talk to you or not but you need to try it's all going to be circumstance for you is the moment that you approach him the mood that he's in what else is going on in his life at the time you might hit the jackpot and get him in exactly the right time and the the universe is aligned and he's willing to talk about it but you'd have to be (11:13) awfully lucky because in general Bob doesn't like to talk about it I think he's very happy in his life he's happy to have left the UFO stuff behind he misses his friends he misses John Lear he misses Gene Huff maybe even me some extent but he doesn't miss the UFO topic and he doesn't miss talking about it because ultimately it's disturbing these are disturbing issues they go to the heart of who we are as people as human beings the nature of reality itself is this a computer simulation are (11:47) we all the product of an alien video game or some multi-dimensional movie drive-in movie theater production or something big questions disturbing answers and Bob has never been comfortable in talking about never you reacted by going into a cocoon in a lot of ways he didn't like it he doesn't like the attention and it totally screwed up his life it's not surprising that even years later he still is uncomfortable in discussing these things it's a very disturbing view of reality being a Young Person's Guide to Europe

(12:41) wow this looks old man [Music] hey what are we talking about anyway we'll go through [Music] my name is Bob Lazar I'm known for working at a classified base known as S4 Alma Nevada desert near area 51. and there we reverse engineered alien spacecraft and it's changed my life a lot you know it's probably changed every aspect of it positive or negative well for the most part negative
(13:46) I mean I it's really difficult to find positive aspects of that I mean I'm sure there are some here and there but most of them were were negative would you uh would you take it all back and just be Bob the Jet Car Guy and never have done this if you can are you glad you had the experience um yeah that's hard to say I don't know I I think I'd lean towards not at this point in my life I probably lean towards not saying anything you know what would be your message to a young person now about looking at your story (14:20) and thinking about the world what would you say to them just pay attention and just pay attention I can't see I can't really say much else the world's a lot different now the way information is disseminated and the way the way things are passed around it's distorted even faster and more now than it used to be so they've got a rough road ahead if you're trying to cut through the fall ship what do you want them to know that in the late 1980s the US government had recovered alien spacecraft several (14:57) of them and the technology Inland Nevada desert that they were keeping quiet and analyzing that's a fact they don't need my story but that's I mean that's all my story was then I was just one of the people working on these crafts well fine I'll just say everything instead of holding back on anything and then you can edit it later on all right well take it from the top okay well go ahead uh how you got involved with this program I had sent resumes to several National Labs I got a response from a couple of (15:47) them I went in for an interview they had a job in mind and then they continued questioning me mainly on my interests outside of work they seem to be really concerned about that about things like jet cars right what do you do in your spare time you know you say you work on little projects I said yeah I have a particle accelerator in my master bedroom and and things of that sort and uh some time went by and they called me back in they said uh there was a senior staff business that was leaving this organization and they basically
(16:26) interviewed me for that job I was given a lot of briefings to read on I believe there are 121 different briefings and just sat me in a room and I had a while they were going and updating my clearance to a level that they call Majestic you start reading these reports you see some of them duel flying saucers what's your reaction well I was I was completely shocked I couldn't I couldn't believe it but uh I was fascinated I was so excited I it's it's a it's a science dream really eventually I would have shown them uh

(17:02) one close-up one operating they had uh one of the reactors out of the crafts which was an antimatter reactor uh I was given a demonstration on how it worked uh things that it did and uh the physics of it the thing they were most interested in is is duplicating the reactors without using this element 115 uh which is of course impossible they were trying to uh and there have been projects before that uh just trying to use a normal nuclear generator fueled with plutonium and it was really a futile attempt some people are sources of gravity
(17:47) their certainty and wholeness commands or attention we are drawn to them by a natural law that requires we've done to acquaintance the current you can't deny and eventually get worshiped them call George Knapp [Music] hey George hey man what's up man how you doing what's going on this is now 30 years since you initially broke the story of Bob Lazar so I mean the amount of information is overwhelming and I just want to go over with you some of the details of the case we're talking about UFOs alien craft
(18:42) back engineering and there's Lazar saying he did all that and from what I understand it spread everywhere [Music] [Music] a great deal of Interest along the public I spent the eight months between May and November um trying to verify Bob's background to see if we could solidify the case to see if we could find out if he was telling the truth and then to the plan was to unleash it in November which is what we did it was the highest rated news series we've ever done it was the highest rated News special that ever aired in Las Vegas and (19:31) then it really exploded it went all over the world bootleg copies of the tapes were being sold and shown in movie theaters you had media interest from all over the world and I think a lot of it was skeptical at the beginning which of course it would be but in the end every major news organization in the world beat a path area 51's door and tens of thousands of people started showing up out there to see whatever it was that was flying around in the desert they're still coming all these years later I know a lot of my media colleagues have (20:04) had problems with that story but they've all covered all of them the equip Area 51 on the map it's now known all over the world even though those are worked at S4 Area 51 is the term that the public knows so it was huge it was huge then it's huge now the mountains are beautiful fluid on Dry Lake beds light spaceships from another world they seem to ride on hibiscus material channels through empty space by heat that rises and separates it petrifies everything it contacts like a like a green glass honey
(20:41) a goddamn psychedelic liquid drowning The Emptiness with imaginations of imagination this desert is popped and punctuated by a thousand gaping holes created in a thousand Atomic blasts that define an era what are they building in the desert north of Las Vegas what are they hiding what do they hiding are they hiding oh yeah [Music] what is your name and what's your relationship to Balthazar my name is Mario Santa Cruz and I met Bob actually in my neighborhood uh he lived like one block over my attraction to Bob was his (21:35) Jet Dragsters I saw this jet dragster sitting out in front of uh his house in our neighborhood which was extremely just the jet dragster alone was rare but in my neighborhood to see something like that was unbelievable people were harassing Bob threatening him and you were with him in one of those experiences at least one couple of times actually I actually had a weapon with me you know when I when we wrote together because he had been shot at you know what was the weapons at the uzi yes yeah so when uh I don't know why I'm (22:12) being so careful I'm used to being that way when it comes to talking about Bob being careful what I say you know what I mean so it's kind of a force a habit to kind of just walk on eggshells a little bit he just wanted to stay alive that's why he exposed himself his life was it was in chaos how he pulled out of it you know he dug deep it's a pretty incredible story somebody shot and maybe it's a warning perhaps it was a good warning I had my back tire shot out on my car as I was getting on the freeway
(22:48) um yeah is this a secret worth killing to keep I mean the government would you say obviously but in fact the only reason that getting this on tape is insurance well that's one reason but I mean also as an American citizen you're you're bothered by that this stuff is going on yeah I am but not enough to have you know stood here and and have it on the record insurance is the true motivation behind this at four months old in our little Department in Florida and that's me holding him very proud mom holding him we have a beautiful little (23:38) place in Florida one Sunday morning must have been about six o'clock in the morning everyone is sleeping with this huge Bang Bob had put a jet engine in the bike at six in the morning he decided to take it out for a trip what did you guys think when he said Mom Dad I'm building scared out of my mind I didn't know what he was going to do next was he gonna blow up the house blow up the world I don't know I don't know [Music] it's out there you know he's out there you know he proves his story let's say (24:17) maybe it would cause problems maybe it would blow up and more than likely it would he's best of keeping things on the low down download really but at the same time he has said there are way there is a way he could prove his story and I want him to be happy if indication is what he wants fine but that's up to him you believe him or not it's a fearful thing to think that there's something out there that we don't know anything about or are they dangerous can they hurt us will they attack us you don't want to (24:54) know so you don't believe it you know you'd rather not believe there might be other things out there other things in the universe that has it has to be we can be all by ourselves it can't be [Music] my name is joy and I am Bob's white we've been together it'll be 17 years what is it that you think is is most misunderstood um that he really is [Music] I guess it's just so big so the easier thing to do is to point the finger and say liar yeah that's so sad

(25:58) that's really sad if they don't know real bob [Music] there's particular moments that define each one of us we may not know it at the time but we learn it later [Music] every action creates a Cascade of reactions life is a web of Defense the actions overlaid by consequence foreign [Music] future determined by past defined by person present experience throughout the lens of personal history but for some it's obvious you can put your finger on it that definable indelible moment
(27:03) everything changed I love my job there's a lot of craftsmanship into the stuff that I do I really like working with my hands it's a really unique job I don't think there's any other job where you get to do this kind of stuff every day we'll either get a really interesting order coming in or Bob will get bored and try to come up with a new product and that's when it gets really fun so there's another one that he wants to do like recreate a grand Atomic uh chemistry set something of that sort and (27:36) I I think that would be really cool if he ever decides to really hone in on that this is the atomic energy lab kit it's something from the 1950s a toy like a chemistry set you get for your kid it was made by Gilbert chemistry is today a fascinating adventure for youth of all ages Gilbert has made this exciting science available in safe and easy to understand form made us completely safe as human Ingenuity can devise [Music] this actually came with radioactive material you could really conduct atomic energy experiments in it it was (28:14) fascinating and uh it was billed as the most dangerous toy ever made and and still in some respects is still considered that way today but the thing is it wasn't it was just people's fear um [Music] so here I am and I'm watching you do your work when people don't know you it's so easy for them to just make up about you and to dehumanize you how simple that is to do the fact that somebody would say you're not a scientist I mean all I've ever done is science related stuff my entire life
(29:18) so I don't know I guess the point is do I really care what people I don't know think and probably to some extent I do but I don't I don't dwell on it I guess it is easier to discredit someone that you have no information on because you can just say anything about them and there's nothing to refute it I mean I feel privileged I got to work in it so in some respects I shouldn't be allowed to complain I I've given the example of a you know transporting one of small modern day portable nuclear reactor back into (29:57) Victorian times and giving it to the scientists there now back in that time they didn't even know about radiation so they'd see a machine making power kind of like what we're doing and Marvel at it wow it's producing a lot of power there's no Smoke Stack there's no coal there's no fuel how is this thing working they start taking it apart well they'll all die as soon as they get close to the core people would come in to check on them we'll all die and no one knows nothing touched them so
(30:24) they're going to think it's haunted or something there's some evil forces or something in there but um I mean who says that can't happen to us the first time Barrett showed me the reactor in operation you know here it is on bench and he said you know try and touch the sphere on top and you couldn't your hand was pushed away just like you know two light poles of a magnet it's the exact same feeling but it was no metal involved and that's shocking that's really shocking because nothing (30:53) does that that's an operating powerful force field so just seeing something like that immediately starts that whole chain reaction in your mind going wow wait if you can do this there could be force fields on tanks there could be things that lift off the ground we don't know Jet and Rocket engines anymore that means there's weight there's no use for cards I mean Boom the whole thing changes the entire world the economy everything would go end on end just if we had an answer to how that machine (31:20) worked that I was sitting there touching the potential for us to re-understand Human Experience is right right there's I mean there's life somewhere else it's a big deal it's an important part of human history that we've found that out it was awesome but fearsome at the same time it was being completely scared all day long it's not exactly the most fun job when you're there you know almost three decades later the fear drops off and you just left with the amazement and technology that you

(32:01) were exposed to we have you know an artifact here from another civilization it really changes the way a lot of people think we're all looking for an answer having physical proof is an awful big deal I think what a lot of people find really compelling about Bob he legitimately appeared and appears sometimes just perplexed by what he saw have you noticed that kind of about him yeah he was aware that this was weird he was aware it was weird that they hired him I mean you know he's a smart guy and he's thinks outside the (32:36) box so in a lot of ways he might have been just what exactly what they needed for a program that seemed to be stalled but he knew that he wasn't their kind of a guy that they could have had their pick of any scientists in the world presumably to work on this so it was strange and it was strange that they started showing him these briefing books with this incredibly sensitive information right off the bat as soon as he gets there they start showing him this stuff with alien bodies uh broken down so you can
(33:06) see their organs and the history of human alien interaction and all kinds of things that the UFO Community had suspected but no one could prove and he just thought it was weird that anyone would show him this he wondered what the heck was going on I think he was thrilled you know part of him was really thrilled to be there and thrilled to see it even if it turned out to be some kind of uh but you know he knew that something was not quite right about the whole thing or suspected that anymore [Music] you were telling people since 1989 that (33:39) there was some sort of hand scanner there was like a bone scanner and you tried to describe it you said you think it took measurements of the bone there are these pegs you put your hand on it it's a small plate with some pins on it that you could put between your fingers there's a bright light above it the interesting thing is when you walk into the facility or even to leave they have a hand reader I was told that it has to do something where it measures the bright light measures the bones in your finger
(34:08) they're unique to each person that sounds like something out of a TV show but it it it's exactly the way it is man I looked for that kind of thing all over the Internet never found anything and then all of a sudden this article comes out and it says that at the Nellis range for the they were talking about the stealth program there was indeed this hand scanner that was used in these secret programs and they just admitted or announced it publicly and there were some photos and I just was interested and so (34:40) I never thought I'd see one of these again but I tried to explain this to people so many times and they either didn't believe me or say yeah yeah I'm sure there is and there it is there it is it's like a biometric thing for the hands yeah the beginnings of yeah I mean it wasn't all that advanced back then but yeah that's it I can't believe you found the picture of this I really can't this was the scanner used to get in to S4 and I tried to explain this to people so many times that there was pins in you stuck your (35:14) hand a light above and it supposedly measured the length of the bones in your hand that you know is unique in each individual it's exactly exactly how yeah that's amazing it's amazing you came up with these it's amazing to see this again back then this was the hot ticket what does it feel like when these little things that you said become public and there's this tiny bit of vindication it is there's little moments of vindication you know little pieces here and there that you know little I told you sews you
(35:51) know pop up every couple years or so but this is a big one um so a lot of people said these didn't exist and um you know it was some just a fanciful thing I came up with but yeah this is exactly yeah ideas are the most danger ous weapons on the doorman the explosive dead attached to our Collective Consciousness and then one day man bubble to the surface to assert their power when detonated life is never the same again [Music] and we immediately know we're always wrong we're always wrong [Music] I did not believe that this should be a (37:00) security matter some of it sure but just the concept that there's definite proof we even have articles From Another World another system you just can't not tell everyone checking out lazar's credentials proved to be a difficult task he says he earned degrees in physics and electronics but the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him he also said he worked as a physicist at Los Alamos National Lab where he experimented with one of the world's largest particle beam accelerators a half mile long Behemoth

(37:31) capable of generating 700 million bolts Los Alamos officials told us they had no records of a Robert Lazar ever working there they were either mistaken or were lying a 1982 phone book from the lab lists Lazar right there among the other scientists and technicians a 1982 clipping from the Los Alamos newspaper profile Bazaar and his interest in jet cars it too mentioned his employment at the lab as a physicist we called Los Alamos again an exasperated official told us he still had no records on Lazar EG which is where Lazar says he was (38:05) interviewed for the job at S4 also has no records it's as if someone has made him disappear one thing that people say about your store and your experience is that that you are a puppet a marionette that you had no control over what was going on at that time that you you were taking advantage or compromised and you're being used as a source of disinformation and what evidence to support that right that yeah man what's the evidence to support those clients is that just something to say no I'm just saying
(38:33) that's what that that's the kind of if you have to if you make a statement you have to have some evidence to say where the statement came from you're basing it On Emotion right and fear and they're afraid that I'm right tell me what you've heard that makes this impossible I'm trying to tell you exactly the way things were where is it show me the alternate reality that you believe that doesn't lock up with my actual reality I mean where are those other facts just show me what they are these (39:07) the facts you grab together and painted a different story of my life than I did [Music] I mean I thought I set the record straight 30 years ago can we ever be made whole if we're not believed if our life story is challenged by consensus most of us are not forced to answer for our past before but some people are placed under a microscope their words their actions scrutinize and challenged and they're told to quiet life how much can a man take before he submits the weight and consequence of distruction does he fade back into the Shadows that (39:54) formed him or does he lash out the Karma's words into your flesh unless you clear up his words into your flesh [Music] I don't know what else can I say what else can I say how can I prove anything else at the worst case scenario you lied for a girl or you lied to get a job what does that mean about your story I think Los Alamos just hired me out of high school [Music] if you don't think that's possible then something had to happen in between I don't understand how everybody gets so caught up in Indonesia
(40:46) because you can debate that stuff forever we can go back before MIT and you can start fighting whether or not and where I lived in high school that is not going to translate into answering the questions and the things that I've brought into the public eye that's the important stuff it almost seems like this is an intentional distraction you need to pay attention to the bigger picture if you really want to research all the other stuff fine go ahead and do it but you really need to pay attention to what I'm (41:22) saying because I have better things to do than come up with this I'm not interested in doing this I'm not like I don't like being in the public eye I don't got money for doing this and quite frankly I can make up a better lie but I have no motivation to lie this hasn't this hasn't helped me out what does that mean for lazar's story that we can't prove his schooling in fact it was a problem I mean I had I wondered can we go forward if we can't verify what was going on in this (41:57) background the central point for me was if he worked at Los Alamos because he had to have an education somewhere I think he said it to me a couple of times you know what do you think they hired me right out of high school I looked at the people who knew him back then for one who said that yet but with the Caltech back then I dropped him off I interviewed another person who also knew Bob then and said the loss that Caltech would pick him up from a lot that if he wasn't going to school

there he sure was making a good show of (42:30) it back then what it proves his story about working on flying saucers if he could show he had degrees from Caltech at MIT no of course not it would not prove that he worked on client saucers it would just prove that he went to school the people who despise him and who doubt the story the most the debunkers would find something else to about Bob got under some trouble after he became a worldwide UFO celebrity he did a typical Bob sort of a thing and got mixed up with some hookers he was helping them neighborhood and when he told me about (43:08) it I thought oh my gosh my life is flashing before my eyes here the most high profile witness and the biggest story I've ever done is is now telling me he's involved in this criminal Enterprise he kind of thought it was funny but it wasn't funny to me so I said you gotta stop this about this you've got to shut this down I called the cops I let some people know look you made a mistake it's being shut down they raided the place arrested Bob and in those days there weren't many people who (43:36) were ever prosecuted and arrested for pandering those are was so parole and probation there they're doing a background investigation and make a recommendation Court what the sentence before his crimes tells them cool where he worked S4 MIT Captain all that and they investigated they were having the same problems that I was having to verify a lot of truly was a UFO con man that was the time to come clean because parole and probation was ticked off and he was misleading them and as we as a result of that they (44:17) 'd recommend that he had a hard time go to prison he knew it that was the time for him to come clean because it was a much better chance that he would not be so prison he didn't he stuck to his story he told them the same story that he told me went a long way for me in showing that even been telling the truth because it was definitely in his own self-interest to fess up at that point here's the thing okay I can see Bob Lazar prank UFO world in the UFO Community I could see him doing something like that (44:53) but does he lie to his mom and dad to his wife does he lied to all of his close friends and tell them the same story and try to get away with it you look back on the people who knew him while this was going on who knew him before he was hired to work out at us for who knew him during the time he was going back and forth out there and who stuck by him after this Whirlwind of international publicity kind of rained down on his head everyone who knew him everyone who was close to him supports this story and says he's telling the (45:25) truth we saw something up there that you think might have been I hate I really hate to say stuff that I I can't put my hands on and say this is absolutely for sure what did you say I walked down the hallway at one time I was working out there and um there were doors the doors that go to the hangars the smaller doors from the corridors have a nine inch or you know 12 inch square window with little wires running through it just about head level and now as well as I was walking by I just glanced in and I noticed (45:55) at a quick glance there was there were two guys in white lab coats um facing me towards the door and they were looking down and talking to something small with with long arms now I I was just surprised that I walked by now and they caught it glance but I don't know what on Earth that was people say you saw an alien did you see an alien at us for about I don't think I saw an alien at S4 you know we're splitting the hairs here this had to do with a glance through a window that I wasn't supposed to be looking at (46:31) anyway and I'm still convinced I looked in the window and I think these guys had a doll um in a small chair which was you know similar to what was in the Craft um and I think they were just looking at dimensions and they put something in there and I just to get a glance and it was just you know something tiny sitting in the chair I I don't think there was an alley in there posing for him you know I think they just had a small character or something you know doing measurements or something again we're talking about you know
(47:06) I've got 400 millisecond glance so now how much can you see out of that I don't I never saw any aliens walking around there I never heard anybody saying anything about living aliens so I don't think that was it but they did have a nickname for for the for the aliens the kids the kids [Music] is someone else here maybe visitors interested in us in our genes and our souls maybe we're property just a goddamn commodity we're like livestock maybe they'd like our condors and cupcakes the kimono or the topic knows (47:57) or maybe every single sighting of things in the sky is a product of our Collective consciousness the false hope that Humanity desperately needs intervention

by external powers we've always looked in the skies for answers instead of looking into ourselves all right so when at what point describe the evolution of your knowledge here I mean did you realize that this thing that you're working on came out of the fun it's awesome uh well of course I know that technology doesn't exist at all why uh well it
(48:36) doesn't take my word or it it's a it's just technology that doesn't exist yet I mean you're talking about that there is science doesn't even know what gravity is much less how to produce it or control it and here is a device that's producing it and controlling it and using it as propulsion so you're telling me there's a different physics that was your job you were working on that the science was something we were trying to figure out but we knew how the devices would operate
(49:14) you know for instance the propulsion of The Craft everything that we have whether it's a propeller plane or a jet or a rocket it throws something out the back either high speed exhaust or a large volume of air it's an action reaction force the action is you throw something out the back and it moves you forward so everything works this is the first time there's a craft that's it's a reactionless craft it's a field propulsion craft and what it does is it creates a distortion in space and time
(49:49) in front of it where space actually bends and my analogy to that has always been put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and then a foot in front of it take your fist and push down on the mattress bowling ball Will Roll towards it and that's exactly how the craft work it creates a distortion right in front of it and the cat craft Falls forward there so there's a different physics that well the science that explains how the technology works I mean it's all encompassed as one thing alien technology and science
(50:21) what is the big picture what are the what is the takeaway of your story after you're gone you're not a rebel kid with a with the jet car at Los Alamos today today's a different Bob Lazar right right what have we learned what's what's the message of your story the big thing is the suppression of extremely advanced technology and the suppression of unknown science that's it those two things to me is the only thing that's important about what was going on out there yeah there's another civilization and (51:03) like I've said before that's a crime not to tell Humanity about that but that's a separate thing meaning that there is something different in science dramatically that we're not allowed to know right right that is a true statement yeah that's a true statement the fact that there is another intelligent technologically advanced civilization we have some of their objects that is really the Pinnacle that there's another civilization in existence that's intelligent that we know about and we actually have (51:43) artifacts from them that can operate so I mean that's that's a big big deal but in my mind that's there's a lot to deal with that however the science and the technology can change us dramatically it can change the way the entire world operates the economy everything so those stick out in my mind as being critically important and we have it no we have them you don't have to believe it but we do and you've seen it I've seen it and you've touched it I've dismantled it after you're exposed to it just for a
(52:34) little while it begins to settle in your mind at these are normal things okay 115 belongs there on the chart you know these this flies and this is how gravity works great just like someone being from the 1800s being exposed to a car for a few days he takes it for granted very quickly um the most shocking thing was when I actually got to look inside the disk the seats in the panel associated with them were very small they were you know perhaps that far off the ground like something small now you if we had made something like that we
(53:06) wouldn't have made it to fit children it was uh it just led me to believe with the size of the alien cadavers I saw the size of the seats inside memory there's a mirage and mistress to desire shape-shifting and ethereal she's inherently Elusive and now eligible we acknowledge her if it's just our fantasy in the moment We Fear her because she is unpredictable it's unpredictable can we trust our own memories what if we can what if we can what if we can can we return to the scene of the crime to extract hidden details (53:57) see more clearly what we thought we saw I was told the rhythmic shouting and the constant threats that's a form of hypnosis when do they when did this happen oh this happened almost immediate they started yelling and screaming at you yeah a fun place to work well no like I said it was a it was a terrible atmosphere to work in but when you weigh that with what you're going to be around and uh you know you basically go through anything yell at me go ahead when can we get back to the flying

saucers so uh you did hypnosis to try to recall (54:42) details from your employment and from the physics right of what you learn is that correct yeah that's correct with Lane Keck okay and did you recall anything yeah I did I mean specifics things you might might have missed I basically wanted to try everything I could to prove what I was saying so this is just another tool you're familiar with it hypnosis can work yeah to recall yeah and I I had had it done to me before so I had proven that yeah this really does do something let's try and remember some (55:16) fine details or you wanted to recall some Physics that you learned there yeah I wanted I wanted to recall as much as I possibly could I mean so much went through my mind just imagine all the things you were seeing and everyone is completely fascinating and something you haven't seen before it's just data overload so I was hoping that hypnosis would get me relaxed enough where maybe everything was packed so tight together maybe I could just start thumbing through things and just pick up an even or tidbits could paint a bigger picture
(55:53) and I could you know possibly explain things better or you know possibly locate some of these other guys or anything any minute information so yeah and it was pretty handy so you did recall some things yeah technically yeah technical things and probably others too more and more hypnosis is accepted however there's still a lot of misconceptions about it like wonderful oh they think that you go into a trance and the hypnotist does something and you don't remember it and all of a sudden your life changes and that's not the case at all there's (56:38) no mind control happening and just just think relaxation now just think about your head and relax your head what I want you to do is to get as comfortable as you possibly can just relax completely now double your relaxation and the number 100 will be there one zero zero double your relaxation and the number 99 will come right on it [Music] Bob Bob from this moment on From This Moment On You Will recall and remember the material that you seek and no one or nothing past present or future will (57:45) stand in your way Bob Bob you you will remember because you desire to remember to do me to remember dreaming at one point [Music] he was in hypnosis I think it was drawing a reactor he was trying to recall what was in the books he saw it in the book and then I told him or you'll come up and open your eyes you'll be able to draw and uh he did but it didn't mean anything to it but it was a drawing that he drew this way oh no way but it was this way and so afterwards he looked at it and he you know came (58:49) back over and sat down here for a while and oh that's because all he had to do is turn it so that's the super conscious and literal the subconscious takes things literal right like it's like the mind is absorbing all this stuff and then he discovers what his mind had absorbed he's remembering yeah I was writing so fast I can't imagine what you were thinking too because you're discovering with them that kind of shock what's the truth hypnosis is the best possible tool of getting to the truth if a person makes (59:25) things up normally they can lie under hypnosis just as easily as out of hypnosis but if they're really trying to get to and retrieve information then it's the best tool that I know of he came in to find out what he didn't know we were able to go back overcome the fear and bring forth those memories according to Lazar his employer was the United States Navy he says he and other government employees would gather near EG and G fly to groom Lake then a very few people would get into a bus with blacked out or no windows and drive to
(1:00:08) S4 so you get off the bus what do you see very interesting building it's got a slope of probably about 30 degrees the which are Hangar doors and it has textured paint on it but it looks like sand it's made to look like a side of the mountain that it's in whether it's to disguise it from Satellite photographs or what he says he was never told exactly what he'd be working on but figured it had something to do with Advanced propulsion on his first day he was told to read a series of briefings
(1:00:36) and immediately realize how advanced the propulsion was the power source is an antimatter reactor They Run gravity amplifiers there's actually two parts to the drive mechanism uh it's just it's a bizarre technology there's no physical hookup between any of the systems in there they use gravity as a wave using Wave guides almost like microwaves Terry tavernetti runs a corporate security operation and is a former Los Angeles police officer he put Lazard through four tests and concluded there was no (1:01:12) attempt to deceive and I left there thinking that I feel we do have some credibility to what the subject had to say and that's when I went to some of my colleagues abernetti sent the test results to a third poligrapher who agreed the results appeared truthful Bob is explained to me multiple times he tried everything in his power to prove his story four different tests on four different areas of Bob's claims and he said afterwards there is no attempt to deceive at all he's telling what he believes to be the truth I have asked (1:01:53) the questions if he wasn't there he knew there was a place called S4 I had called Nellis Air Force Base public information office they confirm for me there really was a place called escort now there's no news story prior to Bob Lazar about any place called S4 he knew about it he also knew that EG and G had arranged hair Personnel that if you were going to get get a job out of EG was the company that you would go through he knew that there had been for the background background do remember the guy's name was an odd name

(1:02:31) how did you know that Mike bigman works for a federal agent after 30 years and this guy dodging you I found Mike thinkpen I found fig paper that's amazing I couldn't believe it he's on the East Coast I called him I've talked with him multiple times you know he won't go on camera because he doesn't want to kind of put a dark shadow upon the work that he did before but personally he conveyed to me that that was his job that was exactly what he did in Las Vegas in 1989 and in fact he remembers Bob Lazar the most important
(1:03:07) thing is that they were flying something that looks exactly like a flying saucer over paploose Lake and they flew up on Wednesday nights and he took people out there three weeks in a row out until and uh once maybe twice they recorded it on video that's real how did Bob know that there's been no stories about test flights and flying saucers and Papoose Lake and by the way that's where it was it wasn't over a group like it was overpass Lake we checked out so many details that Bob had told us that turned (1:03:39) out to be true the existence of S4 Element 115 really did become an element years later than Bob been consulted by the the lab which person synthesized man-made Element 115 there was a whole long string of things that he knew that checked out these Milestones along the way no matter how much we nitpick it apart no matter how much people don't want to believe it the evidence that he's telling the truth outweighs the evidence that he's not well I agree with you [Music] foreign [Music] working on this you were doing what what
(1:04:26) was your job we were to reverse engineer the power and propulsion system of this craft and see if it can be duplicated with available materials I just want to go over with you what it is that you saw to draw it out for people to make a sketch as you're seeing it as if you're there at that moment to kind of go back in the past it's the thing I termed the sport model underneath this floor there are three three large centrical devices these are unmounts that allow them to completely swivel up to 180 degrees
(1:05:16) and in 360 degree rotation directly above each one small rectangular object this is on the floor above and these are the gravity amplifiers themselves looking down from the top you'd have the center in the very center there is a small reactor surrounding this in three equally spaced areas are the amplifiers so this is looking at it sideways this is looking at it down from the top and under these amplifiers underneath the floor below are the gravity emitters so it's the reactor here powering the gravity amplifiers gravity amplifiers
(1:06:10) output goes into the gravity emitters at the bottom and the resulting gravity beam or anti-gravity wave can be pretty much put anywhere you want to um there was another level up here now I had access and was permitted to view and look at the operation of this main level with the gravity amplifiers and the level below the gravity emitters there is a level above which consisted of these two areas that have not all that familiar with I assume they used to be some sort of navigational engine uh people call these large black
(1:06:58) rectangular areas on the top portholes I believe they were some planar sensor array that just took in information from the surrounding area whether it be patterns of stars or what have you and there was their version of a computer or something to make determinations here that takes input from Those sensors and then let the craft know how to orient itself and where it was in space so that's what I assumed to be up there I don't know for a fact again that was not part of my job and I was only led to believe that the center
(1:07:37) antenna is really an extension of the reactor in the center and that's a wave guide which allows the uh the emission of the gravity wave which forms kind of a heart shape over the whole the whole craft that's how it creates its Distortion

these uh gravity emitters can be swung all the way up to 180 degrees and this allows the craft to essentially stand on two of them and hover while this one swings up and creates a distortion in front of it allowing the craft to slide forward so that's how they're low power mode (1:08:22) Omicron configuration operate the Delta configuration uses all three and unlike science fiction movies where you see flying saucers just flying along like that they actually fly a belly first the craft flies along leaves the atmosphere of the planet it turns its belly to the destination the three amplifiers focus in on the destination and that's how it proceeds so that's basically the operation of it and overall how things were laid out inside the craft this is an alien spacecraft right right obviously
(1:09:03) foreign [Music] thank you so yeah that your particle accelerator you had yeah the guy that promised not to say anything I won't say anything about the UFOs the article is titled spotlight
(1:10:09) thanks dude isn't that when after this came in there then the fire department police the zoning commission everybody descended on our heads and I wanted to know here's lab supplier and controversy so originally the the thing was supposed to be about what what did the guy say the article hydrogen car I think well the Rays it was about the raid yeah that's why lab supplier and controversy yeah the red in New Mexico and the guy called you know he said hey I heard about the raid and all that kind of coming you know do that and then he
(1:10:49) says are you Bob Lazar the guy Area 51 guy I said yeah but I don't want to get into that this is something more important he said oh yeah we don't even mention it no problem literally your house was taken over by a SWAT team yeah yes don't just send a letter in the mail or call us okay at the whole SWAT team and invite themselves to our home hidden things are the most seductive Secrets reach deep into our desire titillate and torment us like a ticking clock or a distant alarm with no origin they agitate us and force us to react
(1:11:33) the endanger our complacency there was a missing element to your faith but that's the nature of faith that there is something out there that offers the promise of salvation salvation your call has been forwarded to an automated voice messaging system at the tone please record your message hey Jeremy it's Bob Lazar listen I have something to ask you something's really come up that's important if you would text me and let me know when is a good time to call you I don't want you to call me I just need to run something by you okay
(1:12:15) thanks bye all right so the only record of this is going to be on the audio on this one file and then this video I'm not going to cut it I'm going to let it run understood okay then what I'm gonna do is I'm going to encrypt it and I'm going to put both of those two files into an encrypted thing to not be touched unless we decide it should be touched that's fine okay it'll be on two drives but that those two files are both being an encrypted folder so here's the deal did you ever get a piece of element one
(1:13:04) how much monitoring they do with me I'm sure it's virtually none after all this time hold on a second let me um do you have your phone on you yes um let's at this point uh take our phone let me just throw them let me put them in the ground over there I'll turn mine off I mean maybe this has been kept from us for a good reason a lot of people agreed to keep the secret so first of all who am I to upset it and second of all who am I to out think these guys maybe they went over all these scenarios already
(1:13:41) and they know how up everything will be so there's no guarantee that this Revelation is going to make everything great there's just as much chance it's going to make everything terrible and I'll be to blame for that they identified themselves as FBI and um they said your pop was all right and then you know one of them got on the radio saying yeah he's here apparently they also had my house staked out and they were deciding whether or not to go there the conveyor belt of vehicles and agents
(1:14:24) and police did not stop the whole thing it was like a Twilight Zone episode they came in and then they said there'll be a few other people coming here just got a couple questions to ask you in a short time the street filled up with vehicles and the building completely filled with agents it was really something else did they identify themselves initially as yeah those FBI identified themselves then came in State Police and a few other agencies I don't remember who but um there were a lot standing room only in the building it
(1:15:04) was it was crazy yeah they had like a forensic truck they had a bunch of different agents they gridded off the building I mean obviously they're they're

looking for something yeah yeah and what they said they were looking for some paperwork and all to order from two years ago about a customer that uh you know in order to potentially toxic material which they could have called for but uh this was certainly way over the top I looked up to select the right key and they were right beside me it was quite surprising (1:15:39) considering you could see all around here and they would generally have to be a vehicle or something but I just pulled up got out picked the key and then they started talking from behind me I thought that was really strange because it got much stranger as the day went on what what got stranger about it well just the sheer amount of people that came agency after agency I mean they had computer experts here going through you know all the computer equipment we had here they had people sectioning off the building
(1:16:12) labeling it in cubic meters so they can search each one you know what they're looking for was just a an ordered one so very strange [Music] foreign [Music] two times twice by more agencies than I can really recall the FDA to the NRC the FBI but they they usually comment in mass and it's hard to pick out who's who so this is beryllium yeah and what is it used for again it's used in Aerospace it's very lightweight quite strong and
(1:17:16) high temperature do you think that you you were shaken down to some degree you're being with I don't think they're just with me I'm convinced there's ulterior motives I firmly suspect that there's a a lot more to it than they're saying that they're looking for something else what they're supposed to do is tie you up put you in the middle of the room have everyone watching you so that you can't you know collaborate a story or you know try to trick them or whatnot so they just kept kept us all in separate
(1:17:56) rooms just bomb squad uh computer Squad I think they have like a biological Hazard Squad Hazmat Squad everybody made the full gamut because they had no idea um what we had in our shop or like what we're capable of or are we going to retaliate or anything like that so it was pretty much like the full Michigan FBI was here I mean they hit the van they have multiple cars lined off you know so I mean in looking at Bob's life there's always the suspicion that there's something more going on on shaking him
(1:18:27) down because he had that experience before yeah so this is the second time that I know of that he's gotten rated so he's always had like this kind of knowledge that there's somebody watching no matter what he does there's always somebody watching you and it does have to be related to the area 51 stuff and all that you know they kind of put them on the list I think they do like toying with them and keeping an eye on them but I don't believe that it's like they're opening up a 30 year old file
(1:18:54) and they're like all right we're going to crack down on the Bob story and we're going to find out if he had what he has what information he's got I don't think that they're necessarily doing that but I do think that there's like a culture maybe within these agencies of they know who this guy is and they'll have you know they'll look for any reason that they can to kind of you know poke them with some thorns and make sure that he knows you know who's watching them I I believe that it's too coincidental for
(1:19:17) it all to be just you know you know just some luck of the draw basically like there's there's something going on everybody knows the story is that you got some Element 115 adelos Alamos that that's public knowledge something you said a while back do you think that what happened had to do with with that where did I go in there [Music] or are they trying to shake you down to find the 115 that you said 30 years ago that you got out of the lab people are gonna ask that so let's just address that if you feel comfortable addressing it no
(1:20:03) do not feel comfortable addressing that no I don't feel comfortable addressing [Music] you would think after 30 years who cares what I have to say [Music] I I'm more convinced than ever that the key to the story is element 115. if you could get to that piece and have it independently analyzed I think it would prove beyond all question that it came from somewhere else we didn't make it and it would go a long way towards establishing the story that was told by Bob Lazar as truth so I think about that (1:20:53) a lot I think about the cloud chamber experiment I get a lot of emails from people who say oh God where's this video you owe it to the world to show this video cough it up and I tell them look I've looked for it I've got all these boxes of crap and stuff and tape and news clippings and I've looked for it and I can't find it but when somebody like you comes and talks to me about the Bob Lazard story

it gets the juices flowing in you know I can't help it I'm human and uh and and right now I want to (1:21:22) go find that tape I went through every tape that Bob had in his personal home archive and one of those tapes on the outside in tiny tiny little scribble said Cloud chamber and lo and behold there's about just less than a minute of that cloud chamber test on tape I have it over the years but I've looked everywhere for it and if you found it that's awesome I did now here's the deal in typical you know Bob Lazar fashion there's only about a minute of it however after all these years 30 years we have some footage of (1:22:03) it but it doesn't prove because it's recorded already style chamber was this of light was bent and it was bent because they had an Olympic 115 in in this part of the experiment I said well that's pretty important that would be huge to include in the story I spent time trying to understand why everybody was saying this 115 being stabilized is pseudoscience so I called some of the top heavy element physicists on the planet from from Russia to up in San Francisco to Washington DC and I spoke with you know about eight or nine but
(1:22:43) three in particular who would really talk to me in depth about it all of them across the board said you cannot rule out a stabilized version of element 115 in fact that we believe it is theorized that it in the island of stability that it would and could and probably does exist we so their way of saying it is we can't rule it out so all these people saying that is pseudoscience what Bob said about Element 115 I wanted to find out is it pseudoscience and definitively we cannot rule out a stabilized form of
(1:23:18) element 115. I'm sorry it is not pseudoscience and after doing this research you know that that argument no longer holds water perfect sense that it could be stable and scientists have said it for a long time so of course you can't rule it out again if you want to disbelieve Bob if you want to cross it off the list and say he's a fraud and you your research goes one inch deep and you say Element 115 as you described it can't exist and then move on if you want to be honest about it and and out that in fact what Bob says does make
(1:24:00) sense it can't be true Element 115 was what we would call the fuel what provided the power for the reactor to work what happens with gravity and 115 Element 115 affects gravity Element 115 produces its own gravitational energy it had a very specific manufacturing technique I don't really know how that information came to be it's code name was la one thousand that's what it was referred to off-site it's purpose was supposed to be again this is just a code and deception was supposed to be an advanced armor
(1:24:55) so some unusual material so now we can take it to a National Lab this is la1000 classified material it's a very Advanced armor that takes care of all weird questions so you know you immediately start operating on lives this fuel is in the form of a just a three-dimensional thin triangle little rounded edges it's somewhat copper in color you know that reddish brownish the way this is manufactured is really critical it's not just cut out of a heavy sheet of material a cylinder of this material is taken this
(1:25:50) is machined into a cone so this is the outer part is shaved off using a lathe or something like that until you have a three-dimensional comb once you have the comb it's sliced like this and these slices become that now even this starting piece a solid cylinder is not even a solid cylinder it consists of many discs stacked up and these are fused together to produce that and all of these steps are necessary to produce a successful triangle that brings fuel so actually you know if you were to look at how this came to be this
(1:26:48) would actually be pieces of all these discs that were cut at unusual angles now apparently if you don't do all this that doesn't work so unfortunately that's the extent of my knowledge on this this makes no sense anywhere but that's what it takes for it to operate now with the alien technology that was present in the craft it takes that basis that extra gravitational energy in a small reactor amplifies it through the equipment there directs it through the wave guides and archways into the emitters
(1:27:35) and allows it to propel The Craft and manipulate the gravity wave for whatever use they want [Music] wordness you expect people to believe this no I'm not going to change anyone's mind that's not my intention I'm just I'm just relaying the experience the job that I went through it is a fantastic thing it's a fantastic story but it's true it's true these crafts came from another not just another planet another solar system entirely extremely far away and they're here foreign making fireworks since I was 12 and

(1:28:29) professional fireworks for at least 20 years fireworks are just fun they're artistic it's like painting the sky controlling a large amount of energy has always been impressive it reflects positively on Bob lazar's story I hope that the world will take another look at it thus the the jet bike the jet car yeah to take you know a large amount of energy which would normally be thought to be out of control to take that and harness it and have it do what you want it's always been impressive to me [Music]
(1:29:18) what you say is it's hard to go ahead and accept the possibility that he's telling the truth but if I did not believe it if I thought for a moment that he was lying about it I'd be done with it I wouldn't still be supporting it 30 years later your life has been under a microscope every word you said for 30 years recorded has been under a microscope and that's that's affected you yeah of course it is it affect anybody how has it affected you in the way I talk and how much I do I'd rather not you know in a public forum
(1:29:54) I'd rather just not say anything why do you think people are so obsessed with every word that you say about your experiences you know we're working they're just looking for a way to to look for an inaccuracy and and to be able to Discount the whole thing oh he said this one time and said it slightly different this time you know obviously he's making it up no that's just the first word that entered my mind you know I don't put that much thought into it what I'm saying Lucas as much as a lot of people hate it
(1:30:28) this stuff really happened I mean if it bothers you that's too bad I think that's just hard for people to accept I mean so yeah it would be no I fully understand I would feel the same way I'm not sure I would believe my story boy there's not enough evidence you know but uh I couldn't discount it either fact is that people know him best believe him the most I hope that one thing that comes across in your film once you get to know it was much more plausible as a story he's not lying to his mom and his wife and
(1:31:04) all his friends he's not mine in the UFO World either you saw alien ships yeah you worked on a gravity wave amplification system trying to figure it out right a propulsion system and a power source that's completely unknown to mankind and there's no way human beings could have made it there is no way human beings could imagine under any circumstances in any country anywhere period and for 30 years you you are telling us the truth you bet this happened you got it the fact that they weren't there looking for (1:31:42) records about some customer he had a couple of years ago they were looking for 150 to a prime lap analysis and you can people to do duplicate the whole computer and all that stuff they're looking for something else I'm sure a cell are not looking for a minor receipt um people may not believe that 115 is real but somebody does because that's what they came to look for now if you want to you want to cross it off and you don't want to believe mine I don't care anymore whether people give truth
(1:32:21) once you realize that it changes everything for you everything for me [Music]

(00:00) we're thrilled to be here my wife Anna say hi Anna hello um I don't know if you heard this story but our our uh our luggage has become a UFO we know we know our suitcases were objects we know they were flying at some point and we know their uh their their whereabouts are unknown at this time so we went out and got got some clothes I promise I we did take showers and we did brush our teeth so we're not dangerous anymore um I I know the a couple of things about Denmark didn't know a whole lot but I I
(00:30) knew a of things that the the most important uh people to know were the Berg family ybg and carlburg and and maybe their their cousin the tubber's um but actually the the one thing I did not know about Denmark previously that I have learned in the 24 hours we've been here is uh about the most powerful the most intimidating force in the city of Copenhagen and that is uh I mean more fearsome than the CIA more fearsome uh than the Men in Black and that's the bicycle Mafia uh be afraid be very afraid you know cuz

(01:04) these guys they're they all seem perpetually angry and they will run you down and not look back I'm hoping we escape unscathed here I thought uh today we would have some fun and uh and I would share with you sort of my journey uh along uh chasing this UFO mystery Bob Lazar Area 51 in particular some of the stories and Adventures that adventures in saucer land I guess you could call it how I got sucked into this topic and why I become hooked on it permanently and some of the interesting people and and (01:38) uh Adventures we've had along the way and share with you my perspective not only as a as a man who's interested in this topic but also as a reporter as a journalist because I find myself increasingly at odds with the other people in my profession I I think the segue from what we heard from Robbie uh is seamless in that uh a lot of what we know about uh Area 51 and UFOs comes from Hollywood instead of from journalists people who are in my profession the people who should be telling this story are news people
(02:09) around the world us and here but they aren't they aren't doing it and uh why they aren't doing it is something that we'll explore today U so let's get right to it the the story that we're here to review today is sort of traveled all over the world many times and I know in some ways that it sounds Preposterous on its face uh the idea that some slightly off-kilter nerdish guy in glasses could be hired into a classified program even though his educational credentials are practically non-existent his work
(02:43) history is sketchy at best he's been discredited and dismissed by people he worked with and for there is no way that this guy should ever be allowed access to Top Secret materials or to classified files no way let alone that he would be able to blow the whistle on some some of the deepest darkest secrets of all time and yet if we press number one I think you will recognize this guy's face Snowden you thought I was talking about Bob Lazar right we know that Edward Snowden really did work for the CIA in the NSA even though he had no
(03:18) college degrees even though he dropped out of high school he dropped out of the military he was working as a security guard right before he was hired by the CIA and then later the NSA private contractors for the SAA he was able to access the most sensitive information in the US government which he subsequently and promptly leaked it's run number two uh I am here to talk about another slightly nerdish whistleblower a guy named Bob Lazar is it fair to compare Bob Lazar and Edward Snowden I think it is and I'll take you through this (03:49) Twisted Tail step by step and you can tell me if this comparison is valid or not both of these guys worked on classified projects for spooky agencies both presumably were not qualified to be in their positions and so a lot of people have doubts about them as a result their personal lives were spotty their educational credentials were questionable both were very bright guys whose lack of former credentials was not an impediment to getting work in places that seemingly should be off limits to them uh I think Bob lazar's Story the (04:21) one you're about to hear demonstrate that those three letter agencies that we talk about in UFO Gatherings like this will hire anyone if it means means there's a better chance of getting the job done uh it's the same reason that the CIA came to my hometown Las Vegas to hire Mafia guys to help kill Fidel Castro because those are the guys who could get the job done that really happened it's why deals were cut with the CIA and the DEA and various drug cartels over the years or why we had on the government payroll the US government
(04:53) payroll these scumbag dictators like Manuel Nora or Saddam Hussein it's why journalists and entertainers have been recruited over the decades I mean these agencies do what they need to do to get the job done they will make a deal with the devil if that's what it takes and I think that relates directly to the story of Bob Lazar that we're going to hear it's now 25 years since I got sucked into this world of Area 51 and flying saucers and Bob Lazar uh November next month will Mark the 25th anniversary of (05:25) when we went public with Bob's identity and I'll tell you some stories as we go along but right up until the minute when I revealed his name and showed his face for the first time Bob was grabbing the videotape I mean 10 minutes before he went on the air um trying to grab that tape because he had changed his mind he is the most as you will hear he's if he's the UFO Messiah he's the most reluctant Messiah you're ever going to hear about um I had no idea of course when I started this thing that 25 years later (05:55) the story would still be going that people would still be asking questions about it that it would travel all over the world many times over you know I was pretty sure at the time it was going to change Bob's life there was no question about that um and I guessed it would probably cause at least some kind of fleeting interest in the time in the base itself in Area 51 the one that with no name the one with many names but I had no idea that this was going to change my life so dramatically as well and it has I mean I'm here I I'm (06:24) speaking to an audience in in Copenhagen about Area 51 uh and it's a long way from home it's just an amazing little journey uh since the theme of this Gathering is sort of about UFOs and the media I thought I would uh explore with you how this story has spread uh how it became sort of a a Transcendent meme uh the way in which this story has spread I think by itself that mechanism would be of interest to those three-letter agencies intelligence agencies in how this thing goes around the planet and also to sociologist you know certainly (07:01) to academics who study media information Theory it has been uh kind of astonishing at least from my end and I've had a pretty good seat uh I started as a journalist in Las Vegas um back in 1991 excuse me 81 and I work mostly in television but I've also done print and as as was mentioned in the introduction I do some radio here and there and over the years I think I probably covered just about every kind of news story you could imagine in Las Vegas what you would expect a Las Vegas reporter to cover organized crime political (07:32) corruption sex scandals celebrity uh goofballs environmental catastrophes drought the Foreclosure crisis drug dealers Gun Runners murders bikers fires stickups pot dealers crack pedlers scams ripoff scumbags Bon heads and Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid I me I covered it all along the way and some of those stories I broken have been pretty good uh some of them not so good and in my hometown at least I'm considered a pretty good repor or at least I was all that kind of changed in 1989 when I became the UFO guy I'm sure this is true

(08:07) for most of you who are here in this room because in your family in your circles you're the UFO guy or gal right uh if there's a UFO sighting in in Norway or something and it makes it into the paper people in your family crazy Uncle Bob or something comes and asks you about what you think about the UFO story we're all the UFO people so you're going to be able to relate to some of the things I'm going to tell you about here um I am the area 51 guy I'm the UFO guy in my community it's as if it's (08:36) tattooed on my butt I'm sure it'll be mentioned when I die that's going to be right there in the obituary uh in describing what I did in my life is that I was the UFO guy in Area 51 I mean not a day goes by when I don't get emails from uh Ecuador or Iceland or somewhere in between uh about a UFO sighting or a flying saucer event everywhere I go in Las Vegas and my wife can tell you about this we get stopped and people want to talk about UFOs we're sitting and having dinner people will come up and slide
(09:05) into the booth and they want to tell me their story and um you know that that's okay to some extent and I understand it and they want to ask the same question uh what do I really think about UFOs well the reality is they don't want my opinion about UFOs they want to tell me their UFO story because they everybody's got one so it's at restaurants I'm in a grocery store uh in a bar standing in a urinal in a men's room um people wanted tell me about the UFO stories that's a real thing hey do you really believe
(09:33) that stuff um and I'm okay with that but for some reason it drives my colleagues in journalism crazy uh it just drives them nuts they don't know how to handle it the general public seems deeply interested in this subject and every time we do a UFO story or some kind of series on television the ratings Spike they go up it indicates the public is hungry for Reliable information on this topic and yet other journalists who presumably should be uh you know servicing the needs and the interests of the of the public don't want to touch it
(10:05) and it's just really strange I mean it's a great subject potentially the biggest story in the history of the planet and even if it weren't true even if this was some kind of a mass hallucination long term it would still be a huge story plus from my perspective as a journalist it's a hell of a lot of fun to chase this around I get to come to Copenhagen for example I mean uh but to my colleagues the folks in this room all of us myself included are UFO Buffs UFO Believers UFO crazies I mean it's subtle terms like (10:37) that that they use in their stories UFO Buffs and Believers it's to tools that are used by journalists to sort of put UFO folks in their place uh you know those who don't believe the subject matter is legitimate they're called uh Skeptics or scientists but though the rest of us are Buffs and Believers I never thought of myself as a buff or believer I'm not the UFO reporter I'm a journalist I'm a reporter who happens to be interested in UFOs and there there's a a distinct difference there I think (11:07) it's a legitimate news story and as I said this has driven my colleagues in journalism really crazy um 1989 as I said is the year that I officially went nuts uh because that's when we broke the story about Bob Lazar and Area 51 and and uh when I had broken those other stories I mentioned you know I'm just a reporter when I talk about UFOs in Area 51 I'm crazy I'm a fruit cake at least in the eyes of my colleagues I can't tell you how many times I have been pillared by radio disc jockeys in the (11:36) morning when they run out of belch barf and fart jokes or something they'll take a shot at me uh my friends at Nevada's largest newspaper the review journal have had a lot of fun at my expense over the years um that one of the first they've done a series of editorial cartoons that I have on my wall at home by the way one of them showed me with a butterfly net uh chasing a flying saucer that was the first one there was one that had uh it was called the marshmallow head Chronicles and it was two extraterrestrial Hitmen had come to (12:06) Earth and they had their ray guns here they were coming to kill me because I'd spilled these UFO Secrets but they're standing looking at a at two G gasoline pumps and the one guy says the other of course they are earthmen but which one is George knap um I think they're making fun of maybe my Stout figure or something like that I had done a series of reports about alleged alien abductions and you know the medical procedures that come along with that that the abductees talk about and the uh the review journal had a column they (12:35) called it the headline was they were kidnapped by extraterrestrials and they they talked about the medical procedures and they dubbed me a grand Mulla in the Church of cosmic proctology which U I thought that was funny uh the newspaper critic he was writing a story about how people were rushing at home at night to see my stories about UFOs the second series that we ever did he said that they were rushing home not because they care about flying saucers but because they wanted to be there quote when George finally (13:05) goes bull Goose Looney and does the big crack up on the screen his eyes Going Buggy and rolling free in their socket sockets will he Crash and Burn before our very eyes that was in our newspaper funny stuff I figure it comes with a territory I'm a I'm a public figure I'm not thin skinned about it I'm okay with it because I know the Public's okay with it I don't write stories for them to be read by other journalists I write them for the public to read and this is a subject that the public is interested in (13:33) the part that bothers me and since we are talking about UFOs and media the part that bothers me is that reporters and columnists other journalists are so willing to write this story off to dismiss it to make fun of it to poke fun at you and me and anybody else who's interested in it without doing any of the work they do the Wise Cracks because it's easy and they don't do the work H they've certainly never spent hundreds of hours sitting out there the dark and the dust of the desert around Area 51

(14:02) waiting for something to happen trying to dodge these security patrols and coyotes and dust devils things of that sort trying to keep from getting arrested or busted by the helicopter are out there they haven't read the books they haven't read the documents they had haven't interviewed the witnesses none of the stuff that you would do in any other kind of story that's your job is to do that kind of stuff before you make a judgment about a particular topic or The credibility of a witness or something like that and I'm sure many of (14:29) you feel the same way I don't know what the coverage is like here in Denmark Pia was telling me you don't get a whole lot of serious media coverage but maybe that can change they see all of us in this room as nuts and and while I think that is terribly unfair and inaccurate in a general sense the fact is and you know it as well as I do that this subject does attract a lot of people whose elevator doesn't go all the way to the top floor you know um for the past couple of weeks I've been getting emails (14:58) from this lady in California who uh wants me to contact the former director of the CIA Admiral James woy she wants him to stop harassing her via electronic mind control uh she's Woolsey she says has been forcing her to have sex with a large contingent of Asian men who she doesn't know so she's been banging these Asian guys and she's blaming the CIA guy and wants me to see if I can get him to stop it I'm not sure I can help her out when I first got started in this uh it's did the first series on the UFO stuff in (15:31) Area 51 I get contacted by this lady she's calling me up every day got to talk to me got to see me in person can't discuss this uh on the phone she had to see me I fine I finally relented she shows up at the station she's wearing the skimpiest possible halter toop and holding this kid who it turns out of course is an alien hybrid baby and within the first five minutes I met this lady I knew details about her sex life that I didn't want to hear because she said it was while she was engaged in a (15:58) certain sex act their boyfriend out on their front porch that she looked up and saw her first flying saucer and she told me this allow and I'm not making up one word of this uh she told me this elaborate story about how they had beamed her up on the ship she'd been up there a couple of times and the first time she was up there uh she was in a lineup with other Earth women and they looked looked her over and they told her you know in our they had her them in bathing suits like a Miss America Pageant or something and they told her

(16:24) in their alien opinion that she didn't needed to get breast implants and again I'm not making this up and that was the one part of the story I could really believe because there was ample physical evidence staring me in the face right there um I get these letters from this 75-year-old woman in Northern California she says she has these sexual romps with aliens every time her husband leaves for town they live on a ranch every time he leaves the aliens come and have their way with her and uh she even drew me an
(16:56) anatomically correct picture of what alien gen ta you look like you want to you want to open up that on a on an empty stomach in the morning it's not something that I I have been pestered by a millionaire transsexual abductee by a guy who says he's the twin brother of Jesus Christ who says aliens are coming and they're really mad uh I had a guy fly from Australia one time used he said he used the last money he had in his bank account to fly to see me and to see if I would go to Area 51 and use my (17:26) contacts out there to tell the aliens to stop abducting him now that's a sad that's a sad story it's funny but it's sad at the same time cuz that guy really thought he was being abducted and he thought I could possibly help him talk to some aliens out of Area 51 uh I had this guy who contacted me and I don't know how I got sucked into going to his house but he convinced me that he had worked for the military he had some UFO information he says I communicate with the aliens on a regular basis and he
(17:54) showed me the device and it was it we went out into his backyard and it was a a bird bath with an old Record Rack on top and a headlight from a car that was just sitting there like it was not connected anything that this guy said that was his device for uh communicating with aliens I get U letters from alleged aliens that tell me they're watching me I get them sending me poems and songs I've had assorted death threats over the years from people who say that they say that they're the government and they're (18:21) going to get me they say I'm the government uh they think I'm an agent I mean been around the block on this I went on The Montel Williams TV talk show one time it just somebody just sent us a copy of it and there was a people on there it wasn't just abductees they were abductees who' been aliens in a previous lifetime and I'm supposed to follow that um you know so it it let's roll some video the next one the area 51 video it kind of comes with the territory so um for major media you know that's all they (18:53) see is people like that they never get beyond the obvious they never start to look at uh area 1 the legitimacy you can turn the video down I mean the audio down the legitimacy of whether there's a real story there or not um so I I think it's really their loss because they're missing the boat this is a story that got out anyway Area 51 as mentioned it's known all over the world now it's created an oxymoron of sorts of the highest order the world's best known secret base how can you be so well-known
(19:24) and Secret at the same time it's kind of odd it's a place that is famous for being Secret uh and for decades for decades the government has pretended it wasn't there it's their own fault Area 51 you know this uh most classified military technology in America's Arsenal has been tested out there it's a place where constitutional protections legal protections do not apply it's a place where environmental laws in our country are Exempted it's where you can be shot just for walking (19:53) into the place Area 51 also known as the Box the ranch the water toown strip and Dreamland it's the base that began in 1955 uh it's the place where the U2 that's the the camo dudes that sit up on the on the on the uh Hill if you try to walk up to Area 51 they're the ones that come and grab you uh and they have cameras all over the security is really oppressive uh they if you get too close they'll fly helicopters Jets all kinds of things at you they have um they have motion detectors 12 15 mil away from the (20:27) base out on public land that will let them know if your car drives down that road they know you're coming so they can get ready they have all kinds of sophisticated technology uh to to tell them when somebody is trying to get in I've bet all kinds of people offer to hey let's sneak in there and I tell that's a really bad idea well look let's get a whole bunch of winnebagos and we'll go driving across the border and they can't stop all of us yes yes they can and uh so i' I've tried to talk them

(20:53) out of that stuff um you know Area 51 even without Bob Lazar is a pretty interesting place the U2 the SR71 stealth technology all manner of CIA monkey business has been taking place out there over the years it's a fascinating place but the history of Area 51 and the history of my my own personal history all changed a day and it was 1987 two years before Bob Lazar a guy named John Lear walked into the TV station and told me a story and Lear had a certain amount of credibility at KS his father of course had invented the (21:26) Lear jet John had run for the State Senate he was an ex CIA employee who had flown basically every aircraft in the world and he had helped us break a really big story my boss was a guy named Ned day who was a a muck raking crusading journalist in in Nevada he's dead now but at the time he had broken this story it was a huge story about the existence of the stealth fighter John leer would go out the area 51 look around take photos like these and he knew that something like a stealth fighter was flying around out there so
(21:59) he and his buddy Jim Goodall told Ned day Ned day breaks the story it goes National goes International about the existence of the strange technology out there Ned gets pulled in by the FBI they hauled him in and put a bright light it was like right out of a movie scene how dare you endanger National Security don't you know that puts everyone in the country at risk and the Russians are going to find out all this stuff he was really worried that he was going to go to prison for a while and of course his ultimate answer to them was look you may (22:28) have thought you had a secret out there with this technology but if I as a reporter can find it out then certainly the Russians can find it out so I did you a favor anyway John leer gave us that information about stealth technology so he had credibility with us he walked into the station with a big stack of UFO documents and dropped them on Ned's desk and Ned said look I'm not interested in this I can't do this story if it was true that there's UFOs or flying saucers at Area 51 I'd already (22:55) know about it so it can't be true uh so he gave John the brush off I was eavesdropping as good reporters tend to do and I said hey let me take a look at that stuff so I started reading his pile of UFO documents it included the mj12 papers and some other things citing reports from oh these are some of the spy planes that have been tested out at Area 51 this video had been classified for a long time but they finally released it decades later um anyway so I started reading John's stuff and um I thought well that's kind of (23:25) interesting and at the time I produced a show called on the record it's a little public Affairs program it airs at 6:00 in the morning and nobody watches it normally it'd be a show that you'd have somebody that's the a12 which was also developed out there and that's footage from Area 51 um anyway so we have John leer uh on on the record the show that I did that nobody normally watches and the phone starts rigging off the hook and so I had him on a second time and I got an even bigger response from the public and (23:52) I thought hey this is kind of interesting maybe I'm going to have to look into this UFO topic so I started reading it everything I could get my hand hands on and I figured this is how cocky I was at the time uh I figured well what the heck you know what this topic needs is a good reporter give me six months I'll have this baby all figured out you know I I'll have this mystery solved and here it is 27 years later and I still have no idea what's going on um so that's how I sort of got sucked into it John Lear give me this (24:22) information I read it I find it interesting the third time I had John on this program he slipped a hint that he knew guy who' just been hired at Area 51 don't want to say too much about it but if this goes public if he goes public with the information it's going to blow the lid off this story I thought well I'm going to keep that in mind well the guy that he knew turned out to be Bob Lazar I'll skip some of the steps about how we we ended up meeting let's play a little clip of the Lazar the 25th this (24:50) sort of give us a recap of the story I don't know sometimes I really do regret regret it and almost I I almost feel like apologizing to him saying that you know I'm sorry I let things out can I have my job back 25 years after he was forever transformed into Bob the UFO guy Bob Lazar says he regrets ever talking about flying saucers or a secret base in the Nevada desert or any of the things that made his name known all over the world there isn't a day I I don't get emails and you know I try and get this (25:20) across to him look I don't even want to talk about it anymore you know well I don't believe the story great pass it around you know I really don't want you to because it makes life difficult for me a quarter century ago not many people outside of Nevada had ever heard of Area 51 the mysterious base 100 miles north of Las Vegas a place the government said didn't exist it was the location of choice for all manner of black projects spy planes that were kept secret from the public and that's my driveway that's (25:51) Bob that's Jean Huff and Bob's wife Tracy and Chris and uh we're just waiting there for uh 5:00 to roll around former CIA pilot John leer remembers the day that area 51 became a household name hi John this is home video he shot as a k News truck prepared to broadcast a live interview from lear's home Lazar was understandably nervous yeah he was nervous because he was putting it all out on the line there and uh here he was going to you know reveal all this secret that he' signed you know that he was (26:26) going to uh never tell anybody it's uh not only a crime against the American people in the interview lazzar's face was hidden and he used a pseudonym Dennis which was the first name of his boss out in the desert well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying Lazar claimed he worked intermittently at a location called S4 south of Groom Lake the main facility of Area 51 he said the hangers had been built into the site of a mountain disguised as desert and inside were a set of nine flying saucers months

(27:00) later he revealed his identity to the world and said the technology he'd worked on was from somewhere else that it was being taken apart to figure out how it worked okay so he says he told us man I remember that day so clearly in May of 1989 we put him on the air I had not interviewed him before uh we had somebody cancel an interview a live interview for our five o'clock news when I was anchoring there we said well may that saucer guy would do it so we put him on and the phone went crazy people could not believe that my bosses go
(27:32) rushing in is this guy for real and my news director and I Bob Bob stoal said gosh if this story is true if we can verify at least some of it it's going to be gigantic so we started a project I spent the next eight months working on trying to verify lazar's background and any other details that we could come up with about Area 51 we had heard rumors about something that looked like flying saucers being tested out there for a long time yet no one had ever come forward until Bob um so he said there's (28:03) nine flying saucers into the built into the hanger in the side of the mountain the facility know as S4 he said that he saw one of these things that was in Flight he called it the sport model and it looked like you saw the the artwork there it's looked like what uh Billy Meyers beam ships like the the sport model that he called it uh he said that antimatter reactor would create its own gravitational field uh that gravity was in fact the key to Interstellar travel it allowed one of these spaceships that generates its own gravitational field it
(28:36) could Bend space and time which is what a lot of people jacqu Val and others have said it looks like how these flying saers get around the fuel Lazar said was something called Element 115 a super heavy element that did not exist at the time but does now I mean it's Preposterous stuff it's outrageous it's ridiculous who in the world could believe such a story coming from a guy with a sketchy background like Bob it turns out quite a few people believed it because the story exploded like a bomb I mean it launched thousands of product (29:09) lines made Untold numbers of media appearances possible the meme was on the loose let's play this next one in the cud Area 51 you could have just handed me a piece of a UFO from Area 51 there have never been any spacecraft there's no area 51 there's no recovered spaceship oh excuse me Mr President that's not entirely accurate it would probably take an Indiana Jones sized Warehouse to stash all the pop culture references to Area 51 the oo secret facility the place that did not officially exist for decades is the (29:48) rockar of military bases literally there's a rock band named Area 51 and another named Element 115 which is supposedly the fuel for flying buying saucers there's an Area 51 video game an Area 51 Bar what better way to unwind after a long day than a glass of Groom Lake Red Wine from the AE in maybe spend a few minutes staring at the paintings you picked up at the area 51 art show while perhaps listening to the Bob Lazar music videoar the story that Bob Lazar told 25 years ago has gone around the world many (30:25) times over when you get yourself in position and in the quart Century since then the world has beaten a path to area 51's door every major news organization in the world has written Stories the Bas has inspired documentaries and TV dramas dozens of books have been written fiction and non-fiction hundreds of news articles many of them critical of Lazar and skeptical about his background his tale launched a thousand product lines every trinket you can imagine along with assorted businesses a AAA base team and (30:59) the world's only extraterrestrial Highway running right past the entrance to groom Lake President Obama recently made a point of publicly acknowledging Area 51 what's really going on at Area 51 and former President Bill Clinton told Jimmy Kimmel he' looked into those stories about space aliens so first I had people go look at the records on Area 51 to make sure there was no alien down there even the Kardashians have made a track out into the desert that's a security guard who look look how that (31:28) that uh you know that story moved throughout the internet so quickly and not just the internet but but news in itself like was in the first 48 hours after the broadcast it was in Japan back in Las Vegas for a visit Lazar recalls why he came forward in the first place he had traveled to the S4 base only a handful of times but began to get scared I began to get worried in that why they've given me all this classified information they're not calling me anymore they won't take my phone calls and the meantime apparently they're (32:01) deciding what to do with me look how bright it's getting look at it now for a variety of personal reasons Lazar couldn't keep the story to himself he shared his tale with John Lear and Jean Huff they and a few others made TRS out to the outskirts of S4 because Lazar said he'd learned when the test flights of the saucer would take place three weeks in a row a glowing object appeared over the mountain look how bright it's getting look at it now and just a few minutes ago we saw one of the government

(32:29) uh extraterrestrial UFOs the time when Bob said there would be a test there was a strange light jumping around in the sky above the location where he said it would be at the time and date he said it would be you know here the craft took off when I said it was taking off from past the the mountain range which was Papoose Lake S4 south of Area 51 you know in a restricted area so it's not like anyone was out there with a model plane or anything and uh you know flew around it incredible man manuvers that impressed everybody to the point where (33:00) we got scared and got behind a a car fearing the thing was going to explode but um really how do you explain this it's bright right now I can't tell you how many times I wish gosh shouldn't I have copyrighted a piece of that or something the wife reminds me quite a few times with the thousands of products and books and TV shows and and things of that sort the references to Area 51 that have gone everywhere uh Robbie mentioned about the movies and the the idea of reality and and that is so true I can remember being (33:31) there was a special screening of the movie Independence Day and I had already been reporting on Area 51 for 10 years you know pounding away at these stories in UFO circles that had gone everywhere but it was still sort of filtering out to the general public and we had the special screening of the movie and there's that scene where the secretary defense says Ah Mr President yeah there really is an Area 51 and people in the audience are going see I told you it was real I was like I I've been reporting on (33:57) this for for years now and now it took a movie to tell you it's real that there really is a place called AR 51 uh by the way as a side note I told P I was bringing some stuff along it it's in the bags it in the baggage wherever that is but some some uh uh Trinkets and souvenir from Mara 51 I got an Al little alien Christmas ornament with an alien on it a couple of hats from the area 51 Museum which is the Atomic Testing Museum it's got a room full of stuff about half of it from my house the area
(34:27) 51 baseball team we got a hat from that an Area 51 cookbook anyway I'm deot

uh donating it to your organization if you want to bid on it maybe it'll make some money or something like that um you know I was thrilled with some of the stuff that uh President Clinton spoke publicly about Area 51 President Obama spoke about it uh while he he did that by the way if you'll recall while he was honoring Shirley mlan which seemed kind of somehow fitting uh but I was a little bit worried when I saw the Kardashians (34:56) heading to Area 51 in the TV business there's a phrase known as Jumping the Shark when a show has gone too far uh to be credible anymore uh that's what we call it Jumping the Shark and I don't know if the Kardashians may have jumped the shark from the first stop but when they started going to Area 51 I thought this has gone too far um you saw at the end of that video clip this original footage of a saucer test flight that Lazar and Jean Huff and John le and others had witnessed not once not twice
(35:24) but three weeks in a row Lazar knew when these test FL would take place he knew where they would take place there had been no news stories about it no coverage uh in anywhere officially and to this day the story is there is nothing at papo's Lake there's never been a facility there even though satellite photos show a road that goes down there and uh there's no base there's no facility there's nothing but a dry lake bed at Papoose so how did Bob know how did he know this stuff it's one
(35:54) of the points we're going to come back to play this next little clip of this this a little bit better look at that saucer that's a a freeze frame a there's some enhancement that was done that's that's the object it was flying above papoose's Lake and I don't know it looks like a flying saucer to me uh over the years dozens of people have captured their own images of things flying around out there there's a classic Sombrero shaped UFO that was flying around out there weird lights now some of these
(36:22) things like everything else they're misidentifications they're military planes secret aircraft secret platforms of one sort or another but a heck of a lot of them look like flying saucers and if we've been flying them out there since the 1950s which is how long people have been seeing seeing them if it's a classified project when do we get a look when do they declassify it when do they roll it out of the hanger last year I don't know if you read this story here if it got much P publicity but the CIA
(36:50) formally announced last year that area 51 exists whoopy fre and do you know Area 51 exists we known that it exists we've got satellite photos we know people who worked out there the the world has no yeah can stop it um the world has known about it for a long time so CIA goes public with this announcement I'm wondering what are they up to well they they wanted to use it as an explanation to brush away all reports of UFOs don't worry I think what the words were remember all those UFOs you were seeing in the 50s and 60s that was (37:23) us ha haa I I don't even and you know at the same time they acknowledge that the base uh was real they did something else sneaky they said the real reason that these rumors about flying saucers at Area 51 had been started is because people outside the base were seeing weird things flying around and they mistook them for UFOs well you know and they they're implying that these are u2s and SR71 and stealth technology uh it's similar to the earlier CIA release that was done a couple of years ago to explain away all UFO sightings that's (37:56) all us they said it's the agency it's our secret planes and they they made a campaign about it on Twitter well [__] it's [__] uh I don't even know where to start with that uh the U the U2 is a great big gangly plane that has big long Wings it doesn't look like a flying saucer it doesn't hover silently it doesn't fly up and down like this it doesn't land in people's corn fields or backyards it was designed to not be seen at all uh same for the SR71 the a12 the stealth technology those are (38:27) not flying saucers it suggests that people are seeing those planes and and that's the cause of the stories in Area 51 is ridiculous um more importantly the stories about flying saucers in Nevada didn't start because there were people outside the base seeing things flying around they started because people inside the base started leaking the information and one of those people was Bob Lazar uh I'm not going to try to convince you beyond any doubt that Lazar is telling the truth for most people you (38:57) know that horse is left the barn you've already made up your mind about it chances are if you're here to hear some of this you probably give him at least some credibility um you know that that Legend is Galloping around down the road and and around the world and most people have made up their minds as I said I I I will give you two thoughts on this though one is that my belief it's a moot point anyway as

Robbie Graham was saying because this area 51 story is now permanently etched into the public (39:23) Consciousness whether anybody likes it or not uh it's taken on a life of its Zone independent of Bob Lazar uh Lazar by the way did not work at Area 51 although a lot of people say that he was at S4 and and we've already made that distinction uh earlier this year there was a tour they now take tours out to Area 51 regular tours if you as a tourist you want to go to Las Vegas and take a drive out there they'll P put you in a vehicle take you right up to the edge of Area 51 you can take a couple of (39:51) snapshots and you go back home uh earlier this year I aired a story about a tour group they had their driver who was relatively new to the job and they're talking they're yaking at him as he's driving up to the gate yeah yeah yeah blah blah blah he blows right through this sign the warning sign it says stop or you will be shot uh he goes right through it and they're driving along and they're wondering Hey where's that base you know where's the camo dude shouldn't we be stopping here and all of (40:16) a sudden bam he's right on on their butt uh pulled him over pulled out guns uh threatened to arrest him they wrote him up big citations the guy can never is never allowed to go back uh so other drivers will have to go there but it was a big mess and I helped negotiate the find down these people um didn't have to dig into their pockets too bad but as the video from that camera showed this driver is telling his own reality about you uh Area 51 oh yeah the mother ship is often out there hovering over the (40:48) base and there's secret underground facilities where the aliens um they mix up Vats of uh human and alien parts and create these hybrid RS I mean total nonsense totally made up but there's the guy who's official tour guide for Area 51 making this stuff up um and it it sort of goes to the point that it's taken on a life of its own and we couldn't stop it if we wanted to the second thing I wanted to convey is uh how we pursued this story as journalists um I did not go into this as a lark it
(41:19) wasn't a joke I I approached it as a story and I knew there were great risks involved in this uh because of our credibility our credibility the whole station was on the line if we screwed this up and promoted this guy as uh as some UFO Messiah and it blew up in our face we might not ever recover the station's credibility was on the line and I know it looks preposterous from the get-go and that many of our competitors wished it was Preposterous but that's not how it's turned out uh my friend and colleague Stan fredman has (41:51) been outspoken about Area 51 and Bob Lazar he thinks it's possible he buys the idea there could be flying saucers out there but he doesn't buy Lazar and he's been way out in front I have to give Stan credit for doing some of the leg work unlike a lot of Bob's critics Stan has gone to area uh to MIT and Caltech and looked for Bob lazar's educational credentials and he found them lacking and I I applaud him for that but because that part of Bob's story is weak Stan has written the whole
(42:21) thing off which is what a lot of people have done I don't know how to remind I've tried to remind Stan of about this in person and I've said it in public a few times but uh the important thing is with Lazar is that the information about his educational background was in the very first story that we aired the very first report that identified him we said we could not verify his background and I'll I will confide to you this I don't believe he ever went to those schools I don't believe Bob Lazar could get a (42:50) degree from Caltech or Mi for a very simple reason at American universities when you get a degree an undergraduate degree you have to take all kinds of core courses in subjects that you may not be interested in uh literature I cannot possibly imagine an Anna youo Bob I can't imagine Bob Lazar sitting through a class in in American lit or reading poetry or something like that he'd never stand for it there is no way in hell that he sat through that stuff to get a degree so what do we do what do we do with that do we throw out the (43:21) story uh would Bob here's how I rationalize it is Bob would not be the first person to lie about his educational credentials in order to get a good job as his friend of a long time I've given him the opportunity Bob look come come clean on this let me know about uh if it's a lie come clean on it get it behind you and he's never given me that that satisfaction of saying yeah it's a lie he maintains the story I don't know what the true story is whether they could make his records disappear I have found people who said (43:53) he was at Caltech who said that they remember him being on the campus but that's not enough to to make the point as far as I'm concerned it doesn't matter I I don't care whether Bob Lazar went to Caltech the LIE the fact that he would lie about it is problematic but I don't think it it's a reason to toss out the entire story because people do lie about their background in order to get a a great uh a great job the thing with Bob is uh he is an interesting guy I know a lot of people think that he's a (44:21) fraud that he never worked out there uh for me the key was always did he work at Los Alamo National Lab because it said seemed to me that if he had worked at Los Alamos in a scientific capability on classified projects then it's conceivable that he wouldn't get hired to work at someplace else in the Nevada desert so we went to Los Alamos I went there a couple of times I started writing letters to them to see if Bob had ever worked there and they said no we have no records of them whatsoever and then I found a a headline in the Los (44:51) Alamos newspaper that says there's Bob Lazar as a physicist what about that nope we don't have him he never worked here then I found a phone book from the lab that lists his his name and number there he is uh well we still can't find the res the any records on him so I wrote to a company uh a Kirk Meer it's a head hunter company it hires people uh for the lab and fills positions in scientific and te technical jobs they had hired Bob I called him up I said yeah did you hire him do you have records yeah we've got the records on (45:20) them we hired him we got him the job at Los Alamos great can I get a copy of those no problem that was uh that went on for two and a half years where they first said that they would give me the records then they said then they delayed it then they stopped taking my calls Al together and then they said quit bothering us someone got to them I mean they had them and then they didn't have them um but I became convinced for other reasons that Bob was there I talked to people he worked with who said he was there and he worked in classified

(45:51) positions unclassified stuff I went to Los Alamos and Bob Lazar took us in it was on a Sunday and we had a camera rolling on it he took us into the gate waves at the guy at the front they let him on in let let us in and then he took us into Los Alamos and it was like a rabbit in his own burrow taking us through these buildings uh obscure places waving to people along the way gave us a little Tour all of it recorded on video how did he know you know it's the same thing thing with the uh the Flying Saucer test you don't believe
(46:23) that that Bob uh worked at S4 or Area 51 how did he know about the test there had been no newspaper stories about it he knew when and where it would take place and the video captured it I interviewed all the people that went with him on those trips and they all verifi the story just as he told it how did he know here's some other stuff that he that he knew uh there was an agency called ofi Bob thought it was the FBI I said who did your background check you know when you were getting your security clearance
(46:52) I think it was the FBI it was a guy named Mike Thigpen I call the FBI up they said we don't have any Mike Mike th pen we don't do background tests come to find out what it was is there was an agency called the ofi office of federal investigation I had never heard about it before but sure enough turns out that's the agency that does background checks for people who work at the Nevada test site and although Area 51 is not part of the Nevada Test Site officially it's attached to it and they do that work and (47:20) sure enough they have an agent named Mike Thigpen how did he know how did Bob know that a guy named Mike Thigpen worked for an agency uh that I had never even heard of before those facts were confirmed um it's it's weird stuff uh that happened during those that time period it's hard to convey to an audience sitting in a room like this but it was a strange time to live through break-ins at Bob's house they would break into his house leave all the doors and windows open and write stuff on his Blackboard or move things around there (47:50) was a time when he and a friend he was getting really nervous because strange things were happening in his life they go to a gym to work out and Bob was starting carrying a gun uh somebody had taken a shot at him he had this gun in the glove box locks the car goes into the gym comes back out an hour and a half later the cars to the door are open the windows are rolled down the glove box is open the gun is laying there on the seat it's like somebody wanted him to know he was under surveillance I would he would call me in the middle of (48:17) the night and I'd go over to his house rushing over there and he's peeking out the window and I know this will make him sound paranoid peeking out the window holding an Uzi um cuz he thought people were messing with with him they were messing with him I mean he they threatened to kill him they threatened to make him disappear they were following us around wherever everywhere we went into bars to work uh I had a series of of phone calls at the station this has really ticks me off people who called up offering to give me additional (48:45) information about Area 51 and I'll get into some of those specifics in a minute six people who had called to offer me additional information uh and said yeah agreed to be in interviewed were visited one right after another there was a guy who was a tax preparer his name was Roy Byam he did tax returns for offices officers at Nellis Air Force Base and they got to know them pretty well and they were on an out of town trip uh when they were sitting around drinking some beers and these guys told them about Area 51

(49:16) flying saucers S4 the whole story As Told by Bob he agrees to tell me that story on the phone the very next day he gets visited these two guys who said they're from the secret service they said we hear you've been issuing threats against the life of the president and we can tell you that if you're talking to the wrong people and saying the wrong things you can go to prison well he saw that as a threat because of him talking to me there was a lady who works in the Clark County Court System she had been a
(49:43) stenographer a company called holes and Nara it's a defense contractor she sat in on meetings at which she took dictation Air Force guys CIA and her boss these contractors when they talked about Oswell and the Roswell wreckage and some of that material go into Area 51 she said after the meeting they would not only take all her notes they would take the ribbon out of the typewriter so that nobody Could reconstruct what she had written and so she was she told this story to a cop a police officer who I know and he offered to make an (50:17) introduction so I called this lady up I said let's get together I'll hide your identity don't worry I won't get you in trouble she agreed to tell me this story very next day she gets a knock on the door and these two guys show up they said we're from homes and narvi you do know that you're still under a security uh clearance you're still under security restrictions you can't talk to anybody she goes what are you talking about they go we know that you and your daughter your daughter lives in La you live in (50:41) Las Vegas and the two of you travel back and forth a lot you know there's a lot of desert out there something bad could happen if you were to say the wrong thing they were threatening her daughter's life she was scared to death I tried to get a hold of her 10 years and then 20 years after that that our first conversation she still wouldn't talk to me she was scared I had a guy who was an electrical engineer who had worked at KV and he before working there he had been at Area 51 and he said he walked into a a big hanger and there
(51:11) under a tarp was something that looked like a flying saucer well he was living in Seattle at the time that he told me this story and so I I I contacted him I said look we're working on a series about UFOs would you give me an interview would you do this on camera I'll black out your face he goes yeah sure next morning I mean the very next day there's two guys sitting in a car uh clean military haircuts talking into a radio sitting out in front of his house and they followed him to work and when he got out of work they're sitting there
(51:39) and talking on the radio and they followed him home he was scared he knew they were trying to intimidate him and he wouldn't talk to me what that told me six people in a row boom boom boom same thing is that they were listening to my phone and that really tick me off that they would monitor back there before we had the NSA listening to everybody's phones uh that they were listening to my phone and it really ticked me off but it was real I had so many people uh if if this story was just about Bob Lazar we (52:09) would never have done it but I had more than two dozen people who had worked at Area 51 50s 60s 7s and 80s who told me bits and pieces of the same story I had the guy who was a golf pro at Nellis Air Force Base who knew all these uh all these uh high ranking officers who told me the same story about Roswell wreckage going to Area 51 and saucers being tested and uh he told me that story he's another one who got a visit um there was a guy who his name is Glenn pace and back in the days of above ground nuclear (52:40) testing in Nevada the most nuked place in the world he was it was his job as a spotter he was one of the only people in Nevada testate that was allowed to use binoculars so he'd be out there when they would be planning these Atomic tests he'd be in a building sometimes for days at time waiting for the test to take place and he had these binoculars he was at a place called Area 15 which looks right over into

Area 51 and he said they used to watch these what look like flying saucers over papo's dry lake (53:09) all the time his boss was a a German physicist one of the Nazi scientists who came over under Operation Paperclip named Otto Krauss who told him about alien technology being tested out there uh I had a guy named Howard Cannon he was a United States senator from Nevada he was a man who practically built Area 51 because he would get all the secret Appropriations the money that went into building it he was like the father of Nellis Air Force Base he's a retired Brigadier General uh from the Air Force a r a decorated war hero he was very (53:43) good friends with The Men Who Built Area 51 um the guys from the Skunk Works Lockheed when Howard Cannon lost his last election they gave him as a going away president the ability to fly in the SR71 there's only 30 people in the world that or 40 people in the world have ever been in one and he got to fly in it that's how close he was to these guys Howard son Allan is a friend of ours had had these conversations with his dad about UFOs Howard had never the senator had never spoken about it publicly but he finally agreed through (54:17) his son to tell me the story about Area 51 and I went over and interviewed him the last interview before he died and he came this close to spilling it all his best friend in the Senate was Barry Goldwater I don't know if you remember that name but Goldwater had run for president Goldwater had tried to get into Wright Patterson the stories about the blue room and he'd been told no you can't get in and you can't ask about it never ask again well Howard Cannon had the same experience he told me that (54:43) story before he died he went right up to the edge of saying there's flying saucers at Area 51 and then he said this what would be the point of telling that they would deny it they'd call it a lie you're never going to get to see that technology they're never going to let it out so what would be the point Howard Cannon is a man that I I believe one other source I'll tell you about it and then we'll move on it's a guy whose name I can't give you but there was a book by a lady named Annie Jacobson uh about
(55:09) Area 51 and it's a tremendous book about the history of all those those secret planes Annie Jacobson at the end of her book though has a Capper where she says um she talked to this old guy who said that there were flying saucers out there but they're not alien flying saucers they'd been built built by the Nazis captured by the Russians and what crashed at Roswell was a one of these Russian Nazi technology that the the aliens were not aliens they were uh refugees from a concentration camp who just looked like aliens it's a
(55:42) ridiculous story but I knew immediately that the source of it was a guy that I had stalked I stalked him literally for three years because I knew he was in a position to know he had worked at Area 51 in a management capacity and finally I got him to open up he invited me to his house he said you want to talk about uh atomic bombs and testing and he's going through his scrapbooks and I'm looking at these pictures of bombs and everything and he goes he stops closes the book he goes that's not what you're (56:10) here to talk about is it I said no not really so I know what you're here for and then he started telling me a story about saucers aliens this is a guy who he's not Bob Lazar he his credentials are not uh questionable he was in the position to know and he laid the story out for me somewhere along the line though he changed it and by the time Annie Jacobson uh got a hold of him it was not aliens which by the way he told me that the alien looked like Ross perau who was a a billionaire businessman a little skinny guy with great big ears um
(56:44) anyway along the way there are some very real people who had told me bits and pieces of the story it's not just Bob let's play one of them this guy named Jim Goodall uh wrote books about stealth technology he was a friend of John Lee did you ever get any information about a facility at Papoose like the one you described I have a u a friend of mine he's he's a retired uh senior master sergeant he was early on in the F-117 program and they had full they their badge area restricted area badge he can (57:15) go anywhere in the Nevada Test Site up to an including Area 51 so they had a Humvee and they drove around the the uh the was it groom range yeah groom range and they're on Papoose Lake there's there is there isn't anybody around and all of a sudden they're surrounded by guys in Black uh uniforms wanting to with their hands on their weapons want to know who they were what are you doing here and my buddy said we're just we have some we have some downtime we're just exploring the area he said you turn around and you

(57:53) leave and don't come back they just kind of popped up out of nowhere he doesn't know where they came from he didn't see any Vehicles all of a sudden they were there and he left it was three or four guys with them they left what do you make of that that there might be something at papoo or was or well according to Bob that's where that's where the the nine hangares are in the you know camouflage in the side of the mountain uh I'll give you one other thing about S4 and papos there was a guy
(58:22) named Jerry Freeman he's an archaeologist you wouldn't think an archaeologist has anything to do with flying saucers Jerry Freeman was studying the path of the 49ers that was the there was an Gold Rush of 1849 when thousands of people fled West to try to strike at Rich and a lot of them uncovered wagons and settlers and they they had a certain path that they followed and Jerry Freeman was trying to reconstruct the path that the 49ers had taken and he thought that they had gone right straight across the Nevada test
(58:53) site and in fact had been at Papoose lake so what he did was very bold of him he infiltrated the test site from going west to east and walked all the way across it dodged security patrols he would walk uh in the nighttime and then hide during the day and he made it all the way across let's show the Freeman stuff he made it all the way across the test site uh to Papoose Lake these are pictures that he had set up with an automatic camera that's Papoose behind him that's the place where Bob Lazard said he worked so
(59:23) Freeman again walking at night and and um hiding in the day gets all the way to Papoose he finds the evidence he's looking for the 49ers had carved some something into the Rocks there but as he's sitting out there at night um right at Papoose uh it's a sad story by the way he died a doorway opens up he said he's sitting there and a doorway of light opens up in the middle of the sky and things come out people come out objects come out and then it closed up again now he's not a flying saucer guy
(59:57) uh he walked all the way across the across the test site not realizing that that land is still contaminated with all kinds of U nuclear fallout and he died to cancer two years after uh his his journey but anyway gave a little piece that sort of goes along with what Jim godall just said about people coming out of nowhere remember Papoose Lake where Lazar said there's this facility built in the side of the mountain uh does you know there is nothing there officially uh the last piece of information is the some some um a UFO guy named James
(1:00:31) wildermuth I never knew of the guy before he's an European guy here and uh he sent me these images that he found on Google Earth um normally this would have been cleaned up but somehow he found it you tell me what it looks like anyway he uh he used Google Earth to take a good hard look at this and he found some lines on the side of Papoose that look like exactly what Lazar had been describing he puts the he put the pins in there but you can see the thin outline of these lines nine of them nine containers um a friend of mine was an
(1:01:15) investigator for Congress and he had he had the highest security clearances he thought that something was really going on at Area 51 I gave him a briefing and he made them let him in they flew him in a blinding snowstorm to S4 in Papoose but they took him to the other side of facility he got out and looked around his name was Dick damato he worked for a senator who oversaw the budget and looked around out there and he said this was 5 years after Bob Lazar story came forward and um he said there was nothing there but he didn't look in this side
(1:01:47) and it sure looked like hanger doors to me or at least some lines that indicated that something could be there that's good uh I want to give you a couple of pieces of of what Lazar says now because his his views on things have changed quite a bit as you might imagine so many crazy stories have been told about Bob over the years that he's running a meth lab that he's got a string of hookers down in South America that he's dead once a year somebody comes up with a story that Bob is dead it's no wonder
(1:02:15) that he's tried to leave all this stuff behind him and wants nothing more to do with it uh it took me a long time to coax him into doing this interview earlier this year to recognize the 25th anniversary I'm hoping to talk him into going on Coast to Coast maybe in November uh but I wanted to uh sort of share with you a couple of the pieces the stuff that he is comfortable talking about and that is the the technology uh the science involved as I mentioned at the beginning he uh claims that these craft operate on an anti-gravity sort of (1:02:47) mechanism let's play that clip where he talks in detail about that alone is something amazing look that can change everything we know today just having a machine to produce artificial gravity because look look at what that does we know gravity space and time are all tied together there are your Shields like on Star Trek that you know deflect microm meteorites there is your protection from radiation without heavy shielding there is something that with an intense enough Focused Field you can actually Bend

(1:03:19) space and there is something that can actually alter the flow at time I mean that's the missing piece of pie didn't they actually freeze a a candle flame yeah now that's when it was connected to the gravity amplifiers where they could focus it and uh that was they froze a candle yeah they had a they had a candle lit uh to set it up for you um again there's a large in the craft itself there are three long pipes um I'd say uh well I don't know about what's that 3 4T in diameter maybe 5T long um
(1:03:58) anyway they dangle the three of them at the bottom of the craft these produce gravitational waves and they can focus them to a point or spit them apart those are what you call the wave guides yeah okay yeah they're part of the uh power source control mechanism and the uh wave well the wave guide is what I actually call the Interlink between them but that that's the gravitational engine um they had one of those devices out along with the subsystem that connects it so they can produce the power from the reactor it
(1:04:34) runs the gravity amplifier and they can focus and change the gravity beam that comes out of it they took a they were speaking of Barry took a candle put it close to the mouth of it lit it a normal flickering candle flame and then activated the reactor the gravity wave came out as expected and the candle flame remained luminous and stopped moving and which physics yeah because look if it's going to freeze it the photons should stop being emitted if it's going to you know change the characteristics look how can the
(1:05:11) combustion continue to take place without the convection inside the flame because actually reason a flame is elongated is not not really because of heat it's because of gravity because gravity pulls down and you know convection moves Flames upward it's like in in a zero gravity environment flame is a ball obviously there's nothing to pull things around but anyway if uh look if you negate the gravity around it why is it still pointy how can it still be making light and why doesn't it move well I
(1:05:48) mean he from what Barry said it's not just gravity but it's also time locked you distorted the frame of time yeah they essentially froze a piece of time there and I you know what do you say I mean you're it's empirical evidence you're looking at it it's not it's not a see it it doesn't make sense that you could see it and uh look it the stuff I saw there was the most unbelievable literally because it it it defied what what we knew as physics and uh at least I thought it did and maybe
(1:06:25) what we knew was is a little Incorrect and just needed viewing from a different angle um we do know now that research into anti-gravity is at the top of the list of what American uh tech companies are doing and the defense department folks are doing and anti-gravity propulsion is something they want very badly Bob said that the key to it was this element 115 he had a piece of it I saw it um in fact he had a little experiment they did with what's called a cloud chamber where where they had it looked to me like light they had a piece
(1:06:59) of this 115 in this chamber they put some smoke in it and it seemed and then had a beam of light through it and the light bent um Bob at one point when he thought he was going to die had this piece of 115 in a uh it was in a lead casing in a disc shaped casing and he had it in front of a particle accelerator in his house and he had the accelerator on and all he had to do was flip a button if this stuff was real as he described it flipping that button would hit it with I don't know it's pH protons electrons whatever it was that
(1:07:34) would make it explode an Annihilation that would have left a great big hole in Las Vegas and he had that piece I saw the experiment what happened to it uh that's that's a story for another time it's it's in a spot now where nobody could get to it but uh it's still there one of these days maybe after Bob's gone I'll go dig it up um as at the the time that he told us the story about Element 115 Element 115 did not exist it does exist now it's been synthesized they've made it in a lab it
(1:08:04) only lasts for micros seconds but it is real they've confirmed it it's now on the element chart and in this piece Bob talks about uh 115 they finally did uh synthesize Element 115 that had the properties that I that I stated um not um but it wasn't stable yeah it wasn't stable uh now each element has Isotopes for instance you know let's talk about hydrogen we're all familiar with hydrogen uh hydrogen has three Isotopes they're all hydrogen there's hydrogen prodium was be the technical name duum and tritium well (1:08:41) tridium is a radioactive hydrogen uh dyum is another stable isotope of hydrogen and regular prodium ordinary hydrogen is the hydrogen we all know they're all hydrogen they have different amounts of neutrons in them um they all have one proton which makes them hydrogen now this is a true for all elements you can have the amount of protons in them determines what element it is so Element 115 has 115 protons in it it's Element 115 now depending on the number of neutrons it has it will still be Element 115 but it can be any number

(1:09:23) of isotopes of it we've synthesized 15 we made one isotope we have a radioactive one now they just need to continue on working with it I mean they made just a few atoms but uh we'll see what other Isotopes they come up with one of them or more is going to be stable and it will have the exact properties that I said or could we make it or does it have to be natural as you speculated about that well it's natural it'd be difficult to find it to get some usable material I I do not think you couldn't
(1:09:56) make that synthetically it's just it takes too much time I mean to make you know an ounce of it or even a gram would take a tremendous amount of time because not all the interactions are successful I mean you can bang particles together all day long and one may get stuck and then you've got an atom and how do you contain you know this single atom so how do we get 500 lounds of it where' that come from well it it had to either be synthesized by the extraterrestrials at bottom in the first place or you know
(1:10:28) maybe there was a location where they came from where look if this was a naturally occurring material we know that all the material in the universe essentially all the atoms of all elements came from hydrogen I mean all you really need is it is just atoms of hydrogen to make anything once they start collecting together large quantities of them gravity just begins to push them together under their own weight so it's sort of like a orack test is aha they made 115 he was right it really does exist somebody doesn't want
(1:11:00) to believe it says 115 doesn't behave anything like Bob Lazar said it's sitting around in a pile of 500 PBS or something right I mean sort of like that what is the right you have to I mean you just have to start accumulating whether you believe it or not and I personally again I prefer you don't believe it um you know just begin accumulating the facts that you can you know you can verify and um and really be careful where you get the facts from because if you see documents obtained by someone that you know they say are official I've (1:11:36) seen the most ridiculous things on the internet um you know here's a a report from some government agency going yeah everything Bob Lazar said is fabricated and we've verified it with the main office in Philadelphia and I mean you know just nonsense stuff um you know verify it yourself and if you start adding up all the facts look the people that were with me at the time you know have an obvious Advantage because they knew me before all this stuff happened they knew at the time I didn't even believe in flying saucers or (1:12:09) life from other planets I mean to me those were just crazy people that bought into these stories coming to the end here um you know I guess you you'd say can you could you really keep a secret like that wouldn't it leak out well it has leaked out you know it's it's whether or not you pay attention to it or not that that matters one of the guys if there's anybody who would know about this being true it's a guy named Ben Rich who was the head of Skunk Works which was the Lockheed company that built all the
(1:12:40) blackest projects the SR71 the U2 stealth all of that Ben Rich who headed up Skunk Works for such a long time if anyone in the civilian sector would know it would be him so I asked them about it on the day that they unveiled the stealth fighter at Nellis Air Force Base they had it sitting on a Tarmac and they invited the media to come in and I was the one of the guys that was there that day and so Ben Rich was available for interviews and I went up and asked him um Mr Rich great to meet you I asked him a couple of questions and then led up to (1:13:11) this when you know a lot of people say there's alien technology and stuff you developed and he stops for a second looks at me and he kind of laughs nope just good old American knoow but before he died Ben rich said this in a public uh comment because the reason I'm asking is friends of his had ask him about UFOs and he said it was real but he said this to an engineering audience he said we already have the means to travel Among the Stars but these Technologies are locked up in Black projects and would

(1:13:39) take an act of God to ever get them out to benefit Humanity anything you can imagine we already know how to do it we have the technology to take ET home it won't take someone's lifetime to do it we have that capability now to travel to the Stars he died few months after that but he was trying to tell the world something this stuff is real um that what Bob has said Is Real uh I'll end with one last little piece of Bob because you know people wonder what goes on in his life there's all those rumors
(1:14:09) I told you about before and I put him the the question to him in a couple of different ways about whether he would do it again and he goes back and forth basically I think he would say no but here's what he told me back in May but that drives him crazy I mean you need to answer this now I need an answer how much how many times do you get that in a in a week still after all this I get there isn't a day I I don't get emails and you know I try and get this across to him look I don't even want to talk
(1:14:37) about it anymore you know well I don't believe the story great pass it around you know I really don't want you to because it makes life difficult for me I'm trying to do serious research I'm you know I've got contract with governments and other companies for R&D work and aside from you know other scientific interests and I want this divorced look if I went and did everything I can to prove my story and reached a Tipping Point for where people like Stanton fredman and you know people along those lines um said you know what
(1:15:13) this is beginning to look factual do you know how that would annihilate me that would destroy my business it would make it impossible for me to operate and you know I'd have a continuous flow of questions annoying people I'm sure offers to do things that I am not the least bit interested in there's got to be part of somewhere in there even though it would be counterproductive there's got to be part of that wishes God damn it I I know what happened it's true no look I know what happened is
(1:15:44) true there's no doubt period there's there's no delusion and there are some things I can say that that will bolster the case and I'm not going to um it's going to stay that way I do regret at this point bringing anything forward look at the time I'm in my early 20s you know what this is a crime against the American people this is just BS and everybody deserves to know what's going on you know and 25 years goes by you get a little older and your priorities change and you know what they
(1:16:22) told me is this is a security matter and and really what's the public going to do about this you know how reactionary they are it's there's a bunch of different reasons this is being kept quiet nothing that they bother telling me but the bottom line is they're right the bulk of the people are complete morons and I'm sorry maybe they are right and this really should just be just be information that's handled out on a on a need to know basis to some people where it would benefit them you know I I know you don't like to hear
(1:16:58) it but there's a lot of people after you're in this field for a long time you kind of come to the same conclusion maybe maybe it doesn't really need to be out um I believe in the people's right to know that's my job and so I pursue it in that that vein but you have to wonder whether it's really a good idea or not you know the the pursuit of this story has led me taken me all over the world chasing different kind of UFO stuff uh My Views have changed so much from from those days about just thinking of nuts
(1:17:27) and bolts flying saucers is there a government cover up I mean this is really as uh earlier speakers were suggesting it's uh it's much bigger mystery than than that whether or not flying saucers are coming from other planets or not jacqu valet uh my hero in the UFO field I had interviewed him back in these days when he came to investigate Lazar and asked me some questions and we become much closer friends but he said I'm going to be so disappointed if it turns out that the answer to the UFO mystery is that aliens
(1:17:58) are coming from another planet and flying saucers to visit us because He suggests that the the way these uh craft behave the technology they have it suggests that the ultimate answer is so much bigger so much more wondrous uh than something as simple as that uh these things that we see in the sky are just a small part of something much bigger you know the universe is far more mysterious than maybe we can imagine or can imagine than the glimp that we get of these craft are I think part of some much larger learning curve uh the this (1:18:31) is about reality itself the nature of the world around us and I get the feeling that we can understand it only a tiny sliver and that its true nature is being withheld from us and maybe is beyond the ability of our small tiny brains to understand but you know we have to try I I think that it is the duty of scientists and journalists to investigate the Unexplained not not to explain the uninvestigated um and thank you very much [Applause]

(00:00) joining me now is the president of united nuclear that's a company that sells all sorts of scientific equipment and materials online the owner is a guy best known for other things though specifically area 51 and ufos but for now we're going to talk hydrogen bob lazar good to have you back on the program well how you doing george how the heck are you doing how's life how's it going in general it's it's pretty good it's pretty good it was uh quite a change moving from new mexico to michigan you know i was born out
(00:30) on the east coast and uh you know i've lived in the southwest the majority of my life and um you know moving back to michigan where there's actually moisture in the air and uh you know wide temperature swings and being reintroduced to mosquitoes i mean it's uh it's quite a change you're just gonna love your first michigan uh winter coming up here i'd imagine aren't you well i actually was here through part of a winner last year but uh you know numbers like 10 below are kind of scary to me
(01:04) but um you know it's the dark dreary winners that uh they keep talking about here so we'll see i'm sure i can take it at least for a while but uh for the long haul so it's uh well explained to a lot of the the viewers our listeners had sent in emails to me before the show they wanted to know why you picked michigan why and why not uh the big city in michigan if you're going to go up there and develop a hydrogen system what was the the deal on that well boy that's got to be the number one question that people
(01:34) ask me um well it was really uh uh mainly it was a family thing um uh joy's son chris and his wife emily had a uh baby recently uh making me uh a grandfather so um which is a unique experience in itself to me but uh you know the new little guy sullivan uh lives out right in mid michigan right outside uh lansing so um you know as far as moving the business that needed to be done anyway we were bursting at the seams and we needed to expand uh you know get away just from our uh sales of scientific materials and equipment uh to getting back into doing
(02:26) contract work for the government and military and then also adding on a third division uh you know the hydrogen fuel system development so one of the reasons was michigan of course has plenty of unemployed auto workers some of them extremely talented and some of them you know desperately in need of a job and certainly we thought you know once we get this thing up and going and we start needing uh large amounts of people we already have a pretty well trained workforce so that coupled with you know the desire to see the new (03:03) little guy uh needing more space and just kind of wanting to get away from the dry southwest we'll get into the hydro we'll get into the hydrogen uh technology in a moment but you know last time we talked to you you had a suite set up there in new mexico you had like five acres of land it was picturesque and beautiful you'd built this facility in the back of your house with this 30 foot long particle accelerator as part of your system and i remember when you were on the show the last time uh you had just had some trouble with (03:37) government folks who showed up your house one day with oozies and and were very angry with you for what you were selling over the internet right well or so that was what they claimed the problem was do you think it was related to hydrogen you know who knows you know it's uh it just it's hard to say but um you know still um the thing that they said they came down for essentially was we were selling um various combinations of chemicals and supplies that could potentially be used to make exploding fireworks that sort of thing
(04:18) or explosives in general um they never did take any of that material the only material they actually physically took from us was um and still to this day it remains missing were the original plans for the hydrogen fuel system which is you know always been a thorn in my side but um you know still it was it was a long court battle and um you know essentially we came out i wouldn't say we came out ahead but uh things didn't go as badly as uh we first thought well you didn't go to prison didn't go to prison and didn't get hit with the 30

(04:57) OOO fine which they had um you know originally intended on hitting us with let's talk about the hydrogen system describe it for the listeners how it works and what its potential would be well the hydrogen you know certainly running a car on hydrogen is nothing new it's been done [Music] you know by several companies many individuals and it runs basically like uh you know running a car in any flammable gas propane natural gas whatever the only difference about excuse me hydrogen is that um hydrogen burns much much faster it has a
(05:35) extremely high flame front velocity it almost detonates as uh opposed to burning evenly like you know propane or natural gas does storing hydrogen is really the trick because it's a gas and being a gas to store it takes up a lot of volume and you can store it in one of three ways you can store it as a gas in compressed tanks which means uh compressed gas and you know heavy tanks like you would a welding setup for instance which takes a heavy tank usually thick high pressure sometimes extremely high if you want to get any quantity of gas
(06:21) in there and to me although there are some tanks now that have been developed that are somewhat bulletproof but still you have the possibility of uh you know major auto collision compressed gas at that pressure spewing out igniting you know potential safety hazard the other way is liquefying it where you get a much higher density but now you're dealing with uh cryogenic liquid extremely cold and you still have all the problems of a collision these require even more specialized tanks dewar tanks essentially thermos bottles if you will on a large
(07:04) scale and that again in a collision you have a now you have a cryogenic liquid pouring all over the place and you know potential explosions whatever the third and uh most interesting way is storing it inside a metal hydride and metal hydrides are at least ours is a it's a granular material it's a solid and it's filled in a tank and what it does it absorbs the hydrogen gas like a sponge absorbs water once it's absorbed the hydrogen it becomes chemically locked onto it in other words if you have the tank full of the hydride
(07:49) material and it's completely charged with hydrogen i can take that tank and cut through it with a buzz saw or shoot it with incendiary bullets and all it will do is smolder like a cigarette so it's a very safe way to store hydrogen the only drawback is with most hydrides there is a limited amount of charge and discharge cycles just like a rechargeable battery for instance after a while you have decreased capacity and you know other problems also they're very sensitive to impure hydrogen some can't be exposed to the air and
(08:39) on top of that they're very expensive material the hydride that i've developed has an extremely high amount of charge and discharge cycle in fact over a period of about seven years from virtually daily use we've only lost 12 percent capacity in storage which is phenomenal another benefit of storing it in a hydride is that the density of the hydrogen is actually greater than that as if you had a cryogenic setup or a liquid hydrogen so it's really the ultimate way to store hydrogen and once you can store hydrogen safely
(09:28) in a car um the rest of it's pretty easy you had told me before last time i saw you in new mexico anyway that your cars were running then on hydrogen are they still running on hydrogen well they're not right now and that's not because they can't that's just because a practical considerations are taking apart the uh uh tanks and equipment from there uh getting ready to go into production and duplicate everything but um there's one vehicle left a little toyota celica that's the only vehicle we have (10:07) that runs in hydrogen right now but at one time we had a corvette mitsubishi suv what else did we have running on hydrogen basically you're saying though that i mean the use of hydrogen as a gas to run cars that's no big deal that's been proven you've proven that your cars ran for a couple years on it other people have proven it as well what you bring to the table is this hydride storage system well that and also the the gas handling system in the way the way it works um how would i describe that
(10:42) it's not just the hydride but also the way the hydrogen is handled and burnt and how this system interfaces with the existing vehicle hey bob we're going to take our first break here with you and we're going to come back and talk about why this is not on the market what the impediments are to it we're talking with bob lazar here on coast to coast stay with us everyone thanks for being with us tonight everyone think you're going to have a good time this evening if you notice that song tom petty uh (11:13) it was from 1989 in fact all the songs we're going to play tonight jason bowers our engineer and i picked up some good ones from that year sort of to go along with the anniversary theme of tonight's show i mentioned to jason before we went on the air that hack 1989 i was barely a teenager you know i'm kidding of course and and i mentioned to him he must have been old back then uh i imagined him wearing uh john travolta type white disco suits and angel flight pants and asked him to send me some photos and (11:42) sure enough um they're too embarrassing to show ladies and gentlemen i i i do have uh one that i sent to tim benall we might post it later unless uh jason wants to uh pay me off anyway we're talking with bob lazar about his unique hydrogen hydride system and the promise that it holds to revolutionize transportation in this country and in the world and when we come back we'll get into the idea of why it is not on the market now what's the big hang up stay with us here on coast to coast am welcome back to coast to coast i'm (12:13) george knapp we're chatting with bob lazar president of united nuclear about his unique hydrogen fuel system bob is this uh yours and yours alone or other people have developed a similar thing well this particular system is is mine that i designed and actually been working on for quite a while the um original concept was actually back in the 70s when i started playing with hydrides but it really didn't start serious development i'd say till oh about about seven years ago or so pretty good for a guy who's not really a

(12:54) scientist right yeah i haven't heard that in a while by the way these one o'clock in the morning shows are really a killer for somebody that goes to sleep at nine o'clock i mean the coffee's beginning to kick in now so i think a little more well we appreciate you staying up but i'll only make you do this every three or four years or so okay that's fine well describe for me uh the big picture let's say you could get this thing going you could get it to the market what does it do how does it transform our transportation
(13:24) industry uh ultimate basketball the system works the system comes with an at-home hydrogen generator this device is about the size of a dishwasher and sits in your garage what powers it is depending on your location it is powered by either solar panels or a wind turbine electric wind turbine and you kind of have your choice depending there again what works best for your location you know where you are in the u.
(13:56) s the system takes the electricity from the solar panels or wind turbine uses that to break down water and produce hydrogen and oxygen nothing new this hydrogen generator is very efficient and produces hydrogen at a fairly modest rate what it does is all day long the generator remains in the garage or wherever you put it in your house produces hydrogen and just stores it now when you come home after a day of driving you're not going to use the car anymore open the garage door put the car in connect it to the generator it takes the (14:42) hydrogen it's produced all during the day and slowly begins to compress it into the metal hydride now it can't be done fast you can't fill this particular type of hydride or really any hydride that i know of very quickly and while the hydride is being filled it produces heat which has to be removed and that's part of our unique system these tanks we call smart tanks have a way of dissipating the heat produced inside and also there's an electronic modern monitoring system in the tanks that provides data to the computer of (15:24) hydrogen quantity pressure temperatures all kinds of other parameters the tanks in a car typically will get you about 325 to 400 miles on a fill now 90 probably more like 95 percent of the people in the united states don't drive that much in a single day so typically if you're only driving say 100 miles or less you always have a surplus of hydrogen so you're basically just topping off the tanks every day the tanks don't have to come out of the car to refill it you just connect a hose to it there's a little (16:07) fitting on the back where your gas cap would normally be and the car at any time can still run on gasoline in other words if you wanted to take a cross-country trip you can start off on hydrogen when the hydrogen runs out the car will fairly seamlessly switch back to gasoline and continue on so it really takes care of the driving your normal day-to-day going to work um you know 95 of the driving it would be great in a delivery truck situation and we have a couple companies that are really interested in you know trying the (16:51) system out on a large commercial scale but basically that's that's how the system works there's a couple problems that have to be ironed out they're more legal concerns not technological problems for instance hydrogen is an odorless colorless flammable gas and if there is a leak it's a difficult thing to detect where if you had a natural gas or propane leak because of the odors that are put into them that's pretty obvious but with hydrogen you can't put an odorant in it or the hydride well the hydride just won't (17:34) let you do that it won't store it'll poison it and become non-functional so we have to rely on electronic detectors for any potential leaks however there's never more than about a liter of hydrogen in the system at any given time so um you know there's a couple little problems that we have to make it you know essentially street legal but as far as the actual operation of the system uh its efficiency its reliability that's all been ironed out quite a while ago but this is a game changer you're not

(18:12) talking about as the oil companies and auto companies are talking about yeah we're going to have a hydrogen system where you drive your car to the hydrogen gas station you're talking about people making their own at home where they don't need the gas station anymore and i would think that the principal um obstacle to you getting this on is more political and economic i i can't imagine that the oil companies uh are real crazy about this idea no i can't imagine they're crazy about it either and of the (18:41) larger companies i see interested and producing hydrogen vehicle prototypes again they're doing exactly what you said they're just they're trying to switch from a gasoline economy to a hydrogen economy well to me you're missing the whole point of hydrogen the reason hydrogen is so great aside from the environmental factors that the only exhaust in burning it is water vapor steam essentially and maybe you know a drop of oxides of nitrogen but that's really negligible but it's essentially completely clean burning and actually
(19:18) adds moisture to the atmosphere the the great thing about hydrogen is it's so easy to make all you do is pass electric current through water there's other ways to produce it and of varying levels of efficiency but if it's that easy to make it it's ridiculous to buy it and with our system essentially you buy you buy the entire kit the home generator the conversion kit for the car and that's the last time you ever buy fuel and if you sell your car the kit's completely removable you pop it out of (20:00) your car pop it into the new vehicle so i believe it's a great system i'm obviously a big fan of it i have quite a big list of people waiting for the kits to become available and it's now it's just a matter of production i would think that the uh the oil companies would send hit men uh to take care of this or worse they would send teams of lawyers to tie it up forever because it basically puts them out of business i mean the potential for economic disruption i guess from their perspective it would be tremendous (20:39) well you know you hear all kinds of stories like that and i always poo poo the government conspiracy guys and you know and until little things start happening i had somebody from uh a government agency and the reason i don't want to say who it is is i i don't want to start a fight right now you don't want to antagonize them so they come knocking on the door again yeah well they already did and their comment was verbatim you know where you were speaking about the hydrogen car and looking at it his exact words which
(21:19) really shocked me was now you really don't think you're going to be allowed to get this on the road do you now it really took me back because i thought we were past that and you know what why would a government agency have anything to well boy i could just ramble on here i'm not going to well you don't want to get yourself antagonize boy you know you guys have to see this benefits you too it really it really does but i i don't know where it's gonna go from here i'm gonna do everything i
(21:57) physically can it's taken longer than expected uh we're expanding our business and i'm trying to incorporate all three of our businesses into one building and really the only reason it's taken so long i really thought these would be rolling off the production line already was it's basically my fault i generally insist on doing everything myself and are a little bit of a control monster when it comes to things like this and we've had a lot of people interested in investing in it and you know helping us out
(22:35) financially in different ways and you know there are so many hydrogen scams out there now and so many ridiculous claims you see all over the internet that um you know i wanted to be completely self-finance this which i knew was going to take longer and that's what our scientific sales division uh has basically funded this from the beginning and once we start producing some of the generators initially and then some of the kits profits from those will increase production of things of this sort well we've had a lot of complaints

(23:10) from potential customers already that things are going too slow you know if we would have taken investors on we could have got that gotten us going sooner and you know they probably are right in fact obviously they're right but uh it's just really me being hard-headed and wanting to do this without any assistance is really what the delay is well i mean and that knock on the door though and not to belabor the point or try to get you in trouble but it seemed that that knock on the door is a problem you're going to have to face again
(23:42) i mean the implication is yeah the implication is this if i have to spend you know all our finances fighting this in court it we're not going anywhere and this is exactly what happened last time it brought us to a dead stop because you can tie things up in court forever and i i just don't want this to happen so i'm just trying to move ahead as fast as possible and get the systems out and if we you know run into legal problems we'll just deal with them one at a time but you know boy is anybody actively trying (24:20) to stop this i'm i'm beginning to think that's what i should expect well the implication that these government guys came and said to the effect you really think you're going to get this on is that they are there at the behest of somebody else i mean big oil or big industry or a big auto or something like that and the suggestion that or the even the implication that government agents would be their working for them against the public will i mean that's uh and against the public interest that's (24:52) pretty scary and i don't know if you want to go into that or not i guess not yeah like i said right now nothing has happened and we're just getting ready to move into a new location to start the production of these so yeah i i don't want to antagonize them certainly i'll still start screaming the you know if if they go on the attack but right now maybe it was just a guy saying something off the cuff me you know coming up with his own personal comment and maybe it was a warning of you know horrific legal battles yet
(25:32) to come but there is no reason that this system should not be made available or i shouldn't be allowed to sell this it's safer than gasoline it you know certainly friendly to the environment and it's something once you feel that freedom that it's like being off the power grid you know once you make your own fuel and you're essentially doing it at close to zero cost it's a completely green system it's a great feeling of freedom and you know i think it's going to be an extremely popular
(26:13) system tell me this uh i think you told me the last time we talked that the government of michigan the state there had indicated that it would support this in some way have they been helpful they have the state this state has been just more than helpful and even the town that we're in when we first moved here they did everything they could to make everything go smoothly they even got the local colleges to interview and hire people for us the uh we're invited to lunch with the governor and have had several meetings
(26:51) down at city hall i spoke with the mayor recently who's doing everything in his power he's behind us a hundred percent trying to get us into this new larger buildings so we can you know jump on this as quickly as possible so we yeah talk about assistance they are they are the most helpful uh local government i've i've ever come across and this is certainly in contrast to new mexico which seemed to do everything in their power to thwart anything we were doing well i would think that if you know given the power of the auto industry in (27:33) michigan and the political power that if uh if the state and the local governments are helping you that maybe the auto industry itself is not necessarily opposed to the idea i mean i i guess it doesn't matter to them what fuel uh works as long as it keeps them in business maybe so and you know hopefully that's that's true anything else you want to say to the listeners on this topic about how they could help you in this regard help you get it on i don't know how they could help at this point but i mean public support has to account
(28:10) for something on this yeah it it does you know i mean there's no place to you know do a letter writing campaign or anything like that it it really just remains to be seen how things are going to go if we're just going to be allowed to operate like any other business or you know we're going to be hit with a sledgehammer every time we try and move forward it's going to happen soon so we'll see exactly how things progress but right now it's just a matter of financially being able to get into a new (28:46) larger location and and get things moving on you know on a limited budget but uh i know it's like i said it's something we should have been we should have already been in production and had things moving but i'm pretty sure that uh

somewhere in january and february we'll start firing up some of the uh new prototypes and hopefully have at least the generators uh going into production in you know the very near future and that will be followed very shortly by the car kits and certainly in the future there's also uh (29:27) as your hydrogen generator produces surplus hydrogen uh home generators for backup electrical power and you can run everything from your oh your gas stove to heating and cooling units on it so there's a lot of a lot of potential down the road aside from uh automotive applications so i'm pretty excited about it and well awesome if you uh if you run into some trouble you have an open invitation to come back to the program and scream to high heaven if you want and we'll see if that helps i want to ask one other question before we go to the (30:04) break and shift gears uh the last time we talked you had had a really interesting episode because of something you were selling over uh we don't have time for that i want to get into the polonium thing and then we'll bring on john lear and gene huff stay with us everyone we shift gears into the subject of area 51 after this break here on coast to coast am i'm going to ask one more question of our guest bob lazar non-ufo related then we will take our break get that out of the way and bring on our other guests
(30:33) gene huff and john lear bob the last time we had you on it was uh not that long after you had an encounter with the government there in new mexico about something you were selling online and and the reason it became uh national news is because this particular element was used apparently to kill a russian spy and uh so national news networks start asking questions about uh the element i think it's polonium and uh lo and behold they find this guy in new mexico who's selling it right yeah they i guess not knowing
(31:07) very much about polonium-210 which was the isotope that was used they went and googled it and if you i i don't know if it's still the case but i bet it is if you google polonium 210 united nuclear comes up and probably our sales page with it right on there we sell a wide variety of radioactive isotopes polonium-210 being one of them and not knowing much about it so they pretty much just came to us and said what's what's the deal and how could you possibly be selling them or really flipping out over the whole
(31:41) concept but it uh as it turns out the quantities that we sell and are permitted to sell are so small you'd have to spend 30 or 40 000 and take a year of your time trying to mine little invisible specks of the isotope out of the plastic disc that they're in and you know collect them all and you couldn't even buy that quantity from us nor could you physically remove the material to poison somebody with so what they were concerned about was pretty much impossible and it's legal to sell the material it
(32:24) just is one of those things that sounds scarier than it is but i can see somebody saying why the heck is this guy selling polonium in any quantity along with all the other potentially dangerous stuff that you sell well everything's potentially dangerous if you go to a grocery store everything from drano to clorox's you know potentially fatalists ingested but you know science chemistry even physics all have materials associated with it that are you know potentially dangerous from high voltage generators toxic chemicals and things of that sort
(33:02) and united nuclear has really done as much as it can to bring back science and if you remember when we were kids everybody used to have chemistry set you know they said it in the 1960s in households that had children almost 60 percent of them had chemistry sets in them now if you see somebody with beakers and flasks you can almost be assured that he's going to be cooking master or something along those lines so it's it's really taken taken a turn and what we're trying to do is is bring it back the other way is reintroduce
(33:48) science kind of bring the fun back into it so we're you know trying to get our hands on all this neat science equipment that's pretty much been lost and has dropped out of american culture and we've done a pretty good pretty good job of it and you had said that it was like the government had declared war on chemistry or something by trying to take all this stuff uh off the market uh especially buying it over the internet or online uh that they didn't want people to have these capabilities for themselves (34:22) no we were actually told that i i can't remember exactly what agency uh said that because so many have come and paid a visit to us but they said it you know if we could we'd like to get uh chemistry and scientific supplies we're talking about you know and any chemicals beaters flasks that sort of thing out of the hands of the general public because it's simply too dangerous for them and statements like that just really tweaked me you know everything you take for granted these days from the dvd players the uh (35:04) circuits that run your car to your home computer all of the guys that developed this were those little science nerds that sat at home and tinkered with things and guys like you pretty much though i fit the mold but they all have common backgrounds and you can't it's it's stuff like this that stimulates their minds when they're young and it's it's just how science grows and you you can't take this stuff away from them it's only dangerous if you allow it to be that way you know certainly there are some things

(35:44) that are more dangerous than others but you can't you can't just ban it all like the state of texas did they kept uh busting mess labs and again ignorance seems to lead the way they kept seeing these beakers and flasks that every place they went to so they just assumed well this glassware seems to be prevalent all the time we need to ban it well you can cook meth in mayonnaise jars but chemistry requires special glassware sometimes so they went ahead and just banned the sale of certain types of glassware
(36:25) well moves like that are ridiculous and you see that more and more often and we're just trying to do whatever we can to reverse that you know certainly if there are specific chemicals or things you need to control to stop producing you know dangerous narcotics of course do that but really pay attention to what you're doing you know each time you create a new law and ban something you take away your freedom and that can have some really far-reaching effects well put we're going to take our break now when we come back we jump into the (37:03) area 51 story 20th anniversary of the ufo's best evidence expose and we'll be joined by john lear and gene huff stay with us here on coast to coast am welcome back all right we're getting right into the story of area 51 20 years ago this week it sort of all came spilling out in a program we produced called ufos the best evidence uh the three amigos are here the three guys who played a central role in that story coming to light uh john lear who's been a guest on the program many times gene huff who's a
(37:32) friend of bob's and mine and has been here as well and of course bob lazar john i want to start with you the question is actually for all three about it but i want you to start it um you know we get a lot of uh even this many years later a lot of people who write in and say it's a bunch of malarkey it's baloney you guys are disinformation agents you're making this stuff up it's a scam i wonder if you uh take the time and if it's worth the effort to try and convince people that it is real
(37:59) after all this time well you know when i when i say is that uh bob took us out there at nine o'clock on wednesday march 22nd 90 uh 1989 and he told us before exactly what time it was going to come up a day before so we go out there and we watch this thing come up and fly around and go down and i saw it through my celestron 8 telescope so i saw it uh the question now is well maybe he was just a cook well if he was just a cook then that means that all they do is you know they all their secret information goes to the cooks out there
(38:46) and gene you've sort of been the the window to the world for bob in in many respects answering questions when he doesn't want to answer them is it worth it to try and make the argument anymore you know uh for a long time we i think we've just decided to sit back and let things unfold as they will and and uh george thanks to you you uh courtesy copy me a lot of the emails to get sent to you and john i i know bob's aware of this i emailed it to him but john this this former uh senior lockheed senior engineer boyd bushman at lockheed
(39:23) martin i guess has come out saying that you know the government does have alien technology and you know what it's being tested for and used for again another grand old gentleman a wonderful guy to watch in an interview and and as not to divulge any government information that he was privy to under you know under his uh secrecy agreement when they when he was interviewed and asked what type of technology he was talking about he referred them to the lazar tape with then he said that's all i'll say so i think it's interesting that this (39:56) tape bob and i and a few others essentially made you know on a shoestring 20 years ago is what a a senior lockheed engineer who is now at the end of his run in life and retiring and deciding to divulge information without breaking a secrecy agreement bob lazar's information is what he gives to the reporters so i think that speaks for itself bob i know what your answer is to this uh i'm just wondering at what point did well i'll put it this way people have accused you of being a charlatan and a huckster and you're in

(40:26) this for the attention or the fame or the money the money that came with it and uh what they don't remember is a 20 years ago this week as i'm editing this stuff and getting ready to put it on the air and reveal to the world who you are you were in the edit bay trying to grab the tape and and uh had a last minute um feeling that you really didn't want to go through with it sort of a reluctant huckster that's true first of all i gotta say hi to john lear because i i just haven't talked to him
(40:54) in a long time and uh i probably should give you a call once in a while john sorry i don't yeah it's 18 months two weeks but who's counting and i do have to say one thing i mean generally i give john a lot of crap because i think he's crazy at certain times but um uh once again and this has happened before uh on a particular topic i think years and years ago john had mentioned aside from his claims that there have been extra flights to the moon and people are out there all the time that there was water on the moon
(41:33) and i remember you know laughing and i'm going down that's just ridiculous and shut up and it's just another lyranism or something along those lines but here it is 2009 and they've confirmed that there's water on the moon so i'll say it publicly john you were right george you know i i hate to say how how how sane john has become in recent months and years but a few weeks ago when i found out nasa was going to bomb the moon to check for moisture content i made the call to john leard and said okay now
(42:09) john why are they really bombing the moon i mean what an opportunity for a conspiracy story and all john said is my back hurts from my operation a year ago and i think they're just checking for moisture content though i was never so let down the pro searching for a john leer conspiracy in my life i don't think the world is ready for a saint john lear so let's just leave it at that but i'll answer the question well do you get you get hassled about it bob still people stop you and ask you about it and they say
(42:36) yeah well where's your school records and why didn't you prove this well you know i'm i am so tired of so first of all i i don't chase the topic i don't pay attention to it i um you know for the people that think is that this is some kind of hoax or whatever you know the only thing i can say is number one you know it's it's an incredible story and if you don't believe it it's good for you because quite frankly if the tables returned i couldn't believe it either i mean you have to take things
(43:14) with a scientific approach and be a skeptic as possible i can't present enough evidence again if the tables were turned to satisfy my needs to say yeah that absolutely happened to this guy and it's just not physically possible i can't take people there as i've said before i didn't come out with much evidence and there's you know considerable amount of disinformation that have been splashed around concerning my name and you know events things i've done whatnot so it's it's a hard uphill battle
(43:48) so again all i can point out too is number one events did occur exactly as i say number two if you if you think i did it for attention you obviously don't know me because i do everything i can to stay away from i'm not out doing ufo talk shows well this of course is one but you know it maybe once every three years i'll do it if i'm bugged enough only because we're friends but i'm not on the ufo circuit i don't uh you know attend these conventions or sell things so on and so forth um i
(44:28) really just want to be left alone to do my work so as far as being in the public spotlight i hate that if you think it makes money again you don't know much about it there's really no money to be made if anything it is real difficult to overcome the stigma being the ufo guy we do government contract work and consultation for many companies and it's you know it's a difficult thing to have that hanging over your head aren't you that guy that thinks that they're an alien somewhere yeah that's (45:03) that's me you know and they have second thoughts about us developing a product for them but uh so if anything i would say it's had an overall negative effect so the there's really no motive to do this i certainly have better things to do with my time and i have such limited time as it is like i said i don't i don't even want to be involved with the topic although i feel extremely privileged that i was at that time and in some respects miss it before bob turns the entire universe off of ufology (45:42) i'd like to interject that with the advent of bob lazar you know the world has turned 20 years ago i didn't hear the vatican commenting on life elsewhere and i think everybody in the country we saw the ap story was on the front page of the review journal here in town about the vatican uh you know calling a gathering of world scientists together to examine the possibility of extraterrestrial life and see how it fits into their perception of god's children uh i don't think that was happening 20 years ago 20 years ago certainly (46:12) uh edgar mitchell the sixth man on the moon you know at uh phd in astronautics uh you know was not on the record at least as as saying that he had any knowledge after investigate doing his own investigation which included coming here to las vegas and speaking directly with bob lazar i was there at that meeting now edgar mitchell is on the record i think there's even a a video clip of him at the beginning of the moving you know the movie the fourth kind on abductions that came out this past week there's a (46:43) clip of edgar mitchell and here here is a a a a brilliant man a scientist a nasa astronaut six man on the moon saying that he has seen sufficient evidence to his satisfaction that you know there has been life from elsewhere that is that has visited earth and the us government's covering head up so a lot of this started as egotistical as it sounds with he offers the best evidence with the bob lazar story 20 years ago so whether bob look up clearly bob hasn't been actively involved in in putting this forth and (47:14) bringing it to the limelight but the world is turning and it began with him uh bob back to you for a second uh you know i remember there was a point that where you reached that you sort of gave up on trying to convince people that it was real uh you know of course there were questions about your background your schooling your employment record and we'll cover some of that ground over the next couple of hours but at some point you just said well what's the point um i'm never going to convince people who don't want to believe it uh

(47:43) because you can't even take them out there and show them the craft or beings or anything like that there's always going to be another question right right and but again i i i don't pursue that i don't try and convince anybody of anything i really just let it be uh as far as people asking me questions you know they i i get those constantly and there's a point i do have to make i'm not involved with them but on facebook and myspace and these other social networking things there are to my surprise a countless number
(48:23) of bob lazar impersonators and i go on these sites and click on these bubbles are linked there's pictures of me and there are people that are fielding questions as if they're me it's it's mind-boggling but i really do have to say if anybody is going on these sites and asking questions and getting answers it's not me i'm never on those sites and the only place you could ever contact me would be at unitednuclear.
(48:59) com and you know i have limited time to answer emails but i do get i do get uh ufo questions here and there and you know kind of throw them on the side and over time do answer them but really be very skeptical of uh anybody that says that they've contacted me or i've responded to emails on any of these uh social networking sites because it's it's not me one of them i think is the guy's name is ufo badass or something and there's even sites that uh claim that uh my wife put up this site and that's why it takes a
(49:38) little time to get answered i mean all of this is complete bunk i'm not on those things hey it's like your uh elvis bob impersonators like elvis impersonators john we need to take a break we're going to come back and jump into this with you and how your life has changed because of this story coming out and speaking with our guests jean huff john lear bob lazar don't go away this is coast to coast am we're talking about an anniversary uh this week uh when bob lazar first uh revealed himself to (50:06) the world in a program that we produced here he's our guest along with john lear and gene huff and there's another name that plays into this in a big way and that is edward teller known as the father of the hydrogen bomb he was sort of there at the beginning of this area 51 story when we come back we'll jump right into that don't go away this is coast to coast am welcome back to coast to coast my guests john lear gene huff bob lazar um this past week it was a really great ufo conference here in town the crash (50:34) retrieval conference and one of the papers that was presented was about edward teller and it had to do with some ufo documents uh supposedly about teller's knowledge of the program the paper basically debunked the the papers as being frauds but i wanted to know uh john you're sort of the student of ufology where you think teller uh what role he plays in the overall ufo picture well i didn't know uh that he was involved at all at all until bob called him that day and asked to re-enter the scientific community and (51:07) i didn't have any suggestions bob that is where your involvement really starts you're at los alamos and you see this guy sitting around tell that story yeah at the time i was working at los alamos in the maison physics division and i saw in the lab paper that edward tiller was giving a talk on i don't know some thermal nuclear weapon sdi wasn't it what was that wasn't it on the sdi oh yeah i think it was gene remembers more of this stuff than i do and it's my life that's my position that's why he's here

(51:52) so uh i really had a great opportunity i wanted to get in there and spoke to my supervisor he said yeah go ahead and it was down at the you know little lecture hall and coincidentally that day i had recently moved to los alamos and that day they did a front page article on uh honda civic that i built that had a jet engine in it and they had a front page picture of me in the car and i went a little early to try and get a good seat and to my surprise there was nobody around and ed teller is sitting outside on this little half brick wall and he's (52:44) reading the local paper on the front page and i thought oh this is perfect i can you know go over introduce myself so i i did and you know we talked briefly about the um the jet car and how it worked and you know why i made it so on and so forth and um i can't remember really what else we got into but we're just talking about uh science and topics in general that you know what where i really wanted to uh get to in los alamos is high energy propulsion you know weapons something along those lines and fast forwarding to many years later
(53:28) when i wanted to get back into science i left los alamos to start my own company and then kind of drifted away doing various off-the-wall things and really wanted to get back into it living out in nevada now and with the nuclear test site up there and at that time it was still running doing underground testing i started sending out resumes to you know everybody uh back to los alamos again seeing if i could get into um some of the weapon development or testing and also to livermore to edward teller and in that letter i referenced our meeting and (54:11) discussion uh in los alamos and some time went by and to my surprise ed teller responded and it was from that initial meeting is what really sets everything in motion he's the guy that recommended the well i can't remember if that was the first or second time but it was certainly his recommendat his recommendation and direction that got me into that job at s4 well people have a hard time believing that uh heck you got to be making it up what was edward teller have to do with ufos and then after those programs aired here
(54:51) of course there was a lot of interest in your story and some folks from a tabloid tv show tracked down edward teller gene pick up the story from there you remember what that interview entailed well they they asked him if he knew what propulsion systems he was aware of as far as interstellar travel and he went through the normal ones fission and infusion and they began to ask him about gravity propulsion and antimatter and he said he just cut them off abruptly but look these things are not interesting if you even though they were filming him
(55:21) he didn't know it he said if you ask me about these things on camera i'll refuse to answer he was really a curmudgeon in his later years and uh and they also asked him if he knew bob lazar and they said well if we ask you if you know bob was arguing your answers he and answer us and he said look uh so they said uh do you know a person named bob lazar and he immediately said no i don't believe i've ever heard the name now this was roughly an 85 year old man if i asked you if you knew joe blow you'd have to say well where would i
(55:52) know him from or what what period of my life you know give me some direction he immediately said no i don't believe i've ever heard the name and lazar is actually a pretty common name but uh anyway it was curious that how he instantly uh said he had never heard the name and that he didn't know bibles are but then he said if they asked that on camera he would sit silent because he didn't believe it was interesting to anyone so well that's odd yeah yeah it's bad behavior john lear is uh you know you uh (56:22) intimated to me i think in late 88 or early 89 that you knew a guy uh that worked out at area 51 and he knew something about flying saucers and you sort of teased me with it that was right after i believe you first met bob or maybe had gone out to see the test flight have you ever had doubts about his story though you know what the questions are you know what the weaknesses in the story are and we'll cover some of those but did you have to wonder at some point is this guy pulling my chain no never never even gave it a thought (56:54) because i was there from the beginning i mean i was there from when gene and

uh and bob came over to my house to uh bob was gonna measure it uh to uh to make an appraisal and the guy that was holding the other tape of the the other side of the tape measure was bob's r and the deal was that uh jane would do the appraisal if i would give him all my a copy of all my ufo stuff and as we saw as we sat talking about it bob was just rolling his eyes he couldn't be you know have expressed his disgust more than than he did i mean he was just (57:40) he said this is ridiculous i had the highest clearance you can get at los alamos if this were true i would have known about it from the very beginning there and then in the next four months uh we told him four things that uh or three things that nobody could have known of that unless they were at los alamos and we told that to bob he checked it out he found they were all three true and then that's when he made his decision to re-enter the scientific community and try and get a job up at area 51.
(58:26) by the way george back on edward teller when i remember when when teller called bob bob verify if this is true i think he told you that he was no longer active and he was just working in a chief consultant capacity correct yeah so teller never claimed to be actively involved in the program in any capacity well he he now he did say he was no longer involved and right consulting so obviously if he was no longer involved at one time he was yeah right that certainly implies he was doing something but what his actual function was well that
(59:01) still would have made his word count for something you know what i mean as far as referring someone to the program he obviously carried a lot of weight yeah and you know you would expect him hey george can i ask john a question this this boy uh bushman the the guy the lockheed engineer uh he also said in this interview that uh he was aware that area 51 was moving to tooele utah did you ever hear that of douella or tuella no no anyway i just thought you would be the guy to ask but but you would you you did say that you
(59:36) thought area 51 had been moved somewhere right yeah i mean that area but we know area 51 still there and functioning but not in its previous capacity probably itself the new there's two of them there's one south of uh wendover and there's one uh in the middle of the test site between uh sandia and or it's uh between groom lake and tonopah called zandia well i know of one thing that's a tooele it's a giant plant where they used to burn uh biological and chemical weapons and the reason i know that is because i
(1:00:08) got taken into custody one time when we were working on a story there and they didn't like the fact that we had cameras so they hauled us in to see who we were and what we were up to uh so it's not without its government facilities and secure facilities it's uh it's right in the middle of utah it's i think south of uh south of salt lake city i'm sorry i'm i'm pretty bad with geography but it's right in that general area it's near dugway i know because we were working on
(1:00:32) a story about dugway at the same time um uh let's go back to uh you know the obvious questions bob that have been raised many times people tend to forget uh that they were addressed in the very first report that aired about you you know a lot of folks cite stan friedman and say look stan friedman proved you're a fraud he looked for your academic records and he couldn't find him and i applaud stan for at least doing the legwork and trying to track down the story because a lot of other people have just proclaimed it's false without doing
(1:01:01) any of the work but uh people forget that that was revealed in the very first story that you couldn't verify parts of your background uh in particular about the education and this is you know i came to you you know this is it apparently like you said people they they hear fragments of the story and then just fill in the blanks themselves but this i'm the one that came to you with this information saying you know i have seen systematically portions of my background evaporating everything from birth certificates uh
(1:01:40) you know uh school records and work records and i'm beginning to get concerned that the next thing it's going to evaporate is going to be me and i say i know this sounds like something out of mission impossible or you know a ridiculous television show but this stuff is in fact happening and you know this is this was one of the reasons why i decided to come forward because i was genuinely concerned about my life at that time and certainly john and gene the two people that were around at that time you know you really can't get a feel of (1:02:16) the situation unless you were really there and around and had a taste of what was going on but it was this was really a frightening time and the day that we were out in front of john's house and did the news link that i was petrified that day i really didn't know if it was safe to go home at all and the only reason i went ahead and said anything on the air really was just to protect my life at that time certainly i felt it wasn't fair that this was all being kept a secret but um it was much more of a selfish reason if (1:02:58) it wasn't for that uh you know i probably would never have said anything it certainly hasn't been worth the repercussions but george could we re-examine that that stanton friedman allegation also and first of all i don't want to take anything away from stan friedman he was out there chasing freedom in freedom of information act government documents and taking the high road i mean he's a grand old gentleman and i don't dislike him however how that story unfolds is stanton heard all of these things about bob lazar and

(1:03:30) bob said yes i worked at los alamos and of course you know that he worked for kirk meyer who was a subcontractor at los alamos but he said i worked at los alamos well stanton friedman heard bob lazar worked for los alamos so he called a friend of his and said hey do you have any record of bobblez r working for for los alamos you know and the guy looks and no there's no bubbles are working for los alamos so stan friedman puts out a news release bob lazar never worked at work for los alamos well bob never said he worked for los
(1:04:02) alamos he said he worked at los alamos and then once we straightened stanton freeman out of that he goes okay and now he wants the next thing served to him on a silver platter so but the fact that he just made a call and said did bobblez work for for los alamos the guy said no and then he doesn't take it any further makes me wonder about some other investigation stan friedman did if that was investigation it wasn't very thorough investigation well he did some other stuff i mean he checked with mit and caltech and he got
(1:04:30) the same results that we got no records that bob was there and bob you and i have had this conversation in person and uh you know what i've i've expressed to you that i always thought that was the weakest part of your story uh primarily because i just i could see you being a whiz and in science classes at mit caltech but i couldn't see you ever sitting through the other kinds of classes you'd have to take english lit or something like that to get a degree you know i just can go go ahead well and i just couldn't see it and then
(1:05:00) the corollary to that that people raise all the time well why can't you tell us who your professors are where's the classmates why don't you show us somebody that you were in school with well first of all somebody i was in school with you matt somebody i was in school with when ufo's the best evidence came that guy uh flew up from i don't even remember where he lived at that time but if you recall you met somebody immediately like yeah we interviewed him at a desert blast event and uh no jim
(1:05:32) tower desert blast i think he came well you met somebody else at desert blast but the one that came up um you know specifically for that reason from the east coast i think is living out on long island uh came up and you know introduced himself and he didn't know what all the fuss was about but uh you know verified i was you know there for at least some amount of time george you sent me the email from the with the excerpts from the uh the scientist from the department of energy up at rocky flats in colorado who said he
(1:06:06) remembered seeing and meeting bob lazar he remembered his sense of humor he remembered when bob worked at los alamos so people okay let's say bob never he never even went to elementary school he's just a bright guy you never went to school at all the fact is you have met and interviewed and gotten information from numerous people throughout the years who saw bob at los alamos he bob got you into los alamos and and you spoke to people who worked with him there and then complete strangers contact you go oh by the way
(1:06:35) uh you know i'm a i'm a scientist for the doe and i remember bob lazar so i mean even if bob never went to school he worked as a scientist at los alamos so you know i i don't know how you how you correlate that if you think bob didn't go to school i don't know how you think he worked as a scientist at los alamos well that's what i've always said is that for me the the central uh issue or a fact might have been his employment there and los alamos uh gave me the runaround over a couple of years saying that they never (1:07:04) heard of him there's no record and of course we had the the front page headline that identified bob as as working there as a physicist we had the entry in the phone book um kirk meyer confirmed to me that they had hired him to work there or so eventually we got a paper trail that he was in fact there and it just figures that if he worked there in a scientific technical capacity that he had to go to school somewhere they don't just hire people off the street but proving it is another matter well the the main

(1:07:31) question people ask really is about is about los alamos or oremy actually being at area 51 or s4 that i mean i i think the people that are skeptical of the whole thing or people that are skeptical up to a certain point to go okay well you did this maybe you did work at los alamos but there's no way you were at area 51 there's no way you were up at the test site well you know in secure areas it's really difficult to prove that you know aside from having uh a buddy who you would have worked with uh you know what
(1:08:13) can if you worked up at the test site if you worked in you know all of that stuff there is uh relatively classified you need at least q clearance uh just to be on the site you know how could you prove it what would you what would you do it's really it's it's really an impossible situation to well anything evidence let me say here a year and a half ago i had my sixties uh 65th birthday and i had about 25-30 people and they were people from the test site that i knew there i flew up at the test site uh i flew for department of energy the
(1:08:56) b-26 the ov-10 and um what else did they have around hey john i'm gonna ask you to hold that thought that music tells us we need to take a break we'll pick it up when we come back after the break with bob lazar gene huff and john lear stay with us on coast to coast a.m thanks for being with us everyone tonight uh more sort of in the thick of things right now with my guests bob lazar gene huff and john lear we're going to take this break and get it out of the way and when we come back i want to get into one
(1:09:24) of the most mysterious weirdest parts of this entire scenario and it's something called element 115. don't go away this is coast to coast am welcome back everyone john lear before the break you were about to tell us a story about uh a gathering for your 65th birthday happy belated birthday by the way why don't you pick up the story george we must have missed our invitations of that party huh yeah yeah okay go ahead well yeah you know well there were several reasons for that first of all you know there's (1:09:53) uh half the guys here were eg and g i used to uh i worked for three years up there in 1989 her 88 to 81 flying the ov-10 and the b-26 and you know one of the jobs i had was before they'd set off and under new underground new blast i'd fly the perimeter of the test site at different altitudes and give them the winds so they know which way they were going anyway i met a lot of guys and a lot of those guys were at the birthday party so unbeknownst to me uh bob lazar shows up i mean it was unbelievable i was shocked
(1:10:38) beyond uh beyond belief but bob comes in and after everybody has a few drink uh drinks bob starts telling a few stories and you could see all these guys you know were not in their heads and and uh yeah that's the way it happened and uh and the reason i tell that is because you said you never met anybody that uh that would admit that but uh if you had your camera at my birthday party uh it would have been a different story well i'll have it there for the next one i said i'll have it there for the next
(1:11:15) one you just have to let me know and make sure it's okay with those guys who show up okay we'll do that uh bob let's uh we need to recap a little bit about the science of what you just discovered out there what you were exposed to give us a thumbnail sketch of how these things supposed supposedly worked i'm saying that because i want to lead up to the discussion of element 115 okay the way the craft operates is essentially to the vehicle it has an antimatter reactor this reactor is very small by a reactor
(1:11:56) standard it says something on the order of you know takes about i would say about two feet square it looks like half a basketball sitting on a plate it produces a tremendous amount of electrical energy almost as a byproduct its primary function is to produce gravitational waves and the craft is actually propelled by distorting gravity in front of it and around it it's a fantastic mode of propulsion and fantastic technology being somebody that you know was fascinated with uh you know exotic propulsion high energy systems things along these lines
(1:12:44) this was really something i i couldn't even grasp it was literally something that bordered bordered on being magic it was really the most shocking thing i'd ever seen in my life just watching components of this operate but to make a long story short uh i was shown how each component operates in the craft and then how they perform together essentially there's a reactor in the middle of the craft that uses an exotic fuel a super heavy element this reactor as i said produces a gravitational wave and a huge amount
(1:13:29) of electrical power this gravitational wave is transmitted in a conduit very similar to the way a tuned conduit very similar to the way microwaves are transmitted and the wave goes through a waveguide and around the inner hull of the ship it's kind of difficult to describe exactly how the wave is split and applied around the craft but it essentially envelops the craft in a gravitational distortion the actual propulsion is provided by three large i don't know what you would really call them they're cylindrical

(1:14:17) objects inside the bottom of the craft there are amplifiers above them that amplify this gravitational wave and each of these emitters is hung on a large movable arm essentially the craft powers itself up produces the gravitational distortion and these emitters focus and move an intense focal point of the gravitational wave and can either lift the craft off the ground or create a distortion alongside the craft and have it move into it or really do a variety of other things that make it extremely versatile and there's (1:15:07) essentially two modes of operation of how the craft can propel itself i believe they're called delta and omicron configuration almost configuration is where the craft is essentially lifted just using a single emitter a single gravity amplifier if you will and the other two emitters are focused out in front of the craft creating a small distortion in space time essentially and the best way to describe it is you know the old bowling ball analogy if you set a bowling ball in the center of a mattress and then two feet away take
(1:15:55) your foot your fist and push it into the mattress the bowling ball will roll to it and it's essentially how the craft operates in this configuration it creates a little distortion in front of it and the craft moves forward that way for high speed travel or interstellar travel the craft faces its belly towards the target and three of the amplifiers come online they're focused at a target in extreme distance and they run i can't remember the cycle time on how these things are pulsed one sixteenth of a millisecond
(1:16:39) do you are you just 16 minutes do you really remember that 16 milliseconds and it's omicron not i mean it's omega not omicron anyway the uh these three amplifiers are focused on a point of extreme distance there's a tremendous amount of gravitational distortion and the craft traverses you know very great distances in this way and it does this multiple times to essentially making small jumps [Music] you know to travel very very great distances that would be impossible using any other form of propulsion but
(1:17:25) all in all the craft is really an incredibly uh amazing piece of equipment well bob those those small jumps are small in terms of light years but in terms of miles in a straight line they're gigantic jumps aren't they yeah that's that's true well you guys when i say small yeah we're talking astronomical terms okay you've told this story over the years and of course you've had a range of different reactions from scientific types a lot of folks who will say uh this is a bunch of baloney this is
(1:17:56) not how science works uh we don't know much about gravity but we're pretty sure it's not this and thank you i mean i i i would have to agree that's exactly what i thought going into it too but sorry and then over the years though you've had other people come forward scientists who said that that really makes sense gene you've sort of been the the guy who's dealt with those types over the years how would you describe the overall reaction from the scientific community uh and do you have support uh for bob's
(1:18:25) explanation of the technology well i think the ironic thing is that when bob comes out and he says on camera to your camera or whomever uh this this is not even connected to known earth physics for all practical purposes it's magic this technology does not exist then he explains it they hear it and they go that's crazy this technology does not exist they say the exact same thing bob said and then blame him as the reason for it i mean he you know he has the same attitude towards they do nevertheless you can say it doesn't exist all you
(1:18:59) want but it's there and he saw it work and function and uh as far as support coming forward i mean just like the you know this guy from lockheed martin uh i mean ben rich back who was the head of the skunk works for lockheed back in 1993 when he was giving a speech at wright patterson air force base said that the air force just gave us a contract to take e.
(1:19:23) t back home now what does that mean how does a guy who's in charge of the lockheed skunk works in charge of all the black project research and development at area 51 make a comment that they got a contract to take an alien back home back in 1993 so i think as those people come out you know no one there is no perfect witness no one can change the world uh remember when corso came out and um does your is your audience familiar with who course so sure yeah and all these guys usually guys get at the end of their life and they decide (1:19:57) they're not going to go to their grave with what they know and i presume this boyd bushman is the same way by the way john i just uh emailed you that link to that boyd bushman video and uh anyway uh they come out and support it but i mean no one's going to change the world but no one can come out and uh and you know with the evidence land a disc on the white house lawn like everybody demands but uh as these as these men who like dr edgar mitchell you know astronaut like this boyd bushman like corso as these

(1:20:29) ex-military officers and scientists with you know security clearance who worked on all the black projects astronauts as more of the these people collectively come out and say yes there's et technology and the government is hiding it uh you know they always come back to bibles are that support for bible rock in fact i'd love to ask bob i mean it's funny he goes on the record he knows what is true and everyone always expects bob to be thankful because another complete stranger came forward and said oh by the way
(1:20:59) you're not a scumbag and a liar like everybody's been saying you were i mean you know i don't know how they expect bob to react he never suspected that he wasn't telling the truth so i think we appreciate the additional support more than he does that's true uh on on the question of element 115 and we'll get into a description of it in a second but sort of in the same vein the reaction from the scientific community as you guys are being lambasted by all kinds of people and critics coming out of the woodwork
(1:21:28) especially about the element 115 part of the story or including that at least there were contacts from some pretty high level folks in europe asking for information about how to make this stuff or how it operated right yeah that was uh boy that happened quite a while ago but i i don't recall exactly some heavy ion lab in germany in in darmstadt germany and well aren't i mean weren't those the guys that first synthesized one of the isotopes of it i mean am i remembering this correctly yeah so i think they did
(1:22:08) 116 and maybe 118 but of course you know 115 didn't exist at the time you made the statement right it does now it's been made in a small particles but again uh it it doesn't uh you know it doesn't conform to the description that you gave the stuff that they made it only lasted a microsecond something of that sort well and you should expect that i mean if you if you look at any element everything has isotopes to it essentially you know you look at hydrogen them all basic of all elements there's protium which is the hydrogen
(1:22:48) we're all familiar with there's deuterium which is still hydrogen but it's hydrogen with an extra neutron and there's tritium again it's hydrogen but it has two extra neutrons they're all hydrogen they're all element ones but they're all completely different and hydrogen's a completely stable element uh tritium is not it's radioactive it's half-life is you know about 12 and a half years and any minutes photons that's why it's used for all the night vision uh watches and scopes and sights and
(1:23:28) everything well it emits beta particles but you know that's not hearing about what we see but the um uh well the point being that the stuff that you saw up there was stable and heavy and there was like 500 pounds of it it's much different tremendous amount of it and it was a completely stable element for what i was told i detected no radiation emission from it i detected no neutron emission bob i remember that i remember that uh you know individual pieces of 115 that were kept in those clamshell type devices and
(1:24:07) correct me if i'm wrong but wasn't it wasn't it it didn't have to be kept under neutron bombardment at rest for whatever reason yeah it was always it always had what they uh called was active shielding and i think that's yeah i mean we can get into that later but right now i mean i just wanted to go cover the isotope question okay that um you know any given element can have stable and unstable isotopes and like i said with the most common thing hydrogen 115 god knows how many isotopes it has
(1:24:44) but there is a stable configuration of it you know there that is what the craft was powered by now they synthesized a i don't really recall what it was but they synthesized one of the isotopes of 115 and it was radioactive and i believe disintegrated in you know however many milliseconds or fractions of a millisecond i really don't recall but if they just continue their work and i'm sure they will it's just a matter of time they will as long as they're getting funding to do this they'll eventually wind up

(1:25:24) with an isotope of 115 that is completely stable well you had said you had said in the beginning bob you didn't think they could ever make it like that here it had to be a naturally occurring element i was very shocked that they were able to do it i believe they used a nucleus fusion technique i think one of it was a calcium and something else i really don't recall what it was but they they used a very novel method now they're only making you know a couple atoms of it right so it's not like they'll be able to
(1:25:54) detect any properties of it but they'll certainly be able to detect uh you know a stable element and it's just a matter of time if they they keep plugging away they'll you know run and discover you know a wide variety or as many isotopes as the element has and like i said one of them at least one of them is going to be stable the last time that gene and john were here we talked about a cloud chamber experiment that took place at your house and it was very primitive sort of a thing it was videotaped we had
(1:26:27) a chunk of that videotape and i think we included it in a report that we aired at one point i can't find the original but what was the point of that experiment what did it show this is back when we actually had a small sample of it and what we were doing was to show that this unusual element had some never before seen properties that it actually had an intense gravitational wave around it something you don't see at all except with large quantities of mass but we took inside a cloud chamber took radioactive particles and
(1:27:15) fired them past the piece of 115 and watch them deviate off their normal course we were planning on doing a lot more with the element but we ran into some trouble there's a whole story there about it being uh removed from our possession well of course there are stories about how you got it in the first place the assumption being you must have stolen it from up at s4 right right and that's not true well i don't even want to get into how came up bob don't you think it's a little misleading when when they
(1:27:54) see some of these reports saying that they've made some element 115 and you explained to me how how they detected these things and sometimes these particles are flying by filters and they detect them i mean they are hell and gone from having a quantity that they could hold in their hand oh and i mean i don't think people even understand how little there is and how quickly it decays when they hear a report like that so you might want to expand on that a little bit i mean they're really just slamming uh atoms together and watching this
(1:28:29) collision this is all happening happening in tiny fractions of a second uh smashing nuclei of atoms together and watching particles ricochet or get launched out of this collision and high speed detectors just picking up the particles as they fly by that's all they're ever going to do that's all they'll ever be able to do well we need to take a break here the question i probably shouldn't ask is what happened to that sample of 115.
(1:28:58) you guys think about how you want to answer that when we come back we'll get into it stay with us everyone on coast to coast am talking with bob lazar jean huff john lear about area 51 element 115 there was a piece of it that they had for a while curious about where that went also curious and what we'll get into when we come back is uh the physics uh the technology what happened to it if it was 20 years ago and they were working on it then where is it now stay with us on coast to coast we're talking with bob lazar jean huff
(1:29:28) and john lear about area 51 before the break we got into the issue of element 115 you guys had a chunk of it for a while gene i'll rely on you to give the diplomatic answer if you had it where is it i think it was stolen and i'd like to start the rumor that john lear has it right i know there's a guy that doing a lot of bob lazar research named ken yackel down in southern california who's just shaking his head right now because he likes answers on the same subject but i think it was stolen it's probably
(1:29:57) about the most honest i want to say but they uh the bottom line is there's still a piece of it missing and i think that's about all that i'm gonna say but you can imagine people saying well if you had that there's the proof you bring it out you show it to the world there's the proof that you're telling the truth and did that ever occur to you to do that but if you brought it out would that mean that it was the fuel for flying saucers that were brought here by aliens that make a discapable (1:30:29) interstellar travel or would it just be a unique piece of really heavy metal well uh you know we thought about all this stuff 20 years ago yeah well that was part part of it was you know certainly we had to do uh we wanted to do some of the testing ourselves and you know release knowledge that we had a piece of it and you know where do you send it how can you hear about all kinds of things like this just disappearing and you know what would you do with a piece of element 115.

(1:31:05) who would you get arrested for espionage if you're caught with it yeah so we didn't really get a chance to do much with it because it was shortly after we had it that it was removed from our possession you know the technology you described they were working on it 20 years ago they made some progress not enough for you which is one of the reasons you said you came forward with this information but do you imagine that they have perfected it now to the point where they can use it in a practical way no i don't
(1:31:38) think so if it is never going to move forward fast enough and it was you know very aggravating back then when something is is run strictly by the military or whatever faction of the government controls it uh you don't have that scientific that open free discussion that exchange of ideas if they would have employed that from the beginning we would have really made leaps and bounds but if you keep everything in just a small tight-knit group of you know under two dozen people you're the progress you're gonna make is
(1:32:16) so slow it's so frustrating the system we had there that i i told you about the buddy system where it's just you work in groups of two you can only communicate with the person your buddy the person you're set up with and there's really minimal crosstalk between the different topics and different groups and it it's so stifling even today it pisses me off to think about it just the the technology the wonders you have at your fingertips there you just can't keep this quiet the way it is you must release
(1:32:56) this out to the scientific community and i know it has all kinds of weapon potential i know it has i'm sure there's a hundred different reasons why they're not they're not releasing it none of which i think are that valid but you know certainly expand the amount of people that you're exposing this information to if you want to get anywhere with it because it it it's really unlimited power and maybe that's maybe that's the the main reason george here's a quote uh from uh ben rich again he was the
(1:33:33) former head of the lockheed skunk works you know the sr-71 the uh stealth bomber the self-fighter this was the headband of all the black projects that everyone you know always accuses the government of hiding out at area 51. back in the early 90s he said this this is a quote we already have the means to travel among the stars but these technologies are locked up in black projects and it would take an act of god to ever get them out to benefit humanity anything you can imagine we already know how to do that's a direct quote of ben rich well
(1:34:07) i'd have to agree with that well uh you know you look you look back on that period and what they could have done with that technology and and the description you gave bob of the small teams and the lack of expertise that that leads to one of the criticisms of your story is that they say yeah you're a smart guy you may know this and that about electronics and physics but you're not a phd you're not the cream of the crop right back then and i mean no disrespect so why would they bring you into it you
(1:34:37) know why would they bring you into that program that's my question you can't answer my questions with the same question that's the first thing i mentioned to you if you recall you know it makes no sense why are they picking me for this job certainly this isn't my specialty there must be some other qualities they're looking at um who knows what they are but no of course there are people a thousand times more knowledgeable on this and maybe it's just not outright knowledge they're looking for maybe they're
(1:35:10) looking for someone and you know come out of left field with some new fresh ideas because they weren't making any progress anywhere but yeah this is this is the exact thing that i put out there but george bob is a comprehensive problem solver and he's exhibited that in his previous jobs he was a widower at the time he was hired a lot of reasons to use a guy like that i mean can you take the head of the physics department at mit who has a wife and kids and a job and goes to work every day and suddenly remove him and fly him out to nevada and (1:35:46) fly him out to the area 51 and back to las vegas every day and keep that quiet i mean if you took all the top minds from all the universities would they stay quiet i mean they'd be noticed as being missing they'd be noticed as as being removed from their normal life i think they have to take guys like bob uh they're the only ones who who aren't missed in their day-to-day life well it feeds into the scenario that's been discussed many times over the years that this is all disinformation uh you know it's occurred to me that bob (1:36:15) they may have chosen you because you're a savvy guy and a smart guy and you might have contributed something to the program but also because they may have figured you might have talked about it or they figure if you did talk about it that you you would be easily uh dismissed or um you know character assassination whatever which is a lot of what happened well yeah that's true like i've always said i'm an easy guy yeah are certainly a candidate for character assassination but it's possible that was true of everybody else

(1:36:47) at s42 we don't know i mean clearly the the lead guys from caltech the lead guys from mit the lead guys from everywhere are not working at s4 you know so how do we know what the credentials or what the situation was of the other people that worked there maybe that is part of the the idea there's just to keep a lower profile but you know if in fact that's it uh that that has some terrible effects on the program well they they run the story they they release it to a gullible reporter like me i i bite on it and uh they they sort of
(1:37:25) run it up the flagpole and then discredit you and uh they're just sort of gauging public reaction to what would happen if uh if they release this which is why a lot of people say it's all disinformation they're trying to deflect attention from something else out there john you're this is sort of your area of expertise what do you think about that scenario well let's see the uh the bell jar experiment that'll settle everything meaning the videotape the videotape but i mean the idea of disinformation they you you've been
(1:37:58) characterized as sort of this bengali of this whole thing you must have set it up talk bob and gene into going along with the story well explain the laughs we're such easy guys to talk into things aren't we jeff yeah i mean explain that for the sake of the listeners though why that's funny well i mean you know john and bob have been arguing at odds about a million different boys over the years you know john didn't even know bob until i took him over there and introduced to him one day i mean they john was already on your local
(1:38:35) interview show here on the record telling us all about richard nixon and jackie gleason and all of the stuff you know before bob lavar was around that john was out there on a limb i mean john used bob to back back him up it wasn't the other way around then are people implying that that i guess i missed the point here that like john and i fabricated this this story for is that yeah that's come up once or twice over the years is that what you're talking about now yeah but the larger disinfo scenario is
(1:39:10) that uh that maybe you were duped that you were shown this stuff that they created this whole thing that they wanted you to spill the beans and sort of a psychological operation or maybe to divert attention i mean you've heard that scenario discussed oh wait divert attention from what and free reign to analyze it tinker with it and so exactly what and i certainly convinced myself i knew what i was dealing with so what could be more shocking than that yeah what dastardly thing are they hiding that they decided to put a giant
(1:39:48) ufo story out there for and how and again they they they gave him this ammo they implanted this story in his head with mind control and then what did they throw up in the air on the wednesday night when he took us out there to see this yeah that's that how about an aerial becomes completely ridiculous when you look about when they took you into play when they took him down to the st louis substation and registered his guns when he was in the program when the russians were in town running around trying to bribe people what about
(1:40:18) there are other comical stories that never really hit the mainstream and bob correct me if i'm wrong but weren't you supposed to actually like give a little seminar seminar to some other guys out at engng or something and you overslept and didn't go give the class oh yeah boy that was a disaster but yeah there's you know in a in a radio show it's impossible to cover all of the little fine points of you know of what happened why you know claims of along those lines are just are beyond ridiculous well how about i asked him at (1:40:52) the time when we first when i was first shown some of the ct material and you know certainly seeing the the breath the size of the base and the amount of equipment they had and how do you guys keep this secret and that's the first thing they told me which i've mentioned before i said it's the easiest thing in the world to keep secret it's nothing like any of our other black projects because nobody believes this stuff is true it's a piece of cake and and it is true people have a built-in of prejudice essentially that you know

know for the most part that's just the way people believe it's it's very difficult that's how i was in the program i mean to me this was all silliness everything i heard from john lear and you know these reports on tv of people being abducted and this was total silliness to me although i still have a problem with a lot of it i'm probably the biggest ufo skeptic there is but when it comes down to you know are there actual et craft here on earth
(1:42:07) it it really is true well the explanation i give about the disinformation scenario is if if they were in fact trying to divert attention from something else going out there some legitimate national security program and they just wanted to mess with people's minds it had to backfire on them because the result of your story the ufo story at s4 i mean tens of thousands of people checked out there every news organization in the world has been there congressional investigators have been there they got a lot more scrutiny than
(1:42:37) i think they ever wanted no matter what it is that they're working on out there well they had bus tours out there didn't they yeah for a while but let's like i said that those scenarios don't make any sense at all so it couldn't i mean that's that that's not even a reasonable a reasonable guess but george look at the people that have come forward to you that that you've never even gone public with people that have told you things that they don't want released until after their death what about this
(1:43:03) uh uh boyd bushman what about edgar mitchell what about you know there are other people who have you know you know well edgar mitchell at least had a conversation in person with bob lazar but this boy bushman he has no idea he's never spoken to bob with other people coming out confirming this stuff now if this was all a mind control game and a disinformation act played on bob lazar why is why why are the uh you know former senior uh uh engineers from uh the lockheed skunk works and and astronauts and all these people coming
(1:43:37) forward saying they've seen evidence of their satisfaction that this is real if all this was just a hoax on bob lazar what are all these guys big dummies that just believe bibles are they they've seen corroborating evidence elsewhere from other than bob lazar one other topic i want to touch on before we go to the break and then open up the phone lines is polygraph tests this has come up again there's a character online who writes about it based on things he's i don't know he got uh he channeled information or something
(1:44:08) he knows the truth about it and he writes about uh all the polygraph tests you flunked all of them uh you want to walk through this scenario i know that it took a took a while to convince you to go ahead and get these tests somebody said i flunked though yeah there there's a guy quite you've never that's not true yeah i know it's not true and i've told the guys uh and this this particular chat group it's not true and went through the scenario and it doesn't matter people who were not there
(1:44:36) at the test didn't see the results didn't talk to the polygraph examiners are sure that you flunked them well of course people can make up what they want but you know we're trying to deal with reality here the um i i don't remember the guy's name the the only time there was inconclusive results was the initial polygraph the guy who said you're going to be my ticket oh to the geraldo show or something like that and uh i think he was more concerned about becoming a star from this than doing a polygraph test when
(1:45:12) and you even and paid for these uh polygraph tests and you got um what was that guy's name that x-cop but the first guy was his name was ron slay it was a pretty perfunctory test but actually he had said that the results were inconclusive he ran it twice he thought you might have been deceptive in the first one but he said afterward in an interview that you were really scared and that seemed to affect the test results the second guy and he recommended we do a second one his name was terry tavernetti a former
(1:45:46) police officer who is now still a corporate security officer with a major gaming corporation he performs polygraphs as part of his his job every day and he said in unequivocal terms that you passed and he he broke the test up into four areas uh he put you through it twice and you passed uh right no question about it but then it was then some of terry tavernetti's uh i think associates someone else took a look at it and their opinion was that they saw a couple of areas that they thought where they might have been inconclusive
(1:46:22) but inconclusive was the worst that ever happened he never failed a polygraph at all yeah that's true so i mean how could somebody come out of left field at not not being there not knowing these guys and saying and come up with statements like that this is the craziness that i get exposed to all the time people hear portions of the story and weave together uh the remaining remainder and it it turns into the most ridiculous story something that i'm not even familiar with but um yeah it's guys like this these ufo

(1:47:00) nuts that it's why i try and distance myself from this topic completely george should polygraph be subjective i mean i mean can two people read a polygraph differently well i guess slight nuances but terry tavernetti said you passed he gave it to a second polygrapher who agreed with that estimation he gave it to a third who agreed but said well maybe you're maybe you're telling stuff that you heard from somebody else and he'd like to see another test but nobody said that you flunked of all the people that looked at it nobody said you
(1:47:31) flunked um we got a couple i thought the first guy actually that ron play i thought bob had passed one and one was inconclusive i didn't right that's what george said yeah um i'm trying to remember i thought he it was you know it doesn't matter at this point the overall result was inconclusive well we got a couple of minutes left before the break and we open up the phone lines bob uh i guess uh safe to say that you would not do the same you would not play it the same way no boy you know a lot of times gone by
(1:48:01) and like i said i i really feel privileged and to have been part of the project and obviously it fascinates me uh you know somebody this deep into science where it's you know part of my life to be on beyond the cutting edge is uh really something and uh but the way this all went down and the way it was digested by uh you know the people in general i don't think i would ever say anything again and uh because the effects on your personal life yeah because of the effects on my personal life and and just it was really eye-opening the
(1:48:42) way you know people receive information like this and that you know uh how hostile they'll be because they just don't want to believe something and um you know and of the tremendous amount of disinformation and um you know attacks that associated with it you know why in the world would i ever do that again all right we have another hour left with bob lazar jean huff john lear uh stay with us we'll be opening up the phone lines here on coast to coast a.
(1:49:12) m celebrating sort of the are marking the 20th anniversary of the bob lazar story area 51 s4 flying saucers in government hangers also joined by john lear and gene huff i know a lot of you have questions for this trio and we'll get right to the phones as soon as we come back on coast to coast am welcome back we're in the final hour with bob lazar gene huff john lear we're opening the phones in just a moment bob you had said earlier there are a lot of lazar imposters out there on websites and facebook and things of that sort
(1:49:43) a couple of the listeners had written in saying they they were curious about a site they found that had artwork and uh drawings and things of that sort uh whether that you were related to that in any way no is that could that be john ferret's old site uh well that's bob lazar.com now that yeah i'm not talking about that site that's john furrett a friend of mine and he essentially put all the i don't know what the status is but he put essentially the bulk of my story online and drew all the graphics
(1:50:22) concerning the reactor technical aspects uh measurements that sort of thing everything that i knew at the time now that's uh yeah a separate website that i wasn't involved in but certainly knew about these other ones i'm talking about the social network groups you know the myspace facebook that type of thing none of those have anything to do with me okay going to the phones east of the rockies hello east of the rockies fred in florida are you there okay how about west of the rockies what were you going to say i was going to say
(1:51:03) that it's important to clarify that what they just heard is that bob lazar isn't even involved with bob lazar.com much less than the other website so that was pretty interesting right statement actually okay go ahead west of the rockies double o seven and a half in southern cal are you there well hello everybody all right how you doing i'm doing better than ever this is my birthday 55.
(1:51:31) happy birthday well thanks i wanted to tell a true story in 2001 i was up in the mountain above palm springs to call it idle wild up there and one night i was setting out couldn't sleep i sat down on a chair in front of my house up there and a lot of cloud and fog moved in fast and mysteriously that night and something made me look up at the exact second this big old perfectly round flying saucer came in and with the lights turned off i could uh see it plainly because it came in low enough and they turned the lights on when they went over my head and it pulsated white (1:52:13) light looked like a wheel going around it inside of it around the edge of it probably the propulsion system i don't know if that would have been magnetic rail thing or whatever it was it's got to be a lot more advanced what they got in area 51 i don't know how much back engineering they've done over there but anyway after they went over my head they turned the lights off and i heard it land and a little bit later all the lights in idlewild blinked on and off a couple of times and a little bit later this strange lady (1:52:46) says her name was tomorrow comes down the road gets a cigarette from me and as she's leaving turns and says i'll see you tomorrow now from what i've learned from the people from the ship since then i think they're in the process of doing a roundup to take a load up to their planet but who's to say this whole planet isn't nothing more than uh space aliens living on this planet that they originally seated uh who's to say that isn't true you know what it might be and so the question is could that

(1:53:24) possibly be true and and basically message is a if you're if you can do good consistently instead of doing bad then you're a candidate for rescue i'd like to know everybody's thoughts on all this and thanks about i'll hang up now yeah okay john you want to tackle that one is john awake is it am i still awake sorry sorry john it's pretty late for you did did you hear that that question yeah just give me the the uh the base of what it was well i think he uh he saw a ufo incident and uh had
(1:54:03) an encounter with somebody who was a strange lady and his suggestion was maybe we were uh we're seated here that aliens seeded the the planet yes that's possible and the way you get out of here is uh egg is uh to exercise integrity without nd and without greed okay maybe i'll bring it back to you bob and all the material that you read uh leading up to your introduction to the program did you see anything about the intent of the visitors or what they want i mean it's my intent as the visitors or what they want
(1:54:48) i don't think it was ever made clear what their intent was um you know is there information that i saw that you know might imply that uh they had something to do with putting people here well possibly i mean that's my personal belief i think in to some extent people were seated in uh you know if you want to call it that uh by another civilization but um you know it's meaning genetically altered right yeah yeah you read something about genetic alterations that took place throughout human history right right so i don't know is that
(1:55:32) seating i guess in some respect it is but um well you know they were doing us the favor more or less wasn't that your perspective i mean there was more in it for us than for them apparently that's certainly true uh wildcard line ed in allentown pennsylvania good morning ed good morning george fantastic show as per usual uh and happy anniversary 28 years i am very much a fan of bob lazar and john and gene's work and i wish that you guys would make the first show available on coast to coast like the interview show that you did on
(1:56:12) tv as well as art's first show i think it was in 1990 i believe that bob lazar was interviewed on coast to coast well that was a long time ago i i can't believe it's been 20 years myself yeah it's bizarre uh i have a question a couple questions and a brief comment and oh my god where to start um it's quite a privilege and a pleasure to speak to you bob um good luck with your new endeavor with the uh car inserts or whatever the hydrogen the hydrogel my mom worked for air products for 30 years and my dad
(1:56:51) each picnic would talk to the president of air products and say that he had plans for a hydrogen car when he was fighting in world war ii in brazil really with the american soldiers yeah he would tell the president of air products every summer at the company picnic why don't you build a hydrogen car you wouldn't have to import any more oil and you know and they said yeah yeah yeah and then like last year they announced that air products is now trying to make their version of a hydrogen car oh no kidding now i
(1:57:21) hadn't heard that yeah their products one of the biggest suppliers of gas as industrial gases in the world and for nasa anyway the other question is when are you going to make your autobiography and if so you could possibly fund even more hydrogen car works and the other question is if you were offered to work again for los alamos and or somewhere in area 51 like if they called you up and said okay we're sorry we want you back would you go and i have another comment if i could please after that question (1:58:01) well the comment is a joke it was 20 years ago that joan rivers said in one of her concerts that she's in her comedy concert she said you know why a ufo never lands in a jewish lawn you know poking fun at herself and my own religion she said because they would turn it over to see who manufactured it see if they can get in on it thanks and kind of the truth because they won't always want to build stuff and my family indeed was involved in manufacturing for years and it's like a triple entendre joke but (1:58:35) yeah anyway that's that's my questions and good luck god be with you and all of you and more power to us all and hopefully the the future will be one of peace and no oil and lots of hydrogen cars everywhere not polluting the earth i'm all for that thanks and uh so bob uh the central question there i is pretty interesting would you work for him again they said hey all is forgiven come back to s4 we need your help on these saucers you know you won't believe how often i think about this um and that that's a that's really a

(1:59:08) tough question because first of all i'd apologize to them because they were right just keep your mouth closed you know and that that's the only way to stay here is to go with the flow and you know i am so sorry i made that move but getting back to the question uh yeah unfortunately my life has gotten a lot more complicated i mean i have several businesses and all that and moved you know and wife and michigan however if we can put all that stuff on hold or if i was just single again without attachments to other businesses and all
(1:59:52) that would i go back yeah in a heartbeat i really would bob i need to ask a question what you spoke before about uh one of the problems with hydrogen cars is detecting the leakage because there's no odorants involved with the hydrogen and of course as you know they they pretty much proved that the reason the hindenburg lit up like it did was because of the aluminum doping on the skin not the hydrogen itself how explosive is hydrogen you said well if a cubic foot of hydrogen leaked out i mean does it catch on fire that easily
(2:00:26) how dangerous is it how explosive is hydrogen well a cubic foot isn't really that that dangerous it burned in air and yeah you know it it does have a wide range of flammability but um but you know when it right the more the more the real problem here is is overcoming the stigma of hydrogen when you mention hydrogen to people they're only going to think of two things the hindenburg or a hydrogen you know thermal nuclear bomb and both of them are bad news so it's it's tough overcoming that the actual
(2:01:00) dangers are are very minimal and a gasoline car by far is is the bomb that you're driving not a hydrogen car i want to go back to sort of the implication of ed's question there and your interesting answer that you would actually think about uh going back and wish you had stayed in the program could you imagine or have you thought it out about where it would be now what your role would be if you'd stayed in it how far the research would have progressed well if things would have gone a lot smoother and and i you know we wouldn't
(2:01:32) had the security problems that popped up and you know if things remained under control um is it possible that we would have made more progress i i don't know like who knows how many people before me uh tried to make the identical progress that i was trying to do i focused on what i was primarily interested in and you know what our group was directed to do but i certainly don't see uh why i would have made a giant difference i you know i basically what i'm saying in this amount of time we'd probably be
(2:02:18) about the same place they are now i don't i don't think i had any special abilities or you know or any uh i can't think of a word to say but um well you know what we're just guessing i mean maybe they made a breakthrough maybe that statement out of uh the guy from lockheed is more telling than we know that they have figured it out it's possible but i have no reason to think that i could have been a major contributor you know any more than any other person there so uh that's hard to say but then ben rich
(2:02:53) says you know who used to run the lockheed concord said that it's locked up in black project and it would take an act of god for it to ever be used for any public purpose so what they're saying that indicates me they're probably talking about they're going to keep it for weapons and military you know defense are offense purposes whatever but it it's never going to you know be disclosed and given to the public for any benefit it's a crime but if they're not going to let the people know about it i sure want
(2:03:21) to know you know i just have a craving to you know to get back into where i was and i know that's impossible but i do think about it all the time it's kind of like uh you know that that annoying feeling you had what if yeah exactly it's a what if that never goes away and i really don't know how to describe it but it bothers me a lot because there are times i said well no i'd never go back this is ridiculous and but really as time goes on and now i'm over 50. uh you know you start thinking (2:03:58) different and boy i if things were as they were back then i would jump right back into it nowadays with like i said the way my life is it'd be impossible do you think if you had stayed quiet and not gone public uh you know you know they yanked your clearance and you were temporarily out of the program if you would just shut up and well that happened not with me right but i'm just saying if you had done as you were told and stayed quiet and not gone public do you think they would have rehired you would they have

(2:04:29) called you back after a layoff yeah i don't know i don't know we're gonna go to blair in sedona arizona on the wild card line good morning blair thank you george hey mr lazar speaking of gravity uh propulsion george had a gentleman by the name of shannon on his october 25th show who said frequency patterns hold the planets in place not gravity and frequency patterns of what well there you go i guess you got to define exactly what he means there i mean maybe frequency patterns of a gravitational wave i mean you have to yeah have to be a
(2:05:05) frequency of some energy and maybe that's you know what he's referring to that it's not it it's not a static wave that it's an active and and he would be right it's uh you know if he's talking about frequency of gravitational waves i guess that's just a correct statement would you be able to speculate on a post-government disclosure society and what specifically and how will the current suppressed technologies of unlimited power enhance american life those leaps and bounds you were talking
(2:05:36) about so the effects of letting it all out yeah well and how would that change our lives directly a lot of that would depend on exactly how far they were able to take this because if they can't if they really can't duplicate it then it's useless to everybody and if it just remains that the craft or components of other crafts they have are the only working pieces of that technology and it can't be made to work with earth technology it's there's no use at all it just is a novelty however if they were able
(2:06:19) to surpass that and and able to duplicate some of the technology some of the ideas or even you know some of the basic concepts uh using earth materials sure there could be it could be a a world-changing event there could be sources of energy that are limitless but again using you know using alien materials requires us a source for those alien materials and i don't know of any earth materials that could be substituted or that perform like the ones we were looking at so i i don't see where where the project
(2:07:02) really would have proceeded but um you know i didn't know everything about it i just knew the small amount of information that they dealt out to my group and i'm sure i don't have anything close to a big picture so you'd have to think that if they if they had the stuff they spent all these years trying to figure it out and they they were just stumped that they'd just bury it somewhere they wouldn't talk about it they wouldn't let it out they wouldn't want any of our adversaries to know about its
(2:07:32) potential because somebody else they'd never do that they i mean they tinker with it forever they'd never just bury it and throw it away because just just on the you know outside hope that you know a new young upstart comes in somewhere has some neat idea and now finally they have access to all this power and technology they're never going to throw it on the back side it's too it's their prized possession you know they're they're never just going to throw in a box and do you know one of the raiders of the lost ark thing
(2:08:02) and some giant not to mention that those who brought it here were supposed to come back another time so they would probably at least keep it and hope that happened gentlemen we're taking another break we'll come back with our guests bob lazar gene huff and john lehrer if he's still with us there stay with us we'll go to more of your calls after these breaks and messages on coast to coast am we are joined tonight by a couple of ufo maniacs bob lazar gene huff john lear talking about area 51 and in in a way
(2:08:31) it's a story that launched a thousand businesses a posters and ashtrays and t-shirts and even bob lazar christmas ornaments books tours video games uh bars named area 51 bands named area 51 there's a there's a band named element 115 in case bob lazar has never heard of that one a lot of people have made a lot of money on the story uh bob lazar and jean huff and john lear not being among them uh however a lot of interest continues when we come back we'll go back to the phones get to as many of your questions
(2:09:06) as we can here on coast to coast am welcome back we're in the home stretch

with uh bob lazar john lear gene huff going to east of the rockies glenn in texas good morning glenn uh good morning gentlemen i'd just like to say this is a a wonderful experience and what a forum art created i have a question for mr lazar if i may a quick question for mr lear go for it uh mr lazar did the crafted f4 have any landing gear and if so uh what kind of configuration it may help with the speculation on the specific use or general use and uh (2:09:58) mr lear yeah i grew up here in harlingen texas with the caf and it's the ride in a souped-up a-26 a body numbing experience or something even so you just don't want to get out of thank you and help listen on the air john why don't you start first okay what was his question he was talking about a ride in an a26 if it was a body numbing experience oh uh [Music] i don't know i had a lot of time in the airplane but it was not a body numbing experience so you're not a big fan of that plane oh yeah it's great
(2:10:43) airplane yeah i loved it uh you know in 1968 i was the first guy i heard so to fly in the reno air races and actually placed fifth they had a one p-51 in the b-26 okay when john was in that race bob you're part of that question uh did the craft have any landing gear no not that i was aware of anytime i saw the craft it was on at the belly or lifted off the ground but i didn't see any landing gear and i did get to look in the lower portion of the craft the only thing that's down there are the gravity emitters uh you know the
(2:11:31) amplifiers if you will uh there's no room anywhere for any kind of landing gear so i imagine they're always counting on the craft uh lifting itself off the ground and or sitting on its belly but there's nothing that stands it off bob was the was there um the the the i don't know what i'm trying to the bottom of the craft where the when it would turn up on its side and they'd focus the gravity empires on a point did you were you taught that you sensed that you know is the bottom of that open does something open is it made of
(2:12:09) something else or is it all all the same continuous uh now the very bottom of it's flat under the amplifiers there but it's no longer it's not open yeah it's solid okay do it same same as the rest of the skin of the craft i i don't know it appeared the same but okay the material was different all right keeping with glenn's question when they're in the hangars these things you saw nine different craft in the hangars were they suspended with uh like ropes or uh cables or something sitting on their
(2:12:39) belly with the exception of the one that was tilted up that has a hole in it that i you know mentioned looks like a projectile had been fired through it okay west of the rockies mark in san diego good morning mark hi uh by the way my favorite three guests i'd like to ask each of them uh how this has affected them on a religious level like if they were raised a catholic and they have this have any effect on their religious beliefs as in like afterlife or a supreme being gene why don't we start with you on that
(2:13:11) absolutely i mean the difference between bob and i is that he is interested in the technology and the hardware and of course you know he from what i've heard him say on this show tonight he's changing now that he's over 50 but my the impetus for me and the whole thing were the basic questions of man uh who are we where'd we come from where are we going to life after death god the things that none of us are exempt from and if these grey aliens are whomever brought these craft here had any commentary on any of that (2:13:40) i would like to know what they had to say so yeah i've it's uh i've given a great deal of thought to that and bob did not used to think about it at all i don't know if he does now or not but it completely changed my life by the way uh edgar mitchell as the astronaut also uh he said that when he was on the moon looking back at the earth it was tough to see where heaven was and it kind of changed him philosophically also it was a it was a life-changing experience standing on the surface of the moon and
(2:14:06) looking back at the earth so i guess all of us have different times in our life that make us examine our mortality and and uh try and grasp whatever we can to get answers but yeah the material bob brought forward with uh certainly changed my life and and changed me a lot philosophically and bob do you think of it in a spiritual or philosophical way any differences no i mean i'm not the most spiritual person you know i'm ready to um you know i really uh if anything i'm anti-religion i think organized religion
(2:14:40) is uh probably the worst thing that's ever happened to civilization but sorry that's who i believe creates all the wars and i don't even want to get into it but you can be spiritual and you know not be involved in mainstream religion you know it is there a god you know who knows the answer to these questions but um you know did it did it affect me no because i really didn't have any religious beliefs uh you know i believe there is some order to the universe i i don't think when you die that's it although you know science-wise

(2:15:21) it tells me that you know that uh that's all that happens is life and death and but um you know you just have those other feelings inside you that have no no basis or or facts to follow but um i really wasn't religious before that and after being exposed to it uh it really didn't change anything or my belief you know john john lear uh did you know not only the area 51 revelations but the larger ufo picture change your philosophy of life or change the way you look at the universe or eternity after that
(2:16:01) changed everything because now i know exactly what's going on and how it works wow so you're gonna write another uh you're gonna write a religious text and then and let us all know probably not it's uh there are very few that that really know this or that would understand it or that would care and are you optimistic in general oh yeah wow well that that's that's something first time caller pj santa maria california hi pj hey good morning guys it is a pleasure talking to all of you guys and uh question is for john lear this
(2:16:40) morning and john i'm curious with the lunar water findings as of the last couple of days and i understand that having followed all three of you guys there uh for the last decade or so and you know researching on what you've talked about with structures on the moon and obviously a lot of features that would have to be man-made or made somewhere on there what do you think with what nasa is doing do you think they're slowly starting to disseminate information about things up there is it is it a new finding to them that there is water
(2:17:09) there or do you think they knew this from from a long time ago they probably knew there was some long time ago because they had a lot of pictures on the uh on both the near side and far side there's cities waters lakes rivers uh anything you want the other day we managed to catch a spectacular picture where uh the holograph of endymion which is a crater at the top of the moon about one o'clock somehow the holograph or whatever hides it uh went away for just a few minutes and a friend of mine had a telescope
(2:17:47) aimed right at it and was able to uh to draw what is really an endymion it was uh it was a fascinating experience and he came to las vegas and we went over it and we drew it many many times until we got it exactly right what was there it was a city with uh with buildings and towers and uh uh and it's hidden by uh holographic nature well that sounds so crazy to me i can't even relate to you john is back yeah so much for the saint john no i we're we're poking fun john but uh you're saying that there's all this
(2:18:30) stuff up there that's covered by holographic technology of some sort oh yeah the whole the whole darn place is covered just to keep it secret from us uh yeah you know pretty much to keep it secret from us we're gonna go to the wild card line chess in new york city good morning chess hi george uh it's a pleasure to speak with you and and i'm an avid follower of you and all your guests and thanks i i had a couple of questions for bob um bob i was wondering i know it's been a while but i i was wondering if you
(2:19:05) could speak to any sort of uh description or detail as it relates to the skin of any of these crafts uh that was my first question my second question was uh is there anything of sort of an innocuous nature something odd or bizarre that you could remember about any sort of compartments or maybe support facilities for some of these occupants or pilots of the craft i didn't have any knowledge of anything along those lines um as far as the you know occupants of the craft or um you know anything to do with biology
(2:19:48) well he's talking about compartments inside the craft i mean you did get a look inside there right the furniture inside yeah maybe i misunderstood the question right um yeah compartments inside the craft i did get to inspect uh everything in the craft with the exception of the very upper level which i believe was just navigation and their version of electronics but it didn't look like there was anything but open space uh there were three seats for the occupants of the craft but there were no individual rooms compartments or or what have you
(2:20:28) like we we might have on one of our uh you know any form of transportation there's nothing like a bathroom or a smaller area everything is just each level is completely open in itself so i wouldn't call anything a compartment anywhere the other part of that question he asked about was the skin uh did it have skin or is just metallic well it's i called it metal and again uh each each part of uh the research done is uh you know as it gets late my brain begins to run right out of words but um you know it's (2:21:08) all very compartmentalized and the people that dealt with the metallurgy were a completely different group of people i had no knowledge of it the only light i can shine on it is the one time i walked across the craft and just slid my hand along it it was cold and that's the only reason i said it it felt like metal um it was you know cooler than the ambient air uh could it have been some exotic ceramic or something probably so i'm sure it wasn't just an alloy of aluminum or anything along those lines

(2:21:45) but um that's that's about all i know about it it was a pewter gray in color as was everything on the inside and outside of the craft so that's that's about all i can say as far as what the material was chess thanks for the call we're going to go to jim in chicago good morning jim yes george yes can you hear me yes i can okay i got a problem with my phone here anyway i like your style because i'm also a bottom line guy i have a question for mr lazar i want to know about the alien bodies
(2:22:21) has he seen them and in his opinion are they biological are they semi biological or perhaps interdimensional i haven't personally seen an alien i i did see a photograph of a creature uh was that creature in the craft or you know a pilot of the craft i you know i was just given some information a brief overview of other other portions of research being done but again i had no direct information about any of the biological aspects of well you thought vivisection didn't wait yeah but like i said this is i was given
(2:23:06) briefings that well as you know portions of reports on many of the other areas but i had no specific information on how that creature that i saw or the images of the creature if that had anything in fact to do with the craft you see what i'm saying but you did the the pictures that you did see the vivisection or autopsy like photos showed organs yeah a central organ as opposed to uh and i think that's what the comments were underneath it that uh from their estimation that's that i think i gave the description as if
(2:23:45) it uh if you uh had taken all our organs and allowed them all to grow together it was one single organ in the body that they had uh cut in a t-shaped fashion looking at the different chambers and whatnot in there and uh i think it's this this organ looking thing uh was apparently performing many functions uh so again it appeared to be biological to you in the future yeah so i yeah exactly it didn't appear to be an interdimensional being or but yeah i again i don't know can an interdimensional being be
(2:24:24) the uh appear to be biological so i that's all i can say well didn't you get a glimpse of something in a lab coat yeah oh boy people make a big deal about that thing well yeah and rightfully so i mean no i don't think that was an alien now just a short uh person with a big gray head or no i didn't say anything about a big greyhound i'm just uh the other side of the coin is that they were could have been playing mind games so they had two scientists and lab coats stand next to a facsimile of a kid
(2:24:57) a grey alien even well i mean you know a lot was going on at that time because i saw again this was their you know baxter to me and they were playing with something or looking at something that size maybe they were making up a little mannequin or something to see how it would fit inside the craft but i had no indication that that thing was alive or what was going on so i i can never say that that but neither did they know you would be walking down the hall to go to the bathroom and look that window yeah but i
(2:25:26) wouldn't try and read too much into that that would be too much speculation okay gonna try to take one more call got to be a quick one gary in hot springs arkansas quick question well more of a statement okay in 1966 i was the youngest person working for an electronics company who delivered projects to the jet propulsion laboratory which is now nasa and normally i was kept out of the loop as to what they did but this one particular time i walked through a door that i wasn't supposed to and they're on the easel
(2:26:05) by an illustrator who was incredible by the name of glenn hawk was the space shuttle 1966 it did not fly until 1981. so this suppression of information has been going on for eon well point well taken and i think uh bob and and john and gene are sort of examples of what our knowledge is is of suppression of this kind of technology uh any closing comments from from our guests bob anything you want the listeners to know about what's next for you or or what this strange journey has been like well the strange journey has really

(2:26:48) been something uh certainly has taken my life in directions i never thought it would uh i do constantly get uh people that are you know really wanting to ask me questions even people doing research and uh looking for actually even a couple in a couple instances some research labs that are looking at advanced propulsion and just looking for some possible insight and i apologize for not getting back to everybody but if you do want to contact me just be patient and the only place is our website

(00:00) [Music] hi jeremy hey pleasure to meet you frederick anya pleasure to meet you jeremy um just to get started where did you get interested in in this subject the the ufo subject you know i think like anybody i i when i was a young kid i just heard about this idea that we might not be alone in the universe and it always seemed too big it seemed like an impossibility in a way i was a little a little minded person i was a little child but at one point i heard this story of a man named bob lazar and the way he described a propulsion
(00:49) system that was so opposite of a reactionary propulsion system it was so opposite of what i imagined because everybody said the problem with life in the universe is there there probably is but they're not coming here that was what everybody always said they're not coming here but the way bob lazar whether he's telling the truth or not that's up to you but the way he described the propulsion system it flipped my script it made me look at it completely differently and i realized there is a possibility
(01:20) that an advanced civilization who had millions of years more than we have had to develop have been able to figure out how to traverse time and space so that's how i got interested i heard the story of a man named bob lazar and um publisher some of the stuff that he talked about the propulsion system and stuff like that that that's still kind of current right because now we have the pentagon ufos and we we have these these new tales of of ufo mystery that that kind of aligns with the stuff bob lazar said back in the 80s
(01:58) this really disturbs people this disturbs the people that tried to dismiss bob lazar in 1989 and what he told us his story was too fantastical for people to to stomach for them to believe for them to digest it and there wasn't enough evidence at the time and he knew that for what for what he said however you were right today we're living in a different world 2021 we now know that the military defense systems within the united states and not just the united states but our military defense systems that we have
(02:37) incursions by vehicles of unknown origin that fly with impunity in our restricted airspace and over our nuclear systems and that they do so on a regular basis to the point where we interact with them this is all admitted and that these technologies are far more advanced than anything that we have or any foreign nation that we know of has so that's why the u.
(03:03) s defense systems said we need to figure out what these are are these russian are these chinese who's making these what do they know that we don't know and if you really want to understand it listen to the description of a man that i brought forward his name is commander david fravor i i talked about his case before the new york times came out with their story i had been talking to him for four years prior what he saw on that day chasing a ufo for the united states military the propulsion system how this object maneuvered it bends your reality
(03:41) it makes you rethink what what is physically possible within the restrictions of our of our universe now where they're from what they're doing here who operates them are they from another planet another dimension or are they some secret society and you know that has technologically leap frogged ours i have no idea you know i'll guess just like you'll guess but but the reality of ufos is not under discussion anymore we must move past that otherwise you're avoiding reality so so the first time we hear about about (04:21) bubbles are the public hears about him is when he anonymously testifies in in his first interview with the with the legendary journalist george knapp um why do you think he he came forward and did that back in in 1989 well i know exactly why he came forward to do that he reluctantly came forward so what happened for your audience is this in you know in 1989 lead investigative reporter out of las vegas

nevada named george knapp broke a story about area 51 and flying saucers he broke this story that has now become (05:00) famous around the entire world the association between this idea of extraterrestrial technology in area 51. all of that is because george knapp broke this story about a man named bob lazar so you're right bob lazar came forward on the news in las vegas and said hey i he didn't give his name he pretended his name was his name of his boss a guy named dennis right yeah but he he came forward on the news in silhouette so you couldn't see his face and he says i have been reverse engineering or attempting to (05:35) i was hired to reverse engineer extraterrestrial spacecraft at a sub-base of area 51 called site four and we've been trying we've made no progress but this is important for the american public and the scientific community it's a crime not to let people know about this now why did bob lazar do this bob lazar did this in silhouette because he was afraid for his life again whether you believe that or not i know that to be true i have talked to everybody involved he talks about uh an incident where someone shot at him while he was driving
(06:13) his car i think in your documentary yeah that's a small one of many incidents he has no idea for sure that was related but but i we know for sure that people were following him that they were terrorizing him george knapp has spoken to some of the people who were hired to follow him i've spoken with the man who did bob lazar security clearance but but here's the deal babazar is controversial he came forward he told this story now there are arguments against him where people try to assassinate his character
(06:46) assassinate his credibility say he didn't go to the schools he says he didn't go to they try to find every way to dismiss his message by dehumanizing him or making it seem like he's lying there are arguments on both sides and i looked at all of them i believe bob lazar yeah yeah and uh and we'll get to that that part as well but i mean when when when i watch you when we watch your movie it's quite obvious and that that he can actually build some amazing stuff that he's very very smart that you know and yes well you said it
(07:23) too he kind of he comes across as a scientist um he seems to to know what he's what he's doing what he's talking about and let me let me be clear he is a scientist yeah is a physicist i spoke with colleagues of his who worked at los alamos with him at the maison particle accelerator they acknowledged that babazar was a physicist at los alamos that he was hired in that capacity and that they worked with him now one of those people went on record with me but [Music] i mean bob lazar does a great job of discrediting himself
(08:16) i mean this is a man who who owned a brothel at one time i mean i don't know that there is a vey like a big i i think that by by punishing bob lazar that would be the best way to acknowledge that he's telling the truth so sometimes i think the best way to to not admit something is is to just let people talk about it now you asked me specifically they meaning let's say our government why does our government want to hold the ufo secret so private because hey look both of you i don't know what you believe but let's
(08:57) say we do let's say there are ufos let's say they are in our airspace why would anybody hold this secret who cares i mean tell us everybody believes in you most people believe in that you there's life in the universe it's statistically probable so what's the problem here's the problem i i know the problem i'll tell you exactly what the problem is the first problem is that we can't replicate the technology we do have bits of the technology we cannot replicate it our material science
(09:28) is not sophisticated enough we cannot align atoms in metamaterials in a way to fabricate replicate and duplicate these physical properties found within these meta materials we cannot do it so the problem becomes weaponization whoever is able to duplicate these technologies first they win that's it game over do you think any other nations uh are also working on maybe also have bits of crafts uh everywhere i know they yeah i know they do yes yes china and russia 100 do for sure i have a high level of confidence in saying that (10:07) yep is that uh is that people from within governments you've talked to or is is that something you can shed a light on yeah it's it's from it's from i mean as you know i mean i think my record of bringing people forward you know proves my ability to uh gain sources and then have a small percentage of them speak to the public right yeah so out of everybody that i brought forward they're just the people that were willing to go public right uh so yeah i've spoken with a lot of people i've been able to get a pretty good

(10:41) grasp on the ufo reality at this point and i can say with absolute confidence that uh there there are have been and are programs within russia and also china and that is one of the fears that the u.s government has and why they have programs like atip and asap is because they do not want to be left behind in this new race for weaponization based upon exotic materials recovered from other places it and it kind of seems like if you are about to have a breakthrough with this technology you you wouldn't tell the world about it
(11:26) i mean it's like going to the moon in the 60s you keep it a secret there's no motivation and i can tell you this because i directly know this to be true which is that there is no motivation by our military in the u.s or by the people in charge of these programs to tell the american public anything because the the the less that is known by the american public the less of it is known by our enemies by our perceived enemies so there is no motivation to share information about non-terrestrial technologies that may have been and (12:04) actually have been admitted to have been recovered if somebody has that information i believe it is a moral duty to to convey that to the human kind of course there will be things that governments will want to maintain for national security to stay protected technologically if they're if they're if they believe they can exploit that technology to a degree to protect a nation to have a military dominance i understand that there's nothing i can do about that that's just the world we live in but the (12:38) fundamentals they need to be destigmatized uh you know the the the laugh factor needs to be uh pushed away we need to be able to explore these things if it is indeed true but why do you think the laugh factor kind of became a thing why why are we so skeptical about aliens and ufos hubris mm-hmm you know um we we are you know look everything in our lives has taught us that we're special from our parents growing up to uh you know the applause of society when you do something that is deemed worthy or good uh you know we we in many of our religions
(13:25) we we we consider ourselves to be made in the image of god right so i in my i am not religious so i can stand here and and say you know i'm sure a lot of people disagree with me but i think that from the the very cradle that we're born into we we are we are told that we are unique we are special and at one point we really really believed that the universe revolved around earth if not around ourselves [Music] in my movie which is on netflix it's called bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers everyone go see it where i i had sorry
(14:12) um no that's great uh i would like people to see it i think it's an important uh conversation starter it's like in the movie i hand bob lazar go ahead oh i would just say it's it's if you if you want to know about bubbles that's that's the place to start that's to watch your movie for sure right it's a good kind of uh gateway drug to ufos is watching my movie definitely so uh so so yeah just to to i mean i'll be brief but just to give you a point of how hollywood has influenced things
(14:42) so one of the things in my movie is babazar always for 30 years has talked about this hand scanner that he had to use to get into his facility at site four at area 51. it's a small plate with some pins on it that you could put between your fingers there's a bright light above it the interesting thing is when you walk into the facility or even to leave they have a hand reader i was told that it has to do something where it measures the the bright light measures the bones in your finger they're unique to each
(15:13) person that sounds like something out of a tv show but it it it's exactly the way it is and we had talked about it and he had talked about for 30 years i showed him photographs because it was finally acknowledged hey these scanners were used at the secure facilities at the area 51 complex exactly at the time balbasar said now this was all classified until in the middle of cutting my movie so i got these images and i showed them to him while i was filming and he's like oh my gosh i couldn't i can't believe this i never (15:46) thought i would see this again right so for me that was a big moment and then people found out after they they started they watched my movie they saw this and there's like a split second in the movie close encounters of the third kind by steven spielberg where there's a flash only from the side you can't tell what it is or what it does like bob babazar described that it measured the bones in your hands and all this stuff right he explained how it worked but before that nobody had ever brought this to people's intention (16:18) but in that movie very quickly there's a flash of this hand scanner from the side only the side of it that he uses to get into a room so that is an example of how steven spielberg didn't even know from what i understand by the way somebody i know worked with him just recently told me that he didn't know they brought in props to to make it more authentic as if they're going into a secret laboratory so this is just one of those props so yes the military has always worked with hollywood to slowly introduce authenticity about (16:52) these types of programs now people will use that against bob lazar and say look that scanner was in the movie that's where he got the idea however they're missing the point the point is it doesn't matter if the scanner existed or if bob ever did see it which he didn't and nobody did ever bring that up before in 30 years but it was the fact that he knew they were used at that base at that exact time and that was classified information until i was able to reveal it to him so that's an example by the way of how (17:27) popular culture and yeah [Music] do you still talk to bob lazar today yeah he's a friend yeah yeah and um how is he i mean he must be of stoked about the the pentagon videos all of this stuff because it it so much echoes what he he talked about how is he reacting to this stuff and could he once again play a part in all of this first of all bob lazar is the most skeptical individual when it comes to ufos that i've ever met he has heard more insane stories there have been more lies told about him he has been attacked for 30 years

(18:28) he really wants nothing to do with it yeah he has not sought out uh you know to to gain from this at all i paid him nothing to be in my film nothing he would not accept anything so so here's a guy who's skeptical he's jaded because of the way the world has treated him just for telling him his story for telling what happened to him however over the last couple years when i have shown him hey look they said that there was a reverse engineering program and it got halted in 1989 which was the year they brought him in i
(19:02) see a little smile a little bit of vindication he feels a little bit vindicated but he he would he is surprised that any of this has come out and he would be very surprised if any more of it comes out he he says this is not something that he believes the us government's just going to release there's one thing in your movie that surprises me a bit and that's how fast when he gets the job that he somehow is brought into what one would think of as the inner circle right that they hire him and then they just throw him in there which
(19:37) which i've i found a bit strange i'm thinking wouldn't you want to check out people a little more first or so i discussed that with frederick and frederick said well you know maybe they also take in people who would be easy to discredit afterwards so that's it doesn't matter if people go out and say something because they can always discredit them i know this is a bit con conspiratory but but it's uh yeah no no no i i think you're both right and let me let me tell you why what people don't know
(20:07) is bob lazar already had a q clearance which was an important department of energy clearance that he had at los alamos because he worked on a particle accelerator he had already been through a lot of the vetting process that is necessary when you're looking to get security clearances to work within the united states military so the speed with which they threw him into this this new program first of all they didn't just throw him into it he went in there numerous times and was slowly allowed to see more and
(20:40) more i think he only saw the craft on his third visit to area 51. so on one hand anya what i'll say is that he already was pre-authorized to a high degree having a security clearance prior for his work at los alamos so that sped up the process and the man that did his clearance to go to area 51 is a man named mike thigpen and i've spoken with him twice i was able to find him after 30 years of him dodging george knapp a lot of body language experts has looked at bob lazar as well and i mean you were you joined him in (21:26) joe rogan's podcast as well and sat there for several hours and i know joe rogan is very much convinced as well um how was that experience go going to to joe rogan with bob lazar and how did you convince him to to start talking about this again right okay i mean there's a there's a lot to unpack as they say in there first of all joe rogan doesn't just believe bob joe rogan was against the ufo topic at that point he watched my movie and he said that that's what changed his mind you know to open that (22:03) door again but i think it was meeting bob and like anybody that meets bob it's a totally different experience it's like people can say wild things but when you meet them you can pretty much i mean you can be fooled for sure but we all can see pretty clearly if somebody is just bsing or lying immediately so i think joe

rogan i think that his uh his opportunity to have you know a couple not days hanging out with bob i think he quickly saw this guy believes what he's saying bob thank you very much for doing this i (22:36) really appreciate it i understand that you've told the story many many times you've been grilled many many times and it's very stressful for you so i really really appreciate your time so take me back to first day on the job the first day really i didn't really get to see a whole lot the first day was essentially just paperwork that's when i flew into area 51 proper when did things get weird when did you realize that at what point in time did you say hey this is not normal work that i can't (23:07) tell you what day that occurred on because so much time has gone by the first inkling i had was when i i came in normal there's this facility that is at s4 it's in the side of a mountain and normally we had pulled in with the bus and gone around the front through a normal double door this time that i went in there were hanger doors open i went into the hangar door and in the hangar door was the disc the flying saucer that i worked on i saw it sitting there and we walked by it had a little american flag stuck on
(23:42) the side and i thought oh my god this finally explains all the flying saucer stories this is just an advanced fighter and it this is hilarious right so i went by i sliced my hand alongside it i got reprimanded immediately for touching the thing and uh there was a guy an armed guard that followed us in and she said keep your eyes at forward and your hands at your side and just walk in the door so that was the first time i had seen anything that was weird and it was in the demonstration of the reactor working where it caught my attention to where (24:17) this is technology that doesn't even exist it's it's a good thing that you brought him on the joe rogan podcast especially i think probably been the most influential um interview that that he or you ever ever did right i i agree it's actually i think it's within the top 12 if not the top 10 ever watched joe rogan episodes yeah so i know that a lot of people have watched it you know over 13 million people and which is probably um you know my film is actually they suspect my film has been watched by (24:55) over a hundred million people now so if you if you add all that together yeah right yeah yeah the world the world now the world now knows about bob lazar's story whether they believe him or not i probably wouldn't be doing the show with anya if it wasn't for joe rogan and and your movie as well which is also one of the first things that i saw in a long in a long long time uh since basically being a you know teenager and a child that really like you know really hit me hard like i gotta get into this again this is (25:31) uh there's too much going on it's exciting and you know the idea of the film was not to convince anybody of anything it was just it was just to humanize bob lazar i mean so so first of all this is an exciting time uh frederick you're right in the last you know let's say three to five years more has come out than than in the last 50 years yeah a verifiable ufo government information that's good that's great news because the last big thing was project blue book which ended in 1969 and they pretended
(26:02) they didn't find anything so so now we know there have been us government programs great great there have been programs all around the world um but maybe anya can speak to this what is the climate within the scientific community i know avi loeb i know you had him on that he's come forward and you know he talks a little bit about ufos but mainly just talks about omura the temperament within the scientific community that you've witnessed anya do you think people are more able to see the possibility of (26:36) visitation compared to existence of extraterrestrial life no i think most of my colleagues would still be very skeptical about visits because they will go well space is big and if you can't go faster than the speed of light and everything is far far away so everybody is quite positive two words there's probably life of some form on other planets because we found so many planets but actually intelligent life that might visit us i think people are still very skeptic but i also think that people keep an open mind right i think every lobe is (27:12) actually a good example because he certainly divides the community we discuss it a lot right but he does get his papers published right in scientific journals where he tries to show the proof so it's not like there's a lid on it or he's not allowed to speak his mind or get his stuff out in scientific uh journals as well so so i think that's a positive thing right but i think uh scientists by default are very skeptic but at the same time very open if you understand i mean

i've been like a bit like pablo right i mean he's (27:45) also very open and at the same time super skeptic right as you said he was the biggest skeptic that you have met we had a guy on this show a danish guy who was a sailor he was a mate on a container ship um and he was between hawaii and san francisco in the middle of the ocean and one day he was standing there with another mate on this ship and suddenly this um ufo approached them and it was just hanging in the sky he felt like it was you know nearing them to to get a closer look and they were just staring at it and (28:35) you know suddenly was gone just like faster than anything uh you know that can fly that we know of and this guy he he the this was 2005. so a year after the david frava incident not too far away from um from from the frava incident and he he didn't tell the story i mean he tried telling his wife right anya and yeah and she didn't believe him she laughed at him and he never told about it again and then he heard this podcast and he called me up and and yeah and the story and the way he described the vehicle it was just (29:12) like triangular almost with a circle around it three lights it i mean and this is not a guy who at all cares about ufos i mean he he haven't been obsessed with that topic at all he just forgot about it and then it all came back yeah i you know but the hairs will stand up on my arms just hearing a little of your story because you had that moment where all of a sudden yeah it became possible to you that this is happening because you you hear somebody who has no reason to lie they're resistant to come out they're not
(29:45) benefiting from this and they're telling you something that is consistent with what you've heard over the years and it it kind of hits you wow this is happening wow what does that mean wow there are beings there are other crap they're visiting do they do they like our mushrooms [Applause] first of all do they come to take our women away second of all what kind of alcoholic beverages do they have you know it's like whoa what kind of music so yeah it's it's funny it's that moment when the hair kind of stands up on on (30:30) your arms and it dawns on you that ufos are real yeah that they're engaging humanity and i've had moments like that very credible people both military and non-military come to me tell me their report not so i can tell the world but so that i will know and that's it and it's it's impactful you you would have to really not believe in people in general when when when you kind of ex you know explore this area as you've been doing for several years and as we've been doing for for the past half a year it's for you not to (31:10) believe anything that that these people say would be would be more crazy for sure well let me it would be and you make a great point but let me also say uh unfortunately and people don't like it when i say it but there there are a lot of liars in the ufo field there are a lot of crazy people in the ufo field so i'm not saying that every story that comes my way i'm just saying that there's a you know people that end up getting to me eventually end up getting through to me by that time i mean they're not they're (31:42) usually not great they're crazy ones you know yeah yeah it's a mixed bag it definitely is definitely to get back to the traveling i think one really has to keep an open mind because i'm thinking if we just think 150 years back right then hence christian anderson who's a danish fairy tale writer he would go to italy and it would take him like three weeks to go to italy right and i have met him then and said well you know i'll fly to italy just to have a one day meeting and then i'll fly back home
(32:14) right he would think i was lying he would be completely in awe he would think that's really weird it would be a fairy tale yeah and and right now it is because of corona but before corona i mean that was like daily life right so i'm thinking who knows what what is possible a hundred years from now when it comes to traveling there's so much we haven't discovered yet i think that's really the the envelope argument right it's it's i mean we can be close-minded when we can't be conservative when it comes to (32:44) thinking about science and what's possible i mean the world could be something completely different i think to be human you know we should adopt that trait a little bit more before passing judgment based upon our preconceived determination of how things are or should be that we should be a little bit more open-minded about the possibility of change that would probably do everybody's heart and soul a little bit of good in life i think you're right and uh and jeremy it's it's been wonderful to talk to you maybe (33:14) we can do this again at a later point yeah thank you very much you guys have a great a real pleasure speaking with both of you you

(00:06) [Music] how i got back into ufos it's all your fault it wasn't for that awesome documentary on bob lazar you got me buddy you know i want to weaponize your curiosity joe that's yeah yeah so dave foley got you back in no he didn't no no um dave foley uh i was excited to hear that he had become obsessed with ufos yeah but he didn't really get me back in was the documentary the documentary was so compelling it's really good and folks if you haven't seen it it's called area 51 bob lazar area 51 and flying
(00:46) saucers nailed it yeah that's really good thanks man um that documentary for me was the reason why i started making films i picked up a camera i just wanted to know if the guy was telling the truth i was not a filmmaker i was highly unqualified like a lot of things that i do in my life that i end up loving so that movie the story is what made me interested too how did you get make it rourke well that's a [__] weird story um there's a tattoo shop called mark mahoney's shamrock social club do you
(01:16) know about this yeah i've heard of that place before okay so mark's been a good friend of mine i've been a friend of his since i was probably too young to be getting tattoos and he let me come in and film for a couple years right before that movie and he doesn't like let a lot of people in there to film um and mickey came in one day and mark's like oh you know jeremy's filming can you talk about ufos and mickey's like looking at me like you know what the [__] this guy somehow he ends up taking this stiletto
(01:45) and trying to like stick me in the ribs with it you know like just plain kind of joking but you got mickey rourke with a stiletto just getting a tattoo kind of jabbing you with a you know that so that kind of bonded us kind of he thought i was trying to stab you he was poking he was poking me yeah he was he was poking me in the ribs so um that was my introduction to mickey but he's got this voice that's like a [__] tibetan monk you know like gravely and i know because i had to take his audio and listen to it it's just it's so
(02:14) bizarre and i thought who better to do this like controversial story than the controversial mickey [__] worked talking poetry you know through the film so he was kind of that voice of our curiosity in the film so that's how i got him but basically i just sent an offer and he never responded so i went back to the tattoo shop randomly one day to see mark in walks mickey and i made a joke i was like oh you just like to poke me with stiletto but you don't take my movie offer seriously and he goes what offer and i'm (02:46) like i i want i need a narrator like in the next seven days i have to deliver the film and he goes i never got the offer the next [__] day he came in because i know mark was telling him oh no help the kid out you know he came in and he [__] recorded with me he saved my ass man otherwise they'd have to hear my voice in the movie because i didn't have anybody well your voice had been fine but it was cool to have his voice thank you i i love that [__] man people say his mouth sounds like he's got marbles in it but he's 11.
(03:14) that guy's lived a weird life you know yeah but you know he's i think people like that sometimes are misunderstood like i've seen this like incredible side of him in that he's like a gentle person you know is he fascinated with ufos he told me his ufo experience and he had a ufo he did he did and he let me record it with him and um i think like anybody he's interested in this topic i think once you see something that you can't explain it it gets worse you know you get a little more frustrated about (03:52) it because you know you want to learn what did i just see so i think he like most of us you know are interested in it yeah um well let's just get into it because there's been a lot going on lately there's uh obviously there's been a [__] ton of sightings and there's been a lot of discussion uh with high-level people about what these things are what they are what is what's the latest and greatest in ufo information right the the world in my opinion has really changed since we started talking about (04:28) this so our history is you know you asked me to come in with bob we did that okay the idea that there's craft that maybe our government has some and been reverse engineering them and then came in with fravor and we talked about his personal military encounter and then our history goes to then george knapp is here who's like the godfather of the history of this bam after that episode man things started really going crazy and and this is where our senate and senate intelligence committee and our congress and our senate was like (05:04) we want a preliminary report we now know that there were these ufo programs all sap in atip we want a report and remember that was like pending that was looming reports coming yeah so george and i made a little plan to poke the bear you know we're like what can we put out that is like good solid evidence that shows we need to talk about this so that's when we took the opportunity to make those drops right those drops were nine pieces of visual evidence that were filmed by our military so if people were watching along that time

(05:39) you'd see that in a series of a month i think we released images from an fa18 out the window where they're saying they're seeing these things every day photographs from an iphone i obtained and released video that was confirmed by the pentagon in a rare move the next day on some of these drops that these are real unidentifieds that they're being studied and they were filmed by our military they could have just denied it forever so we like poke the bear we drop them boom boom boom let's see let's see what the how are you
(06:10) dropping them on twitter you're dropping them on instagram like you're doing it everywhere how you doing just social media just start instagram twitter like that i just it it democratizes this idea of information flow i i don't know everything that i'm putting out i vetted and verified it but then to have the pentagon come in and confirm that now they did that because i made sure they had it the day few days before i dropped it so it's like there was record that i provided it to them got it so
(06:38) these people um know you because of your documentary and because of your uh appearances on the podcast and so these military guys with this information they reach out to you yeah so that's even before my even before my first documentary you know i was talking with fravor i got a tip i had been on this beat i've been trying to find out more so people would start to come to me and then after those relationships have obviously been public where people bring me stuff it's happening more and more and a lot of (07:09) more dis info come in my way as well people try to trick me all the time like what kind of stuff just give me fake documents give me fake photos hope i run with a fake story you know do you think it's just jerk offs just like i don't know why i said that word that would check her out had a hard time with it do you think it's just jerk offs or do you think it's uh like do you think it's do you ever think the government has given you misinformation i'm the least paranoid person that i know right really
(07:34) yeah i i i am literally i always think everything's okay my [__] dog can be dying and i'm like it's okay baby don't worry about it like i'm the least paranoid person so other people say [__] like that to me to me right you just got [__] that want to confuse the topic we do it to ourselves you know or people that just want attention for whatever reason or people no but it can be anonymous some of this takes up synonymous so you get this thing where it's like maybe someone just wants me to
(07:59) make a mist everybody would love for me to be wrong on [__] and make a misstep and then they can discount everything else i've ever released has ever anything ever sent you something were you like on the fence about were you like i don't know if this is legit or not you know i sit on stuff for years vetting it and having other people that yeah i've got tons of stuff videos for years really for years george goes crazy as a newsman as a newsman you want to put it out right now we can get it right
(08:21) now real quick and he's right but i like to see where the person's coming from i like to get to know them you know so i like to see what their motivation is whether the information is true or not i don't want to be used yeah so just to bring you kind of back up to date with you know we kind of went through the history of how we're talking about this and and and your thank you for giving attention to this topic and more and more people are coming it's my guilty as pleasure oh dude i think mine too
(08:46) you know this is not all that i do in life it's just what i love i know yeah it's the guiltiest player uh so so then you know big things have happened so so when george and i poked the [__] bear and we put out this footage and it was vetted i vetted it right now what it shows that's up to other experts i reported what i what i was exposed to in classified briefings that i shouldn't have seen and what i released is completely legal for me to to release it was unclassified but it was contained in a class by briefing now

(09:18) if somebody sends me [__] you know i open my email what what i can't we should probably tell people like what some of these videos are one of them was those classic those bizarre pyramid-shaped videos uh the video by angle of observation and in the classified um section it goes into depth that they were pyramids there's a lot of argument about that publicly like does it show an optical effect where it's it's not what it appears that's not it that's a different thing i can the pyramid ones were the ones that were in (09:49) the lower if you see that lower uh lower column right below there to the left the green right there that's it yeah so that's the ones that they were seeing well i there's good video and we should go through the pieces of footage but the one on the left is what they're seeing every damn day on the east coast um that one would be considered one that has a payload or could have a payload so most are spheres like with cubes in them that that is the strangeness of it most of them are cubes surrounded by a translucent sphere i've (10:21) heard of pyramids so most of them most of them that are on the east coast right now with increased frequency and also over war zones so right now people got went so [__] crazy when i said this and i know we're jumping around but over active war zones right now there is such an increased frequency of what they call uap or ufo that they have these rules whether or not they fire upon them and people got so mad at me for saying publicly on the news that we do fire at uap ufos because we [__] do but why we do is not what people think
(11:02) so when you have an active war zone specifically the area of the world that i'm talking about in the middle east anything within 27 to 30 miles of ground troops gets fired upon that's it but i was exposed to documents that tell me a little bit more precisely how you choose what to fire upon and what you fire upon is anything that appears that it could have a payload really yeah because it would be a threat what do they do with like the cubes surrounded by this these spheres [__] nothing because they don't look
(11:31) like they have a payload so they disregard they're not part of the mission so my point in saying that kind of on the news i don't need to prove to anybody it's true it is true i am i speak with people that are there right now it is true and there's been such an increased frequency since 2021 that it has been pushed up to kind of like critical where they're like okay these things are in our airspace we could have collisions but more importantly like we see other countries firing on these russia syria we know it's not their
(12:08) assets so the question is whose are these so when you say firing at these so hellfire missiles right so you have this thing and what shape are these ones that have payloads okay well that's that's what's crazy so i do i have images of one that we fired on and can you show us damage um i'll show you okay yeah somewhere right now i'll show you i'll show you but i think i think you can't show it publicly i don't know because it comes from because it comes from a document i probably (12:40) shouldn't have seen but you know people send things to me in ways that i can look at them so okay anyway let's talk about that later so okay it looks like this looks like a [__] jellyfish man a jellyfish yeah i don't know you know it's stiff but that you know about the size of like a big coffee table that's the one at least that we've that we've fired on recently big coffee like this desk maybe yeah about 10 to 12 feet and then it looks domed and then it has like and they're not all
(13:08) like this but this is the one we're talking about that i know was recently fired upon and what do they think it's made out of see that's the whole thing man like metallic that that's the whole thing there's no retrieval program that's known in these war zones so even if they did hit something like first of all would they be able to take it down whatever it is right and by the way we're eliminating that these are balloons you know drugs smugglers who use balloons and [__] like that (13:34) these are these are objects that uh have controlled flight so you know back in the day with the foo fighters this is not a new phenomenon right back in the day with the foo fighters people need to understand that it's not just a band the foo fighters oh yeah yeah yeah i know that uh so world war ii you know you had these both sides of the war you know all sides seeing these metallic spheres outpace in their planes and they're like oh [__] they're up to something they got some cool technology probably is we (14:05) found out both sides think it's you know the other sides right this has been happening for so long i have an article we can pull this up i got an article from 1960 talks about a cube with the with the loom of the sphere around it a fighter pilot military fire pilot for four days they were getting these it was in the alamogordo newspaper so i'm just saying that this is not new mexico yeah alamogordo yeah it's i think that's you know an interesting area yeah and so these foo fighters the these uh (14:40) was were both sides reporting the same sort of formations and the same speed we thought it was their technology right they thought it was ours what's happening right now in the middle east with the same thing yeah because we're seeing russians and syrians fire on these and we're sometimes firing on them but who's are they when you say we're seeing so is this like reports from soldiers that you're getting like where are you getting this information okay so people that work in these um

(15:09) people that work in collecting this data are a little bit frustrated and why you know that's why i want to become unnecessary why do they come to me right and i think they're they're frustrated that they don't that they don't have a way to put it up through the chain of command it gets lost in translation or they just suppress it they don't even spend i don't even thinks in the ferris they just don't spend the gas to go look at something that doesn't it's not part of the mission right there's no proactive
(15:36) ufo kind of like discovery process it's all kind of reactive that's one of the weirdest things about commander david fravor's account was that when he was talking about uh being uh in radio communication with the nimitz and they were saying we see these things every day and he was like what the [__] are you talking about you see this every day you see these tic-tac-shaped things that shoot off faster than you can see and that literally can go from above 50 000 feet above sea level that's right 80
(16:07) thousand feet above sea level to zero like that so hypersonic velocity without signature they call that right that means and it was who's the guy no sonic boom right was that that's the whole point moving faster than the speed of sound with no sonic boom no heat signature nothing does that no visible means of propulsion you got it man that's so this is the mystery this is the question like i don't care where ufos are from you know i don't care if it's extraterrestrial if it's extra temporal
(16:40) and we can go through so many ideas what's extra temporal so so here are the the prime theory is the extraterrestrial from another you know extra tempo from another time and you could say extra temporal extra dimensional it's the same thing if you had to put your money on it oh [__] i ain't putting money on this no [__] whack couple bucks okay well that changes just for fun just for fun two bucks i think i'm getting mixed message what do you think what do you think i would bet interdimensional
(17:09) that's what i think i think there's something about the whole feeling of it that seems so weird it's almost like alternative timelines the whole feeling of it feels so weird it's also the problem is it's all that is so exciting and so interesting that you get lost in the excitement and it's very difficult to get uh an objective mindset to achieve an objective mindset it's very hard for me to be objective because i love it so much but i think i mean look we got a ufo there we got a [__] alien
(17:43) we got shooting stars it's like it's so obsessed with it but i have this bizarre feeling that the more we're we understand about reality the more we're going to realize that these um these physicists these string theorists that create these models of the universe based on multiple dimensions that we can't access i mean there's i think they think there's 11 dimensions right i don't have any idea i can barely see this one the 26.
(18:16) there's 11 like agreed upon but there's i've read that it goes up to there could be up to 26. i don't even know what that means right what does that mean i have no idea right does that mean that there are existences inside these dimensions like other universes and worlds they just exist in a different dimension and is that what it means i mean this is like some doctor strange type [__] i mean is there are there you know the thought of alternative timelines that there's consistently different timelines that are happening simultaneously like an infinite number (18:45) of them and that you accessed all of them depending upon your choices and how you live your life and what you do and that they we we think of this as being like a static state of existence but it's actually not that we float back and forth between all these different potential timelines and existences i i see those things the way they travel and the way they move and i wonder like if there were

inter-dimensional travelers that had access to technology that just violated all of our understanding of how he could travel that's kind of what it (19:18) would look like and now you know that there's evidence to support that and there's evidence to support the extraterrestrial thing yeah and there's also evidence to support that they're showing us whatever we they want us to see right so this idea that you could pop in to our timeline that is consistent with what we see with these things in that they seem to it's like there's a bubble around an area and they seem to kind of come in some people can see it some people can't sometimes it's on radar sometimes it's (19:49) not sometimes you can see it in thermal but you can't see it in the ir a lot of military guys see that when they track these things on radar can't see it visually but it's [__] there so this idea there's consistency with the idea that they kind of pop into place right there there's also data that would suggest that these are extraterrestrial in that our satellites pick these up now head of uh i don't remember what john ratcliffe he was the deputy director of defense i think he talked about that he mentioned that (20:23) so all these admissions from people now we're catching these on satellites we're catching these um so that space in our in in our airspace and then under sea as well a uso or whatever so when you say they're catching them under seas optically or through our sensor systems under sea we're able to track them and sonar is there any video of a thing nothing in public yet that i know of but i am hyper aware of footage sonar based evidence under sea if you noticed in the congressional hearings on ufos first time in 50 [__] years by (20:58) the way um when they brought that up the undersea thing they said close close session couldn't say it fast enough like we're not going to talk about that public session really yeah because we have great [__] sensors under the ocean so defense sensors you think that there's something that can what is it called a trans medium device that's right trans medium man we talked about that years ago yep and so this is something that could fly through space and it also can go through the ocean all domain so if this thing is manipulating
(21:31) like what the what what bob lazar described was something that essentially bent space and time around it and moved in that what manner instead of being pushed by a force like a rocket this thing or roller skates yeah this thing is grabbing a hold of space and time and pulling itself towards whatever destination it wants to go to yeah and that was the thing that really flipped my script is the idea of like when i heard him say that when i was a kid instead of pushing to get somewhere because look the argument has been
(22:04) of course there's life out in the universe look at the [__] web you know photograph of course there's there's got to be life homogeneously out there but they're never coming here that was the einsteinian thought right we can't travel faster than the speed of light right okay well that's like saying you know okay well i got a horse but can you imagine you know one of elon's rockets maybe you can't imagine that right but this idea that you could fall in time and space distance becomes irrelevant
(22:35) medium becomes irrelevant that's where the trans medium craft they believe the people researching this within our government believe that these craft are gravity propelled that's why there's the new programs called all domain because it's space air and sea and in the congressional language for the ufo whistleblower stuff that's going on where people can come forward it's going to be sent into law they've already written it the language is amazing people are going to be able to come forward and talk about how they worked
(23:05) on legacy ufo programs like reverse engineering programs like so when you say people are going to be able to meaning the government is going to drop the restrictions that people were former employees i feel like i'm doing a horrible job of getting people up to date with what's happening in the ufo because so much has happened it's like overwhelming but yes so what's happened is if we follow the steps all of a sudden george and i we release all this content you know people go kind of crazy over it
(23:31) then um they put out this preliminary report and say we had 143 cases and we solved you know one of them and these are like military cases where there's like extraordinary movements with these craft then all of a sudden congress is like well [__] you know we had awe sap we had a tip who's studying this let's get a hold of it and they got real interested so they started saying hey you we need to start a program then then the department of defense came up with some crazy ass acronym names that nobody

(23:58) could ever make out aim song and [__] like that and congress got even more pissed i is the way i i read it i mean i know some of the people involved and their minds have been blown by what they've seen in these classified briefings it changed their whole way of thought and they realized that there are programs being hidden illegal programs being hidden from congressional oversight related to ufos so their language now it wasn't created in a void when you read in the national defense authorization act for 2023
(24:32) uap it is ufo whistleblower language if you've ever signed an nda relating to one of these illegal programs without oversight dealing with ufos not only can you come forward but they have changed it so that if there's any reprisal on you for coming forward like let's say you work at lockheed and you've been tinkering with some [__] ufo and there's any reprisal on you you have ways to uh like defend yourself like they took away the cap of three hundred thousand dollars of what you know has to be awarded to you if there's (25:05) reprisal holy [__] all of a sudden and i i know why because i know some of the people involved in this they're they're gonna let people they're demanding that if you have this information you can ignore your ndas and i know people let's let's get into this so what is happening here so is it congress does not have access to the information because the pentagon has deals with these military contractors and they don't want to release the information to congress like why why is there this dispute
(25:40) of information do they not have access to information that they want to have access to for sure so that's why they're calling upon these people that have ndas to come forward that they'll protect them i think it's a perfect storm and i'm just gonna this is just you know i'm not part of congress and [__] so i'm gonna make an assumption from people i've talked with right i think what's happening here is the world has kind of become aware that ufos are not fantasy that there is a technological aspect
(26:16) and that they fly with their within our skies with impunity and i think that this was stigmatized before and i think we're talking about it now and i think having that conversation has really made people say hey i want to [__] find out if it's true and then when you read classified briefings and you see the data even the preliminary [__] i think it changes your world view so so what's happening is let's say let's say lockheed because senator harry reid has said in his interviews with george publicly
(26:45) i heard for decades that they had you know uh craft and lockheed and he goes i asked senator harry reid i asked to get in there and to see it and he goes they wouldn't give me the clearance uh so he just straight said it they wouldn't give him the clearance so that was that kind of thing infuriates people right now imagine this imagine that you get uh people take action against you for talking about this stuff like luella zondo you know people you know lose a straight guy straight forward you know i've gotten to (27:15) know him there were actions taken against him you know kind of like what lazar said happened to him right but this is like much more like public they're saying he never worked in these programs harry reid had to go defend him in a letter right there's other people you don't that are not public that also have had their careers try to be squashed because they're poking around on this stuff too much right they have gone internally to say this has happened to me here's what i discovered these are the programs
(27:46) and then what's what's occurred is the investigatory branches that are looking into this they're like holy [__] this is real and we don't have oversight and they've it's been proven to them so when you say the data when they look at the data like what's the most compelling data yeah i always want that question answered too you mean for me or well for you first and then what do you think about for like the people that are questioning this it's so hard to live in a world now where you
(28:17) you have to question everybody and everything because for me the most compelling evidence it's not one video i can show you it's not two videos i can show it's not documents i can show you it's not the conversations i have with people the world is creaking under the stress and the weight of the ufo reality it's just omnipresent now we're no longer just ignoring it and our sensors have gotten better and the frequency has increased so you've got pilots like ryan graves who's saying we were seeing these things
(28:50) every day who was ryan gray ryan graves is an amazing pilot uh like fravor but his was in 2015 so the gimbal video where it shows the saucer type craft those were that was his squadron and they'd go out and they'd see these things every day and he was a flight safety guy right so he was like looking at this thinking this is an issue if they almost hit one once one of these cubes that with a translucent spear so so this is a safety of flight issue for a lot of people right i think it's from a national defense (29:28) standpoint it's [__] important right sure okay so so we've got these we've got these hearings now these public hearings and ufos right this is the first time in 50 years that we've had public hearings people fought for that they wanted the public to hear about it they weren't getting testimony from like fraver and all them although they should that's the next step they need to have people with direct experiences come up and let them talk let them tell what their realities were get rid of these ndas for them yeah

(29:55) but in that hearing the closer we get george keeps saying this and i just keep saying he's like a pessimist but he's right this is all fun and games until we get close to it like any of the real stuff any of the goodies if if we have craft and we've had it for a long time and we've been working on them trying to reverse engineer them if that is true the closer the public gets to that the harder the resistance and we saw that because these ufo hearings man they showed one piece of the footage that i released for like the whole
(30:28) hearing they're showing this one piece it's the most inconsequential piece it was from the uss russell it's the green one that triangle by angle of observation thing that's the ones that's easiest to kind of dismiss visually what they didn't show is i released from the uss omaha radar thermal deck footage i mean just it's like cumulative evidence congress and senate were asking what's up with ufos and they got swamp gassed like j allen heineck like just trying to put it under the rug they go oh we're
(31:00) pretty sure these were drones that was never the argument it's not if these were drones in 2019 swarming our navy ships you know who was inside of one they weren't big enough to hold people it's not that they were drones it was like some big revelation here's the question who were operating these units how come we don't know that right off of the coast of california 10 of our navy ships were simultaneously swarmed by unknowns unidentified they couldn't figure out the launch they couldn't figure out the landing point
(31:34) they don't know who was operating these and how far offshore were they i mean with 100 mile radius because all the ships that were in this area were experiencing most of them simultaneously what they call swarming but the thing is is that i know for sure we don't know yet whose these were how is that possible modern day i don't know where these are from i'm not even claiming that and did these experience or did they they exhibit rather any extraordinary capabilities depends who you ask so so the answer to (32:02) that is when i get people and i i actively hunt for direct eyewitnesses for all this so i spoke with people who are you say operating the spy one radar system the same one in the favor case this great system right i also spoke with people who had visual on these things some people say that they show one of what they call the five observables that means you know this goes into the ufo category which is instantaneous movement right boom straight up into space was the exact words said to me i've got people on the other end of the (32:36) spectrum where they just saw lights so no in this case it's not like flavors i don't have we don't have footage of it yeah do they have data in terms of radar data of speed and yeah they they do they and that's what i tried to kind of tell the public by releasing one slide that said that they believed it that these craft were trans medium because the video i released the black and white one from the uss omaha you can see it kind of phase out or drop into the water they thought it was trans medium they thought it went into the (33:09) water they sent a submarine right to try to look for it or wreckage so i don't know with this case man i never hang my hat on one ufo case what's interesting to me is the people involved they feel like they failed at their duties they didn't know precisely what to do in this situation because right off our coast the thing is is this is happening everywhere man do they have a protocol for what to do in those situations like if you do encounter a uap or a ufo or whatever you want to call it and they think it might be from (33:40) an alien planet or whatever the [__] they think it's from do they do they have a protocol do you mean like the pilots yeah i mean is there like a military thing is there if you see a ufo is there something you're supposed to do now you can and are encouraged to report it but before it was so stigmatized and people that are you know ground level on this say there's still crazy stigma but you are now being encouraged to report it and these reports have to in a short amount of time go up the chain of (34:07) command so i think we're getting better reporting now i think because it's a safety of flight issue but at that time in 2019 when these ships were swarmed yeah that's the uss omaha yeah that goes into the water yes that they believe that it it ends up going into the water that's what the documents said and the documents i was exposed to that i read made it made an argument for that made a case for that so it looks like now that it's hovering boy is a shitty footage well see i want my money back navy i

(34:40) know i know spend your goddamn camera money on but do you understand that this is why i could release it is because this is an unclassified um platform that's being filmed otherwise that would not be cool with me to release it so there it looks like it just went into the water right and so the thing is is that there were many that were doing this like the guy one of the people that was you know involved with these ships fighting the ships i was like dude where did they where do they come from because you got (35:07) great radars and you you have all the data and he goes i'm going to really regret saying this but they just seem to appear which is so hard for someone who's like their job is to you know deal with the ship so but if something is traveling the way they describe that tic tac to travel it would be like it just appeared yes or if it was transmedium then they go but you know the scan volume of the radar it's we got different sensors underwater than we do above so like this the spy one is good for high altitude there's other radars that
(35:40) are good for middle and then underwater so look it's it's anybody's guess my whole thing is this ufos whatever they're whatever they are they're machines yeah that's at least an aspect of it where who's controlling them right you know it like we should be able to answer some fundamental questions and [__] if we have one or more and we've been reverse engineering and we're trying which which i'm confident we have been beyond confident because of what you have spoken to bob about no not not just (36:20) bob man my everything you know all the people that come to me that i talk with reports i've seen just you know i know it annoys the [__] out of people just my cumulative my cumulative personal experience tells me oh yeah we like we [__] definitely have them not just bob so where do you think they got these ufos from yeah if we do have something and we've been working on back engineering it where do you think they got them from yeah i get different answers man from different people um so you say crap like summer crashes right
(36:48) which is like hard to fathom that something that advanced could crash um but that's what i'm told you know is that some were crashes this would you know that's how i understand it to be now other people think maybe there was some from an archaeological dig that's what bob said i was surprised he talked about that yeah he said that there was one that they had spoken about at s4 that they said that they had recovered from an archaeological dig and they said it was a long time ago and it's really
(37:18) old i think people need to not feel like they have to believe one thing to believe the whole thing i think there's a cumulative weight here and i think that we're we're prying open the doors if you read this language in congress and senate about the ufo immunity our world is about to change if we stick to our guns if we push to get these answers we're going to find out one way or the other is this just some right we're moving around a little bit here though let's go back to the uh these (37:53) crafts that they're back engineering like how are they getting these yeah and why do you think that they have them okay well i'm my experience tells me that they're getting them from what you'd call crashes like down crashes so all of them so none of them none of them like were a gift that's the other kind of i'd say theory as some people that are involved in in processing this information are like it couldn't have crashed man it was perfect it was like they must have left it for us
(38:28) some people believe that but how do we know i mean it sounds so hokey it does both things sound hokey the crash sounds hokey the whole [__] thing is extraordinarily bizarre it doesn't mean it's not true though right that's the other thing that bob said that i thought was really fascinating was that there was some documentation that they were showing him that claimed that we are the product of accelerated evolution he was shown a lot of [__] and he doesn't like talking about it because he doesn't know

(38:56) if it's just total [__] nonsense right you know he is sure that they showed him [__] just to see if he'd [__] say crazy [__] right see if you talk all he all he cares about is the is what he saw what he knows is real but if if you do just talk with them privately they did show him you know a photograph of an autopsy of a being with a singular organ they told him that yeah the human genome had been altered you know just all sorts of crazy [__] and he just has no idea if it's true or if it's (39:33) god the whole thing is so it's so wild i just wish you know if bob's lying my god what a great liar he's amazing at it right and he's been telling the same lie for 30 plus years and then there's elements of it that how would he know that like how would he know about element 115 i mean element 115 when he was talking about it was theoretical yeah he got lucky he's a lucky he's the luckiest guy enough he always chooses [__] that ends up being [__] right i know you know gravity waves and like
(40:06) you know how these crap like look man explain the one element 115 to people because people who don't know what we're talking about that haven't seen the documentary or haven't seen the podcast we did together so so the way bob understood it was that there's he was working on power and propulsion right so of one of these we call them flying saucers you know [__] alien vehicle that looked like this one exactly from this one exactly yeah and um you know even like aerospace people are like well
(40:37) if you know it's the most ingenious thing is the way he described it powered you know people are impressed by i'm like maybe that's just what he saw but anyway so the 115 was the power source he said and basically you know you put it in and it it releases anti-matter and creates a gravity propulsion a gravity a gravitational field and then you had directional three directional emitters look that's how they think these things operate traveling faster than the speed of sound with no sonic boom all you know
(41:09) trans medium all domain these things seem to defy typical propulsion it's not outside of the realm of what we understand it's outside of the realm of what we can replicate now one day we might catch up and this element 115 that bob talked about powering this spaceship was only theoretical back in the late 1980s when he first started discussing it right we hadn't synthesized it yet right well it wasn't a synthesizing it was uh it was created by a particle accelerator right exactly so it really it was detected
(41:42) right because it was i think it was but we smashed right so we kind of sent something that we smashed particles together and then we're like oh for like a second there it was yeah i think it's a fraction yeah and bob always said that if he's right if it was 115 that's how he understood it to be if he's right then we will someday you know be able to make a nominal amount of it that will be stable that that's you know what he says you got another one of those yeah you want one yeah here we go thanks man nice
(42:13) yeah the whole thing is just so interesting man it never ends yeah it never ends it is interesting i just like until something actually happens and my thought is like when something actually happens how will people handle it ufo whistleblower could get immunity under new amendments so this is what you were talking about yeah yeah yeah yeah absolutely and i mean the the thing is i i know some of the people doing this and they're like you know they want some nominations man you know who should talk to him well you got your own [__] logo
(42:48) thanks brother yeah these are uh foundation cigar jre cigars they're good shout out to my friend nick from foundation cigars too hooked me up with that cabinet got a full humidor up in this [__] now wow thank you um so uh so this element 115 yeah this is uh proven by a particle accelerator and bob lazar's claim was that they had a stable um amount of this element 115 that had come from this other place and did they know where this other place was where this element 115 supposedly had come from what another planet yeah i mean again
(43:34) this is like what he was told so he's kind of allergic to but um you know he said that the documents said zeta reticuli like you know uh i guess a binary star system or something that's what we're in the documents now if that's true or not look remember he thought it was the u.s he thought this vehicle was ours right and then he until he walked inside of it that's his whole thing it blew him away you know it's hard to buy what someone like bob is telling you if you don't know the person you see people in their (44:09) lives man like imagine being him and that actually happening to you and then you having to go back to reality right and tell people or not tell people just live

your life and have the burden of this information the burden of this thought just uh turn upside down the other way there you go flip the top i gotta flip the top there you go and then pull down i mean the burden of that kind of information when even discussing it you seem like such a psycho you know yeah most people almost instantaneously other than a real journalist like george (44:51) knapp most people are going to think you're out of your [__] mind yeah they just dismiss you yeah why would you why would you even do it like what would be your motivation what would you get out of that well his motivation was he was seriously worried that they were going to take him out yeah because he knew so much and uh they had cut off of his for folks who don't know the whole story just give you a brief synopsis what happened was bob allegedly was working on back engineering these aircrafts these vehicles these (45:26) spaceships and uh in doing so you have to have a very high level of clearance well with that high level of clearance comes complete government surveillance so they monitor your phone calls monitor everything turns out bob's wife is having an affair so they don't tell bob that his wife's having an affair but they cut off his job like you're too you did too much of a potential to be emotionally unstable we can't have you working on these top secret super sensitive things yeah it's local yeah well your life is probably (45:57) gonna find out some bad [__] yeah so he doesn't know this and so he's they don't give him any information so he freaks out and so he starts telling his friends he's like come with me i'll show you the launch i'm not lying people forget that yes he he went out and he showed people a craft that didn't look like any normal craft come up right when he said it would yeah over a base it wasn't even known then really well and a sub base an area not area 51 proper again he's the (46:26) luckiest [__] in the world he did it three weekends in a row till he got caught right so it's just like man every time you try to call [__] on him i tried so hard on so many things people think i'm just some [__] believer i'm not bro the only thing that people have ever called [__] on him is that he said he might have seen an actual alien but he said he was walking down a hallway and looked through one of those little tiny windows that's in a door you know those little tiny like 12-inch
(46:54) square windows and he peered in it quickly as he was walking by and it seemed like there was a small thing that was sitting on a chair and there's people standing over it but he doesn't know if it was a doll he doesn't know if it was and so in his mind he's like [__] did i see an alien like what the [__] but he can't go back it's not like everything's if you work on top secret stuff apparently everything's very compartmentalized like the people that work on metallurgy don't have access to (47:22) the people that work on propulsion that don't have access to the people that if there is a biological entity that they examine it which frustrated the [__] at him right because that's not how you do science it's not how you do science right he says i wasn't the most qualified person to be there maybe they hired me because they could easily dismiss me you know he's like why didn't we have better people on this you know people that were more so he was really frustrated and he said to me like he thought it was a crime
(47:50) against the scientific community you know to if they have this stuff like he says you know he says it was a crime and you know he he talks about that thing through the window he's so funny about it you know i sat him down for long you know many sessions long really trying to get at him get it out of him yeah he goes you know jeremy i think they were just obsessed with measurements i go what do you mean and he and he's like well look there was somebody in something in a chair but it was small maybe they were trying to just measure
(48:18) it to see if it would fit in a craft so that's how he kind of gets around like did he see something or not he doesn't know like it could have been a doll that they destructed that was roughly the same height as these things were he just doesn't want to go there right and so these creatures that were in this vehicle if there were were creatures in this vehicle there were three seats yeah and he estimated they had to be how big your typical like what you think of as a little grey alien man three four feet right he said they look (48:47) like they were made for children the seeds yeah and so look and every time i try to be like dismissed by myself there's something that creeps in my mind i'm like hold on hold on like i find out that he was telling the truth like recently had it verified that you know he did work at air 51 like i know i know i had a guy i found the guy after 30 years that when he wouldn't talk with george the guy that did a security clearance i found him i talked to him multiple times about this and he did clearance (49:15) for bob for the test site but even more recently from people that have positioned to access that information it was confirmed i just want you to know he worked out there now i have people that were out there that saw him on a janet flight bob worked out there and a janet flight is those on unmarked planes that would leave from the uh vegas airport and head into area 51.

(49:43) that's right and and uh you know here's the deal man like it's the cumulative evidence about bob that i you know as a friend of his like i you know i have no reason to doubt him and all the evidence tells me that it happened exactly like he said and he's explaining it to the best of his ability and to his own detriment actually before coming on your show man he's probably the most hated dude for some reason people go crazy about him they either love him or hate him i think your documentary turned a lot of people's (50:11) opinions about him as well thank you but then having him on i mean some people still call [__] they think like his migraines that's so convenient oh come on you saw yeah but he was having him he was having him in the green room before we started going on he was very nervous about doing it of course man he'd been beat up his whole life about this [__] also i gave him mcdonald's before i think his wife was super pissed at me and i was like with salad no he gets really like crushing migraines but you know people
(50:34) that are gonna call [__] on that we're talking about [__] ufos if you're gonna call [__] on a migraine what are you even listening for i i i didn't feel like it was [__] it was it felt like the whole thing was it was uncomfortable for him for sure but it didn't seem like he was lying but you know look some people that are really good at liars but usually when you're really good at lying you'll lie about a lot of stuff yeah that's the thing there's a consistency in people's lives
(50:59) and the deeper i got in chilling with his mom chilling with his family chilling with friends that have known him forever new friends every single person and he doesn't talk about ufos by the way like all this he never talks about that just normal life situations the the one thing they all said to me bob wouldn't waste his [__] time with making up a story and he'd probably make up a better one that in the rest he would and bob always says that he goes man i wish i could fill the voids for people he goes it's a horrible [__]
(51:28) story but it happens to be what happened right if i was making one up he goes man i got some other cool ideas like you know what i mean right of course of course and also it's like if you're a liar you generally lie a lot like liar liars don't just lie one time and then you catch them they're inconsistent like he was lying long before there was an internet i mean excuse me he was telling the story long before the there was an internet so if he was lying like in the late 80s like there there would be inconsistencies in (51:59) his story yeah he would forget how he said it he would [__] something up or dude the research i did for this for the documentary like i i told him you got to give me full access to your life dude like boxes whatever don't open them let me get all your tapes everything i was so shocked like people if they're trying to hide something they're real careful around you you know just that's not that was not my experience but here's my other thing is like do we have to believe any one single person
(52:29) to understand that this is no yeah this is a real no but he's one of the more interesting cases because if he's telling the truth that means that the government has been working on these things for decades and decades and that they have gotten this they've gotten themselves in this pickle where they can't publicly disclose what they know and what they have access to because they've had all these people work on these things secretly and they sort of have a long history of hiding information right now think about
(53:04) this right like i've been down this path myself mentally i happen to know that there was i happened to trust that there was a reverse engineering project separate from lazar and everything he told us right there's a separate thing from a russian ufo crash that dealt with laser weaponry there was a derivative exploitation project on the laser as a weapon i know somebody that worked in that program i i feel it to be a true story imagine the derivative technologies that you could get from something like highly (53:41) advanced just working on it you're not going to be able to make a ufo because the material science we haven't caught up yet how to perfectly layer atoms to make the like the metallurgy yeah yeah we will one day have that ability but our material science is what i think holds us up from like making a craft right but what can we learn from one of these pieces of technology and my understanding is a [__] [__] ton of derivative technologies have come from looking at these advanced materials that was always the assertion that was (54:14) the the thing that the american computer company do you remember them i've heard a lot of stories that they yeah they've leaked things to private industry i mean [__] i would do that this is beautiful landing is fact not fantasy the russians insist this is the 19th 1989 the new york times wow read the beginning of this i like jamie it's that this is weird it's not a joke nor a hoax nor a sign of mental instability nor an attempt to drum up local tourism by drawing the curious the soviet press

(54:42) agency tas insisted today in discussions of what it called an extraterrestrial visit to southern russia residents of the city of how do you say how do you say it i don't you did good varonis i don't know it's v-o-r-o-n-e-z-h good luck with that insisted today that lanky three-eyed extraterrestrial creatures had indeed landed in a local park and gone for a stroll and that a seemingly fantastic report about the event carried monday by the official press agency task was absolutely true it was not an optical illusion
(55:22) uh said lieutenant sergey a mattv of the verona however you say that district police station who said in a telephone interview that he saw the landing of the ufo on september 27th lieutenant matt villev confessed that he had not actually seen the aliens but that he saw the spaceship and there was certainly a body flying in the sky moving noiselessly at a very high speed and a very low altitude he said anything is possible to be honest lieutenant matt viev said he was a little skeptical himself when he first saw the object i
(55:59) thought it might be i must be really tired but i rubbed my eyes and it didn't go away and then i figured in this day and age anything is possible isn't that funny 1989 in this day and age using using the sensational tone that has lately infected the once stayed task the press agency today provided more details of the ufo landing in voron a city of some 300 miles southeast of moscow yeah i mean it stands to reason that we know that these there are machines right we know they can do things that we're un incapable of creating (56:36) right now like there's got to be somebody controlling them with this look at this statement three-eyed creature about nine feet tall and fashionably dressed and silvery overalls and bronze boots with a disc on its chest disappeared then landed and came out for a promenade with a companion and a robot the aliens seemed to communicate with each other producing the mysterious appearance of a shiny triangle and activated the robot with a touch huh it's not it's so hard you know you're dealing with like people i saw this like
(57:16) yeah i deal with a i do a lot of the human aspect of this you know like talking to people about it you actually said something one time it really struck me about this i was i called or we were talking on the phone and i was frustrated and i said i can't wrap my head around if this is true why there's so much contact why there's so many types of crafts like we could go map the moon you know with like one satellite in like two weeks if we decided to do it and you said to me maybe it's [__] easy to get here
(57:49) you said that to me and it made me think if maybe it is just easy to get here whatever these things are maybe they're not from far away well or maybe it doesn't matter if they're far away because their ability to transcend space right is very different than what we understand like if you talked to someone from the 1400s and said you know oh uh i live in california but i want to visit italy they'd be like yeah right how [__] you gonna visit italy yeah you're gonna get a boat for a month like what are you
(58:20) gonna do how much food you have you're gonna get scurvy right like what are you doing but today you're like oh yeah of course you are you're like i'm gonna go to hawaii of course you are you don't have to worry about rowing out there for four months no you're just gonna go you're gonna fly me and the family we're gonna go to maui it's gonna be great it's like our version of travel is so radically different that people that lived 500 years ago a thousand years ago what is it like a thousand years from (58:45) now well it might be radically different to the point where you're you can just visit extraterrestrial planets maybe maybe it would be as simple as just the the tourism might i make that joke they like our top hats kimonos and cupcakes they just [__] like coming here we're really cool to watch you know maybe maybe it could be that it's a part of scientific inquiry it could be their gardeners they're coming back to see how their crops are growing right or maybe it's a combination if it's easy for one (59:12) group maybe it's easy for a lot yeah i mean the the ultra terrestrial hypothesis right just in the in the journal of like cosmology or i don't know i'm going to [__] that up hal put off he lives out here in austin he just published a paper a peer-reviewed paper i think about the idea that maybe they're from here from here how so like as if i've heard that name before how do i do so many things like he was back in the day working for the stanford research institute studying remote viewing and like this guy's always been (59:46) kind of um cutting edge well you say well you know what that's kind of the funnest [__] right like um you get paid to to study consciousness yeah i'll do it you know so but you know he's had access to a lot of information because of that so it's one of the people when he when he speaks i listen right what does he have to say about it he wrote this paper and it well he wrote a long time ago and kind of worked on it guess but it was published yesterday in a scientific journal and it proposes this idea of the ultra-terrestrial so

(1:00:17) like something that's been here a long time maybe like aliens got here and got stuck or a civilization that was so advanced and there was some world catastrophe so it hit itself and now just kind of lives here with us and maybe they have investment that we don't [__] up the planet that we don't blow ourselves up you know maybe that's maybe they have some investment other than your crop theory you know the idea that we're just a commodity well i don't think we're necessarily a commodity but
(1:00:44) i think i don't think we would have a problem with going to a planet and planting life like imagine if we've we've found a planet and it's like earth of three billion years ago right there's like some plant life and some fungus but there's no animal life no marine life and we just planted life there and monitored it and watched it grow and evolve and maybe they have an understanding of there's a process maybe there's a process that like i said process not processing yeah i kind of
(1:01:18) like that right like i'm super fancy man um maybe there's some sort of process where they understand that all life takes a very specific path and that that is a path of increasing complexity right if you and that is if you want to really simplify life on earth you would go back to the earliest form of life which is single-celled organisms right well why did single-celled organisms become multi-celled organisms because they're they're complexifying they're becoming more complex and then they ultimately (1:01:49) become uh hominids that create tools and they ultimately lead to the industrial age and they ultimately lead to the technological age that we find ourselves in right now these the the the thing that they have that's clear is it's constantly a path of ever increasing complexity now um when you look at the work of graham hancock and randall carlson and dr robert shock and all the people that have studied ancient civilizations and the possibility that there's been a reset along the way it seems that perhaps
(1:02:25) there's been some periods of great growth and then some sort of cataclysmic disasters you know asteroid impacts and the like that has sent civilization back down and then it rebuilds back up again but it always rebuilds back up again it always seems to be on the path of ever increasing complexity and constant innovation at least amongst the most sophisticated of creatures which we like to think of ourselves as maybe that is just a a course in in the universe for life maybe all life follows that course and we're
(1:03:00) and we're biologically developing too i mean we're evolving you know every so you wanna have something [__] crazy yes okay this morning i was talking with a guy named gary nolan do you know have you ever heard his name i have yeah so he you know stanford professor he's you know been working for 10 years studying mris of the brains of people like pilots who have had close encounters and what they found over this 10-year study there was a cia study but he just openly talks about it now it's all out
(1:03:29) in the open which is cool there was damage like i've seen the the images some of them there's damage to the brain when people get close proximity to one of these power sources like when they get close to damage yeah [__] white matter damage to their brains from having close proximity to a ufo or uap like when you say close are you talking like commander david fravor close um or people on the ground there was some ground stuff uh yeah close like there's an encounter where it's like let's just say you could throw

(1:04:04) a rock at it how about that right did just commander fravor go through these examinations you'd have to ask commander favor that so basically this study found conclusively that there is damage that occurred not intentionally but it's like radiation type damage can i propose something sure maybe these people that have been examined maybe the damage is what caused them to see these things in the first place okay let me let me now now we're going to get real [__] weird because check out what they discovered
(1:04:35) they discovered in doing these studies on damaged brains that there is a part of the brain that in a lot of these ufo encounter people their neural density in that area of brain is like one in a hundred and they've found out through this study that that part of the brain that it deals with intuition impulse decision making so your intuition you know like hunters right they need like really good intuition to have so the impulse just knowing when to do something they've studied it in uh like i guess he said like a japanese form of chess i
(1:05:11) don't know the game go i don't know that's chinese i don't know maybe it was some they studied it that there's neurodensity in this area when people make these intuitive moves in a form of chess okay they found out that these people are way more likely to have a ufo encounter so it's the opposite of what you said the damage was caused by the close proximity to the propulsion system but what they found out is that these neural density area i forget the name of the brain the part they called the brain within the brain
(1:05:41) you could probably look it up it's just now even weirder than that i think gary should tell you this but even weirder than that they found that couples are partnering who have these neural dense areas like more than would be random so they're attracted to each other yeah man well that makes sense though if they're just intelligent sure like a smart person yeah okay i don't know exactly what what it does but that correlation is so interesting so gary was saying this morning cool breakfast conversation that he thinks
(1:06:14) having that neurodense area about intuition allows them to see something that's there that other people's minds would just make them ignore hmm that's his theory hmm well what's interesting i'm reading an interview with him about this and as he's saying everything i'm kind of reading along uh they get to this part where this the brain scans are looked very similar to people that had the havana syndrome and so yeah comparing people to that and then he said he got locked out of the files because
(1:06:47) it's now a serious incident and something yeah he said there was a lot of crossover where people that were because it's an intelligence community thing and military thing and he he said he saw a lot of patients let's read this because this is pretty fascinating it said there's the question asked him uh did the people who claimed they'd had an encounter especially the pilots described any perceivable decrease in neurological capacity said of the 100 or so patients that we looked into about a quarter of them died
(1:07:15) from their injuries the majority of these patients had symptomology that's basically identical to what's now called havana syndrome we think amongst the bucket list of cases we had the first havana syndrome patients once this turned into a national security problem with havana syndrome i was locked out of the access to the files because it's now a serious potential international incident if they ever figure out who's been doing it that still left individuals who had seen uaps they didn't have evans syndrome
(1:07:47) they had a smorgasbord of other symptoms and said the next question is how does the impact of electromagnetic frequencies factor into your hypothesis of what exactly transpired here one of the patients it happened on skinwalker ranch given how deep into their brain damage excuse me given how deep into their brain the damage went we can actually estimate the amount of energy required in the electromagnetic wave somewhat aimed at them we don't think that has anything to do with uaps we think that that's
(1:08:20) some sort of state actor and again related to havana syndrome somehow so havana syndrome was dismissed initially right and then they're recognizing that no something is really going on and it might be some sort of microwave or targeted attack on people that they're experimenting on some new ability to disable people yeah it's all department of defense people yeah so i mean it's obvi it's obvious something is they don't know well at least if they do know it's not public yeah right i i have no i
(1:08:54) have no information i have no idea it's just it's one of those crazy things so what they do like what we do know about ufos the one [__] thing we know

for sure about ufos is that they're high energy in a small amount of space this is classically it's been documented the radiation effects of these when they're around so the the injuries people get you know you've heard like the sun burns on one side of their face and [__] the radiation the hair falling so that's like from close encounters of the third
(1:09:27) kind that's like that's life but that is they've actually really had that sunburn that's how they mate that's how they made the movie so interesting was that they took all the cases that the trace cases the physical cases that [__] happens to people and sometimes when they have close proximity to your ufo they get [__] up right it's unintentional is what people think it's like the propulsion system itself or something well travis walker yeah yeah travis walton rather that was his story that they brought him aboard
(1:09:57) the the ufo to repair him yeah i wonder if that's the way he likes to look at it or if that's what happened i don't know wonder did they ever do a study on his brain i don't know they should right i mean if if that guy's telling the truth if any or maybe it would be repaired because they took him aboard the craft and supposedly did some medical procedure to him i mean look we should we should study this stuff that's i think that's the big takeaway of this moment in our history because
(1:10:25) we're repeating history the ufos have had this huge wave before and congress was interested 50 years ago multinations were studying it openly now we're back at this point where i feel like there's an opportunity just to be open we should study this scientifically man the the problem is i feel like even though there's people that have sightings and even though there's some kind of metallurgy evidence there's so little stuff it's not like if i want to study sea turtles i can go find the sea turtles and go study them
(1:11:04) this is too it's too it's too hard to grasp there's not there's nothing there you know what i'm saying yeah you can't replicate it upon demand which is what science requires right there are some cool thoughts on how to do that uh there have been attempts to lure in ufos with nuclear weapons really yes there have been attempts to like fake that we're going to use bait them bait them really yes how do you know this we'll talk about how i know that later but you know uh it is you can't say how
(1:11:44) you know it no i it's not you know some of the people i talk with have told me about these right so people i trust that are in a position to know and have they told you you can't talk about this yeah like the basics your sources yeah there we go the basics is 14 out of 14 times or something i might be getting that number wrong that there there was a way to bait every single time these ufos would come in when they were transporting nuclear weapons or something like that now if that if that information is true then you would have
(1:12:13) a method you would have a way to study this right right see i think we're reinventing the wheel so much like abu loeb at harvard and you know nasa just i think this is true nasa just announced they're going to repurpose their satellites to look for you know ufos i think i think that's a real article jamie if if you can find that repurpose or that's my word repurpose but yeah nasa made an announcement that they're going to kind of repurpose their satellites look at that too is that nasa wants to turn satellites into alien
(1:12:44) hunters that's just from a couple weeks ago cool wow my memory has been so bad no you're dead on brother look at that nasa's looking to repurpose satellites you said it perfectly okay this is [__] crazy asked why the space agency is embarking on such a seemingly fringe subject it said one of its remits is to look for life outside of earth fascinating okay so last month the u.
(1:13:13) s space agency announced it was launching an eight-month inquiry and to investigate hundreds of unexplained ufo sightings the inquiry is being held by dr thomas what's with all these names zurbukin zurbuchen how do you say that what do you think all right yeah dr thomas of nasa's science mission uh directorate who has been investigating whether satellites in space could be repurposed to give another view on strange aerial phenomena reported from earth speaking to journalists in london this week colonel pam melroy the deputy administer of nasa
(1:13:52) said the team is going to be looking at questions like do we have sensors that can see things you know take another look at the evidence one of the big questions that thomas asked is we have a ton of satellites looking down at earth are any of them useful i mean before you build a rover that's going to mars you ask yourself what's the sensor i have to build to detect the most interesting things so they're really going to focus on that well we'll scroll up there how would uh you get the evidence you need to be able (1:14:22) to determine if it's an optical phenomena or some other kind of phenomena even the greatest scientists were ridiculed bill nelson a nasa administrator told journalists that he had read all the classified documents relating to ufos and was convinced that nobody knew what they were question as to why nasa was embarking on such a seemingly fringe subject nelson said that one of the space agency's remits was to hunt for life outside of earth and that in the past even the greatest scientists have been disbelieved and ridiculed remember that

(1:14:55) one of our missions is to reach out to see if there is life he said that's why we're digging on mars right now is the pop is the possibility of life in something as big as the universe of course there's a chance in somewhere as big as that conditions similar to earth existed and some other kind of life form developed it kind of drives me crazy though that they're like oh we're going to repurpose our satellites and look for ufos we it's my understanding that we have well we can well track ufos think about norad
(1:15:34) and you can you know the joke is you can't throw up you know a softball in our atmosphere without it being tracked and targeted it's my understanding like what else captured the tic tacs above 80 000 feet did we have any other optic systems or targeting systems that captured those tic tacs because the spy 1 saw it at 80 000.
(1:15:57) my understanding is the spy one this by one radar is a radar that was in that strike group where commander favor was you know doing workups it's just a very cool radar that in 2004 was you know relatively new for i think at that year and it was just this it's a phase array so it's just a [__] cool piece of technology that they were using but i think it goes up to only 80 000 so when they say they were dropping in from 80 000 down to sea level like that it was they were actually coming from higher right they just detected it when it hit
(1:16:28) 80. and they say with the spy one but there are other systems i am told that we're tracking these as well above that scan volume of the spy one and and that makes sense think about it we have missile defense systems right and now that we're doing space wars right like we have this the space space force space force is actually [__] really cool they've got a ufo project too do they yeah it's not public but they do like everybody's getting in the ufo game man they all want to study it space
(1:16:59) force should when they talk about repurposing satellites though what we have is the ability to detect these objects i think what they're saying is let's get very high resolution photographs and video of these objects i am convinced that we already do convinced yes i am convinced that the the national reconnaissance office um and the geospatial intelligence agency will analyze the data from the devices that the national reconnaissance office has and that we have great data on ufos and that that is being
(1:17:33) suppressed even within even to nasa but imagine if they did have that data what would be the benefit of leaking it to the public and this is one of the things that's always driven me crazy about all this pentagon stuff and the pentagon comes out and says these are not of this world these crafts like what is their motivation for doing that yeah i saw you you're real real skeptical about maybe this is like a government i think some of it is right i think some of it is they have drones that are spectacular that have
(1:18:03) unbelievable ability to travel at preposterous speeds hypersonic speeds beyond hypersonic without signature though that's the question like how could they do that and if that's the case is this because of back engineered ufo technology right so i wish to be wrong on this but i don't see the evidence for what you just said that we have that technology yet and i'm not told that and that's never been what i've asked at the highest levels that i can ask at um we wish we had that technology and
(1:18:37) here's the other thing just one last thing about this is before the pentagon existed these things were occupying our reality they've been here so even if we did have a breakthrough and we got something we still got ufos what are they right well and then here's the other question are we only being visited by one civilization right or are we being visited like you know i mean if you go to the galapagos there'll be people there from turkey there will be people there from china there'll be people there from the united states like
(1:19:12) people want to go and see it like perhaps when you're talking about ufos and the wide variety like you're talking about this circle that exists or the cube rather that that exists in the translucent circle that's the popular one right now is that really popular right now yeah right now um and for years and in war zones

it's like i call them the the jellyfish the cube in a sphere a lot of pilots talk about and even as i said pyramids i've heard of pyramids and spheres man right and then there's a video of those (1:19:46) seemingly pyramid like and big ones too yeah big ones like how big what i i have seen imagery of really [__] supposedly really [__] big ones and they look pretty [__] big so when you said you've seen if they sent it to you they'd just allow you to look at it people that i know have allowed me to see these images and i can't have them and they look impressive i'm not a photo expert what's the most impressive [__] that you could show us right now uh just like on this that exists out
(1:20:17) there because like that black and white footage of the trans medium device is like god so i know it's annoying okay [__] here's here's the deal i sent you something a couple months ago it's weird don't tell the government it was a photo of my toe i've got i got a big bump on it i don't know what to do about it yeah oh what you're talking about no the other thing okay i just i don't you know it's like i i need to figure out if if somebody if okay obviously when i release footage
(1:20:51) somebody gives it to me i i don't film that [__] right in skiffs or whatever you know and like secure i don't do that so someone gives it to me it's not what who people think you know it's not like a person from within the gov it's like a [__] [__] ton of people and then i get different angles of the same [__] and i'm like ah now i now i trust it i always have to be thoughtful in that there might be something in this footage other than the ufo that's sensitive because there's (1:21:20) military footage right so i think it's frivolous people say oh just [__] put it out put it out like people can get burned dude so what let's not show footage right now right so but what about footage that is available that is not attributed to one person that can get in trouble for it like what's the best like there was that one photograph that was taking from uh a fighter pilot's cell phone oh yeah you mean what george knapp released is the still images or the video they showed in that like swamp gassy ufo uh
(1:21:53) congressional hearing well i haven't seen that yeah i've seen this still is that the still yeah oh yeah so this is so george knapp this is it so the one that i would go full screen on that jam if you could someone did some weird enhancement on that did they yeah so yeah so some people say though that's a balloon right right a mylar ball yeah so some people say like um some of the stuff that's out fighter pilots you know will will take a photo of there's two more george released one was like just a like a
(1:22:28) sphere and then the other was that weird blimpy [__] thing right there it looks like it has a payload that's the one the far right yeah so that's this jamie's over the sphere right now right okay now is that one that's a sphere with a square inside of it i i don't know specifically this is 2015.
(1:22:47) but that's the thing though so they're trying they're going what like 500 miles an hour 300 i don't know how fast they're going trying to photograph something out a window but here's the deal it's not just somebody saying it anymore the radar systems the new asa like radar systems are picking these up so you know how you just used to have somebody says i saw something right now you have people to say i saw something there's multiple witnesses they're on a collective radar system and on their
(1:23:16) personal radar system and these things are under intelligent control and they're oftentimes maneuvering in ways that are um incredible but also their duration to sit out there you know 100 miles offshore like whose are these magical devices that like do this so it does it's like one photo i'm so over photos i'm so over videos because it's like it's never good they're getting better maybe but is it because the distance they are how far away they are and the kind of equipment they're using to monitor these
(1:23:48) things on in jets that they don't all they have cell phones yeah these well that's what they can do that's their personal device so they can photograph outside the cockpit but they're how fast are they flying man right and by the way ryan graves this other pilot he says sometimes we'd have him right there on radar but we couldn't see him with our eyes other times they wouldn't be on radar and bam these two went right and this [__] cube in the sphere went right between two jets that's when they got oh this is (1:24:17) serious like we're going to have a collision so sometimes you get them on radar and you and you don't see them and other times you see them but they're not on radar it's crazy man they call that like low observability the ability to that's one of the five things that you look at for ufos low observability right this idea that it can cloak a signature so you can see something in thermal but not in the like in the night vision um you know they call so there's five things that should be said these are the (1:24:49) things people look for in ufos um see if i get it right so one is anti-gravity right this idea of no control or flight normal flight systems right so like normally a cube is not an aerodynamic thing but it has intelligent control okay uh the second thing is instantaneous velocity you've heard of people going you know these things going 90 degrees at like 10 000 miles an hour and we do have tracks of that we have you know recorded tracks of that kind of movements we know these things exist the third one is hypersonic um

(1:25:23) capability without signature so like we talked about um the fourth one is the ability to i guess you'd say um cloak or the ability to have uh um i don't know the exact words they used but to to not be seen right right and then the the last one is trans medium capability which is to penetrate space air and sea without any inertial effect and and you get these with ufo reports over and over and over silent no displacement of the air or the water so so those are the five things that you look at to say is this a good case
(1:26:02) and there are and the real ones those are always repeated those are the things man so those things are the five observables and so the the idea is that they're doing something to avoid detection purposely yeah that's an aspect of sometimes right because sometimes it almost it's like they want to be seen like some of the people calls i get they'll be like okay there's one guy i think it's to find it this is a dude and he's at a secure facility right and he sees over the power structure of (1:26:36) this facility a government facility what first he's walking outside and he sees this star that's like an off-duty star it's acting kind of weird right so he's welcome to his car and next thing he knows it it almost appears like it flashes and then bam about 100 feet from him over this power source is what he described as two plates mashed together and this gold glow he'd never seen this color gold before like it was just beautiful right totally [__] silent big like uh the tallness of it was like two what
(1:27:17) f-150s is that a car like a big car two of those stacked up nose to nose is the height about you know three four times the width and this is a dude who thinks if i'm not wrapped so tight you know i'm gonna lose my position right but he knows there's cameras so he like watches this thing for like 10 minutes and the second he goes to grab his phone and pull it up gone just straight up gone so he's like am i [__] crazy you know he goes they got cameras here so dude walks into the um i don't know the the entrance of the (1:27:58) building where they got the um guard shack but it's inside hey man i think i saw like an animal out there against the fence i saw some movement you know can you pull that up you know sure enough it pulls up the footage it doesn't look exactly like his eyes were seen but you you can tell it's a [__] big ass machine hovering over what's the variation between what he saw with his own eyes and what he's seeing in video it's so hard for people to describe ufo things because they've never seen
(1:28:30) anything like it so i dug into that was it it was color footage so it wasn't gold it wasn't that color gold and the shape wasn't as defined as what he saw so he saw like exactly like two plates no seam just perfect silent making this tiny little wobble when you say two plates you're essentially talking about that that shape yes yeah except uh that has more of a top to it the one that lazar you know this was totally symmetrical okay so the camera picked up like the basic shape of it but there was a distortion to it a
(1:29:10) little bit visually but he says by the eye it was this beautiful gold that he there's no comparison to any color that he says he's seen and i've heard this so many times and the light didn't like shine off the ground or the apparatus below it the energy apparatus like it normally would like almost like the light was a little contained in it in itself right like so it was diffused lighting so it wasn't lighting up the ground it wasn't just diffused that people describe this to me all the time
(1:29:40) and it they don't have words for it so how can i have words for it but it's like yeah a contained light and the other thing he said was that it was there was something to it that made him feel like this light was somehow intelligent and he goes i know that sounds [__] weird but it was like the light itself had some intelligence to it it's just so bizarre so the guy thinks he's you know whatever he's at that thing sure enough there's a huge [__] thing hovering over it doesn't look exactly like it but it was (1:30:12) there the response of the guard was to run outside he's still there and he goes i don't think so runs outside it's not there comes back says we're deleting this we never saw it so this is the guards call i guess yeah because he he just [__] with him the guard now here i think i can get away with saying this man turns out it would be illegal to delete it right so you the the guards gotta wait something like 30 days or 60 days for it to auto just delete itself so that guard had to sit in there for at least a month thinking about the

(1:30:57) fact that there's footage here i i told my buddy i was like don't think for one second that guard didn't film that screen how can you not right how can you not if you had to sit there for 30 days knowing that footage was there but it drives me crazy i wish i had that footage and so that footage may or may not have been erased as an optimist i could not imagine someone sitting there for 30 days and and and not filming even if you film the screen you're just getting a second i know generation that's the
(1:31:28) problem with all this right somebody's got good footage of it maybe well wasn't that one of the things that christopher mellon said is that there's there is evidence that has been released that he's seen oh yeah and it was much more clear much better resolution totally that's what's so frustrating it's like yeah how do we know that's true you want to know something that's even more frustrating is you know the the gimbal footage it's become real popular looks like the lazar thing with
(1:31:53) two plates there's four more minutes of that footage there's a whole fleet of them they look a little different than that object but if the pilots like um ryan graves is good friends with the guy that actually captured film that and like that object actually moved back on itself and there was a freedom there was other objects around it there's four more minutes of that footage it's all classified [__] release it why did why wouldn't you show that when congress is asking for the best of the (1:32:24) best they just swamp gas you one piece of footage i released what the [__] they should show that is there any explanation as to why they don't release the other four minutes when they've released the first part of the gimbal let's look at the gimbal footage because this is pretty wild i have been given no explanation for i don't know do we know how fast they're estimating the gimbal footage is i don't think it was going super fast i think that you see a rotation it did rotate by the way right and you're
(1:32:54) seeing so the pilots are filming this at close range or relatively close range and you see this rotation what you don't see is what happens next in the video which is where it does this rotation and then instantly goes back the other way okay so we're looking at this thing now and what is the what are those lines with the the target reticle what's those lines indicate is that the horizon um that looks like the horizon to me yeah the lines right next to this is just the targeting system right this is
(1:33:24) at flear but like you see the lines that go uh left and right they look like an like two l's yeah that's probably horizon right okay so this thing is shooting along it's chilling if you turn your head it looks flat and now it's turning yeah it turns completely yep it goes completely sideways ufo that okay captured by navy jets these classified and what this is uh what kind of symbol what kind of system look at that that was east coast 2015 it was called an atlear targeting pod which is um something tactical i don't know a
(1:34:07) ford looking infrared so this is the full this is the go fast this is a different one right that's a different one how fast is this thing supposedly i don't know see people say it's not going fast there's actually you know been a bunch of studies that it's not going fast and not going fast meaning like it's going 100 miles an hour like how it's going i have no idea dude i you know again wouldn't that be important to know like how fast it's going i mean for the people studying
(1:34:32) this that are scientists i'd say yes for me it's not really and the gimbal footage similarly is not going that far not not going that fast either yes i don't think this is going super fast so it's going fast like the like the type of speeds that our jets can go or like do you know that yeah i mean i i i believe that it is going at a normal pace but there that movement is what's so unique man and the pilots are freaking out they're like you know there's a whole fleet of them and the duration of these like they would (1:35:10) sit out there and they do sit out there for these huge durations of time like just the energy consumption it takes to do that right because like a jet a fighter jet runs out of gas in a fairly short amount of time yeah man what do they have like 30 minutes of fuel or something i don't know getting lift getting lift you burn a bunch of fuel too and um so the duration of these has been a big topic of conversation like how do they power and also they're not aerodynamic right well they are if they're flat right but (1:35:42) when they go sideways yeah against the walls to go when they're traveling very fast right well that's that's the crazy part if that's correct if bob lazar was correct about that which is crazy because he talked about that in 1989 and then you see in this gimbal footage it doing exactly what he said it's doing yeah which is pretty [__] wild have you seen that footage of that dude he had like a razor phone like back in like 2000 something and he's like a carpenter and he's like i don't know where he was

(1:36:10) i'm going to say it wrong brazil or something and he just grabbed his shitty ass razor phone and there's this [__] it looks like a disc that just goes turns like it's belly and she's available online yeah i think so um i got it on my phone okay we'll send it to jamie get it off your phone and send it to jamie what's interesting about that i don't know if it's real i just want to okay yeah no of course we don't know any shit's real is this it oh yeah yeah oh okay it's on your um
(1:36:38) your twitter oh there you go okay or instagram yeah yeah so this is this thing boy again looks like dog [__] yeah it's because it's a it's a razor phone you know in 2007 in costa rica and so this dude's a carpenter right so he's filming this thing and it turns sideways yeah it does the same thing yeah it turns sideways and takes off yeah so when you say that there's apparently uh four more minutes of footage but that's classified how do you know that that's the case well i mean people that
(1:37:19) are involved with filming it have said it publicly so like ryan graves has has asked that question online why wasn't congress shown the four extra minutes of that footage like he thought it was kind of like um disappointing too like these guys start talking about how much they like star trek oh that's cool like star trek my buddy you know right i get that but like show them the goods they want to know what's up they've seen some of the classified stuff and it was just like oh is are we gonna are we
(1:37:48) gonna lose this opportunity are we gonna let this continue where we just stigmatize the [__] out of it and we try to say nothing's going on here move on is there um a plausible explanation for why they classified their remaining four minutes of footage i can't imagine a good reason i think a lot of people like um avril haynes the you know um what is she the national defense director whatever i don't know i'm not sure she said um she said over classification is a problem and it erodes public trust so
(1:38:28) things just are automatic automatically classified not because they show a ufo or because just because they were filmed on mission so i don't know i'm with you man like let's ask for it four minutes of the gimbal footage is missing and apparently that four minutes shows multiple crafts yes how many i don't know maybe four it's in a v formation so i've only talked to people that have seen it i've been able to see it but these are the pilots some of them um were directly involved and when you say scene you mean
(1:39:01) seeing the footage you don't mean seeing favorite scene footage right and what did fravor said he said it was [__] cool whatever it is is is weird hmm i suspect we get footage of this stuff on a regular basis and i suspect because of bureaucracy and because people don't want to deal with this [__] and it's not an immediate threat they just push it under they just bury it yeah but all of this goes away if we've been reverse engineering these things it's the silver bullet we can have this conversation our ufo is real they're not
(1:39:37) they're [__] real the bigger question is have we actually been working on something if that gets revealed if this ufo whistleblower thing works and the ndas are just out the window i have people that i can put forward nominate them to go talk i actually have nominated some people unknown to the public so this is all it's so fascinating that you're this lightning rod for this [__] just by virtue of the fact that you're one of the most prominent ufo documentary guys that they're coming to you and (1:40:08) wanting to discuss these things with you i think i i often have these i'm unqualified feeling moments of like when people call me to tell me this stuff i'm like why are you telling me why are you showing me this it makes me uncomfortable i said why do you trust me right and the answer is always like well other people trust you and i'm like okay that's cool so i guess it starts with like you know what's interesting too is like if you are a guy and you want to get out the information and

you want to get it
(1:40:41) to someone who is going to leak it where people are going to follow them you are that guy right because you're accessible and you clearly have already done it before and you made the great documentary thanks brother and so they think that that's the best way to handle it i guess is to go through you yeah but most people don't give me [__] to make it public then what you want to tell somebody and they want to show somebody so they want to tell you and show you just because you're so deep into it maybe they feel
(1:41:08) like they need to confide in someone yeah because it's so crazy 100 and they want to know maybe you can tell them hey there's more than one of these this is exactly yeah exactly i mean i have out of out of respect and responsibility have seen a lot more than i've ever put out my point is never to put [__] out we were poking the bear at that time me and george was just trying to get the conversation lit up man because everybody always says we wish you know it's always like one source especially civilian footage it's one
(1:41:36) video right but with these military ones i gave people thermal radar deck footage and a clock within a classified briefing a slide that shows and reveals that this they believe this thing to be trans medium it was like the perfect military case because it showed all these pieces of evidence so you can't say oh it's just a balloon because i gave you deck footage that shows it lit up like a christmas tree so it had lights you can't say it was just an optical illusion of thermal because you have the radar
(1:42:05) right so all these things together create a compelling case that we should know what's [__] flying in our restricted airspace and is doing things that we can't do we should know that and how was this presented to congress and what was like ultimately what was their take on this when it was presented in the public hearing or the private stuff neither one my understanding is the people that kind of have been read in on some of this in the classified briefings some of them it completely [__] changed their lives
(1:42:39) that the whole way they think about this stuff for two reasons i think one is is that what's extraordinary that this technology even exists and we've kind of ignored it up till now you know whose is it and then the second thing is that when someone's [__] lied to and they feel like they should have oversight like the senate and intelligence committee or whatever they feel like they should have oversight and they find out there are programs they don't have oversight about then you get like the church commission
(1:43:12) of 1975 do you remember that no dude let's pull that up on wikipedia pull up the church commission it was amazing they busted all the intelligence agencies for a whole bunch of [__] including mk ultra testing drugs on civilians this is a real thing senate intelligence committee um i think is send intelligence committee i think it's called the church commission and they [__] railed the intelligence agencies for doing terrible hidden illegal [__] that's what we're seeing today about ufos they are saying if you have been hiding
(1:43:48) this [__] and it has been not in our oversight get you put your hands up you know what i mean they're coming after a man if you read the language let me say this yeah it's called the church committee that they were close yeah the wikipedia hard to get the info out of here but um sometimes if you go to um mobile view it gets it all bigger results aftermath we're just at the very beginning like what is the church committee church committee formerly united states senate select committee to study governmental operations with respect to
(1:44:32) intelligence activities was a u.s senate select committee in 1975 that investigated abuses by the central intelligence agency the national security agency the federal bureau of investigation and the internal revenue service chaired by idaho senator frank church the committee was a part of a series of investigations into intelligence abuses in 1975 dubbed the year of intelligence including its house counterpart the pike committee and the presidential rockefeller commission the committee's efforts led to the establishment of permanent
(1:45:06) u.s senate select committee on intelligence the most shocking revelations of the committee included operation mk ultra involving the drugging and torture of unwitting u.s citizens as a part of human experimentation on mind control cointelpro involving the surveillance and infiltration of american political and civil rights organizations family jewels a cia program to covertly assassinate foreign leaders operation mockingbird as a systematic propaganda campaign with domestic and foreign journalists operating as cia
(1:45:46) assets and dozens of u.s news organizations providing cover for cia

activity it also unearthed project shamrock in which major telecommunications companies shared their traffic with the nsa while confirming the existence of this signals intelligence agency to the public for the first time so that the church committee is saying what what the [__] is all this secret [__] going on we need oversight i think we're seeing that now i hope we're seeing that now with ufos so that there may be some secret [__] with no oversight that is (1:46:26) about either back engining back engineering ufos or studying ufos i am extremely confident in in making that statement that we have exploitation programs which is just you got physical material and you've been working on it and i'm extremely confident in saying that there has been ongoing durational studies in every branch of our military about ufos that don't have oversight and and you know look maybe i'm wrong but i think we're about to find out as long as we keep pressing about this i think we're going to find out because
(1:47:00) they're they're hot and bothered about it right now the senate intelligence committee congress senate they're they're really pushing to make it available that people can come forward and break their ndas but what about the the repercussions that people might experience in their personal life if they did do something like that even if they break their ndas there's still going to be people that are furious about them right in like in their job yeah whatever they do i mean yeah yeah yeah for sure so they have a
(1:47:25) whole thing about reprisals it doesn't mean everybody's going to come forward they'll be scared shitless let's say you work at lockheed on this [__] your boss you're never getting a security clearance again right that you're basically kamikaze that happened to lu elizondo right he comes out about ufos and the whole thing and um i find him to be quite genuine about what he's doing okay i've gotten to know him here's the deal man verifiably they tried to control his security
(1:47:53) clearance his access verifiably there were reprisals so his discussions yeah yeah yeah they said he never worked in the ufo programs well that was [__] you know and harry reid actually made sure everybody found out you know that that he did work in those programs look we've learned about awsap the original ufo program the mother host program right george knapp has really let us know a lot about that and we know about atip there are other programs that are not public yet and i'm hoping they will be and i really feel like we got a chance
(1:48:29) man to learn about these do you ever see the interview where uh bill clinton i forget what show he's on he's on one of the talk shows and uh he talks about how when he was in office he sent someone to go try to dig up information on ufos webster hubble he sent a guy named webster hubble yeah from the hubble space telescope i don't know i don't know i think his name was webster bill clinton says sent agents to area 51 to look for aliens well that's a weird talk about james corden that's hilarious
(1:49:00) talking to that guy that's a weird i think reggie asked him reggie watts that was recent that was recent reggie asked him yeah but i mean he's talked about it before you know at one point the story goes that he wanted to get the information out yeah but it seems like the president doesn't have nearly as much access to information as we'd like to think they do right probably because someone like trump can become president right you can get a loose cannon in there why would you give him all the data he's only going to be there for
(1:49:32) four years or eight years right yeah yeah i i heard he was briefed but trump was briefed i heard he was but he was given like the super simple version really yeah because i i don't trust him totally yeah and also you know he talked about it he said i i wish i could talk can't talk i can't tell you i'd like to tell you yeah yeah you have to imagine that someone like bush senior who was head of cia and then his son had some high level understanding of this as a national security issue right yeah the thing is like even if he does have
(1:50:06) that understanding what do you do with it like what do you do if they come to you and they say this is what we know i mean do you feel like you have this obligation to release it to the public because it's not going to change much they're not going to have any control over it the worst case scenario is people go crazy the best case scenario is it sort of prods these agencies to release more and we get more transparency and we get more of an understanding of what's real and not real and then perhaps more people will (1:50:34) come forward with real id real stories is there anything in your mind that would i always thought there's nothing that could be said that would make it worth not telling the basics that was always bob's thing you don't got to go into the proposal just tell them the basics right is there anything in your mind of why you wouldn't tell the public the basics well i mean they've already kind of told basics now but previous to this i would say the one thing that i would say i would worry about is people losing (1:51:05) their [__] and society falling apart and and maybe some people capitalizing on the fact that people become very vulnerable do you think people would lose their [__] if we were told ufos are real that we've been we have a couple of them in our possession at least a couple let's say we've got a two dozen they're really good let's just let's just make up a number they're real we got two dozen okay okay is that like what are people going to do like stop going to work they got to demand that information immediately

(1:51:38) right and so it's going to be very intrusive it's going to get in the way of understanding and and and examining these things because you're going to have to somehow another prepare some sort of some sort of talk where you have a slide show and you show what we have what we don't have what we know and what we don't know right and then also it if we're not the top dog if we have to admit that there is something that's so superior to us that they can avoid detection that's here constantly they've
(1:52:09) probably been here forever and that these things whatever they are have the ability to shut down our nuclear weapons they have the ability to control you know essentially whatever they want to they could shut down the power grid they can do whatever they want i always wondered what that what that thing was doing the flavor saw the tic tac like it wasn't like hey buddy and just came up to him hey how you doing it was doing a job it was just out there with other ones doing something and there was something remember he said the cross shaped thing
(1:52:43) under the water underneath the boil like the first words he ever said to me about it was like docking not not physically but something was occurring what do i it's killing me what what was it doing what was the job it was doing it didn't wasn't about us he happened on it because he was targeted in on it it got curious about him boom you know noticed him he said and then mirrored him and then bam shot off to his cap point which you've talked about before crazy yeah what was it doing out there right what are the ufos here
(1:53:18) doing are they speculating as to what they think that thing might have been doing i've never heard anything that makes any sense man what's weird is that it's so close to a military base that's one of the things that made me skeptical about whether or not it was ours i wish it was ours dude that's the thing like even the 2019 events you know head of the navy's like we're looking in this the i know for sure the uap task force which was another interim program that was really good actually
(1:53:46) for sure these are not ours the 2019 swarms they're not our assets for sure for sure like to current day today still that is the understanding that they are not ours so like who's the [__] are they right yeah so and if they're china's we're doomed okay so here's a lie that was propagated through the media and i watched like a slow-moving [__] train because i had the information absolutely went against this oh yeah yeah people said a ship called the bass strait was what was launching these uh it's like an international
(1:54:29) company or whatever like you know these chinese uh you know whatever drones you know that was kind of the the lie that started spreading through the media well i'll tell you man there was an investigation of the bass strait in port it was in long beach far before this activity subsided so this lie started being pushed through mainstream media that this was the source of these drones in 2019 it's like they're trying to just make it all go away there the uaptf our government did an investigation on that ship while it was
(1:55:00) import the day after but i have talked to sailors who their job at the time of these swarms i'll just say from the paul hamilton is another ship that was involved they were watching the bass strait to make sure they were not the origin of these launches and landings but that lie has now been pushed it's weird to me it's weird people get away with that i've been calling out the bass straight you know on twitter whatever being like do you were you conducting espionage do you think that that is it's (1:55:32) weird or you think it's normal for people to try to find some sort of rational terrestrial origin for these things and then they just dismiss people like yourself that are heavily invested in the the ufo being extraterrestrial right you're not no i'm not man i am well but i don't i don't know i don't know that the full answer might be cooler than that so i'm not gonna i'm not gonna put all my money on that well i shouldn't say extraterrestrial i should say not ours yeah not (1:56:00) not operated by a non-human intelligence yes that'd be cool non-human intelligence yeah yeah all of it's cool but it's just such a weird aspect of current society that this has become a focal point of conversation and this has become a focal point of investigations and articles being written and congress having hearings on it i think i said this at the beginning man it's like the world is creaking under the weight of our collective ufo experience i can feel it it's like i think there's an increase in frequency

(1:56:42) of these things that so that is for sure there's an increase of frequency is it an increase in in discovery or is it an increase of discussion so that was like one of my big questions are is our technology just better at picking this up and are just people so it is both our technology is better at picking them up and there is a physical increase in frequency of these unidentifieds in areas they shouldn't be you know from our operational standpoint and then and then the discussion i think once you start thinking about this it's
(1:57:17) so exciting that i think people like to talk about it because it's opens worlds to us yeah hmm it's a unique time in history right that we can have this conversation and not be laughed out the room just because we're doing a thought puzzle here right before you just like dismissed i used to feel all the time and i was like let's talk about this [__] and people would just dismiss you well people don't like looking ridiculous and foolish that's part of the problem with the ufo narrative the ufo story is that it makes
(1:57:50) people look ridiculous and foolish because it's so crazy there's other crazier things man i just i think that so you know that was like by design though like our there was the robertson panel so like there was this huge flyover of ufos in 1952 of the white house in washington dc two weekends in a row i mean everybody i think time magazine did did something on it was [__] big right they said oh no we didn't send out any jets turns out they did they couldn't they couldn't they couldn't catch these things so 1952
(1:58:25) huge flyover of dc they hold a press conference and they're like you know basically we don't know what these are but they don't seem to pose a national security threat that was like the line right we don't know what these are but they don't seem to pose a national security threat so then they did this study i think was called the robertson panel i'm terrible with this ship but i think it's called the robertson panel and they determined that the ufos might not pose a national security
(1:58:57) threat but public interest in them might so their their job was to demystify the ufo topic in public make fun of it right that's what operation blue book did oh they totally yeah they totally dismissed it swamp gas comes from that what's what's fascinating is the man who was responsible for project blue book was dr j allen hanik and when he left project blue book he became the forefront ufo investigator and and said i think that a lot of the things that i investigated turns out were real he felt guilt right
(1:59:40) yeah i i brought it omni magazine for you i forgot to bring it when did he die i don't know too early i mean that guy was cool as [__] you know yeah but yeah he from just for people that don't know the basic of it this guy was like astronomer astrophysicist i think astronomer and man he was involved with project blue book and he was realizing they're making him try to dismiss all this [__] yes they were trying to find rational explanations for people seeing things yeah that seemed preposterous and
(2:00:12) was it called the condon committee or something so basically they they just were trying to make it go away and we know that they have a history of doing this yeah we know we have they have a history of actively trying to dismiss these stories oh yeah to the point where part of the operation like you you read about that church committee where they'll put people into communities to disrupt them to to the the words would be to shape the emerging ufo narrative to this day now why you want to shape it why would an intelligence
(2:00:46) agency want to shape this let's just get the information out there right i guess there's power in controlling the ufo narrative is there also like this disdain for the intelligence of the average person is that part of it that they're like these [__] people don't need to know well if they're sitting on something really [__] cool why would they want to give that up man well if they do believe that they most uh i think politicians and people that get into great positions of power start to (2:01:18) believe that they're better than the average person some cops have that you know they have us versus them mentality and i definitely think that lawmakers and you know and the like would have that as well especially people involved in intelligence agencies i mean that's part of the gig is that you have access to stuff that the average person does not because you can handle it and and you know you're trained this way and this is how you behave and and so that information comes along that's really [__] wild (2:01:50) like there's this inter-dimensional spacecraft that can just appear over the ocean and disappear and you go to [__] chase it faster than your eye can follow it disappears over the horizon like what do you what do you say and do about that like what what could possibly benefit them to release that information to people like you and me yeah first of all i got a douchebag policy everybody i know in government's [__] cool [__] they're not like some ego tripping maniacs a lot of people think this information the basics should be

(2:02:24) public and they think it's a crime that it's been held back but there's just policies in place that they can't violate yeah there's policies in place and the main thing is their security clearances are their jobs even when they're out right so if you do if you lose that even when you're out it changes your [__] life you've had this whole career that you're doing but they but people i know in these positions that have access to this information whether we believe them or
(2:02:47) not like they're good people i think they want this information to be public and they think it's bigger than themselves but that's what we're seeing we're seeing finally representative government representing the public's interest to know about this now is there anything under the hood let's find out do you think that them releasing information and having these discussions is their way of preparing us for the inevitable that maybe this is the best way to do it to get some information out there and
(2:03:17) say we have recovered off-world crafts and we're seeing things that are not ours and the propulsion systems are not based on any known physics or that we you know we have a grasp of that when they're telling us this it's because they think that this is all gonna it's gonna blow up in our face and so we gotta get some information out there to prepare people otherwise we're going to have a collapse of society we're going to have a ufo landing on the white house lawn and panic in the streets and and that they
(2:03:50) think that somehow i know they can mitigate some of the more negative aspects of that by releasing some data now yeah does that make sense yeah totally um a lot of people have said that you know to me and even said you know maybe you you're a part of that and don't even know that's why you're getting like videos and [__] and you know that the thing is that the reality though if someone could just see that you know the reality is the people i know that are fighting for this inside and out creating the language and trying
(2:04:17) to get this to happen it's not organized from the diabolical or even like it's not even organized in a way it's it's like pressure like if they knew you know what i mean it it seems so mysterious that it's almost looks like mach lavalian like they're just getting the public ready but in [__] reality dude i don't think it's that organized that makes more sense because most things aren't that organized it's just it's just not people don't know each other a lot of the people kind of
(2:04:44) fighting the good fight about ufos they don't even know each other right so they're just slowly but surely the overwhelming amount of evidence is causing people to have these discussions and force these discussions that's my theory is we're we're talking about it now and it's not it's not [__] to talk about it now you know you know you can you can have these conversations because people have favor come forward you know do you ever feel like some of the stuff that you've been
(2:05:09) shown that you're not supposed to show that it would really benefit society to release that stuff to the point where you almost feel compelled like how much difference do you how much different do you think the conversation would be about ufos if people saw and knew what you know not much different a little bit because no one trusts like you don't you could have a live alien on this podcast and people would say it could be an actual library i already have elon's been on three times i did not believe his last thing about (2:05:44) not being interested in ufos by the way well i feel like that might have been motivated at least slightly by the fact that uh he smoked weed on my show and got in trouble with nasa oh don't do that huh that's what i was thinking when he was so quickly dismissing it well they sure are subtle you know when he was saying that i was like well wouldn't they be subtle like what would they be do unless they're trying to freak us the [__] out but when he smoked weed on the podcast and got in trouble with nasa i would

(2:06:13) imagine that you'd want to show yourself as a respectable ballplayer i'm here to play ball i'm trying to get funding i'm trying to launch my rockets we're all on the same team boys i need that top secret clearance i'm curious if they film the launches if they have any footage of those launches being observed by what we call uap or ufos because i have a pilot and he gave me footage from he was in this lucky position during one of these launches where he was the closest plane and he gave me footage of
(2:06:53) what looked like um you know objects like lights up observing this this is one of the spacex rockets yeah bro and so the thing is it's anything you you shoot out of a commercial airline like it has to go through a process so it's not something that like legally you could put out but i am curious if elon's company probably films the [__] out of every part of those launches wouldn't it be interesting if these unidentifieds whatever they are we're kind of observing us playing with these maybe elon needs to strap a nuke to one
(2:07:25) of those things just bait him and bait him would he tell you if if me no he wouldn't tell you if they filmed any of those things nope i don't know because i'm on your head with a big mouth no actually you know what um you can keep a secret oh yeah no i've i've learned that that's really cool oh i'm good at keeping secrets yeah when it comes to stuff like ufos and non you know i mean yeah if there was a secret that like affect mankind yeah you know people are gonna i would tell people right right
(2:07:58) real quick let them know i'd be like hey folks we got a problem there should be no panic let's say let's say this all goes well and there is actually something under the hood with the ufo thing and that this congressional language it does bring forward people like [__] you know how bob bob's already said everything to george in 1980 but people that have security clearances let's pretend this goes well i wonder i'd like to sit down with bob again because i wonder what the experience has been like for bob with
(2:08:24) the documentary coming out and then being on the podcast and like let's get him yeah let's get him back in would you think he'd do it again yeah he was a little uncomfortable about the attention i asked him about that again for you and um yeah yeah bob doesn't he he doesn't even get it that people want to still talk with him he doesn't get one he doesn't get it yeah he doesn't get why people want to still talk with him i'm a bob bazaar fanboy totally dude but by the way if we didn't even talk
(2:08:53) about ufos we'd have the most fun [__] well we went to dinner with him yeah we had a great time he always tells me the craziest [__] just about he told us some crazy [__] that we can't talk about right yeah which was wild which explains a lot i know education history and a lot of other things and you're like oh okay yeah and then you know it also explains about like why he was chosen as yeah yeah i know and i verified that further by the way so here's the deal i think he almost likes that he can be
(2:09:25) dismissed um what if everybody believed bob lazar right how [__] would his life be so i have to be [__] yeah he's easily dismissed which is kind of good sometimes i think one of the things that was more interesting about your your doc or one of the things that was interesting about your documentary was when during the documentary his lab got raided yeah people people said oh my god my wife wanted to kill people people said i [__] made that up for my i just made up the raid like hired actors and fbi shirts and [__] i swear
(2:09:58) to god that was like a huge deal well i'm sure yeah people probably think you're in the fbi oh yeah it's so [__] ridiculous yeah well there's a lot of people that are paranoid schizophrenics that are just running around accusing everybody of being a spy and being part of government agencies and what have you but isn't it just easier to dismiss what somebody says if you can just dismiss them as being genuine or honest yeah yeah it is it's um it's such a complex subject because it seems foolish to spend any time thinking
(2:10:35) about it without anything really tangible it's like everything is speculative everything is he said she said and here's some data and it says a thing that's going faster than the speed of sound by you know a a factor of 20 or something like that but i'll argue there's tons of evidence you know there's tons of evidence now there's the human intelligence side of it which is just you talk with people they have no reason to lie yeah but they've got people witnesses tons of people do people are crazy but

now you know you get a call you get you know you end up talking with somebody you [__] know almost immediately if there's an angle if there's an agenda why do people do stuff they do stuff to get stuff i'm just saying i think there's a lot of information out there that is not public i'm certain of it actually that there's a lot of information that's not public that should be you know you just ufos are tangible (2:11:30) there is a tangible aspect to them a mechanistic machine aspect to them the weirder question is is that a is that a performance you know if something is so advanced couldn't they make you feel think see whatever they want you to see right couldn't they be you know look like a tree yeah she couldn't you know fly through the clouds i knew a guy who was uh schizophrenic who uh i knew he was a little crazy but i didn't know how crazy and one day he shows me his phone and he shows me these pictures of clouds and i think i'm just
(2:12:08) looking at some cool clouds can you see it you see this one you see that you see this one i'm like yeah he goes i see them every day i go what are you seeing he goes alien spacecraft i go what yeah i go you see alien i go i see clouds cause no no no no these are these are alien spacecrafts disguised as clouds and i'm i'm looking at him and i'm just recognizing i knew he had a screw loose yeah but i'm like how many of those guys are out there thinking they they're seeing things i've got like the cry folder in my email
(2:12:41) cry yeah it makes me really sad man huh cause like schizos dude like people have these incredibly painful experiences that are not ufo related but that's a way that your mind can rationalize what's wrong with you what's going on and i get them all the time and i put them over here like probably needs medical attention right luckily there are some major universities that are quietly studying um some of these biological effects biological effects of encounters people that claim to have close encounters and constant
(2:13:22) encounters now when it comes to that what is the what's the best evidence in terms of there have been people that have said they've been abducted and right you know that i told you the story about angela hill who's a a top ufc fighter her grandfather was barney hill betty and barney hill that's her grandparents this is so crazy yeah man yeah that's a great case that was really interesting really interesting because it's early yeah early it was like the 50s right i probably yeah and it's sort
(2:13:53) of the archetype for all these ufo abduction experiences lost time traveling together on a road the middle of nowhere light shows up they lose time and then hypnotic regression it's the most popular yeah one you could call it an archetype because it's so well known but man is that a problem though that things become really well known and then they become a thing that a person sort of formulates in their head when they have a questionable experience the mind fills in the blank you know like when they say
(2:14:24) uh like one of the things that happens like in the case of a disaster or some sort of very traumatic event like a mass shooting or something like that people see things that aren't didn't really happen or they have a very distorted memory of it because they're so in shock like in times of war and things like that like they see things that weren't really there or that were inaccurate like their version of it that they when they recount it is all [__] up because the mind gets scrambled by period uh by uh moments of extremely
(2:14:58) high stress high adrenaline worried you're gonna die you know explosion like everybody has like [__] up stories yeah we try to explain these experiences that are like so outside of our norm that how do you describe it you have to take things that you know right in order to describe those things um trying to think of a good concrete example of that but um it is my understanding when i listen to people that i that i do believe had these close encounters that they can't find the words to describe the experience because they've never had
(2:15:36) an experience like this before right which is similar to when people describe psychedelic experiences yeah yeah they you know a lot of times when people describe psychedelic experiences they sort of tend to describe them the way they've heard other people describe them because it makes it more comfortable and easy you know and i think that one of the more interesting things about this whole um idea of um ufos happening or excuse me um encounters happening to people while they sleep is that you know you could dismiss one aspect of (2:16:11) it by saying that it's an endogenous dump of naturally produced psychedelic chemicals which we know the mind creates empty and then yeah but the other thing is which where it gets weirder is well what if that isn't a legitimate way of communicating with aliens i tried to do that one time yeah yeah you know just to just to see am i going to have this typical experience like i wanted that so bad what everybody you know has described like let me see if there's any there there let me try it you know i was totally atypical bro it was like

(2:16:42) nothing um you know so maybe yeah i don't know you say totally atypical what do you mean meaning my experience of it wasn't what i was looking for but was what i needed you know oh i see what you're saying yeah i didn't get to you didn't meet the aliens no man have you ever seen that [__] you know no i've never seen like like what you would call traditional aliens but i've definitely encountered entities yeah in psychedelic experience i got a cheshire cat that keeps winking at me i
(2:17:15) had a bunch of jokers give me the finger oh that's cool yeah but they were explaining something to me that i take myself too seriously i was like oh and they were like right and then i was like you're right that's awesome it was interesting because they were like [__] you because i think what i was trying to do was like maybe control my thoughts during the experience instead of just letting go and uh and maybe i had some sort of an elevated idea of bringing back my experience and telling other people and
(2:17:46) seeming profound and they were just like [__] yeah yeah yeah yeah and it was it was interesting that these jokers and they were jesters like court jesters like the hats and everything yeah yeah and i think it was to sort of let me explain to me in some way that i have a very unique job and that part of my job is what's what's important is to not take myself too seriously yeah because that that's a giant that's a giant pitfall that's like what a lot of people fall into when they get a lot of attention they start thinking
(2:18:21) of themselves in a very high regard they start thinking that they're really important instead of just thinking that what you do is probably a gift and really you're very very fortunate so don't don't take yourself very seriously but you're just a very fortunate person that's in this unique position but it's not like that you're special don't take yourself so seriously and also if you do it will [__] up your ability to do the job yeah yeah so that was what it makes you anxious right like you want
(2:18:49) to perform well to do a good job in life and all of a sudden all of a sudden you take yourself and you get i get [__] anxiety if you don't do something well and it's an extra pressure it does nothing good for what you're trying to do right i had this cheshire cat right and it was like the first time i i noticed nothing yeah right first time i noticed nothing another time it was like bam you're what winked at me you're that [__] for a millisecond that winked at me so i started get to know this cheshire cat
(2:19:16) and this cat was like telling me i'm ancient and powerful imagine cheshire cat saying that wow and i started i started arguing with it i said well i'm ancient and powerful like you know but then we kept going back and forth and with every [__] moment it was diminishing and no i'm really i mean powerful you know it's like we got in this argument so that was like my multiple experiences like arguing with this [__] cheshire cat being like is it ancient and powerful one time it showed me it's pretty strong but like
(2:19:43) what's up now here's the thing that happened that i didn't anticipate was like a systems check bro like like a like a tried to blow my speakers and it's like if you're off your path you're going to feel pain and anxiety and if you're on your path you're going to feel [__] good yeah pay attention to that yeah and then it cured my insomnia but medical insomnia for you know the first 30 years of my life and you think that insomnia was based on that anxiety no no it felt like it was a mirror miraculous thing that i
(2:20:18) never even heard of happening with people but it was like from that moment on like my older brother you know was around just to you know because i didn't know this shaman guy right so like i want i wanted like someone to have my back right like a sitter just somebody who was watching me with this person the shaman actually panicked and and started having a panic attack it was weird dude shaman did yeah man yeah it was weird and so then i was just because i'm doing it alone too like this ayahuasca thing so it was just you and (2:20:48) the shaman and your brother and the shaman had a panic attack yes what looked like a panic attack was he also under the influence yeah they always take it with you i guess oh i didn't want i only did that one time yeah he freaked man whoa yeah it was kind of disconcerning this is dmt so it's short trip no so but this was so ayahuasca which contains the empty right so um but it's like a longer experience right right right so that's the one that cured my instagram that's not the cheshire cat

(2:21:17) okay that's the short stuff but um this one it yeah it was like um it was the only time that i ever felt my body possessed by something other you know something else and then it like did a system check like imagine you have a billion drawers of number two pencils all different colors at different lengths and it opens each drawer and looks that you've used that you know one quarter amount and they shut the drawer it was like like it just did a system check wow then it was like okay good job now let's
(2:21:47) see if we can break something and it like tries to blow my [__] speakers out this was my subjective experience right tries to like blow my speakers out my body makes like like it was weird and then it was like a slap on the ass it felt like like this experience at life is so fragile and and momentary and you could [__] up really easy if you just get a little off course in in ten years from now you're gonna be way the [__] off right so it kind of was like you'll know if you start going off course that's what i took from it again
(2:22:21) i only did it one time but that's what i took from it you'll know and so trust your intuition correct course immediately too right and understand that the way when you feel badly about something like that that there's a reason for that yes that if you to me specifically you'll feel pain you'll feel anxiety and indicators for me yeah yeah but these are indicators that like whatever it is the universe is giving you that you're not on the path that you're supposed to be on yeah man because our past like
(2:22:50) mine's been very varied i'm always finding my place my place in life in what i didn't think i would do you know i always thought i would you know train judo or boxing or you know and i would always do like a martial art when i started making films and i started doing the student making art fine art and then making films i never thought i'd be in that i had a loss of identity a loss in my spirit like i was like so off course i was i got so sick from something called valley fever i couldn't train anymore what's valley
(2:23:18) fever it's like a f you can get it you inhale a fungus or a spore and it attacks your lungs and typically people can feel like they got a cold or they [__] die or something like that and what happened was i was overseas and i had been harboring it in my body for about two and a half months and i look at myself in the mirror and i'm [__] like skeleton and i emergency came home went to special disease at ucla and they treated me for it which is you take this whole body antifungal but the problem is it had
(2:23:47) gone into my lungs my kidneys near my heart like it got under my bloodstream so i started getting like a abscess in my arm out i was a really healthy athlete but when that happened it took for me the ability to do what i thought i was and i had to completely re-understand my life that i am not just the things that i do that the things i do come from who i am where my passion is you know so it kind of that that was a learning lesson for me is going through an illness that stopped me from doing what i loved to do and
(2:24:25) thought that's all i would ever do so the path is like curvy but i accept that as long as i'm you know being true and i'm not feeling that anxiety and pain i mean it's okay to feel pain it's great to feel pain with you your fascination of the ufo experience and then you having psychedelic experiences did you feel like there's any sort of connection between psychedelic experiences and ufo experiences like did you think that those realms that you access through psychedelics in any way are related to extraterrestrial
(2:25:00) intelligence i love the theory i have no idea i just know that i can like mushrooms has like cured my cluster migraines you know i know that there's something there that is of great benefit to my consciousness from time to time but i don't know if i'm tapping into like i wouldn't even i've never felt that i'm tapping into like an other intelligence rather than our collective intelligence i don't know people say that but also i've never had like a close encounter you know what i mean right
(2:25:42) what have you had like what what encounters me for this yeah because foley did you and foley have something together yeah he he he talked about it uh publicly and and i saw i didn't want him hanging out in the wind on his own so i did see something with foley something i'd never seen before where'd you guys go so we're by where i live and we're just hanging out and we're going on a walk and it's just as the sun is kind of setting just you know talking [__] and he makes some [__] joke and he's

(2:26:13) like oh coming out to see the ufo expert i figured i'd see a ufo i really wish we could see one i'm like you're funny you should be a comedian [__] you know it's like we're just [__] with him he's [__] with me not 45 seconds after he says that i go turn the [__] around i thought it would be super brief i thought it would be brief this big [__] glowing thing that comes in at 45 degrees and just goes like over this valley right and i just thought it'd be a shooting star or something you know your
(2:26:44) mind says so this is normal this is normal right we're both standing there looking at it he's he i i said out loud i have pr i have practiced the quick draw with the phone i'm not going to be that [__] that sees something and doesn't film it right practice this quick draw otherwise people are going to hate me right right i said out loud he always reminds me of this i said out loud i am not even going to try and film this it was so astonishing looking is so different than it wasn't close encounter
(2:27:19) wasn't close but it was so different than what i was used to seeing that i was kind of stunned and so was he and we thought maybe it'd be really brief but this thing goes it comes down to 45 degrees it was big it did like how big well it's hard to tell because it because it's not shaped like something that i know the size of but i could tell was within the valley so it was big i mean at least at least a few school buses in length three or four together at least is what i'd have to say and when you say um
(2:27:52) that it wasn't shaped like anything right you could recognize like what do you what was it shape like he says like a hamburger with a bite out the front um fully said that which i would agree with um but what i'm saying is if you show me a 747 i can tell you didn't dave draw it he did and it's very accurate he put it on his twitter i think right and okay so it had these big lights in the front it was so so weird looking had these big lights in the front but the whole body of it would glow and
(2:28:22) pulse and here's the weird part to me so he has a different thing that he thinks is really important i have my feeling the thing comes in 45 degrees this was the crazy [__] for me it does this movement where once it levels out it goes like four times impossible speed in these jumps and every time it did it it would flare up like almost like what i was impressed by was the tremendous power the power that it took to make these movements four of them no sonic booms that [__] was way too fast it looked like it was sliding it
(2:28:57) was [__] weird dude and then dave right so so he that's the angle that came in towards our view our angle of view and it's it's traveling where those three lights are but that's not what glowed the body of it glowed every time it made these slip marks these slip movements then it went over to a hill sat there and then just descended down so it says what dave wrote is after years of interest in the ufos without ever seeing anything i saw something this is a drawing of what i saw i was with a friend who i'll let decide if he
(2:29:29) wants to be attached to this and who knows it moves silently at great speed hovered and pulsated with light huh and then i made a comment or something on there but yeah oh so look so we've got foley who how old is he now i mean he also writes i should point out the white lights the front of the craft assuming that it was moving forward and those lights pulsated separately from the body of the craft which also pulsated right and then mick west of course jumps in jesus cloud you share a date time location i think you meant to say could
(2:30:11) and if known direction oh yeah i mean i went off full of ufo investigator we didn't tell anybody for a long time like even tell my wife about it it's [__] weird right i like looked at where the international space station was i looked at all air traffic you know you're trying to just make sense of it right i know it's extraordinary it did something that like why didn't you put your phone out man why didn't you pull your phone out when you saw it dude it makes it makes me more angry then it makes you
(2:30:41) it doesn't make me angry it makes me really angry like i was like because you just wanted to experience it yeah because i thought it would be right i thought it would be so brief right you know i didn't want to because then you lose like some eyesight but dave dave says we and he's right we reacted very strangely to seeing something so unique like it's like it was void of emotion like it hypnotized you i'm not saying that [__] no but you know what i'm saying like almost like the uniqueness the novelty of it that it was (2:31:14) so wild and that you knew you were seeing something unique yeah to the point where like it like yes totally captivates you captivated me it did it was it was beautiful and that how weird and exotic it was and look here's the joke i'm the guy you know hunting ufos talk to all these people every day that have encounters that i believe and i never saw [__] i would always be the guy going in to get the night vision goggles to look at the sky and everybody start screaming oh my god did you just see that i was the guy always with his

(2:31:43) back turned yeah now it's like me bringing sand to the beach man the ufo guy sees ufo who's gonna believe me i'm the least believable that's the problem with the whole ufo experience is that no one believes anyone unless they've had an experience themselves right like when you have an experience yourself there's probably this pause where you don't really want to talk about it because you don't want everybody to think you're a loon yeah i'm way past that you know i got no
(2:32:08) credibility to ruin at this point right [__] easy oh man yeah i mean i've not seen anything i don't think i mean maybe i saw something when i was a kid but i'm probably exaggerating i really believe you got to just look up i really believe that i think that so you think there's more than enough of them yeah i i think that if it is what we think it is if there is a presence let's just call it non-human intelligence and it is engaging humanity and has been for a long [__] time since the beginning of recorded human history if
(2:32:41) not before if any of this is true it seems reasonable that they in some way they want to be seen on a personal level if any of this is true if you look up man just look the [__] up you know i i believe if you really want it you look up there's something to this ufo thing man well i know that there's been a series of sightings in southern california and that a lot of people have saw things particularly off of catalina with that area yeah yeah that's for sure what do you think that's about don't know you look locationally yeah
(2:33:22) it's about i don't know that's an interesting area of the world there are some places that seem to have higher activity of these ufos do you think maybe one of the explanations would be that catalina is off the coast of california and that they use the water as like a place where they have a base or where they meet or where they where they fueling station or something whatever or maybe just a safe place man yeah or what a place to completely avoid detection yeah yeah i was told a long time ago um by
(2:34:00) an admiral that i trust like family that this is important to look into that there's there's meat on the bone and that every branch of our military studies this current day and this was 10 years ago having this conversation i was asking should i waste my time on this lazar guy like you know right specifically because this is a person that would know right just leave it at that right and it took a while for this person to really answer me you know like they let me into some cool places to check out just because i had fascination about
(2:34:35) this stuff you know some military stuff they let me come see stuff because i had fascination not not ufo stuff just general stuff right and the person we're talking about ended up saying to me it's worth your time specifically to do to to look into lazar it's worth your time and this is somebody that has stopped me from wasting my time on other ideas right and this person also said to me that there's more activity under the water than there is in the air with these ufo things if that's true
(2:35:08) if that's true i said well i said how the [__] am i going to research i got a submarine like you know what am i supposed to do right with that information thanks he's like you ever seen the movie the abyss i'm like yeah he's like it's a good one oh movie the abyss was fascinating right because that opened up people's ideas to the idea or opened up people's minds to the idea that there could be a spaceship in the water and aliens in the water yeah and then of course like you would
(2:35:37) have no idea that they were there right the best is great to the ending the ending is like i don't remember kind of hokey the ending the end things like why are you showing me so much i'm just glad the movie exists i just watched the contact again context have you ever watched that recently yeah i watched it a couple of years ago couple years ago i think i watched it during the pandemic when the first pandemic first started watch again i love that movie man i hadn't seen it since it came out probably right and i
(2:36:02) watched it the other week it's that it's that thing where the rest of the world doesn't experience what that person experiences so jody foster right she dropped is that her name and she drops down in that thing i remember they put a chair in it and the chair started going crazy because it wasn't designed that way right and she gets out of it and the chair smashes against it for her she had this whole experience you know whatever not you know number of hours 22 hours or whatever the rest of the world

(2:36:31) yeah not even a second yeah that's your interdimensional theory right there the idea that there's popping into timelines yeah across space and time well i think if you were an incredibly advanced being you know if you think about the human race if the human race doesn't blow itself up and we move on and continue to advance for another million years you would assume that we would have the ability to do all kinds of things that are just science fiction now and one of them might be interdimensional travel
(2:37:11) access to realms that are previously unseen that we just don't understand because we're just too primitive it was preposterous to fly like a bird at one time yeah yeah we're imposters to go on a train they thought if you go on a train more than 35 miles an hour your body would liquify or something they thought you would die and you put metal up in the air right yeah just crazy i mean it's all crazy until it's science fiction until it's science fact right so maybe what we're witnessing is just
(2:37:39) nature see that's my whole thing with this ufo thing is if this is just nature this is part of the ecosystem of the world we live in right we're just like ufos are part of our reality there's nothing we can do about that anymore that has been determined you've done been told disclosure in that sense has already been done you've been told ufos are real it's just like what does that mean for us in how large of an ecosystem is this that we're dealing with isn't that just nature like
(2:38:07) before we thought there were monsters in the ocean you've said that before we thought there's monsters in the ocean now we got names for them maybe what we're seeing is just a part of nature that we are just becoming aware of just like a copernican revolution right that there are entities and there are life forms that are far more advanced than us yeah and that they've always been here and the ufo mystery or puzzle might represent something more than just physical machines from other intelligent
(2:38:40) entities you know it might be something bigger going on like what well i don't know like as if it's being presented that way to us to almost like educate us or teach us something i would hope that i think that's a cool theory so they're allowing us to formulate new thoughts based on these experiences and contact and and sightings i mean it's such like an altruistic way of looking at it but if i was like this hyper-intelligent species whether being here on earth that just been here a long
(2:39:08) time maybe i got stuck here right from somewhere else bringing people adapting people to your presence and and helping an evolution a technological evolution these craft that crash like maybe that's to inspire the next leap for us i mean i don't know defense people would be like jeremy that's [__] they're prepping the battlefield we're [__] we need to find out their intent yeah it's a different perspective but it's also they seemed well well you would know this i've because i've said this before i
(2:39:41) want to make sure it's true the the sightings picked up in a big way after they dropped the bombs yeah fact yeah so after hiroshima and nagasaki that's when all the sightings started happening even the development oh so during the manhattan project yeah during the development but the trinity ufos have always been part of the human experience let's let's not forget that right but it is but we don't know what those people are seeing right when they talk about the vimanas and the the shields of fire
(2:40:15) yeah we don't know what they're seeing how could the bhagavad-gita yeah there's there's there's in so many different like ezekiel right in the bible a wheel within a wheel it's all interpretation right what the [__] was ezekiel well what i don't know but people are seeing right things in the sky that seem to be machines i mean no matter what they describe that there's also these ancient depictions and paintings of what looks like people and spacecrafts flying around i've got a
(2:40:43) one of the first posts i ever did on my website is like an image of a of a a painting from pre-flight days and it shows this [__] disc and it's shooting down light onto like john the baptist or something i don't know dude artists will sometimes paint what they have seen and put it in historical context the shit's haunting man you know what we're seeing today has been seen before again i've got an article from 1960 where there's cubes in spears at fighter pilots ooh where's that article it's i can literally i'll (2:41:20) just give you i had to get it from somebody but do you have a copy yeah yeah yeah i got right here get it and uh get it to jamie i need to see that yeah

it's cool it's just words they just you know they tell you what the pilot uh saw but still the fact that from the 1960s there they have this that's what i'm saying same thing that they saw that is oh sorry let me open mine up jamie's macbook pro yeah you could do that that'll work what's crazy too is that for whatever reason um they seem to go to specific areas like
(2:41:59) you were saying that the cube with the sphere here it is two identified pilots one flying a frontier airlines plane the other a military jet reportedly spotted the object the faa at grand junction said the objects appeared to be spherical and enclosing a square object the lights alternatively flashing the different colors appear to emanate from the square object within the sphere the faa spokesman here declined to comment further on it and then go all the way up jimmy so we see what year this is what what time the
(2:42:43) so this is the alamogordo new mexico thursday september 29th 1960. wild yeah man that's wild an online sleuth found this for me ufo flashes colored lights on the heels of the green and bright orange unidentified flying objects spotted in the alamogordo skies sunday night and early monday morning a flashing red white and green ufo has now been spotted in several new mexico and colorado cities which by the way red white and green people were like oh that's faa lights on the stuff i released and i'm like really
(2:43:24) [__] i'm like okay well look they were doing red white and green back in 1960 when [__] cubes were flying around and you know that is so wild that it's the exact same description yes a cube encased in a circle i don't even think i've i've told none of the pilots about this i don't know why i've i've just uh never shared this with them there's they should probably know they've known now yeah 1960.
(2:43:48) yeah man safety of flight issues cubes again 1960. that's crazy that's really wild man really wild what why are you why are you interested in ufos well i guess i've always been i think everybody is most people if you if if you thought they were real you know the p the people that aren't interested in them they're not interested in them because they think it's nonsense but if they really thought there's a a strong potential for it to be real i don't know how you could not be fascinated that's why i like i had that
(2:44:21) argument with neil degrasse tyson about it like why would they care about us like what the [__] are you talking about we go study slugs you know we study spores and microbes why wouldn't they study territorial apes with thermonuclear weapons like why wouldn't they study that he's salivating over the fact he's an odd guy okay i don't know what the [__] is going on in his mind i really don't he was uh mocking people for uh being interested in the eclipse yeah and everybody was giving them [__]
(2:44:52) online like what is wrong with you like you're literally the guy that's like telling everybody to look at the cosmos yeah yeah you know yeah what are you doing it's an inconsistency that i have yet to understand maybe he's troubled maybe he's not happy i don't know i just don't i mean he generally has uh so much joy when it comes to science it's like the inconsistency is confusing to me and the idea that they wouldn't be interested in us is to me preposterous we would be if we found something like
(2:45:27) us somewhere else we would be so fat if we found frogs on mars just frogs yeah you know i mean if you believe the messaging that people talk about like the i'm friends with these two ladies they were at the aerial school um and they you know were with that's where the craft landed and like a bunch of kids 60 kids or something they see it john mack went and studied all this stuff so that the two females that i know that were their closest proximity to what they said was a being that came out um they're like
(2:46:04) we were mesmerized by it like looking in the eyes of this thing they were mesmerized by it was the words and it put these images in their head which at the time didn't mean anything much to them it was like destruction of the earth like this whole thing but talking to them now they're like maybe we're supposed to talk about this it's still with them like what they saw if you believe their story or not they believe it'll tell you that much you know that they got these visual messages and i've heard this over and
(2:46:36) over and over i just i wonder what they're up to these [__] weird things man putting ideas into people's heads man is this that painting yeah that's the one so it's called the baptism of christ look at the year 1710 so that thing in the sky is a circular object that's showing beams of light that shoot down on the baptism of christ can you zoom in on the object yeah what is that 1710.
(2:47:10) that is wild i mean what do you think they were trying to show it's hard to say but it's illuminating one very specific area on the ground much like close encounters of the third kind well i'm just everything else in that painting doesn't look interpretive right like the people look like people it's not a salvador dali painting so i'm gonna make the assumption that in this style of painting you're drawing this idea of what is there so i would have to think maybe this person who painted this you know maybe they've seen something (2:47:42) like that before or that's like their version of showing the power of god without showing god right i could see that like a light a beam of light down to the sky from the heavens i mean they're not showing something that they're seeing because it's the baptism of christ they weren't there for that right but i'm saying that they're they're drawing something whereas the people look like it's realistic yeah it's realistic so like what is a disc yeah you know it's it's just i have no

(2:48:11) idea it's just fascinating yeah in ancient artwork that you've got these things that look like this why are you i'll turn the question on you why are you so interested in ufos i don't [__] know dude i think that's funny it is kind of funny because we both don't have a real answer i i haven't i haven't really figured that out no one does i mean i like the hunt right the the chase is fast people talk to me did i get to sit in these rooms i get to be on these phone calls and the wonder right oh dude the wonder bro
(2:48:47) yeah the wonder is really intense i almost don't want to figure this [__] out [Laughter] yeah i know well i kind of do want to but then maybe the mystique will be all gone then we'll feel terrified right they're just space whales and they're turds well i don't think so i think the idea would be that we're lab rats i think that's what's scary to me is that somehow another we're being examined and we are such a preposterous yet super advanced civilization i mean we're you know we're governed by politicians
(2:49:19) that are clearly corrupt and also full of [__] we allow those same people to control uh various aspects of the way we interact with other other governments that could lead to mass deaths and often do it's really wild like when you think about what we're doing you know we use coal powered plants to power supposedly zero emission electric cars it's like the the are you again crazy that's you know and then we're terrified of nuclear power which is probably the cleanest safest form of power that we've ever devised
(2:49:54) like we're weird we're weird across the board every country has their hands in this ufo thing yeah what country embraces it the most openly probably u.s the u.s oh no openly and publicly i don't know france has been really good about it brazil um i mean you even even chinese were saying there's so much data that they're analyzing with ai to help aggregate the data brazil had uh famous crashes right yeah yeah yeah and and out of those some metal evidence was retrieved and correct for i don't know how you say virginia is
(2:50:30) where the the the being came out and um someone got real sick from it all yeah look but there have been crashes in in many of of the country you know many of the main countries that like we'd consider um technologically advanced or whatever so like russia as well like george knapp remember he obtained say obtained and got out from russia all the classified a bunch of the classified documents from the russian ufo program and he went and talked with people there he went twice during glasnost and perestroika and these are the people
(2:51:03) that ran the ufo programs and inside those documents which he's had translated now right um they tell that they were trying to you know reverse engineer uh laser technology that they knew we had ufo retrieval programs that they knew that you know some of our programs were doing ufos like all of this is what george knapp got that out of rush at a time when he could have been arrested for bringing that [__] out in the airport right every major country has interest and a stake in this because i think people
(2:51:35) want a technological advantage man if they can ascertain anything right from this they got a [__] technological advantage if if russia had had anything they'd be using it right now too that's the thing if we had a really great weapon caused you know from the retrieval stuff but um other other legislative people from other countries have reached out to me saying that they want to replicate what the us is doing in their country so the us is doing it most openly right now i would say that is a correct statement i mean fast and hard (2:52:09) this language in the the ufo language and the national authorization defense authorization act of 2023 ufo whistleblower language no one's done this before so assuming bob was telling the truth yeah and bob lazar's telling the truth that means that area s4 housed multiple off-world crafts if that's the case where are those things now no i don't know i bet you they [__] move those out the second bob opened his big-ass mouth where would they take him do you think there's another site like that but it's (2:52:42) still remaining top secret and isn't that increasingly difficult to do with satellite technology i know there are facilities that are not we can keep secrets we can our government can keep secrets that's for sure and so there are some top secret facilities that like area 51 used to be speculative right it was speculative until they had to acquire more land and make more land top secret around the outside of it so they had to admit that it was there right yeah because too many people were land grabs visiting too many people yeah how

(2:53:15) much of a factor do you think you and i had in the storm area 51 movement i'm gonna say zero no dude the kid the kid um watched the movie watched your podcast and just went up and threw that [__] up online i was doing damage control man i mean i got some angry ass calls like are you gonna cause problems kind of [__] i'm like no i'm gonna go manage it man yeah you know just go out go don't go everybody people that want to dog me isn't most well known for the debacle of the 50s storm 51 there i had
(2:53:45) nothing to do with that nothing but i meant in terms of like influencing it a hundred percent is that okay [Laughter] yeah those conversations we had i think with bob lazar in particular really fill people's minds with imagination but look at that look how look and by the way it was it was fun people were really calm and nice there were some bad actors like people trying to stir me up you know right you couldn't go right in those gates no i think they were like actual [__] beds you know that's what
(2:54:16) i'm saying yeah like the people that are telling people to storm the capital get your zip ties let's get in there and find pelosi creep me out bro yeah i got like that i got that evil bad feeling where i thought something bad was gonna happen i think anytime there's any kind of an organization any kind of an organization someone from the federal government infiltrates it and tries to get them to do something [__] up right so they can invade and then take people down and arrest them i just think that's
(2:54:42) how they operate but it was kind of beautiful though to see people be able to get close to this like super secret game normally you'd be thrown on the ground in front of them what are you doing here and they were like there was like a whole welcoming committee really oh yeah yeah i was standing up there i got footage of it man who was the welcoming community all different agencies plain clothed like they made sure you know not to cross that line but as long as you don't even think about that it was all hugs and
(2:55:07) high fives and let's take photos yeah i got tons of photos of people there right i think and they're just and then some people recognize me as one of the people that might have like you know right like that and then and then it was like more selfies it was so funny they were super kind and i thought i thought how cool how cool is that that they were like no we're just like we're cool today you can be here today do you think that they know anything the employee is there yeah i've talked to a lot of employees a lot like former
(2:55:35) employees current employees and um it's so compartmentalized but the one place i don't think i should say this because then maybe they'll stop doing it but the one place where the word on the wash is strong as they say is the bar at 51. there's a bar there yeah man it's a little secret i keep him because i know the name and i know kind of i can describe it so if i get somebody's so it's like the military guys that go there and drink yes you have to be on base you have to be honest but it's like it's always the
(2:56:06) bar right where people talk so that's where all the rumors go so site four all that stuff after talking maybe you know 30 40 people current past all that stuff you know people know that there's a facility at papoose they know that so if you think that they moved everything out of there when bob started opening his mouth in the late 80s is there any speculation as to where they would have moved it i have no speculation and i don't know they did move it that's something george has said is like oh if it was there it's gone now
(2:56:35) because where would you take it maybe you leave it right [__] there right no one's going there nobody's going there i actually somebody that i've spoken with on record has gone there because they were just you know they had access to and they the second they hit papoose dry lake like out of nowhere civilian contractors with machine guns and black attire put him face down and he's a navy guy he's a navy guy with like a good access to the land of 51 because it's so compartmental as you can run around but

(2:57:09) what he was doing which is not important but he had access to more of the land right he got [__] thrown under the ground he became a believer that day he's like there is an installation i just want you to know my story because he goes i didn't see the exact thing i didn't get that far because but if there was nothing there where where where the people come from right so you get anecdotal i don't know dude bob he's so gangster i don't know if people know this but the u.
(2:57:35) s would never sell satellite time to take photos of papoose lake in 1989 1990 so he hired a russian satellite to take photos really he did he hired a russians how does one even facilitate that i gotta talk i've seen the negatives they're in they're in la and a buddy of his has them i want the world to see him they're pretty neat they believe there's there's something there to be seen still no like in these in these satellites satellite images yeah like it looks like a saucer does google earth have pictures
(2:58:11) of area s4 i don't i mean let's find out yeah i'm sure yeah i mean people have taken planes and tried to come in see there's nothing there to see in the mountains they've got planes close by with like long lens cameras are you [__] kidding me if it says lazar described which by the way i've had so many confirmations that it is there is a facility there like bob described right right but if it was there the whole point of it is to not be seen from the air right that would be the whole point right
(2:58:45) we have that in in switzerland too by the way we have like hillsides and if you know what you're looking for when you fly in to switzerland you can see markings on the roads where the planes come out of hills that are completely disguised as foliage and that the planes come out taxi onto the roads and take off and from the roads and you can you can see if you know what you're looking for when you fly over switzerland you can see the markers so the markers like where they're told to go through or yeah like the flight
(2:59:16) take off landing yeah where those planes would take off and lands like the rubber where the the tires hit yeah yeah i think where they're gonna land and then and then hide these planes back into these hills that are retractable really yeah man that's what i'm told okay yeah we'll look into it we'll look in we'll look into it which one area s4 i'm looking for yeah you can see above it clearly let's see what that looks like what's i i'm looking for pictures of it but that's so
(2:59:42) that's it i don't i know i don't know that's what i'm trying to i don't think it is well area 51. that's area 51. you can actually see it on google maps yeah area 51 you can see a lot of the facility now and area 51 is still active yeah oh big time this is claiming they've you can see a ufo from this picture which is why google maps reveals secret base within 30 meter ufo with 30 meter ufo at area 51 claims alien hunter where's that claims alien hunter so we've got to look
(3:00:13) at sources here i'm an alien hunter bro yeah man i hate it when people call me a ufo enthusiast i'm like i'm [__] enthusiastic about waking up in the morning [__] i'm a ufo enthusiast do you think that's okay tell me that yeah really yeah i'm enthusiastic that's their claim well that's about everything though that's a ufo that yeah that's what these some of these things i'm looking at i'm like i wouldn't even stop you guys to bring this up that's a goddamn building so
(3:00:38) here's the other thing i found just for clarity it says you can this is uh someone tagged area or s4 on google maps like when you google this this switch comes up but they've just circled like yeah that's the hillside where people oh suggest so you can't really see anything from the sky well that was the that would be the whole point of installations like this which we do have right um according to this map this says this is a picture from 2022.
(3:01:03) i don't know what day i don't see [__] right so they're just outlining where the area where it would be but you really can't see people guessing or something huh but wouldn't there be roads that you could see well so they're so in the older footage there's you can see roads down to the lake but that just means people drive down there and papoose lake is a dry lake bed correct right so it's just south of area 51 uh area 51 is the box right so it is a designation within the nellis base and
(3:01:31) they're all numbered and labeled so there's air 51 proper with the runway and then where bob you know would get on the bus is from area 51 and i've i have people that saw him get on get on a bus and drive south and then you know drive down to papua's lake and is there a road that leads to power there's two so that one that goes along there that's a road there's a bunch i don't know there so [__] there's a real road out there wow it's going a couple different directions

(3:02:01) wow i just [__] a what is going on out there that's new developments what is going on out there all right jeremy all right my friend thank you very much for coming in here it's always a pleasure great to talk to you thank you for sharing whatever information you have and everything else show me off off air and i won't i won't tell anybody okay okay well thanks for keeping the topic alive joe oh listen the topic is alive whether i keep it alive or not that's true it's something that more so now than i think any time
(3:02:32) in our lives yeah right it is it's exciting something's about to happen maybe oh you know something no no i hope i hope with all this [__] i hope so too all right thank you bye everybody [Music] you

A Behind the Scenes Look at Area 51 with George Knapp - YouTube

Transcript:
(00:03) [Music] this is a distinguished lecture series I don't know how distinguished I am but I'll tell you the more trips you make to that bar the better this is going to be you know I was talking with Alan and Karen and Brian as they were planning on putting together the area51 exhibit downstairs hope you've all seen it by now it's it's a lot of fun and as they were going through we were going through my boxes of old stuff and I'm telling him stories they're asking questions about how I got started down this path I
(01:07) would tell him what it was like back in those days and how I got hooked on the story and how I met bob lazar and they seemed fascinated with those behind-the-scenes stories of how those things went down back in those days why I would essentially put my career and my credibility at risk J something seemingly so crazy and ridiculous how I could still be looking at this subject so many years later and so I shared with him some of the backstory and the details on how I became interested what was going on behind the scenes the price
(01:38) that everyone associated with this has paid over the years and how my views on some of the larger issues involved have evolved over the years and they seem to think some of those stories were interesting so they asked me to share them with you tonight in some sort of a public forum and you know and I have spoken many times in public about area 51 and about Bob Lazar and some of the crazy stuff that's happened the general topic of UFOs at least some of these tales here tonight have not been told in any detail at all and I'm gonna reveal
(02:10) the existence of a witness who was whispering in my ear back then we call this in the news business burying the lede but somewhere along the line there tonight I'm gonna tell you the name of a guy who was who was interested in this topic and who helped me along the way and I think it could qualify maybe as a headline somewhere I will say at the outset that that although you know I will never be allowed to set foot on that base I'll never get any closer to it than the warning signs that say use of deadly force is authorized and I've (02:41) been out there maybe a hundred times over the years you know dodging around in the desert and keep from from being intercepted by the camo dudes and and dodging dirt clods and dust devils and and all kinds of things like that and coyotes I'll never get any closer to it than the signs at which of course the signs are many miles from most of the interesting stuff that goes on out there still area 51 is to me is as much a part of my life as it is for the people who worked out there I mean it's been 24 years the people who (03:16) worked out there people like my friend TD Barnes who's here in the audience tonight the road runners they toiled in obscurity couldn't even tell their spouses what they were doing for a living they basically protected all of us Hey and we didn't know about it not even their own families could know about it they basically won the Cold War out there I mean they were really there so for them it's a real part of their life but I'm telling you it's as much a part of my life and it has been for 24 years
(03:43) now as it is for theirs I suspect that you know years from now when I die there'll be something about UFOs and area 51 on a tombstone assuming that I ever am buried somewhere they find the body arrey 51 I would say is as much linked to my name as is as if it's like tattooed on my butt for better or worse I guess you could say those stories we told long ago back in 1989 to begin with those stories have I think paved the way for the rest of the people who really did work out there and toiled and obscurity as I mentioned who did all (04:21) that work to protect all of us who work for the CIA in the military for them to come forward and tell their story I'm back when we started talking about flying saucers you'll recall the government did not acknowledge that the base even existed there was a time back when they first set up the facility that the government put out a little little notice have sent to channel 8 and other media people says we're going to build this little facility out here in the desert as a place called water town don't worry it's a temporary thing it'll (04:50) go away and don't pay any attention to it kind of a thing and that's what they acknowledged and then some years later you know you can look at a map of the Nevada Test Site and there's area 15 there's area 12 and there's this box over here outside the test site itself but it's called area 51 and it was on the maps and all of a sudden it disappeared it went away and in the years when I first started working out of the story the government would not acknowledge that it existed now I've got (05:16) Russian satellite photos that I obtained I can see pictures of it I had guy named John Lear who walked right up to the gate and years past who showed me close-up photos of it I talked to people who worked out there you could climb up a hill and look at the damn thing and yet our government would say it didn't exist well naturally that kind of a situation is going to get you curious about that or about a place like that back in those days though outside of Nevada other than people who had worked there or were in the military few

(05:46) people anywhere had heard of the place you didn't know the name area 51 it was spoken about in whispers you know and I think that you know the fact that the CIA guys who worked out there the fact that military people worked out there who have reasons to be proud of the work that they did have been allowed in the last couple of years to come forward and talk about it I a lot of that has to do with these crazy flying saucers stories that we told because it sort of blew the lid off the idea that there really isn't a base out
(06:17) there acknowledge that there really is legitimate national security programs going on and sort of paved the way and made it acceptable for them to come forward and talk about the great work that they did as I said you know it's hard to believe that there was a time not that long ago when when the base really didn't exist and so few people knew about it or those who did know about it had to use a nickname or a code name for the place now however it is known in every corner of the world it's known everywhere in fact I'm going to
(06:47) show you a little clip here in a second and it wouldn't have happened without these stories that we did about Bob Lazar and area 51 I think you know I've been a journalist as Alan mentioned the introduction at channel 8 since 1981 and I've covered just about every kind of story you can imagine organized crime drug dealers Gun Runners corrupt officials scams ripoffs campaign hijack hijinks sex scandals political convention buried treasure polluters murders fires bikers stickups pot farmers crack peddlers scumbags
(07:24) boneheads and Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid and yet wherever I go whoever I talk to on the UFO report doesn't matter what those other stories some of them were pretty good stories some of them made a difference in the lives of the people who are here in this room doesn't matter about those other stories the thing that people want to talk to me about is UFOs I don't care if I'm in a grocery store or a restaurant having a meal and they come up and take up a seat in the men's room in front of the urinal
(08:00) sitting in traffic people yelling out at the wind the car window to talk to me about UFOs and most of times it's to ask me hey what do you what do you think about UFOs you really believe that stuff the reality of it is they don't want to ask me what my opinion is they want to tell me their story because so many people have stories and I'll bet there are people in here most people here if you don't have a story of your own or a sighting or an incident you know somebody in your family who does because (08:27) that's how ubiquitous this phenomena is and it certainly is ubiquitous in my life I mean I will be forever Brandon I mean now hardly a day goes by when I don't get a phone call or an email from Ecuador or Iceland or Australia or China or somewhere else that somebody has just seen one of my bootleg reports or something on the internet who want to talk to me about UFOs 1989 the year that we did the Lazar stories is the year that I officially went crazy though off my rocker out to lunch that's that's

(09:01) what we broke the story about Bob Lazar the ridiculous notion that there could be recovered alien craft out at area 51 I know how ridiculous it sounds now I know how ridiculous it sounded then but I'm here to tell you tonight about the circumstances of why we decided to pursue it as a story because as a result of that as I mentioned that's when the world beat a path to area 51 s door and it has created a legend a legend was born a mythology and ever-evolving mythology one that has at times been co-opted by people for various reasons
(09:36) exploited for their own reasons by these hopelessly gullible Saucer nuts by people who think that the the milk carton children are all kidnapped and taken out there to be mixed up in a giant human alien vats to make body parts you name it people have assigned different stories to it there was a guy after I first did these stories about Lazar who would taking people on tours charging him 99 bucks a head and telling them that aliens from the planet Kron DAC were in charge of the base down there at like the 35 levels below the (10:11) surface of the earth so story has changed it has evolved but there's no doubt that as a result of those tales it began with Bob Lazar it's known all over the world it began with an interview with Bob Lazar that that was in silhouette you saw a piece of that that was in May of 1989 and then we sort of started working on it and it just took off from there and it drove my journalism colleagues crazy they hated it and and I've sort of paid the price for that I don't mind I mean radio DJs back in those days
(10:49) whenever they would run out of belch barf and fart jokes in the morning would tee off on me I remember I'm writing a song about the boob on the tube to the tune of the fool on the hill it was pretty funny stuff my friends at the review journal my friends and colleagues over there I've really had fun at my expense over the years this is one of a couple of columns that John L Smith has written about the UFO reporter having a close encounter with skepticism and he ends it with besides I think I saw Elvis
(11:17) milling around in the lobby uh-huh because nobody ever is a co see any UFOs with Elvis or mp4 this is a column written by their media columnist Ken white who said get the Nets is the title of the article says Las Vegas are rushing home from work these days in sheer fits of excitement over George Knapp's series on UFOs not that they're excited over the reports themselves they want to be there if George does the big crack up on-screen Willie Goldman Willie go bull goose Looney right there in front of thousands as eyes suddenly gone
(11:47) buggy and rolling free in their sockets his tongue wagging side to side funny stuff this is an editorial cartoon I have it in at home by the way on my wall the original it's called the marshmallow head chronicles extraterrestrial hitmen who have come to earth looking for me and they're looking at a couple of gasoline pumps and the line says of course they are men that's obvious but which one is George Knapp maybe and then this is one I did a series about allegations about alien abductions and the certain medical procedures than (12:22) probes that happen according to the people who go through this and the r.j. wrote this they were kidnapped by aliens it gets better they dubbed me a grande mola in the Church of stratospheric proctology but I thought it was a damn fine line it might be the best thing the rj has ever written i don't know you know it comes with the territory i have a public job I understand that I'm in a public position I do a story like that you're gonna catch some grief I understand that I have thick skin and I can deal with it
(13:03) what sort of bothered me over all the years though is how few of these kind of reporters who live here and who could cover the story and go out there interview the witnesses go track it down never did it's easier to bang out some wisecracks do an Elvis joke maybe pull in Loch Ness monster and make fun of this stuff then to go talk to somebody like a TD Barnes or Bob Lazar or back in those days he was much more accessible or some of the other folks who worked at the base or to sit out there in the desert night after night as we did and
(13:35) see whatever it is that might be flying around but they didn't they prefer just to take potshots at it and that's easier to do I guess then to do the actual work and I think the assumption for people for a long time both regarding RA 51 and more importantly for the larger UFO story is that anybody who's seriously introd interested in this stuff is nuts is crazy is is bull goose loony and I'll have to tell you then in about 90% of the cases that that assumption is right because people who are in this field are (14:06) crazy I would just share with you a couple of the experiences that I have had that caused me a great concern in the early days when I was chasing this stuff

there was a woman who showed up at the TV station after the first series of reports she's wearing the skimpy halter top and holding a kid that I later learned soon learned was a an alien hybrid she told me and within five minutes of me meeting her she had to tell me this story had to meet me had to talk to me she's telling me the story within five minutes of me meeting her I
(14:39) knew the most intimate details of her sex life because she said it was while performing a certain sex act outdoors on her porch that she heard a noise and looked up and saw her first UFO and then eventually and I'm not making up one word to this eventually these these beings beamed her up one board on their ship and they told her to in there up to put on a bathing suit and they told her in their opinion that she needed breast implants and I'm not making this up she's telling me all this stuff I go huh
(15:11) yeah I'm writing this stuff down really yeah and she says she got him and I'll tell you that's the one part of the story I could believe because because there was ample physical evidence staring me in the face I received letters from this lady she was 75 years old at the time and she lived on a ranch outside Sacramento California and she would tell me that every time her husband would leave the ranch these aliens would come and have their way with her and she drew me pictures of alien genitalia and and with (15:49) little diagrams pointing at little arrows pointing to it it wasn't very impressive I'll just put it that way I have been pestered by a millionare transsexual alien abductee a guy who says he's the twin brother of Jesus Christ and that aliens are coming back and to get him and boy they're really mad I had a guy fly to see me it was this is a sad story flew to see me from Australia used what he said we're his last dollars to come to see me because he said he was he wanted me to use my contacts at area 51 that's a laugh twos
(16:28) to talk to the aliens to stop coming and getting him because they come every night to grab him he was he was trouble he was disturbed and I've had a heck of a lot of people like that who've come forward with those kinds of stories I've had people claiming to be aliens waiting for me outside the station who had followed me home I've had people send me songs that aliens have written and poems I've had people who accused me of being alien of being a government agent and a government plant a government operative
(17:00) reluctantly you know I've appeared on a couple of TV shows that I wish I could take back the Jesse Ventura show to be one and and as a result of that I've met all kinds of people I've been to a UFO conferences all over the place I remember meeting onek the 400 year old Venusian woman and because I guess the UFO topic is weird anything weird that's mine come and get it your PA possessed by Beelzebub call me up I can probably do an exorcism yeah you had an out-of-body experience camping it get back in call Georgia
(17:34) he'll know what to do with it so you have to ask yourself I mean why would I stick with this stuff how did it ever get this way and I'll tell you my connection to the area 51 story basically started the day I was hired at channel 8 back in 1981 the guy who hired me is the name Bob Stowe tall he's a good friend of mine he was the news director became a mentor to me and he had at the time been collecting little bits and pieces of at area 51 anything don't appear in an aviation magazine sometimes there would be a message a
(18:11) little story about groom lake in the newspaper and he had that file and he showed it to me I thought that's kind of interesting and then I didn't think about it for a couple of more years in 1984 the Air Force illegally seized 89 thousand acres around area 51 they just took it yes one day it's public lamb the next day you try to drive on that land and there's guys with guns there and you're turned back and they later two years later asked for permission to do it and I've got a little clip I'll show you
(18:41) in a minute a couple of minutes about them appearing to before Congress to talk about it in which they're asked well what authority did you do this under well I'll have to tell you in a closed-door briefing and so that caught my attention I did some stories about that back then but I didn't do anything again for a while however my friend mr.
(19:00) snow tall and his friend netday who became a mentor to me were very busy with the story of their own they broke the story about the existence of the stealth fighter being tested and test flown out their air 51 that was a big story f-117a they broke it everybody else picked it up as a result of that story going public Ned day was picked up by the FBI they picked him up off a street corner put him in a room was just like a scene out of a movie with a real hot light in his face saying

how dare you endanger the lives of 220 million (19:33) Americans by letting this story out don't you know the Russians can find this out and Ned was pretty scared for a while until he remembered a lesson from journalism school and he said look man I'm just her little reporter in Las Vegas if I can find this doubt don't you think that the Russians can find it out too and so they let him go that was a big story and the reason allowed them we were able to get it is because of a guy named John Lear and John Lear is a as a friend of mine I now I've met him in first in 87 I think he (20:04) showed up at the TV station he had been the source to alert Ned and them to the existence is this playing out there at area 51 so he had a certain amount of credibility at channel 8 and he had also he had run for the state Senate his family of course is well known in Nevada the learjet developed that John had been pilot for the CIA had flown just about every plane you can imagine very accomplished guy and a lot of ways distinguished and smart and in the view of a lot of people completely crazy because he became interested in UFOs and (20:39) I mean when he became interested he went all the way so he shows up at the station one day not long after helping Ned to break that story about area 50 or the f-117 and he's got a great big stack of UFO documents and he drops him on Ned's desk and he says you got to read this stuff this is really interesting it's a biggest story in history and what do you think and Ned says I'm not having any part of this people will think I'm crazy I don't have time to deal with UFOs forget it well I'm eavesdropping at (21:07) the time and so I as usual and so I said hey let me take a look at that stuff and I first met John Lear I took that stuff home and started reading it some of it was obviously manufactured by someone but a lot of it was legitimate documents obtained from our government secret studies conducted by military agencies and authorities about the UFO issue in which these matters were taken very seriously I thought that's that's pretty interesting I had never at the time given any kind of thought to UFOs I had had some (21:43) discussions within my own family about things that had happened long ago but as far as I know I had never seen one I had I had one UFO book that somebody had given me as a gift something I read and put aside no abiding interest at all it certainly was not a religion for me or any cause in my life but I looked at it I thought I'm gonna put John Lear on this little show I have called on the record it was a one of those 30-minute talk shows political discussions you'd have a City Councilman on or something to talk about things
(22:12) that nobody cared about it aired at 6 o'clock in the morning on a Sunday and nobody watched it but I put Lear on he started doing this UFO manifesto aliens abductions all this stuff and I just kind of sat there with my my jaw agog and and listened to it and then the phone that the program ended it aired and the phone started ringing and as people wanted to tell me stories about UFOs this is pretty interesting it had obviously touched the pulse of the public in a way that I did not understand and did not appreciate (22:44) I had Lear on again and the response was even bigger and then that second appearance he hinted that he knew somebody who might be getting hired at area 51 that person turned out to be Bob Lazar and then I had him on a third time with another crazy guy named Bill Cooper who really went off the deep end and the response was even bigger and I realized you know what I'm gonna have to look into this stuff I'm gonna have to start taking this seriously and read on it read about it so I started sort of my own little learning curve and the (23:14) learning curve as you probably know if you're into the topic is considerable then came the day the next significant event was in May of 1989 I was co-anchoring there five o'clock news we had a little interview segment we did every day entertainers politicians whoever was interesting in town he just wanted him to be a kind of a fun to interview and at the last minute our interview cancelled so I called up Lear and I said hey do you think yet UFO guy you were hinting about would he come on I'll even black out of space if you have (23:48) to and sure enough he did and we put Bob Lazar on and did it like a five-minute interview and in which he told this story this crazy story about working at a place called s4 Papoose Lake south of groom Lake within the area 51 complex nine flying saucers out there in in hangars built in to be disguised like the side of a mountain alien and origin they all look different as if we got the variety pack holy cow what to believe about this but again the response from the audience was absolutely overwhelming so when it (24:24) finished I went and talked to the news director we said well let's figure out what to do here because if this guy's telling the truth obviously this is a pretty damn big story and and as crazy as it might sound let's do some work and find out if there's anything to it and we'll do some reporting on it so about a week later we went to Lear's house to meet with bob leer was playing games with us then and wouldn't even still wouldn't tell us it's lazarre's real name what he didn't know is that Lazar (24:50) had signed the guestbook at the entrance to Bob to John's house so when I walked in i saw the name there and figured out what it was we talked to Bob Lazar we put him through paces stowed all and I asking him questions about his background and he seemed like a humble intelligent sincere guy we left the meeting and said you know what let's give this a go here we recognize there are risks to our credit professional credibility in standing we decided we would be careful maybe do a couple of parts a couple of minutes at night that (25:23) instead of a couple of parts over a couple of nights it became 10 minutes a night over two weeks and it was the highest-rated series we ever aired but that didn't happen till November and then between May and November I did this intense crash course in UFOs and which I tried to learn everything I could not only about UFOs in general what the government might or might not know what about Lazar and as I said it was a it's a huge learning curve ninety ninety five percent of everything in the field I figure is complete nonsense it's made up

(26:00) its conspiracy stuff it's lunatic theories it's crap put out by people who either want an attention or they're nuts or they want to sell something but there's this kernel of truth in the middle of all that of proof and you have to wade through a lot of chaff to get to the wheat but it's there and I think that any reasonable person who does the work and Wade's through it all to find the kernel of truth inside would believe likewise that is unless as it is for some a religion just as you
(26:37) have people on one side who believe everything they hear everything in the sky is a flying saucer you have other people on the other side the skeptics they call themselves but really they're debunkers and it wouldn't matter if a saucer landed on the White House lawn they wouldn't believe it and you couldn't convince him because it would upset their worldview it's a religion for them as strongly as it's a religion for the people on the other side and no amount of evidence would change their minds that's at least what (27:05) I came to believe and for me I guess I'll talk a little bit of in general about the concept of proof because what is proof it's it's what should be able to convince a reasonable person that something is true I happen to think that in the area of UFOs there's more than enough and what I learned in the course of those next few months and have learned in the 24 years since is that there's a heck of a lot of proof if people are willing to look at it the first one being in the area of eyewitness testimony now I know that (27:35) eyewitness testimony can be inherently unreliable but you got people 3040 million Americans who will admit seeing UFOs probably as many who won't admit it but have seen them and it's true that 90% or more of all UFO sightings can be explained away as prosaic objects misidentifications and balloons and planes and things like that but it's also true that 9 out of 10 UFOs are not reported at all because there's no one will take the reports not except for civil civilian organizations you call McCarran or Nellis today and (28:10) tell them you've seen a UFO they'll keep you on the phone or the police they'll keep on the phone long enough to find out if you're dangerous to somebody but they don't care about a UFO or at least they won't admit it Oh our interest in that stuff stop so people like you and me somebody who see something strange in the sky there's nowhere to report it but millions of people have reported it millions of people all over the world have seen these things dating back thousands of years and every culture on (28:37) every in every civilization in human history have seen them they had different names for them and they have different descriptions but they've seen them that counts for something that that counts for something second type of proof is photographic evidence today with what is done online with with computer software it's hard to believe anything you see anymore but in the years before we all had computers with this kind of power in our homes there are photos and videos that are reliable that have been tested (29:10) even by the military that show anomalous objects allow novelist's solid objects solid craft that perform maneuvers that our best technology can't do not even the stuff at area 51 the Third Kind of proof is physical evidence now I get this all the time well well you know why don't we have a cigarette lighter from a UFO or something like that where's the Roswell crash stuff if I do I'd tell you but we don't have that however there is physical evidence scientists will say there's nothing to analyze with UFOs (29:42) they're here one minute and they're gone the next that is not true all over the world as witnesses have reported these things happening there are what we call landing site trace cases witnesses say this UFO land in my backyard ah come on get out of here but if you go out in the backyard and you look you find a number of physical types of evidence burned or baked soil impressions imprints on the ground trees that are affected by things that fly up and down animals have been affected people have been affected burned things

(30:15) of that sort it is physical evidence for anybody who has the guts to go ahead and look at it J Allen Hynek I remember him saying yeah arguing with some scientists there's no physical evidence he says you know what airplanes fly over the Australian outback every single day and don't crash and people look up and see them it doesn't mean that they don't exist that they the fact that they don't have the Aborigines down below don't have a piece of one the fourth type of proof that I want to talk about very (30:42) briefly is government documents I hinted about this before it's what got me hooked I told you that John Lear had helped me in the beginning with those great big stack of documents will he continue to give me piles of documents things that have been squeezed out of our government the most impressive evidence of all I think are these reports and studies written by our government by our military about UFOs long before the Freedom of Information Act existed these were reports were written for military people only to see evaluations
(31:11) for the president for the CIA for the Joint Chiefs and we were never supposed to know about it now you asked about that kind of stuff before the FOIA existed and these agencies denied that they had anything in fact the the FBI was asked a bunch of times what do you got on UFOs we don't have anything nothing four years passed in the mid-70s FBI was forced to release 2,000 pages of documents about UFOs same thing with the CIA I've written to him a bunch of times when I first started hey what do you got (31:40) in UFOs nothing we never studied it never had any interest well bull I mean there are documents that were squeezed out of them through FOIA in the in even in the 70s with that referred to the CIA's UFO experts CIA UFO panels CIA UFO studies that one study that they had in particular I want to mention is something called the Robertson panel this is in the 1950s they convened this panel it had a whole bunch of UFO sightings this great big flat what are we gonna do about this stuff well let's look at the evidence they gathered (32:10) evidence from about eight or nine ten cases and looked at it for a grand total of six hours over two days they said you know what we don't think that UFOs are a threat to national security but the reporting of UFOs is a potential threat to national security so we need to institute some changes we need to strip UFOs of their aura of mystery stripped them of their respectability make it lack less than respectable to report them so they instituted formerly a ridicule factor a laughter curtain a policy of making fun of people that see
(32:43) this stuff belittling the whole subject embarrassing scientists who take it seriously and it's worked it's worked now those documents exist I'll show you some other ones I gave a pile of stuff to the museum here I'm not sure if it's on display or not this is a report compiled by the US Air for in the Office of Naval Intelligence in 1948 December 1948 and it was there was something called Project sign there was a secret study of UFOs and the guys came back there look at all these case they (33:17) said this stuff is real we think it's entirely possible that these things are from other planets a Hoyt Vandenberg who is the head of that Air Force I think back then said I can't allow that to go forward forget it burn that copy and come up with something new so project sign became project grudge and they came up with a much different conclusion but later project Bluebook which was nothing more than a public relations exercise collected 19,000 or so cases and even though they tried to explain them away they couldn't now in (33:49) this document one copy continued to exist even though we're supposed to be destroyed it says it must be accepted that some type of flying objects have been observed their identification and origin are not discernible since the Air Force is responsible for control of the air and the defense of the US it's imperative that all agencies cooperate in confirming or denying the possibility that these objects have a domestic origin I'll tell you about something else it's not really a document this is (34:17) a chapter from an Air Force physics textbook and our best and brightest pilots our future Joint Chiefs of Staff members go to the Air Force Academy for training and education and this chapter it's called a introductory space science department of physics US Air Force Academy was what they taught the cadets at the Air Force Academy let me quote you from it conclusion from available information the UFO phenomenon appears to have been global in nature for almost 50,000 years the majority of known witnesses have been reliable

(34:52) people who've seen easily explained natural phenomena and there appears to be no overall positive correlation with population density psychological factors probably do not enter the data picture as noise it it goes on to say that in the course of your career as a pilot you're probably going to encounter one of these things as far as we can tell there may be four different races visiting the planet that's been going on for thousands of years this is what they're teaching their best and brightest pilots now
(35:22) after you up ho people got a hold of this chapter and put it it out hey you guys been lying to us they pulled it they yanked it which has sort of been the reaction all the way along and I don't really completely understand it but that's what they did so I think you know when you look at the trail the paper trail of government documents it's more than persuasive the kinds of stuff that is squeezed out of the our government a report after report incident after incident more than enough evidence to convince a reasonable person
(35:52) that something really weird has been flying around in these skies and I'll tell you it's not only documents from this country as a result of me being interested in this crazy subject I've been allowed to travel all over the world and one of the trips two of the trips took me to Russia we had a window of opportunity in the 1990s in which we went to Russia this company I work for I left channel 8 for a couple years hired this Russian physicist we met him through congressman Bilbray who was a friend of ours and he was the physicist
(36:24) had worked at the highest levels of the Russian government he's a science national national security adviser to Boris Yeltsin also to the Russian parliament he had trained Soviet cosmonauts how to spot American nuclear submarines from space the guy was dialed in so I met him as he was getting ready to go back to Russia and I asked him you know anything about UFOs got any friends in the KGB ever heard anything about it not really not they could think about it we had another beer you know that you mentioned I do have a friend at the KGB
(36:54) who told me that he had heard about read some UFO studies that they had documents over there and then he thought there's a guy I know at the Academy of Sciences who studied this stuff before we know it we got to cut a list of a couple of people who had never talked about UFOs publicly before I made a deal with the guy we sent him back to Russia sent him up in an office I said here's what I want you to do find people who were in a position to know about UFOs but have never tried to peddle this story anywhere and he did and for seven or so
(37:23) seven almost eight months he searched out people like that and then I went over to Russia to meet him and we had to pay a little money here and there but I brought back several thousand pages of what was then classified information from Russia mid their ministry defense conducted the largest UFO study in the history of the world and it lasted for ten years and the order basically went out that every unit in the vast Soviet military empire had to report and fully investigate any anomalous aircraft ball of light weird
(37:59) thing in the sky anything that we would classify as a UFO so all these reports thousands and thousands of reports over a ten year period rolled in and they all went to the desk of this Colonel Boris Sokolov that I met and we got the documents from him and some of these reports were incredibly dramatic Sokolov admitted to me your government studies him we're studying him and for the same reasons we want to be able to do what the UFO craft do and beat you in stealth he said these craft do things that we can't do if we can master them
(38:32) and figure out how they do it we can match you in stealth capability so it was a very practical reason for the study and it went on for a long time he told me that they had had 45 incidents in which the Russian military planes encountered UFOs they had a standing order you see a UFO flying over Moscow go get it and in three of those encounters the planes were shot down and two of the pilots died this is not this is not funny stuff and he said after the two pilots died the order went out it was changed that if you see a UFO leave

(39:05) it alone and the second time I'm going back to Russia I interviewed a guy named Igor Maltsev who was there basically their secretary the Air Force he's the guy that issued that order and he said I did it because these UFOs whatever they are may have incredible capacities for retaliation I will tell you this how I smuggled some of these documents back what happens is in in Russia is there they're classified documents they stamp them on the top page and then the rest of it are not stamped classified at (39:34) least the documents we got so you remove that top page just throw the rest of that stuff in your suitcases what we did it's carrying these top pages got tricky well I got him out and if I hadn't I'd be in a gulag somewhere still I just divert to that story only to tell you that governments other governments around the world like our government has studied this stuff of course they would there was an incident in Russia similar to something that happened here at which the UFOs appeared over a UN ICBM base a
(40:11) base where these nuclear tipped missiles are aimed at the United States and these things popped up over a four hour period now all the witnesses who made these reports are military officers and I got all and so they described different things these UFOs did they were there were two some that were huge that split apart into smaller craft and then fused back together some of them just sat there some of them zipped around they made incredible maneuvers and then right after of being there for about four hours the launch control panels that (40:42) controls these ICBMs aimed at the United States lit up something entered the codes that enabled these missiles and they were ready to go and a countdown had begun and the Russians couldn't stop it and they were freaking and then the UFOs over the base go poof gone control panel goes back to normal Russians are shaking their head and wiping their brow they called my friend the Ministry of Defense guy Sokolov to send a team in to study it he took apart they were the equipment they couldn't find anything wrong they couldn't find (41:17) anything wrong it had never happened before and it never happened since and they concluded that these UFOs were somehow sending a message this may be your most powerful technology and weapons but it doesn't really impress us all that much we had a similar set of incidents here at five nuclear bases along the u.s.
(41:37) Canadian border in the mid-1970s it was kept secret for a long time but after the FOIA was became law they forced these documents out UFOs visited these bases one right after another over a two-week period encountered our warplanes we tried chase them couldn't do it they entered some codes they disabled some missiles scary stuff so when you tell me that UFOs are not in a turn F of national security you're full of crap and and that is the official version of our government and they are full of crap about this so anyway I think there's more than enough proof to (42:12) consider that this subject should be taken seriously back to the story of area 51 why don't we play this other tape here I'll just give you a little introduction to Bob Lazar the key for me was I'm never gonna prove that Bob Lazar worked at area 51 so I tried to settle on did he work at Los Alamos which he claimed where he worked there and classified projects and so we played a little game with Los Alamos National Lab for a couple of years and here's sort of how it goes there are problems with Bob's story here
(42:47) and there and and I'll talk about a couple of them but as I mentioned for me he was did he did he work at los alamos in sensitive positions because if he had been there then it at least plausible he could get hired to work out out somewhere else in sensitive positions and I think he was there I mean I interviewed people that worked with him and I'll tell you this I haven't talked about this very often but I went to Los Alamos we trespassed into the National Lab on a Sunday and Bob took me in we went to he he still had a a contract
(43:22) with the lab to produce radiation probes that were placed outside the laboratory so he took me there on a Sunday we flew to Los Alamos and he met us at the gate and we got in a car and drove in and he took us through these buildings the place where he never worked like a rabbit going through an underground maze I mean we were going all through people are waving at us and they showed us where he had worked we talked to people he had worked with and yet everybody's telling us he wasn't there we went in (43:49) and got video of this one of the world's biggest particle accelerators at the Mason facility where he worked and they still said he wasn't there eventually I got something out of Los Alamos lab in which they said all right we found the number for him he was here but he worked only for a subcontractor and they gave me the name of the subcontractor which was a headhunting company that had recruited him there so

I began a process with them and I first contacted him look this guy Lazar says you recruited him
(44:16) you got him a job there at Los Alamos do you have any records yeah we've got records well can I get them sure we'll send them to you a couple weeks ago buy records don't arrive I call back again yeah well can't really find those records so I start a series of writing letters I got a stack of letters this thick eventually they just stopped dealing with me at all they stopped responding period something changed you know and that was enough to really piqued my curiosity especially after talking to people who said that they (44:44) work with him there and I know it's a leap to make that to area 51 I know it's a leap but some things that Bob had said on the that you saw that newspaper headline excuse me on the day that that story appeared in the Los Alamos monitor Edward Teller was at Los Alamos given a lecture and he was sitting outside reading that newspaper article about Bob and his jet interest in jet cars and Bob walked by and he struck up a conversation this is the story that Bob tells and that is how he later when he was here in Las Vegas looking for (45:21) something else to do besides processing photos which he was doing for a period that he got he says he got an interview and EG&G that Edward Teller was the guy who arranged it years later after my stories came out Edward Teller was asked about it on camera and he gets really weird about it yeah maybe I knew him and maybe I don't what about kind of a thing and you know you'll never be able to prove it people that I know and trust you say that they have checked the records that Lazar was never at area 51
(45:50) I'll take their word for it I certainly have trouble with Bob's claimed credentials at schools he had claimed to have degree sort of MIT and Caltech now I've talked to people who saw him at Caltech but there's no no records there I think it is entirely possible that he would exaggerate his educational background in order to get a great job he wouldn't be the first person to do that he wouldn't be the first person to jut to lie about his background in education in order to get a good job and you have to wonder well
(46:20) wouldn't the people who hired him know that and yeah they would they would have to they do a background check they'd have to know that but I think in was some way that Bob could have been the perfect person for that that position if you wanted to example test some theory run something up a flagpole see how the public would react about a story about flying saucers he might be the guy to do it he's technically proficient he's an amazing guy you walk in a room I don't care who's in the room
(46:47) he's the smartest guy there whether he has degrees from MIT or Caltech or not he just knows amazing stuff and can do anything with electronics or computers he's a really smart guy and I got to know him pretty well I got to know him through a guy named gene Huff who I hope was going to invite him here tonight gene was a real estate appraiser who worked with Bob and who also knew John Lear and that's how that coalesced a lot of people think it was Lear the Svengali who sucked Bob in and and got him to (47:20) tell all these crazy stories and in order I don't know what in order to do what but that's not the way it went down those guys were friends Bob was out there for a period of a couple of months from late 1988 until about April 1989 he had some personal issues that were going on his phones were being tapped as part of the security background is a story that he told and the guys who were listening in on the phones and checking his background found that that his wife was having an affair and they told him
(47:51) and sort of things just kind of fell apart fertilizer after that he didn't like the work he was doing out there he said the security was ridiculous that they hadn't made much progress but he told some really interesting stories about seeing these flying saucers out there in the hangars I know a lot of people have trouble believing that but there's some other things that Bob knew that you have to ask yourself how did he know if he wasn't there so we got a win another guy a former police officer who done polygraph exams
(48:23) in fact he did it for he still does it for a major casino corporation a corporation but by the way is represented here tonight and he's very credible guy he took his time he went through the all the material with Lazar talked to about flying saucers antimatter reactors which is what the power source was the element 115 which was the fuel all that stuff gave him the test four times and he passed and it's not he'd barely passed he passed funny questioned passed wasn't even close that polygraph examiner his name is Terry

(48:59) Tabb Burnett II he gave the results to his friend who's a another examiner who looked at it who said yeah no question about it a third guy looked at the results and said he passed a fourth guy said well you know I'd like to see him ask some more questions but he thought he passed as well he passed it not no question about it I guess it's possible to do it but Bob had never taken a polygraph before before I asked him to do it as far as I know still even with all that I'm not sure that I would have gone forward with the (49:32) story except the fact that after we aired that silhouette interview people started calling me with more information people who said that they'd worked out there and I won't give you all of them but I'll tell you that there are more than two dozen of them who had claimed to have some kind of knowledge little bits and pieces of the story out there six of those people who called me and offered to give me information were visited after they called and told to keep their mouths shut this is a kind of (50:00) thing it really ticks me off because somebody was listening to my phone it wasn't theirs it was mine there's a lady who works even now in the Clark County Court system in the court system she's been there a long time but before she was there she worked as a secretary for a defense contractor called Holmes annarbor which has worked at the test site for a number of years unclassified stuff and she says she sat in on meetings at which the Roswell wreckage was discussed she took took notes on a typewriter the
(50:31) after it was done the meeting was done they took the ribbon out of this thing and destroyed it she says they talked about the Roswell stuff coming to area 51 she told this to a cop who's a friend of mine he set up a meeting we talked about it on the phone we're gonna get together the next day she gets visited by these two guys who say you know you're still under your security oath is still in effect you can't talk about anything it happened back then we know that you and your daughter travel back and forth
(50:57) between Los Angeles there's a lot of desert out there we'd hate for something to happen to either one of you this lady was scared scared to death that's 20 years later I tried to get her to talk about it she still wouldn't I had a guy who worked at channel 8 as an electrical engineer who had been at air 851 for a while says he saw what looked like a flying saucer under a tarp and was going to tell me about it he had moved to another city I called him up he's a living in Seattle and I called him up said hey
(51:25) would you tell me that story I'll black out your face he says sure just so long as you don't give my identity next morning there's two guys sitting in a car outside his house military haircuts sunglasses look like men and black or something talking into a radio making themselves very obvious they follow him to work they're waiting when he comes out of work and follow him home of course he calls me and says the interview is off I'm not gonna do it I had a guy named Roy Byram who does tax returns and he did tax returns for a lot
(51:53) of high-ranking guys at Nellis Air Force Base and after the Lazar interview called me up he said hey I got some information for you because these guys I got to know him really well and they told me some stories about these disks these alien disks that are out there swear to god he says that they told me the story I said great I'll come in to interview you next day very next day two guys from they said the Secret Service show up they said we hear you've been making threats against the life of the president and we're just telling you
(52:19) that's a prosecutable offense you could go to prison for this he wrote back to me said I think it's an attempt to to stifle tight for me from talking to you he was still wouldn't he go forward with it but I didn't know if it was a good idea six people right in a row that happened to that that makes a big impression on me back in those days and that would now and it made me really angry a lot of other people came forward with information that I met with people who had varying degrees of experience
(52:47) out there at 51 but is some of whom's background I could convince I could confirm some of them I could not there was a guy there was a story a guy named Michael hunt who surfaced in 1980 Wood said he had worked for the AEC at Groom Lake in the 60s claimed he saw an alien disc in flight had a lot of really detailed information that who came forward and told his story there was a Wackenhut security guard who had a queue clearance at the test site from 1984 to 88 said he was pulling a shift that the internal entrance area 51 they were (53:20) buzzed by this glowing object at night there was a a Las Vegas attorney who served in the military in the 70s says he witnessed a disc-shaped craft land outside of area 51 seemed to have be in some kind of mechanical difficulty he was subjected to several days of tough questioning after seeing this thing and told that he didn't in fact see it there was a golf pro from Nellis Air Force Base who liked the tax guy had struck up conversations and friendships with these Nellis Air Force guys and went on these (53:51) outer outer road trips he said they were out of town watching a TV space about Roswell and these guys farad tell him this story now maybe they were pulling his leg but they seem very serious he thought they were serious and they told him that the wreckage some of that stuff and eventually made its way to Nevada and not necessarily just area 51 the stories I heard about it whether they had gone to a place called Indian Springs which existed as a base before area 51 was opened in 1955 and then it was a guy I'll tell you about two more

(54:23) one of them if you heard about this this book on area 51 by a lady named Annie Jacobson I know it's a really bestseller it popped up and and has made a bunch of I've got a lot of attention it's a really excellent history of the Roadrunners and the base and the really great stuff that went on and then it goes off the deep end at the end of this book it says that that based on the testimony of one EG&G senior engineer that yeah there were saucers out there at area 51 they came from Roswell but (54:58) they weren't alien the Russians had built them they had taken these Nazi scientists and some spindly prisoners of war who'd been subjected to experiments by Josef Mengele they built this flying saucer based on Nazi designs but these prisoners of war in as the pilots flew it over to across the ocean to Roswell and crashed it to scare the hell out of the American public that we were being invaded by aliens that sounds pretty much ridiculous except that the person who told that story to Annie and it's (55:36) been widely ridiculed and dismissed because of how ridiculous it is it is ridiculous except for the fact that the guy who told her that I know it is because twenty years ago I basically stalked him there were members of his family who hinted to me that he knew something about area 51 this is not a Bob Lazar this is not guy whose credentials can be questioned he really was in the places where he said he worked he really was in a position to know with high clearances I am NOT saying that the person identified as (56:09) Annie source is my source I'm just saying that that the same person by confirming that the name that's been made public in reference to her book is the right one does that that would be wrong because I made a promise for one thing I made a promise that I wouldn't talk about it anyway this guy's family tells me he knows something about it so I start showing up in places where he is and I just ingratiate myself I'm stalking him basically until I got to know him and he invited me home to see his scrapbooks
(56:36) from the atomic energy program nuclear bomb photos and photos of the old days working for EG&G and I'm there one day and he he's looking at it and he's shown me stuff and he closes the book and he goes you're not here to ask me about that are you ice no not really this is not what you're interested at all I said no not really I know what you're interested in yeah that's right and his wife walks in she goes oh don't tell him that stuff but he did eventually he did over the next two years he and I had a (57:05) series of meetings at different places having coffee and it was like pulling teeth to get him to come out with this stuff but the story he told me is much different from the one that ended up in this book no Nazis no Joseph Stalin no prisoners of war it was straight-up alien stuff and and I would have to ask him questions to get this stuff out I would ask him well gosh weren't you scared this thing was gonna crash or something or it would it would get out he said we were more concerned about it getting out it and they told me they had (57:39) a live alien out there now I know how ridiculous it sounds we're sitting here it sounds ridiculous but given who this guy was where he had worked I took it pretty seriously eventually after a period of two years of him telling me this stuff and I wasn't allowed to take notes I wouldn't write it all down as much as I could remember after we had these meetings but he promised me he said that he'd been told to shut up that he was no longer supposed to talk to me now what happened was there was a congressional (58:09) investigator with high security clearances who was sent out here to check this stuff out some members of Congress the Senate had an interest in these topics the stories had come out flying saucers Aurora secret program that weren't on the book get out there and find out what's going on since guy came and saw me I told him

the story about the other guy he got clearances to talk to him and to talk to his boss and once once the that word was out he stopped talking to me altogether but he did make a promise (58:39) that he was gonna make a videotape that would be released to me after he's his death he's still alive but I the last time I saw him he said he did make the tape final witness I'll tell you is this that helped convince me that this was a legitimate topic and that I haven't said this before in public and it's senator Howard cannon who was a senator from Nevada before he was a US senator here he was a brigadier general he was a decorated war hero world war 2 he flew everything when Howard cannon was (59:11) defeated in his last race he was such a good friend of the military had done so much to build Nellis had such a good relationship with the guys in charge of area 51 the guys from Lockheed that they allowed him to fly the sr-71 sort of a going-away present so he was dialed his best friend in the United States Senate was Senator Barry Goldwater Barry Goldwater even though he's a Republican they're good buddies they work together back then that could happen back in those days I know it seems alien now but (59:44) Democrats the Republicans talk to each other had had drinks together anyway Barry Goldwater was his best friend and cannon would started telling stuff to me through his family members who I knew pretty well and I finally had a face-to-face meeting with him toward the end of his life and did probably what was the last interview I ever did and we touched on some of this stuff but I asked him about Barry Goldwater had tried it was this chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee and he had heard these stories about wright-patterson Air
(1:00:15) Force Base and and the Blue Room our pride that the hangar 18 and so he called up his friend general Curtis LeMay said I want to get in there I want to see it and the maid told him basically you know not only is the answer no but he'll know and don't you ever ask again and Goldwater is like whoa you know I'm uh I'm decorated war hero myself he says he was a general I believe he is the Senate Intelligence Committee Chairman has all the security clearances he needs what do you mean no I mean no and don't ask
(1:00:47) again so Goldwater late later wrote letters about it so I asked Howard cannon about this stuff and it was clear to me that he and Goldwater had talked about it not only about hangar 18 but about area 51 flying saucers he told me basically look what would have been the point I Heilmann he came close to saying I think I could have got into hangar 18 but he said what would have been the point of either of us getting in there or going area 51 to see this stuff we couldn't tell anybody about what we had seen and if we did tell him what we know
(1:01:18) is out there they think we're crazy Howard cannon is is know Bob Lazar I like Bob and everything but there's no disputing his credentials Howard candidates credentials he was there in positions of power he did have friends in the highest places in the government and in military and intelligence circles so when he intimates to me that the saucers were real that they were somewhere in wright-patterson or somewhere out in the desert I believed him 1992 things took a bad turn for me and bob lazar bob comes to me i was out of channel 8
(1:02:00) working on some private projects bob comes to me and says hey by the way i'm i'm involved in this little brothel operation it's a legal brothel it's operating in a couple of apartment buildings i got to know the lady run to running and I'm trying to help her right put in some security cameras and computer codes and stuff like gotta go are you kidding me I know he says oh yeah by the way it's on the same street where you live my professional life flashes before my eyes I I don't know I
(1:02:30) don't know what to do I said I don't believe you show it to me and he took me to it and sure enough there it is I I told him look you you've got to shut this down people want you to crash and burn you're you're probably being followed come to find out he was being followed by a team from another TV station they hadn't got onto that yet but it was only a matter of time the hooker he was involved with had two vice cops who were boyfriend's of hers it was a matter of time I said you got to shut (1:02:58) this down get out of this I'm gonna call the cops and tell him about it and and hopefully you got a past I was a bad decision was a bad decision on my part because we did tell it Bob did shut it down did get out of it we did tell the cops but they didn't let it pass they were afraid we were maybe tested him or something so they came and arrested him I mean you know what not a whole lot of people get arrested for pandering in Nevada and Bob was facing multiple felony counts and and this is kind of a key insight I think into his character

(1:03:29) is that parole and probation did this big background check on Bob and if you were a con man and they were mad at him they recommended he should do hard time because he's lying to us about his background if you were a con man telling a story that you made up about flying saucers and being recruited by the Navy and EG&G and all this stuff that was the time to come clean but he didn't he stuck to his guns in that story and he and he told the same story to them as he told to me in the course of that
(1:04:04) trial proceedings we got a letter from congressman Bilbray who had tried to help me get records on Lazar and he his office said you know it frankly we have never seen anything like it we write to the FBI and say do you know something about this guy who wants to know is basically the response not they didn't tell him we don't have any information on the guy they said you have no right to know about it it's a congressman so you know you could say what you want about Bob and and the weakness isn't a story or what school he
(1:04:35) went to or what he really did or didn't do but in a lot of ways he might have been the perfect guy for a program like this if you wanted to run it up the flagpole and see how the public reacted and then pull the rug out from under it he was a perfect guy scientifically proficient very knowledgeable but if you needed his credit him you could I mean he flew up a pirate flag on us on his on his house he loved machine guns he loved hookers he liked jet cars he was a really interesting guy who'd had troubles in
(1:05:07) his personal life and if you wanted to discredit him you could and I think in that way he might have been the most qualified person for that job which is why I still believe it's possible that he could have really been there you know I don't know if there were flying saucers from other planets at area 51 I'm never gonna know but I do know that there is more than a few people who say that they saw something that looks very much like it out there and who have bits and pieces of the same story that bob has told me the pursuit
(1:05:39) of the UFO story as I mentioned taken me all over the world to it to Russia and China and South America and Europe and and and has taught me a lot of a lot of things but my views have certainly changed from those days when we started there's a guy named know Jacques Jacques Vallee dr.
(1:05:56) Jacques PLA if you've seen the movie Close Encounters Francois Truffaut plays the character based on Jacques Vallee and he told me some years ago I'm gonna be really disappointed if it turns out that the answer that the UFO mystery is merely aliens from other planets coming here because I don't think that's what it is and neither do I anymore one of these days I'll come back here and talk to you about skinwalker ranch but I think I think this this is not just visitors from other planets coming here than it is part of something
(1:06:25) much bigger much more wondrous much more mysterious and a lot harder for us to get our heads around but we need another two days to probably go into that thanks thank you very much [Applause] question is have I met an abductee who had some credibility yeah and some of them right here in in Las Vegas couple in rural Nevada you put them through a hypnosis session which is not always reliable but they they come out of it separately describing the same kind of beings the same kind of experiences there is in some of those cases physical
(1:07:04) evidence Sekai name Budd Hopkins who just died a couple of months ago who wrote missing time and a couple of other classic books in the field you know there are people who who claim to be abducted who want attention who have mental disorders maybe it's epilepsy or some other kind of physical problem but there are other cases it can't be explained that way and if you you're looking for a blanket explanation as some people would like to do to explain that all away you've got to explain all of them there's some of (1:07:34) those cases that have multiple witnesses multiple independent witnesses who've seen it from different angles and some physical evidence I met a lady named Betty Betty and Barney Betty Hill which is the first famous abduction case met her at a UFO conference one time that's a pretty good case and then I met a lady named Betty Ann Driessen as well that's a pretty good case I tend to think you need to be careful with those stories because there are people who confabulate things and make them up some of them are (1:08:04) just not very easy to explain away though well I'll answer that in a couple of ways one is that in the 1960 the Brookings Institute was tasked with doing a study for our government said what would happen if suddenly was revealed extraterrestrials have been visiting us for all all time and they basically predicted that society would completely collapse that unless there was a conditioning program to get us ready for this that we would collapse it would be like a cargo cult where some primitive tribe we encounter in Borneo

(1:08:38) or in the Amazon we know how that ends up it's the primitive tribe the more primitive tribe that disintegrates and we would definitely be the more primitive tribe in this in this scenario that was true then since that study in 1960 is there anybody who wasn't prepared for aliens I mean they're everywhere they're in everything every movie and TV show every book everywhere I think we would be ready for the general concept when I did this story back in 1989 I did a little survey of all these different religious faiths all
(1:09:09) of them said the same thing it's testament to the greater glory of God that there are people out there other people coming here I think they saw us great good more souls to save more more alien ducats in the collection box or something so I don't think we would I don't think we would disintegrate with the general idea that aliens are coming here to visit us because they've been gumming a long time they haven't blown us up yet so what's the threat however what if the ultimate disclosure is not that simple what if
(1:09:42) they are describing something else entirely by the way yeah the aliens are here they're not really from other planets they are actually interdimensional beings they live here among us all the time separated by a thin psychic membrane of some sort they can see everything you do they can they know when you're in the shower they know when you're cheating on your taxes they can read your mind they can interact with our lot our lives at any time come and go as they please at will you can't see them you can't
(1:10:12) know it how do you like that you talk about people freaking out now that would I would have you freaking out and I think society would disintegrate yeah well I just like I think I don't think there was going to come a day when disclosure happens but the effects would depend on what it is that they disclosed well Phoenix lights case I think is pretty good case as thousands and thousands of people saw it there's videotape of it it's nothing that our government has in its arsenal that we know of that was ten years ago or so
(1:10:50) they made a feeble attempt to explain it away as flares coming from parachutes no we had no military craft in the area they were that wasn't us we don't know what the heck it was you guys are imagining it oh oh that's right we had some planes there and we were dropping flares and parachutes and that must be what you saw it wasn't it wasn't planes and parachutes in fact it started here it was seen first over Henderson and then went to Phoenix as for the historian it down no needles it's kind
(1:11:19) of complicated but some witnesses saw a giant glowing cylinder come flying out of the sky it landed just off the Colorado River nearly hit a guy in a in a in a houseboat within a couple of minutes a whole Armada of helicopters came including a sky crane out of the sky picked this thing up and flew it off toward Nevada and in the days that passed and I've talked to witnesses in various places who saw this this in different stages in the days after that these like men and black type guys start showing up in needles and in that area
(1:11:54) Bullhead City and and hasslein people who had talked about it on the radio and so we started going down there and found these people said you know you can't believe we've keep seeing these phalanxes of strange vehicles and military looking guys in sunglasses zipping through here and back and forth see them all the time so we kept going down week after week after week to try to catch him and sure enough we did we cut caught up to him this we saw this group we're heading back to town all these cars these strange vehicles just (1:12:24) as described and tenon's stuff sticking out so we zipped around and chased after him and I had a little camera in the front we get up close to him guys with sunglasses military cuts I start shooting video they're talking to the radio pretty soon they pull over one pulls over we pull over behind it somebody pulls up behind us guy jumps out civilian clothes he's moving a shirt like this I can see he's packing a weapon underneath of it oh this is this looks bad he comes over you guys get off the side of the road
(1:12:57) get out of our way who are you who you with what are you doing and we're in an unmarked car we're not we don't have any channel 8 stuff we worked with channel 8 who are you guys know who are you show me your ID I said I'd like to see your ID he flashes a badge real quick I didn't get to see that and then he does it again and it this he says he's working with the Nevada Test Site I said great good I got lots of friends out there we do stuff all the time maybe we can ask her what you're doing because

(1:13:22) we're working on the story about this crazy thing and needles he says no I'm not gonna tell you what we're doing get off the side of the road stop hassling us or you gonna be taken into custody so we continue shooting video they take off and it turns out they work for an agency another agency I'd never heard of before the OST the office of secure transportation I get back to Las Vegas or somebody a friend of mine Collins had that was a bad move because these guys are badass their job is to transport
(1:13:48) nuclear weapons and they are trained somebody messes with them on the road to take them out and in fact we learn subsequently their vehicles are capable even if they were killed their vehicles could kill you by themselves so anyway I got the I got to know these guys that nope I've never heard of you let's do a story about it their national director came out they were doing some training at the Nevada Test Site we got up there got to do an exclusive story got to know them there are amazing people that did
(1:14:16) an amazing job but they had nothing to do with the men in black who are messing around with the folks and needles it was just a coincidence that they're going through the area at the same time that stuff was going on but it was a very cool story to do I would just say in closing this is a fun pursuit and it's a grand story and even if I never get the any answers that you can really point to definitively it's been a grand adventure and a worthwhile pursuit and I think it's something that you should be if you're (1:14:48) interested in these topics and you have a curious nature it's nothing to be ashamed of than it is if it came to be true and could be proven it would be the biggest event in human history the confirmation of some other kind of intelligence being among us or visiting us would be the biggest thing ever and it would change everything and that's why I think it is a noble pursuit that is worth your time and I thank you all for coming [Applause] [Music] you [Music]

Saucers, Bodies, Debris - The Lost Tapes Of UFO Whistleblower Col. Corso : WEAPONIZED : EPISODE #43 - YouTube

Transcript:
(00:01) coming up in this week's episode of weaponized Philip poro now this is a a really serious military guy that that really came to you before he was ever public did my best to record the story that he told and I thought you know this is footage that most of which has not been seen so I thought we could play some of it so in the in the files that you had there was a report on an autopsy yeah the thing intered me was the limp gland part and digestive system which didn't exist he also told a story about being at White Sands uh New Mexico at
(00:35) that base and being out in the desert and meeting an alien later something mysterious happened that disappeared but anyway that's another story and all the material disappear the the saucer [Music] so Secrets coverups and strange phenomena UFOs and ideas that challenge reality itself all these Mysteries all this time we ever going to get to the bottom of these my my name is George knap I dig into news stories that others can't or won't I'm Jeremy Corbell and for some reason people tell me things
(01:08) they probably shouldn't and this is [Music] weaponized this is weaponized Jeremy long time no see yeah nice to be in the studio man good to see you so 2023 might be remembered as the year that stories about reverse engineering and crash saucers went from folklore to a front burner issue because of a testimony under oath of David grush we know that there are other Witnesses who've come forward spoke to grush the information has been transmitted to the Department of Defense to the Inspector General uh of the intelligence Community uh there's (01:44) a lot of heft behind the story about Crash saucers reverse engineering stories that we heard from Bob Lazar long long ago uh but that is not the first time this stuff has come up before so I thought we might talk about today about Colonel Philip Corso yeah absolutely and you have a very unique and I'm glad our audience gets to hear this from you you know you've kind of been at the Forefront of everything man recording people before they were known and public so of course you broke the Bob Lazar story our friend Bob you know
(02:12) you broke that story in silhouette talking about reverse engineering but

Philip horo now this is a a really serious military guy that that really came to you before he was ever public before he wrote his book day after Roswell which is real famous now and he had some pretty astounding claims but who who was first he was a real military guy real guy so uh 1992 I had taken some leave away from Channel 8 K to work on a series of UFO documentaries uh UFO is the best evidence which we hope would be become a a long running series just didn't work (02:46) out that way but I get a call from a colleague of mine named Mark solder he was a reporter for Cairo in Seattle and the reason we knew each other as we were both working on stories about PS that have been left behind in Vietnam and in Korea and Mark solder uh was aware that I had an interest in that issue he had gained testimony from a guy named Colonel Philip Coro Corso appeared before a senate committee and told them that hundreds of Americans soldiers had been left behind abandoned in Korea and it was highly controversial testimony at (03:19) the time but in the years that followed it proved to be pretty much true uh I think he also said the same thing about Vietnam but along with that conversation with my friend Mark solder he told this other story about UFOs crashed saucers Roswell and Mark thought well that's my baileywick so he called me up and and told me about it and I reached out to corso and we struck up a friendship and had multiple longterm conversations on the phone about what he knew and he told me this incredible story that he had (03:49) seen the Roswell wreckage that he had seen an alien uh body that uh you know that he had as part of his official duties for the US Army seated a private companies and Labs with alien technology to give them a little boost in in producing what we now know as really dramatic high-tech instruments and and technology so I thought wow that's a pretty wild story I said would you be interested in telling that story on camera would you come out to Las Vegas and he said yeah and for a while he wanted me to write his book he thought I
(04:22) was the guy to write the book that eventually became the day after Roswell we bought him a ticket roundt trip non-refundable for some reason and the day before he's supposed to come out I get a call from a guy who turned out to be his new agent who said we're not coming uh we're not going to we we're doing something else we're going in a different direction and that was that that was a big disappointment but it wasn't the end of the sto end of the road my road with Colonel Corso Flash
(04:48) Forward four years later 1996 Robert Bigalow has created something called nids the National Institute for Discovery Science I was sort of a consultant a friend of big Low's and also a consultant to them and they were looking for ideas on on things to do this is before Bigalow bought what we now know a Skinwalker Ranch so I I occurred to me as they're looking for projects to investigate I do this guy Philip CSO enough time has gone by water under the bridge I knew the 50th anniversary of Roswell was coming and (05:19) the book that I was originally asked to write was probably in in production so I just reached out to him and called him up and he talked to me again and I said I'm working with some guys uh including some EX government intelligence folks and they're interested in your story can we come and see you and he said yeah uh he lived in in Jupiter Florida I think or um a little town outside of Jupiter Florida so Bigalow gives us his jet uh John Alexander and I jump on the plane with another nids guy we stop in Austin
(05:50) Texas picked up a fell named Dr Hal put off and flew on to Florida and spend some time with Corso over a couple of days uh we go to his house and Corso did not want his family to overhear what he was going to say cuz I guess apparently it was kind of sensitive with them and they didn't want him spilling all the beans to some Outsiders before the book came out so we all went outside into an RV and sat there for multiple hours and he told this story and I brought along a little camera I am not a talented pH
(06:19) photographer like you Jeremy but I did my best to record this story that he told and I thought you know this is footage that most of which has not been seen so I thought we could play some of it yeah and so this is the the first time that he has gone on camera and and you back in the day were able to get this interview so let's just back up a second so Philip Corso sounds to me like he was a military whistleblower about prisoners of war and he testified to Congress yes so so look you got a guy who's already like a whistleblower he's (06:48) like no I'm going to tell the truth about something in a rough situation then he tells you all the stuff about UFOs now the core that I know of his claims was that reverse engineering programs were indeed going on that we got what we call derivative Technologies so there are certain things from UFO exploitation reverse engineering programs that were seeded into Private Industry of course he took credit preceding it yeah but whether that's true or not his basic premise was that things like uh you know particle (07:17) beam technology I remember something to do with uh capacitors I remember even uh Kevlar he said all of this stuff and you know fiber optics was a result of reverse engineering UFOs it's very strange because now we're sitting in a world where it's much more possible to understand that we are reverse engineering UFOs we have been for a long time so it rings true to some degree that there would be derivative Technologies maybe Colonel Corso was telling us the truth all as a whistleblower all the way back then (07:49) what's Your Gut on that I think he was telling the truth as he knows it and I think that probably they did do a seating uh operation and put this out there now of course the industries that are based on these multi-million dollar Technologies and businesses they all deny it they said no no no we did it all on our own and of course you probably um that their case is pretty strong that they they figured it out on their own uh but I I suspect that if they had something that seeded it and started them off down this road they wouldn't (08:17) admit it that it came from somewhere else but Carl Corso was a real guy I I know a lot of people found his story about this technology and its original source to be hard to believe but I know in the course of nid investigating his background they found out he was a real guy who really had these amazing jobs and was a highlevel trusted intelligence officer who had done some amazing things had won High Awards had had worked very closely with uh during the Korean War he worked for General MacArthur who was the (08:46) commander of the forces there in World War II he had been an intelligence Chief in in Rome and had helped sort of govern the the the country of Italy after World War II he rescued something like 10,000 Jews got him out of Rome and Palestine which is the newly created Jewish State and uh he did a lot of amazing things and in I think it's 1961 yeah porn 1961 he becomes chief of what they called the foreign technology division for the Department of Defense and boy we didn't know how foreign this technology really was but he said there

(09:22) was a uh a file cabinet there that had crashed retrievable materials from Roswell yeah so people say you know foreign Technologies division of the Pentagon you know of development that's like anything foreign to us right so it could be a Russian spy plane it could be something more exotic but this is a guy in position to know it's a guy in position to have his hands on this stuff I found it also interesting that around um his work there was uh who is it Admiral starts with an H his name he was first Hill Hiller first head of the CIA
(09:57) was always rumored to be part of this as well well somebody that he worked with so it's like when you look at somebody's past through the lens of today it's much more plausible that what he said in his book da after Roswell is true that there are these developments that that were gleaned from the reverse engineering of UFOs so man that's what's so kind of incredible about the hearings that just happened with with David grash and Commander fraver and Lieutenant Graves was that really open to Pandora's Box
(10:25) where now we we have we have some questions we need answers to is is it true what David grush said Is it true that there are these exploitation programs not only of Hardware but of Biologicals I mean that's that's the the number one question who has it hands on you and I have talked to people who are currently working in agencies that claim to have these experiences Hands-On experiences I mean we are so close to getting that truth I hope it can be public yeah well Coro again he his career care is documentable it's not
(11:01) like he was a mystery man who whose career path can't be documented he's a real guy who had these amazing positions as an intelligence officer he had a distinguished career he worked under MacArthur he worked under this General Arthur Trudeau who was the boss of that technology division in the Pentagon uh foreign technology is also the term that Wright Patterson has always used for their secret projects there which is kind of an interesting coincidence but um uh so Corso really did have these jobs and uh the the case he makes in his book (11:32) The Day After Roswell which didn't come out until 97 the 50th anniversary of the crash um is pretty strong one and so we recorded an interview with him there in that RV in Florida and I thought we could play a little bit of that and then we'll get into some other things the following is an interview with Philip J Corso recorded in 1996 in Florida you say you also had uh reports on bodies on alien bodies I had yeah that came from uh Walder Reed were they pretty I mean they they definitely said not that these were (12:13) genetic humans or something no here's what uh the report the thing that I was mostly interested in in the report was the two loaves in the brain there are two loes there mhm and this movie showed part of that they didn't know what they had though right uh there was two loaves in the brain and in connector and also the lid that's where I got the information on the extra lid extra eyelid and we figured that that extra eyelid was nothing more than a uh something like our night viewing device you know it filtered light M did the did

(12:54) the actual autopsies get done at Walter Reed they did this particular autopsy the the paper I had physically at Walder Reed I don't know if it done physically there or not I couldn't tell you okay but the report came out of Walder Reed the report came out of at our laboratory we financed that laboratory there was there was a crash at the plane of St Augustine at the same time as Rosell or later later no about the same time mhm and a lot of the fiber optics came from there and there was that one crashed
(13:20) there had an opening and there was bodies there too mhm St Augustine was galled up in a hurry later something mysterious happened it disappeared but anyway that's another story all the material disappear the the saucer self but anyway that's let me did you have they come and take it back or was it traded back there was supposed to be a forign explosion but since it didn't exist nobody could talk about it you know one of our greatest covers I say was the policy that says that UFOs didn't exist if there didn't exist there was no
(13:56) crash if there was no crash there was no material nobody could investigate us because there was no such thing right and we played that up we moved that ahead the more the the debunkers screamed the more better we liked it they're doing the disinformation for us I I got a question I'm just I don't know if you remember this or not but did did Colonel Corso ever talk about bodies from the Roswell crash he did he told me a story that he had seen a body I'm trying to remember where it was Fort Riley Kansas Maybe that it was in a
(14:29) hanger and I'm trying to remember it I haven't seen this material in a while but I think it was at Fort Riley Kansas in a hangar there is where he saw he saw an alien body he also told a story about being at Whit Sands uh New Mexico at that base and being out in the desert and meeting an alien and an a live alien in a cave who gave him a message something to the effect of you know it's a new world if you can take it or if you can keep it something like that uh we should probably go to that clip and see (14:56) if I can find where he where he recounted that story personally yeah they uh they must have been afraid of our Radars because my encounter and I gold mine was so would you uh shut your Radars down yeah tell me about that again it was noisy last night stupidly I made the I the answer what's in it what do you offer I I oppose in terms give me something if you want me to do something right and I I said that in subun so I didn't say what I you offer I said the what do you offer I didn't say what do you give me or what do I trade sure what (15:43) was the answer a new world if you can take it if you can take it what's he mean by that yeah I don't know for sure did he mean if we can take it for is it too much for us or can we take it back here's what he look like this is red now I thought this was a snake at first so you could actually you actually saw him in front of you that that's the guy I saw that's when I pulled the gun on was a workless gesture put they 45 do well I don't know I never fired although I had some scatter shots how (16:28) far away are you the what distance between you and and this being about from here the front of the motor home well that's like 8 10 ft yeah the skin is scaly right I'm I think at the scal the skin is atomically aligned so they can travel in space we see man can't travel in space today how long were you in contact I mean you this is I say my two experiences didn't last more than uh if you say two or three minutes it was a lot no I haven't had any other experiences my only experience was in (17:06) the gold in New Mexico mhm not on any other place well what after you got this a new world if you can take it then what happened did it just disappear or did it get in the craft and take off I left I disappear I left you left I got on my I went out to my Jeep got on my radio I didn't say I didn't tell the the being that I do it I went up to my radio and got on and I called my command posts and I told him uh you get green time yet from uh why say I said yes they said it's do com through any minute so (17:42) we could fire again I told him when it comes through I told him this is an order keep our Radars down for 10 minutes and I told him I repeat the order to the captain I told him keep our radar down for 10 minutes I'm on my way then I get a call back on radio when I was on my way mhm it said the C battery picked up a trajectory going 3,000 miles an hour this must been let me see the tape okay now you had this uh these uh records from Walter Reed on the autopsies and you talked about the fact they had this uh scaly skin that was put (18:25) together in a certain fashion so on did they ever come to a conclusion like these were manufactured biological robots or uh the only conclusion was I think we all came to this together because of the uh sex organs and the different organs in the what it lper systems lungs and and stomach were they were there was a clone now if you go back to the days of the uh samarians they call them EES they say they're a fairy drivers of what they are the real ones up there in mother ships now no one's ever explored the (19:08) suan Sitkin wrote this nobody's ever explored the Sumerian civilization I think the key is there they disappeared after a while I think the Sumerian maybe wor the mother ship and they tried to wipe out the human race you know Northeast but anyway you got to go back in history and and see the samarians what they say and they called them EG's igig g i you you think they were manufactured for space travel or or time travel or something well I think they were manufactured as servants now my theory is what do they (19:53) want here do they want a new race because one of the strangest things as far as far as I'm concerned is on these mutilations they took the sexs and the nearest thing to the human sex organ are cattle sex organs and by the way they cut those with a type of laser cutter which didn't even cut through the cells cut cut around them yeah it cut around the cells that's how good how perfect it was I have no such thing a handheld cutter laser we have no such thing man you have just this Archive of never before seen it was the first time

(20:32) that he ever talked on camera and you know we've got a few clips of that here but what what was that like in that sometimes people tell you something to your mind you're like okay I get it reverse engineering but I met an alien in a cave like how what does that do to your brain yeah that stretches a little bit you're wondering okay is this guy a c uh so you know leaving with how put off and Alexander Colonel Alexander we fly back what do you make of that well let's dig into his background see what
(20:59) we can confirm which is what John did he went to some national archives in DC spent a couple of weeks putting a back a background report together and then uh we told Robert Bigalow about this he says let's bring him out to Las Vegas which we did a few weeks after we had gone to Florida he comes out meets with nids folks Dr jacqu valet flies in we sit there in in a room and and they put uh Corso through his Paces over a course of about four or five hours and again I sat there and recorded um not very well
(21:29) on this little kindy camera and uh we got a lot of that footage so we can play some of that as well the following Clips are from a never beeseen interview with Philip J Corso taken in 1996 in Las Vegas Nevada present in this interview with me were Robert Bigalow Hal POF Colonel John B Alexander and jacqu valet well I picked up a trajectory sometime in the morning what happened was this what happened was this my boys called called me and they said we picked up something traveling pretty fast we don't know the speed we
(22:03) don't Lo on but we got a trajectory and it came it came the boys told me and the tape showed us that the thing came this direction it came this direction and fell the trajectory looked like this so I call White Sands I told him not white lie I told say I lost an AR cat did you pick up any trajectory they said yes for the game was trajectory and it matched this one later on I found out at home and it picked up something same day so when I picked up the trajectory I called my pilot cuz I had a little Airfield up there I had five
(22:46) airplanes and there was a two-seater on those grasshoppers was my private so I called the pilot and we used to take kichi and the boys would go pick up all the used to go in and wet it and roll it we get like concrete and that was our Airfield so I went out with a pilot and we looked down we saw something shining and P asked me what is it I told I make one of the boosters but I know it wasn't a booster I see boosters air I used to fly around a lot out there and White Sands knew i f around out there then I figured I start bothering me I got a go (23:27) on the ground so my command car was no good and I want to take a Jeep so I called for w to send me up a command car remember those big command cars and it was perfect for the desert because when I got the command car they sent it right up it took about 3 or four hours to get there so I told my boys boys I'm leaving I'll be back a couple hours so I took off in the command car I was driving myself and I took my gun a water bottle electronic equipment and a compass and I took off and this is a route that I took now I don't know if (23:59) exactly this far but I passed Trinity site it was south of me and I caught right cross country in the desert as a big command car I could do that I couldn't do it in the sometimes in the Jeep but those big wheels on that thing and I cut straight across and I had the coordinates I had a pretty good map and when I looked to check the coordinates I got near there I got my B off down there was nothing there I couldn't see anything what the hell and I kept checking the cor I fig is the right place then this damn thing appeared and (24:32) right away some mind I'm in the desert by myself am I seeing things is this hallucination cuz I'm out here all by myself 110 was I still remember that day cuz I had this long one oh the damn thing appeared then I timed it I my wristwatch on I think it was I have it in here it just a few minutes minutes and disappeared again right the way I started figuring Bo I am going a little bit nutty this must be an hallucination because these things don't happen damn thing appeared it disappeared and appeared (25:14) again and I figured I'm not going on and I stopped a piece from it about two 300 yards I'm not going near that damn thing what if it appears over top of me no W know what the hell happened to me so then disappeared and appeared again so I got enough nerve to go like I picked up a rock and threw in there picked up two rocks and Sage Brush and I took off again everything appeared when this back out the The Rock was crushed in the Sage Brush was flattened out think well this thing has body maybe I'm not dreaming

(25:50) cuz at that stage I still thought I was seeing thing I'm telling you I might have been a combat off and had medals but I was a little bit little bit of scared what the hell am I up against here what is this being all by yourself too what did I have a ly pistol 45 I fig that's a peo or something like that so the next time it appeared I got enough nerve to grum put my hand on it it was smooth and cold and there I start to wonder it's 110 degrees out here with the Sun hitting metal thing can't be cool my (26:23) command car you can prob put your hand on the steering wheel you don't want to stay out that sun little bit and this thing was cold then I'm sitting there wondering if I'm alucina I better go back and all at once my compass start to spin and the instrument went crazy so I gun the command car in Reverse took off in reverse the motor died and the thing started uh it wasn't vibrated started to shake something and the whole one it went up like this turned on its side and zoom and like I and by the way there
(27:05) were two colors up here a blue and an orange and when it the way I described it like just the Bloon take a balloon and where you blow up enlarge that and a balloon behind it half a balloon the thing went in sideways this way and went in that Ballo part and it seemed like the opening I went in there I saw two colors and then I was standing there like a dummy and I was looking at the Blue Sky there was nothing here just disappeared what was it the approximate size and what was the shape of the craft I say it was uh for (27:47) observation it was tilted a little bit ground I'd say but maybe 30 ft and configur the shape what would that be just like a saucer like two pie pans on top of each other no Dome or anything at least I didn't see any Dome or any bottle and when it it um turned on it turned on its side it didn't tilt like this turned on the side any sound associated with was it any sound no sound at all nothing quiet so the 30 ft was like a diameter diameter how about the height it was just like two pie panss now oh the end
(28:28) when I went out was laying on the side I could reach up and touch the end of the saucer when I put my hand on it how much of the saucer was above you when you put when you touched it it was it was laying it was laying something like this was the top of it you approximately your head I could see the top it was it was above my head the other end of it did you have the seiling at any time that you could have gone inside no no never in my mind in fact what was in my mind get the hell out of here when it did when it did take off (29:02) how close were you to it at that time oh my my car had stalled I'd say uh two 300 200 yards May a couple hundred yards yeah cuz I gunned the command car in reverse and it was the command car I didn't get closer about 50 ft to it I walked up I gunned my command car in Reverse backwards then the stalled maybe electromagnetism might affected the engine I don't know but anyway it's stalled I thought maybe it was me hitting the gas and the gear shift wrong and stalled it I stalled it maybe the thing stalled it I don't (29:42) know and then this disappeared and and I made up my mind I had orders on my desk for G at the time which I've wanted all my life I'm not going to jeopardize this by trying to tell them anything they won't believe me anyway they tell me to shut up that's right so I told not explain to me what I saw so they both went through an explanation the second one the older phone he said you had tremendous experience he said that more likely was a time machine was malfunctioning and they had to correct it and uh the first then he told me that (30:22) what he thought the propulsion system was because the way my equipment acted he said it's a magnetic type propulsion system he said your your your instruments were involed yeah just before it took off he said they were trying to adjust their time sequence so that's and the Germans they didn't say that was they thought that was one of wver Smith said you have experienced one of the great events of happen in the world I told I didn't think it was any great event he said well you did you did that's what w

(30:59) SM told me uh when I was Inspector General South Army Trudeau came to Germany and heidleberg sent for me to meet him at the airplane he wanted to meet me and I met him at the airplane he was over there on some sort of inspection tour our Lieutenant General they out the red carpet he came with his wife and the first time he'd seen me in uniform for years they didn't recognize me only recognized me he stopped recep line came over and his wife came over and I stood there so he said Phil he said I might be (31:33) taking over r& D you're coming with me I told him that you like to he said well I'll send for you when I go back later you know when he be he wasn't she far to get so I came back and they made me air defense advisor to the Maryland National Guards senior air defense that was the first time time that the National Guard had had somebody with experience I made them pass their NORAD and their other inspections and I was defending the Washington area so then a letter came from Chief arming Personnel asking for my (32:14) assignment to the Pentagon so the agent general of the state old record called me Major General he was agent general of the state of Maryland he said uh cently said I got an order here your science he had to release me once there a job like that they can't just pull you any just can't pull you you're subject to the whims of the state agent General so he said uh I told well this sound like General trudo my old boss he wants me back he's an told General record was pretty ni he an old F he's (32:47) over 80 and he told me he said I won't stand in your way call the General and tell them I'll release you tomorrow I walked in through those office saled him he looked up he said you board Phil yes he said only instructions he ever gave me he said watch things for me Phil the rest I don't understand and that was the only orders he ever gave me watch things for him the rest don't understand I ended up with nine clears is BU top secret did you have discussions though uh as as you were doing out this material all the time you
(33:24) ever discussed the implications of what it was TR those office one day there's two men there and he said we can talk freely with these two men Phil they were from North American rock LA and this thing here two men came in from North American rock LA and they were given this now they know where it came from it came in from my fa did the Rockwell people were they told we let them uh like like u b Labs we let them think they thought that the chips we stole from the Russians we let them think that what the that was all
(34:01) right let them think it just so they have it and do some work they did a good job wasn't there a potential problem if you gave them potentially Advanced material well told them at Soviet that they would say oops the Soviets are way ahead of us then we would watch it a lot of times it was my job to go to see how it was coming I go to the B companies North American TRW uh Wasing house G we have listed as number one crooked we have listed contract is reliable and how crooked they were they never knew we had this by the military
(34:41) organization in the early 50s was cic answer operationally to the G2 they didn't operate on their own when they got that G4 at roell the cic man that disappeared he had to hand that to G2 as operational Chief G2 would pass it to the Pentagon to G2 in the Pentagon our intelligence had no R&D function so they would pass it to R&D in those days R&D was under Logistics power Logistics secondary Mission no one cared about the Logistics was Logistics it wasn't R&D yet it was assigned to R&D it assigned to that in 1959 Trudeau

(35:36) changed it all over took all R&D put under one head for Mon and all those places the universities of Laboratories and put them under one head one sheath and all this stuff washed that one he created for me this the special the forign technology division he created that to give us a focal point where all four developments would could come into to they'd all come into to me I'm not only mean space but I'm talking about the depleted uranium helicopter Haring anti-aircraft stuff from South Africa the toll from France those all
(36:19) would come into to me and also anything like the F saucer stuff would all come in would comeing to me other than that first batch was there more no I never got anything more in the first batch were there reports in the files from when they had originally been looked at somebody had done something with them cuz there was reports in there do you remember which Labs had written the reports uh well the labs weren't ours in in those days and I remember what uh PA Reed told me and LOL lab told me he said do you
(36:58) remember your instructions were always not to keep any copies to send everything back and they had to that's why they could find anything at Lincoln they said the your T is were to give everything back and those were our enre instructions what this would cause all weapons would be obsolete do you ever have a guess about where they were from well we tried to but we never came up with any different where they were from it's a time machine Any yes could be us worst possibility that's the wor did you ever feel like you had to uh
(37:45) brief somebody else uh in the political Center of potential danger or did you just carefully try to prepare no I would never bre oh I did talk now this very thoroughly with John Movic because we were pretty close friends after keny died and he was number two I don't think jacqu has heard the story about the the Russian base um what happened to that Russian base and and I'm curious about how the information came to you CIA and The Intercept you know we had a system was watching could uh localize all pic
(38:30) detonations and uh that was part of it and the other was a CIA report somewhere in my papers I have a copy of the CIA reports and that happens and there was 200 scientists killed so they were lying to you there was there were two ways I say CI CIA got the report and the atomic monitoring that we had worldwide and did the report contain an explanation about what what caused the uh the explosion no one knew U there was UFO activity in the area before that so in the in the files that you had there was a report on an (39:18) autopsy yeah see the Waller re laboratory was ours we financed it it longar indeed it was our laboratory it wasn't B all read we financed the thing still it still there yeah I don't know if they still there were there photos with this report no oh I had one photo but it was pretty messed up you couldn't tell much from it of of an alien body it was pretty messed up did they preserve any s they must have preserved tissue S I really don't know I genetic materal I don't say maybe the Air Force did I don't think the army
(39:59) ever did I never saw a report on any preservation of anything like that maybe they did but I never saw any okay well what was reported in the autopsies well the thing that interested me was the limp gland part and digestive system which didn't exist and the Brain Lo was his number one interest in this smothie by way when they open up the brain they show the Lo but you look close enough uh and the sex organs were all they called it an anoid so atrophy like a use yeah atropy atopy atrophy is that the we a n t t h r o p a t r o p h i e atrophy
(40:43) there were lack AB use f organs were almost nonexistent so these are the things that really interested me that's where I saw that Glo you know with the the suction C on that was a glove yeah it was a glove that was no fingers they only had four fingers and now that was UN I don't know no Thum I how they used it time but they disappeared naturally nothing could be said because these things didn't exist as far as the government was concerned there would no talk about what happened couldn't say the UFO was gone
(41:20) or BS were gone because National poliy was that they didn't exist how can you talk how can something be up in explosion and fire when it didn't exist same way we played the game we played the same game R R&D we played the game nobody can investigate because you investigate something that doesn't exist to put out an order cover all it what the hell they going to put out an order to cover they don't know what the hell to cover I don't think there was any cover up I couldn't Trace one I never (41:49) knew one I had all the clearances I was in the spoke business our operation we don't want we had good reason not to put out not only that then didn't we put it out but we didn't have any any PR function we wanted to put it out it wasn't our job to put a think like this out and we didn't want to do it anyway we didn't cover it up we wanted to give it to Industry and American people but it couldn't be done with the climate opinion the way things were with a political situation and all the debunkers and all (42:25) the skep UFO problem has never been handled right never have there hasn't been a a real intelligent study on UFOs that bring in all the factors if you would tell me right now set up a plan to cover up the UFO thing what the hell would I write how would I approach it and what would I say to cover up will SP said don't answer any questions because you don't have the answer so what are they going to cover okay well then there never has been a study made of for our going forward then uh it would actually be (43:06) nice to know that there isn't some dedicated group of people who do not want to get information out so if that's the case then uh it ought to be possible for us to come up with a plan to help get information out or Channel information out techological let's say that there's a group like this in here in my day okay and you came up to us you would have gotten anything we weren't talking to protect ourselves not because of you or because of him or because of him but the thing was we don't even talk

(43:42) about it we go ahead and do our job because we got to cover our tracks if we want to operate 100% so we can't let anybody know or talk about this scene so that was a second recording that you did with colonel cor so uh man I'm glad that you picked up that camera even if it's shitty footage you know that's so that's so cool to get that testimony documented yeah and you know again I think some of the claims seem to stretch the bounds of reality you know they they went pretty far it's it's hard to it would be hard
(44:15) under the best of circumstances to prove Beyond a reasonable doubt that fiber optics came from inspired by these strange materials that were picked up in the desert outside Roswell New Mexico but that's what he says did did Colonel Corso have to get permission in any way to talk about the things that he did in his book he just went for it he just went for it yeah uh you know I think he had uh as I recall he had a relationship with STM Thurman who had served in the US Senate longer than anybody I think and in fact STM Thurman originally wrote
(44:46) the forward to his book um now after his strong Thurman's staff realized holy cow this is a UFO uh book they wanted to withdraw draw it but it you know the deed had been done already the following year is when the Roswell book came out the day after Roswell it's on the 50th Anniversary it was a huge bestseller and as as a as a part of that Corso did other interviews with other media and he came back to Las Vegas and met with me and we did another interview for KV that's it's all over the internet now
(45:19) but maybe we can play a little chunk of it I didn't told you I think that I was not interested in seeing UFOs I was all interested what was in those uos anyone familiar with UFO lore will recognize at least some of what Phil Corso says reports of crashed saucers recovered alien bodies a government coverup but in 50 years of UFO controversy no one of his rank or stature has ever publicly proclaimed this level of inside knowledge Corso was an intelligence officer inside the Eisenhower White House assigned to the National Security
(45:50) Council he also served as Inspector General of the seventh Army and commanded the first nuclear Battalion in Germany his credentials are impeccable his record spotless but did he really handle wreckage from a flying saucer they came from a a fly saucer how do you know that because they were marked in the fouls that's coming from New Mexico Roswell yeah Roswell Roswell of course is the most famous alleged UFO crash site in history a story which the Air Force has tried to bury once in for all Corso says that Army research and (46:23) development not only had pieces of wreckage in its possession but also reports and photos from an autopsy of an alien cadav I had the reports see the Walder Reed the laboratory waler Reed was our laboratory we financed it he was part of the guidance system or it whatever it is because it has no sex organ thing it was part of the guidance system that's why we failed in propulsion Corso says the Army kept the material and bodies secret because of potential enemies within the US government interests which might take (46:52) over the program and destroy the reputations of those involved he thinks the secrets are still being kept but doesn't know by whom twice in the past few years Corso has testified before Congress concerning secret activities within the Eisenhower White House he's been thoroughly checked out and his information confirmed but his most Sensational allegation is one which American industry isn't going to like at all Corso says the Army spoonfed recovered alien technology to American industry resulting in some of our (47:21) greatest technological advances the number one was the in circuit number two in importance was laser cuz I had some laser instruments also then fiber optics such Sensational claims have invited harsh criticism but Coro doesn't mind he names others who knew what he knows and it's an exclusive Club he says General Marshall general Trudeau General MacArthur Von braa Albert Wilbur Smith from I thought I'm a good company that's the company I'd rather be in with those cops so so we're we're kind of living in (47:56) a different world now where we have to look back at what people told us before you know it dawn on me that here's a guy saying reverse engineering of UFOs was real what happened in Roswell was real he's a high ranking military guy he just goes for it and puts this out you wonder if he would seed his own story with things that are a little bit unbelievable as a way to kind of take the heat off of him like the fact he that he said he he met a live alien on his own or I mean who Am might have judge maybe the guy is a standup individual

(48:27) who's telling the truth I don't know man remember he drew me a picture at that first meeting uh in Florida in that RV he drew me a picture of the alien that he said he meant and I think I've still got that image somewhere and um you know parts of what he said really were tough to swallow and it was much different from the version he had first given to me he gave me an outline of the story he wanted to tell that he had written himself uh when we were talking about doing a book together and and it was a (48:56) much more modest telling of the story uh than the one that eventually came out you know that was one of the CR criticisms of Coro that came out after the book is that he seems to place himself at the center of every major event of the 20th century you know it's a lot of key people well the fact is he was with uh many of the biggest events of the 20th century right there in the thick of things with some of the the main people who shaped that Century right yeah I mean you wonder if the kind of fish gets bigger with each telling of (49:24) the story with some of this stuff but is the core of it uh true and again I just keep going back to the the physical Hardware you know if we have we have been told directly from people that as they are working on this technology about every 10 years they wheel it back out and they try to see if our Material Science has caught up to replicate any of it so it it makes sense to me that he would be one of these original whistleblowers and this is a guy we know was a whistleblower when it came to prisoners of War he's got a great (49:52) military career I mean he just doesn't seem like a liar right I don't think so I that wasn't my impression uh I think that the story did get a lot bigger in the retelling of it 5 years after I first met him uh but the core of it is really interesting he was at the places that he would have needed to be to see the stuff that he claims to have seen um you know the the story about reverse engineering of Technology we know that there's a a lack of progress on the propulsion technology we haven't been (50:21) able to reproduce anti-gravity uh mechanisms uh through using Earth Technology or earth materials uh but that doesn't mean we haven't made breakthroughs on other stuff that may have come from the Roswell record or other crashes yeah even like uh you know the idea of artificial intelligence you know there there are some people that believe that as we have kind of increased our technical knowledge that we've gained a lot of information from these reverse engineerings but my question is more if we had a program
(50:49) that specifically deals with propulsion and the power source like Lazar talked about project Galileo Lazar also said that there are two other programs that he heard about uh project sidekick which was a weaponization program uh a laser weaponization program and then he talked about uh project uh G was it looking glass Looking Glass Looking Glass and looking glass was about the the lensing of gravity you know space-time differentials that kind of thing and I think the power and propulsion was Project Galileo if I remember so that's (51:21) what Bob said you have to imagine he also said there there were other programs he was sure that dealt with like language or dealt with different aspects the biological matter you have to imagine if you have a craft and that craft has biological that you'd have a whole slew of different types of programs from language to culture to I don't know to everything you you'd have to imagine that yeah and then let's say you're Bell Labs do you want to say um this wasn't our idea we got the idea

(51:47) from some alien stuff that some C from the Army dropped off on our doorstep right um no because these these patents and technologies that develop from that or developed um are worth billions and billions of dollars well and also if you're given actual materials that our military recovered and there's like you can't talk about how we gave these to you what's recovered but anything you make from it you can take credit for so that's that's a whole thing other than financial is like if you want to keep (52:16) that secrecy in place just like how that was all built around the atomic programs then you're going to keep your mouth shut cuz that was the deal to begin with right remember in an earlier show we talked about the Russians I know I I got a lot of crap about this comment but I had been told by people that we both know who were in a position to know that they they suspect that the Russians have developed some kind of a weapon based on their recovered alien technology their crash retrievable program reverse
(52:42) engineering that there's some kind of a laser beam type weapon that they have been dying to to employ which might explain some of the provocative encounters we've had with Russian war planes and I know that that's a lot to swallow um and I can't prove it conclusively but that's what we are told by people who have told us other things that we have been able to to verify well we know somebody that worked on a Russian down Craft on a laser program from if we're speaking plainly and if that's true that connection between (53:13) Russia and the United States where we're both kind of fighting for this technology I thought it was counterintuitive but even when Bob Lazar was working out at uh uh S4 he talked about this partnership between Russia and the US and he said at some point that ended at some point there was some Revelation that the US had and they kicked out the the Russian counterparts now I thought that was so weird but when I went and investigated a bunch of people that were looking into cold fusion before it was called cold fusion
(53:44) um low nuclear energy reaction is what the old-timers who worked on it um what they would call it so a lot of these guys were working on that technology before it even had a name they all talked to me about UFOs at as well and one thing that really struck me after hearing the Lazar story they would tell me how in their Laboratories there was always a phone and that phone connected directly to Russia and their counterparts in Russia it's super counterintuitive because some of this is during the Cold War how would scientists
(54:13) from two Rial countries in some kind of global you know War basically at the time how are they communicating on a scientific level but it turns out it wasn't just true about UFOs it was true about things like uh cold fusion so once I heard that from people that were in those Laboratories you know back in the day that made a lot more sense to me that was going on it's still counterintuitive but but it's just funny you find that in real I was just thinking you know we were talking about whether to jump into the Corso topic or (54:42) not and I think with the reverse engineering crash saucers being a front burner issue that maybe folks should revisit the this case and look at the book uh revisit the interviews that Corso has done you know now that we know that arrow is really digging into this stuff I'm sure they'll want to know if Corso was what he claimed and whether he was telling the truth or not and they'll really get to the bottom of it right some people I don't know if they know when you're being sarcastic and you say
(55:07) arrow is really digging into this yeah um Arrow does not seem to be doing uh what the public wants them to do which is transparency on the issue we have seen recently some drops or some archives from from different federal agencies that's great but the core of the question remains have we been revers I know we know what we believe to be the answer but is it publicly going to be said that we have been reverse engineering non-human technology hell no they're not going to say that I mean you know again I'm a glass half empty guy
(55:36) and I've been saying for a long time on this program and and in other formats that the closer we get to the goodies the harder the push back is going to become we're seeing it right now it's unfolding right now in DC the push back against grush and the other whistleblowers uh the push back on Congress whether or not they're going to be future hearings or not you we hear conflicting stories about that but it it seems like there you know there's some pretty strong statements about and characterizations of grush for example
(56:03) someone who supposedly knows nothing about what they're saying to Congress

uh we're seeing it in real time the push back right now heavy duty lobbying behind the scenes by the the Aerospace Giants and the companies that give out millions of dollars in campaign contributions it's happening right now and well we know that there has been a handful of more people that have submitted uh their statements and their testimony to the um intelligence Community Inspector General and that that has been officially done they have (56:33) officially made those now is that going to seep out into the public are we going to have that as a public conversation they're doing an investigation right now the iig is doing an investigation on the claims from these people who by the way we've talked with they've firsthand direct knowledge when it comes to working on these programs that's what everybody wants to hear they want to have somebody stand up there in front of Congress and there will be more hearings come hell high water there will be you
(56:56) know there's some pit bulls in in Congress for us so here's the deal are we going to see somebody sit standing there sitting there and saying I worked on an alien spacecraft you people that are not in the public eye people that nobody knows their name are we going to see that I think we are well I hope so and we know people who are willing to do that right uh but they're having second thoughts right now because of some of the statements that have been made by our leaders Dr Sean kpatrick saying I've (57:23) seen no credible evidence of ET technology or anything beyond the laws of physics we know what kind of testimony he's received we know he's got some very specific information about places exact buildings where this stuff is stashed has he gone there to look for it because I don't get the feeling that he has and I know we know the effect that that's had on some of these whistleblowers who are standing by ready to put their lives and careers and reputations on the line by saying what they know about these reverse
(57:52) engineering programs and they're hearing this from the guy who's in charge of the arrow program it's not something that builds a lot of confidence yeah and to the best of my knowledge and how I understand it is there are some I guess you say defense contractors that have parts or elements of a craft certain things that are just separated to look at but there are other ones like LED that allegedly have a full craft from a known from a known craft uh Downing or a known crash retrieval that information gets out uh there's going to (58:27) be a lot of eyes on locki now the way this works and I'm going to go back to a story that that I told I think it was on the Rogan podcast was there was a guy working on semiconductors or superconductors or something like that this was in the 70s all he got was a an an item and it was put in front of him and it was like Hey try to work on this try to tell me no company he know was was was making these like this it was almost 100% efficient no markings on it know nothing again a guy not ready to break from the full but I got it all (58:58) documented so when I get the thumbs up that story is coming out there's a lot of people like that there's another case that that you and I are working on that is not we haven't talked about yet but there was an individual who is renowned for reverse engineering in other fields and there was an object that apparently he saw and he was taken in I don't want to give too many details I'm still looking into this but he was he was taken in and he was shown something for I think a couple days and was unable to (59:26) be helpful in any way because the propulsion system the energy source of This was um nothing that in his field he would know about so you hear this you hear this that there are individuals pulled out of nowhere just because they're good at something like I don't know a guy that makes rocket cars and works at Los Alamos you know he's pulled into some weird program for a very short amount of time just kind of given the overview set to work on it and then bam they're out never hear from it again
(59:51) that's what happened to the superconductor super capacitor guys like he never got to hear about it again so they've got these questions that linger for decades what did I see where is that from there's not many options well we know that the Manhattan Project worked in with stove pipes that people were working on little slices of that that project and had no idea how it fit into the bigger picture um so that really does happen it does it is a way that to move forward on some of these exotic Technologies Colonel Corso tells us that
(1:00:21) that's exactly what happened with multiple technologies that he helped seed into Private Industry it'd be nice if there's a fresh new look into some of his allegations right and I guess if you're you know people we all have to kind of learn how this works but if something's like top secret that's great but there's compartmentalized special access so even if you have the right clearance you if you are not part of that they call it a bigot list I don't know exactly what that word means but a

(1:00:45) special list of people that can look into it and we've heard that people are denied access all the time even if they're investigating this stuff so look it keeps secrets and that's probably generated from the atomic programed we wanted to protect this Secret at all cost so that architecture that was put in place during that the atomic era I think it's the same architecture that's hiding the the UFO truth to people well big secrets can be kept big secrets are being kept it's our job to try to expose
(1:01:13) them it is thanks man oh my [Music] God oh my God never have so few have so much to tell but could say so little following list into weaponized presentation of Jeremy corbel George knp Darkhorse entertainment and Cadence 13 Studios available now for free on the Odyssey app or wherever you get your shows

(00:00) for me I really don't know I think it might be referred to a site for that might be with the essence for but I really don't know there are three s Ford's and all of the Nevada Test Site actually ever mentioned that to know the nuclear test site itself I think has is a small area and it has sites or areas 1 to 29 or 30 the s for there I think is a nuclear reactor there's an F s for just south of the Tonopah test range and there's an S for the one that I worked at just south of groom Lake alright and
(00:37) Bob Lazar while working there as a government scientist so not only one but as many as nine flying saucers while he's working there as a government scientist and he's telling the whole world about as a matter of fact he wants everybody to know that in fact there are flying saucers up there last time you never really told us what are their plans with these flying saucers you have any idea why we have flying saucers at this point why we have them yes just essentially research the the ideas to back engineer them to go back and find (01:08) out how they can be duplicated using earthing materials and technology don't know off the top of my head so that could be used like a time machine right essentially yeah that is time travel that is possible wow that's really something yeah that's well sure they can like thanks for your input sure all right did you get your answer you did six no six huh thank you okay buddy right you take care of Bob Lazar is my guest in studio here we are in Las Vegas and if you have a question for Bob Lazar our phone numbers are four or five
(01:41) one it's like a snowball going down the hill and will become an avalanche and ignorance will be wiped out we got to know the truth for once and forever what the purposes well thank you American talk show well thank you very much for its he did you he did explain to you why we have flying saucers right well I'm a world general public has to become aware you know why they're here why are they here for it well I first of all it's a conditioning process excellence keeps us from meeting them there Big Brother
(02:30) which is out the hand and say come on well brother just have the cosmic connection but hundred seventeen nations a hundred seventy languages we become we have to become equal ground very good fresh thanks for the call thank you take care of bye-bye Bob Lazar is my guest let's go to any line that's available I don't care who it is will file this hi who's this other company concave EEG good other line go to little line no you there we go hi you're next in the public a bit happening on AVG hi Billy this is Tim (03:12) from Pasadena years Tim for parody not yeah I wanted to talk about a lot and I'm really glad I got through he's right here hey Bob can you tell me a little bit about when you look into the saucer about how the hatch works and about how it might feel up and all the mechanics involved Jim do you have your radio on uh yeah please turn it down okay thank you is that better I mean turn it off of your would because you're getting feedback I can hear it okay there you go is it better now okay okay the that the (03:41) hatch or whatever was the hatch was completely removed it was there was just an opening in the side of the craft and well I really don't know how did the opening have any kind of ceiling around it or kind of a little lip or anything like that I really don't remember because I was so interested in looking inside I didn't really catch you know a strong glimpse of the ceiling mechanism or any other thing around it no your last talk if you go along with me a little bit your last talk when you were on the Billy show here you said (04:12) something about you looked into one and it was all smooth like it had been a wax casting or something yeah exactly now was that the only one you looked into her it was the was there another one you looked into no the only one I looked into huh the other ones I just saw from a distance so uh you know I I don't know any detail and the one you looked into was that the sport model yes exactly and that's the only one you saw fly as well right okay what can you tell us what what your work was there well like I said before is (04:43) essentially the back engineer the propulsion and power system so you weren't really involved in the mechanics of the craft itself no not at all and but mostly just the element 115 and all that kind of stuff you were learning about right hmm okay well I'll get off now unless somebody else ask you another question then Thank You Jerry thanks thanks Bob all right bye-bye all right yeah Bob Lazar is my guest listen to the Billy given happening we are in Las Vegas well gravity is a wave it's uh it's a force essentially just like

(05:19) electromagnetic waves or a different type of force yeah I really don't know a good way to describe gravity actually it was not the same thing with like Einstein and other scientists they really don't have an answer for what gravity is do they totally don't really understand it totally do they no no not at all in fact I don't think we understand anything about gravity yeah and why is it that we don't just float away ourselves quiet what keeps us down on the planet well that that is the attractive force of gravity tractor four
(05:50) so it's an attractive thing as a close to a bug you know some people say because they've asked me it sort of like pressures down but it doesn't does it no it doesn't it's an attractive force it's like it on an atomic scale the strong and weak nuclear forces hold the atoms individually together mm-hmm well Bob Lazar as my guest we'll get by yeah you can use the in the run of everything now you are no longer a government scientist a physicist right not employed by the ground employed by (06:17) the government okay but you are continuing in the science and the thing what do you do to keep yourself and build advanced radiation detection equipment mainly alpha radiation equipment for essentially use in detecting plutonium Oh National Laboratory very interesting okay let's go back to the telephones and your telephone calls from my guest tonight Bob Lazar hi who's this I look like I've been happening on kbe G hello yes so it's way late fabulous yes me hello how are you Bob yo hi I have a couple questions number one
(06:57) I'm cruising down jones Avenue on my cellular phone here how long has that crap they don't have been on the Missouri no I really don't know I don't even know how long it's been down at 4:00 you know where it has originally landed that no you got me on all that stuff that really never keep me in as - I've been here for years yeah yeah or it could have been you know brought in in pieces from from somewhere else okay you could say just one craft or a number of crap not a number of them okay but the other workers talk about it
(07:30) and say you know where it came from or more is being towed in or whatever I don't know there really wasn't that much conversation between everyone will you buy yourself what you would invest to get the craft uh by my by myself as walking by myself there were security people around me but when I crawled underneath on the subfloor to look at the gravity amplifiers you know I got away from but there was no one you know right next to me the whole day any evidence of a live alien felt captive nothing I could put my finger on I think
(08:02) then you didn't see any at all then and that Specter nothing I could put my finger on with the Krampus sleeping quarters for aliens is it like a regular like a Star Trek craft what kind of crap no it's actually a pretty vacant inside granted a couple things were removed they were sawed off at the base I don't know what they were little stumps on the ground so I really don't know what was removed but it doesn't look like it had anything like sleeping quarters anything like any writing or anything they typed (08:31) it already okay sort of language or anything no on the walls nothing any panels or anything do you see like that's like a like a dashboard on our car yeah I think that was one of the things there were more than one control panel set up but it looks like one was removed okay and it was this crap wall from the same source I mean what do you mean I mean it was also the same or the crap all identical or no each each craft was completely different in physical appearance and I didn't get to look in depth at the other craft but I only (09:04) really fooled around with one thank about I applaud your courage thank you free to pick up at least before you leave tickets go on sale tomorrow for the Donnell Cory fight yes their bellies the bellies casino big fight Donald Kerr you got your Irish bread Lally both fighters are in town yeah that's a real real big show curry says if he doesn't win he'll retire the two-time former champion is up against this give me a real real big show and you say I know you're coming to the press conference tomorrow yes I am and I

(09:33) and you and Rob Lazar you have you have ringside seat how's that show if you want to cop Charl bang you tell Billy and we'll fix you up okay before you go to leave them ask a question did you say that Donald Curry is actually the underdog in this fight yes like the five taking me other way I can last time Donald forty was one hundred to one favorite had he lost the fight would he lose to that uh coke and and France mm-hmm WBC championship fighting he lost the fight was incredible why why are you people so
(10:01) down on him that I think he here doesn't have anymore yeah okay but I know I'll see you at the press conference tomorrow I usually will thank you particularly thank you goodbye Bob Lazar you were saying something about entering the crap you know and that seems to be the report every single time someone says the report of the spacecraft they were inside there's nothing in there except like you say a a panel board and some chairs and things but no sleeping quarters no nothing at all I guess they just don't have it they (10:32) don't need them it's thick don't sleep or whatever they get here so quickly let's take another call yes sir no I didn't know that yeah what there today I bought a ticket and they said is that right well that the gentleman that was just on the line leaves I can see the smile on his face right now because he was the he's the promoter of that event you know smiling look at the smiley face now only sixty two tickets left for the magazine Sciences in front of me and they mentioned one of the (11:09) books the energy grid foundation equations and ramifications by George risk resumes have you heard of it III think I come through that book once I think John Lear one the heavens an energy grid on our planet I don't know I don't really buy that why that theory are really anything in that book it's a grid outlined all over the entire globe and at each intersection there's an energy vortex of some kind and you know I just rather not comment yeah it's how gravity weather produced artificially or (11:52) naturally distorts time and space yeah no as a matter of fact we were talking off the air and people have been calling me at the office about this gravity thing in bob lazar is trying to level it and set it right straight out nobody really understands gravity yeah and what it does and everything else it's still being looked into and even ice like configured energy doesn't matter where does it come from if it doesn't come from matter there's no but that's a strange question yeah I can be extracted
(12:39) from matter but it can be extracted by other means to I don't really don't don't understand ya know are you gonna be there January 7th no you're not gonna be there well I wish I could talk for an hour but but he else wants a book so I'll hang up alright alright thank you here guys let's take another call a new member let's talk to a new member and she were hi he was this in the book about happening on Cavey eg here's time somewhere la-la-land where is lala land la ok la la la cabs (13:16) are you yeah reports have been going on now for thirty forty years I don't doubt the credibility of mr. Lazar I just wonder how how this can be kept secret for that long as can be comment I did pose that question to some people at s4 and the answer that I got was it's it's the easiest thing to keep secret because of the subject matter you have a feeling this one of the reasons that is is because it's tied in with a lot of parapsychology psychic types National Enquirer maybe so I mean there is so much disinformation and that is (14:13) made so available to the public via the tabloids and things like that that you know any true information getting out is assumed to originate from those sources and things like that another question is Carl Sagan is more or less people scientists these brought science down to the general public what about getting him involved in this somehow is that possible or how about doing that I would imagine I imagine he's fairly open-minded I've never met Matt Alma and the biggest UFO debunker that's why what I was thinking of doing

(14:53) actually is making getting some copies of the two shows that you're on the happenings I'm sorry and you know contacting people at the Planetary Society I don't know if that would do any good but well you know there again he's gonna need his own own proof as everyone should require and you know it's it's impossible to make an absolute believer out of someone that hasn't had hands-on experience or I've seen something for themselves you know that's the way any scientist is gonna look at it okay a (15:29) couple more quick questions around 32 light-years these ships do they travel faster than light or do they get around well it's kind of it's kind of an irrelevant question because they get around it because they're not in a linear mode of travel since they're distorting time and space there's no true time reference and since the velocity is distance over time when you begin to fool around with time you really can't state a true velocity all right John thank you very quickly okay he'll answer over here program the (16:02) search for radio signals couldn't sell some of these you know observatories or telescopes be aimed at you know places where they see people or aliens who supposedly come from that I think Cooper mentioned Barnard okay that's your question thank you John okay well it's my understanding is that the radio waves and frequencies along that bandwidth really aren't aren't utilized it's gravity wave communication and a radio telescope really isn't gonna pick up anything of that sort oh right but I
(16:43) don't think people realize is because you said it so nonchalant but your first time on but where you've got to see this UFO was really not planned by anyone wanted you to see it right you were like walking with security and you went under a doorway how would you describe that before it may have been planned by them I had no advance warning of it I have been brought in a separate door the whole time and one specific time I just led into the area where I work through the hangar doors which I had never been in before it walked directly
(17:14) by the craft and began to slow down by it and they said just keep walking keep your eyes forward and it was just just like that it was that nothing was said and just went and sat down in an empty room you went sat down an empty room after your son yeah waited for this guy that I work with Barry and then we went to you know work on some of the work we were saying what were some of the things what was some of the work that you actually did that you were supposed to do what what did you actually do it is for it
(17:43) when you say work had to wait for an assignment when you had the assignment what would have been like for example well most of like I said before most of the time I worked hours being briefed on and being brought up to date on what had been done before right and most of the hands-on bench work essentially was with the reactor itself and being shown how it operated it giving demonstrations and things of that sort you say reactor you know a nuclear reactor to antimatter reactor antimatter okay Bob Lazar is my
(18:14) guest in but it's fascinating to hear this stuff let's go back to some of the stuff you've already touched on us and try because someone asked earlier about communication with some of your fellow workers it was practically no communication right yeah they kept that to an absolute minimum right they were on the buddy system you worked with always worked with someone and that's the person you communicated with and there was really no cross talk between groups and you as a young man there you are in the midst of this thing when you
(18:40) went there for the initial interview you said at the time they actually had a gun at your head that was at the security briefing security whatever that may initially interview when you went to work at s4 I'm talking about do they that's not what the gun was at your head no no no okay when you went there what was your understanding that you were going to be doing some high-technology work and I had assumed that they were talking about some sort of gravitational propulsion system and when you're excited about that I think oh yeah yeah
(19:14) because there was some talk about that because it's something that I was interested in something they knew I was interested in right you know that was that was the hint that I got and did it come to fruition it did did did what you were told you were going to do what actually happen yeah no it did for a period of time so how long were you actually there before you let people know what was going on up there how many months or days whatever [Music] approximately I don't yeah I really don't know probably a couple months they (19:45) come on Sephora and every time that you went there you literally had to fly up land at the groom leg take a bus a bus that was sort of blacked out in the windows right and no communication on the bus what were you thinking as a young man you're a very young man let's face it what were you thinking like yeah well you're very young man I think you're anyway what were you thinking we were just saying well this goes with the territory and I'm just gonna go along with this oh yeah you would have done (20:09) that and much more just to be involved with the project yeah the excitement was just being there being a part of the what was going on behind the scenes in other words the secret part about it or oh sure I was a lot more crap than they had dealt out can you picture it okay what he's in his 30s oh I say young man and he's in his 30s sitting on a bus and accepting the fact okay I'm going to work this morning not talking to there is a compadres on the bus is looking straight ahead blackened out windows not

(20:38) driving on asphalt all dirt roads then that also have something to do in your mind say how come they never did anything up there as far as the dirt roads I don't know it was a good dirt road a lot of the roads around there a dirt I know I almost thought oh that's what I'm saying they don't even take the time to to pave them I guess it's not that important Bob Lazar is is my guest and what I'm fascinated yes Gary where's your chin okay this is Mark the artist in Los Angeles all right I got some specific (21:10) questions for Bob Lazar that I like asked real quickly he's right here he's waiting I thought you once before on the show Bob about the propulsion system on the device yeah and you described the central column as being a great guide there was a disc towards the bottom of this thing down near the antimatter generator that that spins and I want to ask you what that disk is made of no there's no spinning desk what is the dismay to visit a capacitor well I a desk at the waveguide extends down and it widens out and sits on the curved (21:45) portion of the reactor the bottom of the reactor is a plate but nothing rotates or moves it's okay it's all connected together is that plate of capacitor no well what is it made of metal that's the only way I can describe I don't know what kind it's Oh collector determines the kind of metal it was no not to my knowledge I understand the part of the propulsion system involves a very large capacitor which is usually the the entire lower surface of the disk making use of something along the lines of the bike
(22:19) field Brown effect and I just wondered if you had any information on what the components of the dielectric material in that capacitor is well at the bottom of the disk is one plate of the capacitor then the dielectric material would be the air as you're going to look at the Earth is another plate of the capacitor but as far as the capacitor being integral to the actual craft itself now I found no evidence of that now I understand that there's an antenna section in this device and I'm one of those don't wanted to ask you what the (22:49) resonant frequency that that operate at was what it was well the rather than a frequency at a gravity wave I dunno but I don't know it offhand I can't I can't I just can't remember it yeah can you give me a ballpark like 2,000 kilohertz something like that 200 kilohertz I really I really don't remember it's a really odd frequency is it really yeah well is it is it is it measured in kilohertz or Giger hertz or mega hertz I really don't remember hmm the other thing I wanted to ask you
(23:23) was when you first started to go public and you were meeting with people with John Mayer's house I understand that there were a number of witnesses at those first meetings one of whom claims that you did say that you had seen an extraterrestrial while working inside one of those saucers trying to back engineer the propulsion system and that you've been looking out through a doorway or through a porthole in the side of the device and that you'd actually seen an extraterrestrial walking around on the (23:50) outside one of those devices devices meaning disks excuse me devices meaning discs yes no so so you're saying that you've never seen an extraterrestrial at us for I really don't want to get into that because someone else is claiming that you have well stated the way you did no I didn't and I never did look and see an extraterrestrial as the story goes and the reason I I never bring it up is because I thought I saw something once at walking at a glance and and that's all there is to it and I never (24:27) did I won't I won't stand on that fact because you know it was just a fleeting glimpse when I came back and whatever was there was gone you know it could have been a million thing I had one last quick question I'll wrap it up real quick here I have a contact that claims that you were responsible for determining that element 115 was not in fact necessary to operate an anti-gravity propulsion device

in the Earth's magnetic field is that true no it's the exact opposite thank you mark for the call okay all (24:57) right thank you bob lazar hello hi there I can you hear me we can hear you perfectly I better turn on my radio okay okay you why are you going public with this whole subject what caused you I mean there's there's obviously a lot of other staff on the project that since this is a greater a great degree of loyalty something along this sort and why are you going public well the the thing that really was the straw that broke the camel's back essentially was after I left the program I kind of became concerned about what happens now
(25:30) I made a routine request for my birth certificate which I need it for just for ID purposes and I was told that it doesn't exist I wasn't even born at that hospital I be I'd said on that for about a week and just wondered and then I began to inquire at previous jobs and also at other schools and that information was also gone and I kind of got the idea that soon someone was going to disappear so that's when I contacted the TV station and you know essentially let everything else but you left the program at our very amicable (26:02) circumstances I know that's a long involved story that I really don't want to get into okay all right that's fine are you afraid of any repercussions from the government you know oh yeah I was I was really concerned at one time but I thought now yeah less so now but I you know you're still keeping the back your mind yeah I imagine of course it seems like to me that if anything were to happen to you now that that would cause such an uproar in itself exactly a last thing you do would be to go anywhere
(26:28) near you write that as someone someone said in the media somewhere that if they're following me now it's to make sure that nothing happens to me yeah yeah I would think the same thing okay your experience up there on the program did you did you witness any working models any models of the vehicles that were operational models yeah the vehicles the vehicle is operational yeah they were some of them were operational yeah I only saw one operate and they were actually operating oh yeah so I wanted at a close range while I was at (26:58) the area and then at the extreme distance about 15 miles when I brought some friends up to look at it using the technology that that's being used they the crafts are very agile aren't they oh yes very in one specific mode of travel one specific mode yeah in one direction at a time something like this no there's two modes of travel there's a low speed mode and uh you know a high speed mode I don't remember what they call they had a specific name for him okay but what was the size of the staff working on the (27:27) project there's 22 people that I knew of 22 people well 22 people in the area that I worked in and you know how extensive the rest of the facility was I don't know I gathered from one of your hey that you were frustrated a little bit on the size of the staff yeah we spiders should have been larger oh yeah it could have been more could have been learned about the program quit more quickly

Transcript:
(00:01) on larry king now ufo whistleblower bob lazar joined by filmmaker jeremy corbell there's a lot of weird stories incorrect information and strange comments that's been passed around the internet for decades and it just kind of reached a point where it was time to set something straight there were 25 27 forensic agents with a truck there for paperwork i don't know we don't really care we just know now that our conversations are not private element 115 is a unique element when it's exposed to radiation
(00:36) it produces its own gravitational field and it's certainly nothing that occurs here or naturally and it can be weaponized and that's kind of the issue here plus so you're a believer well there's no question it's as real as your coffee cup is to me so all next on larry king now [Music] welcome to larry king now today we welcome bob lazar and filmmaker jeremy corbell bob is known for his 1989 account of what he says was his time at a secret military base near area 51.
(01:16) it's where he says he reverse engineered alien spacecraft area 51 quickly became synonymous with ufos in a subject of extreme curiosity for many lazar has remained silent for 30 years until now he recounts his story to jeremy corbell in a new film called bob lazar area 51 and flying sources it's currently available for digital download and on demand sorry jeremy all these years later why'd you do this film my mentor in journalism is a man named george knapp and actually george knapp broke the story with bob in 1989 and (01:57) he's been great to me and helped me open the story back up and bob was willing after 30 years to let me make the first documentary film ever on his story why did you agree to do it bob well there's a lot of weird stories incorrect information and strange comments that's been passed around the internet for decades and it just kind of reached a point where it was time to set something straight so this film says are you happy with the film yeah i am i am it wasn't a smooth road though that's correct because um look this

(02:29) brought back up to bob whether you believe his story or not which i don't think he cares anymore it brought back up all these feelings and emotions it wasn't a good time for him the ufo subject has not been good to bob you watch my film you see what he's gone through why has he laughed at us uh i think i don't know if he cares he's laughed at but i think that people just get it wrong so they've been propagating a mythology about an important story what what happened to you well in 1989 i was hired
(02:58) by actually it was eg g where i got the job and it was a department of naval intelligence that actually employed me and our job was to back engineer an alien spacecraft that was housed at area s4 which is just south of area 51. on in that job my specific task was to analyze the propulsion and power system now the information there was compartmentalized so were there other groups dealing with the metal energy of the craft how had the craft gotten there that i don't know i mean my own gut feeling was it was more of an
(03:34) archaeological type find but i really have no information on how they originated there and what did you learn from your knowledge well i the the scope of the project was to see if we could duplicate the technology with available materials and the bottom line of the whole project was we couldn't we couldn't even duplicate you know some of the most basic systems in the craft nothing was there was no wiring connecting anything what i assumed to be metal wasn't even metal it appeared to be more of an advanced ceramic so
(04:07) we were able to find out how some things operated but as far as duplicating anything back then so did that make you an extreme believer yeah because i was quite a step skeptic before so uh this was really the only thing having my hands on the equipment that could have possibly made me a believer when they told you here's what we have what did you think well they didn't say it exactly like that when i first came in there and saw the craft i thought well this explains all the ufo sightings this is just an advanced fighter we're (04:38) working on with an exotic propulsion system and they've been testing it and this is what people have been seeing for decades and um you know they slowly let me into the project as far as what's going to be going on i said well we have to find out how this worked so you guys didn't build this no and that it kind of went on from there do you believe bob all the time yeah 100 why would he lie well that's the whole thing people don't understand you know uh you have to get part of my movie is showing who bob is for you to (05:07) get an understanding because if you don't know who bob is you dehumanize him and by dehumanizing him you can dismiss the message but the moment you get to meet bob and get to know him it's really hard not to completely understand that he is telling you exactly the way it went down no matter if you can accept it or not area 51 we did a show from there years ago you did in 1994 you did a show out of rachel nevada outside of area 51 and the reason you you were there at rachel is because of bob's story in 1989 that's (05:38) what made area 51 this household name that spread everywhere so thank you for doing that show it was powerful most people on that show they only knew about it because bob had said it so we've come full circle so now we're at a place where thank you for doing that and now we're at a place where we can kind of go deep now we can go deeper now what does the government say ufos if i were to talk to a government agency actually i think it's kind of changed now i mean back then it was we stopped investigating ufos back in the 60s with (06:08) project blue book of fire i recall and they denied everything but there have been recent developments that i don't really follow ufos at all but uh jerry you don't no i'm actually believe it or not i'm not interested in the topic i don't follow ufo stories i was just privileged to be part of the technology research that i'm fascinated in but uh no all the other stuff i even have a hard time believing

most of the ufo stories did you take pictures of this craft no that i couldn't get away
(06:35) with are there pictures of this crowd well there were i did have after i left the project i did still know some of the test flight times so there were several occasions that i did tell friends about it secretly and we drove out to the desert and at night and filmed some of the test flights so it was far away did it fly oh yeah if you don't know how it worked how were you able to fly how are you able to fly it well you know my analogy to that is you can get a a motorcycle and drop it off in victoria times with the keys in it
(07:10) now given time they'll play around with it push buttons eventually turn the key and over time they'll be proficient at driving it and using it but once it runs out of fuel it's going to stop working and when it comes right down to it that can't even fabricate a plastic fender on the thing so that's exactly where we were to be clear he didn't fly one he never said he did he walked into one the one he was working on that's when he said it was an ominous feeling he stepped in and the way he described it
(07:37) to me in the film is nothing was made for us this seats were too small do we see the craft in the film oh you do actually um there's a from one of the test flights it's horrible video over black with this little dot of white light you know 1989 so but you do see something flying in the sky was there a pilot on the flight yeah there was i only know that because i was in the hangar when the craft was flying and i heard communication back and forth did it look like a flying like a round thing oh yeah it absolutely did
(08:09) when we returned bob and jeremy discuss the fbi raid on bob's home during the filming of the documentary what were they looking for you don't want to miss this we'll be right back on this edition of larry king now the film is bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers the guests are bob lazar and the director of the film jeremy corbell is the government watching you bob i didn't think they were after 30 years but you know due to recent events i would probably change what happened jeremy and i had a private conversation out in a
(08:48) remote area of my property cell phones in our pockets but turned off all filmed and filming it and um jeremy was down there to film some of this documentary he left the following morning and simultaneously there was an fbi raid at my place looking for what well they said they were looking for some receipts from an individual that might have bought some toxic material from a company but they came with more people than you could really think would even fit in our building i mean agency after agency um you know computer experts pulling
(09:26) information off the computers and what do you think they were there for well what do you think jeremy they they they were able to repeat back verbatim a portion of the conversation that we thought was private and that shocked us because we were joking that nobody even cared 30 years later what he says but apparently it's not as it appears there were 25 27 forensic agents with a truck there for paperwork i don't know we don't really care we just know now that our conversations are not private what fbi what about this is a crime
(10:01) they're looking for some of the fuel from the craft that might have been stolen element 115 was always something bob said fueled the craft a stable version and to be direct which bob is being direct right now they were looking to see if he had any of that taken out of los alamos where they machined it which he did say back in 1989 or so that he did get some out to do tests on and in fact in my film you do see something which is a tape that had been lost for for 30 years but i found it between some golden girls episodes doesn't it bug you
(10:33) know why the fbi of course it does it's actually the second i understand the air force or space lab well it wasn't just the fbi there were other organizations there too multi organizations came in what do you think our government is testing what do you think they're looking for well they're they're looking for high technology they're looking for as advanced technology as they can possibly have and look anybody that controls technology this advanced will control the world it's a very very (11:00) powerful weapon and i i think that's the bottom line what's element 115 element 115 is a super heavy element it's something that we only only just recently synthesized we only made four atoms of it but the craft uses larger quantities of it 223 gram little triangles of it but it's a unique element when it's exposed to radiation it produces its own gravitational field its own anti-gravitational field and it's what's used to lift and propel the craft and create distortions around it it's a

(11:37) it's an amazing material and it's certainly nothing that occurs here or naturally and it can be weaponized and that's kind of the issue here if this story is all true that can be weaponized absolutely was were any personnel found on the object when it got here i don't know personally you know i like to differentiate between the things that i was able to verify and had hands-on experience and things that it was just about you know allowed to read about and i did read briefings that they did have an autopsy
(12:09) of a creature now whether or not it was in the craft but the way the information was split up there were different groups we all had one or two page briefings on what the other groups were doing in case they connected to us but there was no communication between the group so they can keep things separate but the people investigating this were very serious right oh very much so did they tell you not to say anything oh they made that very clear yeah why did you go public that's a long story short of it is that you he was (12:42) afraid for his life why it had to do with my relationship at the time and the security clearance one of the things was was you had to have not only no connection to foreign governments and a standard top-secret clearance but as you probably know with all high security clearances you have to have a stable home life too well there were things going on at home they had my phone line monitored and i was a candidate for an unstable family life as they called it did they try to label you as nuts no not nuts they in fact wanted me back in the (13:14) project very badly but they didn't know if i was going to be too stressed out to keep things quiet and i started getting concerned when we started getting followed every place i went to that's the only time that i finally started telling a couple friends hey if i disappear this is what i was doing and when i took them out to the site to show them next what the pentagon is saying today about ufos and the possibility of life on another planet the documentary film is bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers it's available to (13:45) stream now don't go away we're back with bob lazar and jeremy corbell people have not been able to verify some things about bob lazar specifically your education you say that you hold a degree from the massachusetts institute of technology in the california institute investigations say they can't find records of that how do you respond all that i did go to those universities i did also work at los alamos and other research facilities that said i never have worked there and there has been a concerted effort to essentially erase my (14:24) background which is exactly what jeremy's film covers something puzzling about all of this jeremy is why does the government hide this well what so we all believe most people believe in extraterrestrials right most people so what do you what are they afraid of we're living in a different world now since december of 2017 with commander david fraber the tic tac ufo case which i broke before the new york times i reported on that twice that case opened the door so we now know the government did not stop studying
(14:58) ufos in 1969 there's a program called a tip that program is now acknowledged so what what are what are they afraid of i think they're afraid of weaponization i think that's the issue here and also you're right we're not we're not alone in the universe but are they visiting here and that's the question that they've been unwilling well i always said it's why don't they just release information that these events occurred and they can keep the technology secret that i've never (15:21) understood so i'm with you on that why are they afraid of you what are you going to tell us just what i did the existence of the project all right why why are they so afraid i i don't you'd have to ask them that why do you think joe what are they afraid of you know i i we i don't really know i think that it's a big concept larry it's a big concept that we're not alone in that we're being visited and in 1989 that's explosive to this day we're in a different world i do believe that (15:49) what has come out by the pentagon the videos by commander fraver that they admitted there are unknown aerial objects of advanced technology that are in fly with impunity in our airspace it is now admitted by our government people don't know that they now need to know that we're in a different world i'm very optimistic what's an area 51 area 51 is a large test facility it's not where this occurs this occurs slightly south of it but area 51 tests advanced we went there but you could only go to a certain spot in (16:19) indiana couldn't go farther yeah they test advanced air conventional advanced aircraft and they even have some foreign aircraft there that they analyze and so there's a and it's a much larger facility there are thousands of people that work there but there is you know no aliens how do they get there they've flown in these people they drive outside he was flown in on the janet flights right and he'd stop at area 51 but he didn't work at air 51 they then put him on a bus and took him south of groom (16:46) lake to papoose lake at site s4 which george knapp confirmed in 1989 that that base that location s4 existed now wait a minute all these people working on all these things sworn to secrecy absolutely absolutely yeah they can't even tell their wives or their husbands what they're doing this sounds bizarre but it's true well this is normal run-of-the-mill top secret stuff that's not even the alien stuff who are they working when they get a paycheck who does it come from that that varies i mean when i worked at los (17:17) alamos paycheck came from uh university of california i worked at s4 a paycheck came from the department of naval intelligence you would think it would be the air force or something like that so it's it's very difficult it's a very convoluted situation they tell you why you couldn't speak out no no they just say this is highly classified information and and that's it but you know every one of the thousands of people involved it any secret facility whether it be tonopah test range the nellis range area 51 all go through the (17:53) exact same thing why do you think these people who can build these superior things haven't come here they have come here i know i know but they landed in billings montana why don't they come to new york right so they do go they do come to new york um there's actually there's a mass phenomenon that has been going on since the beginning of recorded human history where these things engage human beings on multitudes of levels from lights in the skies which is the most famous part two close encounters so my argument is

(18:22) they have made themselves clearly available you know they haven't come on your show yet larry but let's get that to happen a half of americans believe in ufos right more that's what i hear and that's based on what i mean for me it was 1989 and bob lazar telling his story that's what weaponized my curiosity about it have you ever seen one i have never seen something that i can definitively say is a flying saucer i have seen incredible light shows in the sky has the government ever looked at this have we
(18:52) ever had congressional committees i've heard about them trying to form one but i i don't know if that actually like i said i don't really follow jimmy carter said he saw one oh yeah so he was president couldn't hear that something happened then a lot of presidents such as even the clintons have tried officially to get this information out to the public and have been shut down i just want to clarify bob is not a ufo guy he doesn't follow ufo news you ask about congressional hearings i held with a friend the citizen hearing
(19:19) on disclosure we had five congressmen one senator and 40 witnesses from around the world testify at the national press club about this and guess what that made a big splash and guess what's happening now since december of 2017 and the tic tac ufo case with commander david fraber they are now from what i understand looking to do more hearings may be closed maybe open but there is a ball in motion for this and that's what's kind of exciting our boy you saw the vehicle bob yeah you went in you looked at it
(19:50) you inspected it what do you believe i believe that's that as i said that's incredibly advanced technology i don't understand how any of it was fabricated like i told jeremy and others it's it was completely unnatural looking there are no sharp corners anywhere everything is one single color as the craft was fabricated out of wax and allowed to melt a bit everything has a slight radius of curvature to it it's very unusual the way the device operates is is mind-boggling so you're a believer
(20:23) well there's no question it's as real as your coffee cup is to me when we come back bob and jeremy will answer your social media questions bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers is available to stream now stay right there i guess our bob lazar and jeremy corbell can't wait to see this documentary we have some social media questions working animal on twitter has there been any fallout for you bob and your business as a result of the fbi raid no not yet i'm kind of bracing for some fallout from the movie what is your business uh
(21:06) i own united nuclear scientific scientific equipment and supply company and we do some prototyping work sell all variety as a scientific equipment you make money from this oh yeah yeah yeah that i do you told me during the break that you took a picture of one of the beings no no no i didn't didn't take a picture of one that was in a uh that was in a briefing from a group that uh separate group at the time what did they look like actually it looks like your your typical thin body it's just a very remember the picture was just of the

(21:41) chest area so it was a a very small body thin head and i guess gaunt is the only way i could describe it ken sobers on twitter bob if a spacecraft distorted space-time in order to travel massive distances assuming they don't make any arduously large number of tiny jumps would you expect such distortion to cause detectable gravity waves i actually i don't know what i'm talking about okay yes i actually i i would depending on the direction the craft is traveling yeah i would imagine we would be able to detect
(22:20) some gravity waves from that blackrose 48778 on twitter what is your theory of the reasons why aliens come to earth and leave i know maybe it's like uh you know they they love our music or they you know it's tourism alien tourism i don't know uh bob read something really strange and disturbing in the briefings that we have no place to put it that they referred to human beings as containers which is the weirdest thing you could ever hear this is something was read in the briefings he has no other information about it but
(22:51) i don't know why are they visiting here maybe it's our charming personality she's always bugged me about this and i've talked about this forever why don't they land in washington this is a guess go to the capitol on the capitol steps and communicate well you're assuming they're on the same level with us when have you ever stopped on the side of the road and pulled over and decided to try and communicate with a bunch of cattle on the side of the road you know i i think they're just on (23:19) a completely different level you never take the time to stop and try and talk to an ant hill i i just think they're just in a completely different level and it's uh there's something to observe and maybe have some use but i don't think they're any they're looking at us right yeah yeah they certainly are and they have been for a long time blackrose asks what is the purpose of scientific people keeping their knowledge hidden about aliens what's why what is the purpose that scientific people would keep it hidden i
(23:51) don't know why they keep the information about the aliens hidden i you know in the previously they said well it would cause panic and upset people but i don't believe that holds true anymore and i can see why they keep the technology secret that's you know obviously military but i really don't know why they don't come clean and tell us what's going on ricky merchant on twitter given that stability seems important for such a heavy element was there a lot of effort put in to deduce which isotopes were present
(24:22) well we but that's kind of and how did we determine what the element was i mean we ran all kinds of tests on it and everything from atomic absorption and uh x-ray fluorescence and you know every kind of test you could possibly imagine um and bombarded it with radiation to see what effects it would have they called that neutron activation and we tried to come up with other isotopes and you know accidentally did ourselves but it was a stable element [Music] and something we had never seen before poverty bob on twitter what do you think (25:05) blowing a whistle on what was going on saved your life well i think it helped out i hope it did i hope this wasn't why would they want to kill you well i was well once i took friends out to the site to view some of the tests we got caught at one time and it was it kind of all went downhill from there immediately after that is when i went public with it and just thought that was an insurance policy he didn't want to go public he's a reluctant ufo messiah george knapp pulled him and said this is going to (25:35) help you to protect yourself and i think he achieved that patty jackson on facebook asked two questions she was at the premiere in december okay how big would a spacecraft from area 51 that the reverse engineering was done on i think it was about 52 feet in diameter and approximately how many beings could these spacecraft hold three boy someday we'll have all the answers i hope so thank you larry thank you thank you bob big thanks to my guests bob lazar and jeremy corbell for joining me on this fascinating discussion
(26:11) into a subject that still captivates many you can learn more about it in the documentary bob mazar area 51 and flying sources currently on demand and streaming as always you can find me on twitter at king's things i'll see you next time [Music]

THEY ARE HERE!! Bob Lazar FINALLY Breaks Silence On Recent UFO Sightings - YouTube
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AiCtXutlhvA

Transcript:
(00:00) at a classified base known as S4 out in the Nevada desert near Area 51 and there we reverse engineered alien spacecraft in a long- awaited revelation Bob Lazar a controversial figure in UFO lore has broken his silence on the recent surge in UFO sightings with a background shrouded in mystery and claims of having worked on extraterrestrial technology lazar's insights are highly anticipated there's a nuclear test site there's Area 51 there's areas where they test chemical weapons and things like that
(00:32) the Resurgence of interest in unidentified aerial phenomena has reignited debates about the existence of extraterrestrial life so join us as we explore how Bob Lazar finally breaks silence on recent UFO sightings unraveling the covert Hub of extraterrestrial technology in the late 1980s Bob Lazar came forward with statements that created a significant impact in the UFO community and Beyond Lazar claimed to have worked at a secretive government facility called s 4 located near Area 51 in Nevada where he was involved in reverse engineering
(01:05) extraterrestrial technology lazzar's initial statements were quite extraordinary he talked about nine different spacecraft that he asserted were of extraterrestrial origin essentially flying saucers one of these crafts referred to as the sport model supposedly ran on a reactor powered by an element unknown to the public at that time element 115 according to Lazar Element 115 could gener anti-gravity effects allowing the spacecraft to perform Maneuvers defying conventional physics adding complexity to his claims
(01:38) Lazar discussed how work at S4 was compartmentalized with teams working independently on specific projects this secrecy was designed to prevent a complete understanding of the operations lazzar's narratives brought a level of structure and specificity to UFO accounts that were often missing he not only claimed to have seen UFOs but also asserted that he had worked on them providing technical details specific locations and even a timeline of events his Revelations tapped into the Public's growing desire for transparency
(02:07) regarding what many believed were long-held government secrets about extraterrestrial encounters however lazar's declarations were met with skepticism critics pointed out inconsistencies in his narrative including issues with his educational background and doubts about the existence of certain places he mentioned the physics community in particular questioned the feasibility of using element 115 for Interstellar travel given the understanding of its properties at that time despite the criticisms Lazar achieved something
(02:37) remarkable he revitalized the UFO discourse introducing new terms like Area 51 and element 115 into public conversations these became focal points that even those unfamiliar with the topic could grasp prior to lazar's claim Area 51 was a relatively unknown military base however after his Revelations it became closely associated with alien folklore this sparked the interest of curious onlookers journalists and UFO enthusiasts who ventured as close as they dared hoping to catch a glimpse of the otherworldly
(03:09) lazzar's whistleblowing not only brought attention to Area 51 but also positioned him as a champion of Truth many saw him as someone risking his well-being to expose potentially world changing information the image of a lone individual standing against a monolithic entity like the government resonated with those who had grown wary of official narratives over time Des desite the subsequent dissection debates and occasional derision of lazzar's story its impact was undeniable it laid the groundwork and set the stage for a
(03:39) plethora of whistleblowers who in the years that followed came forward with their Tales of secret government projects and encounters with the unknown the landscape of UFO discourse underwent an irrevocable change no longer confined to shadowy tales and blurry photographs it had found a voice and for many that voice was Bob Lazar in the expansive and secretive area near Groom Lake Nevada the S4 facility as described by Bob Lazar represents a mystery and source of disagreement according to Lazar this hidden installation situated close to (04:12) the more widely known Area 51 served as a center for covert activities related to extraterrestrial Technologies Lazar depicted S4 as a facility dedicated not only to Scientific exploration but also to the strict preservation of secrecy in his account S4 housed nine distinct flying saucers each with Unique Designs and functionalities contrary to being merely for display or storage Lazar asserted that these saucers were operational he detailed how they were stored in Hangar Bays cleverly camouflaged into the mountain side

claims were accurate it suggested that the individuals or entities behind S4 had intentions Beyond just reverse engineering these crafts there were indications of potential testing and deployment at adding another layer to the Enigma surrounding S4 Element 115 and the alien propulsion among the various Revelations linked to S4 one particularly captivating detail involved the introduction of element 115 into discussions surrounding unidentified (05:17) flying objects according to Lazar this previously undiscovered element played a crucial role in the propulsion systems of extraterrestrial crafts he contended that when harnessed correctly Element 115 could generate a gravitational field utilized by these spacecraft for propulsion this Lazar suggested explained the seemingly impossible Maneuvers performed by these crafts defying the known principles of physics Lazar explained that element 115 as he described it was not naturally found on Earth instead batches of this element
(05:50) were reportedly provided to the facility for experimental purposes in his account the element was employed in a reactor within the spacecraft to generate a gravity wave this this wave was then Amplified to facilitate propulsion allowing the craft to lift off and move at high speeds with exceptional agility what made this account intriguing was the unconventional nature of the Craft's movement rather than employing traditional propulsion the craft supposedly manipulated gravity to essentially pull its destination towards (06:19) it fundamentally redefining our understanding of motion discussions regarding S4 and element 115 extended Beyond UFO enthusiasts and conspiracy theorists reaching into popular culture and scientific circles lazar's detailed descriptions sparked both Fascination and skepticism for some S4 represented a secretive stronghold where significant discoveries were unfolding others considered it a fictional construct woven from partial truths and Imagination lazar's claims had Monumental implications if true they (06:51) suggested that the US government or a concealed faction possessed technology centuries if not Millennia ahead of current human understanding in it proposed the idea that Humanity wasn't alone in the universe and that Earthly governments held tangible artifacts from beyond our world yet the specifics of lazzar's account including the intricacies of alien crafts the properties and applications of element5 and the inner workings of S4 became points of contention while some fervently believed in lazar's narrative
(07:22) others dismissed it as fabrication regardless of one's stance in the debate discussions about S4 and element 115 added New Dimensions to conversations about extraterrestrial life and Technology they raised questions not only about what might exist in the cosmos but also about the lengths Earthly Powers would go to keep such discoveries Under Wraps lazzar's narrative intertwined with the enigmatic S4 and perplexing Element 115 ushered in a new era of curiosity hope and skepticism in the Quest for extraterrestrial truth any assertion (07:55) particularly of the scale presented by Bob Lazar naturally attracts scrutiny the Bolder the claim the more rigorous the investigation it undergoes lazar's statements regarding S4 extraterrestrial crafts and element 115 were no exception over time various criticisms and counter claims arose challenging the accuracy of lazzar's Story one notable criticism focused on lazar's background when researchers and journalists attempted to verify lazzar's academic credentials at MIT and Caltech no records of his (08:27) attendance were found Lazar insisted studied at both institutions but discrepancies in his claimed education emerged some of lazar's supporters suggested that his records may have been purposely erased or altered to discredit him fueling A Narrative of a broader coverup however Skeptics argued that erasing all traces of someone's educational history including memories of classmates and professors would be an improbable task another contentious point was the existence of S4 while Area 51 is recognized as a real military base
(08:59) there is no conclusive evidence supporting S4's existence as described by Lazar satellite imagery of the alleged location failed to definitively show the hangar Bays or facilities mentioned by Lazar critics maintained that if Lazar had truly worked at such a location providing specific coordinates or irrefutable evidence should have been well within his capabilities the physics Community also expressed reservations particularly regarding lazar's claims about the role of element 115 in propulsion lazzar's description of (09:30) manipulating gravity using Element 115 seemed to contradict established laws of physics when moscovium the official name for element 115 was synthesized and studied its properties did not align with lazar's descriptions the elements

instability and short half-life appeared to rule out its use as a powerful energy source for propulsion how Bob lazzar's story transformed UFO discourse additionally lazar's explanation of how extraterrestrial crafts operate specifically in generating gravity waves faced skepticism many physicists pointed (10:04) out that lazar's description lacked the depth and precision expected from someone with Advanced Training in physics the concept of gravity waves was unfamiliar and contradicted the established scientific understanding of element 115 Additionally the synthesized moscovium did not match lazzar's description some suggested that the natural stable isotope Lazar referred to may not have been discovered yet or was being kept confidential they argued that our understanding of elements and Isotopes is continually
(10:34) evolving and what seems improbable now might become accepted knowledge in the future many believed that lazar's willingness to come forward despite the potential personal and professional consequences added credibility to his claims they thought that an individual would not willingly endure such scrutiny and backlash unless genuinely convinced of the truth the debate surrounding Bob lazar's Revelations mirrors the broader discourse on UFOs and extraterrestrial life on one side our Skeptics demanding
(11:03) empirical evidence and verifiable facts while on the other side our Believers often driven by a combination of evidence intuition and a deep-seated feeling that we are not alone in the universe somewhere in the middle are those open to possibilities waiting for irrefutable evidence that could tip the balance lazar's narrative filled with both compelling details and perplexing inconsistencies will likely remain a controversial chapter in the history of UFOs in an era where information travels rapidly and stories can be molded with (11:33) each tweet blog post or television special the media played a crucial role in bringing Bob lazar's narrative to Global attention while lazzar's Tales of extraterrestrial craft and secretive government bases were captivating on their own it was the media's amplification that moved his claims from the fringes to mainstream discourse lazzar's initial exposure to the public was orchestrated by investigative journalist George knap a reputable figure known for thorough journalism nap's televised interviews with Lazar
(12:03) provided legitimacy to his claims creating a dynamic that appealed to the average viewer with intriguing and accessible content the visual medium combining sound imagery and narrative was well suited to explore the mysterious and otherworldly aspects of lazar's story lazar's descriptions of the S4 facility alien crafts and element5 mechanisms were enhanced with reconstructions animations and expert analyses this storytelling and visualization blend made the complex and Abstract aspects tangible allowing (12:35) viewers to Journey Into the Heart of the Enigma documentaries further Amplified lazar's narrative delving deeper into the subject matter by juxtaposing his claims with expert opinions archival footage and on-site investigations these documentaries also introduced a diverse range of perspectives from staunch Skeptics to fervent Believers enriching the understanding of the Lazar Phenomenon with the Advent of the internet the discourse surrounding lazzar's story became democratized online forums blogs and social media
(13:05) platforms facilitated discussions debates and dissections of every aspect of lazzar's narrative this Collective hive mind unrestricted by geography or institutional constraints occasionally Unearthed details or connections overlooked by traditional media YouTube channels and podcasts that focus on UFO research frequently featured lazar's story some provided New Perspectives or information While others attempted to disprove his claims through careful analysis some presented supporting accounts or evidence that strengthened his narrative
(13:38) however it's undeniable that without media involvement lazar's story might have remained obscure within a niche Community instead it became a global phenomenon a key element in UFO lore sparking curiosity fueling debates and inspiring a new generation to gaze at the stars with Wonder pondering the Timeless question of whether we are truly alone the media's role in shaping the collective Consciousness through the Bob Lazar narrative demonstrates its significant influence this underscores how storytelling when Amplified by (14:09) technology and broadcast to a wide audience can profoundly impact our perception of reality our beliefs and our position in the universe the scientific Mirage of element 115 the field of science characterized by its rigorous adherence to evidence-based inquiry often faces challenges when dealing with claims that Venture into to the speculative or the unverifiable Bob lazzar's assertions especially those regarding Element 115 and its alleged properties have been subject to scrutiny within this framework Element 115 as (14:42) described by Lazar played a central role in his narrative he suggested that this element served as the foundation for the propulsion systems of the Extraterrestrial craft he claimed to have worked on according to Lazar when properly utilized Element 115 could create a gravitational field enabling spacecraft to manipulate SpaceTime and Achieve Interstellar travel however when the scientific Community began to investigate these claims several issues arose firstly the very existence of element 115 as described by Lazar during (15:15) his initial Revelations was not documented in the periodic table it was only in 2003 that scientists managed to synthesize Element 115 naming it moscovium the properties of moscovium as determined through laboratory observations sharply contradicted lazar's descriptions the synthesized element displayed a high level of instability with a half-life measured in milliseconds meaning it rapidly decayed into other elements within a fraction of a second this rapid Decay made it improbable as a stable energy source let (15:45) alone one capable of powering Interstellar spacecraft lazar's description of the capabilities of element 115 to manipulate gravity has sparked interest in the physics Community gravity one of the fundamental forces of nature is notoriously difficult to control despite extensive research our understanding of gravity is limited and the notion that an external substance like Element 115 could manipulate gravitational fields challenges established knowledge it's essential to recognize that science is inherently open to discoveries

(16:17) throughout the history of scientific inquiry once dismissed theories have been validated through subsequent research however the burden of proof lies with the claimant for lazar's assertions to gain scientific cred ability element when it's exposed to radiation it produces its own gravitational field they must be supported by empirical evidence reproducible experiments or verifiable observations currently lazar's claims about the miraculous properties of element remain anecdotal critics have pointed out the lack of peer-reviewed
(16:49) Publications or collaborative verification related to lazar's statements science thrives on collaboration debate and peer review where groundbreaking discover discoveries are rigorously examined before acceptance lazar's bypassing of these protocols raises doubts about the validity of his statements while the Allure of lazzar's narrative is undeniable the bridge between belief and scientific acceptance relies on empirical evidence as of now that bridge remains incomplete the Intriguing story of element 115 and its extraordinary
(17:21) properties awaits validation or reputation through the unwavering lens of scientific inquiry not through anecdotes or assertions government acknowledgements amid lazar's claims when allegations concerning State Secrets classified projects or covert operations arise the global Focus inevitably shifts toward the government for clarification denial or confirmation Bob lazar's claims which directly implicated secret military bases and advanced technology were no exception both official and unofficial responses
(17:53) from various government agencies shed light on the complex interplay between statecraft sec secrecy and the pursuit of Truth initially there was a noticeable absence of acknowledgement from government channels regarding lazar's allegations this silence though anticipated fueled further speculation among believers who interpreted it as evidence of a deeper conspiracy or an implicit admission that lazar's claims were valid however Skeptics viewed this silence as the government's unwillingness to dignify baseless
(18:23) allegations with a response official government stances began to surface indirectly when inquiries were made about lazzar's alleged employment at Area 51 or The elusive S4 no records were found and his claims of academic credentials from prestigious institutions like MIT and Caltech were denied by these institutions for some these denials reinforced the belief in a coverup suggesting that lazzar's records were intentionally expunged While others questioned the overall truthfulness of lazzar's narrative as the Lazar Saga
(18:54) unfolded more direct government responses emerged the US Air Force responsible for the Nevada test and training range where Area 51 is located maintained its tight lipped approach regarding the facilities operations they reiterated that discussions of specific operations and projects at Area 51 were classified and not for public disclosure a standard protocol that only fueled speculation unofficial responses often more candid and sometimes off the Record provided a slightly different perspective some former employees and

(19:25) contractors associated with Area 51 while not directly corroborating lazzar's claims hinted at the existence of Highly classified and advanced projects at the facility their testimony suggested a culture of extreme secrecy and compartmentalization where even individuals working at the site might not be fully aware of all ongoing projects in 2013 a significant moment occurred when the CIA officially acknowledged the existence of Area 51 this recognition long avoided by the agency was documented in a Declassified
(19:57) report on the U2 spy plane program it's important to note that this acknowledgement did not lend credibility to claims made by Lazar element when it's exposed to radiation it produces its own gravitational field regarding extraterrestrial Technologies despite various responses from the government including denials acknowledgements and silences obtaining a clear understanding of the situation remains challenging lazar's assertions fluctuate between being considered plausible and met with skepticism government responses to these (20:28) claims attribute layers of complexity to the overall narrative whether interpreted as standard procedure intentional confusion or Genuine disclosure these reactions serve as a reminder of the intricate Dynamics between government secrecy it's time for this country to take back our country we need to tell the folks at the Pentagon public curiosity and the pursuit of Truth in a Time marked by Mysteries now it's time for today's subscriber pick Bob Lazar finally breaks silence on recent UFO sightings he asserted that he (20:57) was employed at a conf confidential government facility named S4 situated close to Area 51 in Nevada his role primarily involved the examination and understanding of advanced technology believed to be of extraterrestrial origin initially Lazar made remarkable statements discussing nine distinct spacecraft which he claimed were essentially flying saucers the personal consequences for Lazar deciding to reveal claims that challenge established narratives especially those related to National Security can have significant
(21:27) personal challenges Bob lazar's choice to share his experiences at Area 51 and the subsequent events highlight the complexities of being a whistleblower in a field filled with skepticism Intrigue and potential danger immediately after revealing his identity Lazar faced intense public scrutiny every aspect of his life from academic credentials and professional background to personal relationships and financial standing underwent a thorough examination this scrutiny was not only a result of public curiosity but also due to lazar's
(21:57) repeated claims of threats and attempts to erase official records of his existence he spoke of being followed monitored and intimidated though these assertions were difficult to independently verify let us know what you think in the comments below the human toll of UFO Revelations lazzar's relationship suffered from The Fallout of his Revelations the strain of being a central figure in a highly debated UFO story impacted his family life leading to strained and even fractured relationships under the pressure of (22:26) public attention trust became a scarce commodity and isolation whether self-imposed or circumstantial became a recurring theme in his life professionally Lazar faced challenges as well his academic credentials were questioned and his claims Drew skepticism from mainstream scientific and Engineering communities traditional employment opportunities within his field became limited despite these challenges Lazar adapted to his new reality by venturing into scientific Supply businesses capitalizing on his Newfound Fame and the increased interest
(22:57) in exotic materials and Technologies however the shadow of his Area 51 claims persisted always serving as a backdrop to any professional Endeavors he pursued financially the journey had its ups and downs presenting a series of challenges and opportunities for Lazar while his story opened doors for paid interviews documentary deals and speaking engagements it also brought legal battles business challenges and the expense of maintaining security and privacy lazzar's financial situation much like other aspects of his life
(23:28) post- Revelation became a fluctuating balance of gains and losses and that this is kind of when the most stressful part started the psychological impact of being in the midst of such a tumultuous situation should not be underestimated despite lazar's outwardly calm and matter aact demeanor in public appearances there is speculation about the inner turmoil second guessing and moments of doubt he may have faced holding on to a narrative especially one that is strongly contested would test the resilience of any individual another (23:58) notable aspect of lazzar's post- Revelation Journey was his gradual withdrawal from the public eye following the initial surge of interviews documentaries and public appearances Lazar increasingly chose to live a more private and secluded life while he never changed his stance on his claims he appeared less inclined to actively promote them in the public Arena instead he opted for a quieter existence a way from the constant attention of both Believers and Skeptics Bob lazar's life after disclosing his claim names about (24:28) Area 51 and extraterrestrial technology presents a meaningful story highlighting the challenges and consequences of making extraordinary claims but that's not all in another surprising disclosure that captivated Global attention former American intelligence official David grush unveiled a covert program orchestrated by the US government over several decades during a congressional Hearing in Washington the program veiled in secrecy aimed to gather and analyze crashed UFOs what made this Revelation noteworthy was the revelation of (25:01) non-human entities bringing the issue of extraterrestrial life to the Forefront on a global scale grush once a leader in analyzing uaps made these claims under oath adding a solemn tone to the gravity of his words he had previously filed a whistleblower complaint in 2020 two alleging that a shadowy curtain separated him from CT UFO programs holding profound mysteries about aliens and their technology the repercussions of this disclosure were felt globally capturing the attention of a wide audience and sparking intense

(25:33) speculation about the United States possibly possessing evidence of alien life and advanced extraterrestrial technology however skepticism prevailed considering the Earth shattering nature of the Revelation whistleblower Fallout and the UFO controversy just like Bob Lazar grush faced severe consequences for his bold claims describing the backlash as very brutal and detailing its impact on his professional and personal life he revealed knowledge of individuals harmed during efforts to conceal UFO information and expressed (26:06) genuine fears for his life despite the risks grush hoped his actions would lead to increased transparency the Congressional hearing featured Tim burett a republican Congressman making startling claims about the US possessing technology defying the laws of physics and alien spacecraft capable of transforming humans into charcoal briquettes Bur accused government agencies the intelligence community and the Pentagon of obstructing the oversight committee's investigation adding a layer of intrigue to the proceedings grush claimed the US had (26:38) acquired extraterrestrial life forms and asserted that some crashed UFO recoveries included biological entities not humans he hinted at non-human activities dating back to the 1930s however during his testimony grush was more guarded leaving some Mysteries unresolved in earlier interviews he mentioned colossal alien spacecraft and A peculiar bell-like craft from 1933 but specifics were withheld during the hearing due to security concerns journalist and historian Garrett graph noticed gush's cautious approach and (27:11) highlighted the enigmatic nature of the situation despite accusations of stonewalling by federal officials burett after the hearing endorsed gush's claims about non-human entities emphasizing the need for occupants to fly such spacecraft the Pentagon firmly rejected grouch's claim with a Department of Defense spokesperson stating there was no solid evidence supporting the concealment of extraterrestrial material programs the hearing also featured compelling Witnesses like David fraver a former Navy commander and Ryan Graves a
(27:42) retired Navy pilot who shared astonishing accounts of encountering unidentified aerial phenomena the electrifying proceedings with their mix of Revelations and skepticism added layers of intrigue to the ongoing debate about the existence of extraterrestrial life and the the US government's involvement in concealing it as the media frenzy surrounding David gush's Revelations about extraterrestrial encounters unfolds cautionary voices emerge grush himself despite being a key whistleblower admits he hasn't (28:11) personally witnessed the alleged alien craft his claims are based on extensive conversations with high-ranking intelligence officials adding an element of uncertainty Skeptics note that similar stories of government UFO coverups have surfaced since the 1970s and 1980s without concrete leaks or documentary evidence ever emerging the government's track record in safeguarding vital Secrets raises doubts about its ability to maintain profound silence the scientific Community fascinated yet frustrated grapples with (28:41) the lack of hard irrefutable data while the bombshell Revelations have ignited curiosity scientists emphasize the need for more substantial evidence Beyond tantalizing speculation the recent hearings by the house oversight committee though captivating leave believers and Skeptics pondering the Mysteries beyond Earth Senate

Majority Leader Chuck Schumer's proposed legislation to force the Pentagon to disclose information about encounters with non-human intelligence marks a pivotal moment in history however (29:12) scientists caution that the plural of anecdote isn't data emphasizing The elusive nature of the claims David Kipping an astrophysicist expresses excitement and frustration noting that gush's claims rest on leaked Pentagon videos and eyewitness Tales which have grabbed Congress and the defense Department's attention for years the New York Times uncovered a Secret Pentagon UFO tracking program in 2017 and the Pentagon itself released videos of UAP in 2020 the office of the Director of National intelligence's 2021 report
(29:44) highlighted peculiar flight behaviors of uaps stressing natural explanations a 2023 follow-up pointed out over 170 cases requiring further investigation Kipping acknowledges something strange is going on but stresses the need for rigorous scientific scrutiny Melissa fukan a sociologist questions the motivations qualifications and potential biases of those sharing information transparency and Independence in sources are crucial for credibility David spurgle an astrophysicist at Nasa emphasizes the lack of concrete data
(30:19) while AI lobe a Harvard astronomer sees sharing any extraterrestrial objects as essential for scientific Integrity however lobe acknowledges the possibility that grush might be mistaken or misled cautioning against jumping to conclusions scientific challenges arise from the lack of specific locations or sites making claims based on reports challenging to verify lobe also notes the potential political nature of withholding information for National Security Advantage the thorough scientific approach despite gush's
(30:50) credibility scientists see scientific challenges akin to anecdotes or isolated reports witnessing unidentified flying objects poses challenges as humans tend to explain strange events based on what they know the complexity of the situation coupled with the potential for misinformation or hidden motives underscores the need for a cautious and thorough approach to evaluating these extraordinary claims in his analysis Kipping emphasizes that even without extraterrestrial involvement pilots and individuals are bound to encounter
(31:21) mysterious phenomena sporadically some report these Oddities and a few remain unexplained the challenge lies in in determining the frequency of these anomalous phenomena and how often they defy explanation without a clear Baseline it's challenging to assess the significance of leaked Pentagon videos if these sightings of unidentified aerial phenomena occur infrequently their recent surge becomes intriguing about UFOs ifications are as common as genuine sightings it could be a series of honest mistakes the 2021 Pentagon
(31:53) report faced a similar dilemma having data but lacking definitive answ ERS due to the absence of a comprehensive data set to address this various groups are working on compiling records spurgle team suggests NASA invest in precise and testable UAP data collection for reliability meanwhile institutions are intensifying efforts in extra terrestrial related data collection from Innovative monitoring programs to space archaeology and the US's Interstellar research Mission this data could eventually lead to meaningful
(32:23) conclusions about UAP and the potential existence of aliens regarding gush's claims of intact spacecraft in government possession Colombia's astronomer Kipping finds plausibility He suggests that if intelligent alien life exists the current critical challenges facing Earth such as nuclear disarmament and climate change make it an enticing time for extraterrestrial scientists to visit Kipping points out that Earthbound scientists are planning a probe to the nearest solar system in the Breakthrough star shot initiative exploring the (32:56) habitability of a rock rocky earthlike planet however he acknowledges the limitations of telescopes in searching for alien life as remotely viewing a distant planet surface requires a telescope so massive that its light reflection might be detectable Kipping believes the current ERA with Earth undergoing significant challenges is the most interesting period in its history for potential extraterrestrial observation this aligns with the breakr starshot initiative emphasizing that if intelligent beings were to study Earth (33:26) during this unique phase sending a spacecraft would be the most viable option the Quest for understanding UAP and the potential existence of alien life involves a captivating blend of science curiosity and the necessity for comprehensive data amid a period of great Cosmic exploration thank you for watching see you in the next update

Transcript:
(00:00) welcome to the program well thanks art um gee bob uh i you know what i'm gonna start at the end um why do you hate talking about ufos well there's a few reasons first first of all it's gotten pretty old it's been you know over a decade and uh second of all uh yeah i'm i'm glad i was involved in the project for a short time but um you know once you leave that and try and enter normal life especially if you're peddling your services in research and development in a scientific field it becomes really tough for people to
(00:49) take you seriously when you're known as the ufo guy so it's just hard to kind of divorce all that stuff that's kind of the same problem that john lear had you know when he was working for the airline so it finally got to the point where he had to say no more and for years of course he didn't talk at all right i know he had a lot of problems with that and and uh i don't know that's something people just don't take into account got fired actually got fired because of it from one airline
(01:16) yeah that's that's right that's that's what i heard um how how do you now remember that special year with john or maybe it was more in a year but the time period of time you spent with john and you went through all of that how do you now remember that do you remember it fondly do you remember it as something you wish you hadn't done or what oh no it's those are fond memories it was uh it was fun and exciting back then uh you know before all the problems started and all the hassles from the feds and whatnot but uh yeah back in (01:51) the early days before all this became popular in area 51 was on the tip of everybody's tongue you know we were sneaking around out there when there were minimal security and and what not and i had the uh the test flight schedule at that time so we knew exactly what was going to happen and what was going on and well you know what i'd like to know why did you i mean you at that time had a pretty damn good secure job uh at an extremely secret place what made you decide to grab john by the caller and say hey buddy i can show you
(02:25) something i mean how do you make that choice [Music] i have to place myself back in that time well there i it's one of that that's kind of a loaded question because there was a lot of stuff going on at that time and you know i kind of make a long story short at the time they were just calling me out usually at night on specific days to go out there when i initially started working down at the test site right and you know this was causing problems with my wife at the time because i would i was keeping everything
(03:06) confidential even from her sure and you know a hero 11 or 12 o'clock at night i get this call and i disappear and you know this happens time and time again and where are you going honey i'm sorry i can't talk about that right yeah i'm going to work i'm sure you are yeah you know and uh as this goes on for quite a while suspicions begin to build up and uh you know i i kind of kept my friends at at arm's length at that time because i just didn't want any problems i wanted all the you know this newfound security to go
(03:43) smoothly sure and uh was pretty much playing with the game so it started causing suspicion in my friends and you know immediate family and that sort of thing so i decided to take the risk one night and uh just bring everybody out close enough to where they could see a test flight when i knew a test flight was going on yeah but you you had to know what you were risking right oh i did and you know i can't i can't really say what the actual motivation was back then you know specifically what made it you know what made me snap
(04:20) on that day but uh were you angry at them uh were you sure not at that point were you showing off there's nothing wrong with that by the way i mean that's what it was that's what it was i mean i i can understand no i i it really wasn't that you know and that that would actually be an easy answer but uh it really wasn't that if i recall that we didn't start we didn't start butting heads until after that right but um that was about it i think it was to alleviate suspicion and show you know several of my friends (04:56) what was going on what was really going on yeah um how much during those sojourns how much did you actually get to see along with john while we were out of the area or while i was actually working there in the area well yeah they're two separate things no i meant when you took john and others up there what how how is what you saw uh was it convincing for those who came along with you there was no question in their mind about what they were seeing oh no there was no question i mean john hauled out his even though we got much closer in than (05:36) you can today near the area well i have no idea what it's like today but at least when i was last in las vegas a few years ago you you really couldn't get very far out on the road but we we drove in close to 10 miles and you can't do that anymore but john hauled out his celestron 10-inch telescope and from there it was quite a view so uh and you were seeing saucers a just lifted off the ground and hovered around do you have any idea now of course you actually it's another story but i mean you of course got in to see the real mccoy

(06:22) um you saw how many saucers ultimately at s4 oh there were nine total nine total but you know these were seen at a distance the only one i actually had direct contact with was the one that was being test flown uh-huh um do you have any idea how they sufficiently back engineered whatever in the hell they found inside that saucer to be able to test fly it do you have any idea what went on to to to learn about i mean there must have been i mean what was it like inside inside this thing what was it like if you were standing there looking at it
(07:01) inside what would you be seeing well i guess the most shocking thing about it is it was everything was one color there was no aesthetics at all everything was a light gray and uh it was as if and i've said this before it was as if the entire device was made out of carved out a wax heated for a bit and cooled off there were no sharp edges no right angles everything was rounded and smooth both inside and out there are no seams or anything like that like they've been done by from a mold or something right like a giant injection
(07:38) mold of some sort but um so that's it's yeah i mean that was probably the most obvious thing you'd notice when you walk in there it just uh didn't look conventional at all any idea again i mean from that could you see but what how did they navigate this thing were there buttons were there joysticks were there what sort of i have no idea no idea and so you would have no idea then how they back engineered i would have to be a pretty dangerous thing to take a craft that you just had and try to figure out how to fly the (08:17) damn thing i imagine so and from the stories i've heard that it was quite a dangerous thing but unfortunately a lot of this went on way before i ever got there and obviously they had at least found out to some extent how some of the systems and subsystems operated do you know how they got their hands on these in the first place i mean how did they get them i don't know i don't know unfortunately a lot of the information is compartmentalized so nobody has no one person has the whole story about everything and that's typically (08:54) done in any government project so nobody can walk away with you know the whole project or knowledge of everything but uh yeah i wish i had the complete picture sure of what was going on even just smaller pieces to the picture i did have i would be very interested in how the navigational system operated that still kind of puzzles me uh as do flight controls and and things of that sort but and propulsion this element what is it 116 115 yeah 115.
(09:29) 115. um do you have any concept of how the propulsion system did what it did i know how uh you know a jet plane moves from a to b and so forth and so on i mean how was this element 115 used to to to move the craft what kind of propulsion system is it it's a gravity propulsion system something that's uh completely alien to us if you don't mind me saying that that's good working the um instead of an action reaction system i guess the analogy i always use is if you go put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed
(10:09) and three feet away from it push your fist into the bed and push down really hard the bowling ball rolls towards it that's correct and what happens in these craft or on this particular one anyway there were three gravity amplifiers in them and what these are are long tubes that are in the belly of the craft and they're on kind of a universal pivot type joint to make it simple uh it's actually something more complicated than that but what they can do is swing two of the emitters up at one time focus on a point in front of the crass
(10:48) and cause a local distortion and essentially the craft moves forward towards it just like the bowling ball would so it's kind of it's falling into a path it's making for itself right it's kind of it's kind of constantly rolling downhill so to speak yeah uh which is the opposite of how our vehicles travel we always accelerate air throw exhaust out the back do something to propel something forward and uh in the air anyway and this essentially operates the opposite and now is it dependent on a local field of gravity in other words

(11:28) obviously these ships are designed to fly uh through interstellar space and i wonder what that if they're using gravity in that manner then how does local gravity i wonder affect them in other words the earth has um gravity and when they're within our field is it any different than when they're in interstellar space in terms of the way it operates yeah completely there's two different modes of travel there's delta and omicron and the omicron configuration is when the craft uses one of the emitters to essentially hover
(12:08) on and causes that local distortion with the other two in front of it right causing it to move forward this is something i've never heard before okay no the delta configuration in fact there let me take a step back for a second that's how the craft has flown in an area of gravity now when you want to leave a local area of gravity say fly into space what is done is you transition from omicron to delta and in a lot of the uh ufo pictures you see occasionally uh you'll see these ufos at these ridiculous angles at 45 degree
(12:49) angles hanging in the middle of the air sure and uh that the reason for that is that's the transition between the two different flight modes ah as the crap lifts off the ground it has to fly in a gravity gravity-free environment in space with the belly forward it doesn't fly like a flying saucer does in a science fiction movie the emitters focus on one point right all three of them out in space and that's how the the thing travels so you're kind of going from a conventional mode of flight lifting up in the air
(13:25) raising the belly and then aiming that towards your target and that's how you you progress knowing what you know about at least the propulsion system um what can you imagine that might go wrong and cause a craft to crash as it allegedly did for example at roswell you know i've wondered about about that for a while and i can't i really can't see how one of these things could could crash um but apparently it did but i just i can't see where a failure is going to typically occur i don't care if there's a a
(14:07) lightning storm or what locally is going on unless there was something that occurred within the craft i don't think there's any external force that's going to act on it certainly any natural force and cause any problems because if you're generating your own gravitational field you're essentially immune to everything that's going on around you um if that field should fail for some reason well yes that's why i say if something if some defect occurred inside or something was done unintentionally
(14:43) as far as piloting the craft that i could see happening but i i don't buy the story somebody comes cruising in from 30 light years away runs into a thunderstorm and crashes into the ground yeah you bet uh are you convinced that roswell was in fact a crash of an alien craft no oh oh really now there's a surprise well you use the word convinced um well i know there's a lot of information that leads me to believe that but you know i'm one of the most skeptical people when it comes to flying saucer stories
(15:15) and i know that almost sounds hypocritical but that's that's just the way it is becoming involved with you know one aspect of it uh kind of cemented that in my mind but you know but there's lots of wacko stories out there and and i'm sure you've you've heard your share of them maybe more than anybody perhaps i have um but but you know if if this propulsion system i mean it could mean so much for the world uh if we knew how to manipulate gravity in that way that obviously would be a power source that (15:47) could be harnessed and utilized in a world where we're running out of coal and oil and all the conventional stuff we've used uh we really badly need another energy source if i mean when you saw these saucers it was how many years ago now well it was in 88 89 88 89 and now 2003 we're starving for energy we're probably going to have wars if well we are having wars because of it and there'll be more wars because of it so why do you suppose bob that all of this has been kept from the world i don't know there's also (16:28) you know there's also a tremendous weapon potential here that too you know a tremendous weapon potential maybe more so than energy because as far as duplicating the the power system well you need access to materials elements things of that sort that that we simply don't have and cannot fabricate and uh well you know they'd be making weapons well yeah of course of course you know if you can control i think i said this on my last interview with you you know we have we have devices that can produce magnetic fields
(17:06) we have devices that can produce artificial light but you know the big gap is we don't have a machine that can make gravity you know there's there's nothing

that does that well that's a big gap in physics or we haven't made it public and and the question is why is this technology still buried i tell you what we're at the bottom of the air hold on bob we'll come back and we'll jump right back into the same play the ability to create or manipulate gravity some incredible thing to be sure (17:38) and bob we were talking about the you know the energy needs of the world and then you brought up weapons and you betcha i mean do you believe for example that they have in fact uh developed weapons using this technology and that we have them now in our arsenal my own personal belief absolutely absolutely huh absolutely because i saw evidence of that even when i worked there part of the uh part of the briefing contained a couple hints about using gravity as a lens or a one of the gravity emitters as a lens to focus uh energy weapons so
(18:21) which to take a step back if you're particle beams and other uh energy type weapons of that sort disperse quickly in an atmosphere and uh it's kind of hard to keep a focused uh intense beam on your target but if you can manipulate gravity you know you can really really changed the dynamics of that so what would such a weapon do well that's what they're using a technology there essentially to focus something that's conventional but if you could maintain the energy density maintain uh you know essentially a tight focus (18:58) spot right of any high intensity energy you could burn you know penetrate [Music] destroy different targets but also it's also a great defensive thing because uh once you start talking about manipulating gravity and you can create a gravitational field in any plane you wish you know things that become possible are are what we consider science fiction now the popular shields in star trek become possible now well how about not quite so as fictional uh suggestions made by ronald reagan about star wars right you know you've got to wonder if um some (19:42) of what that man said at that time came from some knowledge he might have had about what was possible it could certainly have had i've heard several people talk about reagan in that way and i know he made several of those uh yes he did speeches with uh making reference to aliens invading the earth that's right and whatnot but uh yeah that's that's very possible uh certainly that would have been one of the early conclusions any military mind would have drawn and that could have easily made it to the top to the president ronald reagan
(20:17) was somebody who said what was on his mind uh to the consternation of many around him and you know he'd just say what was on his mind and uh to hell with the consequences so one does have to wonder about that but still there it is maybe we've got the weapons we didn't use them in iraq no i think these are these are way too valuable to use in combat these aren't things that have been produced you know we have if we have any uh we're using the parts from the craft and their prototypes and i don't think
(20:53) anybody is risking putting these valuable things into battle [Music] i think it's you know unless we've developed another source for the materials or have been able to duplicate them you know in the past 10 years i really don't see that we're going to be going anywhere with that but who knows maybe maybe by this time research has continued and they've actually come up with something one of the key things that uh john lear did during our inter last interview was he said hey art i'm going to take
(21:28) you to a briefing and you're going to get to say whether you think all of this there should be total disclosure about everything the united states government has done since day one regarding this whole issue of extraterrestrials what we've learned what information we have how we got it what we've done with it the terrible things government has done to protect the secrets and all the rest of it i'm going to lay it all out for you and you decide whether or not it should be all publicly disclosed you know everybody in in ufology is
(22:01) screaming for disclosure and so i'm wondering about you bob um if you had a litany of things laid in front of you that we had done some of them pretty terrible if you buy it would you would you say that there should be full disclosure or is this something better kept from the american or the world public well it's not better kept from the american people because you know we're we're supposed to be the government we hire these guys elect them to their positions to take care of business yes sir so nothing is (22:34) supposed to be kept from us however you know there are other countries we do have an awful lot of people in the world that just hate us because we're alive and uh you know if you're concerned about weapons and the proliferation of things of that sort uh you do need to keep certain things secret from the rest of the world

however it's one of the things that i had said initially go ahead and keep all that stuff secret but just admit hey by the way you know a long time ago we ran into some of these things this (23:10) this technology is real there apparently is actual intelligent extraterrestrial life somewhere else and you know we have a few artifacts and you know go ahead and release some stuff to the public said look up here you know here's a hinge made on another world just something generic and uh you know keep all the other stuff secret but then i can also see the flip side of that that's going to wet everybody's appetite and there's going to be a furor over you know disclosing the rest of the information and if the government's been
(23:44) keeping that for secret for so long what else have they been keeping secret well yeah i don't see the government coming clean with any of this stuff i mean they're they're up to all kinds of no good so uh do you believe that there is uh a government uh behind the government you know sort of pulling the strings as it were i don't know about that i think ours is pretty screwed up as it is so i don't think it needs anybody else pulling any strings yeah you're right about that uh but surely there is uh
(24:17) some method for keeping this gigantic secret and not uh not all politicians nor even perhaps uh all presidents are told about the existence of that do you believe that no i think yeah i think very few people know and one of the things they told me which was one of my first comments there when i finally knew what i was working on uh how do you guys keep this secret yeah and what they told me was this is the easiest thing in the world to keep secret because it's so unbelievable and you know when you really think about it
(24:51) they're right well they are because everything just gets dismissed or perhaps erased how much anger do you uh have for them now i mean what they did to you they virtually erased your life they brought a steel fist right down in the middle of your life and uh kind of ruined things for quite a while for for you well i don't know i've tried to put this out of my mind you know as i fight to try and just put this behind me and forget about everything you know a lot of people keep prodding me for information and you
(25:27) know the it resurfaces in my mind but for the most part i i just try and get rid of this at the time sure i was pissed off more so than you can possibly imagine and you know as my friends at that time recall i drove around in my little 280z with an uzi you know that's the kind of trouble i expected and i didn't go anywhere without it but uh you know times have changed a lot of time has gone by and [Music] i don't know it's kind of hard to say yeah it's always in the back of my mind but you know what am i going to do to this
(26:04) day i'm still fighting to get some paperwork and well some things i can't even talk about but back back to the way it was so i could be a normal person you obviously thought they were going to kill you oh no question that was the impetus for going on the news yeah and and uh the famous or infamous channel eight uh thing yeah um you want to tell everybody about that because of course not everybody in the rest of the country uh either recalls or knew about what happened with regard to that explain exactly how that came down
(26:43) well i i'm wondering how far it should go back well essentially after i left the project and it wasn't really voluntary but i'm trying to remember exactly what happened then i think in fact i think it was john that interview took place at john lear's house um it was george knapp that talked you into it wasn't it yeah it was a combination of both i think i had i had gone down to john lear's house and really was afraid to go home at that time and hid out there for a while and john said why don't you go talk to (27:32) george knapp and maybe if the stuff's all over the news they'll just leave you alone it'd be your way of kind of pushing back george knapp folks is a reporter for channel 8 um the cbs affiliate in las vegas and yeah he was uh i'm sorry for interrupting no no that's right george is just a very heavy-duty uh investigative reporter for that station and um i guess he was sort of doing stories on john lear at that time and then somehow you got involved in this and and then and then if i remember correctly uh (28:04) you were put on television in a shadow behind something or i can't remember yeah it was just a backlit shadow so um you know you couldn't recognize who i was and the sooner name i used was the name of my boss at the time which was kind of a little smack in the face to say hey just back off and leave me alone and apparently that caused a quite a stir and i got a call shortly after that and needless to say they were pretty upset with that move do you think john well i bet they were do you do you think john wanted you to do it to in (28:41) essence back him up at that point oh i'm sure at that time now i mean you have to look at things at that time first of all i got into the project thinking i was going to be working on a new fighter a propulsion system for a new fighter aircraft yes and uh i was certainly not one of the people that believed in ufos these were people that were just you know something to laugh at as far as i was concerned so um i already lost my train of thought well let me put you back in that chair and that night when the interview

(29:16) got done was done what what did you say to the audience that night well that was essentially just admitting that there were nine craft out there that they were actively back engineering and you know attempting to duplicate the power and propulsion system of the craft and that's that's basically about all that was said i mean there were a few details about where it was that was enough that's like taking a match and throwing it on gasoline what was the reaction like after that uh oh it was it was pretty widespread yeah
(29:51) it went all over the place you know i had i had seen uh new because they interrupt well i don't know if they interrupted it but it was in the middle of five o'clock news oh yeah a live broadcast and and i've seen that exact broadcast repeated on japanese television and you know in germany so it it made the world fast what was the nickname you used for that interview dennis dennis yeah that's called it's a long time ago now that must have taken great big ones to sit in that chair and say that on television yeah dennis
(30:31) mariani was my supervisor at that time i see um okay so after that story broke um i mean you must have you and john probably just sat back and watched the world explode around you well kind of yeah i mean at that time you know john o'leary was out there himself saying that uh there were flying saucers at the test site and you know all kinds of stuff that i thought was pretty silly but uh as it turned out you know he was right i don't know what information source he had at that time but uh he'd been telling you and saying that so
(31:10) i guess maybe maybe that's the reason that you went to john uh as as dragging him along saying hey i got something to show you maybe maybe you just sort of felt as though you owed it to him in some way huh uh maybe i can't i actually can't remember the exact reason but uh it was just the people around me at the time i felt obligated to at least give a peek to wasn't the uh the tester the tester company that makes models came out with a model of a ufo of a flying saucer uh quite a unique um scale model of a flying saucer i have
(31:47) one of them and how much of your input was used to create that model 100 100 yeah yeah john andrews from testers just sat down and said hey we want to make a model of this and you want to help us or not and i said yeah okay this is it they brought a couple guys in and you know off the top of my head i tried to remember some dimensions and we did some initial drawings and the craft just didn't look right and he had a couple friends that were i don't quite remember what they were they were skilled in but in any case
(32:27) they were able to get the correct dimensions by me recognizing the sizes of known objects at various distances sure and they kind of you know back engineered it from that and we're able to get uh the proper dimensions and when the drawing was done it that did that did look correct and i think i'm more comfortable with the the final drawings and um dimensions they came up with and it was i think came up like to 52.
(32:57) 8 feet in diameter or something like that well when you look at the tester model today uh does do you look at that and say yup that's what i saw yeah no no question that they they hit the nail on the head with that really yeah yeah that's exactly it how long a process was that for you to accurately finally you know i guess it's like going to a police station and going to a sketch artist and have them finally come up with something that matches you know the person you saw if i remember it it took a while um it probably took a month on and off
(33:33) of going over drawings drawing the layout over and over again and you know having these these guys look at it and then scale it up and see if it if things fit but it it did take it did take quite a while all right uh am i right or wrong do you do you really have do you own a missile silo in roswell new mexico yeah john perratt and i have a project going down there and uh it's it yeah it's a decommissioned nuclear missile silo just outside of roswell and it's not like i wanted a a place outside of roswell it just (34:17) happened to be where it was oh how does a prison go about getting a missile silo in the first place i mean who do you approach well i think they're actually on the internet if you type in missile silo there are there are a few left for sale but they are they're pretty neat it's uh i believe the the main where the missile sits is 200 feet deep and uh you know these places are uh quite a deal compared to what the government paid for them i think they paid close to 13 million dollars just for the concrete (34:54) to build these places and it's literally bomb proof you can set a you know a thermonuclear bomb on the door and set it off and still be drinking beer inside for a while why did you want a silo oh it was cool just because it's cold well we also have some other plans for it but uh that you can or can't talk about it no i'm really not i'm gonna get done yeah i see um but so this is a full decommissioned nuclear missile silo yeah in roswell yeah just not something that uh the average person would have or want

(35:36) and i wish i knew what you were going to do but you just you can't talk about that at all huh well not really i can i can tell you some of the things we're not doing with it we had not launching missiles unfortunately i couldn't find a reload kit for the place but i would certainly have bought one if i could i see all right uh hold that thought we'll be we'll be right back it's top of the hour my guest is bob lazar he does he owns a missile silo in roswell new mexico and he'll tell us shortly things that uh
(36:09) well i guess he's not going to tell us you can tell us things you can't do with it or he can't do with it or maybe things that he will do with it we'll see what we can pry out of them next from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell i liked his answer actually why would you own a missile why don't you buy a missile silo well because it's cool now you see i can understand that answer because it's cool indeed owning a missile silo would be (36:37) cool bob lazar owns one and he's pretty cool and he'll be right back bob you said you could describe some things that what you you can't do or you might one thing i do have to correct is um uh my partner john ferrat and i are involved in the silo and john has far more invested in it than i do so just to say that it's mine personally so yeah it's not part of us i know i guess and in the respect um i mean but did you there's it had to be more well maybe there didn't i i you know i was going to (37:21) actually put a rocket on my front lawn to impress my neighbors i thought it'd be cool i mean if you're a neighbor and you see a rocket go up in a guy's lawn so do you own a silo for the same reason just for just well you said it's cool it is well no we we actually have some serious plans for it i thought you might and uh you know you don't invest all kinds of money just for the hell of it but um it's amazing the amount of rumors that start and generally for some reason when my name's involved somewhere all kinds of (37:55) ridiculous stories pop out of the woodwork but i think even channel 8 carried that story in las vegas um there and in fact when i was down at the silo we got a call from the police in roswell and they sounded kind of embarrassed and said you know we're going to have to come down and check out the facility there and we asked why and there was kind of a hesitation and they said i know this sounds crazy but you know we have people that actually have come down to the station and said that they believe you're (38:33) holding alien hostages underground in this silo yeah every day and you know because they filed a report they actually went down they are obligated to go check things out so they had to come down and verify that there's no aliens being held hostage in there they actually did that yeah yeah they did that while i was there and um [Music] that's a story in itself that got reported i missed that one well that was most recently before i moved to new mexico what had happened was uh just a a random guy drove out there
(39:10) and was planning on committing suicide now of all the places in the world this guy could have gone to kill himself he drove down the road to the silo parked on top of it and set his car on fire or something like that anyway the thing burnt to the ground and the guy was dead and uh prior to that there's also wild animals antelope cattle whatever in the area and there's been a couple dead cows out there so the connection between cattle mutilations and all this stuff started brewing in the mind of some people so somehow (39:43) it got around that i was developing a death ray in this underground facility and that i had tested it on cattle which is why they were dead and of course a guy came driving down the road and i vaporized his car and killed him i said can you maintain that none of this is true no of course not all right but it's just amazing the stories that get started well okay of course you are bob lazar there is a certain aura around you and when you connect that with buying a missile silo people's imaginations naturally go (40:19) berserk well berserk is a good word but then again you are bob lazar it is a missile silo and to be honest you haven't actually answered my question yet about what you're going to do with it and you say you can't answer that question and you know that's going to feed rumors it's got me thinking [Music] okay well all right well hey you know i just can't help that yeah bob over the years um especially in in the in that time period when you were with john and the whole thing was coming down um how much and you've done a number of (41:02) public interviews several with me how much is left that you can't talk about can't can't can't are unable to concerning the ufos the whole thing yeah information yeah uh not a whole lot but some there's just a couple little tidbits and i think i've told you that before there's a couple things that i need and this isn't to burn anybody and hold information back but it's in case somebody claims that they were involved with the project or worked there there are a couple things that only

(41:39) those people will know and anytime that anybody brings those up when questioned by me i'll know so that's that's the only reason there's there's just a few little bits and pieces of information here and there all righty then then let's go down that road for a second i mean there there are other others like you bob who worked out in and saw all of that um obviously there had to be quite a number over the years of people who became aware of that knowledge why why are there not a lot more bob lazars
(42:10) out there i don't know initially i was not supposed to be the only one that came forward but uh not supposed to be no you mean you had an agreement with someone well barry the guy that i worked with there uh was supposed to additionally come forward but uh that apparently never happened so i was left out there in the dark twisting in the breeze so i don't know what happened so this barry had promised you he would step forward with you well kind of and you know i wonder if it's wise really to comment too much on that (42:50) because i don't know what barry's situation is now but we had you know we had talked about things but if somebody were to come forward and claim they had seen what you saw they also know it to be true because they worked there you would have a couple of questions you'd be able to ask them that would verify the authenticity sure instantaneously instantaneously all right now why did you move i mean you've been a very long time desert rat uh out here in the las vegas area nearby me and of course uh the infamous
(43:21) area 51 s4 and all the restaurant i mean you lived here so long why'd you move um you know after a while las vegas gets to you i was there and certainly working at the test site uh was fascinating and a little bit of the work i did there when i initially moved to las vegas but after that being out of the scientific field i i really went stagnant and really didn't produce or do anything that i really considered worthwhile and just needed to get out of the las vegas environment completely and new mexico especially around the (44:04) albuquerque area you know you have two of the most prominent oh yeah national nuclear labs here los alamos and sandia and you know that cities here are filled with phd scientists and it just feel it felt good to get back into into the mainstream of things and uh you know in the short time i was here in the first 18 months uh i just began to actually produce what i considered decent work i started filing for patents and uh now you know working on the hydrogen system and uh yeah i want to talk about that about that as a matter of fact yeah
(44:40) patents and uh on hydrogen fuel systems and i i know you've had them in your car you've run your car on hydrogen did it for a long time right right um whatever patents you have uh what's this about a swat team coming in and grabbing all of your uh data and computers you know i have to stop you there we can't even touch that one i spoke to my attorney after uh i sent that kid no we gotta totally just not talk about that huh yeah okay uh at any rate now that you're back or you're in new mexico you feel like
(45:18) you're you're doing good work in in your area once again yeah and it's uh yeah i guess it's just a different mindset and also the immediate area that i live in you know moving up isolated and in the mountains in the middle of a forest and you know on a lot of acres of land and is different than living right in the middle of las vegas and you know typically in town so it's just uh it's a freer environment and that i'm building my own research lab here and i don't know it's it's a lot more (45:56) fertile ground for for thinking and actually doing something serious well i do get the sense there is still an awful lot you can't talk about you said a couple of things but then we can we keep touching on uh several things that still there's aspects of it that you can't talk about so uh i would say a lot of your life still is surrounded by having to keep secrets are you good at keeping secrets no i think it's been proven pretty well that i but it drives me crazy because the thing i would love i could spend four hours on the phone (46:35) more pissed up than you can imagine talking about the swat team thing but i my hands are tied right now oh no i maybe in the future i can say something about no but no attorneys are that way i know when there's ongoing stuff uh and they're right of course ultimately they're right but it does kill you not to be able to talk about something yes it does um do you think that you're working on without asking you specifically what you're working on did any of uh let's try it this way did any of your experience at s4 and

(47:07) what you saw and what you learned technically have application in any work that you're either doing now or contemplating yes [Laughter] [Music] oh my uh yes now i'm obligated to ask you about your project what what you envision what you're doing even in general terms can you tell me a little bit about what you're working on well there's a there's i actually i'm overburdened with projects in progress as mentioned as you mentioned the the hydrogen fuel systems uh that's actually something i've been (47:51) working on since the late 70s and that's finally come to fruition and a lot of the materials needed long-term testing and they've certainly had it now um that's probably the biggest okay perhaps you can answer a hydrogen question for me now it's hydrogen is being touted even the president of the united states is touting it as the way to go and but there are others bob who say look um this is in a way all foolishness because you know to create hydrogen in amounts that would be good for the public to use you know
(48:31) sell for the energy cells fuel cells uh would require manufacturing pollution the use of energy in other words all you're really doing is finding a new storage facility in way to store energy that still has to be produced frankly in the old-fashioned way no not really well then lay it on me not really how well first of all there's there's two trains of thought here the automotive industry the president and his advisors are all going down the fuel cell path and for those that don't know a fuel cell is a device that takes (49:12) gaseous hydrogen and oxygen combines them and makes electricity and little fuel cell water dribbles out of it because when the hydrogen and oxygen combine that's the only the only by-product is water right and so you can use these in cars or to power homes or whatever right right well you can use these things and the their car of the future has fuel cells and an electric motor and that's how the car is powered now that's that's very efficient it's around 35 percent efficient okay uh overall and uh
(49:42) that is pretty neat however all the technology's not there the vehicles will be fantastically expensive none really exist right now in in production and what about the billion cars that are on the road now what is everybody going to dish out 175 000 for a new car and on top of that they want to just replace gasoline pumps with hydrogen pumps and sell you the fuel again all right uh let's get back to refuting this in other words no matter how it works bob and it sounds like you're almost more on the negative than the positive side of this
(50:20) but i mean no matter how it works aren't conventional fuels going to have to be used in copious amounts to produce these cylinders of of uh of hydrogen no i don't that i came up with first of all converts a conventional car to burn hydrogen conventionally with how much cost well let me get to that in a second the actual conversion is not that difficult not that terribly expensive i have i have not used any energy producing any of the hydrogen that i make as far as power off the grid fossil fuels or whatnot
(51:01) hydrogen is easily electrolyzed by water you know if you need to prove it to yourself take a 12 volt battery put both wires in the water add a pinch of salt you'll see bubbles coming off of one side well some off the other two that ought to be hydrogen right anyway it's easily produced and it can be produced uh with solar panels or a wind turbine i use solar panels that's where all my hydrogen comes from i fill up the corvette with it and we drive 700 miles on it and the car will also run on gasoline (51:32) all right all right so that's perfected i mean it works right right and it's worked for years and years and years all right let's say i buy a conventional automobile for i don't know 20 30 grand something like that um what would it cost to convert a car like that to hydrogen you're the big the big hang up right now has been the actual storage medium you don't want to store hydrogen as just a compressed gas because it's dangerous it's flammable and on top of that you need thousands of times more space to hold (52:06) the hydrogen than you would an equivalent amount of gasoline okay so it just doesn't work right you don't want to store it liquid because that's cryogenic it's dangerous it's just a big thermos bottle in your tank and it's another big headache the the third way is the best way and that's a metal hydride and this is a granular material that absorbs hydrogen like a sponge absorbs water and it only releases the hydrogen when it's heated and it's when it's not being heated i can fire incendiary bullets through

(52:35) the hydride tank and it just smolders like a cigarette so it's extremely safe wow and this is the material that i store the hydrogen in in the vehicles and for home use is this the subject of a patent yes it is yeah now there are various hydride materials and some were actually very difficult to get a hold of because some of them like lithium-6 deuteride which is a a hydride actually well the material i use as a hydride the only use for that material is in thermonuclear bombs and it's restricted obviously restricted
(53:18) for sale and the only reason some of these hydrides are manufactured was for the weapons industry and they're done so in such small quantities the cost was very high for instance to convert the corvette just for the tanks of hydride we were looking at fifteen thousand dollars without the hydrogen conversion itself so this is you know that's that's a a pretty large price tag out of line right now right but if if this pro uh whole thing were perfected and you had access to the materials and it were done in mass i'd like to get
(53:55) some idea of what it would cost to convert well we've been working with the hydride manufacturers and uh they promise a 70 reduction in cost in volume production so does that make it viable very much so i mean wouldn't you pay between forty five hundred and six thousand dollars to have your car converted you'll have your hydrogen generator at home so you can drive locally and even up to 700 miles away on hydrogen and if you want you can always put gas in the tank and the car will switch over to gasoline when uh
(54:33) you know when that i've always wanted to know would i need to do that would hydrogen give me the same uh equal amount of horsepower would i be happy with a hydrogen fuel you get a little less you know for instance in a and a larger engine in fact that's the reason we converted the corvette was a lot of these alternate fuel cars you see little ford escorts and these little tiny motors and it leaves everybody wondering well can't you power something substantial so he purposely did a large v8 engine and uh yeah it still lights up the tires
(55:06) and you know screams away there's a little loss in horsepower but in a in a large engine you're not going to detect a 10 loss in horsepower but you're still having a lot of fun though i mean it's uh it's enough horsepower that that generally most people are going to be happy campers oh sure and most people are willing to pay that price tag if they never ever have to go to a gas station again and who wouldn't on top of that you're not supporting you know the oil cartel that's right or (55:32) anything else that's going on or polluting the air and by the way it's probably gonna screw up my little scenario pleading for some more bob lazar's to come forward but out of curiosity uh bob uh tonight all across uh the world people who have been involved uh up at area 51 s4 have seen what you have seen these people they're probably listening bob a lot of them are listening you can be sure of it actually and so what would you say to these um these people would would you say you know what art's right why don't you
(56:07) go ahead and email them and why don't you come on and tell what you know would you advise them to do that no no i knew you'd screw it up don't tell anybody what you know just didn't take my word for it i knew you'd do that i knew it yeah well that that really is my message just forget it forget it huh just forget it don't bother saying anything it's not worth the hassle it's not worth it it's not and for the most part nobody's going to believe what you have to say anyway so don't don't even think of (56:38) doing it oh thanks for the help i'm sorry but you yeah and asked knew i knew i guess what i was in for um okay well i know but still all right but let me take the other side of it bob uh let's fight this a little bit um the there's a lot of people out there like steven greer who i've on tomorrow night and they really do make a compelling damn strong case that gosh darn it all if we've been visited by aliens if they've really been here if we have their craft their technology and even bodies and

(57:13) this is such an incredibly large story so important to the human race that nobody has a right to keep anything like this secret and it should be told it should be out in the open and if these bob lazars don't come in and talk to me and others then how in the hell are we ever going to find out because you said it yourself the government sure isn't going to tell us yeah and i agree with that completely well then how can you say that from personal experience yeah in other words you're not really a crusader at all are you
(57:45) no you're not no no i'm not involved in ufo research i don't follow the stories i don't do lectures i don't uh i know you don't you know i i i don't do any of that stuff you know i i try and put it behind me you know and a lot of people really you know have the drive to get the stuff on kev covered but uh generally those are the people that haven't been involved with anything and uh you know sticking your neck out on the line really does change your life forever and it's it's not a positive thing uh you know
(58:15) people really get the wrong impression they think that you know this is a uh you know a big boost in some way to you and it and it's not by any stretch the imagination so i you know why would i recommend somebody do that well a lot of people bob think that uh i mean when they have these reality tv shows and people line up for blocks and wait two days through the ice and the cold to get a chance to be you know have face time on television we do live in that kind of world and so some people suspect your motive is (58:46) that but um yeah but i hate being on tv i hate doing interviews and i don't do lectures and all that how could that possibly be my motivation yeah that's right well i i believe me i do understand do you have any knowledge diane up in washington wants to know i get a computer message every now and then a lot of them actually yeah do you have any knowledge it's a good question of any agreement between any group of aliens and humans or the us government do you believe that to be true or know it to be true
(59:17) that there is some understanding i i've heard rumors of that uh from various sources but um you know i i don't have any first-hand knowledge of an actual agreement agreement that was cut between anybody uh there's a lot of speculation of course about an agreement to allow some human beings for example to be abducted you know for research in return for let's say technology uh and john lear alluded to all that and said that they in essence reneged on that aspect of what was supposed to be a deal of course to make you you know you'd
(59:59) never make that kind of thing public if you had made a deal to shuffle off some of your citizens at random to guys who are going to do god knows what to them chop them up cut them up whatever they do you could never talk about that ever uh i i don't know i find that kind of hard to believe um so then john has gone too far for you is that right i'm sure he's listening i'm sure that john knows he's gone too far for me john's convinced that there are people living on or some sort of beam beings living on on
(1:00:36) venus and some other local planets that's right and that drives me crazy does it it yeah it absolutely does and a bunch of the things he says well he's convinced there are artifacts on the moon gigantic artifacts on the moon and mars uh and others have said that as well richard c hoagland and others have said there are uh things on on the moon uh in fact you know what there's a speculation that the president of the united states uh mr uh george bush is about to make a speech in which he says is gonna say
(1:01:07) the united states is gonna go back to the moon there's going to be a shuttle mission to go back to the moon i heard that yeah yeah i heard he's supposed to make some sort of announcement oh yeah and we would do it presumably with the shuttle which is really yeah really how are you gonna get the shuttle uh don't ask me i have no idea but that's what i'm hearing and actually i've heard mr hoagland say it's possible i mean that you know if they used every in other words once i think richard has said or
(1:01:38) someone said once you get into orbit uh you're halfway to anywhere well sure but if you want to actually get on the moon it's a different story you know the the orbiter wasn't designed to do that at all and in fact it needs to be replaced with something else yeah it's getting pretty old yeah still that's apparently what's going to be announced i could turn out to be wrong but i don't know of any other spacecraft that we have in current production that would get us to the moon do you
(1:02:08) no but uh you know we just we do still have a saturn v sitting there saturn five could do it uh well it was designed to do it with the laser module and everything it's sitting there in florida yeah you know yeah cut the thing off and

launch it because they stopped the program right you know you think it'd be all right not like old ammunition i mean it's pretty old now well you know it's for the most part you know it's metal and components just sit there with something you know that works don't be do what the united states
(1:02:40) typically does and reinvent the wheel constantly that got us to the moon many times it worked just update it with some modern materials electronics and components and use it since it's there and stop spending huge amounts of money doing nothing what can you imagine our motivation would be for going back to the moon i mean we did go uh most people believe uh something actually don't think we even went but uh we i believe we went and we got rocks and we didn't get very many surprises and so what could we do on the
(1:03:12) moon today that we didn't do then that always seemed more sensible to me to to make a small moon base as opposed to a space station um oh really why well for various reasons first of all the space station is limited in what it can do i and i know a moon base is much more difficult to get to it doesn't have to be large but you can at least try uh some and test out some technology on you know i'm trying to manufacture fuel do some small refining see what you can get from the surrounding environment you know there there have been reports i
(1:03:52) think the i don't know was the cassini some radar mapping craft over the past four or five years detected that there were supposedly large frozen areas of water that's correct on the moon right however they just went over that data again and they had another arbiter now are refuting some of that so yeah you know if you've got water you've got energy and you've got the possibility for all kinds of stuff but uh so we're back to a foggy area there may not be enough water there to manufacture fuel which would be a
(1:04:21) necessity right so uh that would make it uh uninhabitable if uh if they're completely reversing themselves now it's kind of strange to me a lot of people believe uh bob that there are things on the moon large glass structures incredible things that were hidden from the uh the world when we went to the moon and have been hidden ever since and and that that's the reason they say we haven't gone back i believe john is one of the people who believes that yeah he is i'm not one of the people that believes that
(1:04:55) we're not uh no no absolutely not then why go back bob exploration you know why go to the top of the mountain you know that's it it's a completely different world now than it was in the 60s there's a lot more technology so there's a lot more we can investigate there you know and the original reason to go to the moon was never to research the moon you know aside from beating the russians there the original intention was only to see the feasibility or to investigate the feasibility of making a small base there and launching
(1:05:30) a mars mission from the moon this was all about going to mars the moon was only supposed to be because it would be easier to get there from the moon less gravity so on and so forth and that was just to be looked upon as you know as a potential launching site for a mars mission so that the interest was never in the moon i mean we we pretty much knew it was just a rock up there anyway the interest is it you know has always been in mars but mars isn't that easy to get to unless you had a moon base and that would help
(1:05:59) well yeah that would help it's a shortcut and you know you could store fuel there there would be you know if if plans had gone how they should have uh you know maybe we would have already been to mars but i think that's that's the frontier we should look at is investigating that or go to go to europa there's plenty of things in our immediate solar system that are you know potentially fascinating and you know europa has probably the best chance of life you know in our solar system and it you know even the hardcore
(1:06:32) skeptics at nasa pretty much agree there's a good chance there's something in the oceans there so but bob if we've got technology that can manipulate gravity and damn it was back in the early 90s when you knew that we had that uh here we are launching whether it's a saturn v or a shuttle or however we get back to limp back to the moon um and for what reason i'm not sure about but what whatever um we're using very ancient buggy like technology compared to what you know exists now absolutely absolutely i don't
(1:07:13) care what spacecraft they've come up with in my eyes they still look like fireworks and they've proven themselves to be that on occasion but it's uh it is it's archaic technology and we do have something that operates differently however it has limited fuel a limited lifespan and we don't want to lose it so it and as far as i knew at the time we couldn't even come close to duplicating even the the most basic parts of the device so it uh you know what are you left with you're left with your own archaic

(1:07:54) method of transportation to other planets and you can only investigate what's going on around you we have been unable to decipher the the manner in which or duplicate the manner in which gravity is manipulated by the devices on on the craft that you saw obviously we've failed or what i in other words otherwise we'd be using this technology so we failed well it quite possibly now again i hesitate because i'm talking about my knowledge from the early 90s and late 80s i don't know what's happened up till today
(1:08:30) but uh as far as i knew back then yeah we've we failed that's that's the bottom line we can't be duplicating that do you think these craft uh when tested were taken outside the earth's atmosphere no you do not no i i know that for a fact for a fact yeah i don't i don't well well no go ahead just whisper it in my ear uh yeah i pretty much know that for a fact um why out of curiosity this is what we're getting right real close to one of the areas that i said that i i purposely don't talk about so i know
(1:09:18) if anybody's been involved with a project which has to do with the craft and where it's gone oh so that that's this is why you're hearing my hesitation on this okay well the the next thing out of my mouth was going to be why do you think if we thought or would we look this is a very valuable article and it's an operating craft i don't know if the other crafts were operating we know this one does there's only one of them so in other words what kind of thing would you risk taking this out of (1:09:47) you know the earth's gravitational pull and losing and in space yeah you know it's a very good point it's a very good point you know this is their prized possession and you believe we still have that safely wherever by the way do you think it's still up there or do you think it's been moved and if so where do you suppose i don't know you know i always thought that that was an odd place to put it because in the uh you know early days of the nuclear weapon development some of the best places that
(1:10:16) they kept everything were in the south pacific like kwajalein island and and things of that sort and uh you don't have any lookie-lou's there you have no hassles from from anybody you're in the middle of nowhere and nobody can get there without you seeing them what a tremendous point that's where i would have put it i wouldn't have built a secret base in the middle of nevada you know outside of las vegas the and the only reason they moved the nuclear test site to nevada was because it was just too
(1:10:45) expensive running supplies back and forth and all the personnel to the south pacific well you don't have that problem with the et program because it's limited personnel limited supplies and uh you know go hide it in the middle of the ocean on an island like they did with everything else so uh if i was going to put it somewhere that's where it would be why do you think instead it ended up here in nevada i don't know i don't know i mean because obviously they're going to be more people uh
(1:11:12) conceivably seeing what's going on there's got to be a reason somebody must have you know i mean bob they still drive up to the mailbox people take videos people take pictures so then there's another great theory that you might want to comment on that is that they want there to be a slow time release of information they want rumors they want talk about this subject uh for some reason that fits their agenda otherwise put it in the south pacific and you know nobody well there may be some other shortcomings of
(1:11:55) having it out in the middle of the ocean that you know that we're not thinking of but uh perhaps i i don't know maybe they need lots of supplies to get to deal with this thing and maybe maybe they figured if it crashed it's going to be deep down under the pacific somewhere potentially and we'd lose it that way that's quite possible too the desert is good for one thing isn't it it's uh you know it's just there and it's fairly arid and you'd definitely be coming down on land
(1:12:24) if you landed in a strange place anywhere in nevada yeah yeah so you maybe your original point is actually the reason it could be that they they wouldn't want to risk losing the one model they've got then do you figure they're still working on trying desperately to back engineer this or do you think by now they've done it it's been a long time i would hope they've made some substantial progress in 10 years but um you know if you don't have access to exotic materials uh then what are you gonna do no fuel and that's (1:13:04) you know it's like like i said before being you know back in the 1800s and if you want to make something out of plastic you know all you can do is look at it and say hey this is really neat but you know how do we make this stuff and yeah hold on hold on we're at the top of the hour we'll be right back with bob lazar and you [Music] from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell we love you baby and because we do we're gonna let you talk with bob lazar in a moment if you'll stay right where (1:13:38) you are the forum the questions are directly ahead by the way tomorrow night we'll give dr greer what i now call the lear test we'll give him the lear test and i just can't let go of that ever since john said what he said on this program i can't let go of it for some reason anyway coming up in in a moment bob lazar is going to attempt to answer your questions so uh i guess what i would say is uh prepare yourself bob because you never know what's gonna come yeah all right it's it's it's fun bob

(1:14:26) don't don't worry it's actually it's fun what's the john lear test by the way oh what's the john lear test uh it's really cool uh to use your phrase john uh took me to a briefing in essence he said art imagine you're going to this briefing and i'm going to lay the briefing out for you showing you slides and um you know putting things on the blackboard and i'm going to explain to you everything the united states and world governments have ever done regard the whole et issue and you tell
(1:14:58) me at the end of it if you would say okay make it all public okay yeah this is what you had touched on before okay yeah and uh you know at the end of it i said no i wouldn't oh really oh absolutely and uh now that really intrigues me why would you say that because because some of the things that john said are so far beyond the pale that the religious implications the social implications uh the fact that i do believe people would go to go berserk i mean completely berserk it would take down our government it would disturb the (1:15:43) world it would disturb the force it would be you really think people would really wouldn't be able to handle this well you've got to remember now that the test was given from the john lear perspective and remember that john believes a lot of things to be true that you don't right i am quite aware and so to take the john lear test you've got to take what he says as gospel in other words here's what some of the terrible things we've done really terrible things would you make it public and if you had to assume
(1:16:18) that everything he said there is correct i guarantee i'll i'll bet you you'd come up with the same answer so well yeah i come up with the same answer without that but uh i mean i truly hope everything john lear believes isn't true but uh me too oh me too but i have been proven wrong before about many other things so who knows all right are you ready yeah sure okay here we go uh west of the rockies you're on there with john lear hello no bob was there uh i've got john on the mind here bob lazar how are you doing
(1:16:54) hi art hi bob hey there howdy what's pleasure to talk to both of you it's been a while since i talked to you art well glad to have you back um bob i just missed meeting you by day one time and i regret that um that was down in nevada no okay um i was wondering if you knew about a material called starlight um it was supposedly created by a couple of scientists but i've always had suspicions it was um you know alien technology starlight what is this material sir well a physicist told me about this material
(1:17:32) it's like two liquid plastics and when you put it together it forms an indestructible solid uh nuclear blast won't touch it nothing will destroy it have you heard of such material bob no i'm i'm pretty skeptical about a claim like that that uh well it's not supposed to be classified and it came came from a pretty reliable source and also john wanted me to ask you about the orange crate in the crater copper knickers john wanted you to ask me about the orange grade right the crate on the moon john who
(1:18:08) learned john lear yes that's correct oh okay i know what you're talking about he showed me a picture one time and there was a perfectly square object on a on a moon picture and said well what's this orange crate doing there and we were arguing about uh you know some of the images from the moon and this these grainy little things with a couple dots and john was claiming well that's just the reflection from a giant uh you know glass dome over so and so and uh but anyway he did have some pictures
(1:18:36) that you know i couldn't explain but well you know bob uh and some of what john says is pretty wild i mean there's no doubt about it but on on one hand bob you're somebody who's actually seen alien craft most of us haven't so to have seen

what you've seen uh are the things then john says really so crazy yes well i mean you see a lot of people would say flying saucers we got them you've seen them aw come on that's crazy that's i know that's crazy and maybe it makes me a hypocrite for
(1:19:14) saying so but uh that's look i am the first one to admit that if somebody came forward to me with my identical story and laid everything in my lap i'm not sure i'd buy it so i i can't expect anything else from anybody else and in fact i almost prefer people don't believe it because then i get hassled less about it martin martin in san rafael says and i think this is accurate and why i love interviewing you it says lazar continues to be the most credible witness of all straightforward direct
(1:19:47) not self-serving no books tapes no website nothing to sell he just describes what he saw reluctantly at that he makes a believer of this skeptic so in that way you really do sell your story i mean you're so damn low profile about all of this like you don't want it well it's not a business i'm just relaying you know what happened to me at the time and and that's it you know that that's the end of the story and uh you know where it's gone and why the you know what how all this stuff came
(1:20:24) about is beyond my scope of knowledge and i don't profess to know anything that i you know haven't been exposed to but uh you know i will stand on what i have seen and i've got that but i mean as incredulous as it sounds um why not br believe other incredulous things i mean if there are saucers here if there were bodies recovered if we actually have aliens then certainly some of the stories about aliens could easily be true well and and maybe so but but you don't know i'm spoiled i had some things verified to me and had hands-on
(1:21:03) experience i got to touch him i got to see him i got to analyze them and said okay this is real now for the layman or research or whatever that hasn't everything is in the same category to them it's all conjecture you know yet i've had some things proven to me and i hold on to those like an anchor okay i know this is real but i don't know about anything else i don't know if betty and bernie hill were abducted but they have a compelling story i don't know if the roswell crash occurred but
(1:21:31) that's a compelling story some of the stories you hear are totally totally illogical and don't make sense and to me they fit in the category you know you try and maintain an open mind and remain scientific about it but they're you know you have prejudices in either direction you know as most intelligent people do and uh you know there's you know i don't believe everybody that says they were abducted were was abducted um but they might have been how would i know it's just my own personal beliefs no of
(1:21:59) course not i i don't i don't believe it all either bob or even i might even go as far as say large chunks of it that i don't believe but but um some of this i do believe is true and based on what you saw and you know to be true then it's not too hard to imagine that there was interaction we might not know the exact parameters of that interaction but there was interaction with aliens chances are there was in some way shape or form over you know over a period of time by the way on another note i you know i get so many emails about
(1:22:35) this um apparently in some other show and i just got three more recently yeah some other show you spoke to somebody a female that said it claimed that i took her out to area 51 and showed her around that's right does this ring of lps oh absolutely i remember that yeah this is the most ridiculous story i've ever heard so that didn't happen either huh as if they allow visitors to top secret security install that's absurd who would even claim something like that yeah in either case that's you know it's
(1:23:13) just one of the another one of those knuckleheads that uh just likes to hear themselves talk for some reason okay um as a matter of fact i had an email from this person just uh yesterday bob really yes she imagines quite a relationship with you oh really oh yes yes yes not not true though no first time caller line you're on the air with bob lazar you're whole okay um i'm calling because i'm a physics student and uh all right speak up good and loud oh okay that's better i'm uh i'm calling about the gravitational um
(1:23:52) amplifier system i'm interested in this because i'm a physics student and i was thinking that um kind of at the forefront of physics research now is kind of a push to detect uh gravitational waves and which is a tough thing to do and probably ultimately discover the gravitational particle the graviton and i was thinking about this three-pole um system that you described is very directional and maybe maybe a gravitational current is involved i was wondering if that maybe hints at why we can't figure out

(1:24:31) what is going on there you have any thoughts on that well this is more of the research i wanted to conduct while there while i wanted to get down to the hardcore research and gravity and and how the energy propagates by itself and by the way i don't i don't believe there are gravitons i don't believe there's particles involved i don't believe it it's even a wave particle duality you know like light photons are i you know i think this is well i it's it appears to be more of a wave effect and exactly how it propagates
(1:25:09) is at least i don't personally understand that it almost seemed to propagate as microwaves did since any time inside the craft the gravity uh the base of gravity wave was rooted anywhere from the reactor to the amplifiers it always traveled inside tuned pipes so again that implies at a specific frequency you should have some sort of gravitational effect if it's just a basic you know carrier wave of some sort but you know that that doesn't appear to be true so it's something it's something more than that
(1:25:45) well we know don't we that uh microwave can be carried in like oblong tubes right wave guide right exactly wave guides so that's what connected the reactor to the uh the skin of the craft and ultimately to the so then whatever that whatever the nature of this wave is you could imagine it like microwave because it was carried according to your physical description kind of the same way right but if it's just a basic wave you know you could just set up a high frequency oscillator and then as you slowly increase the
(1:26:15) frequency you get different effects you know you get microwave you get it it's all part of the electromagnetic spectrum and you get x-rays and whatever you should just run into gravity at some point but but you don't so there's there's something else there but they were they were so concerned about the actual application of it they weren't really concerned about you know the research into the the basics of it which you know probably if it would have been done that way when i was there i at least i think it would have given
(1:26:44) us a clue at least a better clue of how to use it and how to duplicate it but again you think bob don't you that uh they're now per still if they haven't done it they're certainly pursuing it you wouldn't give up on something like that would you are you kidding not a chance not a chance i'm sure just tremendous amounts of money are being funneled into this and so then i'm sure they continue to hand pick specific people that they can think anyway are going to keep their mouths closed
(1:27:11) and uh you know be involved with it but uh i there was a frustration even when i got there by the way i wonder what happened to the person that picked you it's a good question hey caller caller anything else uh yeah actually i was wondering if if bob has it i'm sorry mr lazar i shouldn't uh i was wondering if you had any thoughts as to the propagation speed of the wave we know light travels at a certain speed right um or at least we assume it's a constant speed do you think um you think that gravity is different yeah
(1:27:46) that's a good question yeah excellent question because for all in from all indications the propagation is instantaneously and i know that that upsets everything but remember gravity in itself distorts time and space and every way we attempted to measure the propagation from the reactor base to the emitters themselves there was no delay at all and so i believe that i don't know if the wave is actually propagating instantly or the fact that it's a gravitational wave is distorting the time space around it
(1:28:22) and making it appear as it's in instantaneous propagation but that's those are the results that we got bob you said uh you actually measured no delay at all how carefully was that measured i mean no delay at all is quite a statement to make uh you could measure this right so right there there was there was no delay at all and we uh again envisioned other potential uses you know here's a look at communication to mars is still a flat 20 minutes between our little robot orbiters and and things of that sort
(1:29:00) uh you know here you have the potential if in fact there is instantaneous propagation of gravitational waves uh you know here's a fantastic communication device where there's no delay where you can talk in real time at great distances so the uh you know obviously there's just tremendous implications of this technology even time travel it's it's possible you know gravity distorts time and and if gravity if the speed of gravity which is not defined is faster than light then you certainly have time travel based on that alone
(1:29:35) well you know like they say time travel is a lot more common than you think time travel in the future the future happens all the time all you have to do is stand there is stand on a high mountain go into a space craft travel fast you do slip nano seconds into the future time travel backwards is debatable whether or not that's even possible well we're off on a tangent caller caller any final thing uh i guess there's one other thing um you notice you uh you mentioned in element 115 i'm assuming that's atomic mass number (1:30:08) and it's i think that goes further than the periodic table is that true right that's correct so so maybe um maybe that kind of uh insinuates that you're dealing with a higher amplitude gravity waves and just i guess more to start off with if you're going to amplify it i mean well yeah there's something unique about that element just like there's something unique about the nuclear elements we use in reactors but something apparently happens different there that doesn't and i know there were previous attempts

(1:30:41) to duplicate what was going on with other materials other nuclear materials and there was no success in that so there is something very unique about the fuel and specifically what it is you know on an atomic scale we were only just beginning to look into that so bob i heard some rumors about uh some scientists speculating about or perhaps lab work going on something surrounding element 115.
(1:31:11) it's just i between when you told your story and now sometime or another i remember hearing about some legit science dabbling with a concept of 115 or something i can't remember do you yeah i believe it was the lab for heavy ion research in darmstadt germany and at the time they were on the cutting edge of coming up with new elements and i they were they were shooting for producing element 115 at one point and they were using a new technique instead of bombarding something with neutrons they were just slamming nuclei together and
(1:31:50) somehow it was fusing into heavier elements but i don't think they they reached it and in fact i don't know if it was the same lab but uh somebody found out that there was false data i mean the last heavy element that was claimed that might have been 113. what do we think uh what do we think the uh the properties of this element would be generally well that's hard to predict i mean we certainly observed some unique properties of it it's it's incredibly heavy and incredibly dense aside from that it the way the reactor
(1:32:26) worked in the craft was like a small accelerator and it constantly bombarded the 115 which transmuted and immediately decayed and that's when it produced its gravitational pulses and as a byproduct it produced a tremendous amount of heat inside this one okay all right we're at the bottom of the hour hold on uh this is really good stuff bob lazar is my guest from the mountains of new mexico directly to you and with you right now here is bob lazar bob you you ready for more sure yeah these are pretty good p
(1:33:01) and you were in the middle of uh i i don't want to miss out on anything else you'd like to say about the propulsion system and how element 115 was acting in the process you know i was on a roll at the minute now i can't go well you remember you said it was bum it was it was hitting element 115.
(1:33:20) oh how the reactor operated i just like drifted on to that and yeah the 115 itself was bombarded uh released in some way shape or form releases uh a pulse of a gravitational wave and kind of as a byproduct uh releases a tremendous amount of heat and that heat is converted to electricity which runs the craft however there's no wiring or any conventional connectors or controls or anything of that sort on the grass but uh all incredibly fascinating and you know to a scientist it's a dream come true so yeah yeah sure
(1:33:59) in some respects i i regret the way things turned out but uh i don't know maybe eventually we'll all find out what's going on yeah i i wonder uh i really wonder as the world grows short of oil and the wars or raging because of it and we prepare to go back to the moon maybe in the shuttle of all things i don't know it just seems like if all of this really is there and yet and yet i guess the answer is that you suggest we have as of well the date you knew anyway not been successful in the back engineering attempt so we don't (1:34:37) have it down yet or if we do for some reason we're not willing to begin to release it i mean you think uh they could do it through industry you know sort of sliding things slowly into industry as some development or something just to get it into the economy uh possibly and maybe that's already been done but um every time somebody points at something you know there is also conventional explanations for we really haven't seen anything you know incredibly amazing pop up we see improvements over products here and (1:35:11) there and uh you know a couple things but there really hasn't been any quantum leaps you know in recent times well you may recall if you ever heard uh colonel corso's story before he passed on that he suggested that's exactly how a number of things made it from the roswell crash to modern industry it's pretty interesting stuff wild card line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hello yes hi okay uh hi art hi bob how are you there speak up good loud sir okay um this is alan from colorado and i have

(1:35:44) three questions so i hope you can bear with me all right my first question is if aldrich ames of the cia can go to jail for so many years because he revealed government secrets um how is it that bob um you know was able to pull this off and then my second okay well let's do them one at a time okay uh bob uh pretty good question um if you'd been revealing secrets of the magnitude that we've been talking about tonight uh well of course uh i said i'd swear what would you tell me for you know i know when somebody gives away you know
(1:36:23) secrets uh satellite secrets or other technology secrets and you know that information has to be brought out so okay you're gonna take me to court and say okay you released the information what did he release oh well secret stuff well why you know they you're not going to trick them into admitting what they're trying to keep secret yeah and something of this magnet exactly so uh so i guess i would answer that caller i mean after all if they charged him with something they would simply underscore everything he
(1:36:52) said next question okay the next question is are there not simpler ways to create gravitational propulsion effects um you know like with scalar waves possibly i mean i mean we're talking uh element 115. this whole procedure seems so exotic and so advanced can we not work what we have now there have been great there have not been gravitational waves produced in any other method and there are claims as such all over the place and people say you can do it with these mercury engines i've heard scalar waves i've seen
(1:37:29) you know all of that data the bottom line is it's not real next okay last question um t townsend brown uh john searle victor shawberger with his vortex technology john keel otis carr all these researchers which this relates to the second question and i think i know how you're going to answer it um how do you feel about what they've and so-called contributed to gravitational propulsion technology contributed where where is it show me one bring it down here i'll even fly and see it every time i've wasted my time on that
(1:38:10) looking at everybody that's claimed any of that stuff it's never panned out it's like perpetual motion yeah there's plenty of claims and you know people want you know looking for funding to research this or do that and you know for the most part not for the most part there is no device of any sort that can create a gravitational wave now and go ahead and prove me wrong other than what was that as for damn you are such a reasonable person no but that's that's a fact please prove me wrong
(1:38:45) check out what you're going to claim with you all the way but you you see that that's what makes your other claims so damn legit in my mind just like that person who fast blasted me geez louise in every other way you're so now that i'm i'm not belittling these people that are doing this work you know doms and brown many others were brilliant people doing work and i think a lot of the things they observed have other explanations yes and uh you know just because something lifts off the ground does not make it gravity
(1:39:17) propulsion but gravity propulsion i define as something that's acting directly against gravity and i don't mean being lifted by electrostatic forces something like that something that's actually counteracting your skepticism everywhere else just uh is so strange in light of what you say uh to the rest of us look i barely believe my own story it happens to me you said how big of a skeptic i am he's to the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar hello bob all right it's nice speaking of both of you and you sir
(1:39:48) where are you okay yes for over 20 years i've been within the research of exobiology i don't want to mention any names but my eps father-in-law who was with the cia at groom lake before he died of agent orange he asked me if there's anything i would like to know about area 51 and i said yes is the government cover-ups of ufos and et's true he said yes because he stood guard several feet away within one of the hangar bays guarding ets from the ufo that was being brought from one place to another but this
(1:40:24) person is your dad has passed on yes he passed away see he was all fed up with the government for what they were doing to him because he spent so much time in the service and all that you know with them that they wouldn't do any more for him and so he just said to heck with it yeah they have a pretty bad record of taking care of their own people right but uh yeah you find a lot of people as they come you know close to the end of their lives look what happened with the jfk thing you know just if enough time goes by people

(1:40:52) become more comfortable releasing what they know yeah well that's why i said there's got to be other bob lazars out there and there surely are so um you take the very moral position that you would rather see them not come back for their own sakes than come back and and verify your story oh abs absolutely if you're listening don't listen to art don't say anything let's do the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar hello hello uh this is bob in beaverton listening to kex yes sir uh i want to know uh bob have you ever
(1:41:28) heard of the work of jerry gallimore who under certain conditions could see gravity no never heard that before okay uh the way he did it was doing the old high school science class project just lay a bar magnet on a table and put the paper on and sprinkle the iron filings on it so you can see the magnetic lines of force okay but jerry was a native american and something of a shaman and around the center point of that magnet he could see a halo of energy uh that was gravity okay and here is where the why does he think it was gravity the
(1:42:09) metaphysical meets uh science well regardless he he thought that so i i do you ever wonder about that at all bob i mean the entire metaphysical world uh maybe it's all hui and maybe it's another one where you can say prove it to me first but boy i'll tell you there's some good stories out there i hear them all the time about things that we simply really don't understand regarding the afterlife i'm sure that that is true you know to to be to be so bold to say that why we have science handled and we pretty much know
(1:42:46) what's going on and everything's cut and dry and you know that is so far from the truth we you know we already even at the tip of the iceberg as far as knowledge about everything around us and you know talk about the metaphysical stuff we really have no idea what's going on and a lot of these things that you know people think are silly you know and the things that i i may laugh at may actually turn out to be true so there's gonna be a place to keep an open mind there's gonna be a place bob where the metaphysical or something in
(1:43:18) the metaphysical square on meets science and science suddenly will say oh my god there is another side or oh my god uh we really now suddenly have proof to some degree of a soul some way to prove something in the metaphysical who knows what it might turn out to be but somewhere science and metaphysical will suddenly meet i predict it um first time caller line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hi this is ken in salt lake and i'm just loving your program you guys are both wonderful thank you i have an
(1:43:52) observation and a question uh the observation is in in carta in microsoft and carta in the encyclopedia there's a reference about element 115 if you go into 1976 look under physics 1976 it talks about element 115 as being present in a meteorite that came into the earth's atmosphere and also the heavier elements wait a minute wait wait where was this again in in carta yeah which is the uh i guess that's the uh what is it the encyclopedia that you get for your computer from microsoft microsoft and carter and you go to 1976
(1:44:32) we're understanding talking about a uh meteor that had element 150 115 and they met they were able to measure it and deduce that it had element 115 in it and also uh the other reference is for 116 through about 124 at the end of the article it says they were uh measured in micah schist that was in africa wow so in micros uh micah schist which is i guess a rock formation there is uh there's trace when they bombard it with a van de graaff generator at high energy gives off a pattern of uh of atomic uh some signature that shows that those
(1:45:09) elements were there the logic is there they talk about it well well that's really interesting i now this isn't isn't in carta we're not talking about something that's on the internet yeah we're talking about in carter that you'd buy for your computer which is a encyclopedia from right on uh it comes from microsoft right microsoft software program and under physics 1976.
(1:45:34) all right great at the bottom of the article it's in there uh the reference okay the other question i have the only question i have all right stop for a second uh out there if somebody would be so kind as do the research email it to me i'll have it by tomorrow night continue sir okay uh let's see one other question that is i heard the rumor that somebody had tried to open one of the reactors somewhere on the facility there somebody made that suggestion and there was a atomic explosion underground do you know

(1:46:00) anything about that yeah i heard that and i heard that officially too oh oh really yeah yeah that was one of the things that was told to me in fact that was one of the reasons why i worked there because i was allegedly replacing one of these people so the previous bob lazar got a little too close to what was going on apparently and from from what i recall from the story i believe it was in march and i don't remember the date but it was it was uh announced as a nuclear test and there is a corresponding date
(1:46:32) for that test and uh what they have listed as the test is completely false information that was the detonation of the reactor at the test site um in the detonation so it exploded with the force of you say they announced it as a it was a low yield test you know as they remember they used to do that in las vegas oh sure i used to announce it you know get off high buildings that kind of stuff right they they'd always tell you in advance but uh anyway they that that data is on their site not about what it was but that date and
(1:47:06) i don't remember it in march i'm sure george knapp are one of those guys that can't you know anything about the nature of the um uh the explosion the uh yeah i know it was the intention was well the frustration was with the reactor at that point and for whatever reason somebody had the bright idea well let's try and open it open it while it's operating oh really yeah oh my extra smart guys working on this problem so they took this uh they they took the one of the prototype not the prototype rag was one of the (1:47:40) reactors from one of the other craft and by the way they all looked exactly the same not the craft but the reactors and they uh took it to the nuclear test site and it was done remotely underground and the people monitoring it i apparently were too close and they didn't they didn't realize the explosion was you know going to be that large and it did and again this isn't something i witnessed this is something i was told but it was something i was told while i was out at the site so it just has another notch of
(1:48:10) authenticity because i heard it out how many uh people allegedly lost their lives in this do you know i don't i don't recall it wasn't it wasn't like there were a lot of people there you know two or three people from what seems to stick in my mind but i i can't say that for sure i don't recall i i did hear that exact story i'll be doggoned i had never heard any of that all right wild card line you're on the air with bob lazar hello yes uh my name is ben i'm just outside of boston
(1:48:41) okay and uh i've got a question going back to bob's comments about running his car on hydrogen okay fire away okay um over the last bunch of years nexus magazine has run at least a couple of articles about running one's car on hydrogen using electrolysis in other words generating the hydrogen on board on demand and i just some people i've spoken to about it say it's a ridiculous idea that it's impossible that it would take i'm one of those people really more energy it's not happening
(1:49:20) you can't crack water that fast oh really yeah the you can't because there's a god unless you're carrying a nuclear power plant behind you you you just can't water doesn't come apart that fast and and there are flash ways in fact that i met a physicist from sandia labs here and was talking to him and they have uh this neat device that kind of works on a a plasma pulse and and cracks water at much higher volume than electrolysis and in fact the guy emailed me reason emailed me recently that has
(1:49:50) something that does that with hydrocarbons but as far as you know driving a car and having and producing hydrogen by electrolysis from water at a volume great enough to keep the car running oh never going to happen so you you are uh required really to to generate the hydrogen at some other time some other place and then pipe it into the car and store it you can't our product is a small hydrogen generator kind of like a dishwasher uh sits in your garage solar panels and it takes two to three days to fill the tanks because it
(1:50:29) it you it takes a lot of energy and it takes a long time to do it now there are faster ways but you know they consume more power and well some don't better more complicated don't use water so on and so forth ours is a low cost just uses connects to the water line uses solar panels and slowly cranks out hydrogen and you can over a period of two to three days fill the tanks in your car and then you know you can drive 700 miles ideally you'd have several sets of tanks and just fill them and and whatnot but uh that's (1:50:59) it's the only way to do it i've been playing with hydrogen fuel systems since you know the the late 70s and uh that you just can't make it fast enough a few seconds uh well i'm all set you're happy all right thank you thank you thank you and uh take care and i'm afraid that uh time is sleeping by no it has slipped by and the end of the program is here so hey bob man what a great program again every time you come on it's a great program hey always great to talk to you all and uh maybe next time you're here

(1:51:36) i'll give you the uh the lear test anyway anyway listen thanks for being here huh hey thank you thanks again art take care and good night you

Transcript:
(00:15) in 1989 a man called Bob Lazar walked into a Las Vegas TV station and gave a remarkable interview he said that he worked out in the Nevada desert at a top secret facility known as Area 51 one he said he worked on a highly classified project reverse engineering recovered alien spacecraft this story was a worldwide sensation L 51 became a household name synonymous with UFOs secret projects and Little Green Men and yet neither the US government nor its military have ever denied his claims and they still don't officially (01:02) confirm that area 51 exists despite satellite photos proving it does many dismiss Bob Lazar as a fantasist and yet others see him as a whistleblower exposing a government cover up of UFOs and a in contact [Music] I am convinced based on my research and the individuals whom I've had contact in the US intelligence community that the US government does indeed have uh craft that meet the description of many of the UFO reports my personal opinion uh based on comments I've gotten from uh the deputy director for Science and Technology at (02:07) CIA would seem to indicate that Bob was perhaps an unwitting participant in a program designed to introduce someone with a technical background to some elements of the UFO research projects going on out of the test site I have no doubts that Lazar actually was in a place where top secret investigations were going on I'm not sure about all the details that have emerged from his account but he certainly gives me the impression that he was actually there do I believe Bob Lazar my answer to that is yes in heck going is going on (03:03) uh8 years that I've known him his story has never changed he wasn't in it for the publicity he was surely wasn't in for the money he lost everything he had um I believe he's totally sincere as far as I can tell he's a bright guy who tells a great tale and who's told it often to people who have not checked on to accept the notion that well the government wiped his slate clean basically I think uh he had an experience I think he saw some things that shocked him was subject to some conditions and experiences that were (03:46) very unnerving to him and very profound he said you would love to see what's what's out there because it's like Beyond science fiction he said and I wish I could talk to you about it but I can't and that's as close as he ever got to telling me anything that happened out there you'll find many people who have seen these discs question is where do they come from Bob Lazar may be one of the few people who can tell us that they're from somewhere else I have no doubt that there's a relatively small
(04:21) number of people within the intelligence military intelligence and scientific and Technical intelligence Community who are aware of of what's going on and an even smaller group who are actually organizing top secret Research into this phenomen there's been an operating Air Base out at the location known as Area 51 since the 1950s when it was home to the cia's top secret SR71 Blackbird spy plane then in the 1970s it became the test flight center for the f17 stealth fighter and the B2 stealth [Music]
(05:26) bomber it's fairly public knowledge that we have a super secret facility uh in the mountains uh Northern Nevada uh referred to as Groom Lake uh Area 51 of the uh Nellis Air Force based test range uh it's also been uh referred to as uh as Dreamland this is an area that has been known but officially denied for many decades all of our super secret aircraft uh have been developed in tes loone out in this particular area so it only makes sense that if you have something as sophisticated as a flying saucer and the (06:09) related technology to that that would certainly be one of the Prime locations you'd want to go what you see is an ordinary looking Air Force Base it's

it's nothing to write home about but because the government won't talk about it everyone wants to see it military has never said there are no UFOs it's never directly denied any of the area 51 stories it would have been so simple when these claims came out these Papoose Lake claims for the military to Simply say look we have nothing there they could (06:44) take a few reporters to this area and show them nothing there the military hasn't done it the military has stonewalled it has remained silent and that's the most damning thing that they can do Area 51 to this day is nor acknowledge that is to say the Air Force does not admit that it exists this status has been maintained very carefully particularly in the last few years the puzzle is that the base has clearly been very active for quite a while and you can see that there are about um 700 to a th000 people traveling
(07:19) from Las Vegas every day so essentially the bulk of what has gone on there in the last 10 years um has not emerged from the Black this airplane was the program was terminated the airplanes were put in moth balls for 20 years before they admitted the existence of the aircraft there's programs that they're working on today that are 50 years ahead of anything that you and I can even conceive of and that we may never they'll may never see the light of day would you say it's America's most top secret military (07:57) base as far as a as far as an operational test facility it's probably the most secret test facility in the Free World yes so there is no question that the facility is there that the government has said very little in the past about it now the real question I suppose is are there any flying saucers out there no one had Associated flying Sorcerers with Area 51 until Bob lazzar's interview hit tele Vision screens around the world he said that he worked at an underground facility called S4 the top secret project was code named
(08:43) Galileo they would call it a specific time for instance the operator would say Mr Lazar it's now 4:15 a.m. we expect you to be at mccaran airport at 4:45 your plane will be leaving at such and such time time I'd drive there check in board the plane and the plane would fly out to groom Lake it would land there I'd get off the plane and wait and there would be a bus to take me and whoever else is going to uh S4 Papoose Lake which is about 15 Mi south of there and uh then I would check in at S4 tell me about how you felt on your (09:28) very first trip out the first trip out there it was uh it was actually very exciting because it seemed so Cloak and Dagger to me especially after I got in the bus with the blacked out windows I kind of thought that was neat uh drove out to the site and then uh it was checked in guards walking around with guns and uh I I was sure what I was working on was going to be pretty fascinating he says that within a few days of working out at S4 he was shown an actual flying disc in one of the hangers when I was brought in by bus and (10:08) for the first time one of the hanger doors the one on the end was open the bus drove up and we stopped there and clear's day in the hanger taking up almost all the hanger was the disc uh looked like something right out of a science fiction movie and as I walked in there I thought well this is the new Advanced aircraft we've been working on and this is why people keep seeing flying saucers because it's ours and we've just been testing it probably for all these years and what what color and size was
(10:48) it it was a uh dull stainless steel peer gray very uh unimpressive color-wise about 52.8 ft diameter and about 16 ft high so was it actually a recovered craft that you were working on or was it one that um scientists had built as a mockup of of a recover cow well whether it was recovered given or what it was not built as a mockup it was an it was an alien craft built on another world there was absolutely no doubt about that laar claims that he was one of only 22 people who had something called Majestic clearance to work on the craft
(11:36) itself the whole aim of the project was to take these craft or the one in particular that I was working on and try and duplicate it systems and subsystems with Earthly materials the work that I did basically entailed back engineering the power and propulsion system and I opted to start with the uh the power the the reactor that that ran the [Music] craft I knew immediately if his credentials could be verified if even part of his story could be verified it'd be one tremendous expose George knap was long-standing TV (12:31) reporter he'd heard enough of the UFO rumors over the years to appreciate how big a scoop this could be if Lazar was telling the truth he gave me uh uh information about his background educational background and employment background I started with uh with his claim to have worked at Los Alamos lab we went to Los

Alamos and uh got nothing even close to cooperation uh they wouldn't uh respond to our phone calls they say we have no information on Bob Lazar there's nothing in the files I said are you sure now no nothing in the (13:04) files I showed him uh the the phone book entry that Bob had kept that said uh he was there I showed him the newspaper article that that showed that he was there basically Los Alamos lab um tried to thwart me at every step we completely uncooperative and trying to get information about Bob and I and I found that to be the case at every step of the way and try to verify his background Thursday 12:37 p.m.
(13:35) former NASA Mission specialist Bob exler had heard about Area 51 and Groom Lake when he worked on the Apollo and space shuttle projects He was intrigued by lazzar's claims and started to investigate uh I did uh a variety of research uh relative to Bob Lazar I actually met him uh I obtained a copy of his uh what they call W2 form which is one of the um uh IRS documents associated with uh with pay uh his particular form indicated that he worked for the US Department of Naval intelligence um they informed me that it was a genuine document it was not
(14:16) something that had been fabricated there were a variety of numbers uh contract numbers and so forth uh issued on the document which I was able to research again finding that uh these were uh highly classified uh numbers in fact uh Internal Revenue Service ran into a brick wall when it came to trying to track down uh the actual employer uh associated with the with the document and then again with the Social Security Administration we found that Bob lazzar's records had in fact been been bleached clean there was nothing there
(14:51) in spite of the fact that the document uh clearly indicated that uh Social Security taxes had been taken out of his pay not everyone whose research Bob Lazar believes his claims Stanton fredman is one of the most respected authors in the UFO field today he's a former nuclear physicist with top secret clearance and has many friends and contacts in the Black Project world I've looked at considerable depth into Bob lazar's claims both about himself and about propulsion system those are fairly elaborate
(15:43) claims I've talked to the schools that he claims to have received degrees from I've checked on his High School record I talked to Los Alamos labrary he was supposedly a scientist and so forth I have come up totally empty now when a guy lies like that should get very weary and you know it has all the trimmings his story of a Walter midi story somebody in whose imagination was you know stronger brighter faster than anybody else I don't doubt that he did some work at Los Alamos and other places he's (16:19) clever he drives a jet powered car fixes radiation detectors so he may have performed some service but I can find no reason to think that he worked out there on a flying saucer I mean I had to wonder whether this guy was making this stuff up but then I see the phone book and I see the newspaper article and I talk to people who work with Bob at the lab and who said in fact that he did work on classified projects yet no one can find any records of his background the people that I worked with colleagues the people I went to school with (16:53) obviously knew I was there and people at Los Alamos I was friends with and people that worked under me and alongside I mean he knew I was there and you know cooperate what was going on but um you know officially it's very difficult to get information for the people in charge to further prove his claims Lazar agreed to take a polygraph test which he passed the thing that uh is interesting about polygraph is that if you're embellishing or if you don't completely believe what you're saying it is very (17:27) very easy to detect uh all it really will tell you is that the individual believes with 100% conviction that what he's reporting is exactly as he recalls and as he believes it to be and that clearly was the case with Bob Lazar now could his perception have been a bit a skew yes that's possible but he clearly wasn't lying I think Bob is even open to the possibility that perhaps he had been used in some sort of misinformation or disinformation campaign pain I mean look at him he has a pirate flag floating on (18:01) his house he races jet cars he likes uh fast women he likes guns um he he's technically capable so in that sense he may be perfect for this kind of a program technically capable scientifically knowledgeable and yet uh completely discreditable at a at a moment's notice if you wanted to uh test public reaction to a story about Area 51 and then suddenly discredited afterwards Bob may have been the most qualified person in the country thear says that on one occasion he was escorted into the flying disc that he

(18:45) saw in the hanger to analyze its propulsion system it was obviously made uh to be piloted by something smaller than the average human being uh very cramped in there um what were the size of these seats that were in there the seats were very small I'd say about 1/3 to 1/4 the size of a normal human seat a lot of people a lot of people say boy it must have been exciting to go in there and and I always say it wasn't it was a very ominous feeling it um I know it sounds silly but it it it's so unearthly in (19:25) there you have spoken to someone who's actually seen um a UFO under a tarpo in an era 51 I have I've I've spoken to several people who've seen UFOs or dis shaped craft out there there was a there was a woman who was a secretary for a major defense contractor at the Nevada Test Site who worked on nuclear programs who told me that she had sat in on on uh conversations between military and civilian contractors at which the Roswell case had been discussed at which it had been discussed taking some Ros
(19:59) well material to Area 51 uh the level of secrecy during those meetings was great afterward they'd take the the ribbons out of the typewriters she was typing on she was ready to tell me about this and I had this conversation with her on the phone the next day after this conversation takes place she's visited by two men who say that they work for the company she used to work for reminding her that she is still under a security oath told her we know that you do a lot of traveling back and forth a lot of long drives between Las Vegas and (20:28) La we'd hate for something to happen to you or your family no interview I mean it happened again and again and again same scenario Lazar says that in addition to being shown inside the disc he actually saw it take off from the lake bed I was brought into the hanger for one of the short duration tests and the craft was already outside on the lake bed and that was uh pretty much of a marvelous site it's a huge thing it it's like seeing a house lift off the ground you you can't imagine the energy
(21:11) involved to do that because of the uh extremely high energy output and the fact that the outside of the craft does is used as a conductor that does ionize the air and the crafts do as a byproduct of this glow at night uh much like a fluorescent tube will light up so you know bright strange jumping lights in the sky that that does explain that would you categorically say there is no way that that humans could have built the craft that you saw absolutely I will categorically deny that well I don't know how exactly
(22:12) should I put that I guess I can just say it straight out there is there is no way that any government on this Earth could produce that craft period And I defy anyone to argue that point one of the big questions that's hung over this whole story is whether Lazar saw a man-made flying disc and not an alien spacecraft a lot of these crafts which are being developed in secrecy in in the United States are tested at night and one can imagine that seen through kind of half closed eyes something like an f117 stealth fighter or a B2 bomber side
(23:01) on or front on would look remarkably like say a flying sorcer or a UFO you see an f-17 or you see tacit blue um or you see uh a B2 particularly if you see it from some fairly unusual angle you're going to have a very hard time relating that to Conventional aircraft um some of these things can look very strange indeed um so you know an unusual but decidedly terrestrial aircraft um can certainly present the appearance of a disc from many angles [Music] [Music] I think for anyone who's who's been at (24:29) into the western United States and seeing the kind of place it is and let their imaginations run right a bit it is possible to imagine in in these vast test areas Technologies which are highly exotic highly uh revolutionary and would change the way we feel about science today however to say that that is alien science derived from Beyond this world I think is something something which is just it is unbelievable it's too much to uh to absorb do you think that some of the truth certainly lies out there in the (25:20) middle of the Nevada desert at Groom Lake I would expect that some of the truth may very well lie out in the the desert near Gom Lake it's the right place for some of it to be it's isolated it's under control it's high security I don't think we've yet scratched the surface on what's happening out there with regard to flying saucers according to Lazar the craft that they were secretly testing out in the desert at night used an exotic anti-gravity propulsion system the reactor itself was an incredibly (26:08) Advanced system this is uh was an antimatter reactor this is something we could only dream of having something that could put out huge amounts of power that

rival several nuclear power plants running a capacity what happens is a great gravity Distortion is created and you're essentially bending space toward the craft the craft becomes part of that space and then when the reactors or when the gravity amplifiers are shut down the craft is essentially where it was focused it's a very difficult thing to grasp it happens virtually (26:41) instantaneously because of the fact that gravity distorts time and if you're bending space and time along with it when you wind back up in that place you're there between the ticks of the clock looking at the nighttime video films out in the Test Site Area we've seen video of craft that were luminous that would move across the sky as if it was uh skipping a stone across water or or sort of a sewing machine effect what we see across the screen or a series of uh lights of dashes of light uh as the object moves from point A to point B
(27:30) therefore we are seeing uh what you might call a shadow effect of the propulsion mechanism at [Music] work Bob laar is not the only person who's come forward and claimed to have worked out at the base on flying discs former US Marines test pilot Bill uh house worked out at Groom Lake and other top sec locations for more than 40 years working for the Pentagon and civilian contractors on a variety of Highly classified projects including he says a flying disc recovered from a crash in Kingman Arizona in May 1953 he said that he me cleared to do
(28:20) this interview and to discuss certain information but asked us not to show his face what were you actually actually working on out there one of the things I worked on was a flying disc simulator it was designed in New Mexico by a a separate staff that uh built it uh in parallel with the actual craft that they were had intended to fly the purpose of the simulator was to train Pilots to uh to fly this strange uh strange looking craft the simulator was a 10 m round uh disc the skin was made of U Boron composite material not unlike uh that you see on (29:18) f17 how did you know how to build a simulator there essentially weren't any plans the plans were generated as we constructed it and it was there was a process there that that took quite a while for for us to even understand the concept way back in the 50s uh house says that Lazar did work at Area 51 I think Bob is saying exactly what he knows and I know a little bit about Bob uh from a different standpoint than a lot of people know and what's been written about him but uh Bob Lazar is not lying as far as (30:10) uh deling was it a a hard secret to keep it was a v virtually impossible secret to keep but I did play by the rules and uh it caused a lot of problems it caused problems in my Family Life uh I mean imagine being married at the time and uh you know you get a call you know perhaps at night and uh strange voice on the phone okay you disappear you can't tell your wife who it was on the phone where you're going and you come back you know sometime early in the morning I mean what is she going to think unaware of where he was going
(30:58) every day and being absent from home for long periods Bob's relationship with his wife had deteriorated badly this was seen as a potential security risk out at the base my wife was having an affair with someone else so they viewed that as a potential emotional instability and they no longer wanted me coming out until things were cleared up either for it you know it to break up or heal or whatever but they uh that's what to put the brakes on everything there and did they then stop calling you did you get very
(31:34) frustrated about that yeah then I began to Wonder Boy now they've given me all this information and everything's coming to a dead stop what's going on and uh that's when I began to be concerned and then uh that's when I began said you know it's now it's becoming important that some other people know what was going on as the silence turned from days to weeks he finally decided to tell his wife and closest friends just what he'd been doing were you aware of the security implications I was quite aware of what (32:09) could happen but I was also aware that uh these guys would go to any extent to keep their secret and certainly not have someone that was on the inside running around and uh I didn't think it was beyond them at all to make me disappear whether it I mean who knows I know it sounds more like a movie but uh uh I didn't think it was beyond their capability to to kill me just to stop the uh the word from getting out Bob knew the test flight schedule for the discs and took his wife his best friend Jean Huff and another friend John (32:43) Leah out to the desert near the base on a Wednesday night in March 1989 huh it started coming in too now how far away can that thing take up stuff but if it's like overhead like up in the air overhead 300 miles Jee so it could be any one of these guys yeah well that sounds military to me I don't know how many miles be ahead of you but you never know yeah yeah I bet you that's that's what this is we got oh you see that yeah what was that did you see that light just come on over there I was looking right at it let me

(33:31) check it out right was a metor no there's a steady light no a steady light that just came on without any kind of uh no this one right over the range here it wasn't there and then I was looking right there and it blink that's very bright that's brighter than a star yeah huh doesn't look like Landing lights we got clear now we figured out what the problem is whatever that heading is we're ready for it huh interesting white light yeah yeah he's coming at us what did you see when you were out
(34:13) there shortly after the flight time that I had recorded um uh white light came up well not a white light it was actually more of an amber light uh came up off the ground and hovered and then be doing began doing radical step Maneuvers and darting from one side of the sky to the other do doing some impossible flight characteristics do you think what you saw over the desert that night was an alien spacecraft could I identify it as an ET craft without Bob's help no it would have been a an you like I said an (34:50) elliptically shaped saucer doing you know uh just doing moves that we're not capable of but I could not say that no this wasn't some Advanced Earth Technology fig out whatever that heading is we're ready for it that would be a UFO it's not blinking it's not conforming to any sort of FAA lighting regulations and there you're looking at it that's like a typical UFO if it was red it would be real typical because that's what most people report is red lights like that that are solid (35:24) color I don't think that's Landing lights cuz it's curved already and we're still looking at it looks like he's curving back here he comes that is a typical military UFO there you go miles be ahead of me but you never know this small group went back to see two more Wednesday night flight tests but on the third trip they were spotted caught and arrested Bob was taken to Indian Springs Air Force Base and interrogated then interrogation was about as intense as you can possibly get right stopping short of shooting me in (36:11) the head what were they saying to you everything up to an including that you know we can absolutely kill you right now and there' be no one looking for you at all and I mean they they uh everything they threatened my wife they threatened to kill my wife they they stop they said they'd stop at nothing they said they thought they made that very clear they couldn't believe that I had taken anyone out there to show them that much that's left with information like the uh flight test data and uh wanted to know what else I had said who (36:42) else I had told specifically they were uh they were crazy they really were they were completely out of control after this interrogation at indiaan in Springs Air Force Base Bob says that he was put under constant surveillance by security Personnel his phones were tapped his movements were monitored and he often found his car followed by military helicopters worried about what might happen to him and angry about how he was being treated he decided to hit back and approached a local TV station about an interview I thought
(37:28) if I did an interview in silhouette it would be kind of pushing back a bit uh where say you guys stop and not saying too much but just saying enough just to to let them know that they I'm pushing back a bit and then lay off or you know it's going to get worse it really the only thing I could do did you get any calls of the military or from former workers to say what the hell are you doing right after the interview air Dennis marani who was my supervisor called and all he said was do you have any idea what we're going to do
(38:02) to you now and that was the end of the phone call um that was the last well at second to last communication I had with him and um you know then I decided Well you know that's it and uh really just said everything that I had seen and done and just wanted to divorce the entire situation for even now more than 20 years later the jury is still out on Bob Lazar and his (39:07) claims about his workout at Groom Lake it's a fascinating story which he's stuck to for more than two decades and although many dismiss it as Pure Fantasy the fact is that some of his credentials did check out in addition his former employers and even the tax authorities were caught covering up and refusing to release information on him why would they do that unless there was something to hide one thing is for certain if he is telling the truth then we're all in for some shocking revelations in the decades
(39:47) to come is the government ever going to say you know we've been lying to you for 40 or 50 years not a chance I believe they'd stage an event that is much more like what they do they'll take a big cargo plane or C130 or something take one of the old disc that they've uh you know analyzed time and time again or and finished with go up to a high altitude and push it out the back and then go fly away and say oh look the first disc is crashed you know here's a flying saucer I mean I I can almost (40:18) guarantee that's that's the route they'd [Music] take rad certainly there are a lot of questions about Bob's background that have not been satisfactorily answered but there's too much that Bob knows I think that couldn't be explained any other way uh he knows about the layout of the base um he know knew about people who were involved in Security checks he knew when and where the test flights were going to take place because he took people out there three weeks in a row and they videotaped the tests how did he (40:47) know this stuff if he in fact did not have some kind of inside knowledge do you think he'd make a good uh conduit of information I mean essentially a py yes I do I think it's quite likely that Lazar was set up perhaps to knowing that he would give out this this information it's likely to be a very long time before we discover what is actually being done out of Groom Lake now they seem to wait anything from 15 to 20 years or more uh after something has been retired before they existence this airplane was built

(41:34) designed almost 40 years ago 40 years before that the hottest thing flying was a cerski P35 40 years before that it was a balloon so the technology technology has not Stood Still so it's a very good possibility that we are looking at man-made transportation for the 21st century it's it's been so hopelessly alluded that I I'm not sure we we will ever get to the bottom of the story and and that's sad I I suspect that whatever was out there diss alien or not um had now been moved to some other location
(42:10) and we may never find them again there might have been reason 40 years ago to believe that people couldn't handle uh the idea of alien visitation I don't think that's true anymore uh I think we're far more sophisticated now do you regret having screwed up at ES4 and taking your friends there and bl your security cover because you could still be working on UFOs today uh yes and no yes at times I'd like to uh be able to go back in time and and played along with the game and not have done anything and and perhaps to this
(42:53) day still be working on him cuz I did feel privileged and it was fast fting work once you can get around all the uh you know oppressive military security uh and you know maybe we would have stumbled on something and yeah it would have been [Music] fascinating I thought UFOs were a pretty much a figment of someone's imagination I didn't believe in him I wasn't interested in him of course I'm not even interested in him now um but uh I certainly do believe in them now [Music]

(00:03) [Applause] thanks for hanging around my name is Jeff Schafer I'm the investigations that heard their free press I've never done an alien whitening investigation although I had interviewed a man who let me introduce our panel here thank you for uh for hanging around in the on the end there with a mr.
(00:55) George Knapp who is a seasoned investigative journalism producer mr. Bob Lazar News [Applause] I would like to know who we're talking to first so if you don't mind by applause if you don't mind sharing who believes that there might be something out there besides any doubters out there there's got a new few I appreciate your honesty
(01:58) listicles are you are extremely well known in this community yet you made very few appearances and I would just like to ask him run why why you don't do more I understand you had some trouble with harassment things over the years thank you for coming out tonight by the way partner I'm just really not this isn't about making money selling tapes it's just the only reason that I allowed Jeremy no maintenance movie because there was so much this is it immediately spread around the internet I mean there's plenty of people on (02:53) Facebook who pretended to be me answering questions there's a bear imposter Oh plenty of them to the point you know every time you take an inaccuracy off of

Wikipedia somebody else write something silly on there and there's just so much false information it's I just wanted to get something down on record reality but I'm not interested in you know doing a bunch of like running around the country then excuse my ignorance you've never read a book either there is a book I haven't written
(03:32) a book no but I have helped a writer what's gonna happen with that the future remains to be seen it's just that it hasn't been published you don't so you've never profited all of your story no I think to be there you would earn you can't trust so yeah taking money for any of this isn't acceptable I don't make money on film so anything by the way we will try to save time this audience questions well for information here just another new one that I got to get off the top of my head
(04:26) you talked about insurance is what may become forwarded in the first place but also he mentioned this technology transformed the world even more so almost than the knowledge that there's another form of life out there the technology struck you why did you get to that point what was it about your job that is really a long story it wasn't that I just couldn't keep anything quiet and decided to say something there's a whole chain of events that occurred to that point really do okay but this is some of the
(05:15) yeah actually men on the job the yelling and things that were referenced right I mean you know imagine there were threats in your family yeah I mean in a nutshell maintain a high security clearance you have tons of no connections to foreign governments you also have a stable home line and at the time when I was going back and forth to the location group late late at night weird hours whenever they call some work out there now I kept up the program I kept things quiet even to my client well sign went on my wife
(05:59) began to think that I was having an affair and I had given permission to that phone so my fight began to have been and they were the first to know about it so they began to worry that there's going to be some turbulence of this guy is lying it's a long story [Music] [Music]
(07:55) you know the ivory is spectacular free film re worried that it might derail the film that Bob expressed serious concern that what you guys were doing was dredging up things they got him in trouble somebody [Music]
(09:32) don't hit on me understand you know if you happen it there's a lot but no these are real stories Joy's life is Bob's life this whatever you believe about it sure George in his life because of mom you can see that that's the only way I can say it's an unfortunate thing if you want to know more about if we're trying to do one for what we're trying to understand to tell the story what did every holy (11:11) gravitas put in front of people to work with you so George that's not he's reporting this story to you but but I enjoy better answer that because George has been doing this you know what I was perfect segue it's gonna ask George you broke the story 30 years ago you're still working journalist done many important investigations over the years you want to be body-worn are overworked these are the biggest concern was important secretive wind yet you stake your reputation on an investigative story into UFOs why well
(12:10) it was so we knew going in my news director Bob Stovall an eye out for that Denis interview and the phone was ringing off us all new this is such an impulsive public in a way really had not occurred to us before we do to them what we know was risky risky or my reputation because of the black ministers who have both the bagman it's a template conflict that it's not taken seriously by patient reader lists of these attachment for a long time we know who's Chris key not only to my reputation but then the (12:42) reputation of the TV station that this could leave a scar love in our faces because McCarthy would put in fact the public's perception of chaos forever but we also know a second thing and that was that it was important that if that turned out to be true it was the biggest story ever my news director Bob and I walked out of our first meeting with Bob we had had a put him through his paces from the past we're on the school Withings experience isn't about his credit and everything and would walk out look at each other
(13:15) and go this is great it's the biggest it changes everything if it's true it changes every hour our perception of ourselves our human history the economic aspects that Bob talks about a carapace bill you know where we are not happening on our place in the universe our place in the food chain so we know it was risky but we know it was important we figured it was worth taking of it becoming greedy to your fellow journalists of impurity it's never stopped okay that's good there's two groups of people that hated Lou Bava
